A late letter from London sums up the situation there in a few words, as follows: "This is the dreariest December which has been known for many, many years. It is not only the frightful news from the Cape and the deep anxiety with which every one is waiting to hear more, but the bad weather is also depressing, and so few people are to be seen about. There are nothing but goodbyes and benefits for the hospitals and widows, so that the very amusements have a dismal suggestion. At many of the theatres patriotic poems are recited, and there seems to be a public craze to see Mrs. Brown Potter and Mrs. Langtry, each dressed according to her own ideas of the Bartholdi Statue of Liberty, and to hear Mrs. Tree recite the 'Absent-Minded Beggar,' which she always does in a brilliant flame-colored gown slashed in green, which in itself is creepy. The bazaar at the Hans Crescent Hotel,

MASS AT THE CATHEDRAL

Solemn Pontifical Celebration, with Elaborate and Beautiful Music.

THE ARCHBISHOP OFFICIATES

Father Gasson Makes a Plea for Universal Peace, Referring to the Pope's Encyclical.

The Christmas Day services at St. Patrick's Cathedral are always beautiful and elaborate, and this year they were, if anything, more elaborate and beautiful than usual. It is difficult to imagine that church music could ever be richer or be produced with greater care as to details than in the solemn pontifical mass at 11 o'clock. This does not mean that church music cannot be more florid than that heard in the Cathedral. This quality has lately become unpopular in the great Roman Catholic churches of this country, France, and Italy, as witness the recent edict of Archbishop Elder of Cincinnati forbidding the use of portions of "operatic masses." The mass chosen for the principal service at St. Patrick's Cathedral yesterday was the grand solemn mass, by Gounod, which is as modern in ingenuity of harmony as the most exigent admirers of the new school could desire.

The Cathedral was beautifully decorated. Great palms were massed at each side of the high altar, and streamers of greenery were hung from the bases of the pillars in the sanctuary right to the clearstory windows. White Annunciation lilies adorned the front of the altar and the Archbishop's throne. The nave was undecorated, except at the west end, where the front of the choir gallery was covered with greenery. A large and finely modeled Bethlehem was placed in the north transept.

It is hardly necessary to add that the Cathedral was crowded, but the seating arrangements were better managed than on any previous great festival, it was said, and nobody in the congregation was put to discomfort. The transept doors were reserved for ticket holders and pew owners, while the west door was closed after the body of the building was full.

The regular choir of the Cathedral was, as usual, in the chancel, while the soloists, chorus, and orchestra were in the west gallery. The latter were under the direction of William F. Pecher, the organist and director of music of the Cathedral. The chancel choir was under the direction of James Ungerer, and Mr. Pecher was assisted at the organ by Arthur Mees. The soloists were Miss Hilke, soprano; Miss Clary, alto; Mr. Kaiser, tenor, and Mr. Steinbuch, basso.

The prelude, by Handel, for orchestra and organ, was followed by Mendelssohn's "Oh, Come Let Us Sing," as a processional. Perhaps the most striking musical number in the celebration was the offertory, the famous old "Adeste Fideles," by Novello. This was started by the soprano, and, instead of being taken up by the chorus in the gallery, the choir in the chancel sang the harmonized portions. The melody was in this way tossed, as it were, from one end of the vast building to the other, the effect being most impressive and delightful. Adam's "Holy Night" was given as the Recessional, being sung by the soloists and chorus in the gallery.

The celebrant of the mass was Archbishop Corrigan, who wore the splendid chasuble and mitre which were presented to him at the time of his jubilee. Before the sermon the Rev. Michael J. Lavelle, the rector of the Cathedral, mounted the pulpit and made an appeal for the Catholic Orphanage, to the support of which the offertory was devoted. Father Lavelle said that for probably fifty years the Christmas offerings in the Cathedral had been devoted to this purpose. After the money had been received for the present property it was hoped that there might be a surplus, but that was not the case at present, and he appealed to all those present to help the institution. The characteristic sentiment of Christmas was, he said, that of joy and thanksgiving, and that naturally inspired people with generous instincts. They felt that so much had been given to them that they were anxious to give to others.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. Father Gasson, S. J., of Boston. He took for his text the words, "Glory to God in the highest; on earth, to men of good will, peace."

A strange message was this, began the preacher, to be given to a world that at the time of the birth of Jesus Christ revelled in war; to a world that regarded the warrior as the highest type of manhood; the military helmet as the highest order of nobility. In those days the great cities were too often but shambles, the highways the lairs of robbers and freebooters. The prophets of old had mapped out the career of Jesus Christ, and of all the titles that they gave to Him the highest was that of "the Prince of Peace." It was not to be denied that there had been times in the ancient world when peace reigned; the Pax Romana was a fact, but it was a peace that had grown out of war, out of the subjugation of other races by the conquering people. Not such was the peace of Christ. That had its dwelling place in the sanctuary of the soul.

The peace of Christ, continued the preacher, must be peace in the individual; it must be peace in society, civil and domestic; and lastly, it must be peace between nations. Peace in the individual existed when man's soul reigned supreme; when the lower existence was governed by the higher powers. There was peace in society when the individual was not considered before the good of others; when it was recognized that individualism was opposed to the teaching of Christianity.

"You ask me," went on Father Gasson, "how I can speak in the pulpit of peace between nations, when across Christmastide this year is heard the roar of the cannon? When we read the writings of the saints we find they all insisted that the perfection of the reign of Christ is only to be found in universal peace. But we also find that the fullness of the peace of Christ is not to come at the beginning of His kingdom. It is to be the complement of His great work.

"And yet I say that war is unjustified. Christianity lays down the duties of soldiers, and, therefore, recognizes that resort to force is sometimes necessary. But, although here are such occasions, as when the opportunity comes to one nation to rescue another which has been attacked, nevertheless, I say that the whole trend of Christianity is toward universal peace. To-day it is our duty to consider well whether we as individuals are helping that movement. Are we throwing all the weight of our influence in this direction? for the conscience of individuals makes the conscience of nations.

"The illustrious Pontiff called on all of us in his encyclical to stem the tide of war. In spite of the Peace Conference, he lays down the only plan by which international peace can be secured. Let us realize our duty fully. It is our duty to examine carefully the methods which were suggested by the Holy Father to prevent bloodshed; to prevent a strong nation from trampling and preying upon a weak. All you citizens of this mighty metropolis, let me ask you to weigh his words well. Let all your influence be exerted on behalf of the establishment of that universal peace which was the message brought by Jesus Christ."

Large congregations were present in the Cathedral at the solemn high mass at 4:30 o'clock A. M. and at solemn pontifical vespers at 4 o'clock P. M. The music at both these services was as beautiful, though not quite so elaborate, as at the 11 o'clock celebration.

TRINITY CHURCH SERVICE.

Chiming Christmas Carols from Dawn Till After Evensong.

The chimes of Trinity Church in lower Broadway at intervals between daybreak and the close of vespers yesterday rang out the sweetest of Christmas carols. The service, conducted by the Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, was largely attended, and the musical programme was elaborate. The interior of the church was decorated with greenery, and there was a profusion of holly on the altar. The mild light shed by the wax candles illuminated the chancel, wherein the surpliced choir chanted the responses.

As Dr. Dix, accompanied by the assistant rector, the Rev. J. Nevett Steele, and the curates, Joseph W. Hill, Alfred W. Griffin, and A. C. Monks, and the surpliced choir entered the church the hymn, "Oh Come, all Ye Faithful," was sung. During the services the hymn, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," was sung by the congregation. The recessional hymn was "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing."

Dr. Dix preached the sermon. The subject was the birth of Christ.

Service at the Brick Church.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke conducted special Christmas services at the Brick Presbyterian Church yesterday. A large congregation was present. Preliminary to the services Dr. Van Dyke announced that the observance of Christmas Day by special services was not required by the canons of the Presbyterian Church, but that for several years it had been his custom to have a special service appropriate to the season.

VICTORIA'S QUIET CHRISTMAS.

Royal Family Spends the Day at Windsor—War Is Not Allowed to Mar Children's Pleasure.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—For the first time in thirteen years Queen Victoria and the royal family spent Christmas Day at Windsor. The Duke and Duchess of Connaught and the children of Princess Henry of Battenberg were of the party. Not only was there a baron of beef arranged, but there was also a magnificent Christmas tree, with many-colored candles, for the children, in which the Queen evinced the greatest interest.

It was, in fact, her express desire that the grandchildren who assembled about her today should not have their Christmas marred by the events which have saddened her own heart; and the festivities at Windsor Castle, although tinged with sadness, such as fills all English hearts, carried no suggestion of sorrow to the children who gladdened the Queen with the solace she is always able to find in the companionship of her youngest descendants.

The keynote of the festivities at Windsor today was the Queen's unalterable devotion to and faith in that empire which she believes will ultimately achieve the highest aims and ambition of her unselfish reign.

THE KAISER'S CHRISTMAS.

Spends His Day In and About the New Palace, Potsdam.

BERLIN, Dec. 25.—Emperor William celebrated Christmas in the usual manner at New Palace, Potsdam. At 3 o'clock he attended a "bescheerung" given for the First Regiment of the Guards. At 4 he dined with the imperial family, after which there was a "bescheerung" for the members of the imperial family and the Court entourage. There were seven trees for the children, graded in size according to their ages, that of Princess Louise being very small. A large, fine tree for the Emperor and Empress had been cut from the adjacent Wild Park. For the gentlemen and ladies of the Court entourage a particularly handsome tree was provided.

On this latter tree hung numerous presents of a humorous character, each reminding the recipient, in a teasing way, of some untoward event of the year. Baron von Mirbach, Chief Court Marshal, received a contribution box in chocolate, the allusion being to his work of collecting money to build churches in Berlin. This gift caused great laughter.

Upon all the trees and tables there were presents. Emperor William entered with keen enjoyment into the humorous part of the celebration, of which he was himself the chief instigator.

Their Majesties attended church in the morning, and in the early afternoon the whole imperial family made up a sleighing party.

Christmas Day in Havana.

HAVANA, Dec. 25.—All the stores in Havana closed at 10 o'clock this morning, and the rest of the day was devoted to conviviality. Only two newspapers appeared with the usual editions. Bands played on the Prado. Americans generally visited friends, most of those having families here giving dinners and inviting others of their acquaintance. Gov. Gen. Leonard Wood dined with Capt. Lucien Young, Commander of the Port, and Mrs. Young. It was remarked that seven of the party dined together on Christmas Day last year in Santiago.

SERGT. J. F. CROWE DEAD.

Passed Away Suddenly at His Home from Heart Disease.

Police Sergeant James F. Crowe, who was in charge of the Bertillon system at Police Headquarters, died suddenly from heart disease at his home, 420 West Fifty-fifth Street, early yesterday morning.

He reached home at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon apparently in the best of health. He retired and slept until 10 o'clock Sunday night, when he got up and indulged in a romp with his children.

About 2 o'clock yesterday morning he complained of sudden pains in his chest and extreme dizziness. Mrs. Crowe summoned a doctor, but before he arrived Sergeant Crowe was dead. The physician said he had died of heart disease.

Sergeant Crowe was born in January, 1855. He was appointed a patrolman July 6, 1882, and was assigned to the West Forty-seventh Street Station, where he did duty for a short time. He was then transferred to the chief clerk's office at Police Headquarters, where he served many years. While on duty there he was made a roundsman Feb. 24, 1897, and was transferred to the Detective Bureau. He was made a Sergeant by the reform board. He was later put in charge of the Bertillon system.

DISLIKED POLICEMAN'S ATTIRE.

Quackenbos's Impressive Appearance Displeased Magistrate Deuel.

Policeman George H. Quackenbos unconsciously furnished a bit of comedy, the only bit of the morning, in Magistrate Deuel's court yesterday morning. Quackenbos is tall and portly, and is a good deal of a dresser. In addition to fastidiously creased trousers, black frock, and a long top coat, he appeared in court with a new silk hat, as complainant against three women whom he charged with disorderly conduct.

Policeman Quackebos seemed proud of the hat, and while stating his case to the Magistrate, he carefully held the hat in his left hand, occasionally brushing or blowing a spot of dust from it and giving the glossy silk a rub with his sleeve. He obtained much attention from the policemen in court, who seemed to look at him enviously.

After court had closed Magistrate Deuel requested Sergeant Lane of the Court Squad to communicate with Capt. Cooney of the West Thirty-seventh Street Station, and if possible have Policeman Quackenbos modify his attire.

"I don't like it," said the Magistrate. "It's a burlesque on the police. If he appears before me again dressed in that way I will not hold his prisoners."

MASQUERADING WOMAN FINED.

Mrs. Lund's Parade in Her Husband's Clothes Got Her Into Trouble.

Mrs. Lizzie Lund, twenty-nine years of age, was fined $10 by Magistrate Mott in the Yorkville Police Court yesterday morning for masquerading about on Sunday night in her husband's best suit of clothes and wearing a false mustache. Her brother, Conrad Bruner, thirty years of age, and his wife Ella were fined $5 each for interfering with Policeman Dust of the East Thirty-fifth Street Station when he tried to arrest Mrs. Lund. Mrs. Lund could not pay the fine and was locked up in the Yorkville Jail.

Mrs. Lund thought she would have some fun Sunday night with her friends and relatives, and accordingly donned her husband's garments. She lives at 519 First Avenue. Mrs. Lund was parading on First Avenue with the Bruners when she saw Policeman Dust coming toward her, and she rushed into a hallway. Dust followed and seized her, and then the Bruners held the policeman while Mrs. Lund escaped. Dust arrested the Bruners and then returned for Mrs. Lund, who had assumed her usual raiment.

Mrs. Lund in court begged forgiveness, saying she only wanted to have a little fun with her friends, but Magistrate Mott would not release her. The Bruners paid their fines.

Steamer Puts Back to Port.

The Anchor Line steamer Karamania, which sailed on Sunday afternoon for Glasgow, returned yesterday with her machinery disabled. She went to her dock at the Union Stores, Brooklyn, to have the necessary repairs made.

C. P. Huntington on Virginia.

From The Richmond (Va.) Dispatch.

A private letter lately received from the multi-millionaire, Collis P. Huntington, the founder of Newport News, contains the following sentence, which is so highly complimentary to the people of Virginia that its publication will no doubt be gratifying to many in the State. He says: "Virginia is a State for which I have more honest regard and affection than for any other in the Union, because it has treated me with a consistent and uniform fairness and liberality."

A MERRY CHRISTMAS DAY

Father Knickerbocker Celebrated It with Enthusiasm.

AN ABUNDANCE OF GOOD CHEER

The Poor and Unfortunate of the City Not Overlooked in the Distribution of Holiday Gifts.

The city relinquished most of its customary occupations yesterday to celebrate, with a prodigious amount of turkey and cranberry sauce, the annual feast of Christmas. In countless windows of houses and shops in all parts of the metropolis hung the circular green wreaths, tied often with bright ribbons, that announced the coming once again of the season of peace and good cheer.

In hundreds of rows before big and little butcher shops in every borough turkeys, geese, and chickens, fat and cadaverous, tender and tough, had been hanging by their feet for days, awaiting the coming of Christmas. Yesterday vast numbers of these birds were discussed by family parties in thousands of homes, with a general laying aside of care and plans for business, while tons of the fowl were carved up piping hot for the delectation of the homeless or the poverty stricken, who unanimously agreed that Christmas was an institution to be praised.

The day had not been especially favored by the fickle weather clerk. It was cloudy for the most part, with intervals of sunshine, and a brisk, cold breeze, lacking both the cheer of continuous brightness and the appropriate gift of a snowstorm. There were, to be sure, two trifling flurries of snow, one about 10 A. M. and one shortly after noon, but the hopes they raised were soon dashed and a temporary damper put on the spirits of the youngsters to whom Santa Claus had brought sleds. But Christmas is always Christmas, whatever the weather, and Father Knickerbocker, take him all in all, managed to extract a good deal of pleasure from the day in various ways.

The preparations for it had been, in fact, exceptionally large. The sale of toys had been a record breaker, and Christmas poultry, groceries, and pastry had coaxed uncommonly large sums from the pockets of cheer-loving housekeepers. Furriers and diamond dealers do not claim so good a season, the former because of the mild stretch of Winter and the latter largely because of the recent stock panic—it was rumored in Wall Street last week that one prominent jewelry house had had over 300 orders canceled since the panic. Presents of other sorts had been bought in plenty, street vendors sharing with merchant princes in the profits. In short, while Father Knickerbocker may have had to curtail expenditures in certain lines, he put plenty of money into Christmas celebration this year and made a jolly day of it.

There was a good deal of promenading on Fifth Avenue yesterday, and many a business man spent the holiday afternoon in a drive. Many hundreds betook themselves to Central Park. Still others went out of town to visit relatives or to join house parties, the coming of Christmas operating in this way to empty the hotels. Heavy railroad travel and tremendous mails, requiring an extra delivery yesterday to relieve congestion, were other features which characterized the Yuletide season.

The religious character of the day was prominent yesterday. Services were held in practically all the churches. Elaborate special musical programmes were rendered in many cases.

The poor, the friendless, and even the people in the prisons were remembered in an adequate fashion. Hospitals, homes, charitable institutions of all sorts, public and private, fed the old and the young, people of all creeds and races, and the man who could not get a good dinner at the expense of laying his pride aside must have been the exception.

At Bellevue Hospital the donations of turkeys, fruits, ice cream, and cakes were more than the patients could eat. The crippled children of the New York Orthopaedic Hospital, at 126 East Fifty-ninth Street, enjoyed a Christmas tree. The Auxiliary League of the Doe Ye Nexte Thynge Society gave a treat to seventy-five women and 250 children in a room in the Bible House. All the city institutions on the islands in the East River were scenes of Christmas feasting. St. Mark's, St. Vincent's, and the Fordham Hospital had similar treats, with entertainments also. Nearly 1,000 poor children of the East Side enjoyed a Christmas tree in the hall of the Bowery Mission Rescue League at 55 Bowery.

The New York Press Club got a Christmas greeting by cable from Sir Thomas Lipton, which read as follows:

"Kindly convey to all my friends my best wishes for a bright and merry Christmas. LIPTON."

INVALID AND BENEFACTRESS.

Mrs. Bella Cook, Bedridden Since 1855, Ready for Her Annual Christmas Distribution.

In a tiny room on the second floor of an old gray brick house in the rear of 492 Second Avenue stands a little Christmas tree, mounted on a bed on which dolls and toys and trinkets are scattered, and gayly adorned with brilliant tinsel. One day this week between 75 and 100 children will file past the couch of a bedridden woman, whom they know as their benefactress, into that tiny room and come away each with some cherished present and some toothsome sweetmeat. Many of these children were there last Christmas and the mothers of many of them were there before them, for this kind of festival has been taking place yearly in that house, off and on, for over forty years.

The bedridden woman is Mrs. Bella Cook, an Englishwoman, who is nearing her seventy-ninth birthday, and who has not set her foot on the floor since the year 1855. She never knows a waking moment free from pain, but she says, "Am I content? Why, of course, I'm content," and adds that strength is given her "sufficient for the day." She lies in a high, old-fashioned bed by a window, through which she peers out into a court yard and across it at the ugly rear of a row of other gray brick houses, which shut out the noise and traffic of Second Avenue. From beside this window a semi-circular tray, fastened on hinges, can be swung over in front of her to hold books, papers, or spectacles. At the other window, beyond the foot of her bed, looking into the court yard, is a nook filled with green plants in pots, which flourish though they get no sunlight between October and May. Hung at either post at the head of the bed are two signs. They read: "Kept by the power of God" and "The Lord hath done great things for us."

Mrs. Cook has the face of one who has suffered, but it did not look like the face of an octogenarian as it lay in the neat white cap that rested on her pillow yesterday. She has devoted her life to benefiting others instead of repining, and she does not seem to have grown old rapidly. "I came here in '47," she said yesterday, "and my husband died in '49. After that I began to go about distributing things among the poor. When I took to my bed in '55 I started to give these Christmas treats. The children who come are, as a rule, the children of parents whose mothers I help during the year. I have my visitors who go out and discover cases that are worthy and I aid them according to my means. There are ladies who give me money for the work, but this year I cannot do as much as I would like to because most of my patrons have died. Since what I am doing became known I have been deluged by letters and applications to share the Christmas things. I used to make a good many of the presents and dress a good many dolls, but now my strength won't permit me to do so. I always enjoy the visits of the children, and they are quiet and well-behaved, but I suffer for it afterward. The excitement upsets me."

Mrs. Cook lived in the house before any of the buildings surrounding her were put up. She has never seen an elevated train or one of the city's big office buildings. Her charity is given without regard to race or creed, but she tries to administer spiritual with physical comfort, and around the necks of the turkeys she sends out at Thanksgiving are tied tags bearing Bible texts.

MINSTREL SHOW AT SING SING.

Prisoners Entertain Their Fellows and Extra Food Is Provided.

SING SING, Dec. 25.—The prisoners in Sing Sing Prison had a Christmas celebration to-day in the Protestant chapel in the form of a minstrel performance. Those who took part had been rehearsing for a month or more, and among them were several who had walked the boards of the variety stage before they came to grief and a cell in prison.

To begin the day, the prisoners had a breakfast of chicken fricassee, for which 1,700 pounds of poultry were used, with steaming hot coffee. Then came the minstrel entertainment, and after that the men received lemon crackers or biscuit, cheese, apples, and a couple of cigars each. Hundreds of Christmas boxes had been received at the prison office for prisoners from their families or friends. These boxes contained roasted turkeys, chickens, pies, cakes, and such other things as convicts are allowed to receive.

For the minstrel show a stage had been erected in the chapel, which was decorated with red, white, and blue bunting. There was the necessary scenery, and the stage was hidden before the performance by a handsome drop curtain, all the work of the prisoners. The performance was a complete success. The men were allowed to don citizens' clothes for the occasion, and appeared in black knickerbockers, white vests, and red coats. The end men were full of humor, and in the interchange of jokes some of the prison keepers came in for ridicule. The programme included songs, comic sketches, clog dancing, and instrumental music.

A CONTRAST FOR MOLINEUX.

Last Year's Bridegroom at the Waldorf-Astoria Visited This Year by His Wife in the Tombs.

Roland Burnham Molineux, accused of the murder by poison of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams, spent last Christmas with his bride in the bridal suite of the Waldorf-Astoria. Yesterday he spent it in the Tombs, where he has been a prisoner for nearly ten months. In spite of the strong contrast between the two Christmas Days, the prisoner was in good humor, and appeared to enjoy thoroughly the slight relaxation from strict prison discipline.

He rose early yesterday morning, and after an hour of exercise in the open prison yard had a breakfast of poached eggs, fried potatoes, and chocolate. He spent the forenoon in reading the newspapers and a novel. When his Christmas dinner was served it consisted of oysters on the half shell, roast turkey, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, celery, toasted Boston brown bread, ice cold milk, and mince pie.

Just before 2 o'clock Gen. Molineux and wife, father and mother of the prisoner, and Mrs. Blanche Chesebrough Molineux, his wife, called at the Tombs. They drove up in a closed carriage, and were at once conducted to the consultation room. They carried with them two huge bouquets of roses and lilies of the valley. Deputy Warden James J. Hagan brought the prisoner from his cell to the consultation room, where he left him with his parents and wife. Molineux greeted his wife affectionately, taking her in his arms and kissing her again and again. He then embraced his father and mother. The family were together for some time, during which religious services were being held in a room directly across the corridor.

The prisoner's wife and parents left the Tombs soon after 4 o'clock, and when Molineux was taken back to his cell he wore a small gold ring set with two diamonds and a crescent, that he had not worn when he was taken out. It was said it was a Christmas present from his wife. Soon afterward the prisoner was again taken for a walk in the yard in charge of Keeper O'Neill, who has been his attendant in these daily walks ever since they were ordered by Recorder Goff at the suggestion of Mr. Weeks.

When Gen. Molineux was escorting his wife and daughter-in-law to the carriage upon leaving the Tombs he encountered a man with a camera, who endeavored to take pictures of the two women. The General struck the camera with his cane and demolished it at the same time asking for assistance from Deputy Warden Hagan, who sent one of the prison keepers to his aid. The General then entered the carriage after the two women, and they were driven away.

A WELCOME TO IMMIGRANTS.

Strangers in the Country Feasted and Entertained at Ellis Island.

Some 900 immigrants who had not cleared through the Barge Office on Sunday passed their first Christmas in the New World in a very pleasant manner. Caterer Schwab, who has the contract for selling provisions at the Barge Office and Ellis Island, resolved to give them good cheer at his own expense. He bought about 250 turkeys and a large quantity of cranberries, celery, and other eatables. All the immigrants were moved over to the island, and the Christmas dinner was set out on board the steamboat Narragansett, anchored in the slip. A band was provided, and several actors went over and amused the newcomers with a theatrical performance, after which there was dancing.

Many other immigrants, who had already cleared through the Barge Office, enjoyed turkey dinners at the immigrant boarding houses and homes. At the Leo House, at 6 State Street, after dinner, Pastor Kyle delivered an address, in which he enlightened the immigrants upon their duties in their new country.

At the Mission of Our Lady of the Rosary, the home for Irish immigrant girls, the Rev. M. J. Henry conducted services in the chapel of the mission, after which the immigrant girls were treated to a substantial dinner.

At the German Immigrant Home, at 26 State Street, 265 poor Germans were fed. Among these were several people who came here two years ago and have been unfortunate in this country.

SHOT HIS CHRISTMAS DINNER.

Sergeant Lindemann Bagged a Wild Goose from His Front Porch.

There was one man who shot his Christmas dinner from his front stoop, and he was not looking for game, either, as it was after nightfall. The lucky man was Sergeant Lindemann of the Oak Street Police Station.

Since Bensonhurst became a part of the city the Sergeant has moved there and bought a house. He had a night off on Sunday, and after supper went out on the front stoop to enjoy a smoke. Lindemann was born and brought up in a town in the North of Germany, where his father was a forester, and young Lindemann was early taught the use of a gun. His ear caught the "honk" of a flock of wild geese, and quick as a flash he ran inside the house and got out his Remington rifle.

Right over his house was a large flock of the game birds, which he could plainly see by the light of the moon, and taking aim at the middle of them he let go. In a few seconds a big fat goose landed on the sidewalk opposite his house, and it was quickly brought in to him by his setter dog, which had witnessed the killing. The bullet had gone clear through the goose.

DINED THE MAN WHO SHOT HIM.

Oram Secured the Release of His Assailant in Time for Christmas.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Dec. 25.—James Martin and George Oram ate Christmas dinner together to-day. They had done so before, but until a few days ago it looked as if Martin would eat his Christmas dinner in the State prison at Trenton. He had been sent to that place to serve a term of four years for shooting Oram.

About a year ago the men, who had been fast friends for many years, were playing checkers. They had a dispute over some trifle relating to the game, and Martin in a sudden fit of anger drew a revolver and shot Oram. The bullet entered Oram's chest, and for days it was doubtful if he would live. He finally recovered, and Martin was tried and found guilty.

Oram did not approve of the conviction or of the sentence, and set to work to secure the release of his old friend. Petitions were circulated here, and a week ago the Court of Pardons consented to parole the prisoner. Oram met Martin at the station and gave him a warm reception home, and the dinner followed.

For 2,000 Poor Brooklyn Children.

More than 2,000 poor children were entertained yesterday in the Amphion Theatre, Brooklyn, by the East End Christmas Tree Association. Every child on entering the theatre received a small American flag. The boxes were occupied by members of the association and ministers from many churches were present. Ex-Congressman Charles G. Bennett presided and on the stage with him were the Rev. Dr. James H. Darlington, the Rev. Sidney Herbert Cox, and the Rev. Mr. Craig. The exercises began with an overture, which was followed by the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by the Rev. Howard Wilbur Ennis, pastor of the First Reformed Church. The children joined in the chorus and the waving of the flags made a pretty scene. At the conclusion of the song, ex-District Attorney Foster L. Backus made an address. After the exercises Santa Claus appeared and distributed toys, candy, and fruit.

Tough Club Entertains Children.

Two hundred children of the members of the Tough Club and their friends were present yesterday afternoon at the annual Young Folks' Christmas Festival, held in the clubrooms, 27 Grove Street. After vocal and instrumental music, mostly of the "rag-time" order, the children had all they wished of lemonade, ice cream, and cake. The boys were then sent down stairs, and returned in single file, each boy drawing a number from a hat. This entitled him to a prize, which bore a corresponding number. The prizes ranged from a drum to a tin horn, and the air was soon filled with discordant sounds. The girls went through the same performance, receiving dolls, sets of dishes, and games. All of the children then received boxes of candy and were sent home.

Starving on Christmas Morning.

Christmas Day did not bring plenty to all the poor boys in the city, as one was found in a starving condition yesterday morning. Philip Milch, seventeen years old, who said he had been living at the Newsboys' Lodging House at Forty-fourth Street and Second Avenue, was discovered lying in front of 201 West Thirty-second Street and taken to Bellevue Hospital. The boy said that he had been looking for work for many months and that he had been unsuccessful. For four days he had not eaten anything. After being attended by a physician he was promised a turkey dinner as soon as he was able to eat it.

People's Institute Entertainment.

Nearly 2,000 persons attended the Christmas entertainment given under the auspices of the associate members of the People's Institute in Cooper Union last night. Although several numbers of the programme were omitted on account of the inability of the performers to be present, the crowd was well entertained by the anecdotes of Prof. Charles Sprague Smith and the Rev. F. J. Clay Moran and by the songs of Miss Florence Devere Boesé.

Industrial School Children's Treat.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cass Ledyard of 271 Lexington Avenue, assisted by Mrs. Romulus R. Colgate, gave a Christmas entertainment to 150 poor children of the Avenue B Industrial School of the Children's Aid Society yesterday afternoon. A Christmas tree was provided, and each child received, besides several toys, a warm garment—the boys heavy jerseys and the girls hats, warm mittens, and cloaks. The children sat down to a feast of ice cream and cake.

Christmas Packages Burned in St. Paul

ST. PAUL, Dec. 25.—An old frame building, near the Union Depot, used by the United States Express Company as a transfer warehouse, was destroyed by fire last evening. The warehouse was filled with Christmas packages. No accurate estimate of the loss can be made.

Chief of Police Murphy Better.

Chief of Police Benjamin Murphy of Jersey City, who has been confined to his home for three days, and who was threatened with pneumonia, was somewhat improved yesterday.

NEW PUBLICATIONS. | NEW PUBLICATIONS. | NEW PUBLICATIONS. | NEW PUBLICATIONS.

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION

JANUARY ISSUE IS OUT TO-DAY AND ON SALE AT NEWSDEALERS' AT TEN CENTS THE COPY

From cover to cover the COMPANION is filled with the best thoughts of leading authors and artists.

Mrs. Burton Harrison's New Story, "Chateaugay"

ILLUSTRATED BY MR. C. M. RELYEA

The opening chapters of this splendid serial appear in the January number of the Woman's Home Companion. The January Companion is now ready. It contains many attractive features.

The Home-Life of "The Waltz King"
By EDWARD A. STEINER. An interesting account of the personal side of Johann Strauss

New-Year's Customs in the Orient
By BELLE M. BRAIN

The Idiot at Home
By JOHN KENDRICK BANGS

The Revival of Art and Beauty
By Dr. NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS, the popular pastor of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn

Nooks in Narcissus Land
By WALDON FAWCETT

Dining-Rooms of Yesterday and To-Day
By JOHN GILMER SPEED

Short stories of the brightest and most entertaining kind, articles of general interest, gossip for club-women, housekeepers, dressmakers, needle-workers, mothers and young girls.

If the Woman's Home Companion is not on sale at your newsdealer's, send 10 cents for sample copy, and we will also send you free our handsomely illustrated catalogue, size 8x11½ inches, of reproductions of famous paintings, explaining how to secure them without cost to you.

THE CROWELL & KIRKPATRICK CO., Publishers, Springfield, Ohio

364 DAYS

before Christmas comes again. Some of us are glad. The children wish there would be another Xmas next week. Those of us who did not get some underwear for a present had better supply the deficiency at once.

KOTEDSILK

KOTEDSILK TRADE MARK REGISTERED

On Every Garment.

KOTEDSILK UNDERWEAR CO., MILLBURY, MASS.
76 Leonard St., N. Y. City, and All Leading Stores.

AGAINST CHRISTIAN BROTHERS.

Their Appeal to Rome, as Reported, Is in Vain.

News from Rome regarding the Christian Brothers, who have protested against the action of their superiors in France, who ordered them to cease teaching the classics in their colleges in this country, has been received in this city. The authorities in Rome are expected to decide against the Brothers.

The Rome correspondent of The Freeman's Journal sends word that Archbishop Riordan of San Francisco is in Rome working in the interest of the Brothers. He has presented a voluminous report to the authorities. It is understood that he appears in Rome as a representative of the American Catholic hierarchy, nearly all the Bishops of this country being on the side of the Christian Brothers.

Referring to the mission of Archbishop Riordan, the correspondent says:

"I am informed that it is utterly vain. The American Christian Brothers, if they are to continue to belong to the Congregation of De La Salle, must conform to its spirit as laid down in the constitutions and emphasized by the recent decree of the Propaganda. If they are permitted to teach the Latin and Greek, for the time being, at their schools, where these have been taught hitherto, it will be by a mere concession, and perhaps even this concession will not be granted now."

This statement is regarded in Catholic circles here as a warning that Rome is going to decide against the American Brothers. Their friends say that if they cannot teach the classics they must close their colleges and academies, for no student will go to institutions of secondary education that do not teach Latin and Greek. Some advocates of the Brothers' cause go so far as to say that in the event of Rome deciding against them the only thing for the Brothers to do will be to withdraw from the French order and establish an American community. This is said to be feasible, since almost all the American Bishops are on their side.

SAYS HE OPENED HER LETTER.

Woman Accuses Publisher Phillips, Her Former Employer.

Samuel A. Phillips, a publisher, with offices in the St. James Building, was held in the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday morning in $1,000 bail for examination on Thursday on a charge of violating Section 642 of the Penal Code by opening a letter addressed to Caroline Gay of 42 West Thirty-third Street, formerly employed as a stenographer by Mr. Phillips. None of the details of the case came out in court. At the house of Miss Gay last night it was said that the young woman was out of town.

Mr. Phillips was seen at the Empire Hotel, where he lives. He said that he discharged the young woman several weeks ago, and that if any letters had come to his place of business for her after she left he was not aware of it. He intimated that she was trying to "get even" for her dismissal. He declined to discuss the case further.

Police Doubt Mrs. Kaerston's Story.

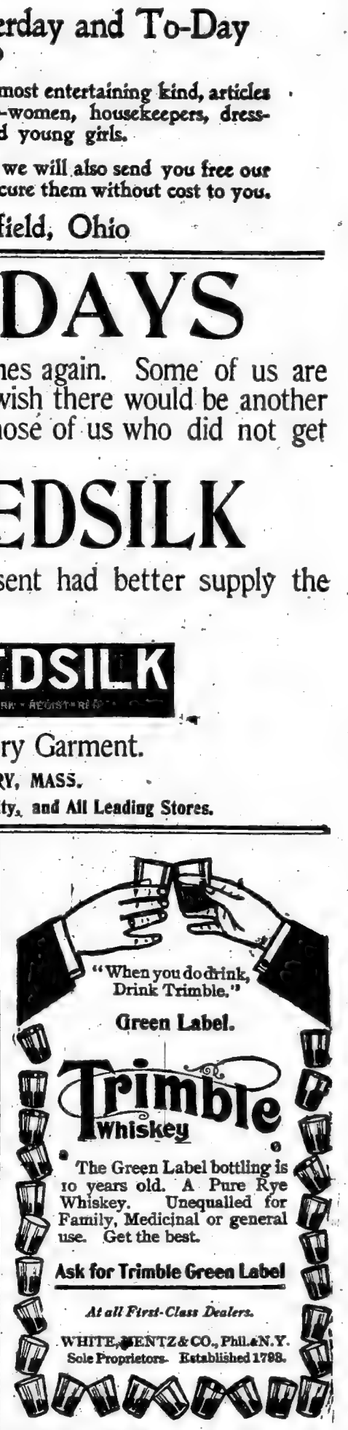
At Police Headquarters the detectives do not believe the report which came from San Francisco, Cal., Sunday night to the effect that Mrs. Thomas Kaerston of Fort Leavenworth, Kan., was robbed and drugged while passing through New York on her way home from Sweden. Mrs. Kaerston received $700 when she arrived here from her husband. She claims that she was seized by thieves at a Sixth Avenue elevated station, thrust into a cab, taken to a Bowery Hotel, robbed, and put aboard a train in an unconscious condition.

Drowned Man a Transport Fireman.

The body of a drowned man which was found at the entrance to Gowanus Canal, Brooklyn, on Saturday, was yesterday identified as that of Edward Burns of 272 Hicks Street. Burns was a fireman on the United States transport Burnside, and it is believed that he accidentally fell overboard while the vessel lay at her pier in Brooklyn.

Catholic Women to Meet.

The annual convention of the Catholic Women's Benevolent Legion will be held to-day at the Ashland House. Delegates will be present from several States. The convention will be opened with a mass of thanksgiving at the cathedral at 10 A. M.



The Green Label bottling is 10 years old. A Pure Rye Whiskey. Unequalled for Family, Medicinal or general use. Get the best.

Ask for Trimble Green Label

At all First-Class Dealers.

WHITE, HENTZ & CO., Phil. & N.Y.
Sole Proprietors. Established 1798.

If you are sleepless, never use morphine or chloral. Take, upon retiring,

Abbey's Effervescent Salt.

It equalizes the circulation by drawing the excess of blood from the brain, when natural sleep results. At all druggists. 25c., 50c. and $1 per bottle.

SHATTERS WINDOW TO ENTER.

Crowded Sixth Avenue Startled and Police Puzzled by Hynes's Act.

Passers-by in Sixth Avenue were much startled shortly before 7 o'clock last evening by a loud crashing of glass, and a crowd of a hundred or more, headed by Policeman Wallerson, ran to Joseph Moroso's barber shop, at 56 West Thirtieth Street, from which the sound proceeded. There they found that one of the side panes of the big plate glass show window had been shattered by a shabbily dressed man, who had stepped through the opening and was walking about inside the shop. The glass was 15 feet high by 6 feet wide, and the policeman was inside and had the stranger by the collar before he could have stolen anything, if robbery was his purpose.

Wallerson took his prisoner to the West Thirtieth Street Station, only half a block away, where he described himself as Thomas Hynes, thirty-nine years old, a printer, living at 426 East Eighty-seventh Street. He would not make any explanation of his act or any further statement, and after being plied with vain questions was locked up on a charge of burglary. When he was searched a card was found in his pocket signed "Charles E. Ballou," and addressed to the Washington House, a lodging house in Twenty-third Street. It read: "Please give the bearer a bed and charge to me."

Hynes seemed to be sober, and the police are puzzled by his act. They think he is either demented or else, being penniless, broke the window in order to be sent to prison for food and shelter. A thief, they say, would hardly have expected to get away with any plunder under such circumstances, for Morose's shop is only two doors from Sixth Avenue, which was thronged at that hour, and besides there is a policeman always stationed at that corner.

Japanese Land Lines Restored.

The Commercial Cable Company yesterday sent out the following notice: "The Northern Company advises us that the Japanese land lines are now restored and working normally."

SITUATIONS WANTED—FEMALES.

Dressmakers.

DRESSMAKER.—By French dressmaker; excellent cutter, fitter; out by day or week, or at home; highest references. E. G., 306 West 22d St.

Seamstresses.

SEAMSTRESS.—By thoroughly competent seamstress by day; does all kinds of family sewing, curtains, cushions; also repairing dresses, finishing, and alterations. Seamstress, 773 Amsterdam Av.

SITUATIONS WANTED—MALES.

Butlers.

BUTLER.—By first-class butler; understands his duty thoroughly; specialty for receptions and dinner parties, keeping silver new; personal references. 218 West 32d St., Vandercam's bell.

Coachmen.

COACHMAN.—First-class; single; thoroughly experienced care horses, carriages, harness; careful driver; city or country; generally useful; city references. Call or address Coachman, 155 East 39th St.

Miscellaneous.

A.—A.—A.—AN EXPERIENCED ADVERTISING writer and specialist who has placed advertising contracts for nearly ten million dollars at inside prices is open for engagement of one-half his time.

Now retained by large proprietary house on yearly contract preparing forceful copy that sells goods rapidly.

Highest references as to ability, effective writing, illustrating, and typography.

Address Broad Experience, P. O. Box 143, New York City.

COURIER-TRAVELING SERVANT.

Educated Englishman (34) desires re-engagement to travel with ladies, gentlemen, or family; 14 years' experience in European and North African travel; highly recommended by former employers. Travel, 1,269 Broadway.

STABLEMAN, &c.—By colored man, aged 31, as stableman, driver, or washer; steady work; good driver. C. B., care of Mrs. Paige, 687 8th Av.

THE TRADES.

MATTRESSES REMADE AT CUSTOMERS' residences in three hours a specialty; new tickings and hair supplied; sole users of own patented oscillating hair carding machines and coilspringless benches. THE MAUBORGNE METHOD, 840 9th Av., 55th and 56th Sts. Telephone 907 Columbus.

HOTELS.

ST. ERMIN'S HOTEL, WESTMINSTER.—Largest and finest in London. Inclusive terms from 10s. 6d. per day.

PROPOSALS.

PROPOSALS FOR FOOD SUPPLIES.
Office of the Manhattan State Hospital,
No. 1 Madison Ave., New York City.

Sealed proposals for furnishing fresh and salt meats and butter for a period of three months from Jany. 1, 1900, and condensed and cow's milk for a period of six months from Jany. 1, 1900, in accordance with specifications, copies of which may be obtained on application at Room 318, will be received at this office until 4:30 o'clock P. M., Wednesday, Dec. 27, 1899, at which time and place the Board of Managers will open all bids.

No bid for meat supply shall be considered except from persons, firms, or corporations who are actually engaged in the packing, slaughtering, and shipping of beef, pursuant to the provisions of Chap. 460, Laws of 1897, and for other supplies no bids shall be considered except from parties who are actual dealers in the commodities for which they submit proposals.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for five per cent. of the amount of the bid as a guarantee of good faith.

A bond of some approved surety company for one-third the gross amount of the contract will be required after award for the faithful fulfillment of the contract. HENRY E. HOWLAND,
President, Board of Managers.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF New York.—In the matter of the final accounting of WILLIAM T. ESTABROOK as assignee of Ezekiel M. Pritchard and Horace F. Pritchard (E. M. Pritchard & Son) for the benefit of creditors.—Citation for accounting on behalf of assignee.

The People of the State of New York to all persons interested in the estate of Ezekiel M. Pritchard and Horace F. Pritchard, heretofore doing business as co-partners at the City of New York, under the firm name and style of E. M. Pritchard & Son, assigned to William T. Estabrook for the benefit of creditors, send greeting:

You and each of you are hereby cited and required to appear in the New York Supreme Court of the County of New York, at a Special Term thereof, to be held in Part I., for litigated motions, at the County Court House in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 25th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to show cause why a settlement of the account of the proceedings of William T. Estabrook as assignee of the said Ezekiel M. Pritchard and Horace F. Pritchard, co-partners as aforesaid, should not be had, and if no cause be shown, to attend a settlement of such account.

Witness Hon. Charles H. Van Brunt, Presiding Justice of said court, and the seal of the aforesaid court at the City and for the County and State aforesaid on the 12th day of December, A. D. 1899.

[L. S.] S. H. K.
Attest: WM. SOHMER, Clerk.
J. HOMER HILDRETH, Atty. for Assignee, 280 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, N. Y. City.

To the Yellow Poplar Lumber Co., (and any officer thereof,) Coal Grove, Ohio, creditor:

The foregoing citation is served upon you by publication and without the State of New York, pursuant to order of Hon. Miles Beach, one of the Justices of the New York Supreme Court, 1st Department, dated the 12th day of December, A. D. 1899, and filed with the petition of the assignee herein, in the office of the Clerk in the County of New York on the same date. Yours, &c., J. HOMER HILDRETH,
Atty. for Assignee, No. 280 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, N. Y. City.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE Southern District of New York.—In the matter of MORRIS BECKER. No. 1755.

Notice is hereby given that Morris Becker, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated November 20th, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

STANLEY W. DEXTER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.
New York, Dec. 26, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In bankruptcy.—In the matter of MAX GOODMAN and ISAAC STRAUSS, bankrupts.—No. 1,655.

To the creditors of Max Goodman and Isaac Strauss, individually and as partners under the firm known as Goodman, Strauss & Company, bankrupts.

Notice is hereby given that on the 31st day of October, A. D. 1899, the said Max Goodman and Isaac Strauss of the City, County, and State of New York, individually and as partners under the firm name of Goodman, Strauss & Company, were duly adjudicated bankrupts; and that the first meeting of the creditors will be held at my office, Number 346 Broadway, in the City, County, and State of New York, on the 4th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupts, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

Dated New York, Dec. 22d, 1899.

SEAMAN MILLER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In bankruptcy.—In the matter of SAMUEL KOLLER, bankrupt.—No. 1,848.

To the creditors of Samuel Koller, bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that on the 11th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Samuel Koller of the City, County, and State of New York, was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, Number 346 Broadway, in the City of New York, on the 4th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting. SEAMAN MILLER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.
Dated New York, Dec. 22d, 1899.

NO. 1,886.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of GEORGE S. WHITE, Bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.

To the creditors of George S. White of the City of Yonkers, County of Westchester, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said George S. White was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of John J. Townsend, referee, No. 45 Cedar Street, in New York, on the 5th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 12 o'clock noon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting

JOHN J. TOWNSEND,
Referee in Bankruptcy.
December 21, 1899.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In bankruptcy.—In the matter of Max Turteltaub, bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that on the 12th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Max Turteltaub of the City, County, and State of New York was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, Number 346 Broadway, in the City of New York, on the 4th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting. SEAMAN MILLER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.
Dated New York, Dec. 18th, 1899.

SUMMONSES.

SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEW York.—Trial desired in New York County.—WILLIAM C. HYDE, plaintiff, against UNION TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, as trustee of the will of Robert H. Moran, deceased; Katharine C. Hyde, Margaret M. Hyde, Edward Moran, (1,) Edward Moran, (2,) Robert Moran and Helen Moran, his wife; Peter Moran and Harriett Moran, his wife; Frank Moran and Kate Moran, his wife; William Moran and Ann Moran, his wife, (the plaintiff being ignorant of the first names of said wives, they are designated by fictitious names;) the widow, heirs, devisees, grantees, and assigns, if any, of Paul Moran, deceased; the widow, heirs, devisees, grantees, and assigns, if any, of Malcolm Moran, deceased; Annie Crow and James Crow, her husband; Norah Pratt and Eugene Pratt, her husband, (the plaintiff being ignorant of the first names of said husbands, they are designated by fictitious names;) Sherman Moran and Teresa Moran, his wife, (plaintiff being ignorant of the first name of the said wife, she is designated by a fictitious name;) Sarah M. Batchellor; Theodore Batchellor and Ellen Batchellor, his wife; William R. Batchellor and Mary Batchellor, his wife, (the plaintiff being ignorant of the first names of said wives, they are designated by fictitious names;) Genevieve Hogan and Thomas Hogan, her husband, (plaintiff being ignorant of the first name of said husband, he is designated by a fictitious name;) Alice C. Moran, as executrix of the will of Robert Moran, deceased; William C. Hyde, as executor of the will of Margaret M. Hyde, deceased; New York Life Insurance and Trust Company, as trustee of the estate of Catherine R. Townsend, deceased; James Caffery, and Charles C. Mahon, defendants.

To the above-named defendants: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.—Dated August 18th, 1899.

EDWARD L. GODFREY,
Plaintiff's Attorney.
Office and Post Office address, No. 99 Nassau Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

To Edward Moran, (1,) Robert Moran, and Helen Moran his wife; Peter Moran and Harriett Moran, his wife; Frank Moran and Kate Moran, his wife; William Moran and Ann Moran, his wife; (the plaintiff being ignorant of the first names of the said wives, they are designated by fictitious names;) the widow, heirs, devisees, grantees, and assigns, if any, of Paul Moran, deceased; the widow, heirs, devisees, grantees, and assigns, if any, of Malcolm Moran, deceased; Annie Crow and James Crow, her husband; Norah Pratt and Eugene Pratt, her husband, (the plaintiff being ignorant of the first names of said husbands, they are designated by fictitious names;) Sherman Moran and Teresa Moran, his wife, (plaintiff being ignorant of the first name of the said wife, she is designated by a fictitious name;) Sarah M. Batchellor; Theodore Batchellor and Ellen Batchellor, his wife; William R. Batchellor and Mary Batchellor, his wife, (the plaintiff being ignorant of the first names of said wives, they are designated by fictitious names;) Genevieve Hogan and Thomas Hogan, her husband, (plaintiff being ignorant of the first name of said husband, he is designated by a fictitious name;)

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication, pursuant to an order of Honorable Francis M. Scott, a Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated the 30th day of October, 1899, and filed with the complaint in the office of the Clerk of the County of New York, at the County Court House in the Borough of Manhattan, New York City, in said State.

The object of this action is to make partition according to the respective rights of the parties, and if it appear that partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners, then for a sale of the following described property: Premises in New York City, on the westerly side of Washington Street: 245 feet and five inches southerly from the southwesterly corner of Morris and Washington Streets, being twenty-six feet and five inches front and rear and about eighty-nine feet and nine inches in depth on both sides.

And also premises in New York City, known as No. 17 Rector Street, bounded northerly by Rector Street, southerly by land formerly of heirs of Isaac Moses, easterly by land formerly of Doctor Charlton, and westerly by lot secondly mentioned in petition for partition of lands owned in common by William M'Kenney and others, being on Rector Street thirty feet five and one-half inches, in the rear twenty-nine feet seven inches, easterly forty-seven feet four and one-half inches, westerly forty-five feet ten inches.—Dated New York, October 30th, 1899.

EDWARD L. GODFREY,
Plaintiff's Attorney,
99 Nassau Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

SUPREME COURT, CITY AND COUNTY OF New York.—HENRIETTA HOPPOCK, plaintiff, against JOSEPH D. JENNINGS, Thomas Hutton, Mary Hutton, his wife, (name Mary being fictitious, real name unknown;) John Maeder, tenant, (name John being fictitious, real name unknown;) Joan Roberts, tenant, (name John being fictitious, real name unknown;) John Gedoice, tenant, (name John being fictitious, real name unknown;) Thomas Hyde, tenant, (name Thomas being fictitious, real name unknown;) William Miller, tenant, (name William being fictitious, real name unknown;) George Gerhardt, tenant, (name George being fictitious, real name unknown;) Frank Frost, tenant, (name Frank being fictitious, real name unknown;) Henry Rain, tenant, (name Henry being fictitious, real name unknown;) Charles H. Pfluger, The R. E. Parsons Company, Taylor & Co., Virgil B. Gibney, William C. Rogers receiver of the Rogers & Sherwood Printing Company; the Bourbon County Distilling Company, defendants.—Summons.

To the above-named defendants: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service, and in case of your failure to appear, or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default, for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated Oct. 9, 1899.

MORRIS P. FERRIS,
Plaintiff's Attorney. Office No. 71 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.
Post Office address same as office.

To the defendants, Thomas Hutton and Mary Hutton, his wife, (the name Mary being fictitious, real name unknown):

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of Hon. Miles Beach, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated the 9th day of December, 1899, and filed with the complaint in the office of the County Clerk of the County of New York, at the County Court House of said county, on the 11th day of December, 1899.

MORRIS P. FERRIS,
Attorney for the plaintiff, Office and Post Office address, No. 71 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.
d12-law6wTu

SURROGATE NOTICES.

AKIN, ETHAN.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against ETHAN AKIN, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at his place of transacting business, No. 31 East Main Street, Amsterdam, New York, on or before the first day of July next.

Dated New York, the 28d day of December, 1899.

SUSAN AKIN,
LOUIS AKIN,
HELENA A. MIX,
PAUL C. AKIN,
THERSON AKIN,
ETHAN AKIN, Jr.,
Administrators, &c.

W. BARLOW DUNLAP, Attorney for Administrators, 31 East Main St., Amsterdam, N. Y.
d26-law6mTu

SIEFKE, HENRY.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against HENRY SIEFKE, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same with vouchers thereof to the subscriber at his place of transacting business, at the office of Francis B. Chedsey, No. 302 Broadway, in the City of New York, on or before the sixth day of March next.—Dated New York, the 29th day of August, 1899. HENRY SIEFKE, Jr., Executor. FRANCIS B. CHEDSEY, Esq., Attorney for Executor, No. 302 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, N. Y. au29-law6mTu

SMITH, JAMES.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against JAMES SMITH, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at his place of transacting business, No. 15 Whitehall Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the 24th day of May next.—Dated New York, the 20th day of November, 1899. SHERMAN HOYT, Executor. GERRIT SMITH, Attorney for Executor, 43 Wall Street.
n21-law6mTu

FIGUEROA Y VELIS, JUSTO RAFAEL.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. James M. Varnum, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against JUSTO RAFAEL FIGUEROA Y VELIS, otherwise known as Rafael Figueroa, late of Canfuegos, Island of Cuba, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber at his place of transacting business, the office of Messrs. Coudert Brothers, No. 71 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on or before the 20th day of January next.—Dated New York, the 10th day of July, 1899. ANTONIO TOMAS, Ancillary Administrator, c. t. a. COUDERT BROTHERS, Attorneys for Ancillary Admr., 71 Broadway, New York City.
jy11-law6mTu

SURROGATE NOTICES.

BOETTNER, JOHN C.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against JOHN C. BOETTNER, late of the County of New York, Borough of Manhattan, deceased, to present the same with vouchers thereof to the subscribers, at their place of transacting business, at No. 290 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the first day of January, 1900.—Dated New York, the 23d day of June, 1899. CHARLES J. KROEHLE, CONRAD D. ORTH, Executors. ISAAC KUGELMAN, Attorney for Executors, 290 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City. je27-law6mTu

SIDELL, CORNELIUS V.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to Charlotte M. Goodridge, Edward Chester, Julia Chester Whitaker, Emma Pinkney, John Sidell, Matilda Gillespy, Caroline C. Shirley, Charles D. Ingersoll, Jonathan Ingersoll, Matilda A. Bull, James Andariese, Clara Penrose, Clifford Harris Chester, William Sidell Chester, Mary Roberts Chester, Susan Chester Lyman, and Fernando William Chester, the heirs and next of kin of CORNELIUS V. SIDELL, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas Phebe A. Sidell, of the City of New York, has lately applied to the Surrogates' Court of our County of New York to have a certain instrument in writing, bearing date the 14th day of April, 1896, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of CORNELIUS V. SIDELL, late of the County of New York, deceased; therefore, you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office, in the County of New York, on the 29th day of January, one thousand nine hundred, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. James M. Varnum, a Surrogate of our said County of New York, at said county, the 2d day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

[Seal]

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

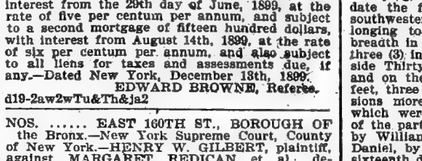
REFEREES' NOTICES.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK. —GLOBE REALTY COMPANY, plaintiff, against CHARLES TANGE, Amelia B. Tange, et al., defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the eleventh day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the Exchange Sales Rooms, now located at No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the fifth day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon, on that day, by Peter F. Meyer & Co., auctioneers, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All those two certain lots of land, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, which when taken together are bounded and described as follows, to wit: Beginning at a point on the southerly side of One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street, distant three hundred and seventy-five feet easterly from the southeasterly corner of Seventh Avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street; running thence southerly parallel with Seventh Avenue one hundred feet; thence easterly along said centre line of the block, fifty feet; thence northerly again parallel with Seventh Avenue, ninety-nine feet and eleven inches to the southerly side of One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street, and thence westerly along said southerly side of One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street, fifty feet to the point or place of beginning.—Dated New York, December 13th, 1899.

EDWARD BROWNE, Referee.
DUDLEY S. HARDE, Attorney for Plaintiff, 141 Broadway, New York City.



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is seven thousand six hundred and ninety-seven and 50-100 dollars, with interest thereon from the seventh day of December, 1899, together with costs and allowances amounting to three hundred and ten and 62-100 dollars, together with the expenses of the sale. The said premises shall be sold subject to a first mortgage of fourteen thousand five hundred dollars, with interest from the 29th day of June, 1899, at the rate of five per centum per annum, and subject to a second mortgage of fifteen hundred dollars, with interest from August 14th, 1899, at the rate of six per centum per annum, and also subject to all liens for taxes and assessments due, if any.—Dated New York, December 13th, 1899.

EDWARD BROWNE, Referee.
d19-2aw2wTu&Th&ja2

NOS. ..... EAST 160TH ST., BOROUGH OF the Bronx.—New York Supreme Court, County of New York.—HENRY W. GILBERT, plaintiff, against MARGARET REDICAN et al., defendants.

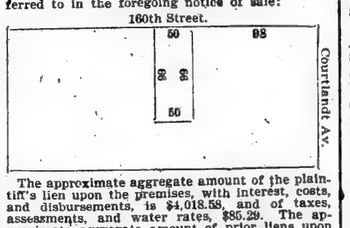
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the 19th day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on Tuesday, the 16th day of January, 1900, at twelve o'clock noon on that day, by McVickar and Company, auctioneers, the premises described in said judgment as follows:

All those certain lots, pieces, or parcels of land, with the building thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of the Bronx, in the City of New York, bounded and described as follows, viz.:

Beginning at a point on the southerly side of One Hundred and Sixtieth (160th) Street, distant ninety-eight (98) feet westerly from the corner formed by the intersection of the southerly side of said One Hundred and Sixtieth Street with the westerly side of Courtlandt Avenue; running thence southerly parallel with Courtlandt Avenue ninety-nine (99) feet; thence westerly parallel with One Hundred and Sixtieth Street fifty (50) feet; thence northerly again parallel with Courtlandt Avenue ninety-nine (99) feet to the southerly side of said One Hundred and Sixtieth Street; and thence easterly along said side of One Hundred and Sixtieth Street fifty (50) feet to the point or place of beginning.—Dated New York, December 21, 1899.

ABR. A. JOSEPH, Referee.
BOWERS & SANDS, Attorneys for Plaintiff, 31 Nassau Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, N. Y.

The following is a diagram of the property referred to in the foregoing notice of sale:



The approximate aggregate amount of the plaintiff's lien upon the premises, with interest, costs, and disbursements, is $4,018.58, and of taxes, assessments, and water rates, $85.29. The approximate aggregate amount of prior liens upon the premises, with interest, is $19,934.83. The sale of the said premises is to be made free and clear. ABR. A. JOSEPH, Referee.

BOWERS & SANDS, Plaintiff's Attorneys.
d26-2aw3wTu&F&ja16

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK. —ELIZABETH MESSMANN, plaintiff, against ELIZABETH EGENBERGER and others, defendants.

In pursuance of an interlocutory judgment of partition duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, and bearing date the 6th day of September, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said interlocutory judgment named, will sell in said action at public auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, County of New York, on the 17th day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by John N. Golding, auctioneer, the lands and premises directed by said interlocutory judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows, to wit: All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situate, lying, and being in the Tenth Ward of the City of New York, in the County and State of New York, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the northerly side of Division Street, distant fifty (50) feet easterly from the northeasterly corner of Division and Forsyth Streets; running thence northerly parallel with Forsyth Street and partly through the centre of a party wall seventy-five (75) feet to the line of the land now, or late, belonging to the Methodist Episcopal Church; thence easterly along said line twenty-five (25) feet; thence southerly, parallel with Forsyth Street, seventy-five (75) feet to the northerly side of Division Street; and thence westerly along the northerly side of Division Street twenty-five (25) feet to the point or place of beginning, said premises being known as No. 74 Division Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City and County of New York.—Dated New York, December 22d, 1899.

JOSEPH FETTRETCH, Referee.
CHARLES H. MACHIN, Esq., Attorney for Plaintiff, 206 Broadway, N. Y. City.
HENRY BRILL, Esq., Attorney for Deft. Edw. Egenberger, 220 Broadway, N. Y. City.

The following is a diagram of the property:

The approximate amount of taxes, water rates, assessments, or other liens upon the said premises is about eight thousand seven hundred dollars, ($8,700,) which will be allowed out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee.—Dated New York, December 22d, 1899.

JOSEPH FETTRETCH, Referee.
d26-2aw3wTu&F&ja17

REFEREES' NOTICES.

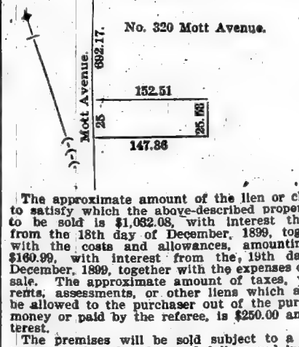
NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF New York.—GEORGE V. N. BALDWIN, plaintiff, against MARY E. ROBINSON and others, defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, made and entered in the above-entitled action, dated the nineteenth day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesrooms, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 9th day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Herbert A. Sherman, auctioneer, the certain lease, term of years and leasehold premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

A lease made by John Jacob Astor to Michael Lawless and his assigns, bearing date the 16th day of August, 1880, and recorded in the office of the Register of New York County, on the 23rd day of August, 1880, in Liber 1548 of Conveyances, Page 398, and the leasehold premises thereby granted are bounded and described as follows, to wit: All those certain lots of ground situate, lying, and being in the eastwardly side of Washington and the southerly side of Little Twelfth Streets, in the Ninth Ward of the City, County, and State of New York, and being taken together are bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the corner formed by the intersection of the easterly line of Washington Street by the southerly line of Little Twelfth Street, and running thence southwardly along said line of Washington Street, sixty-nine feet two and three-quarter inches; thence eastwardly and at right angles or nearly so to the said line of Washington Street, sixty feet two and one quarter inches; thence northwardly to the southerly line of Little Twelfth Street, thirty-two feet eleven inches, and thence westwardly along said line of Little Twelfth Street eighty-one feet ten inches, to the point or place of beginning, be the same more or less, together with the buildings thereon erected, and any renewal or right of renewal of said lease, subject, however, to all existing sub-leases of said property.—Dated New York, December 8th, 1899.

WILLIAM J. A. McKIM, Referee.
HENRY B CULVER, Attorney for Plaintiff, 120 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York.

The following is a diagram of the property granted by lease and leasehold premises and buildings erected thereon to be sold. Five stores or buildings, the street numbers being Nos. 832, 833, and 834 Washington Street, and Nos. 32 and 34 Little Twelfth Street, all erected upon a single lot; the lease is a single lease of the whole tract:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $1,082.08, with interest thereon from the 18th day of December, 1899, together with the costs and allowances, amounting to $160.99, with interest from the 19th day of December, 1899, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of taxes, water rents, assessments, or other liens which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the referee, is $250.00 and interest.

The premises will be sold subject to a prior mortgage of twelve thousand dollars and interest thereon at 5 per cent. from April 27th, 1899 besides the costs and expenses of the proceedings pending for the foreclosure of said mortgage.—New York, December 20th, 1899.

EDWIN C. HOYT,
Referee.
d22,26,29,ja2,5,9,12

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—GEORGE MACCULLOCH MILLER and another as trustees, etc., plaintiffs, against FRANKLIN NOBLE and others, defendants.

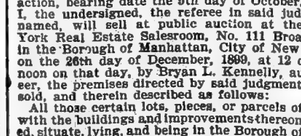
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the 16th day of November, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 4th of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by McVickar and Company, auctioneers, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, with the building thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Second Ward of the City of New York, designated on a Map filed in the Comptroller's Office as lot Number Seven, which lot with the building thereon is known as Number Two Hundred and Thirty-three (233) Front Street, bounded northwesterly in front by Front Street, southeasterly in the rear by lot marked Number Six upon the above-mentioned Map, northeasterly by a lot of ground formerly leased by the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty of the City of New York to David Lydig, and by the said Corporation leased to the executrix and executors of the last will and testament of Philip M. Lydig, deceased, by indenture of lease bearing date the first day of May, in the year 1874; southwesterly by a lot of ground formerly belonging to Thomas Ellison and containing in breadth in front and rear Twenty-eight (28) feet, three (3) inches, and in depth on the northeasterly side Thirty-seven (37) feet and four (4) inches, and on the southwesterly side Thirty-eight (38) feet, three (3) inches, be the said several dimensions more or less. Being the same premises which were conveyed to Samuel H. Drew, one of the parties of the first part to said mortgage, by William J. Roome and wife and Leslie M. Daniel, by deed of conveyance bearing date the sixteenth day of June, 1892.

The above mortgaged premises being subject to a certain agreement dated February 13, 1892, made between William J. Roome and others and Dennis Doyle, recorded March 8, 1892, Liber 0 of Deeds, Section 1, Page 332, affecting the northerly wall of said premises.—Dated New York, December 13th, 1899.

JOHN PROCTOR CLARKE, Referee.
MILLER, PECKHAM & DIXON, Attorneys for Plaintiffs, 80 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the above-described premises, known by the street number 233 Front Street:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $13,931.31, with interest thereon from the 2nd day of November, 1899, together with costs and allowances amounting to $353.36, with interest from November 16th, 1899, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of taxes, water rents, assessments, or other liens which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the referee is $615.04 and interest.—Dated New York, December 13, 1899.

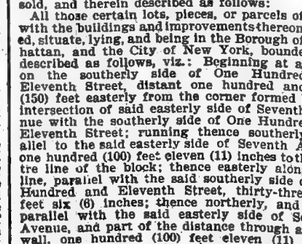
JOHN PROCTOR CLARKE.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—RACHEL LIPPMAN, plaintiff, against THOMAS K. MOORE and others, defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the 9th day of October, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 26th day of December, 1899, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Bryan L. Kennelly, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All those certain lots, pieces, or parcels of land, with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, and the City of New York, bounded and described as follows, viz.: Beginning at a point on the southerly side of One Hundred and Eleventh Street, distant one hundred and fifty (150) feet easterly from the corner formed by the intersection of said easterly side of Seventh Avenue with the southerly side of One Hundred and Eleventh Street; running thence southerly parallel to the said easterly side of Seventh Avenue one hundred (100) feet eleven (11) inches to the centre line of the block; thence easterly along said line, parallel with the said southerly side of One Hundred and Eleventh Street, thirty-three (33) feet six (6) inches; thence northerly, and again parallel with the said easterly side of Seventh Avenue, and part of the distance through a party wall, one hundred (100) feet eleven (11) inches to the southerly side of One Hundred and Eleventh Street; thence westerly along the said street thirty-three (33) feet six (6) inches to the point or place of beginning.—Dated New York, December 4th, 1899.

EZEKIEL FIXMAN, Referee.
ERDMAN, LEVY & MAYER, Attorneys for Plaintiff, No. 320 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $8,665.04, with interest thereon from the 25th day of September, 1899, together with the costs and allowance amounting to $209.95, with interest from October 9, 1899, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of taxes, assessments, or other liens which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee, is $620.10 and interest. The property will be sold subject to a mortgage of $35,500, with interest thereon from about April 1st, 1899, at 5 per cent.—Dated New York, December 13th, 1899.

EZEKIEL FIXMAN, Referee.
d52aw3wTu&F&d26

SURROGATE NOTICES.

YOUNG, WILLIAM H.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. James M. Varnum, a Surrogate of the City and County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against WILLIAM H. YOUNG, late of the City of New York, deceased, to present the same with vouchers thereof to the subscriber, at her place of transacting business, No. 290 Broadway, in the City of New York, Borough of Manhattan, on or before the first day of June next.—Dated New York, the 14th day of November, 1899. MINNIE K. YOUNG, Executrix. RASTUS S. RANSOM, Attorney for Executrix, 290 Broadway, N. Y. City.
n14-law6m21TTu

TRAVELERS' GUIDE—SHIPPING.

NORTH GERMAN LLOYD

FAST EXPRESS SERVICE.
SOUTHAMPTON, BREMEN.
Sailing at 10 A. M.

†Kaiser W. d. G.	Jan. 4	†Lahn	Jan. 23
Trave	Jan. 16	Aller	Jan. 30

Kaiser W. d. Gr. calls at Cherb'g & Southampton
†Twin-screw Expr. Steamer.
OELRICHS & CO., NO. 5 BROADWAY.

GERMAN MEDITERRANEAN SERVICE.

FINANCIAL DIRECTORY.

Chemical National Bank
270 Broadway.

National Bank of Commerce
CAP. AND SUR. $5,500,000
31 Nassau St.

Hanover National Bank
Capital $1,000,000. Surplus and profits, $2,500,000.
9 and 11 Nassau St.

The Nassau Bank
Corner Beekman and Nassau Streets.

Central National Bank
320 Broadway.

Continental Trust Company
30 Broad St.

Colonial Trust Company
CAPITAL & SURPLUS, $1,500,000.
ST. PAUL B'LD'G.
222 B'way.

Washington Trust Company
Stewart Building, 280 Broadway.

PHILADELPHIA.

Fourth Street National Bank
Capital, $1,500,000. Surplus, $1,500,000.

BANKERS' CARDS.

The Domestic Exchange National Bank
OF NEW YORK.
CAPITAL $300,000.

DIRECTORS:
Robert D. Keni, Ethan Allen Doty,
William P. Aldrich, Horace W. Fish,
Samuel S. Bradley, William Kent,
Thomas H. Cullen, Edward S. Peck,
C. D. Spencer.

ROBERT D. KENT, President.
CHARLES H. SPENCER, Cashier.

Specialty { COLLECTION OF OUT-OF-TOWN CHECKS.

TEMPORARY OFFICES 11-13 MAIDEN LANE.
TELEPHONE, 2883 BROAD.

G. Sidenberg & Kraus,
BANKERS,
20 BROAD ST., NEW YORK.
Members of N. Y. Stock Exchange.
Transact a general Banking Business.
Interest allowed on deposits.
Orders executed for cash or on margin.
Investment Securities
A SPECIALTY.
LIST SENT ON APPLICATION.

Holmes & Co.,
EMPIRE BUILDING,
1 Broadway, New York.
Members { N. Y. Stock Exchange. N. Y. Cotton Exchange. Chicago Board of Trade.
Branch Office:
Lakewood Hotel, Lakewood, N.J.

HENRY CLEWS & CO.,
BANKERS.
11, 13, 15, & 17 Broad St.
MEMBERS N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE.
Orders executed for investment or on margin. Interest allowed on deposits subject to check at sight. Railroads reorganized and trade combinations effected. Act as Financial Agents for Corporations and Investors.
U. S. Bonds, all issues, bought and sold.

Branch Offices { 202 FIFTH AV., cor. 25th St. 487 BROADWAY, Silk Exchge Bldg 50 WORTH ST. & 39 Thomas St. 87 HUDSON ST., Mercantile Ex. 16 COURT ST., Brooklyn.

New York Telephone, 4914 Cortlandt. Brooklyn Telephone, 3391 Brooklyn.

Geo. H. PRENTISS & Co.
DEALERS IN
LOCAL SECURITIES.
37 William St., New York. 398 Montague St., Brooklyn.
MEMBERS OF N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE.

TUNSTALL & CO.,
MEMBERS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE
52 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Stocks and Bonds bought and sold for cash or carried on margin.
Market Letter on Application.
Telephones No. 1492 and No. 830 Broad.

HAVEN & STOUT
Bankers and Brokers.
1 Nassau Street Cor Wall St.
Members of
N. Y. Stock Exchange. N. Y. Cotton Exchange.
N. Y. Produce Exchange. Chicago Board of Trade.
Branch Offices:
302 Broadway, cor. Duane St., New York.
84 Broadway, cor. Berry St., Brooklyn.

FINANCIAL.

Bleecker Street & Fulton Ferry Railroad Company,
SEVEN PER CENT.
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.

The above mentioned Seven hundred thousand Dollars Bonds will mature on January 1, 1900.

The Bleecker Street and Fulton Ferry Railroad Company proposes to extend these bonds at the rate of four per cent. per annum until January 1, 1950, the present security and lien to remain in full force, the principal and interest of the extended bonds to be payable in gold.

Arrangements have been made with The State Trust Company to purchase the bonds at maturity at par, and to extend the same on that account, The State Trust Company reserving the right to terminate without notice the privilege to be extended to the bondholders.

Bondholders who wish to avail themselves of the privilege may notify The State Trust Company at once of their intention so to do, and may present their bonds at the office of The State Trust Company, No. 100 Broadway, New York, on and after January 2, 1900, to have the contract of extension and new coupon sheets attached.

CHARLES E. WARREN, Secretary.

Referring to the above notice, we shall be prepared to pay the above named bonds on and after January 2 at par.

Bondholders preferring to extend their bonds will have the privilege to do so, if they notify us of their intention on or before Jan. 5.

THE STATE TRUST COMPANY,
100 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

MANHATTAN TRUST COMPANY.
WALL STREET, Corner NASSAU, NEW YORK.
Capital & Surplus, - $1,500,000

OFFICERS.
JOHN I. WATERBURY, President.
JOHN KEAN, AMOS T. FRENCH, } Vice-Presidents.
CHARLES H. SMITH, Secretary.
W. NORTH DUANE, Treasurer.

FINANCIAL. | FINANCIAL.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company.

$25,000 REWARD.

TO THE PUBLIC:

WHEREAS, The circulation of false statements or rumors, with intent to affect the market price of the stocks or securities of a corporation, is punishable criminally under the laws of this State; and

WHEREAS, Certain persons have circulated false statements and rumors, with intent to affect the market price of the stocks and securities of BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT COMPANY:

RESOLVED, By the Board of Directors of BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT COMPANY that a reward of $25,000 is hereby offered, and will be paid by the said Company, for information furnished to the Counsel of the Company, SHEEHAN & COLLIN, 32 Nassau Street, New York City, leading to the discovery and conviction of any of the persons who have circulated such false statements or rumors; and the Company hereby requests all persons interested in the preservation of honest business methods to furnish such information.

BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT COMPANY.

December 22, 1899.

An Absolutely Safe-Guarded Investment.
Earning 22% Annually and Paying 1% Monthly.

International Zinc Co., Ltd.,

OF JOPLIN, MO.

The ONLY COMPANY in the Missouri-Kansas zinc fields issuing to its stockholders quarterly statements of earnings and profits certified as correct by Chartered Accountants (BARROW, WADE, GUTHRIE & CO., of Boston, New York, London and Manchester, England,) who supervise its accounts.

CAPITAL - - - - $1,000,000
Divided into 1,000,000 Shares, Par Value $1.00 Each, Full Paid and Non-Assessable.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS:
President, A. C. FOSTER, Joplin, Mo.
Vice President, D. K. WENRICH, Joplin, Mo.
Sec. and Treas., J. B. CARMICHAEL, Joplin.
Hon. CHARLES P. BENNETT, Providence, R. I.
Dr. IRA B. CUSHING, Boston, Mass.
Consulting Engineer, GEORGE E. QUINBY, Joplin.
Registrars and Transfer Agents,
KNICKERBOCKER TRUST CO., New York.

This company offers investors

Valuable Properties, actively producing, under business management, now paying 12 per cent. and carrying forward a surplus of 10 per cent.

Low-Priced Shares, sure to advance in value rapidly.

Large Earnings, even on $30 ore, as demonstrated by the chartered accountants in their examination of the properties.

Dividends equaling those paid by the highest capitalized companies in the zinc fields, yet on a much smaller investment.

Absolute Security of its shareholders' interests.

The four new mills now in course of construction will increase the company's net annual income to 42 per cent. on its entire capital stock.

300,000 SHARES

of its stock are now offered for public subscription at

75c. PER SHARE,

to complete the balance of the purchase price and pay for the new mills now being built.

At the above price the shares net 16 per cent. on their cost, and NO INVESTOR can afford to let this company's offer pass without investigation.

SEND FOR PROSPECTUS, and note carefully the detailed accounts and Barrow, Wade, Guthrie & Co.'s reports on the properties.

Beginning January 1st, 1900, this company will pay regular monthly dividends of one per cent., with such extra dividends from time to time as the condition of the company shall warrant.

Applications for stock, accompanied by remittance, received at either of the following offices of the fiscal agents,

JOSHUA BROWN & CO., Bankers,
45 and 47 Wall St., New York. 89 State St., Boston. 421 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

PUERTO RICO.

The President's message means great things for this beautiful Island. We have the most profitable, safest, and most attractive proposition now before the public. Send us your name and address and receive free handsomely illustrated book.

"46th Star,"
6 Wall Street, Room 85,
New York.
(Bank references.)

THE TRUST CO. OF AMERICA,
149 BROADWAY,
(Northwest Corner Liberty St.)
CAPITAL . $2,500,000
SURPLUS . $2,500,000

Allows Interest on Daily Balances, subject to cheque through the New York Clearing House or payable at sight, and on Certificates of Deposit.

Acts as Trustee, Receiver, Committee, Executor, Guardian, Administrator, Assignee, Registrar and Transfer and Fiscal Agent.

Is a legal depository for Court and Trust Funds.

Loans Money on Bond and Mortgage.

Special attention given to the management of real estate and the collection and remittance of rents.

Carefully selected securities for investment always on hand.

Transacts a General Banking Business.

OFFICERS:
ASHBEL P. FITCH, President. WM. BARBOUR, Vice-President.
WM. H. LEUPP, Vice-President. H. S. MANNING, Vice-President.
LAWRENCE O. MURRAY, Trust Officer.
RAYMOND J. CHATRY, Secretary.
THOMAS C. CLARKE, Jr., Asst. Sec'y.
ALBERT L. BANISTER, Treasurer.
W. HUNT HALL, Asst. Treasurer.

DIRECTORS:
ASHBEL P. FITCH, WILLIAM E. SPIER,
WILLIAM BARBOUR, ANSON R. FLOWER,
HENRY S. MANNING, HENRY S. REDMOND,
SAMUEL A. MAXWELL, JOHN R. HEGEMAN,
MYRON T. HERRICK, C. I. HUDSON,
CHAS. F. CUTLER, S. C. T. DODD,
EMERSON McMILLIN, WILLARD BROWN,
H. O. HAVEMEYER, PHILIP LEHMAN,
JAMES M. DONALD, EDWARD F. CRAGIN,
GEORGE CROCKER, GEO. BLUMENTHAL,
J. WILLIAM CLARK, EDWARD C. SCHAEFER,
JOEL F. FREEMAN. FRANK JAY GOULD.

"OUTSIDE" SECURITIES
DEALT IN.
DAVID PFEIFFER, 18 Wall St.

Bankers' Trust Co.
OF NEW YORK,
10 Wall Street.
CAPITAL - - - - $1,500,000
SURPLUS - - - - $1,500,000

Transacts a general Trust and Banking business and allows interest on daily balances subject to check on sight.

OFFICERS:
George W. Ely, President.
Francis H. Leggett, Louis V. Bright, } Vice-Presidents.
Alfred H. Swayne, Secretary.
John H. Allen, Ass't Secty.

DIRECTORS:
Louis V. Bright, Wm. H. Hollister,
D. Crawford Clark, Percival Knauth,
George Coppell, Francis H. Leggett,
Bayard Dominick, Almeric H. Paget,
John F. Dryden, William G. Park,
Benjamin N. Duke, Gilbert M. Plympton,
George W. Ely, William Schall, jr.,
Albert E. Goodhart, John W. Simpson,
Edwin Gould, Francis S. Smithers,
Edmund T. Halsey, Ransom H. Thomas.
J. Walter Wood, jr.

Office of the Canton Company of Baltimore,
N. E. Corner of Toone and Second Streets, Canton, Baltimore County, Md.,
December 18th, 1899.

By resolution of the Directors, notice is hereby given to the stockholders that $35,000 (Thirty-five thousand dollars) will be expended in the purchase of shares of the capital stock of the Canton Company of Baltimore for cancellation, in accordance with its charter.

All offers to sell must be in writing, and inclosed in sealed envelopes and indorsed, "Proposals to sell stock."

All offers received before 12 o'clock noon on the 9th day of January, 1900, will be considered, and the said sum will be expended in the purchase of shares offered at the lowest prices, the company, however, reserving the right to reject any or all offers.

W. B. BROOKS, Jr., President.

FINANCIAL.

REDEMPTION

OF

General First Mortgage Bonds
OF THE
NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY.
TRUSTEE'S (FINAL) CALL NO. 25.
Maturing January 1, 1900.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Eight Hundred and Ninety-eight (898) of the General First Mortgage $5,000 REGISTERED BONDS of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, or a total par value of $4,490,000, were this day drawn for the Sinking Fund in accordance with the requirements of Articles 11 and 12 of the Trust Mortgage, numbered as follows, viz.:

$5,000 REGISTERED BONDS.

1034	1628	1883	3778	4541	5324	6875
1035	1629	1884	3779	4542	5325	6876
1036	1630	2024	3798	4543	5388	6877
1037	1631	2100	3804	4544	5389	6878
1143	1632	2136	3805	4545	5371	6906
1219	1633	2137	3806	4546	5372	6907
1220	1634	2138	3808	4547	5373	6908
1223	1718	2139	3826	4548	5374	6915
1252	1721	2140	3827	4549	5375	6933
1253	1744	2141	3828	4551	5376	6934
1301	1745	2148	3829	4552	5377	6936
1344	1746	2240	3830	4553	5378	6937
1345	1747	2241	3831	4554	5379	6938
1346	1748	2242	3832	4555	5380	6939
1347	1749	2243	3837	4556	5382	6948
1355	1750	2244	3838	4557	5383	6951
1409	1751	2263	3876	4558	5384	6981
1485	1752	2322	3982	4559	5385	6982
1486	1753	2324	3995	4560	5386	6991
1487	1754	2495	4037	4561	5387	6992
1488	1755	2535	4067	4562	5388	6998
1489	1756	2536	4085	4563	5390	6999
1490	1757	2859	4090	4564	5391	7163
1491	1758	2860	4091	4565	5406	7164
1492	1759	2872	4107	4566	5407	7165
1493	1760	2873	4112	4567	5416	7166
1494	1761	2874	4113	4568	5417	8899
1495	1762	2875	4114	4569	5448	8618
1496	1763	2876	4115	4570	5449	8619
1497	1764	2877	4116	4571	5450	8724
1498	1765	2878	4117	4572	5464	8725
1499	1766	2879	4118	4573	5483	8726
1500	1767	2880	4119	4574	5505	5965
1501	1768	2881	4120	4615	5513	9815
1502	1769	2882	4121	4617	5518	9923
1503	1770	2883	4122	4631	5519	9924
1504	1771	2884	4123	4632	5534	9925
1505	1772	2885	4124	4633	5538	12327
1506	1773	2886	4125	4634	5539	12329
1507	1774	2887	4126	4647	5540	12334
1508	1775	2888	4127	4719	5541	12335
1509	1776	2889	4128	4720	5542	12365
1510	1777	2890	4129	4723	5582	12304
1511	1778	2891	4130	4805	5614	12407
1512	1779	2892	4131	4806	5615	12408
1513	1780	2893	4132	4807	5638	12409
1514	1781	2895	4133	4808	5651	12410
1515	1782	2896	4134	4809	5670	12411
1516	1783	2897	4135	4810	5671	12412
1517	1784	2898	4136	4811	5687	12413
1518	1785	2899	4157	4812	5688	12414
1519	1786	2900	4138	4813	5689	12415
1520	1787	2901	4139	4814	5747	12416
1521	1788	2902	4140	4815	5749	12417
1522	1789	2903	4141	4816	5761	12418
1523	1790	2904	4142	4817	5762	12419
1524	1791	2905	4143	4818	5901	12423
1525	1792	2906	4144	4819	6204	12424
1526	1793	2907	4145	4820	6213	18063
1527	1794	2908	4146	4821	6218	18064
1528	1795	2909	4147	4822	6280	18080
1530	1796	2910	4148	4823	6281	18081
1531	1797	2911	4149	4824	6282	18082
1532	1798	2912	4150	4875	6292	18095
1535	1799	2913	4151	4905	6315	18096
1563	1800	2914	4152	4927	6316	18099
1564	1801	2915	4153	4928	6408	18114
1565	1802	2916	4154	4935	6441	18208
1566	1803	2917	4155	4938	6465	20463
1567	1819	2918	4156	4939	6466	20464
1568	1820	2919	4157	4940	6470	20495
1569	1825	2920	4158	4941	6472	20496
1570	1826	2921	4159	4955	6474	20502
1571	1827	2922	4160	4964	6479	20503
1572	1828	2923	4161	4965	6574	20509
1573	1829	2924	4162	4990	6575	20510
1574	1830	2925	4163	4991	6576	20517
1575	1831	2926	4164	4992	6577	20518
1576	1832	2927	4165	4993	6620	20519
1577	1833	2928	4166	4994	6621	20520
1578	1834	2929	4216	4995	6626	20521
1579	1835	2930	4219	4996	6627	20532
1580	1836	2931	4240	4997	6628	20534
1581	1837	2953	4260	4998	6629	20535
1582	1838	3000	4281	4999	6668	20536
1583	1839	3001	4322	5010	6669	20537
1584	1840	3002	4430	5029	6673	20538
1585	1841	3003	4442	5030	6707	20539
1586	1842	3004	4443	5031	6708	20540
1587	1843	3005	4446	5032	6710	20541
1588	1844	3006	4447	5033	6711	20083
1589	1845	3038	4448	5034	6712	20084
1590	1846	3046	4449	5035	6713	20859
1591	1847	3059	4450	5036	6723	20870
1592	1848	3080	4451	5037	6724	20871
1593	1849	3098	4452	5048	6725	20872
1594	1850	3099	4453	5049	6759	20873
1595	1851	3100	4454	5050	6774	20874
1596	1852	3106	4455	5051	6775	20881
1597	1853	3107	4456	5074	6781	20882
1598	1854	3108	4457	5078	6782	20883
1599	1855	3109	4458	5114	6783	20884
1609	1856	3110	4459	5127	6784	20900
1601	1857	3111	4460	5130	6799	20901
1602	1858	3112	4461	5151	6800	20902
1603	1859	3113	4462	5152	6802	20903
1604	1860	3114	4463	5183	6803	20904
1605	1861	3115	4464	5184	6804	20905
1606	1862	3116	4465	5190	6805	20906
1607	1863	3117	4487	5242	6806	20907
1609	1864	3306	4521	5250	6809	20908
1610	1865	3392	4522	5251	6810	20909
1611	1866	3397	4525	5252	6816	20914
1612	1867	3398	4526	5253	6817	20915
1613	1868	3500	4527	5297	6825	20917
1614	1869	3575	4528	5298	6826	20918
1615	1870	3579	4529	5299	6827	20919
1616	1871	3590	4530	5300	6834	20920
1617	1872	3591	4531	5301	6835	20937
1618	1873	3595	4532	5502	6836	20939
1619	1874	3616	4533	5303	6840	20941
1620	1876	3617	4534	5304	6841	20942
1621	1876	3680	4535	5305	6842	20943
1622	1877	3681	4536	5306	6843	20944
1623	1878	3685	4537	5312	6844	20945
1624	1879	3755	4538	5313	6845	20946
1625	1880	3776	4539	5320	6871	20947
1626	1881	3777	4540	5321	6872	20948
1627	1882

All the outstanding bonds (both coupon and registered) issued under said mortgage have now been called for redemption.

The bonds above designated will be paid at 110 and accrued interest on presentation at the office of the CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, No. 54 Wall Street, New York, and should be assigned to "CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE, FOR REDEMPTION."

The interest on the above bonds will cease on and after January 1, 1900.

Any holder of any of the bonds above designated, upon presentation and surrender thereof, may receive payment at any time prior to January 1, 1900, at the rate of 110 and interest accrued to date of presentation.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.
By G. SHERMAN, Vice President.

New York, November 13, 1899.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that the 898 Registered Bonds were designated by lot in our presence as above stated.

FRED C. RANDALL,
With Central Trust Company of New York.
A. H. KENT,
Of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company.
FRANK B. SMIDT,
Notary Public, New York County.

REDEMPTION NOTICE NO. 7

GEORGIA PACIFIC RAILWAY CO.

EQUIPMENT MORTGAGE BONDS, DATED JULY 17, 1889.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that fifty (50) of the Equipment Mortgage Bonds of the Georgia Pacific Railway Company were this day drawn for the Sinking Fund in accordance with the requirements of Article Three of the Trust Mortgage, numbered as follows, viz.:

63	266	365	531	680	811	920
84	295	368	549	714	812	923
103	296	383	552	716	819	931
153	305	406	553	721	857	932
164	327	463	607	725	874	937
221	350	516	688	779	917	993
252	351	522	975	787	918	995
259

All future interest of any of the bonds so designated ceases with the coupons due February 1st, 1900, in accordance with the terms of the Mortgage.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK,
By E. F. Hyde, 2d Vice President.

New York, November 1, 1899.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that the fifty bonds were designated by lot in our presence as above stated.

FRED C. RANDALL,
With Central Trust Co. of N. Y.
R. D. LANKFORD,
Of Georgia Pacific Railway Co.
FRANK B. SMIDT,
Notary Public, N. Y. Co.

In accordance with the foregoing certificate, said mentioned bonds, and the coupons therefrom maturing February 1st, 1900, will be paid at this office on or after the first day of February, 1900, at par.

Central Trust Company of New York, Trustee,
By E. F. Hyde,
Second Vice President.

The Woman's Hotel Company
of New York City

Invites subscriptions to its Capital Stock, of which $140,000 remains to be taken.

Subscription lists close Dec. 31st.

Prospectuses & Subscription blanks can be had of The New York Security & Trust Co., 46 Wall St.; The Knickerbocker Trust Co., 234 Fifth Ave.; and the Secretary, 105 East 22d St.

Herbert B. Turner, J. Kennedy Tod,
Charles S. Fairchild, Charles F. Cox,
Charles D. Kellogg, Sec'y Committee.

FINANCIAL.

Flint & Pere Marquette R. R. Co.
Detroit, Grand Rapids & West'n R.R. Co.
Chicago & West Michigan R'way Co.

NOTICE OF CONSUMMATION OF PLAN.

The Plan for the union and readjustment of the capitalization of the railroad companies above named has been consummated in accordance with the Agreement of May 20, 1899, by the acquisition of the railroads, properties, and franchises of the three companies by the Pere Marquette Railroad Company, a corporation organized for the purpose under the laws of Michigan, with a capital stock of $28,000,000, consisting of $12,000,000 of four per cent. non-cumulative preferred shares and $16,000,000 of common shares.

The stockholders of the Flint & Pere Marquette Railroad Company who assented to the plan will receive engraved certificates for the new stock to which they are entitled under the plan and also a cash dividend of two per cent. upon their old preferred stock, upon the presentation and surrender of their certificates of deposit to The State Trust Company, in New York, or to the International Trust Company of Boston on or after Wednesday, December 27, 1899.

The assenting stockholders of the Detroit, Grand Rapids & Western Railroad Company and of the Chicago & West Michigan Railway Company will receive engraved certificates, for the new stock to which they are entitled, and in the case of the preferred stock of the Detroit, Grand Rapids & Western Railroad Company, a cash dividend of three per cent., upon the presentation and surrender of their certificates of deposit, on or after the date above mentioned, to the Old Colony Trust Company in Boston, or to Messrs. Robert Winthrop & Co., No. 40 Wall Street, New York.

Dated December 22, 1899,

WILLIAM W. CRAPO, Chairman;
MARK T. COX,
JOHN M. GRAHAM,
CHARLES M. HEALD,
CHARLES MERRIAM,
OLIVER W. MINK,
THOMAS F. RYAN,
NATHANIEL THAYER, } Committee.

FLINT & PERE MARQUETTE R. R. CO
DIVIDEND NOTICE.

The Board of Directors of Flint and Pere Marquette Railroad Company have declared a dividend of two per cent. upon the preferred stock of the Company, payable to the stockholders of record as of this date.

Dated December 22, 1899.

HENRY C. POTTER, Jr., Treasurer.

DETROIT, GRAND RAPIDS & WESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.
DIVIDEND NOTICE.

The Board of Directors of Detroit, Grand Rapids & Western Railroad Company have declared a dividend of three per cent. upon the preferred stock of the Company, payable to the stockholders of record as of this date.

Dated December 22, 1899.

CHARLES MERRIAM, Treasurer.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company.
OFFICE OF THE TREASURER.
GENERAL OFFICE, PHILADELPHIA, DECEMBER 13, 1899.

To the Stockholders of the Pennsylvania R. R. Co.

At a meeting of the board held this day the following resolution was, on motion, adopted:

"Resolved, That, for the purpose of providing a portion of the necessary capital for construction and equipment expenditures, during the year 1900, on the main and leased liner and branches, and for other corporate purposes, the privilege be given to stockholders of the Company to subscribe, at par, between December 27th, 1899, and January 20th, 1900, ON WHICH LATTER DATE THE PRIVILEGE WILL CEASE, for ten per cent. of their respective holdings as they stand registered at three o'clock P. M. on December 26, 1899. The privilege of subscribing may be sold by any stockholder. Payment in full for such stock may be made after January 14th, and must be made not later than January 20th, 1900. Receipts, which will also be negotiable, will be given bearing interest at the rate of five per cent. from January 20th to May 1st, 1900, (being 70 cents per share,) at which time said receipts will cease to bear interest.

"Certificates for the new Stock will be delivered on and after May 1st, 1900, on surrender of the receipts. Receipts covering fractions of shares will be converted into Stock when presented in multiples of Fifty dollars. All receipts must be presented for conversion before January 1st, 1901, on and after which date they will only be redeemed, at par, in cash."

Blank forms, giving the particulars of the payments as above recited, forms of subscription, and allotment of privilege, etc., can be obtained on application at this office after December 20, 1899.

Stockholders desiring their new Certificates for full shares by May 1st must deposit their receipts with the Transfer Department of the Company on or before March 15th, 1900. For all receipts for full shares deposited after that date, and for all fractional receipts, Certificates will be ready for delivery as soon after May 1st as practicable, of which notice will be given.

ROBT. W. SMITH, Treasurer.

LOUIS MESIER, Auctioneer.
REGULAR AUCTION SALE OF
STOCKS AND BONDS.
By ADRIAN H. MULLER & SON,
WEDNESDAY, DEC. 27th, 1899,
At 12½ o'clock, at the N. Y. Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway.
BY ORDER OF EXECUTORS.
25 shs. Central National Bank.
5 shs. National Park Bank.
50 shs. Bank of the Republic.
FOR ACCT. OF WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.
949 shs. Brigantine Co. of New Jersey, (Hypd.)
15 shs. International Postal Supply Co.
$10,000 Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling Co. 1st Mtge. Bonds.
20 shs. Title Guarantee & Trust Co.
14 shs. National Bank of North America.
5 shs. International Banking & Trust Co.
15 shs. Bankers' Trust Co.
5 shs. Trust Co. of America.
7 shs. Mutual Bank.
20 shs. Consolidated Fireworks Co. Prefd.
2 Memberships N. Y. Produce Exchange.
50 shs. The Alignum Co.
100 shs. St. Lawrence Power Co. Pfd., (Hypd.)
10 shs. International Banking & Trust Co.
25 shs. Trust Co. of America.
18 shs. National City Bank.
25 shs. Corn Exchange Bank.
20 shs. Brooklyn Academy of Music, (with ticket.)
1,000 shs. Philadelphia Co. of Pittsburg, Penn., common.
20 shs. International Banking & Trust Co.
20 shs. International Banking & Trust Co.
10 shs. Trust Co. of America.
30 shs. Trust Co. of America.

RICHARD V. HARNETT & CO.,
AUCTIONEERS.
STOCKS AND BONDS
Tuesday, Dec. 26, 1899, at 12.30 P. M.
at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, 111 Broadway.
(By order of Administrator, estate of W. B. Allen.)
27 shares Lyons and Campbell Ranch and Cattle Company, $25 each.
10 shares Union Telegraph and News Co., $100 each.
2 shares Messerole Electric Storage Battery Co., $100 each.
(For account of whom it may concern.)
$3,000 Home Telephone Co., Trenton, N. J., 6 per cent. Gold Bonds, due 1916 (6 Bonds, $500 each.)
$2,000 Alta Telephone Co., 1st mortgage 4 per cent. Gold Bonds, due 1936.
500 full-paid shares The United States Economic Postage Association of West Virginia, $10 each.
225 shs. Greenwich and Schuylerville Electric Railroad, $100 each.
Lists at Auctioneers', 71 and 73 Liberty St.

THE FARMERS' LOAN AND TRUST COMPANY, TRUSTEE, is prepared to purchase for the Sinking Fund $144,625.75 of the FIVE AND SIX PER CENT. SINKING FUND BONDS OF 1879 of the CHICAGO AND NORTHWESTERN RAILWAY COMPANY at the limit price of 105 and accrued interest until January 1st, 1900, pursuant to the provisions of the Mortgage.
THE FARMERS' LOAN AND TRUST COMPANY, TRUSTEE.
By E. S. MARSTON, President.

BROWN BROTHERS & CO.,
NO. 59 WALL ST.,
ISSUE COMMERCIAL AND TRAVELERS' CREDITS, AVAILABLE IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

DIVIDENDS.

The MERCHANTS' NATIONAL BANK
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
191st Consecutive Semi-Annual Dividend
December 21st, 1899.

THE DIRECTORS of this bank have this day declared a Dividend of Three and one-half per cent., (3½%,) free of tax, payable January 2, 1900.

The transfer books will be closed on and after December 22, 1899, and reopened January 3, 1900.

JOSEPH W. HARRIMAN, Cashier.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co.'s Prior Lien 3½ % Gold Bonds.

Coupon No. 3, due January 1, 1900, from the above bonds, will be paid at maturity upon presentation at the office of the company, No. 2 Wall Street, New York.

For packages of coupons left for verification on and after Thursday, 21st of December, temporary receipts will be given.

The books for the registration and transfer of the above-mentioned bonds will close at noon on Saturday, 23d of December, and will reopen at 10 A. M. on January 2d, 1900.

J. V. McNEAL, Treasurer.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co.'s Southwestern Division First Mortgage 3½% Gold Bonds.

Coupon No. 2, due January 1, 1900, from the above bonds, will be paid at maturity upon presentation at the office of the company, No. 2 Wall Street, New York.

For packages of coupons left for verification on and after Thursday, 21st of December, temporary receipts will be given.

The books for the registration and transfer of the above-mentioned bonds will close at noon on Saturday, 23d of December, and will reopen at 10 A. M. on January 2d, 1900.

J. V. McNEAL, Treasurer.

THE LAKE SHORE AND MICHIGAN SOUTHERN RAILWAY CO.
Treasurer's Office, Grand Central Depot.
New York, December 20th, 1899.

The Board of Directors of this Company have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT. on its Capital Stock, payable at this office on Monday, the 29th day of January next, to the stockholders of record at 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, the 30th instant.

There will be no closing of the transfer books for the purposes of this dividend.

E. D. WORCESTER, Treasurer.

The Oregon R. R. & Navigation Co.,
New York, December 14th, 1899.

A dividend of TWO DOLLARS ($2) PER SHARE on the Preferred Stock of this Company has been declared, payable at the Treasurer's Office, Equitable Building, 120 Broadway, New York, on and after January 2, 1900, to the holders of Preferred Stock of record at the close of business December 21, 1899

The Preferred Stock transfer books will close for this dividend at the office of the Central Trust Company, New York, December 21, 1899, at 3 o'clock P. M., and reopen at 10 o'clock A. M. January 3, 1900.

ALEX. MILLAR, Asst. Secretary.

Michigan Central Railroad Company.
GRAND CENTRAL STATION,
New York, Dec. 21st, 1899.

The Board of Directors of this Company have this day declared a dividend of TWO PER CENT. upon its capital stock, payable at this office on Monday, the 20th day of January next to stockholders of record at 12 M

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

EMPIRE CITY FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

50 Wall St., New York, Dec. 7, 1899.

At the annual election for Directors of this company, held on the 4th inst., the following-named gentlemen were elected for the ensuing year:

John M. Burke,	Henry W. Curtiss,
Charles H. Kerner,	Charles H. Leland,
Henry C. Mortimer,	Walter R. Wood,
John W. Condit,	David J. Burtis,
Lindley Murray, Jr.,	Francis M. Scott,
Charles H. Lowerre,	J. Eugene Robert.

George M. Miller.

For Inspectors of Election for the year 1900, Areunah M. Burtis, Wm. M. Farrington, Thomas R. Peck.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors held this day, Mr. LINDLEY MURRAY, Jr., was unanimously re-elected President.

DAVID J. BURTIS, Secretary.

The Astoria Light, Heat & Power Company,

32 LIBERTY STREET.

New York, December 22d, 1899.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of this Company for the election of Directors to serve during the ensuing year, and for such other business as may come before the stockholders, will be held at this office on Monday, January 8th, 1900. Polls open from 12 M. to 1 P. M. Transfer books will close on Saturday, December 23d, 1899, at 12 M. and reopen on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900. FRANCIS R. FORAKER, Secretary.

NOTICE IS HERBY GIVEN THAT A MEETING of the stockholders of WRIGHT, DURYEE & BARWISE, Incorporated, will be held at the office of the company, No. 79 Front Street, in the City of New York, on the 3d day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of electing one Director for the ensuing four years, and also for the election of Inspectors of Election to serve at the next annual meeting, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

Dated December 8th, 1899.

C. ARTHUR BARWISE, Secy.

HEGEMAN & CO.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of HEGEMAN & CO. will be held at the principal office of the company, 196 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, at one o'clock P. M., for the purpose of electing nine Directors for the ensuing year, and three Inspectors of Election, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

Dated New York, December 23, 1899.

R. B. RATHBONE, Secretary.

A MEETING OF THE HOLDERS OF THE third mortgage bonds of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company will be held at the office of the Executive Committee of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company, 17 Nassau St., in the City of New York, on THURSDAY, the twenty-eighth day of December, 1899, at two o'clock P. M., for the purpose of appointing a co-Trustee in the place and stead of John N. Hutchinson, deceased.

CHARLES LANIER, President.

Dated December 14th, 1899.

Metropolitan Iron & Steel Co.,

408 East 4th St.,

New York City.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of this Company for the election of Directors to serve during the ensuing year, and for such other business as may come before the stockholders, will be held at this office on Tuesday, January 9th, at 12 o'clock noon.

THOMAS J. REILLY, Secretary.

Dry Dock, East Broadway & Battery R. R. Co.,

605 Grand St.

New York, Dec. 26, 1899.

The Annual Election for Directors and Inspectors of Election will be held at the office of the Company on Tuesday, January 9, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon. Transfer books will close December 26, 1899, at 3 P. M., and reopen January 10, 1900, at 10 A. M.

L. KAYSER, Secretary.

The Western National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

9th December, 1899.

The Annual Meeting of the stockholders of this Bank for the election of Directors and such other business as may come before it will be held at the Banking House, No. 15 Nassau Street, on TUESDAY, January 9th, 1900. The Polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M.

H. A. SMITH, Cashier.

Lincoln National Bank,

32-42 EAST 42D ST.,

New York, December 23d, 1899.

The Annual Meeting of the shareholders of this bank, for the election of Directors for the ensuing year, will be held at the banking house, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M. W. T. CORNELL, Cashier.

SAVINGS BANKS.

MANHATTAN SAVINGS INSTITUTION,

NO. 644 BROADWAY.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20, 1899.

97th Semi-Annual Dividend.

The Trustees of this institution have declared interest at the rate of THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT. per annum on all sums not exceeding $3,000 remaining on deposit during the three or six months ending on the 31st inst., payable on and after the third Monday in January next.

JOSEPH BIRD, President.

FRANK G. STILES, Secretary.

GEORGE H. PEARSALL, Asst. Secretary.

Metropolitan Savings Bank

1 and 3 THIRD AV., (opp. Cooper Institute.)

CHARTERED 1852.

93D DIVIDEND.

New York, Dec. 12, 1899.

INTEREST FOR THE HALF YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1899, at the rate of

FOUR PER CENT. PER ANNUM

Will be credited to depositors entitled thereto under the by-laws of the bank on sums from $5 to $3,000. INTEREST PAYABLE JANUARY 17TH, 1900.

MONEY DEPOSITED on or before January 10 will draw interest from January 1st, 1900.

JONATHAN B. CURREY, President.

EDWARD SHERER, Secretary.

103RD SEMI-ANNUAL DIVIDEND.

INSTITUTION FOR THE SAVINGS OF MERCHANTS' CLERKS,

No. 20 UNION SQUARE.

A Dividend for the six months and three months ending December 31, 1899, has been declared to all depositors entitled thereto under the by-laws, at the rate of Three and One-half Per Cent. Per Annum on sums from $5 to $3,000, payable on and after January 15, 1900.

Money deposited on or before January will draw interest from January Deposits are received from all and not exclusively from ants' clerks.

Open daily, holidays excepted, from 10 A. M. to 3 P. M. Saturdays from 10 A. M. to 12 noon.

JOHN K. M. HURLBUT, President.

WM. M. CONSTABLE, } Vice Presidents.
CHARLES M. TOWNSEND, }

GEORGE G. WILLIAMS, Treasurer.

MECHANICS' AND TRADERS' BANK FOR SAVINGS.

74 and 76 Wall Street.

The Trustees have ordered that interest be paid to depositors entitled thereto under the by-laws, in accordance with the savings banks laws, for the six months ending December 31, 1899, as follows:

On accounts not exceeding three thousand dollars, at the rate of FOUR PER CENT. per annum.

On accounts larger than three thousand dollars and which exceeded said amount prior to the limit of deposits by statute, at the rate of TWO AND A HALF PER CENT. per annum.

Payable on and after Monday, January 15, 1900.

WILLIAM C. STURGES, President.

NIEL BARNES, Cashier.

New York, December 26 1899.

CITIZENS' SAVINGS BANK;

56 and 58 BOWERY, COR. CANAL ST.

70TH SEMI-ANNUAL DIVIDEND.

The Trustees have ordered that interest at the rate of THREE AND ONE-HALF (3½) PER CENT. per annum be paid to depositors on and after January 15th on all sums of $5 and up to $3,000 which have remained on deposit for the three or six months ending December 31, 1899, in accordance with the by-laws and rules of the bank. Money deposited on or before January 10th will draw interest from January 1st. HENRY HASLER, President.

CHARLES W. HELD, Secretary.

HENRY SAYLER, Assistant Secretary.

IRVING SAVINGS INSTITUTION,

115 Chambers St., New York City.

The Trustees of this institution have declared interest on all sums remaining on deposit during the three and six months ending December 31, 1899, at the rate of FOUR PER CENT. per annum on amounts from $1 to $3,000, payable on and after Monday, January 22, 1900. Deposits made on or before January 10th will draw interest from January 1st.

W. H. B. TOTTEN, President.

G. BYRON LATIMER, Secretary.

Union Dime Savings Institution

BROADWAY, 32D ST. AND SIXTH AVENUE, GREELEY SQUARE, NEW YORK.

Interest three and one-half per cent. from $5 to $3,000. Credited January 1st, payable January 10th, or any time later.

CHARLES E. SPRAGUE, President.

GEORGE N. FIRDSALL, Treasurer.

FRANCIS M. LEAKE, Secretary.

LOST AND FOUND.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK, BALTIMORE, MD. Baltimore, Nov. 16th, 1899.

LOST.—Certificate No. 18,392, dated July 7th, 1899, ten shares stock Canton Company of Baltimore; name Alex. C. Nelson. All persons are warned to show cause why a new certificate should not be issued. ALEX. C. NELSON.

THE FINANCIAL MARKETS

Co-operation among New York bankers of importance is likely to show early security market consequence—or, at least, may much influence the course of the local money market. Nothing at all sensational is impending or contemplated, as some curious Wall Street efforts try to suggest; but energetic, straightforward businesslike plans are under way to relieve pressure in quarters where damage has been inflicted or threatened. Bankers are not affecting omnipotence nor attempting miracles; but they are able, working jointly, to smooth out many rough places.

Nor is relief work, now made so much of, actually new. It is not the habit of the New York banker to do much strutting over a performance of public service; and thus important recent accomplishments are really little known outside the circle of strong men personally engaged. Take the Boston bank crisis for an example. Except for the prompt and effective intervention of New York capital, there would have been at Boston last week, not the failure of two banks merely, but a disaster which might have done terrific damage throughout New England. Millions of dollars in one day were transferred from New York. This was not to safeguard New York interests, or only remotely so. In assistance provided for Baltimore almost an equal illustration may be found of the same alert, comprehensive New York banking policy. Mushroom trust companies there were in serious situation and New York tided them over.

***

As to what New York's strongest group of capitalists has been doing at home, much that is sensational and silllly misrepresentative has been given currency. Some strong interests have had stock market disagreements and battles royal have been fought, some of them apparently not yet concluded. But this is quite apart from the higher and broader plane upon which every important banker in the metropolis has stood alert and ready for public protection. Only stupidity or malice can tell any other tale.

***

London's holiday extends beyond the suspension of business here, and our market opens to-day without foreign quotations for criterion or influence. There have been times, and not so long ago, when such a fact might have been considered of consequence. Not so now. Wall Street has become quite able to stand alone.

RUSHED WITH WORK.

Discussing general business conditions, Norman B. Ream of Chicago, whose railroad and other business interests are extensive, says:

"There really is nothing new to say. Everybody knows that the country is prosperous and that there is every prospect that that prosperity will continue.

"As for the railroads, they are still rushed with work and will have all they can do for some time to come. The outlook is certainly very assuring."

INVESTIGATING INDUSTRIALS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I note what your financial column in to-day's issue says about the obligations of the Stock Exchange regarding industrial securities. If the Exchange does not heed the advice, their business from the public will inevitably shrink, and it will become almost exclusively a business of "insiders" and "professionals"—"dog eat dog," so to speak.

It is not merely a question of annual reports, but relatively it is more important to start right and not admit, either to the listed or unlisted department, any more securities of "industrials" without the most searching investigation, taking no statements presented by promoters for granted. Some months ago there appeared in your advertising columns, as in many other prominent papers in this and other cities, a prospectus of the United States Flour Milling Company, in which the firm of accountants whose name I forget, certified to having examined the books of the various constituent mills and found that "since the date of their organization" (I think those were the exact words used,) the profits aggregated a certain sum—sufficient to pay interest on the proposed issue of bonds, full dividend on the preferred stock, and, if I remember right, 6 per cent. on the common stock, leaving a handsome surplus.

I beg leave to ask the accountants certain questions, not, of course, as to any profits of any individual or constituent property or plant—as that would not be a fair question to ask—but what years were taken for the profits shown in said prospectus? Was it a concurrent period of years for all the mills, and, if so, what period? If it was not a concurrent period, then name the years of each plant separately the books of which showed the profits stated.

It is not intended for a moment to question the good faith and integrity of the accountants, and not even of the promoters, but parties selling out to a so-called trust have been known to "make the worse appear the better part," and on one pretext or another have thrown out poor years, and of course thrown in the good ones. I doubt if there was any flour miller of experience in the country that was not surprised at the time by the showing made of profits of said constituent mills. Not that it is questioned for a moment that the books showed the profits claimed, but in what years did they show it? Right here is a moral for the Stock Exchange. I will ask any miller in the country, not interested in the United States Flour Milling Company, if under the conditions prevailing in flour manufacture the past twenty-five years, any less than five or more than ten years last past would be a fair criterion of present values of investment and profits in milling. It shows how easily the Listing Committee could be misled by not knowing the conditions of any given trade during widely different periods. For instance, between about 1873 and 1885 there were several years when many mills made profits as high as $2 and $3 per barrel down to 50 cents—annual average profits, I mean. While now 10 cents per barrel average in large mills is considered an excellent profit. Of course, productive capacities are much larger; so is cost of plants and capital involved. But the booming profits in those years have gone, never to return.

I don't know what the custom of the Stock Exchange is as to investigating new corporations for listing, but think they should employ, on industrials at least, their own professional accountants of the highest standing to go over the books and verify statements presented by the accountants employed by the promoters. VERITAS.

New York, Dec. 24, 1899.

FINANCIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Dividends are announced by the American Chicle Company, the Central National Bank, and the Eleventh Ward Bank.

November Transvaal Gold Output.

PRETORIA, Dec. 17.—The official report of the gold output for November shows the amount to be 61,788 ounces.

Reported Bank Coalition Denied.

A story was published yesterday to the effect that the National City Bank was to unite with the Hanover National Bank and one other to form an immense institution, modeled on the old United States Bank, which would largely control the finances of the country. President Stillman of the National City Bank said yesterday of this report: It's a fairy story. There is not a word of truth in it."

RESIGNS FROM TRUST COMPANY.

A. B. Stillwell Leaves the Presidency of the Guardian.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 25.—Announcement was made to-day of the retirement of A. N. Stillwell from the presidency of the Guardian Trust Company. This corporation, which was formerly known as the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Trust Company, had its headquarters in Kansas until a few months ago, when the name was changed, the capital increased from $1,250,000 to $2,500,000, and the general offices removed to Chicago. Most of the new stock was taken in charge by men of large wealth, including John W. Gates, John Lambert, A. L. Singer, and T. M. Thadbourne, Jr.

Mr. Stillwell's retirement is said to be due to differences of opinion between the President and a majority of the Board of Directors as to the policy to be pursued by the company. It was through this trust company that Mr. Stillwell built the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf Railroad, now in the hands of receivers, and about to pass under a new management, and he is now said to be practically out of both corporations. It is stated that Mr. Stillwell will return to Kansas City.

NEW AUTOMATIC SWITCHBOARD.

Telephone Company Completes One in John Street Exchange.

There has just been completed in the John Street Exchange of the New York Telephone Company, 32 Gold Street, an improvement designed to facilitate the service of the down-town business district tributary to it. This is the installation of the new automatic switchboard.

The subscriber attached to such a switchboard by lifting the receiver from its hook closes a circuit and lights a small incandescent light over his number at the Exchange. No bell ringing is necessary. Replacing the receiver notifies the central operator that the subscriber is through, by extinguishing the light. Thus the central operator is not obliged to cut into a conversation with the annoying "all through?"

In the operating room the new system is practically noiseless, and allows the individual operator to attend to more calls in a given time than formerly. There is no clattering of drops.

The transfer was effected with no interruption of the service. The new switchboard was built around the operating room outside of the old one. As each subscriber was attached to it his connection with the old board remained undisturbed.

Before the first of the year some twelve hundred Cortlandt Street subscribers will be served from the John Street Exchange. This will necessitate an increase of the present force there by about a third. The new switchboard has been used for some months in the Harlem, Riverside, Thirty-eighth, and Madison Square Exchanges.

BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT.

Comments on Its Effort to Punish the Authors of Bear Rumors.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is said to be a crime for those who have been the means of beating down the price of Brooklyn Rapid Transit stock. I would like to know why the price for a non-dividend-paying stock should be 137. To the ordinary observer it would seem to be as criminal on one side as the other. Experience as a teacher is costly, and he who mingles with the gamblers of Wall Street will perhaps learn to keep away from them. The Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company has issued $7,000,000 of bonds. Is this to build a new road or to sell a gold brick to bond buyers? If newspapers wished to be of service to the small investor they would publish the figures of actual value of these large corporations. READER.

New York, Dec. 23, 1899.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The counsel of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit feel justified in punishing the guilty party who circulated stories that caused the price of the stock to go down. Turn about is fair play; therefore, the District Attorney ought to punish the insiders in the Brooklyn Rapid Transit who bunkoed people into buying its stock at 130 and over on reports of "dividends sure this year." Or is lying on the bear side only criminal?

QUID PRO QUO.

New York, Dec. 23, 1899.

William F. Sheehan, of counsel for the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, after reading the above letters, refused absolutely to make any reply. He would make neither comment nor statement.

RAILWAY COMPANIES DISAGREE.

Rutland and Central Vermont Roads Have Trouble About a Bridge.

ROUSE'S POINT, N. Y., Dec. 25.—As the result of a clash between about fifty employes of the Rutland Railroad, headed by Superintendent Pierce and about seventy-five employes of the Central Vermont Railroad, headed by Superintendent of Bridges Foohey, Roadmaster Elrod, and Chief Engineer Robert Ford, yesterday at this place, several rods of the Central Vermont track were torn up, the telegraph wires of the Rutland road were cut, rendering communication with the head office at Rutland impossible, and a big new engine belonging to the Central Vermont road, valued at $11,000, was seized by the Rutland road employes and is now stored in the roundhouse of the Rutland road at this place.

The trouble arose over the building of a new spile bridge across Lake Champlain to connect the Ogdensburg and Lake Champlain division of the Rutland road with the new railroad which the latter road is building through Grand Isle from Alburgh, on the Vermont shore, to Burlington, Vt. To prevent this the Central Vermont officials started to build a spur from the present bridge, which is owned jointly by the two roads, to a point on the New York shore which would intercept the new bridge which the Rutland road was building.

RAILWAYS MAY COMBINE.

The Monon, Ohio Southern, and Lake Erie and Western Involved.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Dec. 25.—It is reported in railroad circles here that a deal is pending to consolidate the Detroit and Lima Northern, the Ohio Southern, the Lake Erie and Western, and the Monon systems. The first-named road is under a receivership and the Columbus and St. Mary's branch has been sold to C. M. Haskell of this city and W. B. Strang, Jr., of New York. The free buying of Lake Erie and Western last week is cited as further evidence that there is something in the air.

The Monon system, which is operated in connection with the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Road was acquired by the Vanderbilt interests last Spring, and when the Columbus and St. Mary's branch of the Detroit and Lima Northern was sold two months ago it was intimated that it would be used as a link in a system which would parallel considerable of the Pennsylvania property in Ohio and Indiana.

A War Speech That Failed.

From The London Chronicle.

Mr. John Augustus O'Shea, to the fund in aid of whom we referred the other day, used to be in considerable request as a lecturer on his military experiences. Once, at Dumfries, he came upon the platform wearing in his buttonhole a daisy, which he quietly removed and held up. "Ladies and gentlemen," he began, "I hold in my hand a wee modest flower." I plucked this evening from the grave of Robert Burns." The audience was interested, and became enthralled as the lecturer went on to speak of the national poet. Then, suddenly recollecting that Burns had nothing to do with his subject, he stopped abruptly. "And now," said Mr. O'Shea, "I will proceed to relate my experiences in the war." But by this time he had thoroughly engaged the sympathies of his listeners, who would not hear of another subject. "Never min' the war, Sir," they vociferated; "gie us Robbie Burns!" And he did. This extempore oration afterward became one of the most popular of Mr. O'Shea's lectures.

The Burial of Flags.

From The London Chronicle.

In connection with the story of the British flag said to be buried at Pretoria, it is perhaps worth mentioning that in the middle of the last century it was no unusual occurrence for the tattered or "wounded" colors, as they were quaintly styled, to be interred. In a North Country paper of May 31, 1763, there is the following passage: "The old colors of the Twenty-fifth Regiment of foot, Lord George Lennox's, (now the King's Own Borderers,) "quartered at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, being much wounded in Germany, particularly at the glorious and ever-memorable battle of Minden, were buried with military honors."

SCHOOL LAWS OF JERSEY.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Commission on Codification and Revision of the New Jersey School Laws has issued a letter asking for suggestions as to the proposed law known as Senate Bill No. 197. I earnestly beg citizens, parents, taxpayers, Boards of Education, Principals, and teachers to refrain from indorsing this measure until it has been thoroughly discussed in the press, on the public platform, and on the floor of the Legislature.

The letter remarks: "The members of the commission confess to a feeling of disappointment and surprise that in their work last year [the preparation of Senate Bill No. 197] they received very little aid from teachers, school officers, and others interested in the creation of a school law.

Senate Bill No. 197 is a volume of ninety-six pages, embracing the entire school law of New Jersey. It is no simple matter for even the initiated to comprehend the full intent of the measure, even after careful study.

That the school law needs codification and revision I do not dispute, nor do I question that Senate Bill No. 197 contains many good points, but much of it is new and revolutionary legislation, and the interests of the people will be far better conserved by permitting the law to remain as it is than to replace it by Senate Bill No. 197 or anything resembling Senate Bill No. 197.

Senate Bill No. 197 practically deprives the people of any voice in the management of their schools; first, by removing boards of education from the control of the elective or appointive power; second, by subordinating boards to Superintendents and business managers.

This is accomplished by empowering a majority of a quorum of a board to do almost anything on the recommendation of the Superintendent or business manager, while without such recommendation a two-thirds vote of all the members of the board is required. There are some things, like the appointment of Assistant Superintendents, Superintendent of Buildings, architect, and engineer of construction, that a board cannot do even by a unanimous vote of all its members, unless these employes are nominated by the Superintendent or business manager.

Senate Bill No. 197 creates many new and expensive offices. In cities of 50,000 or more population it gives the Superintendent almost unchecked control of the educational department of the schools and to the business manager similar power over the business departments. The vast patronage of the public school system is centralized in these officials. About the only function Senate Bill No. 197 leaves to Boards of Education is that of appropriating money for Superintendents and business managers to spend. The State Superintendent is empowered to remove any member of any local Board of Education, and there seems to be no appeal from such action. Under such circumstances self-respecting men will decline to serve on Boards of Education.

Senate Bill No. 197 gives the Superintendent and business manager, to all intents and purposes, unlimited tenure of office, while subjecting Principals and teachers to a contract system. "What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander." If the yearly contract is so desirable for Principals and teachers, why is it not equally good for Superintendents and business managers? Senate Bill No. 197 makes the Superintendent the arbiter of the appointment, promotion, reappointment, and dismissal of Principals and teachers. It provides for an enormously expensive system of superintendence, but offers nothing that would attract to the profession of teaching those talented, cultured, and independent spirits without whom the American school system will soon lose the character that has made it pre-eminently the educator of the world.

In brief, Senate Bill No. 197 takes from the people the control of their schools, shears Boards of Education of their most important prerogatives, and vests them in officials who are in name the servants but who are in fact the masters of the board; it vastly increases the expense of the schools while correspondingly decreasing their quality; it ensiaves Principals and teachers; it is an unjust and dangerous measure.

A number of "indorsements" of Senate Bill No. 179 have been published, which confine themselves chiefly to eulogizing the attributes of the bill and to asserting that it is a desirable law. The "indorsers" disdain to enter into particulars, while the opponents of the measure demand that it shall be discussed article by article, paragraph by paragraph.

Dr. Poland, City Superintendent of Paterson, has published a letter commending Senate Bill No. 197, but he ignores completely its obnoxious features. I refer to the autocratic and arbitrary powers over the people and over Boards of Education, Assistant Superintendents, Principals, teachers, and other employes which Senate Bill No. 197 confers on Superintendents and business managers. A Superintendent, however, can hardly be expected to condemn measures conceived for his especial benefit, or to call public attention to points that are certain to be condemned as soon as the light of publicity is turned upon them. Dr. Poland has been invited to discuss Senate Bill No. 197 on the public platform. Of course he will welcome so favorable an opportunity for acquainting the people of his city with the virtues of an act he so unqualifiedly approves and which is of so tremendous importance to them.

A committee of the Council of Education, which conceals its identity under the signature of "Committee," appointed to consider Senate Bill No. 197, restricts its report chiefly to extolling the character of the commission and questioning the sincerity of the critics of the bill. It recommends that "it is the sense of the Council that attacks on the bill, without regard to the truth of the assertions offered in such attacks, are to be deprecated." To which we all respond with a fervent Amen! What the people and the teachers want is the truth, and the whole truth, about so momentous a piece of legislation as the State school law.

None know better than Dr. Poland and this "committee" how unutterably hateful to the vast majority of teachers is Senate Bill No. 197. I will not assert that they comprehend how burdensome it will be to taxpayers, how detrimental to the best educational interests of the people. Of course the Council of Education approves Senate Bill No. 197. It would be astonishing if it did not. Superintendents control the Council of Education, and Superintendents are the chief beneficiaries of Senate Bill No. 197. The extreme importance to the people of New Jersey of the work to be accomplished by this commission must arouse the interest of all persons interested in education and the welfare of the public schools, and to accomplish results best calculated to subserve the interests of our schools the doors of the commission should be thrown open to the public.

The circular issued by the commission contains the warning: "Unless you help us now, you will have no right in the future to find fault with our work." Let the commission hold public hearings, when teachers and citizens as well, may appear before it and unreservedly present their views and opinions in this matter. Such a course taken by the commission would relieve it from the suggestion that it was forcing the matter with a high hand.

(Miss) ELIZABETH A. ALLEN.

Hoboken, N. J., Dec. 16, 1899.

COLORADO'S SILVER SUIT.

The Sooner a Final Decision Is Attained the Better.

From The Tacoma (Washington) Leader.

The State of Colorado is going to sue the United States to compel the resumption of silver coinage. The dispatches do not indicate what form of suit will be brought, but the purpose of it will be "to test the legality of the demonetization of silver." The suit will be begun in the District Court of Colorado, but the intention is to take it to the Supreme Court of the United States, where the real battle will be fought.

The United States Monetary League, a free silver organization, seems to have the matter in charge and its agents have been authorized to appeal to all the silver States for funds to defray the expenses of prosecuting the suit.

There is no reason why the monetary interests of all the States should not contribute, nor is there reason to suppose they would not if the matter were sufficiently considered to be thoroughly understood by them.

A decision by the court of last resort as to the legality and constitutionality of all our silver legislation will do much to finally end discussion of this question. The argument of it before the court divested as it will have to be of all unsupportable assertion, the false "facts," and invented statistics that have so long been used to support the claims of silver, will no doubt do all that remains to be done to put the matter forever at rest.

To take the question into court, if it can be taken there, will put it out of politics and deprive it of most of its unsettling and disturbing influence. It is the best possible disposition to be made of it. No one need doubt what the result will be. There is no reason why every State should not give Colorado all possible aid and encouragement in securing a hearing in the courts.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

The following sales at auction are down for to-day at 111 Broadway:

By Bryan L. Kennelly, foreclosure sale, 143 West One Hundred and Eleventh Street, south side, 150 feet east of Seventh Avenue, 33.6 by 100.11, five-story brick flat. Due on judgment, $3,875; subject to another mortgage for $33,000.

By McVickar & Co., foreclosure sale, Sylvester L. H. Ward, referee, 873 and 875 Elton Avenue, west side, 100 feet north of One Hundred and Sixtieth Street, each 25 by 100, two four-story brick flats. Due on judgment, on each, $2,066; subject to other mortgages, on each, for $12,000.

By Richard V. Harnett & Co., foreclosure sale, Richard H. Clarke, referee, 219 and 221 West Eighty-third Street, north side, 150 feet west of Amsterdam Avenue, each 25 by 102.2, two five-story brick flats. Due on judgment, $19,504; subject to other mortgages for $20,000.

By Herbert A. Sherman, foreclosure sale, Algernon S. Norton, referee, 149 and 151 Broome Street, south side, 37.6 feet east of Attorney Street, 37.6 by 100, three-story brick tenements, with stores, and four-story brick tenements at the rear. Due on judgment, $7,156; subject to other mortgages for $27,000.

By Herbert A. Sherman, foreclosure sale, N. Taylor Phillips, referee, 47 to 56 West One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Street, north side, 300 feet east of Lenox Avenue, 100 by 99.11, four-five-story brick flats. Due on judgment, $4,687; subject to other mortgages for $56,100.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, William J. Nicholson, referee, Brown Avenue, west side, 225 feet north of Sagamore Street, Van Nest, 50 by 100, vacant. Due on judgment, $344; subject to another mortgage for $4,500.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Daniel P. Ingraham, referee, Palisade Avenue, Riverdale, running through to South Avenue, adjoining the lands of Albert G. Hyde, plot 456 by 340 and irregular, and containing about 2½ acres. Due on judgment, $24,525.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., sale by order of the Sheriff, 36 and 38 East Twentieth Street, south side, 200 feet west of Fourth Avenue, 40 by 92, three-story brick dwelling on 36, four-story brick dwelling on 38; all title and interest of John Walker on Aug. 26, 1899.

NOTICE.

The premises, 156th St. and German Place, on which lis pendens was filed Dec. 19, 1899, has not been owned by me since March 21, 1899; mortgage is not due and will be contested.

JOHN DE HART.

TOBACCO IN WAR.

The Next Necessity to Powder, or at Least to Bread—Experiences of Many Nations.

From The London Mail.

The tobacco and pipes with which the soldier at the front is being presented by the people he leaves behind him form the most acceptable and valuable gift he can have. The comforts of tobacco are never more appreciated than on the battlefield.

The first warrior who smoked was the red Indian, who used to scalp his enemy with his tomahawk, and then, sitting down, smoke a soothing pipe out of the same weapon. At the nead was a bowl, and the hollow reed handle served as the stem.

It was the soldiers and sailors of Queen Elizabeth who were the first Englishmen to smoke. Drake's men puffed "the divine herb," and it is left on record that they did this to mitigate the sufferings of hunger.

Cromwell and his Ironsides smoked, and on the camping grounds of William III.'s army in Ireland large numbers of pipes have been dug up.

At Saarbrücken in the Franco-German war the Brunswick Hussars galloped into a solid mass of French troops through a perfect hail of bullets; cigars in mouth. Time after time German Generals led their men to certain death, coolly smoking. The lack of tobacco, indeed, from which the French troops greatly suffered, was declared in no small degree to be responsible for the discontent that arose among them. The ladies of Germany saw that their husbands, sons, and brothers were well supplied with the weed.

When the Light Brigade was ordered to attack at Balaklava, a regimental butcher was engaged in dressing a sheep. He was smoking at the time, and pipe in mouth and cleaver in hand he charged with the corps and returned—still smoking.

At Sebastopol an Irishman incautiously raised his head above the trenches. A Russian bullet came and smashed the bowl of his pipe, leaving the stem in his mouth. Hastily dropping under cover, Pat expressed his desire to come into contact with "the thafe that shot that gun and spoiled me only poipe."

It was the Crimean war that brought smoking into fashion in England. Before that only the working classes smoked. But the terrors and privations of that terrible campaign taught the officers that as a comforter and solace tobacco was unequalled. After the war they went on smoking, and the example of the Crimean heroes made the pipe and cigar generally indulged in.

In the thick of the fight at Rorke's Drift, in 1879, the English soldiers smoked as hard as they fought, lighting their pipes with the burning splinters of wood from the hospital fired by the Zulus.

Wellington was the only General of the last century who objected to tobacco. So strong was his prejudice against it, though it was through tobacco that his men sustained the terrible privations of the Peninsular War, that in 1845 he issued an army order condemning its use.

Napoleon could not smoke, but he was a great snuff-taker. That wonderful strategist Moltke was passionately addicted to tobacco. During the war of 1871 he snuffed half a pound a week. And he was charged for it at the end of the campaign. The story of Bismarck's cigar and how, after carefully hoarding it for the hour of victory, he gave it to a wounded soldier at Königratz is well known.

After Tel-el-Kebir had been fought and won, Lord Wolseley smoked nine cigars right off.

In Italy and Spain tobacco is recognized as a necessity, and cigars (horrible concoctions!) are served out to the soldiers as part of their rations. In the British Navy this is the same. The Admiralty sells leaf tobacco to the sailor at 1s. a pound.

Lord Penzance and the Hangman.

From The London Chronicle.

When the late Lord Penzance was plain Mr. Wilde he once took an early-morning stroll round Covent Garden Market. There he entered into conversation with an old man of genial aspect, who had just made a purchase of a geranium. Mr. Wilde soon found that the stranger was an enthusiastic amateur gardener, and the pair had an interesting chat on horticultural topics as they walked toward Oxford Street. Suddenly the fare in a passing hansom cab signaled to the driver to pull up, and within the vehicle Wilde saw his friend Sergeant Ballantine. Bidding the old man adieu, Wilde entered the cab. In surprised accents Ballantine exclaimed: "How on earth did you come to know that man?" "Picked him up just now in Covent Garden Market," said his companion. "Well, Wilde," the sergeant remarked, "Your new acquaintance is Calcraft, the hangman!"

FEDERAL COURTS.

Calendar for Tuesday, Dec. 26.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—Brown, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. in Room 66, Post Office Building. Motions in bankruptcy.

In re N. Y. & Westchester Water Co.
In re Frank T. Neeley.
In re David Gutlohn.
In re Louis Lewensohn.
In re A. & C. Hirschberg.
In re Hattie Hyman.
In re Matilda G. Crosby.
In re H. Lockwood & Co.
In re Upper N. Y. C. Water Co.
In re N. Y. C. Dis. Water Supply Co.
In re Bernard Gries.
In re Abraham Popkin.
In re William C. Casey.
In re Charles A. Tinker.

STATE COURTS.

New York Calendars—This Day.

SUPREME COURT—Appellate Division—Recess.

SUPREME COURT—Appellate Term—For the hearing of appeals from City Court and Municipal Court.—Freedman, P. J.; MacLean and Leventritt, JJ.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Motions.

1—Mannetti vs. Doege.
2—Fanning vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
3—Prince vs. Socialistic Co-op. Pub. Assn.
4—Sadowitz vs. Duane.
5—Lazarus vs. Spencer.
6—McSwegan vs. Ashley Engineering Co.
7—Bauer vs. Met. St. Railway Co.
8—Golding vs. Burstein.
9—Schulman vs. McGowan.
10—Helman vs. Burstein.
11—Bang vs. McAvoy.
12—Fallon vs. Farber.
13—Jacobs vs. Lieberman.
14—Levine vs. Levine.
15—Dean vs. Gilmore.
16—Stark vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
17—Warner vs. Paine.
18—City of New York vs. Union Ry. Co.
19—Seidler vs. Schreck.
20—Wallet vs. Weber.

Appeals from orders of City Court.

1—Podmore vs. Seamen's Bank for Sav.
2—Browning vs. Chadwick.

Appeals from judgments of City Court.

3—Walter vs. Fargo.
18—Steiner vs. Block.
20—Dodd vs. Hart.
21—Hackett vs. A. L. & J. Reynolds Co.
22—Mayers vs. Mangies.
23—Penhollow vs. Lawyers' Title Ins. Co.
24—Rosenberg vs. McMichael.
25—Greenberg vs. 3d Av. R. R.
26—Kohlmann vs. John J. Roth Ben. Assn.
27—Bacigalupo vs. 3d Av. R. R.
28—Boyd vs. N. Y. Life Ins. Co.
29—Marcherelo vs. Aste.
31—Cahill vs. Lilienthal.
32—Same vs. same.
33—Berkowitz vs. Mittenthal.
34—Jackson vs. Comiskey.
35—Schulman vs. McGowan.
36—Popkin vs. Subin.
37—Ealing vs. Saracena.
38—O'Day vs. J. C. G. Hupfel Brew. Co.
39—Foreman vs. Goldberg.
40—Potter vs. Harrison.
41—Donoho vs. Met. St. Railway.
42—Coqueron vs. Schade.
43—Sabinson vs. Herler.
44—Dean vs. Gilmore.
45—Wells vs. Sargent.
46—Wichelman vs. Western Union Tel. Co.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part I.—Beekman, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Litigated motions.

1—Galligan vs. Galligan.
2—In re Hull.
3—Cohen vs. Harris.
4—Kuschel vs. Kuschel.
5—Duane vs. Sheridan.
6—Hall vs. Mayor, &c.
7—Ericson vs. Savage.
8—McCormick vs. Provident Sav. Life Socy.
9—In re Levett, Hilton & Co.
10—Zeman vs. Quinn.
11—Haufman vs. Grand Court of State of New York.
12—King vs. Plunkett.
13—Hordes vs. Met. St. Railway.
14—In re St. Mark's Pl.
15—Fix vs. Fix.
16—Manies vs. Harlem Loan Association.
17—Kidder vs. Kidder.
18—Vivian vs. Crow.
19—Kunton vs. Ind. Order Brith Abraham.
20—Greenberg vs. Murray.
21—Galligan vs. Met. Inv. Co.
22—Mount vs. Mount.
23—In re St. Nicholas Bank.
24—Barrie vs. Man. Ry.
25—Smith vs. Frazier.
26—Reid vs. Brush.
27—E. & H. T. Anthony & Co.
28—Hunter vs. Hunter.
29—Smith vs. Smith.
30—Green vs. Mosler Safe

FED BY SENATOR SULLIVAN

Three Thousand Bowery Lodging House Men His Guests.

POLITICAL LINES NOT DRAWN

"Hungry" the Only Password to the Feast—Familiar Faces Missing and New Ones Seen.

There wasn't another man along the Bowery yesterday so much talked about as Senator Timothy D. Sullivan. There never is at this time of year, when the Senator gives his annual Christmas dinner to the lodging house population, which turns out en masse and surges about the doors of the Metamora Club. Last year Mr. Sullivan fed 2,000 men. Yesterday this number was increased to 3,000. Democrats generally rubbed shoulders around the well-laden tables, because that's the sort of a district the Sixth is, but in the Senator's definition of hospitality there is no such thing as party lines, and so it was that Republicans, Socialists, Anarchists, and others were all bidden to the feast, the only password being "hungry."

Hours before noon a long line of men, shivering in the crisp Winter air, spread itself out for two blocks up the Bowery and waited patiently for the feast that Manager George Krause and his assistants, under Senator Sullivan's direction, were making ready in the club rooms at 207. The Senator was present during the morning, and among other things to make him feel good he received a portrait of Mr. Croker from Tammany's leader as a Christmas present. He departed before his constituents appeared, leaving a "Merry Christmas" for his friends, a greeting which was repaid three thousand fold.

The men were fed in batches of 250, and when the first contingent filed in, feasting with hungry eyes on the laden tables, Matteo's band of twelve pieces started "The Star Spangled Banner," and the standing banquet was on. There was no ceremony. The men were too hungry for that. They fell to with appetites made keen by long hours of fasting, and between rapidly working jaws and cheers for Senator Sullivan, the turkey, celery, bread, coffee, beer, and other things disappeared as though a tornado had come along and swept the tables clean.

ENTHUSIASM FOR THE SENATOR.

Nearly all the Bowery characters, who live no one but themselves know how, were there. Some had disappeared during the year to better or worse fortune, and new faces and new characters, with "life stories" charged with interest, took the places of the others. There were "Rocks," one of the highest in lodging-house fame, who last year when the Senator was South for his health proclaimed him "high, low, jack, and the game; "Klondike Sammy," "Tubby Bill," and hosts of others.

"Rocks" was in the van, and right up at the first table under the musicians. "I din't have no breakfast, no nor dinner last night," proclaimed "Rocks" to his next-door neighbor, "an' if any bloke wants to race wit' me in t'eatin' line, I issues t' challenge right to onct." There were no takers.

"Tree cheers for t' Senator!" yelled "Rocks," after the first onslaught, using the back of his hand for a napkin. Yells followed, yells single, in batches, and in waves.

"Let 'er go agen!" cried "Rocks," waving an empty beer glass aloft, at the same time catching a waiter passing with a bucket of hot coffee. The noise was redoubled.

Just then the band struck up "Whistling Rufus," and immediately the cheers were changed to the shuffling of feet, and a dozen men executed a dance.

"Dat's t' stuff!" yelled "Cable Car Mike," a turkey leg aloft in one hand and a glass of steaming coffee in the other. "Cable Car" let out a yell and cut a pigeon wing among the crowd of men, most of whom were too busy eating to do anything but give spasmodic shouts when the Senator's bounty was cheered.

Presently—or, to be exact, in twelve minutes—the first batch was relieved of further responsibility in the eating line and filed down stairs. As the succeeding contingents of men came and went the tables were cleared by the dozen waiters in marvelous time, and the scenes of enthusiasm were repeated. Half a dozen men proved themselves to be repeaters, but no one of those in charge minded that. "That's all right," said Mr. Krause, "but where they manage to stow it all beats me."

THREE DINNERS AND HUNGRY.

"What you t'ink," whispered a robust looking fellow to a companion going down stairs late in the afternoon. "I got tree o' dose dinners, an' I'm hungry yit."

"Say, I got two," whispered the other man, "and blow me if I could eat another t'ing fer notin'. Say, t' Senator's all right. He gits me vote till I gits too old t' trun a ballot, see?"

In the crowd that attended the dinner were no end of interesting characters, such as only the sub-strata of east-side life is capable of producing. As on previous years, men were there who received their educations in universities, men of business, men who had been lawyers and doctors and who at some time or another had amounted to something in their respective callings. Two familiar faces, however, were missing.

One was that of a Polish Count who up to a few months ago had made the Bowery his habitat for two or three years. His home is in Austria, whence he was banished some years ago for the crime of lèse majesté. He came to this country, and in the campaign of 1896 made speeches for the Republican ticket. His work was commended by President McKinley, Senator Hanna, and others, but when the campaign was over reverses sent this Count to mingle in the flotsam and jetsam of the Bowery. Four months ago a change came over his fortunes. The Austrian Emperor relieved him of the charge, and the Count went back to his ancestral estates, where he is to-day in his old home, surrounded by an army of servants, relatively as rich as he was poor a year ago, when the Christmas dinner of Senator Sullivan was a godsend to him. Sanitary Inspector Feeney, who assisted at the dinner yesterday, received a letter from the Count a few days ago, in which he spoke of his changed condition and extended the compliments of the season.

Then there was the old man whom the Bowery knows as "Oysters." Last year "Oysters" considered a free dinner in the light of a blessing. This year "Oysters" recines between clean linen in a fine uptown house, the victim of a recent cable car accident, but surrounded by wealth and elegance. "Oysters's" history, might any one ask? "Oysters" had a daughter. She married the son of wealthy up-town parents. He was cast off, and took up his abode with "Oysters" down in the dark east side. Then came a baby, and with it reconciliation, after the mother's refusal of an offer from the young man's parents of $50,000 to relinquish the child and give up her husband. Then it was that "Oysters" was left alone to eke out a precarious existence in selling oysters at a little Bowery stand. A few weeks ago a car mowed down the old man, and his daughter took him from the scenes of his old haunts forever.

STORY OF ONE MAN'S RUIN.

But as old faces disappear in Bowery life, others take their places. In the dinner crowd yesterday Dr. Feeney saw a man, gray of hair and bent of figure, who was his classmate in New York University and who was graduated in his class in medicine in 1880, at the age of twenty-five. Once he kept a large drug store in the city, and was then said to be worth $150,000. He was also a graduate of the University of Heidelberg and of a school of pharmacy in Munich. "A man," said Dr. Feeney, "with a keen intellect, up in history and science, and probably better read than a large proportion of the men one meets."

An unfortunate marriage was this man's undoing. The man, so the story goes, refused to live with the woman who called herself his wife and who was able to show a marriage certificate. He set himself up in practice in this city, but as soon as he had become fairly well established the woman had him arrested. This was repeated until he became discouraged, and drink did the rest. His friends in the profession helped him, but he kept going down. Yesterday he appeared in the crowd of ragged, shivering men, hungry and homeless. Dr. Feeney will make another effort to set the man on his feet.

Of quite another cast is "Tall Twisting Tommy," Thomas Kerrigan from Cork, if anybody pleases. "Tommy" is like "Klondike Sammy" in temperament, and in prosperity or poverty is always good-natured and devil-may-care. They all know him in Bowery lodging houses, where on the cold Winter nights "Tall Twisting Tommy" makes orations. Being Irish, he twists the tail of the British lion in long-drawn-out harangues. Hence the sobriquet.

These are only a few. There are personal histories without end in this under world of the Bowery—histories of young men, old men, decrepit men and lame men, men of all sorts. And to the lame and decrepit Senator Sullivan paid especial attention yesterday. All these were singled out from the long, waiting line and conducted to places of honor, with chairs to sit on and waiters to wait on them. A sequel to the dinner will be the later distribution of articles of clothing to the men who need them most.

"Well, take it all together," said "Rocks," after it was all over, toward dark last night, "t' Senator can have anyt'ing he wants in dis district, from Alderman up to Pres'dent. He's t' whole t'ing."

"He's Irish," commented "Tall Twisting Tommy," "an' w'at more does any feller want?"

Santa Claus is well "sooted" with his trip.

Were you?

If your wife, mother, sister or anybody else's sister bought from us anything you didn't like, bring it back and get your money.

Maybe some of those odds and ends of overcoats on hand to-day—maybe not.

The handsomest we make—rich kerseys; a few silky rough cloths.

Young men's sizes $22; men's $25. Were $30 to $50.

ROGERS, PEET & Co.

350 Broadway, cor. Leonard.
569 Broadway, cor. Prince.
Thirty-second and Broadway.

YOUTHFUL LODGERS FEAST.

Inmates of Brace Memorial House and Their Invited Guests on Their Good Behavior.

The newsboys of the Brace Memorial Lodging House, who enjoyed their Christmas dinner last night, wasted no part of the time allotted for the meal in toasts or speechmaking. That part of their Christmas celebration will take the form of a concert to-morrow night, and last night they devoted their undivided attention to the food set before them.

The dinner, which was given by William M. Fliess at the lodging house at 9 Duane Street, was the thirtieth of its kind. Besides the 400 inmates of the lodging house, 200 other boys were served—many of them more than once—with dinners. All of the boys who live in the house were permitted to invite as many of their friends as they desired, and no boy who applied for a meal went away hungry. After the boys had eaten, a crowd of about 150 homeless men gathered in from the streets were allowed to finish up anything that they had left on the tables.

The boys assembled in the schoolrooms above the dining room at about 5 o'clock and went down to dinner in divisions of 165, which is the seating capacity of the dining room. The tables were spread with turkey, boiled ham, celery, mashed potatoes, turnips, tea, bread and butter, and pies. The pies seemed to be the delicacies with which the boys were most familiar, for almost all of them helped themselves to large pieces and refused to eat anything else until invited to do so. Many of the boys thought that the celery was some strange kind of plant, and when it was passed to them pinned small pieces of it in their buttonholes. A few of the boys, after they had finished the dinner, went up stairs, again and enjoyed another meal with the next batch that came down, and one very thin boy appeared at the table for the third time. At his third meal, however, his appetite seemed to desert him, for after eating a few pieces of mince pie he retired.

The behavior of the newsboys at the meal was exemplary. At many of the previous dinners it had been their custom to brighten the occasion by throwing pie and bread at one another, but this time they behaved as decorously as if they had been an assemblage of bank Presidents. Some of the invited boys, however, carried portions of their meal away in their pockets. One very small colored boy, who was going out with a broad grin on his face, was asked if he had had enough.

"Oh, yes, Sah," he said, "I got my hunk o' pie all right."

As he spoke a large apple pie which had been concealed under his coat slipped down and fell to the floor. The grin on his face faded immediately when this happened, but returned again when he was told that he could keep the pie.

SIX HUNDRED NEWSBOYS DINE.

Frank Tilford Provides the Meal and a Vaudeville Entertainment.

Over 600 newsboys ate all the soup, fish, roast turkey, cranberry sauce, plum pudding, ice cream, oranges, and other good things which were served at Lyric Hall, Sixth Avenue, near Forty-second Street, yesterday. The occasion was a Christmas dinner, given to the up-town newsboys by Frank Tilford, President of the Bank of New Amsterdam and a member of the firm of Park & Tilford.

Five hundred engraved invitations had been issued, announcing that Mr. Tilford desired the presence of the bearer at a dinner on Christmas day. More than 600 boys appeared. One of the boys, who was present without a "ticket," explained it this way: "I jest told de cop at de door I lost it. Every feller dat wanted to come worked dat gag."

The boys were seated at five long tables, and noise and enthusiasm were kept partially within bounds by the presence of twenty policemen and Roundsman Maguire from the Broadway squad. The appearance of Mr. Tilford in the gallery for a moment while the dinner was going on, however, provoked almost a riot of applause, whistling, cat-calls, waving of caps, and cheers.

The clearing of the tables was followed by a vaudeville programme. The boys paid strict attention to the sleight-of-hand tricks and the songs of the professional artists, but their best applause was given to the efforts of several of their own number. "Pat" Heavey and "Tom" Ward sang, "I'll Leave My Happy Home for You," and "Whitey" Dougherty brought round after round of cheering by his rendering of "You'll Get All That's a-Coming to You." A diminutive negro boy, who appeared on the stage with all the sangfroid of a premiere danseuse, executed what appeared to be a clog dance. He said his name was Richard Hyson, and called his effort "de buck dance." "Nobody learned me," he added. "I jes' picked it up."

The sight presented by the boys in the hall was a motley one. Big boys who ate their dinner with their caps on their heads and small negro boys black as the proverbial "ace of spades" were mixed in with almost every other kind of newsboys, and they gave the forty waiters, who tried to serve the dinner in an orderly manner, all that the latter can want in the way of trials of patience for many days to come. The menu was as follows:

SOUP.
Consommé Julienne.
Radishes. Celery. Almonds.
FISH.
Salmon, mayonnaise sauce.
ROAST.
Turkey, cranberry sauce.
Potatoes. French peas.
DESSERT.
Christmas plum pudding, wine sauce.
Ice cream. Fancy cakes. Candies.
Oranges. Coffee.

AT THE HOME FOR THE AGED.

Mr. Crimmins Feeds the Wards of the Little Sisters of the Poor.

Through the beneficence of John D. Crimmins, Christmas became a day to be remembered for a year by the inmates of the Home for the Aged of the Little Sisters of the Poor. It was the occasion of the annual Christmas dinner which Mr. Crimmins has provided for the aged people of this institution for the last fourteen or fifteen years.

Just previous to the dinner Mr. Crimmins visited all the rooms, shaking hands with the men and women, and extending to them Christmas greetings. It was 12:30 when the four dining rooms were thrown open, and the aged people filed in to their places. The inmates who sat down to the tables numbered 273. The food was served personally by Mr. Crimmins and members of his family, with the aid of the Sisters. A photographer took flash-light pictures of the diners.

Dinner at McAuley's Mission.

Six hundred hungry-looking men stood in line outside McAuley's Water Street Mission yesterday morning waiting until 12 o'clock, when the annual dinner given by the supporters of the mission was to be dispensed. Most of them waited patiently for some hours. As the mission hall could not accommodate the 600 hundred at once, they entered in batches of 200 each, and enjoyed an excellent dinner. The food was served by S. H. Hadley, the Superintendent of the mission, and a number of men and women who take an interest in the work.

Half Dollars Instead of Dinners.

Bernard Rourke departed yesterday from his custom of furnishing a Christmas feast to the poor of the Eighth Assembly District. Instead, at his place on Forsyth Street, he gave a bright silver half dollar to the very large majority of suppliants for his bounty. Report has it that Mr. Rourke distributed 872 half dollars.

Dinner and Gifts from Miss Gould.

IRVINGTON, N. Y., Dec. 25.—Miss Helen Gould gave her usual Christmas dinner today to the little inmates of Woody Crest, which she founded several years ago. This home for little unfortunates is always generously remembered by Miss Gould, and in addition to the dinner each child received a present.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN.

"I can count on the fingers of one hand the years since nearly every one who rode at Durland's was anxious to have 'the Baron' put the finishing touches on her education as a rider," said one of the patrons of the academy as he sat smoking in the café after a sharp spin in the ring. "The Baron was an impressive sort of a fellow, you know, and was a stickler for his title. No matter how familiar you might become with him, he still sort of held you at arm's length, as if a Baron was a sort of thing that a democratic American must not be too familiar with, even though he was a riding master, and he cut some of his pupils who familiarly called him Veitinghoff. He disappeared from view a couple of years ago, after there was a story floated that he had inherited a fortune in Russia, and had come into the possession of the title about which he made so much fuss. Of course, we all thought the title was a joke, and laughed among ourselves about it. He has now turned up, title and all, and with a private physician, a valet, and a bank account to back it up. He seems to have plenty of money, and has recently bought a lot of horses in Virginia and Kentucky. The last I heard of him he was on his way to California to buy a lot more. Says he is going to breed them in Russia as a cross with the Russian horse, and get the fastest and best animals the world has ever seen. His theory is that the Russian horse will furnish the stamina and the American horse the speed, and there is no telling but that the Russian riding master that we used to laugh at so much may yet become the great man in the horse world that he always said he would. But it jars me to think of Baron Veitinghoff being the real thing; I had got so used to looking upon him as a riding school joke."

***

Two gray squirrels that were especial pets of frequenters of Central Park, and whose homes were near the Ninety-sixth Street transverse road, are among the lot that have been taken to Bronx Park for the purpose of creating a squirrel colony there. Both were minus an eye, the missing ones having been shot out by boys with bean shooters. One of them, generally known as "Blind Tom," was one of the tamest in the Park, and would scrape an acquaintance with most any visitor to the benches near the lower tennis field. His departure is positively mourned by several who had become attached to him.

***

Bridish Johnson, socially as well known here as in New Orleans, near which the famous orange groves that bear his name are situated, has just returned from a hunting tour in the Far West. Arizona was the ground he chose for his sport with the rifle, and while he did not succeed in getting any grizzly bears, he managed to shoot some good-sized mountain lions and cinnamon bears, the pursuit of which afforded a lot of sport. Mr. Johnson is expected in town this week, he having stopped over at New Orleans for a visit to the big farms of the Johnson estate, and to inspect the attempt making to restore the Johnson orange groves—largest in the country—which were almost ruined by the freezes of 1895 and of last Winter. These are in Plaquemines Parish, near the Mississippi delta, and numbered above 100,000 trees in fruitage, with a productive capacity that made them the most valuable in the South. Back of them, and on the Carroll farm, also, are vast cypress forests that the woodsman has never touched aggregating thousands of acres. These are now to be worked, as there seems to be a market for wood of this sort in the near future.

***

"The raglan overcoat which is having such a run this Winter," said the fashionable tailor as he booked an order for one, "is a revival of a fashion about fifty years old, and not a new thing, as many people seem to think. Like most of the fads, it is of English origin, and was named for Lord Raglan, one of the best dressers of his day. It is intended for tall people only, and short men should never wear one, for the sloping shoulder is as much a characteristic of the coat as are the two slit pockets at the sides, and the only pockets in the coat when it is properly made. Pad the shoulders or add pockets, and you at once detract from the character of the coat, and that would never do if you would dress in the fashion. So the short and stumpy man should be content with some other cut."

***

"Of all the teams that skate and play hockey here," remarked George Philips, "the one that surprises me most is the Yale team. Hockey men generally know the disadvantages they labor under in perfecting themselves in the game, but the general public knows nothing about it. The team has no rink to practice on, and the only ice they have seen this year is that right here in this rink. The players get to New York as often as they can for a spin on the ice, but all the technical work of formations and trick plays has to be done at home in the classroom, where the study out, as best they can, the plays. There is a roller-skating rink in New Haven, and there they work on the rollers practicing at driving goals. That is of little use, as a matter of fact, for the two styles of skating are as different as can be imagined. I have heard people who have watched the play say, wonderingly, that they should think Yale could turn out a team that would make a better showing at the game. They simply do not know the disadvantages the Yale boys are under, and the mystery to me, instead, is that they do as well as they do."

***

Johnny Reiff, the lightweight jockey who made such a sensation in England this season, and for whom the English turf writers predict a most brilliant future, is but fourteen years old, and the short trousers and boyish knickerbockers in which he was occasionally seen while in town last week seem to fit him better than the dress suit and full-grown men's clothing he wore at other times. He is a very modest and unassuming little fellow, whose successes have not turned his head as "Tod" Sloan's was turned by his successes in the saddle. Reiff has been riding but two years, his experiences before his appearance here as the lightweight jockey for Duke & Wishard having been confined to county fairs in the West in contests that were scrambles rather than races. Yet it was in these that he got that experience that enables him now to command a salary of $15,000 a year, with almost unlimited possibilities ahead of him. He is at present in his home in Indiana, where he and his brother, Lester, are to build a home for their parents as a Christmas gift.

***

"Miners are a funny lot," said Henry Lippman, who has just returned from a visit to the Cripple Creek district. "They are clannish and they are a high-strung lot, the best of them being Irishmen and Americans. The Irishman is a born gambler, and no matter how many of his 'prospects' fail him he is never discouraged, but after a bit of work in a mine of some one of the big companies, in order to get a grub stake, he goes out prospecting again. Mine Superintendents like to have a few Irishmen at work for them, but they do not want a whole bunch of them, for if a lot get together and outnumber the men of any other nationality in a mine there is sure to be a strike. So the shrewd super gets a crew that is about evenly divided between Irishmen, Americans, and Cornishmen. Such a set will never agree, and they are perpetually jealous and suspicious of one another. So the super stands off one set of nationalities by another, and the result is that they quarrel among themselves instead of with him, and strikes are averted. There seems to be no other way of preventing these."

***

"Billy" Bull, the famous back of the Yale football team of a number of years ago, and recently of Yale's coaching staff, has decided to complete his education as a physician in the College of Physicians and Surgeons in this city. "Will he assist that other Yale player, George Sanford, in making a first-class football team out of the material to be found at Columbia University?" is a question that old players at Yale and the alumni at Columbia are asking anxiously, but from different viewpoints. It was he who helped teach the Carlisle Indians how to kick a football, and it was he who developed McBride and Sharpe as kickers in the last Yale eleven. Yale men do not care, therefore, to see him coaching Columbia, but the undergraduates at that institution would welcome him with open arms, and are already laying pipes to secure his services, if possible.

Judge Lippincott Robbed.

The residence of Judge Lippincott, 132 Sip Avenue, Jersey City, was entered by burglars early yesterday morning. The lower part of the house was ransacked, but the only plunder secured consisted of two overcoats, some table silverware, and a satchel in which was a railroad pass. The goods taken were valued at $94.75.

SIMPSON, CRAWFORD & SIMPSON

OPENING SALE OF SHIRT WAISTS.

Begins This Morning—
Imported and Domestic—
Twelve Great Special Lots.

Last Sunday's Papers Gave Full Details.

19th Street. Sixth Avenue. 20th Street.

WATERS PIANOS

A Beautiful New Waters Grand Upright Piano, 7⅓ octaves, 3 stringed, full iron frame, repeating action, ivory keys, 3 pedals, very rich, deep tone, with fine singing quality, and containing all the latest improvements, for cash, or $250 on installments; only $10 down and $7 per month. Stool, cover, tuning and delivery FREE.

$225

We also offer a new, large size, 7⅓ octave, 3-stringed Chester Piano for cash, or $100, payable $10 down and $5 per month. This is a reliable, well-made piano, fully warranted and the best value ever offered for the money.

$180

Don't fail to examine our pianos, or send postal for catalogue with reduced prices and terms.

Open Evenings Until Jan. 1st.

HORACE WATERS & CO.,
134 Fifth Av., near 18th St.

Good Digestion
Horsford's Acid Phosphate
Taken regularly after meals, removes the sense of distress, oppression and "all gone" feeling of the stomach.
Genuine bears name HORSFORD'S on wrapper.

Annual Sale of Underwear! | Annual Sale of Underwear! | Annual Sale of Underwear!

O'Neill's,

The Big Annual Sale of Women's Muslin Underwear
Begins This Morning!

A week earlier, but with even greater opportunities for money saving than last year. We have been preparing for this sale for a long time, gathering the best the trade produced, and now we are ready for you this morning with the largest and best stock of Muslin Underwear ever presented by any house in the City of New York.

Over 75,000 Pieces!

Every one perfect in fit, finish and material and all made in the clean, light and well-ventilated factories of upper New York State. They must not be confounded with the yellow, ill-fitting garments made in the sweatshops of New York and which are so frequently offered at so-called "Special Sales." Here are the details of our great offering. Read them carefully:

Gowns.

Gowns with tucks and inserting, V shape, tucked yoke, edged with Valenciennes lace	49c
With circular yoke of tucks and torchon lace, finished with deep ruffle edged with torchon	69c
Empire Gowns, with torchon insertion and deep edge, finished with revers of torchon, insertion and ruffle, Empire and V shape, neck of embroidery, insertion and ribbon	79c
High V and square neck gowns, Empire effect, embroidery, torchon and Valenciennes laces	98c
With square and V necks of embroidered insertion and tucks and V necks of Valenciennes insertion, finished with ruffle and edge	1.29
Empire Gowns with fine embroidered insertings, finished with ruffle of embroidery and ribbon	1.49

Skirts.

Skirts with tucked and hemstitched embroidered ruffled and torchon lace	79c
With torchon lace of one and two insertings and ruffle, embroidered deep lawn ruffle and cluster tuckings	98c
Skirts with embroidered ruffle, also with two embroidered insertings and ruffles and torchon lace of three insertings and edge	1.29
With bias insertings and tucks of Valenciennes lace, tucked ruffle edged with deep Valenciennes, perpendicular insertings and tucks finished with deep edge of torchon lace	1.49
Skirts with deep umbrella ruffles of embroidery, Valenciennes lace of one, two and three insertings and with torchon lace with double ruffle and inserting	1.98

Drawers.

Muslin Drawers, with hem and tucks	10c
Muslin Drawers, with tucked umbrella ruffle	29c
Of Cambric, with umbrella ruffle, insertions and edge of torchon lace	39c
Of Cambric, with umbrella ruffle, torchon and Valenciennes insertings and edge, muslin embroidered ruffles and tucks	49c
Of Cambric, with deep embroidered ruffle and tucks; also with two Valenciennes insertings and edge	59c

Chemises.

Muslin Chemises, with square neck of wide embroidered insertion and edge also in cambric with circular neck and torchon lace	49c
Cambric Chemises with circular neck, torchon inserting and edged ruffle	59c
Of Cambric, with circular neck, torchon inserting, tucks and edge; also of Muslin, with square neck of three embroidered insertings and edge	79c

Corset Covers.

Cambric Corset Covers, low neck, a new French style	19c
Cambric Fitted Covers, V shape, neck of embroidery	25c
Cambric Covers, with low circular neck, French style, torchon lace and ribbon	39c
Cambric Covers, with circular neck, French style, torchon lace inserting, edge and ribbon	49c

In addition we will offer at this sale a host of RARE BARGAINS IN
Silk and Sateen Petticoats, Elderdown and French Flannel Dressing Sacques. Also in Eiderdown Robes.
EARLY BUYERS WILL SECURE BEST CHOICE.

All Cash Purchases except Sewing Machines and Bicycles delivered free to any railroad station within 100 miles of New York City.

H. O'NEILL & CO., 6th Avenue, 20th to 21st Street.

After-Christmas Reductions.

Hackett Carhart & Co.

House Coats
of different quality of double faced English Cloth
The $6.50 grade is $3.95
" $7.00 " " $5.00
" $9.50 " " $7.00
And a special mention of a $35.00 grade at $18.50
of Black Silk Matelassee raised basket weave and richest silk linings.
ALL AT THEIR 13TH ST. STORE.

THREE BROADWAY STORES. | Cor. 13TH St. Cor. Canal St. Near Chambers.

FLINT'S FINE FURNITURE

"Gather About the Festive Board."

Are you in need of one with the New Year guests to entertain? The variety of ours is an inspiration and among our original designs belated by the great volume of Christmas business you will find choice bargain nuggets.

Small round tables, with solid tops, bow or fluted legs; remarkably graceful and rich looking, notwithstanding their plainness. Larger tables almost Grecian in their simplicity and beauty, large dignified tables, handsomely carved, to be extended.

To save money, always
"BUY OF THE MAKER"
GEO. C. FLINT CO.
43 45 AND 47 WEST 23RD ST
NEAR BROADWAY.
FACTORY 154 AND 156 WEST 19TH STREET

AMUSEMENTS.

DALY'S B'way & 30th.....at 8:20. Matinées Wednesday & Sat., 2. Special Matinée New Year's. 2D MONTH. Permanent Home of Daniel Frohman's Co. THE MANEUVERS OF JANE. Comedy, 4 acts, by Henry Arthur Jones.

LYCEUM 4th Av. & 23d.....at 8:30. Daniel Frohman.....Manager. Matinées Thursday & Sat., 2. Extra Matinée New Year's Day. FOURTH MONTH. CHARLES FROHMAN PRESENTS ANNIE RUSSELL in MISS HOBBS MISS HOBBS

EMPIRE THEATRE. Broadway and 40th St. Evgs. 8:20. Matinées Wednesday & Saturday at 2. EMPIRE THEATRE COMPANY. MY LADY'S LORD. Whimsical Comedy by H. V. Esmond.

GARRICK THEATRE. 25th St. & B'way. Evenings, 8 o'clock. Mats., 2:15. Matinées Saturday and New Year's Day. Wm. Gillette in His New Play. Sherlock Holmes

MADISON SQ. THEATRE. 24th St., nr. B'way. EVGS., 8:30. MATINÉES, 2:15. Matinées Wednesday, Saturday, & New Year's. WHEELS WITHIN WHEELS. Greatest Hit This Season.

Charles Frohman's Criterion Theatre, B'way & 44th St. Evgs, 8:30. LAST 2 WEEKS. Matinées Sat. & New Year's. JULIA MARLOWE | Barbara Frietchie. Tuesday, January 9—MAUDE ADAMS.

GARDEN THEATRE 27th St. and Madison Ave. Charles Frohman.....Manager. FOR TWO WEEKS ONLY. Evenings 8:30. Matinée Saturday. MR. RICHARD MANSFIELD in THE FIRST VIOLIN. Taken from the Romance written by Jessie Fothergill.

AMERICAN 42ND & EIGHTH AVE. CASTLE SQ. OPERA CO. Box office open 8 A. M. The BEGGAR STUDENT. Evs. 8:15, 25c. to $1. Mats. Wed., Sat. 1,100 Seats 25c. Next Week—DIE FLEDERMAUS (in English).

HAMMERSTEIN'S LAST WEEK. VICTORIA Evgs, 8:30. Rogers Bros. in Wall St. To-morrow Evg., 100th Time. SOUVENIRS. Mon., Jan. 1—Chris. & The Wonderful Lamp. SEATS NOW ON SALE.

14TH ST. THEATRE, near 6th Av. Mats. Wed. & Sat. Return for a short time of last season's triumph. THE VILLAGE POSTMASTER. "Another Old Homestead."—N. Y. World. An Everyday Picture of Country Life.

BROADWAY Theatre, 41st St. & B'way. Evs. at 8. Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2. THE GREAT SUCCESS. BEN-HUR. SPECIAL MATINEE NEW YEAR'S.

THE NEW YORK THEATRE. Pop. Price Mat. Wed., Sat. & New Year's. 2 w'ks only, S. Bernard & Xmas pantom. THE MAN IN THE MOON. Jan. 8, 1st time, "Broadway to Tokio."

WALLACK'S Broadway & 30th St. Evg. 8:15. Mat. Sat. 2:15. XTRA MATINEE NEW YEAR'S. FRANK DANIELS in THE AMEER.

MANHATTAN THEATRE, 33d & B'y. Evs. 8:15. Sat. Mat. ANNA HELD in PAPA'S WIFE.

HERALD SQ. THEA. Mats. Wed. & Sat. PRIMROSE & DOCKSTADER'S Minstrels. Jan. 8th—David Belasco's "Naughty Anthony."

Grand Opera House. James A. Herne's Great Play SHORE ACRES. Wed. Mat. Orch., 50c. Balc., 25c.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC, 14th St. & Irving Pl. Always Crowded. "Way Down East." Prices 25, 50, 75, $1. Mats. Wed., Sat. 2. Eve. 8:10.

KOSTER AND BIAL'S. REFINED VAUDEVILLE. Gertrude Haynes and Her Choir. MARIE DRESSLER, LAFAYETTE.

IRVING PLACE THEATRE. Schweighofer. BLITZMAEDEL. (TELEGRAPH GIRL.)

AMUSEMENTS.

CARNEGIE HALL TO-NIGHT AT 8:15. Grand Concert in aid of the WORKINGMAN'S SCHOOL. SOLOISTS: Mme. Gadski, Soprano (by arrangement with Mr. C. L. Graff.) Mr. Alexander Petschnikoff, Violinist (by arrangement with Mr. Victor Thrane.) and Orchestra of Fifty. MR. SAM FRANKO.....Conductor. Prices, $1 to $5. On sale at Box Office. KNABE PIANO USED.

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE. GRAND OPERA SEASON 1899-1900. Under the Direction of Mr. MAURICE GRAU. To-morrow Evg. at 8, DON GIOVANNI. Mmes. Nordica, Suzanne Adams, and Sembrich; MM. Ed. de Reszke, Salignac, Pini-Corsi, and Scotti, (his first appearance.) Conductor, Sig. Mancinelli. Fri. Evg., Dec. 29, at 8, FAUST. Mmes. Calvé and Mantelli; MM. Alvarez, Scotti, and Edouard de Reszke. Conductor, Sig. Mancinelli. Sat. Mat., Dec. 30, only matinée of ROMEO ET JULIETTE. Mmes. Eames, Olitzka; MM. Saleza, Plançon, and Ed. de Reszke. Conductor, Sig. Mancinelli. Sat. Evg., 30, at Popular Prices, IL TROVATORE. Mmes. Nordica and Mantelli; MM. Campanari, Pringle, and Dippel. Conductor, Bevignani. Sun. Evg., Dec. 31, Grand Sunday Night Concert. Soloists: Mmes. Sembrich and Olitzka; MM. Campanari and Salignac, together with Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra. Conductor Paur. WEBER PIANOS USED.

CARNEGIE HALL—NEXT SUNDAY EVG. Sunday Ev'g, 31st Dec., at 8:30 o'c. PADEREWSKI. His only appearance with orchestra this season. WALTER DAMROSCH.....Conductor. Programme. Beethoven E Flat Concerto. Soli, by Chopin. PADEREWSKI'S Fantasie Polonaise. Seats at 23 Union Sq and at the STEINWAY PIANO USED.

THE LAST NIGHT AND THE MERRIEST. HUNGARIAN PEASANT BAND. For the charity fund of the Hungarian Literary Society, December 31st, at MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. Grand concert 9 to 12. Fiery Hungarian dances. Mirthful Peasant costumes. Boxes and seats at Tysons.

COMIQUE, Broadway & 29th St. Formerly Sam T. Jack's. Mat. To-day, 25 & 50c. Bohemian Burlesquers. Tobascoscope. (Sensational Moving Pictures.) Extra attraction! Florizell, Direct from Paris.

EDEN MUSEE. WORLD IN WAX—New Groups. Extra Attractions To-day. Christmas Pantomime, Blue Beard. CINEMATOGRAPH Every Hour. Neapolitan Troubadour Orchestra.

THE DEWEY East 14th St. MATINEE TO-DAY. PARISIAN WIDOWS. "Tin Wedding." "Manhattan & "

KNICKERBOCKER. B'WAY & 38TH ST. N. C. Goodwin, Maxine Elliott. Evs. 8:15. Mats. Wed. & Sat. THE COWBOY AND THE LADY. Xtra Mat. New Year's.

KEITH'S. CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE. THE GIRL WITH THE AUBURN HAIR. Hart & DeMar, Mme. Herrmann, Canfield & Carleton, Hilda Thomas, Aldrich, Biograph.

MURRAY HILL THEA. Lex. Av. & 43d St. MATINEE EVERY DAY. This Week, MEN AND WOMEN.

HARLEM OPERA HOUSE. Mrs. Leslie Carter in "ZAZA." Evgs. & Mat. Sat., 2.

Huber's 14TH ST. MUSEUM. 10c. to All. Female Sword Swallower. Thea.—2 Co.

LECTURES.

EVERY DAY, 2 O'CLOCK, THIS WEEK, FREE lesson for ladies studying French; book complimentary. All ladies "teaching" French cordially invited. Professor BERGER, 368 Broadway.

DAILY, ONE CENT. SUNDAY, THREE CENTS.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

The New York Times.

THE WEATHER. Fair, cold, west to north winds.

COPYRIGHT, 1899, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

VOL. XLIX...NO. 15,590. NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1899.—TWELVE PAGES. ONE CENT in Greater New York; Elsewhere, and Jersey City. TWO CENTS.

THE NEWS CONDENSED.

Stocks improving.

Cash wheat, No. 2 red, 73½c.; cash corn, No. 2 mixed, 40½c.; cash cotton, 7⅝c.

FOREIGN.—The seizure of portions of the cargoes of three vessels from New York to South Africa has caused a protest on the part of the shippers. The State Department has instructed Ambassador Choate to take the matter up. No action has been taken by the British Government in the way of a protest against the threatened Fenian raids on Canada. Gen. Lord Kitchener arrived at Gibraltar yesterday. The Public Prosecutor yesterday began his closing address in the French conspiracy cases before the Senate High Court. The strikers at St. Etienne remain quiet. The French Cabinet considered measures for preventing a shortage in the coal supply. It is authoritatively stated that Germany has abandoned all idea of buying the Danish West Indies. Dr. Paasche of the German Reichstag says that unless some changes in tariff terms are made German beet sugar will be crowded out of the United States market within three years. Germany will have armored trains as a part of her military equipment.—Pages 1 and 2.

Page 1.

The Siegel-Hillman Dry Goods Company of St. Louis failed.

An attempt was made yesterday at Freeport, L. I., to kidnap the three-year-old daughter of Riley Raynor.

Three feet of snow covers Chautauqua County and several trains are stalled at and near Dunkirk.

Gov. Roosevelt yesterday approved the Astoria land grant, and in a long letter to the State Board defends his position.

A Third Avenue electric car took fire suddenly, causing a panic among the passengers. Two women fainted, and one of them, who shows symptoms of an electric shock, may die.

The publication of the report made by Frank Moss before it was submitted to the members of the Mazet committee has angered Mr. Mazet and his colleagues. Mr. Mazet said yesterday the committee would make its own report to the Legislature.

Local shippers have appealed to the Secretary of State, who has cabled Ambassador Choate to protest against the seizure by the British of vessels containing cargoes shipped from New York to South Africa.

Page 2.

The appointment of a colored man as a teacher in Public School No. 114 in Brooklyn is objected to by the other teachers.

The British Government has made no protest concerning the threatened Fenian raid, but is keeping a close watch.

Father Joseph O'Brien and Father Malone's old housekeeper denied yesterday that the venerable priest is being neglected. Father Malone's lawyer made a statement regarding the priest's will.

Page 3.

The Social Reform Club discussed the question of bridges versus tunnels.

The John P. Lovell Companies of Boston, makers of sportsmen's goods, made an assignment.

There was a pretty scene at a Christmas tree in the children's ward of the New York Hospital.

Dr. William Buckingham Canfield of Baltimore, who was injured Nov. 28 by a fall in this city, died at Roosevelt Hospital.

It is predicted that Messrs. Hill, Croker, McLaughlin, and Murphy will be the New York delegates-at-large to the Democratic National Convention.

The Kings County Democratic Executive Committee re-elected John L. Shea Chairman and referred the anti-Coffey petition from the Ninth District to a sub-committee.

Page 4.

Harvard's chess team was half a point ahead of Columbia yesterday in the intercollegiate tournament.

Page 5.

George V. L. Brokaw, who disappeared last Thursday, was found yesterday.

The Sabbath Committee asked Justice Beekman to revoke the license of the Dewey Theatre.

The Democratic members of the new Board of Aldermen nominated President Woods for a second term.

Eugene L. Packard was convicted of fraudulent use of the mails in connection with an investment company.

Thomas F. Ryan sent a message to John Skelton Williams, attacking the latter's Seaboard Air Line consolidation plan.

As the result of a cakewalk quarrel three negroes were shot in a trolley car as a party of men and women was going home. One may die.

Page 6.

The funeral services of Dwight L. Moody were held yesterday at East Northfield, Mass.

Gov. Roosevelt yesterday appointed Edward Morris Hoffman of Elmira to succeed Avery D. Andrews as Adjutant General.

The annual report of Adjt. Gen. Avery Andrews on the State militia has been completed.

A large memorial meeting for the late Dwight L. Moody was held yesterday afternoon in Calvary Baptist Church at the time his funeral was going on.

Representatives of China and Mexico yesterday signed a trade, navigation, and immigration treaty between the two countries at Washington.

Page 7.

At a meeting of the Union League Club $2,000 was subscribed to the Lawton fund.

Maurice Grau of the Grau Opera Company has announced that hereafter during the season, when unexpected changes occur in the cast of any performance, that money will be refunded or tickets exchanged if purchasers so desire.

Page 12.

The will of William H. Appleton was filed for probate yesterday.

In the Neufeld murder trial, Prof. Witthaus testified to the finding of what he thought were bloodstains on the defendant's clothes.

The differences between John C. and Patrick Calhoun have led to the commencement of a suit by the former for the recovery of $115,383.43.

Judge Fitzsimons said Cornelius Vanderbilt must pay his fine of $100 for failure to perform jury duty and that he ought to apologize to the people.

Expert testimony as regards handwriting took up all of yesterday's session in the Molineux trial. Expert Tolman finished his direct testimony, and Daniel T. Ames was the other witness.

Arrivals at Hotels and Out-of-Town Buyers.—Page 3.
Court Calendars.—Page 5.
Losses by Fire.—Page 3.
Society.—Page 7.
Real Estate.—Page 10.
Marine Intelligence and Foreign Mails.—Page 3.
Weather Report.—Page 3.
Yesterday's Fires.—Page 3.
Legal Notes.—Page 12.
Markets.—Page 10.
Railroads.—Page 5.
Insurance Notes.—Page 5.
Business Troubles.—Page 5.
New Corporations.—Page 10.

GOVERNMENT AND STATE CLASH.

Nebraska Will Prosecute Soldiers Acquitted by Court-Martial.

OMAHA, Dec. 26.—Acting under the instructions of the Governor, Attorney General Smythe will to-morrow being proceedings in Sarphy County, charging Corp. Fear and Private Jenkins with the murder of Private Morgan. The two men, acting under orders from the proper officers, shot and killed Morgan while the latter was trying to escape from Fort Crook. The Sarphy County authorities declined to prosecute, leaving the matter to the military, who held a court-martial and acquitted the men.

The Governor then ordered the case taken into the State courts. District Attorney Summers to-day received orders from Washington to defend the men.

Texas Sugar Mill Burned.

HOUSTON, Texas, Dec. 26.—The new sugar mill recently completed at Sugarland, Cunningham's plantation, was burned to-night; loss, $85,000, fully insured.

"OLD SARATOGA," for private or social use, is the peer of all whiskies. Be sure and get it for the Holidays. Rosskam, Gerstley & Co. make it. Acker, Merrall & Condit sell it.—Adv.

CONDEMN BRITISH SEIZURES

Local Shippers Protest Against Detaining of Cargoes.

ALL DESTINED TO DELAGOA BAY

Secretary of State Calls on Ambassador Choate to Look Into the Matter—Congress to be Appealed To.

Within the past two weeks parts of the cargoes of three vessels bound from this port to Delagoa Bay, South Africa, have been virtually seized by the British authorities. The object of these proceedings was, it is admitted, the prevention of supplies reaching the Boers through Lorenzo Marques, the port of Delagoa Bay. While none of the three vessels flies the American flag, each carried a cargo consigned from firms in this country to agents at Lorenzo Marques and other South African ports.

The State Department at Washington has taken the matter up, and has communicated with Ambassador Choate, in London, with reference to it, directing him to make representations upon the subject to the British Foreign Office. The department has also cabled to the United States Consul at Lorenzo Marques directing him to use all proper efforts to protect the interests of citizens of this country.

The vessels whose cargoes have been seized are the Beatrice, the Mashona, and the Maria. The two former are owned in England, and the last in Germany. The agents for all these vessels in this city are Norton & Son, of the Produce Exchange Building. The Beatrice sailed from the North Central Pier, Atlantic Basin, at the end of October; the Mashona early in November, and the Maria a few days afterward. Each ship carried a full cargo of miscellaneous freight, mostly foodstuffs, consigned to firms in Cape Town and other parts of Cape Colony and Natal, and in Delagoa Bay, the last named point being in each case the end of the ship's voyage.

Among the firms which sent goods on one or more of the vessels, and who are suffering—at any rate temporarily—by the seizure of the cargoes, are the Pennsylvania Export and Milling Company of Philadelphia, of which A. J. & M. A. Toomey of the Produce Exchange are agents; Flint, Eddy & Co. of the Johnston Building, and R. W. Geldart of 29 South William Street.

A representative of Flint, Eddy & Co. yesterday said that the action of the British authorities would have a very serious effect. It simply meant that an important port was closed to American commerce. The question was not as to whether the goods shipped by the vessels in question were ultimately intended for use by the Boers, but whether a city belonging to a neutral country was to be closed because Great Britain wanted it.

"Of course," added this gentleman, "the British would not dare to have done this had the cargo been shipped in American vessels. But it being British ships that were used, they thought they could do what they pleased."

In answer to an inquiry as to whether, under these circumstances, it would not be possible to charter American vessels for the Delagoa Bay trade, the reply was made that there were no suitable ships to be obtained.

"Anyway," it was added, "only a very small proportion of the cargo would, so far as we know, have gone ultimately to the Boers, and possibly none at all. It was all consigned to agents in Lorenzo Marques, and there is a very large local trade in that place. The result of this proceeding is that we and other firms have discontinued sending any goods at all to Delagoa Bay, and this hurts the general American-South African trade exceedingly."

R. W. Geldart said he had been shipping goods for two years to a reputable Portuguese firm in Lorenzo Marques. He sent a quantity of beer and lard on the Beatrice, and the first he knew of the seizure was from the newspapers, later on he received official notice from Norton & Son to the effect that, by order of the British Government, his goods had been transferred to lighters or hulks at East London, and were held there at his risk. He then went to the insurance agents, and they corroborated this information, adding that they would have to disclaim any responsibility for the goods transferred.

On the Mashona Mr. Geldart had a quantity of beef and flour consigned to the same firm. This vessel was not to call at Cape Town, but she was captured by the British gunboat Partridge and taken to that port, where, Mr. Geldart added, he understood she still was. He had received no official notification of the disposition that had been made of his goods sent on the Mashona.

Mr. Geldart declared that he had laid the matter before the Department of State, and had received a reply stating that the department had communicated with the Ambassador to Great Britain. A similar reply was received from Assistant Secretary David J. Hill by Flint, Eddy & Co., with the addition information that the United States Consul at Lorenzo Marques had been instructed to use all proper means to protect the rights of American citizens.

"The proceeding of seizing the cargoes of these ships," remarked Mr. Geldart, "is a most high-handed one, and I believe, without precedent. While I have no doubt that they will ultimately be paid for, as well as the prospective profits, I would much prefer to have the money in my pocket now to waiting for an indefinite period. I intended to ship more goods on Dec. 10, but luckily I did not do so. Of course the Lorenzo Marques firm is not going to pay me for goods that are not delivered.

"I am going to have the matter brought up in Congress, and see what redress American loans have for these seizures. It is all nonsense to say that arms were landed. The Boers have been preparing for this war ever since the Jameson raid, and imported all the arms and ammunition they were likely to need. The British Government will not find it easy to prove that goods shipped to Delagoa Bay are all intended for the Boers."

Sir Percy Sanderson, the British Consul General, remarked:

"If you will show me any one who can define what 'contraband of war' means I will tell you what I think about this matter. If our countrymen consider flour contraband of war, as giving 'aid and comfort' to the Boers by being part of their sustenance, it was perfectly right to seize the vessels on the high seas, even though they were directed to a neutral port. In the Franco-Chinese war rice was declared contraband."

In answer to Sir Percy, however, A. J. Toomey cited another war in which rice was not contraband. He said he was of the same opinion as the other New York shippers—namely, that the British authorities committed an illegal act.

The British Government apparently considers the seizures justified by the provisions of the agreement between Great Britain and the United States in 1794. After prolonged negotiations it was decided to allow the power desiring to treat provisions as contraband to seize them, and afterward indemnify the owners, adding a reasonable profit. According to some legal authorities, however, this treaty has been allowed to fall into abeyance by mutual, or, at any rate, tacit consent.

One New York lawyer said yesterday:

"The Government which declares flour to be contraband does so on its own responsibility, and must be able to prove that a prospect exists of reducing the enemy by famine."

WARNS BRITAIN OF DANGER.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The Times, in a special article discussing the international law aspects of Boer importations through Delagoa Bay, says:

"Were we to adopt, either with or without the consent of Portugal, the drastic measures which are so airily suggested in some quarters, we might find ourselves suddenly confronted with international complications far more serious and injurious to the successful prosecution of the South African war than the evils of which it was sought to secure an abatement."

It's a Great Comfort to Know that Evans brews good Stout as well as Ale.—Adv.

AGUINALDO IN MEXICO?

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 26.—A curious report gained credence here yesterday that Aguinaldo had arrived in Mexico.

STOLE A SACK OF GOLD.

Clerk in Chicago Sub-Treasury Under Arrest for Theft.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—Clyde H. Wallace, a clerk in the United States Sub-Treasury in this city, was arrested to-day on the charge of having stolen $5,000 in gold from the office. The young man is said to have made a full confession to the secret service officials.

The gold, a sack of twenty-dollar gold pieces, was missed Nov. 15, but it was several weeks before the officers could obtain a clue. Wallace finally furnished it by wearing fine clothes and diamonds, and by playing the races in pool room, making all his bets with twenty-dollar gold pieces. He is in jail in default of bonds of $10,000.

MERCURY GETS DOWN TO 18.

Temperature and a Raw Wind Make New Yorkers Shiver.

Bright, cold, Winter weather set in yesterday. The drop in the temperature from Monday was not great for this climate—about a dozen degrees or so—but the mercury crawled down below the freezing point and stood at 18 degrees at between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning. That was the lowest point it reached during the day. It gradually went up to 25 degrees, where it stood at 3:30 P. M. o'clock in the afternoon, and then again began going down until 20 degrees was reached at about midnight.

Had the day been still as well as bright and cold, many people undoubtedly would have enjoyed the weather, but a pretty stiff breeze of between twenty-five and thirty miles an hour blew persistently most of the day, penetrating through even heavy overcoats, and making standing on street corners rather uncomfortable. Scudding before the wind was easy and enjoyable, but steering in the teeth of the Christmas breeze was rather difficult, at least for stout men. Although the day was bright, there was a good deal of humidity in the atmosphere—between 69 and 85 per cent.—which made the stiff breeze feel raw instead of bracing.

New Yorkers, however, had much warmer weather than they had out West, whence the cold wave came. At Duluth the thermometer registered 6 degrees below zero. The cold wave extended a good distance down South, and sent the mercury down to the freezing point at Savannah.

SNOW 3 FEET DEEP AT DUNKIRK.

Trains on the Nickel Plate and Other Roads Stalled There.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Dec. 26.—Snow to the depth of three feet covers Chautauqua County. Country stage lines are blocked, while trains are from one to six hours late. Trains east on the Erie Railroad and south on the Dunkirk and Allegheny Valley and Pittsburg are unable to leave Dunkirk. Lake Shore and Nickel Plate trains are having great difficulty in getting through. Big gangs of men are at work shoveling the snow from the tracks. A Western New York and Pennsylvania train from Pittsburg for Buffalo is stalled here.

The storm confined itself to the region along Lake Erie. The Nickel Plate is the worst sufferer. The westbound passenger train due at 8:30 A. M. was stalled at Angola, and did not reach Dunkirk until 2 o'clock this afternoon, a distance of fifteen miles. East-bound trains on this road are from two to four hours late. On the Lake Shore Road the tracks have been so cleared that trains with two locomotives are getting through to the West two hours late. East-bound trains have no trouble until they reach this place, the blockade being between Dunkirk and Angola. Traffic has been restored on the Erie Road by the use of a revolving snowplow.

FOR UTICA POSTMASTERSHIP.

Voters Ask Congressman Sherman to Recommend Gen. Daggett.

Special to The New York Times.

UTICA, N. Y., Dec. 26.—A petition signed by 6,900 voters of this city, nearly one-half the total number, asking for the recommendation of Gen. Rufus Daggett for appointment to the Postmastership at Utica to succeed E. Prentiss Bailey at the expiration of his term, on March 1, was formally presented to Congressman James S. Sherman to-day.

Gen. Daggett, who commanded the One Hundred and Seventeenth New York in the war with the South, ran for County Treasurer on the Republican ticket last Fall, but was defeated. Congressman Sherman practically announced that he would recommend the appointment.

WILL NOT REDEEM BONDS.

Baltimore Postpones Stock Sale from Which Money Was Expected.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 26.—At a special meeting of the City Council to-night a resolution was adopted postponing the sale of $875,000 of city stock advertised to take place to-morrow. This money was to have been used "to pay and extinguish all of the third mortgage bonds of the Western Maryland Railroad Company, amounting to $875,000 guaranteed by the City of Baltimore, maturing on Jan. 1, 1900."

Legal questions arose as to whether or not the city would be protected in other loans to the railroad company, and Mayor Hayes deemed it best to default temporarily on the redemption of the bonds.

PASTOR CATCHES A THIEF.

Wisconsin Minister Stops His Christmas Sermon to Give Chase.

MARINETTE, Wis., Dec. 26.—Dr. Scheppler, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, interrupted his Christmas service long enough to chase a sneak thief who was carrying off a number of holiday gifts from the parsonage.

The minister while at the altar saw the thief leaving the parsonage with a lot of stuff under his overcoat. Putting aside his robes, he gave chase, caught the fellow, and after a tussle turned him over to the police, and then returned and finished divine service.

LEAVES CHICAGO FOR NEW YORK.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—The American Electrical Vehicle Company will remove its headquarters to New York on Jan. 1, according to a statement made to-day by C. E. Corrigan, Vice President and General Manager of the company. The reasons assigned for the proposed removal is that New York is the centre of the automobile trade; that the number of men in New York able to afford the vehicles is many times the number of men in Chicago who are in a position to buy, and that it is difficult to sell automobiles in this city and get a good price for them. The company will probably locate its plant in New Jersey.

Mr. Corrigan went to New York to-day, presumably on business connected with the removal.

REAL ESTATE AGENT SHOT.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 26.—Richard Hopwood, a real estate dealer, of 99 Bloomfield Avenue, was shot and seriously injured to-night by one of two men who are now under arrest. He does not know which of them fired the shot.

In the course of business Mr. Hopwood recently foreclosed a mortgage upon property which belonged to George H. Knott and his brother, Samuel K. Knott. This evening the Knotts called upon Mr. Hopwood and, it is claimed, berated him for his action.

Mr. Hopwood claims not to have been the aggressor in the row which followed. There was a scuffle, it would appear, in the office, and during it a shot was fired. Mr. Hopwood was hit in the right cheek by the bullet. He claims it was a deliberate attempt to kill him. When searched a revolver was found on Samuel Knott.

Most Superb Day Train in the World. The "Royal Limited" leaves New York, South Ferry, and foot of Liberty St., daily 3 P. M.; arrives Washington 8 P. M. Splendid Dining and Café Car Service.—Adv.

ELECTRIC CAR TAKES FIRE

Sudden Flash on Third Avenue Puts Passengers in a Panic.

WOMAN GETS A SEVERE SHOCK

Mrs. Annie Reinhardt Shows Symptoms of the Effects of Electricity and May Not Recover.

One of the Third Avenue Railroad Company's new electric cars took fire yesterday afternoon. The occupants, about thirty in number, were thrown into a state of panic. They made a wild rush for the door, breaking seats and windows in their eagerness to escape. Two women fainted, one of whom, Mrs. Annie Reinhardt, of 2,251 Third Avenue, it is alleged, received a severe electric shock. She is now confined to her home, suffering from nervous prostration, and as she is subject to heart trouble it is feared the attack may end fatally.

The car was southbound and half filled with passengers. At Eighty-fifth Street it was stopped by the motorman to allow a passenger to alight. Then it was started ahead at full speed. Just as the crossing at Eighty-fourth Street was reached there was a blinding flash of blue flame that seemed to envelop the entire car.

Immediately there was a series of screams and a mad rush of the occupants to escape from the car, which was still moving. The motorman stuck to his post long enough to put the brakes on, and then jumped from the platform to escape the flames that shot out from the controller box. Some of the men, seeing that it was impossible to get out by way of the platforms, broke several windows and crawled through them.

By this time the street was crowded with people who had been attracted by the flash, the screams, and the crashing of glass. Police Captain Frers of the East Eighty-eighth Street Police Station, accompanied by Detective Carroll, was in the vicinity when the accident happened. They endeavored to quiet the panic-stricken crowd and get them off the car. One woman was carried to a drug store at Eighty-third Street and Third Avenue in an unconscious condition. An ambulance was summoned from the Presbyterian Hospital, and Dr. Williams responded.

When the last persons had supposedly been taken out Policeman Walsh, accompanied by the conductor, entered the car to see if any part of the woodwork was burning, as there was still considerable smoke issuing from under it. Near the middle of the car Walsh discovered Mrs. Reinhardt lying unconscious between two of the seats.

She was carried to the store where the other woman had been taken, and Dr. Williams revived her. She refused further assistance, and started for her home. On reaching home she became delirious, and her family hastily summoned Dr. Bauer of One Hundred and Twenty-third Street and Park Avenue. The woman grew rapidly worse, and was in a critical condition at midnight. Dr. Bauer said that the woman had evidently received a severe electric shock, as she showed every symptom of it. The family of Mrs. Reinhardt refused to allow her to be seen, and would not discuss the accident.

The cause of the fire is not definitely known. Some of the railroad officials said that it was caused by defective insulation, while others said that a fuse had burned out. The car, which was badly scorched, was taken to the Sixty-fifth Street car house.

SAILORS PERISH AT SEA.

Belgian Ship's Captain Reports that a Strange Bark with 12 Men Went Down in a Tempest.

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 26.—The big Johnson Line steamer Noranmore arrived here this afternoon light from Liverpool after one of the most tempestuous passages on record. Capt. Richardson, her commander, reported having seen an unknown bark founder at sea with her crew of twelve men. The Noranmore, which flies the Belgian flag, is of 3,650 tons register. She sailed from Liverpool for Norfolk Dec. 7, and, being nearly a week overdue, her agents were anxious about her.

The hurricane which swept this coast last Saturday struck the Noranmore at sea at night. The waves rolled over her almost continuously, and would, Capt. Richardson says, have swamped an ordinary ship. Soon after the storm arose the Noramore overhauled a strange bark which was on the point of foundering. Only the stump of one mast still stood, the others having been cut or carried away. Several lights were burning aboard her, and twelve men, believed from their gestures to be foreigners, were seen running about her decks, which were awash.

A boat's crew, in one of the Noranmore's boats, was put over the side and the men pulled for the bark. The boat was swamped almost immediately. The men, who wore life jackets, were picked up by a second boat, which was, however, compelled to return to the Noranmore.

While the rescue of these men was being effected the bark disappeared in the darkness, and Capt. Richardson says that beyond a doubt she and her crew went down. Search made after day broke revealed no sign of her.

The Noranmore's steel bow was stove in and two blades of her propeller were lost, but she managed to make this port without the loss of a man.

BROKERS REFUSE WHEAT.

Tender Made on Behalf of Firm That Failed Is Refused.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 26.—C. H. Canby & Co., a private wire Board of Trade grain house, to-day refused to accept 170,000 bushels of wheat on account of the firm of Barrett, Farnum & Co. The grain was tendered through Jackson Brothers. The offer presumably was made to liquidate a purchase of December wheat made on 'Change by C. H. Canby & Co., prior to the failure of Barrett, Farnum & Co. The round lot of wheat tendered was made up by Armour & Co. It doubtless will be sold for account to-morrow morning.

Mr. Canby said to-night that all contracts between his firm and Barrett, Farnum & Co. were closed out Sept. 21 in the regular manner on the Chicago Board of Trade, and that a thorough investigation was invited. His firm, he said, attached some money belonging to Barrett, Farnum & Co. in New York in September.

It was said in grain circles that Canby & Co. had neglected to close the deal in wheat prior to the failure of Barrett, Farnum & Co., and that a nice question was likely to arise as to the first firm's right to refuse to accept the wheat tendered.

Barrett, Farnum & Co. a few weeks ago were cited to appear before the Board of Trade Directors on a charge of being indebted to Canby & Co., the latter, it is said, asking for the former's suspension from the privileges of the floor. The Directors refused to hear the case until it is decided in the New York courts.

INQUEST ON A LIVE MAN.

When a Wisconsin Coroner Arrived, Supposed Corpse Had Thawed Out.

Special to The New York Times.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Dec. 26.—Coroner Kortsch and Dr. Selbach drove thirteen miles into the country to hold an inquest on Michael Khilo to-day.

Khilo had lain in an open field from midnight until 7 o'clock in the morning and was supposed to have been frozen to death. The doctor found him laid out at a farm house, but Khilo thawed out and sat up before the inquest began. The doctor worked over him for a time, and he will probably recover. He had fallen in a fit on his way home.

TO IGNORE MOSS'S REPORT

Committee Will Make Its Own Statement to Legislature.

TALK OF CENSURING COUNSEL

Displeasure at His Publishing Report Before Submitting It to Mr. Mazet and His Colleagues.

The publication of the report made by Frank Moss of counsel to the Mazet Investigating Committee has angered the members of the committee to a high degree. Inasmuch as the report was given out for publication before it was submitted to the committee, Mr. Moss is regarded as having acted in a discourteous manner toward Mr. Mazet and his colleagues, and there is every probability that when the committee meets again Mr. Moss will be censured. As if to depreciate the value of the report made by counsel, Mr. Mazet said yesterday that the committee would in due time make its own report, and that such report would not, like Mr. Moss's, be made public until presented to the Assembly.

When the committee adjourned its public sessions, because Mr. Moss was intent on subpoenaing Senator Platt, it became evident that there was a lack of harmony between the majority of the committee and its counsel. Mr. Moss's action in making the report public before it was considered by the committee has widened the breach, and it is likely that the charter amendments proposed by counsel will not be taken by the committee with any degree of seriousness.

According to one member of the committee, it was the intention of the committee that Mr. Moss's report should be in the nature of a privileged communication from lawyer to client, and that it should not be made public until the committee had considered it officially. Mr. Moss was expected to digest the testimony and present it in such form that it could be readily utilized in framing the committee's report. The committee met last Friday afternoon, and it was agreed between Mr. Mazet and Mr. Moss that the report should be mailed to members of the committee on Saturday night. Mr. Moss says this was done, but several of the committeemen did not get their copies until yesterday. In the meantime, the report was printed, and this led a member of the committee to accuse Mr. Moss of having violated professional etiquette in giving out for publication a communication to his clients before the latter had received it.

Assemblyman Harris Wilson of Brooklyn said yesterday: "Mr. Moss's course has been unwise and unprofessional. I never was in favor of having him for counsel, and I advised against it before we began our investigation. The report, which has been made by Mr. Moss, does not by any means embody the views of the committee. Under the resolution, by virtue of which the committee acted, it was to make its report to the Assembly of 1900. The committee will make its report to the Legislature. Its report is now in process of preparation. It may be made next week."

Assemblyman Pallows, who was the Acting Chairman of the committee on several occasions, and who, as such, publicly apologized in the name of the committee to Controller Coler because of the questions that had been asked of him by Mr. Moss, said that he would not discuss Mr. Moss's report in any way.

Chairman Mazet, who has hitherto refused to express any opinion on the committee or its work, said he was working on a report of his own, which would be presented to the Assembly at the proper time. "I do not desire to pass any criticisms on Mr. Moss for giving out his report before it reached the committee," said Mr. Mazet.

"I am frank to say that I am preparing my own report as Chairman, and that it will be submitted to the committee whenever it is decided to hold a meeting. That report, if adopted by the committee, will be presented to the Legislature, and it will not be furnished to the press until it has been submitted. This is in conformity with the resolution authorizing the appointment of the committee."

"How does it differ from Mr. Moss's report?" was asked.

"I have just received Mr. Moss's report," replied Mr. Mazet, "and I have not yet had an opportunity to digest it."

"How many charter changes will you suggest?" was asked.

"I have believed from the beginning," replied Mr. Mazet, "that the work of revising the charter should be intrusted to a special commission, and I believe that that will be done. Gov. Roosevelt, I think, will appoint men on that commission who will give the city the relief it ought to have. It is altogether too large a task for our committee to undertake."

"Then the suggestion of a special commission to revise the charter is not regarded by you as a reflection on the Mazet committee?" was asked.

"Not in the least," said Mr. Mazet, "we shall make certain recommendations about changing the charter, but the whole subject is so broad that it deserves the consideration of experts."

It was the general opinion among the members of the committee yesterday that there would be at least two reports to the Legislature, and possibly more. The majority will make one, Mr. Hoffman will make another, and it is possible that certain Republicans who have served on the committee will make reports on their own behalf.

Mr. Mazet said he did not know when the committee was going to meet again. It was called to his attention that on Sunday evening Mr. Moss announced that the committee would meet on Thursday of this week. Mr. Mazet said that he had issued no call for the committee to meet on Thursday.

This apparent contradiction between the Chairman and the counsel of the committee was called to Mr. Moss's attention yesterday, and Mr. Moss said: "When the committee met on Friday it adjourned with the distinct understanding that it was to meet again on Thursday of this week, and that the report, which I, as its counsel, made to it under its direction, was to be considered at that time. Of course, the meetings are called by Mr. Mazet, and I have not been notified by him that one was to be held on Thursday, but that was the distinct understanding last Friday.

"Those who seek to nullify the work of this committee are raising a great row over the publication of my report to the committee previous to its acceptance by them. The report should be judged for its own value. Its publication previous to its submission to the committee is a matter of courtesy between counsel and client, which affects them alone, and it should not be allowed to becloud the report itself."

Mr. Moss said he had no idea the report was to be submitted to the Legislature, as that was a matter which rested entirely with the members of the committee.

John Proctor Clarke of counsel for the committee refused to talk on Mr. Moss's report, the work of the committee, or its probable effect on legislation. Francis E. Laimbeer, who signed the report with Mr. Moss, is not of counsel to the committee, according to one of the members of that body. He is only an assistant to Mr. Moss, just as are the detectives and clerks who have looked after the detail work of the committee, except that his work is of a different character.

THREE SHOOTINGS; FOUR DEAD.

Virginia and Tennessee Report Numerous Fatal Rows.

MIDDLESBOROUGH, Ky., Dec. 26.—Three shooting scrapes, with four men dead, are reported from Virginia and Tennessee, near the State line. At Tazewell, Tenn., Jim Thompson killed Harrison Ray in a drunken row.

At Atlanthus Hill, Va., R. Overton and John Combs fought a duel, and both were killed. They were prominent in their neighborhood.

At Walnut Hill, Va., Bal Ely and his uncle, named Dops, had a quarrel, in which the latter was killed.

South Tooth Requisites, a good dentist, a good tooth brush, and Bensolyptus Antiseptic Tooth Powder. At all druggists.—Adv.

ATTEMPT AT KIDNAPPING.

Effort of Mrs. Riley Raynor to Get Her Daughter at Freeport Results in One Arrest.

FREEPORT, L. I., Dec. 26.—An attempt was made this afternoon to kidnap the three-year-old daughter of Riley Raynor of this village. The attempt was led by Mrs. Raynor, the child's mother. One arrest has been made in the case, and another will be made as soon as the man wanted can be located.

Riley Raynor and his wife were married about four years ago. Her maiden name was Stella Midhauer. The couple lived happily for two years, when, after a quarrel, they separated. It is alleged Mr. Raynor objected to what he considered the too frequent visits of his wife's relatives. The child has since been living with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Raynor.

Mrs. Riley Raynor, Miss Jennie Houseman, a friend; her brother, Luke Midhauer, and ex-Justice S. J. Bedell drove to the house about dusk to-day and alighted. Mrs. Raynor and Miss Houseman are said to have entered the house, and found the child playing there. Miss Fannie Raynor, sister of Riley Raynor, had been at the rear of the house, and when she saw the carriage stop, hurried in to see who was coming. She says she reached the hall leading to the front door just in time to see her sister-in-law and Miss Houseman passing out of the house with the child.

Miss Raynor ran up and grabbed hold of the little girl. Mrs. Raynor and Miss Houseman also held on. Then followed a tug of war, with the child as the prize. The strength of the two was greater than that of Miss Raynor, and she was dragged out upon the piazza. There she continued fighting for the child, and the three women in their struggles reached the edge of the piazza, and, without seeing what they were doing, stepped off and fell in a heap. It was a drop of about two feet, and they escaped injury.

James C. Raynor heard the noise, and hastened from his room on the second floor. He declares that as he tried to pass out of the door he was pushed back by Luke Midhauer. He forced his way past Midhauer, and was going to the aid of his daughter, when, he says, he was struck by Midhauer and by Bedell.

Miss Raynor had meanwhile been screaming, and this aroused the neighbors. A dozen persons were soon hurrying to the aid of the Raynors without knowing what was the matter. Seeing this the invading party hurried into their carriage and drove away.

Justice Wallace took Mr. Raynor's complaint against Midhauer and Bedell. Constables Holland and Dunbar were sent to hunt for them. They came upon Midhauer in a hotel, and placed him under arrest. Bedell, who is in the employ of the City of New York at the Brooklyn Water Works, near this place, appears to have left the village immediately.

It is not thought any complaint will be made against the child's mother or her woman friend.

SEEKING CAPITAL IN NEW YORK.

Officers of Broadway Bank of Boston Hope to Secure Funds Here.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 26.—Bank Examiner Wing refused to add anything this morning to his statement issued last night, in which the Broadway Bank, by permission of the Controller of the Currency, was given another week in which to effect a reorganization. The assumption from this is that the officers of the Broadway Bank, who are trying to effect this reorganization, feel quite confident of ultimate success, and asked for an extension of time in order to bring in New York capital for which they are said to be looking at the present time. Cashier Curtiss promised to issue a full statement as soon as this arrangement has been completed.

The banking room was closed as usual this morning. Much depends on the outcome of the Squire failure, in regard to a settlement, but the indications are that the adjustment of this failure will be satisfactory.

MR. BRYAN COMING EAST SOON.

Silver Orator Will Discuss Money Trusts and the Philippines.

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 26.—W. J. Bryan's attention was called to a dispatch from Washington stating that he had written Congressman Daly of New Jersey that he would make several speeches in the East, discussing trusts and imperialism, and he was asked as to whether the report indicated an intention of abandoning the silver question. He replied:

"Congressman Daly has probably been misquoted. I expect to make several speeches in the East, but I expect to discuss the money question along with other questions. There are three questions now prominently before the people, to wit: The money question, the trust question, and the Philippine question. Whenever I make a political speech I discuss all three questions."

Mr. Bryan will leave here Saturday for his trip to Lincoln, Omaha, Kansas City, and Chicago, and thence to the East. He will be gone about one month.

Mr. Carnegie to Give Another Library.

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 26.—Mrs. Bryan to-day received a letter from Andrew Carnegie stating that he would gladly furnish the money for the erection of a library building at Lincoln, Neb., which it is estimated will cost between $50,000 and $75,000.

BIG DEPARTMENT STORE FAILS.

Siegel-Hillman Dry Goods Company of St. Louis Bankrupt.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 26.—The Siegel-Hillman Dry Goods Company, which operated a large department store here, to-day filed a deed of trust to secure all its creditors. The liabilities of the firm are placed at about $225,000, and its assets at about the same amount. Thomas H. McKittrick of the Hargadine-McKittrick Dry Goods Company, one of the heaviest creditors, was named as trustee.

Trustee McKittrick will continue the business for ninety days. He thinks that the creditors will be paid dollar for dollar, and that there will be a considerable amount of assets left on which to continue the business.

Mr. Hillman of the firm said: "Our trouble was caused by overtrading. We did more business than our capital would permit. Our creditors are safe, as the company's assets are ample to meet all liabilities."

A list of the heaviest creditors follows: Fourth National Bank, St. Louis, $45,300; Corn Exchange Bank, New York, $17,500; Hargardine-McKittrick Dry Goods Company, $3,905; Wear-Boogher Dry Goods Company, $4,009; H. B. Claflin Company, $4,049; Ely-Walker Dry Goods Company, $3,201.

Deputy Sheriff Rinn received an attachment yesterday for $17,503 against the Siegel-Hillman Dry Goods Company of St. Louis. F. Siegel & Brothers of Chicago and Louis Regenstein of St. Louis, in favor of the Corn Exchange Bank of this city, and served it on a bank here.

The attachment is on two notes of the Siegel-Hillman Dry Goods Company, one dated Nov. 3 and the other Dec. 7, both payable in this city, which were indorsed by F. Siegel & Brothers and Mr. Regenstein.

The company was incorporated in July, 1898, with a capital stock of $100,000, and succeeded the firm of Siegel, Hillman & Co.

Seven Indians Are Drowned.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 26.—A special from Ashcroft, B. C., says: "By the upsetting of a canoe seven Indians were drowned near this place while attempting to cross Thompson River. Two of the party were women. The Indians had been drinking, and mismanaged the canoe.

New York to Cleveland, 14 Hours. By the New York Central's Lake Shore Limited. 5:30 P. M. New York, 7:45 A. M. Cleveland. Every day in the year. No excess fare.

more statement of the case is a sufficient commentary upon it.

"The adjacent upland has just been assessed by the city authorities at a valuation of $833 an acre. The land under water cannot possibly reach this value until at great expense it has been filled in and made part of the island. Yet the Corporation Counsel, according to his statements, deems it now worth very nearly $200,000 an acre. Of course, as a matter of fact, it cannot possibly be worth as much as $833 an acre, and inasmuch as the expenditure of a large amount of money upon it is the indispensable prerequisite to its having any value at all, it will be obviously unjust in the extreme to rate it higher than a third or a fourth of the value of the adjacent upland. I have consulted with or heard from the best real estate brokers who have done business in the neighborhood of Astoria and some of the most intelligent men of property who have lands in the vicinity who have themselves been granted riparian rights—men like Roe, Smith & Co. of Long Island City and E. E. Smith Brothers of 92 South Street, New York City. Messrs. Roe, Smith & Co. write that less than four years ago they tried to dispose of the whole property now owned by the Astoria Gas Company, including the riparian rights, for $400,000, and were unable to do so, and point out what they call the utter absurdity of claiming that an insignificant part of this property can be worth nearly ten times as much as the infinitely more valuable whole.

OLD POLICY CARRIED OUT.

"It appears, then, from your letters and from the statements that in the first place the Land Board in dealing with the Astoria Gas Company has followed out precisely the general policy which has always been followed out by the State in dealing with riparian lands, and which has specifically been followed since the Greater New York charter went into effect in dealing with these lands contained within the Greater New York. Furthermore, it appears that the only difference you have made is that the price charged is very much higher than the average price charged, and considerably higher than has been ever charged for so large a tract. It furthermore appears, that within the last two years within the limits of the Greater New York, over forty grants of this kind have been made at an average price of $87 per acre, of which nine grants were of from ten to forty-odd acres, apiece, and, though some of these lands were greater in value than the land asked for by the Astoria company, for none of them was so high a price charged, the only instances where a higher price was charged being where a very small amount, usually a fraction of an acre, was granted.

"It appears, furthermore, that the Astoria grant has been made upon less instead of upon more favorable conditions than was the case with previous grants, the board having adopted what I regard as the eminently proper policy of making grants of nature conditional upon the improvement being actually made. Furthermore, it appears that the adjacent upland is assessed at about $833 an acre, and the price of the land granted is put at $250, while no estimate puts the amount of expenditure in order to redeem an acre and make it as valuable as an acre of the adjacent land at less than $1,000. So that the sum of $250 is certainly a reasonable valuation from the standpoint of the public, though it is requiring from the Astoria Gas Company a higher payment than from other companies under similar circumstances.

"Furthermore, it appears that it is greatly to the interest of the community to have the land improved, and that the land will be improved by the Astoria, whereas there is not the slightest evidence to show that the city has ever so much as considered the possibility of taking hold and improving it. It appears, furthermore, that only the city or the Astoria Gas Company could take the land, and that the city could take it only by paying its full value to the Astoria Gas Company.

ACCUSES WHALEN OF SHIFTING.

"It further appears from the letter of the Attorney General that the Corporation Counsel has had ample time in which to proceed, had he been merely anxious to protect the interests of the City of New York, and that he has taken a wholly different stand in relation to the Astoria Gas Company, which was opposed by a rival corporation of great wealth and political power, from the stand he took in reference to other similar grants. The Attorney General's office has shown its willingness to aid the Corporation Counsel in bringing the matter before the courts for their prompt consideration and determination, and the inactivity of the Corporation Counsel's office has been such that the test has never been made.

"Such being the case, it appears that the action of the Land Board is eminently proper; that no possible damage to the City of New York can come from it, and, on the contrary, great benefit may inure to the city because of it, and that for the Land Board to have failed in doing as it has done would have been wholly unwarranted from the standpoint of the State, and would have been of benefit to no one except a wealthy rival corporation. I shall therefore sign the grant. Very truly yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

SECRETARY OF STATE TALKS.

When the attention of Secretary of State McDonough was called to the interview of Corporation Counsel Whalen published in the New York papers relative to the Astoria land grant, the Secretary stated that evidently the Corporation Counsel was endeavoring to find excuses for the utter failure of the action for an injunction, brought by him with such a flourish of trumpets that it looked as if it were begun for the benefit of the galleries. This suit, the Corporation Counsel says, was balked "by the unseemly haste of the Land Board," and in proof of this assertion he alleges that he wrote a protest Dec. 9, which was published in the papers on the 10th, and yet on Dec. 13 the Land Board made the grant, thereby anticipating and defeating his lawsuit.

"Now see how plain a tale will put him down," continued Secretary McDonough. "The Land Board did not make the grant in question on the 13th inst. It was made on the 7th inst., two days before Mr. Whalen wrote his letter. The Corporation Counsel well knew, when he gave out this interview, if he gave it out, that the grant was made on the 7th of December, because in his complaint against the board he swore that the grant was made on that day. Moreover, one of his deputies was present at the meeting of the board when the grant was made and did not ask for a postponement. Had he asked for delay to give the Corporation Counsel time to prepare papers I believe his request would have been granted.

"In fact, so that Mr. Whalen could have time to go into court and obtain his injunction order which was to be done to-day the Governor voluntarily withheld his signature."

MR. WHALEN SAYS HE WILL ACT.

Corporation Counsel to Seek to Set the Grant Aside.

Corporation Counsel Whalen, when asked yesterday about the change of proceedings in the case of the Astoria Light, Heat and Power Company, said:

"I can only repeat what I said Sunday night. I had to abandon the injunction proceedings because of the unseemly haste of the Land Board in accepting the money of the Astoria Company and sending the patent to the Governor for his signature.

"As soon as the Governor signs it suit will be begun to set aside the grant.

"As long ago as Oct. 18 I wrote to the Attorney General, through one of my assistants, stating that we were ready to go ahead and test the legality of the grants of city land under water before the State Land Board.

"To this letter the Attorney General did not reply. The letter expressed my willingness to take any one of the cases that would bring up the question of the right of the State Land Board to give away these valuable lands under water for a mere pittance. If the Attorney General had acceded to my request the question might have been submitted to the courts for their judgment, and the contentions between the City of New York and the State Land Board might have been disposed of."

WILL HOLD ON TO HIS OFFICE.

County Treasurer of Queens Not to Turn Over His Books and Funds.

The term of office for which County Treasurer Charles L. Phipps of Queens County was elected ends with this year, but he has no intention of giving up his office for some time. He is acting under the advice of his counsel, George W. Davison. As Queens County is included in the City of New York, it was supposed that the Controller, as the financial officer of the city, would take charge of the County Treasurer's books and funds. Mr. Phipps contends that he was elected Treasurer for three years, or until his successor should be elected and qualified. He is not sure that the Controller is his legal successor. Mr. Phipps therefore will not give up possession of his office until he is satisfied upon this point. It may take a suit at law to determine the matter.

All the books and accounts in Mr. Phipps's office are balanced, ready to be turned over to the proper official.

Mrs. Edith Hobart Eaton Dead.

Mrs. Edith Hobart Eaton, twenty-five years old, said to be a relative of the late Vice President Hobart, died Monday in the Post Graduate Hospital. She was the wife of Allan K. Eaton. Her mother, Mrs. Frederick Hobart, lives in Rye, N. Y.

WAR OFFICE IS ASSAILED

British Press Criticises the Conduct of the Campaign.

TIMES JOINS IN THE CRUSADE

Disaffection Among the Dutch in Cape Colony Said to be Growing—Repressive Measures Are Urged.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The newspapers continue actively discussing and criticising the management, or rather mismanagement, of the campaign. The advent of horse sickness throws increased attention upon the question of transports and the want of wagons, which may tie the British forces to the railways.

The Daily Chronicle says:

"Plenty of wagons could be obtained from the United States, but the Government, with very indiscreet patriotism, has refused to avail itself of the opportunity. It would have been better if the authorities had followed Lord Kitchener's example at Atbara Bridge. Will they even now apply to the American factories?"

The Times editorially attacks the administration of the War Office, calling attention to correspondence disclosing "glaring defects" and declaring that the British Army is being managed for the benefit of the War Office and not of the nation.

Dispatches from various points indicate the steady growth of Dutch disaffection. The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Chronicle reports the discovery of a plot to connive at the escape of Boer prisoners. The Times advises stern treatment of the disaffected Dutch colonists and the enforcement of penalties of treason against persons and property.

The Sixteenth Lancers will go to South Africa from India at the special request of Lord Roberts, even after the Government had decided that no more troops should be withdrawal from India. The War Office has nominated Sir William Stokes as Consulting Surgeon to the South African forces. He will leave Dublin for the Cape in a few days.

Lord Somerset writes to The Times urging the seizure of Lorenzo Marques, and its retention if necessary until the end of the war in order to prevent the landing of war material for the Boers.

The transport Tantallon Castle has arrived at Cape Town with a number of Howitzers and quick-firers, which Gen. Buller urgently needs. The Government has chartered the Lake Erie of the new Elder, Dempster & Co.'s Line, which was built for the Canadian mail service. She is a vessel of 12,000 tons.

The recruiting of British colonists in Cape Colony is actively proceeding. Thirty thousand are already under arms, and several thousands more will be added.

Dispatches from Modder River, dated Dec. 21, report that intermittent firing was continuing on both sides, although the Boer shells fell short. A number of Free State burghers had surrendered. There is an unconfirmed report that a Canadian picket was cut off near Belmont. It is also asserted that fever is raging among the Boers.

The tests of wireless telegraphy at Modder River have been highly successful, communication over a distance of seventy miles being perfectly established. Six Marconi instruments, intended for the Boers, have been seized at Cape Town.

A dispatch from Chieveley Camp, dated Dec. 21, says:

"Lyddite shells are daily thrown into the Boer camp to prevent them working at the trenches. The firing of big guns is heard daily 'from the direction of Ladysmith.'"

There is an idea, in some quarters here that Gen. Buller's destruction of the Tugela bridge heralds an attempt to cut off the Boers now south of the river, but the general opinion is that the British will not make any serious move pending the arrival of Lord Roberts.

Commandant Demeillon, who was captured at Elandslaagte and brought to Simonstown, where he succeeded in making his escape from the British cruiser Penelope, has been recaptured.

A dispatch from Lorenzo Marques, dated Dec. 21, gives the following from the Boer head laager, dated Dec. 19:

"The British naval guns at Colenso have been cannonading Bulwer Bridge over the Tugela River, with a view of smashing it.

"The bombardment of Ladysmith is proceeding slowly. Gen. Joubert has arrived here and been accorded a hearty welcome. He addressed the burghers on Dec. 18.

"More British prisoners have been sent to Pretoria, including Col. Bullock, Major Walters, Major Ballwark, Major Foster, Capt. Dick, Capt. Nortern, Capt. Fitz Herbert, Capt. Ford, Capt. Hutchinson, Lieut. Bonham, Lieut. Smythers, Lieut. Thourne, Lieut. O'Conneyghy, Lieut. Kunbauld, Lieut. Christian, Lieut. Brigg, Lieut. Birch, Lieut. Halford, Lieut. Tarbull, and Lieut. Jones."

Supplies Captured by British.

DURBAN, Dec. 19.—The Norwegian bark Regina, from Java, loaded with stretchers and railway sleepers, has been captured near Delagoa Bay and brought here by the British second-class cruiser Forte.

MORE DEAD AT LADYSMITH.

Casualties Reported Also Include Five Officers Wounded.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The War Office has received a dispatch from Pietermaritzburg, Natal, dated Dec. 24, announcing that in an engagement at Ladysmith Dec. 22, Major A. C. King, Capts. Wathen and Oakes, Lieut. Hulse, and Lieut. Col. Fawcett, were wounded, and that nine non-commissioned officers and men were killed and ten woundad.

This engagement had not been recorded before this.

LORD STANLEY SENT TO AFRICA.

Member of Parliament Ordered to Join Lord Roberts.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Lord Stanley, member of Parliament for the West Houghton Division of Lancashire, has been ordered to join Lord Roberts's staff forthwith.

Lord Stanley (Edward George Villiers) is the eldest son of the sixteenth Earl of Derby. He was born in 1865. He became a Junior Lord of the Treasury in 1895, was a Lieutenant in the Grenadier Guards 1885-95, and aide de camp to his father as Governor General of Canada, 1889-91. He is a Conservative and has sat for the West Houghton Division of Lancashire since 1892.

MUTINY GROWS IN CAPE COLONY.

Members of Local Parliament Said to be Implicated.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—A Cape Town dispatch says that sedition is spreading in Cape Colony. Three members of the Cape Parliament are alleged to be implicated, and one of them is said to have presented a Free State flag to a Boer commander, at the same time expressing the hope that he would carry it to glory and victory.

Another member of Parliament is said to be recruiting for the Boers. In addition, wealthy farmers are now aiding the invaders.

New Zealanders in a Tight Place.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Advices from Cape Town say the New Zealanders with Gen. French, at Naauw Poort, were in a tight corner Dec. 18. They were nearly surrounded by Boers, and retired under a hail of bullets fired at short range, but sustained only little loss.

ROTHSCHILD'S SON VOLUNTEERS.

Noted Not Only for His Wealth, but for His Attainments.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The Hon. Lionel Walter Rothschild, Unionist Member of Parliament for the Aylesbury Division of Buckinghamshire, has volunteered for service in South Africa.

The Hon. Lionel Rothschild is a well-known authority on zoology, to which subject he has devoted an immense deal of time, study, and travel. He is the author of a number of works, and articles in reviews on this and kindred subjects, including "The Avi-fauna of Laysan." He is the joint editor of "Novitates Zoologicae," published at the Zoological Museum at Tring. He is also famous as a hunter of big game.

Mr. Rothschild was born on Feb. 8, 1868. He is the eldest son and heir of the first Lord Rothschild, who married a daughter of Baron Charles Rothschild of Frankfort-on-the-Main. He was educated at the University of Bonn, and afterward at Magdalene College, Cambridge. In both places he exhibited much ability, and carried off several honors. He is unmarried, and when not traveling has occupied a desk in his father's office in London.

Glanders Among American Mules.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—It is announced in a cable dispatch from Cape Town, dated Dec. 20, that glanders has broken out among the American mules, of which there are 1,100 at the Stellenbosch Remount Farm. Twenty-six of the mules have been destroyed and seventy-eight have been isolated.

QUEEN HAS A CHRISTMAS TREE.

Families of Guard Reservists Among the Guests.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The wives and families of the Guards' Reservists from Windsor, now serving in South Africa, assembled at St. George's Hall, Windsor, this afternoon to participate in the Queen's Christmas tree celebration. Queen Victoria, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, Princess Henry of Battenberg, the Duchess of Albany, and others of the royal family were present.

The tree, which was twenty-five feet high, was illuminated with electric lights and covered with presents, which the members of the household distributed after a bountiful tea. The Queen evinced the greatest interest in the festivities.

An Immediate Move Expected.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Several newspaper correspondents have returned to Cape Town from the Modder River, apparently confirming the belief that an immediate advance of the British is projected.

Lord Kitchener at Gibraltar.

GIBRALTAR, Dec. 26.—Gen. Lord Kitchener has arrived here from Egypt.

Gen. Joubert in Command Again.

PRETORIA, Dec. 18.—Gen. Joubert has recovered, and returned to the front to-day.

Boer Give Thanks for Victories.

PRETORIA, Dec. 26.—There were special services yesterday in the different laagers as thanksgiving for the victories of Colenso, Stormberg, and Modder River.

BRITISH PLACE LARGE ORDERS.

Chicago Packers Work Overtime to Supply the Demand.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—The employes of the canning department of Armour & Co. at the stock yards were on duty Christmas Day filling a rush order sent by the British Government. For almost a week night and day shifts of men have been kept at work. Recently, it is said, two large orders were received from the English Government officials for meats for Great Britain's forces in South Africa.

It is expected the order will be filled before the end of the week. The supplies will be carried East in special trains and shipped at once to Cape Town.

GEN. METHUEN IS INACTIVE.

British Well Intrenched and Not Disturbed by the Boers.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The War Office has received the following dispatch from Cape Town, dated Dec. 25, saying:

"There is no change in the situation at Modder River. Gen. Methuen is well intrenched and the Boers have not disturbed him.

"Gen. Gatacre reports that a force of 150 police have occupied Dordrecht, the Boers retreating with no loss.

MODDER RIVER, Cape Colony, Dec. 20. The British naval guns command the whole Boer position and possess the exact range of every stone and bush. They frequently plant shells with good advantage in the midst of groups of Boers.

The burghers are reported to be returning home for Christmas.

Recent arrivals from Jacobsdal report that, notwithstanding the Boer successes, the Free Staters do not expect ultimate victory. They complain of the overbearing conduct of Gen. Cronje's men, who are alleged to be better fed and posted in the safest positions.

The Transvaalers do not conceal their suspicions of the possible defection of the Free Staters and threaten to shoot them at the least sign of wavering.

The Free Staters are declared to regard subjection to the Transvaal as more to be feared than subjection to Great Britain.

PRETORIA WELL PROTECTED.

Eight Thousand European Officers and Men in Reserve There.

LONDON, Dec 27.—The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily News, telegraphing Dec. 20, says:

"From Boer sources hitherto singularly well informed I learn that there are 8,000 European officers and men skilled in modern military tactics, particularly artillery, now in Pretoria as a reserve.

"An administrative official in the Cape service, who has just returned from official relieving duty in the Dutch district, says the news of the British reverses has been received with great joy, even in localities where there is no open revolt."

Recruiting Stops in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 26.—M. Pierre Pettit, recruiting Agent for the Ambulance Corps of the Boer Army, suspended operations temporarily to-day on account of the failure to receive an expected draft from Dr. Leyds. It is said that 500 recruits have been sent from this city, which is more than sent from any one agency in the United States.

Canadians and Soldiers' Families.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Dec. 26.—The Bank of Montreal to-day subscribed $10,000 to the relief fund for the British soldiers in South Africa. The Directors of the band added $7,500 to this amount in personal subscriptions.

COUNCIL LETS THE WAR ALONE.

President Guggenheimer Against the Pro-Boer Resolution.

The resolution expressing sympathy with the Boers in their war with England, which was passed by the Board of Aldermen last Friday, came up before the Council at yesterday's meeting. After the resolution had been read by title President Guggenheimer called for a vote. Councilman Sulzer alone voted in the affirmative, and when the negative was put it appeared as though the resolution would be carried by a vote of 1 to 0, but President Guggenheimer rescued it from such a fate by directing the clerk to record him in the negative. "I'm not without sympathy for the Boers," said Mr. Guggenheimer, "but I don't think the Council has power to express the opinion of the 3,500,000 people who live in New York."

Councilman McGarry demanded that the resolution be read, and when that had been done, Councilman Engel said that he wanted a chance to vote against the resolution. Councilman Cassidy raised the point of order that the resolution was irrelevant and of no concern to the Council, and President Guggenheimer ruled the point well taken and directed the resolution to be placed on file.

"Guggenheimer is throwing away all his chances of getting the Irish vote," said an excited spectator to Jocelyn Johnston, Mr. Guggenheimer's secretary.

FENIAN RAID IS NOT FEARED.

British Government Makes No Protest Movement, If It Materializes, Will Be Promptly Dealt With.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The alleged attempts in different parts of the country to organize Fenians for a raid into Canada have not as yet been drawn to the attention of the State Department, and nothing is known upon the subject beyond the matters set out in the newspaper publications. The officials do not give the smallest credence to the stories, and are of opinion that the purpose in setting them afloat is to frighten the Canadians into keeping their soldiers at home and failing to answer the appeal of England for volunteers for the African campaign.

Lord Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, is too well experienced in American methods to make this matter the basis of official representations at this stage, and indeed it is said at the State Department that he has not even found it necessary to remonstrate against the alleged violation of neutrality involved in the recruiting of soldiers for the Boer Army within the limits of the United States. It is suggested that the explanation for this attitude is a preference on the part of the British to deal with such persons as may enlist here for the Boer Army after they leave the boundaries of the United States, and it is not doubted that all of these movements that really promise to amount to anything are being carefully watched, with a view to catching the volunteers at some convenient point by a fleet cruiser.

Should it turn out that a Fenian movement of the kind alleged to exist is actually discovered and brought to the attention of the United States Government, sharp and prompt repressive action will be taken, not only to prevent the violation of the neutrality laws, but also to save the raiders themselves from such consequences of their actions as befell the unfortunate Fenian raiders of 1866.

The talk of a Fenian raid is well calculated to cause alarm on the Canadian side of the border, as the people of that section were greatly agitated during the former Fenian excitement. Although an actual movement occurred at that time, the chief trouble was over alarming reports of invasions which never took place. Something of a panic took possession of the Canadians on the border, and many women buried their household silver and valuables on the small islands of the border rivers, fearing that the Fenians were about to loot the towns. On the American side the excitement was intensified by local Fenian organizations, which drilled in apparent anticipation of a movement, although these proved to be purely local bodies more or less sympathizing with the movement, but wholly without systematic connection with the head organization.

BUFFALO FENIANS ACTIVE.

Mysterious Report that Arms Are Being Concealed.

BUFFALO, Dec. 26.—A special from Dunkirk says:

"The Fenians are said to be organizing here for an invasion of Canada. A man known to have knowledge of the condition of Fenian affairs in Dunkirk says that city has been called upon to raise 600 men to form a part of New York's quota of the 125,000 men that are to be enrolled throughout the country. At the present time 500 men are known to be mustered with the Fenians here, and the remaining 100 will be obtained with little difficulty.

"It is currently reported and extensively credited that the Fenians have two carloads of arms and munitions of war in concealment in or near this city. This material is said to have been in the possession of the Dunkirk Fenians for some years."

BOSTON AGITATOR TALKS.

Says Meeting to Discuss Invasion of Canada Will Be Held Soon.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 26.—It has developed that a movement looking to the invasion of Canada by the Fenians and advanced Irish Nationalists has been agitated for some time by leaders of these organizations in and around Boston. Col. Roger F. Scannell, who has been identified with Irish agitations for many years, said to-day that there was to be a meeting of prominent Irish Nationalists in Philadelphia next Sunday or Monday, to discuss the question of invading Canada.

"This meeting," Col. Scannell says, "will be followed by another in Boston, when reports from the Philadelphia meeting will be made by Boston delegates."

Col. Scannell said that the present would be a good time for the invasion, as the troops of Canada are being sent away to take part in the African war.

"It has been agitated for years," continued the Colonel, "that Canada should either be annexed to the United States or should have an independent Government of her own. The present African war will, in my opinion, see the first break in the British Empire. With an army of 100,000 Irish Nationalists engaged in the invasion of Canada, it surely would make things interesting for the English Government."

Referring to the Fenian invasion of Canada of many years ago, Col. Scannell said that it was a failure because there were too many Generals and Colonels and no discipline. This would not happen now, he said, since the men are well organized all over the country, and have confidence in their leaders.

DOES NOT THINK A RAID LIKELY.

National President of Ancient Order of Hibernians Talks.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—John T. Keating, National President of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, declared to-night that he knew nothing of the rumored armed invasion of Canada by four columns of Irishmen.

"There are many enthusiastic Irishmen who would be willing to attack Canada, now that England's attention is concentrated in South Africa," said Mr. Keating, "but, to my mind, I think the present moment requires active and substantial aid to the Boers.

"I have not heard of anything in connection with an invasion of Canada. There are plenty of able bodied men who are willing to fight the English anywhere, as hundreds of letters sent me within the last month will testify. I think, however, the Ancient Order of Hiberians will gladly welcome an assessment in favor of an ambulance corps or hard cash for the Boers. I shall call a meeting of the National Directory of the Ancient Order of Hibernians to-morrow. The Directors will probably meet in Washington or Pittsburg, and the question of an assessment will be settled."

Canada Laughs at the Fenians.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Dec. 26.—The stories regarding a Fenian invasion of Canada, telegraphed here from the United States, are laughed at by the militia department, the Government, and the people generally here.

BURIED BY A SNOW SLIDE.

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 26.—The steamer Tees, which arrived here to-day, brings news of a big snowslide on the White Pass and Yukon Road, which has stopped all traffic. A train carrying passengers from Bennett followed a rotary snowplow, and was pushed by two engines. When the plow was a mile south of the switchback it cut out the lower part of the accumulated snow on the mountain side. This loosened the mass above it, and it came down with a rush, burying the plow and the locomotives out of sight. The passenger train in the rear was not touched by the slide. There was fifteen feet of snow in the cut.

Passengers who walked from the blocked train report that the snow was two feet deep on an average all along the line. The storm-bound passengers had to pay 50 cents for a cup of coffee.

SWEARS HE IS NOT A CORPSE.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—As a result of the telegrams sent to Los Angeles, Cal., stating that Aaron Wolfsohn, on the finding of whose supposed body the New York Life Insurance Company paid the Public Administrator of his estate $10,000, was alive in this city, Attorney Edward O'Bryan of the company received several messages to-day asking for a confirmation.

"Wolfsohn's identification is complete," said Mr. O'Bryan. "Besides his own affidavits, I have the sworn statements of twenty others who knew him, among them his brother-in-law, Michael Hesselberg of St. Louis and his cousin, Rose Blumenthal, of this city. The company will have no trouble in recovering its $10,000."

Wolfsohn left Chicago late in the day after signing an affidavit further establishing his identity and the fact that he is no corpse. His oath is attached to a photograph taken in this city.

"This picture," he says, "is Aaron Wolfsohn. I am the identical person insured by the New York Life Insurance Company for $10,000, and am alive and well."

Before leaving here Wolfsohn said that he would marry soon. His bride, it is understood, will be the Los Angeles widow, Mrs. May O'Neil, whose identification of the supposititious Wolfsohn induced the insurance company to pay the face of the policy to the Public Administrator.

"We paid nothing to Wolfsohn for coming forward," said Mr. O'Bryan. "A month ago when he was in the city, we were offered information and affidavits regarding him if we would pay $3,500."

Asked how he had met Wolfsohn and what pressure was exerted on the latter to draw him into the light, the lawyer declined to specify. "The company is satisfied," said he, "to recover its money. The identity of the dead man or why he was palmed off as Wolfsohn does not interest us now."

WILL OF FATHER MALONE

Priest's Lawyer Makes a Statement Regarding Two Memoranda.

CRUEL TREATMENT IS DENIED

Father O'Brien and the Old Housekeeper Say the Dying Man Has Not Been Neglected.

The parish house of the Church of Saints Peter and Paul, at 69 South Third Street, Brooklyn, in which the Rev. Father Sylvester Malone is lying on his death bed, was besieged by people yesterday who inquired after the priest's condition. The alleged hostile feeling existing between the relatives of Father Malone, who are in the parish house, and some of the authorities of the Roman Catholic Church in the Diocese of Brooklyn, brought many of the inquirers to the house.

George L. Fox of 157 Taylor Street, who has for fifty years been Father Malone's legal adviser, gave out a statement last night relative to the dying priest's will. The statement says that on Nov. 8 Sylvester L. Malone, nephew of Father Malone, went to Mr. Fox and told him that his uncle wanted to make a will. Mr. Fox went to see Father Malone at once, and received from the priest a memorandum which Father Malone told him explained how he wanted to dispose of his property.

Mr. Fox took the memorandum, but before he delivered the will for signature he received a summons from Father Carroll of the Church of St. Vincent de Paul, and Father Duffy of St. Agnes's Church, Brooklyn, asking him to call at once upon Father Malone. Mr. Fox went to the bedside of his old friend and found Father Carroll and Father Duffy there.

Father Carroll handed him a memorandum from which he said Father Malone desired his will drawn. Mr. Fox asked Father Malone if that was his desire, and he replied that it was. Mr. Fox made out a will at once, in accordance with the memorandum handed him by Father Carroll, and read it to Father Malone, who signed it. Father Carroll and Father Duffy witnessed the signature.

Sylvester L. Malone called upon Mr. Fox a few days later, the statement says, and asked him to tell him the contents of the will made out in accordance with the memorandum handed him by Father Carroll. Mr. Fox refused. Mr. Malone in a few days returned with a signed order from Father Malone, giving him permission to see the will. Mr. Fox still refused to let him see it, but told him he would give the will to Father Malone.

Mr. Fox accordingly went to Father Malone's house, where he found the priest very feeble. In the sick room were Sylvester L. Malone, Mrs. Edward Malone, her daughter, and Vicar General McNamara. Mr. Fox suggested that every one retire from the room except Father Malone and himself. They all refused, and finally Father Malone suggested that they all retire except Sylvester. Mr. Fox told the priest that Sylvester was the very one who should retire, but Father Malone issisted that he be allowed to remain. Mr. Fox, after the others had retired, delivered the will to Father Malone, who then handed it to Sylvester.

Mr. Fox did not say whether or not the memorandum he received from Father Malone first and that which he received from Father Carroll disposed of the property of Father Malone in different ways. Mr. Fox added to the statement that some time ago Sylvester L. Malone told him he is the only member of the family who is on good terms with Father Malone.

Mr. Fox also said that when he called upon Father Malone Nov. 3 there was a French nurse attending him from the Order of Bon Secour, and that Sylvester Malone told him that he thought this order would get most of Father Malone's property. It is stated now that the French nurse has disappeared and that two male nurses from Bellevue are attending Father Malone.

The allegations made on Monday by Mrs. Edward Malone, the sister-in-law of Father Malone, touching the treatment of the dying priest, which, it was alleged, he is receiving, caused Father Joseph O'Brien, who is now conducting the affairs of the church, to make a statement. He expressed regret at the publicity given the existing troubles, and said that in time the true facts would come out. Everything that could be done for Father Malone, Father O'Brien said, had been done.

The allegations of Mrs. Malone that Father Malone had been denied blankets and water, as well as proper care, Father O'Brien said, were not true.

When asked what he had to say regarding the statement of Mrs. Malone that the request for prayers for Father Malone on Christmas Day at the masses were hypocritical, he said it should be treated with silence considering the source from which it emanated. "I can only say," said the priest, "that I have no desire to enter into a controversy with its author."

Mrs. Edward Malone had nothing to add to the statement she made Monday, as it was the request of Father Malone and other relatives, she stated, that nothing more be said at present.

The housekeeper, Miss Winnie Brennan, who has been in the employ of Father Malone for over twenty-five years, was indignant at the charges that Father Malone had been neglected. She said that she was now suffering from a severe cold, the result of being locked out of the house the other night by one of the members of the family. The whole trouble, said she, is over Father Malone's property. As to the charge that the water was at times shut off from the apartments on the second floor, she said the plumbing in the house was old, and when water is being drawn in the basement it does not run up stairs.

The Rev. Dr. Wells, pastor of the South Third Street Presbyterian Church, who is an old friend of Father Malone, said the alleged neglect of the old priest should be investigated. "The men of Father Malone's church," said he, "should get at the exact facts and give them to the public, because the matter has now become a public scandal. It is deplorable that Father Malone should on his death-bed be presented to the public in this way."

FATHER MALONE'S TREATMENT.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As a reader of THE TIMES, and as a Catholic, I protest against the paragraph in to-day's issue headed "Father Malone in Peril." In peril of what? The innuendo is clearly conveyed that the Catholic authorities in Brooklyn are attempting to commit murder. The Catholic authorities are Bishop McDonnell, his Vicar General, Mgr. McNamara, and four or five of the senior priests of the diocese, all life-long friends of the dying priest. What proof does your reporter allege to justify this heading? The whole paragraph is evidently the work of some one of your staff who has, to put it mildly, been imposed upon, and the management of THE TIMES is certainly blameworthy in allowing their columns to be used to insult the entire Catholic population of Brooklyn as an insult to the head is an insult to the members.

To show the inaccuracy of the story, I was present at three of the masses yesterday, and Father O'Brien did not speak at all. He sang the high mass at 11 o'clock, but the announcements were made by the preacher, one of the Carmelite fathers, who have been conducting a mission in the church during Advent. He told the congregation that Father Malone had requested him to wish them all "a merry Christmas," as his illness prevented him from speaking to them in person. He also asked the people to remember him in their prayers. Now, was there anything wrong in all this? The rest of the story, I think you will find upon investigation, has just as little foundation.

When charges are made against prominent men in the community, railway Presidents and others, your usual method seems to be to send a copy of the letter or paragraph, to the person mentioned and get his explanation, if he has one to offer. No such consideration seems to be necessary when a serious accusation is leveled against the "Catholic authorities" of Brooklyn. Is this fact? PATRICK MALLON.

Brooklyn, Dec. 26, 1899.

Movements of Government Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The New York, flagship of the North Atlantic Squadron, with Admiral Farquhar aboard, has sailed from San Juan for St. Thomas.

The Essex has arrived at Gibraltar.
The Lancaster has arrived at St. Croix.
The Nashville has sailed from Singapore for Manila.
The Fortune has arrived at Newport.
The Scindia has been put in commission at Mare Island and will sail for Manila with a draft of officers and men for the fleet in the Philippines.
The transport Buford arrived to-day at San Juan de Puerto Rico from New York.
The Yankton has arrived at Fort Antonio.

Printers—Envelopes, largest stock, low prices. Landsberg, 162 Greenwich Street.—Adv.

MYSTERY OF A TRAVELING BAG.

Young Woman Left It in a Tea Store Nov. 29—Its Contents Fine Clothes and a Letter.

What appears to be an interesting little mystery was placed in the hands of the police of the Butler Street Station, Brooklyn, last night by James Murphy, manager of a tea store at Court and Wyckoff Streets. The supposed mystery is in the shape of a traveling bag containing a number of articles of woman's attire of expensive make and fashionable cut.

On Nov. 29 last a young woman, fashionably dressed, entered the tea store of which Murphy is manager and asked Murphy if he would take charge for an hour or so of a large traveling bag, which a messenger boy, who accompanied the woman, was carrying. Murphy accommodatingly agreed to look after the bag, and the young woman, after thanking him, left.

That was the last that Murphy ever saw of her. He retained possession of the bag, however, expecting that she would return for it some time. Last night he decided to turn the bag over to the police, believing that there was some sort of a mystery in the affair.

The bag, when opened by the police, was found to contain four white silk waists, three tailor-made waists, two skirts, several pairs of stockings, five black hat feathers, a hair brush, a thimble, and two silver belt buckles. Besides these articles there were a letter and a number of photographs. The latter bore the business mark of a studio at 62 Monroe Street, Lynn, Mass. The letter was addressed to Mrs. Assunta Meletti, 9 Silsbee Street, Lynn, Mass. It was postmarked Philadelphia, May 11, 1899, and was dated at 1602 Pine Street, that city.

The letter, which was apparently from a daughter to her mother, was signed "Rose." The writer told of having arrived safely in Philadelphia, and asked that "Grace" be told that "all is forgiven and forgotten."

The Brooklyn police will communicate with the authorities of Lynn and Philadelphia in an effort to find the owner of the bag.

THE BOUNDARY COPPER REGION

Rapid Development of the Mining District in the Northwest Described by an Engineer.

House lots selling rapidly at $5,000 each, where three years ago there were but two log cabins and deer were running wild, is the extraordinary story told by Paul Johnson, a mining engineer, now at the Astor House, concerning the town of Greenwood, a mining camp in the boundary district of British Columbia, near the borders of the State of Washington. Mr. Johnson attributes this remarkable growth to the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railroad from Robson to Greenwood, a distance of ninety miles, which has afforded an opportunity to develop the rich mining regions in Washington State and British Columbia.

"In the copper country, near Greenwood, will be the largest mining camp in the world," he said. "Greenwood already has a population of more than 3,000, and new arrivals are reaching the place on every train. The freight receipts of the Canadian Pacific Railroad Company are now $12,000 daily on the Greenwood and Grand Forks Branch, collected for ore taken out and machinery and supplies taken in.

"In the boundary district are the largest known ore bodies on this continent, and I am certain that in a very short time ten copper mines will be in operation, each employing at least 300 men. I have just returned from Greenwood, where I have superintended the construction of a smelter, which, when completed, according to our plans, will have a capacity of 2,000 tons of ore daily. At first we shall start with 300 tons a day, but in two years we shall have all the ore we can handle, and the price of copper ought to drop.

"A feature of great value is the fact that coke and coal can be obtained easily at cheap rates from the near-by Crow's Nest coal fields. Then, too, much of the ore is self-fluxing, because of the presence in it of the necessary iron and lime for successful smelting. When the Canadian Pacific is completed to Hope, where it will strike the main line to Vancouver, there is no estimating the possibilities of production. The railroad company has received a subsidy of $11,000 per mile from the Dominion and Provincial Governments.

"The ore bodies are exceptionally rich. In the Mother Lode Mine, three miles east of Greenwood, are ore bodies 180 feet wide and 600 feet long. Some of these contain from 3 to 30 per cent. in copper, from $4 to $33 a ton in gold, and a few ounces of silver. A fair average will be from 5 to 7 per cent. copper and from $8 to $12 in gold per ton."

BOUTELLE TAKEN TO BOSTON.

Physicians Say the Sick Congressman Is In a Sanitarium.

Special to The New York Times.

BANGOR, Me., Dec. 26.—Congressman Boutelle, who was brought from Boston to his home here last Saturday morning suffering from a serious illness, the exact nature of which has not been divulged by the physicians, was taken back to Boston in the midnight train Monday night, accompanied by his brother, Edward P. Boutelle, and a physician. His departure was not known until to-night, when the news leaked out and caused something of a sensation in this city.

Ever since the Congressman's return from Boston great secrecy has been maintained as to his condition, all inquiries at his

TREE FOR LITTLE INVALIDS

A Pretty Christmas Scene at the New York Hospital.

JOY IN THE CHILDREN'S WARD

Tiny Sufferers in Chairs and Cots Feast Their Eyes and for a Time Forget Pain.

Santa Claus was twenty-four hours late in getting around to the sick children in the New York Hospital, but that he had not forgotten them was proved by the beautiful silvery Christmas tree that blossomed in the nursery ward of the institution last night, every twig twinkling with colored lights and every branch bending low with its glorious fruit. The nursery itself was a place for fairies to dwell in, with its festoons of cedar and holly interwoven with glittering tinsel. The walls were concealed by mistletoe and the lights, covered with crimson paper, glowed like great red poppies.

In a circle around the Christmas tree, where their baby eyes could dwell at length on its beauty, were the recipients of all this good cheer. First there were eleven wan-faced little tots, who were able to sit up in chairs, and back of these were ranged thirteen snowy cots, in each of which reclined or sat propped up and gazing in wonderment at the scene a little withered bud of humanity. Some of the tiny sufferers had gazed at the wonderful tree until they dropped off to sleep on their pillows before the entertainment really was begun. Back of this little circle tiptoed several members of the Board of Governors of the hospital with their families, many women visitors, and white-capped nurses from the various wards.

The performance began at 8 o'clock, when eight choir boys from St. Joseph's Church gathered about the tree, in their white surplices, and, lifting their voices, sang of the birth of the Child of Bethlehem. Santa Claus had deputed Superintendent G. P. Ludlam to act for him in distributing the presents, and he was assisted by Misses Kate Sutcliffe, Helen Railey, and Helena Manning. For the next half hour all the aches and pains of the youthful sufferers were forgotten, as the gorgeous tree yielded up its wonderful fruit.

The first thing stripped from a heavily laden branch was a beautiful doll with golden hair and blue eyes for "Viola." When the name was called up went two little hands, one from a chair and one from a cot. The little girl in the chair was named Violet, it turned out, and when Viola, who has a broken leg, received the present, Violet cried a little until a doll just as pretty was found upon the tree marked for her. Then came a deluge of dolls and blocks, gorgeous picture books, toy stoves, and other things for the girls, and highly colored animals for the boys, besides great harvests of fruit and candy. For the little invalids who slept the stores of presents were deposited on the foot of their cots, there to greet them when they awake this morning. One tiny little girl, smaller than any of the others, kept wide awake through it all, and laughed with glee at the happy experience. It was the first Christmas tree she had ever seen. She has cancer, the nurses say, and will never see another Christmas.

The lower branches of the tree yielded some presents for the nurses. One of the latter sang some Danish Christmas carols in a sweet voice at the close of the pretty spectacle.

Children at the Midnight Mission.

The Midnight Mission, 17 Doyers Street, last night gave its sixth annual Christmas dinner to the outcast children of Chatham Square. The programme of musical numbers and recitations included a vocal solo in Italian and a solo on a Chinese piano by a little Chinese boy. Following the entertainment Superintendent S. E. Furry distributed presents to the children from a large tree.

LAFAYETTE DOLLARS ON SALE.

Fifteen Thousand of Them Have Already Been Disposed Of.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—The souvenir Lafayette dollars received in Chicago by the Lafayette Memorial Commission Christmas evening were taken from the Government kegs at the office of the Treasurer of the American Trust and Savings Bank to-day and the distribution of the coins officially begun.

Fifteen thousand of the coins have already been subscribed and paid for, and will be delivered immediately. Ten thousand coins are to be reserved for distribution in France next year during the exposition, which leaves 25,000 for sale in America.

"BATH TUB" TRUST FORMED.

Sanitary Enameling Interests of the Country Are United.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 26.—The consolidation of the sanitary enameling interests of the country, known as the "Bathtub" combination, has just been completed. The new concern will be called the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company, and will begin business on Jan. 1.

The consolidation is composed of the eight leading concerns in the United States, as follows: The Standard Manufacturing Company of Pittsburg, Aherns & Ott of Louisville, Ky.; Dawes & Myler of New Brighton, Penn.; the Buck & Sherwood Manufacturing Company of Detroit, Mich.; Cribben & Sexton of Chicago, Ill.; the J. J. Volloth Manufacturing Company, and the Kohler, Heyser & Stehn Manufacturing Company of Sheyboigan, Wis., and the Sanitary Enameling and Manufacturing Company of Muncie, Ind.

The new concern is capitalized at $5,000,000, divided equally in preferred and common stock, and bonds have been issued amounting to $2,500,000.

Public Consumption Hospitals.

ALBANY, Dec. 26.—A committee of the State Board of Charities is preparing for that body a report on the possibility of the establishment of public hospitals for the treatment of pulmonary consumption. It will recommend that a system of local institutions be established with one or more State institutions, which shall be maintained by a per capita tax on the locality from which each patient comes. This plan is at variance with that outlined in the bill which was introduced in the Legislature last Winter at the request of the State Medical Association.

Oleomargarine Men Seek a Pardon.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—An application for pardon of Joseph Wilkins and Howard Butler, now serving terms in the Moyamensing Prison, Philadelphia, for violating the oleomargarine laws, has been made to President McKinley, and the Attorney General now has it under consideration. A decision upon the application is awaited with great concern by the dairy interests. Wilkins and Butler were apprehended by internal revenue agents in the act of removing stamps and other marks from over 100 packages of oleomargarine in a warehouse on the water front of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Fingerhut Sentenced.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Dec. 26.—Mrs. Henrietta Fingerhut was to-day sentenced to six months in the county jail and to pay a fine of $500 for killing Paul Roehricht last September. Alvah A. Clark, for Mrs. Fingerhut, addressed the Court, saying public sentiment was in favor of clemency. He handed up several petitions signed by clergymen, lawyers, doctors, and business men. The Court's action meets with popular approval. A paper was immediately circulated to raise the $500 fine, and liberal subscriptions were made.

Died from an Old Cat Bitet.

LANCASTER, Penn., Dec. 26.—Abram K. Lefevre, a farmer of Greenland, aged forty-five years, died this morning from the effects of a bite he received from a cat about four months ago. He did not feel any ill effects from the wound until Saturday, when his arm became stiff. By Sunday he was violently ill, and it became necessary to keep him under the influence of opiates.

Burglars at Hornellsville.

BUFFALO, Dec. 26.—A dispatch from Hornellsville says that burglars last night made a good haul from the clothing house of Erlish & Frank of Hornellsville. From the safe, which had been left unlocked, they took $150 in money and about $10,000 worth of securities. No arrests have been made.

ANOTHER BOSTON FAILURE.

The John P. Lovell Companies, Makers of Sportsmen's Goods, Assign—Connected with the Globe Bank.

BOSTON, Dec. 26.—The John P. Lovell Arms Company and the John P. Lovell Company, an allied concern, made an assignment this afternoon for the benefit of their creditors, to Charles B. Barnes, Jr., an attorney, and George H. Ball of this city. The firms were indebted for large amounts to the Globe National Bank, which was last week placed in charge of a temporary receiver, and this institution, or, more exactly, its former President, Mr. Cole, has been represented in the business by C. W. Norcross, who is said to have virtually managed the concern for more than a year past in the interests of the bank.

It has been stated that Mr. Cole exchanged the paper of the Lovell Company for mining securities, but the fact that Mr. Norcross has remained in charge up to the present time would seem to cast a doubt upon this story. It is said that the manufacturers who have supplied the companies with goods are not very large creditors, the bulk of the indebtedness being to banks who have discounted their paper.

Charles B. Barnes, Jr., one of the assignees, when seen at his home in Hingham to-night, said:

"The assignees are unable to give any estimate yet as to the assets and liabilities, and probably will not be able to do so for some days. The companies operated stores in a number of cities, from Bangor, Me., to Providence, R. I., and they have large stocks on hand which will have to be thoroughly examined before the assignees can discover just what the financial situation is."

The house of the John P. Lovell Arms Company was founded in 1841 by John P. Lovell, and was at first engaged solely in the manufacture of guns. It soon branched out to the sporting line of business, and has grown to be one of the largest concerns of the kind in New England, there being scarcely an article used by sportsmen that was not carried in its stock.

For many years the firm has done all its financial business with the Globe National Bank, owing to the liking of John P. Lovell for that institution. Col. Benjamin S. Lovell, the present Treasurer of the company, has for many years been a familiar figure in Grand Army and political circles in Massachusetts. He has been a member of the Legislature and of the Executive Council and was a member of Gov. Greenhalge's personal staff. He has been in ill health for a year past.

BONDS DEPOSITED BY BANKS.

$11,006,000 from New York and $17,000,000 in All to Secure Deposits.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—It was stated at the Treasury to-day that the total amount of bonds which have been deposited and accepted by the Secretary as security for internal revenue receipts to be deposited with National bank depositories is $17,000,000, of which $11,000,000 has been deposited by New York banks. Among the other cities making deposits are the following: Chicago, $600,000; St. Louis, $1,366,000; Boston, $1,000,000; Baltimore, $245,000; Cincinnati, $375,000; Pittsburg, $215,000; Minneapolis, $100,000; New Orleans, $100,000; Buffalo, $300,000; Richmond, Va., $100,000; Norfolk, Va., $100,000; Detroit, $100,000, and Indianapolis, $60,000.

The entire list shows thirty-one banks, situated in fifteen different States.

The total receipts from internal revenue sources are distributed each day among all of the banks represented in the list, each bank receiving its proportionate share of the whole upon the basis of the amount of bonds deposited by each as security.

It is stated further that the total amount of bonds purchased by the Government under the Secretary's recent order is as follows: Fours, $14,244,050; fives, $4,090,300; total, $19,234,350, with about $45,000 additional still under examination.

KILLED HIS BROTHER IN A FEUD.

The Fishers Were Members of Opposing Factions—Philpot Escapes.

PITTSBURG, Ky., Dec. 26.—Last night, in Clay County, Alex Fisher was shot and killed by his brother, Ples Fisher. They were members of opposite factions of the Philpot-Griffin feud. Ples Fisher escaped.

Sam Philpot, who was in jail charged with recently killing Ned Rogers, escaped last night.

DOMINION CABINET CHANGES.

Rumors of the Retirement of Minister Tarte Again Current.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Dec. 26.—Persistent rumors are again current about the retirement of J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, from the Dominion Cabinet, as well as about other changes. They are to the effect that Mr. Tarte will go back to Paris for medical treatment.

S. A. Parent, Minister of Quebec and Commissioner of Crown Lands of this Province, may replace him. Sir Henri Joly de Lothbinies, Minister of Inland Revenue, is to make way, it is said, for Raymond Prefontaine, M. P., Mayor of Montreal, and in turn, it is said, Sir Henri will be made Speaker of the Senate, while the Speaker, Sir C. A. Pelletier, will be raised to the bench.

CHOKED TO DEATH BY BLIND MAN

Old Pensioner Kills His Wife After a Hard Struggle.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 26.—Franklin B. Livingston, a blind man, aged fifty-six years, choked his wife, Rosie, to death this morning at their home in this city. The first knowledge the police had of the crime was when Livingston walked into the Southwestern Police Station and told the following story:

"My wife and I have been sleeping in separate rooms for several weeks. She came into my room and called me. We had some words, and she attempted to smother me with a feather bed. I pushed her away, but she returned and the struggle continued. I found her throat with my hands and choked her. She fell to the floor. I then went upstairs and dragged the body to the bath tub, where I left it after covering it with a sheet. I had yelled 'Murder' and 'Police,' but had attracted no attention by the noise. I then went back to bed and slept until 5:30 o'clock. I receive a pension of $72 a month for the loss of my eyes. I served in Company A, Sixty-sixth New York Regiment."

Livingston was locked up, and the police went to the house, where they found the nude body of the woman in the bath tub, as Livingston had said. Both rooms gave evidence of a struggle.

CHICAGO, PEORIA AND ST. LOUIS.

New Company Incorporated to Buy the Old Road on Jan. 9.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 26.—Articles of incorporation of the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis Railway Company were filed with the County Recorder to-day. The capital stock is $7,350,000. The first Board of Directors of the road are Curtiss Millard, Ralph Blaisdell, Bluford Wilson of Springfield, James Duncan of Alton, Charles E. Kimball, George D. Mulford of New York, E. Smith of St. Louis.

It is the purpose of the new company to purchase the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis, and St. Louis, Chicago and St. Paul on Jan. 9, and to operate them under the name of the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis. The Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis runs from Pekin to Springfield, Havana to Jacksonville, Havana to Rock Island, and the St. Louis, Chicago and St. Paul from Springfield to East St. Louis, and Lock Haven to Grafton.

GREAT NORTHERN TO GET A ROAD.

Sioux City and Northern Will Pass from Receiver's Hands.

Special to The New York Times.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Dec. 26.—In less than a week, the Sioux City and Northern Railway, from Garretson, S. D., to Sioux City, a road of checkered career, but a moneymaker, will pass from the hands of the co-receiver into the control of the Great Northern Railway system.

The Sioux City and Northern, the Sioux City and Western, to O'Neil, Neb., two lines which are now part of the Great Northern system proper, will be consolidated, and made the southern branch of the Great Northern system as the Eastern Minnesota lines have been consolidated for convenience into the Eastern Railway of Minnesota, and the Northern lines have been consolidated into the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba.

SOCIAL REFORM CLUB VIEWS.

Alfred R. Conkling Favors Tunnels as Against Bridges—Plea for a Higher Debt Limit.

The Social Reform Club attacked the question of bridges versus tunnels at its headquarters, 45 University Place, last night. Alfred R. Conkling, the principal speaker, appeared for "the defendant, tunnels," as he expressed it, and found that no one rose to oppose his view. He read the report of W. Barclay Parsons, Chief Engineer of the Rapid Transit Commission, on the question at issue, which report is included in a pamphlet issued by Controller Coler. The reasons advanced by Mr. Parsons for preferring tunnels to bridges were the economy of construction and maintenance, the saving in the amount of private land necessary to be condemned, the fact that tunnels can run anywhere, and so make any connections, and the comparative ease of operating trains through tunnels.

"When the assesed valuations in Queens warrant a bridge to Queens, let's have it," said Mr. Conkling. "Meanwhile, let us have tunnels, which are cheaper and better." He pointed out the bad effects the elements would produce on bridge travel, and cited various European tunnels as proof that with electrical equipment they could be clean, dry, odorless, and airy.

Julius H. Cohn, who represented the club at the recent hearing before the Aldermen on the bridges-or-tunnels question, told the results of the hearing. "My opponents there," said he, "accused me of holding a Long Island Railroad retainer. [Laughter.] The idea was so entrancing to my professional imagination that I wasn't even indignant."

Moses Oppenheimer made an argument in favor of modifying the debt limit in the interest of rapid transit. He said there were two classes of city indebtedness, that incurred in ways which did not produce revenue, and that which did prove a revenue-making investment. "In old days," said he, "robber barons levied tolls on rivers and highways. To-day the railroad corporation holds us up on the street and levies tolls on all the citizens. That condition ought not to exist. It cannot be wiped out till we do away with the old 10 per cent. tie. Let the 10 per cent. limit stand to prevent wastefulness and dishonesty, and let it govern all municipal investments which do not produce revenue. But why should we call our assets part of our indebtedness? Why should an investment that will yield good returns count against the debt limit?"

L. S. Bedford declared that he favored tunnels, but that the tunnels would all come into the control of W. C. Whitney, who was also destined to acquire the rapid transit system. "There are three different bidders for the rapid transit contract," said he, "but if you investigate you will find they are all one. They want to keep the people blinded."

Andrew Furuseth, Secretary of the Pacific Coast Seamen's Union, made an address, in which he declared that on even the best ocean liners afloat there were not boats enough to carry all the passengers in case of wreck.

The club will entertain Edwin Markham next Tuesday.

BALTIMORE PHYSICIAN DEAD.

Fall of Dr. Canfield in This City Results Fatally.

Dr. William Buckingham Canfield of Baltimore, Md., aged forty-five years, died yesterday at Roosevelt Hospital. On Nov. 28 Dr. Canfield, who was visiting friends in this city, fell on the street, striking his head and causing a fracture of the skull. He was taken to Roosevelt Hospital, where cerebral meningitis developed as a result of his injury and eventually caused his death.

Dr. Canfield was graduated from Princeton in the class of 1877, and later took a course in medicine at the University of Berlin. He was one of the best-known specialists in this country on diseases of the heart and lungs, and was at the head of the Consumptive Hospital of Baltimore. He is survived by three sisters, one of whom was with him at the time of his death. The remains will be taken to Baltimore to-day.

CONDEMNED MURDERER ESCAPES

Was to be Hanged Jan. 12—Walked Out While the Death Watch Slept.

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 26.—Walter Cotton, the desperate negro murderer who was to have been hanged Jan. 12 for the murder of Charles Wyatt, a merchant, in the suburbs of Portsmouth, several months ago, walked out of the county jail about 5 o'clock this morning, despite the presence of J. Saunders, the night death watch in the cell, and has apparently made good his escape.

Saunders was asleep in a rocking chair. Cotton, who had in some way filed away two alleged burglar-proof steel bars of his cell, took the overcoat and cap of the death watch and stole away without awakening him.

"Hurricane" Branch of Nansemond County was telephoned for, and came with his bloodhounds. At 2 o'clock the pursuit by the bloodhound, which frequently lost the trail, was abandoned. The Sheriff's posse continued the search. Saunders was arrested this afternoon, and locked up for criminal negligence.

Cotton is a desperate man, and will not be taken alive, it is thought. He is a North Carolina negro, and received assistance from the outside.

CHRISTMAS DUEL IN VIRGINIA.

Cousins Meet in the Road and Shoot—One Dead, the Other Dying.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 26.—A dispatch from Culpepper, Va., says:

"A bloody duel resulting in the death of one of the participants and the mortal wounding of the other, occurred at Scrabble, a little town set upon a snowclad peak of the Blue Ridge Mountains, in Rappahannock County, yesterday afternoon, between Richard and Emanuel Campbell, cousins.

"For many years a family fued between these men has existed, and it appears that both had been celebrating Christmas in a convivial manner, and both were looking for trouble. They met in the country road as they were returning to their respective homes, and both instantly drew pistols and began firing. Emanuel Campbell fired the first shot, striking his cousin just above the heart. The latter dropped to the ground fatally wounded, and died in a few moments, but ere death stiffened his grasp or glazed his eyes he fired three shots in rapid succession at Emanuel, and each shot went wonderfully true. Each bullet struck his antagonist, one in the chin, one in the neck, and the other in the shoulder, and he is now hovering between life and death with the chances of recovery against him."

SWINDLING AT CARDS IN MEXICO

Resident Americans Said to Have Lost $50,000 to Sharpers.

CITY OF MEXICO, Dec. 26.—There is much interest in the arrest of a wealthy Mexican here, charged by a visiting friend with having cheated him at a game of poker out of $4,500. The accuser is a gentleman recently arrived from Puerto Rico, where he had made a fortune. He also claims to have discovered that about $50,000 had been won from resident Americans.

The games employed were roulette and poker, and it is charged that the roulette wheel was controlled by an electric device, while the poker game was worked by a card sharp. It is also charged that there is an extensive system of card swindling carried on here, and confederates have won millions of dollars from men who have patronized their game. The matter will be thoroughly investigated by the authorities.

Retired Actor's Wife Killed.

ASBURY PARK, Dec. 26.—Mrs. Samuel Valleau was instantly killed at 3 o'clock this afternoon by a train on the New York and Long Branch Railroad. Mrs. Valleau started to cross the tracks at the Avon freight station, when the train came along. The engineer blew his whistle, but Mrs. Valleau became confused. She was fifty years of age and resided with her invalid husband, who is a retired actor.

Bridge Passenger's Sudden Death.

During the rush of traffic on the bridge at 7 o'clock last night the crowd at the Brooklyn end was startled by the sudden death of a man, who was identified later as Henry Dodez, a bookkeeper, sixty-six years old, of 1,004 Lafayette Avenue, Brooklyn. He was taken ill on electric car No. 67 of the bridge service, and was carried into the waiting room, where he died before the arrival of an ambulance. The cause of his death was heart disease, with which his daughter said he had been troubled for some time.

Fourth-Class Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The following fourth-class Postmasters were appointed to-day:

Connecticut—Mansfield, Leander L. Lyon.

New York—Beaver Dams, E. V. Moore; Vermillion, D. W. Howard.

KINGS DEMOCRATS ORGANIZE.

Re-elect Mr. Shea Chairman and Refer the Anti-Coffey Petition.

The Executive Committee of the Kings County Democratic General Committee met and organized last night. Bridge Commissioner John L. Shea was re-elected Chairman. The other officers elected are Frank E. O'Reilly, Secretary, and Michael H. Keeley, clerk.

The petition of the anti-Coffeyites in the Ninth Assembly District, which was referred to the Executive Committee by the General Committee, was in turn referred by the former body at last night's meeting to a sub-committee composed of Senator P. H. McCarren, John Maguire, James H. Regan, John M. Clancy, and George S. Lindsey. It is generally believed that the petition, which urges the organization to take action with regard to Senator Coffey's attitude in the recent campaign, will be allowed to die in the hands of the sub-committee.

PLACES FOR BROOKLYN MEN.

Talk of Department Changes When Mr. Walton Becomes Sheriff.

James J. Kerwin, at present Deputy Commissioner of Corrections in Brooklyn, is said to be slated for appointment to the office of Deputy Commissioner of Public Buildings, Lighting, and Supplies in that borough, which place is to be vacated by Sheriff-elect William Walton the first of the year. In the event of Mr. Kerwin's appointment as Mr. Walton's successor, his present office, it is said, will be given either to John M. Gray, who was defeated for Register in the last election, or John F. Frost.

The term of Magistrate J. Lott Nostrand of the Coney Island Court expires on Dec. 31, and Albert Van Brunt Voorhies, Jr., of the Seventh Assembly District, is being considered as his successor in the office.

THE DEMOCRATIC "BIG FOUR."

Probable Delegates-at-Large to the National Convention.

Democrats are discussing the probable delegates-at-large from New York to the National Convention. It seems to be agreed that they will be David B. Hill, Richard Croker, Hugh McLaughlin, and Edward Murphy, Jr. The alternates who will probably be chosen are Elliot Danforth, Norman E. Mack, J. K. McGuire, and Frank Campbell.

The point is made that Mr. Murphy's defeat in Rensselaer by the Black-Conway fusion ticket may eliminate the ex-Senator from the list, but the fact is pointed out that he still controls the Democratic machinery in the county, and that his relative, Francis J. Molloy, is the State Committeeman from the district. Moreover, it was demonstrated at the last meeting of the Democratic State Committee that the Croker and Murphy forces dominated that body.

Shrewd politicians are confident that the "big four"—Hill, Croker, McLaughlin, and Murphy—will be the delegates-at-large, and that they will vote for the nomination of William J. Bryan for President.

HEYDECKER-McMAHON CHARGES.

Republican Organization Will Take No Cognizance of the Case.

According to Secretary R. L. Fox of the Republican State Committee the organization will take no cognizance of the alleged persecution of Messrs. McMahon and Heydecker of the City Club by District Attorney Gardiner and his associates. The organization is content to allow the charges against Col. Gardiner to rest on the specifications formulated.

Among those who subscribed to the charges were Fulton McMahon and E. L. Heydecker. The latter were subsequently arrested on complaint of Ignatius Weltner, who charged McMahon and Heydecker with collusion to defraud the heirs of the estate of an Austrian who died in this city. A few days ago the prosecuting counsel withdrew the complaint, but Mr. Gardiner's representative from the District Attorney's office demurred. Messrs. McMahon and Heydecker insisted on the fullest investigation, and another hearing will be had to-morrow.

Chairman Odell of the Republican State Committee was out of the city yesterday, but Secretary Fox expressed confidence in the ability of Messrs. McMahon and Heydecker to take care of themselves.

Sheriff-Elect Grell Takes the Oath.

William F. Grell, the Sheriff-elect, took the oath of office before Justice Giegerich yesterday afternoon. "Mr. Grell," said Justice Giegerich, "you have the Court's best wishes in your new office, and I hope your administration will be as successful as that of your immediate predecessor, Thomas J. Dunn." Mr. Grell said he hoped so. Justice Giegerich then shook hands with him, and the Sheriff-elect was conducted by Deputy County Clerk Fahrbach to the County Clerk's office, where he signed the oath of office. Sheriff-elect Grell will be installed on New Year's Day.

TO HEAD CANAL COMMITTEE.

It Is Probable Henry W. Hill of Buffalo Will Be Named.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Dec. 26.—It looks now as if the Assembly Canal Committee will be headed by Henry W. Hill of Buffalo. The committee is to be made of more importance during the coming session by having referred to it all the recommendations and bills of the Canal Advisory Commision and other agencies now at work trying to elaborate a new canal improvement scheme. The matter of an appropriation or series of appropriations will, of course, be considered by the Ways and Means Committee, but the general plan is to be worked out in the Canal Committee.

Assemblyman Hill was one of those who framed the canal proposition in the Constitutional Convention of 1894, and the chief advocate in the Assembly of the canal improvement legislation of the years immediately succeeding.

New Jersey Assembly Chairmanships.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 26.—Assemblyman Jones, the Republican caucus nominee for Speaker of the next House of the Legislature, to-day held a conference with United States Senator Sewell and other State leaders on the make-up of his committees. The principal Chairmanships will be assigned as follows: Judiciary—Mr. Wakelee of Bergen; Revision of Laws—Mr. Lewis of Passaic; Municipal Corporations—Mr. Bradley of Camden; Corporations—Mr. Wood of Mercer; Railroads and Canals—Mr. Clark of Essex, and Printed Bills—Mr. Dexheimer of Essex.

PINNACLE ROCK FALLS.

Noted Landmark at Cumberland Gap Tumbles Down.

CUMBERLAND GAP, Tenn., Dec. 26.—The celebrated Pinnacle Rock, which overhung Cumberland Gap, and was a noted natural spectacle, fell from its lofty height to-day. The town was awakened as if by an earthquake, as the immense mass, weighing hundreds of tons, came tumbling down. The course of the rock was from the town, and no lives have been reported lost, although considerable property was destroyed.

American Tramps in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, Dec. 26.—Protest is made by resident Americans regarding the tramp nuisance. Many robust American tramps are here, often dressed like common people, begging their way even of the poorest class of Mexican people. One journal advocates the establishment of a whipping post for the healthy vagabonds, and it would receive the hearty approbation of self-respecting foreign residents.

Benefit for a Kindergarten Fund.

The Madison Avenue Synagogue Sisterhood of Personal Service will close the year with a benefit for the kindergarten fund under the auspices of the pupils of the religious school at the synagogue vestry, Sixty-fifth Street and Madison Avenue, this and to-morrow afternoons and evenings.

Chinese Fight in California.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Dec. 26.—Chinatown was the scene of a lively battle to-day between rival highbinder societies, the Suey Sing and Hop Sing. About one hundred shots were exchanged. One Chinaman, a member of Suey Sing faction, was killed.

CASTORIA.
Bear the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

AT THE HOTELS.

WALDORF.—Wolf Wertheim, Berlin; ex-Congressman L. D. Apsley, Massachusetts.

HOLLAND.—M. Farrar, London; Prof. Charles Baskerville, University of North Carolina.

FIFTH AVENUE.—Joseph N. Tyner, Assistant Attorney General, Washington.

ASTOR.—J. Edward Boeck, Shanghai, China; Capt. E. S. Davis, England.

PLAZA.—Senator Boise Penrose, Pennsylvania.

NETHERLAND.—Judge Caldwell Yeamon, Denver.

GRAND.—A. R. Thomas, United States Marine Hospital Service; H. L. Jackson, United States Army.

IMPERIAL.—Gov. F. Stennenberg, Idaho.

HOFFMAN.—Judge S. A. Beardsley, Utica; S. D. Gallatta, Liverpool.

ARRIVAL OF BUYERS.

Representatives of Out-of-Town Firms Now in the City.

Cordes-Feldhauser Company, Denver, Col.; P. Feldhauser, carpets; Hotel Netherland.

McFarlin Clothing Company, Rocester, N. Y.; F. M. McFarlin, clothing; Hotel Normandie.

King-Brinsmade Company, St. Louis, Mo.; H. B. King, notions, fancy goods, and millinery; 96 Spring Street.

Eichberg, I., & Son, Alexandria, Va.; I. Eichberg, notions and fancy goods; Broadway Central Hotel.

Bennett, Morgan & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.; C. E. Bennett, notions and furnishing goods; St. Denis Hotel.

Hecht Brothers & Co., Baltimore, Md.; F. Klein, boys' clothing; Herald Square Hotel.

Brown, Thompson & Co., Hartford, Conn.; H. B. Strong, general buyer; J. S. Marsden, neckwear; 2 Walker Street; Hotel Normandie.

Brigham, D. H., & Co., Springfield, Mass.; D. H. Brigham, piece goods; Hotel Normandie.

Callender, McAuslan & Troup Company, Providence, R. I.; S. E. French, cloths; 2 Walker Street; Hotel Vendome.

Blumenthal Brothers & Co., Philadelphia, Penn.; S. Blumenthal, woolens; Hotel Marlborough.

Stern, M., & Son, Keokuk, Iowa; I. Stern, millinery and ribbons; 652 Broadway; Hotel Marlborough.

Wallace Brothers Company, Statesville, N. C.; W. Wallace, notions and furnishing goods; 280 Broadway; Hotel Marlborough.

Cleland, Simpson & Taylor, Scranton, Penn.; J. Cleland, notions and furnishing goods; Herald Square Hotel.

Watt & Shand, Lancaster, Penn.; P. J. Watt, notions and furnishing goods; 57 White Street; Hotel Imperial.

Witherill, L. A., Syracuse, N. Y.; notions and furnishing goods; Hotel Imperial.

Frear, William H., & Co., Troy, N. Y.; W. P. Armitage, domestics; Hotel Imperial.

Bruner Woolen Company, Cincinnati, Ohio; D. Wolf, woolens; 560 Broadway; Hotel Vendome.

Quinn, C. F., Dry Goods Company, Little Rock, Ark.; I. Wolf, notions and furnishing goods; 258 Church Street; Hotel Vendome.

Myers Dry Goods Company, Morristown, Tenn.; F. Myers, dry goods, notions, and furnishing goods; St. George Hotel.

Hunter, A. S., & T., Utica, N. Y.; A. S. Hunter, dress goods, white goods, and cloths; 57 White Street; Holland House.

Abeles & Mohler, Milwaukee, Wis.; F. E. Abeles, piece goods, furnishing goods, &c.; Hotel Imperial.

Waldrman Brothers, Albany, N. Y.; L. S. Waldman, notions; Hotel Imperial.

Adam, J. N., & Co., Buffalo, N. Y.; E. D. Wayman, dress goods; 57 White Street; Grand Hotel.

Perples Store Company, The, Tacoma, Washington; W. H. Woodruff, dry goods, notions, and fancy goods; E. Dickey, dry gods; Hotel Manhattan.

Mandel Brothers, Chicago, Ill.; M. Schwartz, pictures; 450 Broome Street; Hotel Cadillac.

Woodward & Lothrop, Washington, D. C.; Miss B. Rubenstein, collars, cuffs, and ruchings; 438 Broadway; Holland House.

Burrows & Sanborn, Lynn, Mass.; C. S. Sanborn, notions and furnishing goods; Holland House.

Fettis Dry Goods Company, Indianapolis, Ind.; L. Brown, domestics, and linens; 2 Walker Street.

Prohl & Shire, Milwaukee, Wis.; C. Prohl, millinery; 652 Broadway; Hotel Albert.

Denholm & McKay Company, Worcester, Mass.; G. H. Milliken, prints; 2 Walker Street; Hotel Albert.

Webber, W. G., & Co., Salem, Mass.; F. O. Palmer, cloaks and suits; 52 Franklin Street; Hotel Albert.

Mears & Hagen, Scranton, Penn.; W. H. Hagen, dry goods, notions, and fancy goods; Hotel Albert.

Dey Brothers & Co., Syracuse, N. Y.; J. A. Russell, cloaks and suits; 96 Grand Street; New Amsterdam Hotel.

Meyer, Julius, & Sons, Richmond, Va.; J. Parker, domestics; S. Levy, dry goods; 49 Lispenard Street; New Amsterdam Hotel.

Biermeister Brothers & Co., Troy, N. Y.; F. Biermeister, Jr., piece goods; St. Denis Hotel.

Woodward & Lothrop, Washington, D. C.; F. E. Mack, domestics, linens, and white goods; 438 Broadway; St. Denis Hotel.

White, R. H., Company, Boston, Mass.; F. A. Gordon, dress goods; 480 Broome Street; Murray Hill Hotel. A. L. Berry, shoes, Hotel Manhattan.

Smith & Murray, Springfield, Mass.; P. Murray, carpets and upholstery goods; 57 White Street; Murray Hill Hotel.

Whitney, William, & Co., Albany, N. Y.; F. A. Ray, carpets and rugs; F. J. Sherman, domestics, woolens, furnishing goods, and corsets; 335 Broadway; Park Avenue Hotel.

Murphy, Grant & Co., San Francisco, Cal.; W. Preston, notions; 86 Worth Street; Park Avenue Hotel.

Black & Grant Company, Zanesville, Ohio; S. V. H. Black, dry goods; H. Waller, cloaks; Broadway Central Hotel.

Campbell & Smith, Pittsburg, Penn.; J. J. Smith, dress goods, silks, and velvets; Broadway Central Hotel.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL FORECAST—Fair, cold, west to north winds.

There was no well-defined depression on the map last night, and generally fair weather prevails, with comparatively low temperatures, except in the extreme West. In this district, however, there has been a fall in temperature of 2 to 30 degrees. Precipitation during the past twenty-four hours has been very light. There were local snows in the lake region, Maine, the extreme Northwest and a few scattered points in the Ohio Valley. In the Pacific Coast and plateau regions there has been practically no change, except that light rain continued on the extreme north coast. Generally fair weather is indicated for to-day and to-morrow throughout the country, with lower temperature to-day in the Central Rocky Mountain region and the Southwest. Temperatures will continue low from the slope region eastward with but little change for the next two or three days. On the Atlantic Coast the winds will be light to fresh west to north.

The record of temperature for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from THE NEW YORK TIMES thermometer and from the thermometer of the Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	—Weather Bureau.—		TIMES.
	1898.	1899.	1899.
3 A. M.	31	22	25
6 A. M.	30	20	24
9 A. M.	30	19	27
12 M.	33	21	29
3 P. M.	34	24	30
6 P. M.	32	22	27
9 P. M.	31	22	25
12 P. M.	30	21	20

THE TIMES thermometer is 6 feet above the street level; that of the Weather Bureau is 285 feet above the street level.

Average temperatures yesterday were as follows:

Printing House Square	25⅞
Weather Bureau	22
Corresponding date 1898	32
Corresponding date last seventy-five years	32

The maximum temperature was 25 degrees at 3:30 P. M. and the minimum 19 degrees at 9 A. M. The humidity at 8 A. M. was 69 per cent. and at 8 P. M. 85 per cent. The barometer at 8 A. M. was 29.85 and at 8 P. M. 30.

LOSSES BY FIRE.

WOBURN, Mass., Dec. 26.—Fremont S. Bassett's machine shop and foundry were burned to-night, causing a loss of $23,000, on which there was an insurance of $18,000.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 26.—A fire broke out to-night on the top floor of the four-story brick building, owned by George Hatt. The building is occupied entirely by the Newark Spring Mattress Company, which suffered a loss of about $10,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26.—The extensive mill of Joseph Fling's Sons, manufacturers of cotton and merino, in Germantown, a suburb of this city, was almost destroyed by fire to-day. The loss is estimated at $80,000, fully covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

VAN BUREN, Ark., Dec. 26.—Murta's Opera House and Hinckle's Hall were burned to-day, and the stocks of the Van Buren Hardware Company; John Hinckle, general merchandise; W. H. Ross, drugs, and several smaller stores were destroyed, causing a loss estimated at $100,000.

YESTERDAY'S FIRES.

(From 12 o'clock Monday night until 12 o'clock Tuesday night.)

1:15 A. M.—221 East Eighty-ninth Street; Richard Holmes; damage, $3,000.

1:45 A. M.—322 Rivington Street; owner unknown; damage slight.

2:30 A. M.—90 Amsterdam Avenue; James McEngalord; damage, $5.

9 A. M.—40 East Seventy-fourth Street; F. Rosenbaum; damage slight.

10:20 A. M.—121 Orchard Street; Harry Weiss; damage slight.

10:40 A. M.—Spuyten Duyvil Road, near Rosendale Avenue; Mrs. Hickey; damage, $1,000.

12:55 P. M.—294 Henry Street; Harris Eisenk; damage, $20.

1:20 P. M.—340 West Thirty-seventh Street; B. Perkins; damage, $500.

1:35 P. M.—17 North Moore Street; Mrs. Moore; damage slight.

2:30 P. M.—4 Horatio Street; Margaret Stein; damage slight.

3:50 P. M.—155 West Twenty-seventh Street; L

The Wanamaker Store.

We Sold One-sixth of the Organdies

WHEN we wrote the news of the French Organdies that had come to us to sell at 12½c we had only bits a foot square to judge their beauty by. That is why the goods are so many times prettier than we led you to think.

You recall the facts—organdies from the world-famed district of Alsace-Lorraine, printed in an American mill whose owner would be knighted if he lived abroad. We are too thoroughly democratic here to give the originator of beautiful things his full meed of praise. As dainty printings on American cloth would command 25c a yard in the height of the season—the French printed organdies as fine as these will sell for quite 35c. These are 12½c. There are sixty-eight floral and decorative printings—forced flowers of the date of May, 1900.

These are the crisp, wiry sort of organdies that are daintiest and most serviceable.

Near the Rotunda—large selling space.

Women's Wraps Reduced

Told of them yesterday—some of them—Jackets, now $5, $6.50, $9, $12 and $15—values up to $25. Some at each of the prices left, but there's no use in going into details—the last of the lots will be sold in a twinkling. Stylish? Well, they are remainders of popular lots from our own stocks. The fashion writers are rather well agreed that our stocks are the acme of stylishness.

To-day, the Ulsters and Newmarkets are added. Just this word of them—

$10 from $16—Newmarkets of Frieze Cloth—tan, army blue, and blue mingled with white—indigo and salt, perhaps, as we used to call black-and-white, pepper-and-salt. Double-breasted; satin lined to waist.

$15 from $22.50—Newmarkets of Broadcloth—black, tan, castor, navy blue—double-breasted; satin lined to waist.

$18 from $25—Newmarkets of Venetian Cloth—tan and blue.

And there is always more of everything than we tell of.

Second floor, Broadway.

Rugs of Animal Skins There is a growing demand for "animal" rugs and we are meeting it in large fashion—have made a store for them up on the Third Floor.

But we've changed the lines somewhat, in the spreading-out process, so we'll sell thirty rugs at a loss

$5 from $10—
Silver fox or red fox or white fox or lynx.
$6 from $12—
Wolf.
$23 from $50—
A grizzly bear—heavy fur.
Unlined Goat Skins, selected; odorless—

$1.75 from $2.25.

Third floor.

A Quick Sale of Cut Glass The quantities are small—they are of the kinds best liked during the holiday selling. The order comes to close them out. The space they occupy is required at once for display of specimens from complete stocks. Hence prices like the following—lower than will be found anywhere on American cut glass such as this:—

7-in. Bowls at $4.50; were $7.
8-in. Bowls at $3.50; were $5.
8-in. Nappies at $4.50; were $7.
And some Bohemian Carafes, our own importation, at $2.25, were $3.25; at $2.50, were $3.75; at $1.85, were $2.75; and at $1.50, instead of $2.25.
Many another rare, good value in this large cut glass showing—in fact, the whole stock is priced below current values.

Basement.

Dinner Sets—Many Kinds—Many Bargains

There's been no busier place anywhere during the past few weeks than this large chinaware store. It's widely known for the immensity of its gatherings, the excellence of its stocks, and its uniformly moderate prices. But the brisk selling that prevailed up to Christmas eve is not to be permitted to cease abruptly. There are still many good things here in which you'll want to share. Just about reductions of Dinner Ware prices to-day:

$6—English porcelain; 100 pieces; $9 kind.
$10—American porcelain; 101 pcs; $15 kind.
$14—Five elegant patterns; 113 pieces; good $20 values.
$20—Haviland; 100 pieces; pink rose decoration, gilded handles; regularly $25.
$25—French china; six beautiful styles of decorations; 100 pieces; easily worth $35.
$45—Haviland sets of 113 pieces; fine decorations; all pieces gilded; were $60.
$50—Limoges; 118 pieces; border decoration; heavily gilt; was $75.
$100—Three sets only were imported—one with pink decorations, another with red, a third with green. Two were sold at $125 a set—the green remains. It's a handsome set, exquisitely gilded and will be sold at $100.
A few imperfect sets at half prices. Chipped a bit, or perhaps a piece or two missing. Nothing more serious. $8.50 quality at $4.25; $9 kind for $4.50; $14 kind for $7; and on up to $30 for a fine $60 set.

Basement.

Men's Overcoats These Raglans are by far the swellest garments of the winter. They are made of light-gray rough-face cheviot, and are lined throughout with heavy silk. We wouldn't blame your tailor for charging $60 for such a garment. But, ready-made and really elegant, we sell them at $38.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Knitted Underwear and Hosiery Colder weather; warmer clothing—cause and comfort—and we are busier than ever supplying the demand.

Whatever is best for men, women and children.

We have no hobby nor do we recommend other folks' hobbies. They are usually extravagant.

Women's ribbed Vests and Drawers—silk trimmed—French band; drawing string. 50c a garment.
Silk-mixed Vests—cream, pink, light blue. 50c.
Women's regular-made Black Cotton Stockings, thickest at heel and toe—3 pairs for 50c; worth half as much again.

Ninth street, near Broadway.

Notions Funny, isn't it, that such trifles as pins and needles and emeries and the like should call for the best wit of three men to get such stocks as we are willing to sell. One of the staff has only been back a little while from his regular European trip. Another one is in Europe now. Some people account for Wanamaker successes by saying "they do things so thoroughly." At least we are saved from selling trash—you are saved from buying it, and Wanamaker prices are really cheapest.

English Pins, paper of assorted sizes, 5c.
English Mourning Pins, assorted sizes, 8c.
Safety Pins, black or white, 5c and 6c doz.
Pearl head Lace Pins, 6c, 10c doz.
Imitation Shell Hair Pins, box of 1 doz., 25c.
Tubular Shoe Laces, 2c pair.
Kid Hair Curlers, 8c, 10, 11c, 13c doz.
Hose Supporters, fancy colors, 35c to $1.
English Tape, assorted widths, 25c, 40c bundle.
Shoe Buttons, with needle and thread, 2c card.

Tenth street.

Dress Goods Remnants Here are two thousand short pieces of Colored Dress Goods—some of pretty much all the sorts of the year—in lengths sufficient and in styles suitable for Women's waists

Women's skirts
Women's dresses (if 5 yards of 54-in. goods is enough, or if you can find two shorter pieces alike)
Children's dresses.

In all cases we have marked them

at just half price

—which means the cost of the remnant is reckoned at half the full yardage price, but these remnants are sold by the piece; we cannot afford the further loss that would come if we cut them.

Interested?

Fourth avenue.

Corsets $2.90 for $5.25 Corsets—and Lillian, at that. We are constantly having new models produced, and every new one "in" means one of the older ones "out." Coutil; white and drab; some of black sateen. Long waists, bias cut. Sizes 18 to 30.

$2 Sonnet Corsets at $1. White drab, black.

Second Floor.

Women's Neckwear Half Prices It's slightly soiled—only slightly. The value is not much injured—but, half prices just the same. All this season's best styles—chiffon and silk, 25c to $3 instead of 50c to $6.

Decorated Lamps Reduced! Just to hurry out the last ones and twos of the strongly-popular styles. We do not care to replace these lots—it's better to get different styles. We dislike to sell quantities of things as like as two peas—makes all seem common, no matter how beautiful.

These reduced lamps are for the table and for the parlor—all the lamps completed with globes that match.

$4.50

—though prices were $6 to $10.

Warm Bed Clothing White Blankets, 60 x80 inches, weighing 4½ pounds to the pair, for $3.25.

White Blankets—90x90 inches; weight 9½ pounds—the acme of elegance, $16 a pair.

Between these prices the whole range of really good blankets. Cheaper are trashy—hence really too dear to buy.

70x82 in. White Blankets, $4 a pair.
72x84 in. White Blankets, weight 6 lbs., $5.
Down Quilts, figured sateen on both sides, $3.75. Some at $5.

Third floor.

An Optical Store An innovation—a store where, likely as not, you'll be told not to buy. Our opticians' salaries do not depend on the sales they make, but on the satisfaction they give.

Maybe you do not really need glasses. That being the case, you'll be told so—and feel relieved. Maybe your case requires the care of an oculist. If so, we tell you and not a penny do you need to pay us. Perhaps you'll bring his prescription here to be filled (oculists don't grind glasses; we do), but go where you please, even for your glasses.

Glasses askew or bent? We'll straighten them with pleasure—it's no more than really wishing you a "good morning" to help you to have one.

Repair work, of course, is charged for—but fairly. Eye Glasses, Spectacles—everything, here.

Tenth street side.

Sleds and Toys A maker of sleds fell out with Santa Claus—and Santa Claus didn't care, because there had been no snow on this part of his route. So we have 75c to $2 Sleds to sell at 40c to $1.40

Some high, some low—all good. To-day is the safe time to get them, for we shall have a large demand.

Flexible Flyers are $2.75 instead of $3.50.

Toys Reduced—

Soldier Suits, 50c to $5. Were $1 to $10.
What mechanical toys are left are half price.
So are Doll Houses and toy Stables.
Drums are cheaper.
Toy Desks and Bureaus are a fourth cheaper.
Doll Carriages, $1.50 to $3.75. Were $2.25 to $4.75.

And so on. Not many of anything—we never had such a big toy business. Glad to have these few left, for here and there some one was forgot. Then there are many public treats still to be given.

Basement.

The New Veilings, 25c Yard 25c a yard, though 35c is its fair value. All the new fancy meshes; velvet spots.

Tenth street.

New Year time. Get ready to turn over and paste down the leaf of extravagance. You can pay over $60 for a Typewriter, but you cannot fairly excuse yourself for doing so. $60 buys the Wanamaker Wellington.

Basement.

Skates and Outfittings

There was skating yesterday on many quiet ponds that freeze quickly. There'll be plenty of it, but maybe in brief periods. Don't lose any chance for the lack of skates.

Men's all-clamp Club Skates, 30c to $3.75.
Hockey Skates, $1.25 to $3.50.
Racing Skates, $3.
Women's Skates, 85c to $4.50.
Ankle Braces, 75c.
Skate Bags, 35c and 50c.
Skate Sharpeners, 15c.
Skate Straps, 5c.

In the Basement.

Skating and Hockey Shoes—Main Floor, Fourth Avenue and Ninth Street.

Shoes for Men and Women

A DOLLAR A PAIR

Not many—here's the story:

Two hundred pairs Men's Shoes, black and russet, badly broken in sizes. A third to a half their worth.
Women's Shoes, tan and black; mostly lace; odds and ends from $2 to $3 lines.
Children's Shoes, 50c and $1—tan and black; in narrow widths; the best are tan, and the best of them were $3.50. Any pair of shoes in the lot is worth $1.50.
Leggings for Children, 50c.
Felt Slippers—men's, 50c; women's, 35c.

Special Selling—Fifth Floor.

Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co.,

JOHN WANAMAKER

Broadway, Fourth Ave., Ninth and Tenth Streets.

HARVARD LEADS AT CHESS

Her Team Now Half a Point Ahead of Columbia.

YALE'S PLAYERS ARE THIRD

More Steadiness in Yesterday's Intercollegiate Contests—Games from Now Should Be Close.

Play in the intercollegiate chess tournament between Columbia, Harvard, Yale, and Princeton at the Columbia Grammar School was continued yesterday, when the eight competitors met in the second round of the series. The experience obtained by the players in the opening games on Monday proved to have had a beneficial effect, and in consequence there was a marked increase in steadiness observable in all of yesterday's contests. From now on it is thought by those who have followed the games closely the struggle should prove a very close and interesting one, as the representatives of the rival colleges seem to be unusually well matched.

It was distinctly Columbia's day, for neither of the Blue and White's champions suffered defeat, and the lead of Harvard was cut down to half a point. Young Sewall of Columbia, the junior of the tournament, again acquitted himself splendidly by disposing of Rice of Harvard. The latter's partner, Perry, in part made up for this misfortune to the Crimson's chances at the expense of Henley of Princeton. The other Columbia player, Falk, however, made the gain by drawing a grand up-hill fight with the veteran Cook of Yale.

The best that Princeton could do was a draw tallied by Hunt with Morgan, second man on Yale's team. The upshot of the day's play was that Harvard still retained the lead half a point ahead of Columbia, with Yale third, a full game behind the New Yorkers. Princeton brings up the rear, each of Old Nassau's men having a draw to his credit.

Cook's play against Falk at Board No. 1 was most energetic during the afternoon session, with the result that he obtained what should have been a winning position. Falk, however, put up a dogged resistance thereafter and with such good effect that he was finally rewarded with a draw when the game was adjudicated by Referee Helms at 10 o'clock.

Perry again had an easy time of it with Henley, for he won a clean piece on the fifteenth move and then won as he pleased.

Sewall played another energetic game and kept Rice continually on the defensive from start to finish. He finally won after sixty-one moves, not, however, until he had given his opponent a chance for a draw.

A well-fought game between Morgan and Hunt was abandoned as a draw at the most interesting stage, each player being evidently afraid of the other.

The scores of the game follow:

FIRST TABLE—PETROFF'S DEFENSE.

FALK. (Columbia.) White.		COOK. (Yale.) Black.	FALK. (Columbia.) White.		COOK. (Yale.) Black.
1.	P—K4	P—K4	27.	RxB	P—Kt4
2.	Kt—KB3	Kt—KB3	28.	R—K8ch	K—B2
3.	KtxP	P—Q3	29.	R—QR8	K—K3
4.	Kt—B3	KtxP	30.	P—R4	P—B5
5.	P—Q4	P—Q4	31.	RxP	K—Q3
6.	B—Q3	B—Q3	32.	R—Kt7	K—QB3
7.	Castles.	Castles.	33.	R—Kt5	B—Q7
8.	P—QB4	B—K3	34.	K—B	P—R4
9.	Q—B2	P—KB4	35.	K—K2	B—B5
10.	Q—Kt3	PxP	36.	R—Kt4	K—Q4
11.	QxKtP	Kt—Q2	37.	P—R5	P—B4
12.	BxKt	PxB	38.	R—R4	PxP
13.	QxP	B—KB2	39.	R—R6	P—Q6
14.	Q—QB2	B—Q4	40.	K—Q	Kt—Kt3
15.	B—Kt5	Q—K	41.	P—R7	K—B4
16.	B—R4	RxKt	42.	R—R8	Kt—R
17.	PxR	Q—R4	43.	P—R6	P—R5
18.	Kt—Q2	QxB	44.	R—K8	K—Kt3
19.	KR—K	Q—R6	45.	RxKt	Kt—Kt2
20.	Kt—K4	BxPch	46.	R—QB8	KxP
21.	K—R	B—B5ch	47.	RxP	P—R6
22.	K—Kt	QxP	48.	R—B6	P—R7
23.	Q—K2	QxQ	49.	R—KR6	K—Kt2
24.	RxQ	R—K	50.	P—Kt4
25.	QR—K	RxKt		Adjudicated a draw. 2h. 20m. 2h. 50m.
26.	RxR	BxR

SECOND TABLE—TWO KNIGHTS' DEFENSE.

HENLEY. (Princeton.) White.		PERRY. (Harvard.) Black.	HENLEY. (Princeton.) White.		PERRY. (Harvard.) Black.
1.	P—K4	P—K4	25.	B—K3	P—QKt3
2.	Kt—KB3	Kt—QB3	26.	B—B4	P—KR3
3.	B—B4	Kt—B3	27.	R—K3	B—KKt4
4.	Kt—Kt5	P—Q4	28.	BxB	PxB
5.	PxP	QKt—B4	29.	R—QB3	R—QB
6.	P—Q3	B—Q2	30.	K—Kt	P—R3
7.	Castles	B—Q3	31.	P—Kt4	P—Kt4
8.	R—K	Castles	32.	PxP	PxP
9.	Kt—QB3	P—B3	33.	P—KB3	P—Kt5
10.	PxP	BxP	34.	R—B2	P—Kt6
11.	QKt—K4	KtxKt	35.	R—QKt2	R—R
12.	P—KR3	KtxB	36.	R—Kt	R—R7
13.	PxKt	QxQ	37.	RxP	BxR
14.	PxKt	BxKt	38.	K—R	K—B
15.	RxQ	BxBP	39.	K—Kt	K—K2
16.	R—K	B—B3	40.	KR—K	K—Q3
17.	RxP	KR—Q	41.	K—Kt	K—K4
18.	R—K3	R—Q8ch	42.	K—R	K—B5
19.	R—K2	B—Q6	43.	K—Kt	B—B5
20.	K—R2	RxR	44.	K—R	K—Kt6
21.	R—Q2	BxKtP	45.	K—Kt	R—R8m'te
22.	BxR	BxP		1 hr. 55 m.	1 hr. 16 m.
23.	R—K	BxP
24.	P—QR4	B—B3

THIRD TABLE—FRENCH DEFENSE.

SEWALL. (Columbia.) White.		RICE. (Harvard.) Black.	SEWALL. (Columbia.) White.		RICE. (Harvard.) Black.
1.	P—K4	P—K3	33.	RxR	RxP
2.	P—Q4	P—Q4	34.	Kt—R5	B—Q
3.	Kt—QB3	Kt—KB3	35.	B—K2	B—K2
4.	P—K5	KKt—Q2	36.	K—K2	K—Q
5.	P—KB4	P—KB4	37.	K—Q3	K—Q2
6.	PxP	Kt—QB3	38.	K—Q4	B—Q
7.	P—QR3	BxP	39.	K—B5	K—B
8.	Q—Kt4	P—KKt3	40.	Kt—B6	BxKt
9.	Kt—B3	P—QR3	41.	KPxB	R—Kt
10.	B—Q3	Kt—K2	42.	K—Kt6	K—Q2
11.	Q—R3	B—R2	43.	KxP	P—Q5
12.	Q—R6	Kt—KB	44.	KxP	R—Kt6ch
13.	Kt—KKt5	R—KKt	45.	K—B5	RxP
14.	KtxRP	KtxKt	46.	KxP	RxP
15.	QxKt	B—Q2	47.	B—Kt4	R—B5ch
16.	B—Q2	P—QKt4	48.	K—K3	R—K5ch
17.	P—KKt4	KR—B	49.	K—B3	B—Q4
18.	Q—R4	Q—B2	50.	K—Kt3	R—K7
19.	Q—Kt3	Castles	51.	R—R2	RxR
20.	P—KR4	R—R	52.	KxR	K—K3
21.	Castles	QR—Kt	53.	K—Kt3	B—K6
22.	R—R3	Q—Kt3	54.	K—R4	B—Q8
23.	R(QR)—R	Q—B7	55.	P—R4	BxP
24.	Kt—K2	QxQ	56.	K—R5	B—K
25.	KtxQ	B—B4	57.	K—R6	K—Q4
26.	P—Kt5	B—B	58.	K—Kt7	K—K3
27.	Kt—K2	Kt—B4	59.	K—B8	K—Q4
28.	BxKt	KPxP	60.	KxB	K—K3
29.	R(K)—Rt	B—Kt8	61.	K—B8	Resigns.
30.	Kt—Kt3	B—Ks		1 hr. 30 m.	1 hr. 55 m.
31.	P—R5	K—Q2
32.	PxP	RxR

FOURTH TABLE—QUEEN'S PAWN OPENING.

Morgan. Yale. White.		Hunt. Princeton. Black.	Morgan. Yale. White.		Hunt. Princeton. Black.
1.	P—Q4	P—Q4	18.	R—B2	KR—Q
2.	P—K3	P—K3	19.	Q—QR3	KR—B
3.	B—Q3	Kt—KB3	20.	P—B3	P—B5
4.	P—QB4	P—QKt3	21.	R—Kt3	K—B2
5.	Kt—KB3	B—Kt2	22.	P—P5	B—B
6.	Kt—B3	B—Q3	23.	R—K	Q—K5
7.	Kt—K5	QKt—Q2	24.	R—KB	R—Q3
8.	P—B4	P—B4	25.	PxP—ch.	BxP
9.	Castles	QPxP	26.	R—B4	Q—Kt8—ch.
10.	BxP.	Castles	27.	K—B2	BxB
11.	P—QR3	Kt—K5	28.	QxB—ch.	R—K3
12.	KtxKt(K)	QBxKt	29.	Q—K2	R—R3
13.	KtxKt	QxKt	30.	Q—B5—chP—Kt3
14.	PxP	PxP	31.	QxRP—chB—Kt2
15.	Q—Q2	B—Kt2		Drawn.
16.	P—QKt3	P—QR4		2 hrs. 3 m.	1 hr. 56 m.
17.	B—QKt2	Q—B3

The records up to date:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Columbia	2½	1½	Yale	1½	2½
Harvard	3	1	Princeton	1	3

The individual score up to date:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Falk, (C.)	½	1½	Cook, (Y.)	1	1
Sewall, (C.)	2	0	Morgan, (Y.)	½	1½
Perry, (H.)	2	0	Henley, (P.)	½	1½
Rice, (H.)	1	1	Hunt, (P.)	½	1½

The third round will be played in the following order to-day:

Falk (Columbia) vs. Henley, (Princeton,) Cook (Yale) vs. Perry, (Harvard,) Sewall (Columbia) vs. Morgan, (Yale,) and Hunt (Princeton) vs. Rice, (Harvard.)

Triangular Tournament To-day.

A triangular chess tournament, with Brown, Cornell, and University of Pennsylvania as contestants, will be begun at the Manhattan Chess Club at 10 A. M. to-day. These are the names of the contestants: Brown—C. B. Lester and H. N. Davis; Cornell, L. A. Karpinski and E. H. Riedel; University of Pennsylvania, R. B. Griffith and J. S. Francis. There will probably be one round only, with the time limit of twenty moves per hour.

CHESS PLAY IN VIENNA.

Brody, Maroczy, and Wolf Are Tied at Four Games Each.

VIENNA, Dec. 26.—The sixth round of the Kolisch memorial chessmasters' tournament was played here to-day, and the games resulted as follows: Alapin and Schwarz adjourned their game, which was in favor of Alapin; Albin and Maroczy also adjourned their game, with Maroczy having the better of it; Zinki beat Prock, Wolf beat Brody, Schlechter and Popiel adjourned their game in an even position, and Marco and Korte drew.

Following is the score made by the contestants:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Alapin	2	3	Popiel	2½	2½
Albin	2½	2½	Prock	0	6
Brody	3	2	Schlechter	3½	1½
Korte	2½	3½	Schwarz	2½	2½
Marco	2	4	Wolf	4	2
Maroczy	4	1	Zinki	3½	2½

The pairing for the seventh round, which is to be contested to-morrow, has been arranged as follows: Prock vs. Schlechter, Brody vs. Zinki, Maroczy vs. Wolf, Schwarz vs. Albin, Korte vs. Alapin, and Popiel vs. Marco.

IN THE BOWLING ALLEYS.

Three close games were rolled in the Athletic League series at the Jersey City Club last night, the home team winning two games from the North End Club of Newark. The second and third games aroused the most enthusiasm. In the former the Newark bowlers won in the last frame. The third game was close throughout. The North Ends had a slight advantage until the final frame, when good pinning on spares enabled the home team to win by 3 pins. Scores.

FIRST GAME.

Jersey City Club—Newkirk, 159; Cordner, 190; Brown, 147; Starrett, 171; Meyer, 190. Total, 857.
North End—Heitzman, 182; Manners, 187; Olozaga, 152; Reese, 153; Cadiz, 165. Total, 819.

SECOND GAME.

North End—Heitzman, 159; Manners, 141; Olozaga, 151; Reese, 187; Cadiz, 155. Total, 793.
Jersey City Club—Newkirk, 165; Cordner 184; Brown, 144; Starrett, 129; Meyer, 142. Total, 764.

THIRD GAME.

Jersey City Club—Newkirk, 161; Cordner, 158; Brown, 193; Starrett, 143; Meyer, 161. Total, 811.
North End—Heitzman, 127; Manners, 176; Olozaga, 181; Reese, 140; Cadiz, 184. Total, 808.

The team representing the German-American Company were easy winners in two games in the Fire Insurance League, at Reid's alleys last night. Palatine won one game and Queen lost two. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

German-American—Schopp, 118; Burnett, 143; Marks, 142; Ormsbee, 183; Elston, 193. Total, 779.
Palatine—Emerson, 116; Hassall, 160; Burgess, 108; Rogers, 135; Meagher, 159. Total, 678.

SECOND GAME.

German-American—Schopp, 125; Burnett, 143; Marks, 147; Ormsbee, 162; Elston, 185. Total, 762.
Queen—Doubleday, 127; Rea, 211; Galloway, 150; Provost, 92; Burdick, 140. Total, 720.

THIRD GAME.

Palatine—Emerson, 154; Hassall, 117; Burgess, 173; Rogers, 128; Meagher, 145. Total, 717.
Queen—Doubleday, 125; Rea, 154; Galloway, 156; Provost, 117; Burdick, 133. Total, 679.

The Corinthians scored a double victory in the Columbia League last night. The Owls won the first game from the Puritans, and in the next game the Puritans were beaten by the Corinthians. The final game of the evening furnished a close contest, the Corinthians winning by 16 pins. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Owl—Kramer, 150; Sauer, 122; Meyer, 180; Bellmer, 170; Stern, 147. Total, 769.
Puritan—Buckingham, 149; Smith, 151; Kraft, 135; Deegan, 144; Jones, 170. Total, 749.

SECOND GAME.

Corinthian—Walter, 168; Baker, 183; Mulford, 145; Holden, 145; Schaeffer, 222. Total, 863.
Puritan—Buckingham, 194; Heimann, 116; Kraft, 142; Deegan, 129; Jones, 166. Total, 747.

THIRD GAME.

Corinthian—Walter, 189; Baker, 160; Mulford, 140; Holden, 178; Schaeffer, 169. Total, 836.
Owl—Kramer, 158; Sauer, 149; Meyer, 173; Bellmer, 154; Stern, 191. Total, 820.

The Mechanics and Traders' Bank team won games from the American Exchange and Chase teams in the Bank Clerks' League last night and are now only one game behind the leaders in the tournament. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Mechanics and Traders—Schneider, 180; Neuman, 131; Spratt, 160; Holmes, 127; Miles, 157. Total, 755.
American Exchange—Wood, 137; Haight, 135; Lee, 185; Ferdon, 147; Kennedy, 125. Total, 739.

SECOND GAME.

Mechanics and Traders—Schneider, 147; Neuman, 108; Spratt, 167; Holmes, 163; Miles, 162. Total, 747.
Chase No. 2—Schoepps, 138; Tornport, 113; Delmar, 113; Bohn, 160; Jones, 157. Total, 681.

THIRD GAME.

American Exchange—Wood, 141; Haight, 119; Lee, 132; Ferdon, 156; Kennedy, 156. Total, 704.
Chase No. 2—Schoepps, 180; Tornport, 114; Delmar, 138; Bohn, 103; Jones, 137. Total, 622.

The Bleeckers defeated the Alcos and Manning, Maxwell & Moore team in the Arlington National tourney last night, and there are now three clubs tied for first place, the Alco, Gotham, and Bleecker clubs each having won thirteen games and lost three. In the third game against the Manning, Maxwell & Moore team the Bleeckers made their best score in the tourney. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Bleecker—Beam, 147; Wragge, 146; McFeely, 145; Rosenberg, 167; Ritter, 206. Total—811.
Alco—Dewes, 153; Jackson, 145; F. Klucken, 157; Rossbach, 147; Ebling, 150. Total—752.

SECOND GAME.

Alco—Dewes, 153; Jackson, 144; F. Klucken, 135; Rossbach, 174; A. Klucken, 174. Total—780.
M. & M.—Whitney, 147; Blue, 131; Fecher, 153; Coomes, 145; Cramer, 146. Total—722.

THIRD GAME.

Bleecker—Beam, 200; Wragge, 184; McFeely, 154; Rosenberg, 159; Ritter, 158. Total—855.
M. & M.—Fecher, 201; Blue, 146; Whitney, 151; Coomes, 146; Cramer, 153. Total—797.

In a series of games at the Germania Alleys last night H. Kahlsdorf of the Central Club defeated L. Lehrbach of the Pontiac Wheelmen. Kahlsdorf won six out of eleven games. Scores:

Kahlsdorf—184, 177, 180, 201, 169, 177, 190, 194, 162, 188, 186. Total, 2,008. Average, 182 6-11.
Lehrbach—153, 139, 187, 164, 187, 186, 174, 201, 169, 183, 181. Total, 1,924. Average, 174 10-11.

The Kings County Wheelmen won two games in the tournament of the Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island at the Elephant Club alleys last evening. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Kings County Wheelmen—Courtney, 169; Denyse, 159; Twiddy, 133; Leach, 166; Cornish, 147. Total, 774.
Nassau Wheelmen—Lammy, 120; Suchen, 119; Dorn, 117; McClorman, 133; Sparks, 104. Total, 593.

SECOND GAME.

Nassau Wheelmen—Lammy, 194; Suchen, 138; Dorn, 99; McClorman, 114; Sparks, 163. Total, 708.
Pioneer Wheelmen—Beedle, 131; Fisher, 100; Arath, 109; Nicholson, 128; Walling, 187. Total, 685.

THIRD GAME.

Pioneer Wheelmen—Beedle, 160; Fisher, 105; Arath, 181; Nicholson, 179; Walling, 197. Total, 802.
Kings County Wheelmen—Courtney, 151; Denyse, 148; Twiddy, 193; Leach, 149; Cornish, 167. Total, 808.

In the Brooklyn Royal Arcanum bowling tournament at Trainor's alleys last evening the Bedford Council won two games. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Bedford Council—Morrows, 145; Sheffeld, 140; Lounsberry, 191; Burrows, 147; Markwell, 211. Total, 834.
De Long Council—Blake, 157; Schuman, 176; Herx, 130; Haff, 158; Landsman, 169. Total, 790.

SECOND GAME.

Gramercy Council—Hallaway, 146; Walters, 116; Christman, 145, Bishop, 79; Schmidt, 132. Total, 618.
De Long Council—Blake, 169; Schuman, 127; Herx, 136; Haff, 140; Landsman, 153. Total, 724.

THIRD GAME.

Gramercy Council—Hallaway, 141; Walters, 192; Christman, 114; Bishop, 122; Schmidt, 149. Total, 718.
Bedford Council—Morrows, 186; Sheffield, 179; Steins, 107; Burrows, 121; Markwell, 173. Total, 766.

Tournament Games To-night.

American National—Lotus, Fidelia, South Paw.
Columbia League—Diamond, Belvidere, Columbia.
Harlem League—Premier, Phoenix, Colonial.
Royal Arcanum League—Colfax, Our No. 1, Harlem, New York No. 2.
Life Insurance League—Prudential, John Hancock, Metropolitan Life.
Arlington National—Oradell, Manhatta, Welcome.
Archdiocesan Union—Cathedral, Leo, Spalding No. 2, Spalding No. 1, Holy Rosary, Harlem Catholic Club.
Brooklyn Royal Arcanum—Bushwick, Alert, Lefferts.
Brooklyn Royal Arcanum Sub-Tournament—Long Island, Fulton, Fern.

Alumni Team Wins at Hockey.

The Cutler School hockey team was beaten by the Alumni team at the St. Nicholas Rink last night by a score of 5 goals to 0. The Alumni team included three members of the Cutler School championship team last year, and now members of the New York Athletic Club and St. Nicholas hockey teams. The schoolboys played well for about ten minutes, but after that the Alumni team's experience began to tell. The latter scored twice in the first half, and 3 goals in the second half.

Amateur Billiard Championship.

Dr. A. L. Ranney, Secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union Billiard Committee, announced yesterday the entries and conditions for the amateur championship (Class A) billiard tournament, which will be held at the Knickerbocker Athletic Club in the week beginning Feb. 5. The new challenge emblem, valued at $1,000, will be competed for then for the first time, the conditions requiring that its holder must defend it once each year against the winner of the Class A tournament. Six of the foremost amateur players of the country have sent in their entries for the tournament, as follows: Wilson P. Foss, Haverstraw, N. Y.; Wayman C. McCreery, St. Louis; Charles Threshie, Boston; J. De Mun Smith, St. Louis; Dr. L. L. Mial, Knickerbocker Athletic Club; C. F. Conklin, Chicago.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Racing at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—Results at Oakland:

FIRST RACE.—Futurity course; selling. True Blue, 119 pounds, (Ruise,) 8 to 5, won; Braw Lass, 119, (Spencer,) 8½ to 1, second; Meadow Lark, 114, (Ross,) 7 to 1, third. Time—1:11. Mainstay, Cipriano, Duke of York II., Greyhurst, Jael, Be Happy, Charles Lebel, and Lucid also ran.

SECOND RACE.—Five-eighths of a mile; selling; for two-year-olds. Tuthill, 113, (T. Burns,) 3½ to 1, won; Guato, 108, (Thorpe,) 2 to 1, second; Devereaux, 108, (Vittatoe,) 6 to 1, third. Time—1:01. Miss Madeline, Antoinetta, Aborigine, Spike, Jennie Reiley, Jolly Briton, and Gussie Fay also ran.

THIRD RACE.—One mile. Purse. Ventoro, 110, (Spencer,) 7 to 5, won; Storm King, 107, (Jenkins,) 2½ to 1, second; Hindoo Princess, 95, (J. Martin,) 7 to 1, third. Time—1:40½. Gauntlet, Constellator, and Kickumbob also ran.

FOURTH RACE.—Mile and a sixteenth; selling. Feverham, 90, (T. Walsh,) 3½ to 1, won; Einstein, 101, (Bassinger,) 7 to 1, second; Mornel, 107, (T. Burns,) 8 to 5, third. Time—1:48¾. Senator Dubois, Coda, and Nilgar also ran. Opponent ran second, disqualified for fouling.

FIFTH RACE.—Seven-eighths of a mile. Free handicap. Plan, 103, (T. Walsh,) 3½ to 1, won; Dr. Sheppard, 110, (Thorpe,) 2 to 1, second; King Carnival, 107, (J. Martin,) 2 to 1, third. Time—1:27. Satsuma, Hiero, and Katie Gibbons also ran.

SIXTH RACE.—Eleven sixteenths of a mile; selling. Ben Lodi, 109, (Ross,) 2 to 1, won; Silver Tone, 104, (Jenkins,) 4 to 1, second; Pat Morrissey, 104, (T. Burns,) 3½ to 1, third. Time—1:08¾. Mike Rice, Bessie Lee, Amasa, Sallie Goodwin, Whitcomb, Etta H., and Giro also ran.

CONDEMNS THE CUBAN PRISONS.

Charlton T. Lewis Makes a Report to the Secretary of War.

Charlton T. Lewis, President of the New York Prison Association, who went to Cuba on behalf of that and other organizations in the United States, has made a report to the Secretary of War in regard to the penal institutions on the island. He contends that this Government is responsible for their condition, and says that a truthful description of the prisons would arouse universal indignation. After urging this Government, through the War Department, to stop the "intolerable cruelty and injustice, which now constitute a National disgrace," Mr. Lewis says:

"Great prisons are overcrowded with men and boys. Assassins, brigands, pickpockets, and young men charged with disorderly conduct, or merely suspected of slight offenses, are herded together in absolute idleness and unrestricted intercourse, with no change of clothing, no blanket or semblance of bed. Many hundreds sleep on bare stones, where filth and vermin are kept down only by constant sprinkling with disinfectants.

"In some prisons the only disinfectant known is insect powder, and cases of tuberculosis, some of them far advanced, infect the rooms, and doubtless spread the seeds of the disease. Moral and physical contagion are promoted on a vast scale together. Most of these prisoners have been proved guilty of no offense.

"In this hell upon earth they are held indefinitely, while the Judges of first instance investigate the charges. Each of these Judges has a secretary, who can often secure dismissal, but the prisoner without money or influence must wait."

Veteran Newspaper

SEABOARD AIR LINE FIGHT

Thomas F. Ryan Sends a Message to John Skelton Williams.

ATTACKS CONSOLIDATION PLAN

Declares It to be in the Interest of the Williams Syndicates, Unwise, and Inequitable.

Thomas F. Ryan, the complainant in the litigation now going forward in Virginia and North Carolina to prevent the consolidation of the Seaboard Air Line with two roads owned by the Williams syndicate, known as the Georgia and Alabama and the Florida Central and Peninsular, sent yesterday the following telegram setting forth the reasons of his opposition to John Skelton Williams:

"I have just received from my attorneys a report of the court proceedings had at Raleigh on Thursday last, and observe that your representative there read in open court a copy of a telegram sent by you to me on Dec. 12, 1899, which I have not heretofore answered.

"I did not reply to it when received, because its terms forbade further negotiations then. It declared, to be sure, that you had made 'all the efforts, suggestions, and propositions that any fair-minded man could reasonably desire.' But the proposition was embodied in your 'preliminary plan of consolidation,' presented to me on Oct. 23, and by which I was invited to co-operate in a plan involving the issue of $19,670,000 of bonds on the combined properties to be used for the following purposes:

"You proposed to take $13,343,000 of these bonds to reimburse your various syndicates for the securities they had bought to control the system.

"You proposed to give $2,285,000 of these bonds in exchange for Georgia and Alabama stocks, on which I believe a dividend has never been paid.

"With $1,600,000 you proposed to purchase or retire certain shares of Seaboard stock and stocks in some other roads held by minority stockholders.

"You proposed to use $1,300,000 to retire Car Trust notes and $1,000,000 to pay for the South Carolina extension, leaving $141,000, which you describe as a 'balance for miscellaneous requirements.'

"In short, you proposed to place on these roads an additional mortgage indebtedness of $12,523,000, burdening them with an additional annual interest charge of nearly $500,000, not one dollar of the proceeds of the sum of these bonds to be spent on the property, but the entire amount of $12,523,000 to be used by you to reimburse your syndicates for moneys paid for stocks which, with the exception of those of the Seaboard and Roanoke and the Bay Line, have not paid a dividend for years.

"Having thus paid your syndicates dollar for dollar in bonds, you further proposed to issue to them a bonus in the stocks of the reorganized company of more than $23,000,000.

"This was your plan as you presented it to me on Oct. 23, but subsequently I learned, what you did not at that time disclose, that your firm, Messrs. John L. Williams & Sons, and Mr. Middendorf's firm were to have as a commission $2,000,000 of the new stock in addition.

"You describe this plan as 'wise, conservative, and equitable.' You call it 'an honest effort to work out' a reorganization. You say it 'means much for this whole section of the country.' I can readily see what it means to you personally and to your syndicates, but so far from regarding it as wise or conservative or equitable, it seems to me wholly inconsistent with a proper financial policy.

"I did not believe that you would persist in such a scheme. Indeed, I noted that you had entitled it a 'preliminary plan,' and remembered that you had stated at a conference at the Astoria Hotel on Nov. 22, in the presence of my attorneys and your attorney, that your purposes were not definitely fixed. I had no idea that it would be your final plan until I learned of the proceedings of the stockholders' meeting of the Seaboard and Roanoke Company on Dec. 19 at Portsmouth, Va. I regard other statements in your telegram as inaccurate, but it is not necessary to answer them in detail at this time.

"I have treated your communications as confidential, including this plan of consolidation and your telegram describing it, but since you have thought it proper to read the telegram in court and publish it broadcast, I think it necessary to say that this analysis of the plan shows plainly that it is neither fair nor equitable, and that it cannot be pursued without grave danger to the interests which it is your duty to protect."

THE BOSTON AND ALBANY LEASE.

Stockholders of the Road Will Meet at Boston To-day to Ratify It.

The stockholders of the Boston and Albany Railroad Company meet to-day at Boston to ratify the lease of the system to the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company for ninety-nine years. The New York Central stockholders will ratify the lease at Albany to-morrow. The lease will then have to be ratified by the Massachusetts Legislature. Here opposition to it will be encountered from politicians and the Fitchburg Railroad Company. The company is disappointed because overtures to it for a lease by the New York Central fell through when Fitchburg declined an offer of a 4 per cent. guarantee on stock. It now claims that the Central-Boston and Albany deal will injure its business.

On this point President S. R. Callaway of the Central has written to President E. D. Codman of the Fitchburg to say that the Central is willing to continue the relations that have existed between the two companies, although it has leased Boston and Albany and that the interests of the Fitchburg will not suffer from such lease.

Fitchburg's outlet is by the West Shore. West Shore connects at Buffalo with several systems, including Grand Trunk, Wabash, and New York, Chicago and St. Louis.

An officer of the Vanderbilt system said yesterday: "Fitchburg refused our offer of 4 per cent. guarantee. If we make another it will be at a lower rate. If it expects a higher offer it is mistaken, and we are not going to buy it."

RAILWAY EMPLOYES TO GET STOCK.

Great Northern to Inaugurate a New Plan in February.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 26.—Employes of the Great Northern Railroad, including conductors, engineers, and other trainmen, are to become stockholders in that company in February next. It is understood that the management of the railway system has decided to recommend to the stockholders a plan for the distribution of a large block of the company's shares among the men who have been in the service of the company for a certain number of years. The sum will aggregate several hundred thousand dollars.

It is said that the plan will be to increase the company's capital stock 10 per cent., and to allow the men to subscribe for a round amount at par.

Pere Marquette's New President.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Dec. 26.—It was announced here to-day that Charles M. Heald will be President of the Père Marquette system and S. T. Crapo of Saginaw general manager. The headquarters of the system will be located at Grand Rapids' temporarily, at least until the next annual meeting of the Board of Directors. Mr. Heald was formerly President of the Chicago and West Michigan and Detroit, Grand Rapids and Western, and Mr. Crapo was general manager of the Flint and Père Marquette.

Alabama Railway Sold.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 26.—It is stated on reliable authority that the East and West Alabama Railway has been purchased by Lee, Higginson & Co. of Boston, for the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham Railroad, and that it will be extended at once into Birmingham. The road runs from Cartersville, Ga., to Pell City, Ala., a distance of 120 miles. The purchase price is given as $1,250,000.

1,000,000 Bushel Elevator at Quebec.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 26.—The Directors of the Great Northern Railway Company have awarded the contract for the construction at Quebec of a one-million-bushel elevator at a cost of $250,000 to Chapman & Co. of Buffalo.

The Charm of Our

Full Dress Suitings is promoting an intimacy between the social world and our "evening dress" designer—this mutual understanding is to an extent taxing our capacity at this season of the year, for the orders are being placed liberally.

Burnham & Phillips'

Custom Tailoring Only,
Temple Court Annex, 119 Nassau St.

NO PRIEST AT RINN'S FUNERAL.

Soldier Who Saved Col. Kent's Life Buried Without Religious Services.

Sergt. Michael Rinn, the soldier who saved the life of Col. Kent at the battle of San Juan, was buried yesterday in Flushing. His friends are indignant because he was buried without the presence of a clergyman. Rinn was a Catholic, and permission was asked to hold the services in the local church of that denomination. This request was refused, and the priest of the parish also refused to go to the house where the body was on the plea that Rinn died of typhoid fever.

A military escort composed of members of the Seventeenth Separate Company accompanied the remains to the grave.

THE NEW BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Democrats Choose President Woods for a Second Term.

The Democratic members of the new Board of Aldermen held a caucus yesterday for the purpose of selecting officers for the session of 1900-1901. Thomas F. Woods, the President of the present board, was chosen to fill the same position during the next term. Alderman John T. McCall, the Tammany leader of the present board, was again selected to lead the majority, and, as a reward for his past services, was unanimously chosen as the candidate for Vice President to succeed William H. Gledhill, who declined to serve another term. Alderman Muh will again be the Chairman of the Finance Committee and Thomas Coakley will be Sergeant at Arms.

The Brooklyn Democratic members will caucus to-day to apportion among themselves the patronage due to that borough. A caucus of the Republican members-elect will be held some day this week. Alderman McInnes of Brooklyn, who is a member of the new board, is anxious to become the minority leader, and he has a good chance to get the place.

Aldermanic Funeral Bill Defeated.

A resolution directing the Controller to pay $443 for the expenses incurred in the funeral of Alderman Ackerman, who died last month, was brought before the Council yesterday in a communication from the Board of Aldermen. Resolutions of that character require a four-fifths affirmative vote. The measure would have been adopted but for Councilman Leich, (Rep.,) who voted in the negative, after declaring that he considered the charge of $300 for draping the Aldermanic Chamber as "unfair and excessive."

ATTACKS THE DEWEY THEATRE.

The Sabbath Committee Asks that Its License Be Revoked.

The Sabbath Committee yesterday asked Justice Beekman of the Supreme Court to revoke the Dewey Theatre license, on the ground that the managers, Kraus & Sullivan, are violating the Sunday law. Mr. Hymes, attorney for the management, argued that the application of the committee should be dismissed, on the ground that George J. Kraus was not the Kraus who obtained the license for the theatre.

"There are many Krauses in the theatrical profession," said Mr. Hymes to the Justice, "and in this very place."

"Oh, yes," replied Justice Beekman, "many, many of them, but I do not propose to have the authority of this court subverted by legerdemain."

Mr. Sullivan, supposed to be Senator Timothy D. Sullivan, was not subpoenaed, and Mr. Hymes persisted that he could prove that Mr. Kraus had nothing to do with the Dewey Theatre on Sunday or any other day. Justice Beekman called the lawyer's attention to the fact that Mr. Kraus did not say in his affidavit that he was not a copartner of Sullivan.

"I know all about these matters," said the Justice. "Kraus makes no affidavit that he is not the man whose name is on the programme. Now, it is to be presumed that the names of the managers on the programme are the names of the persons to whom the license was issued. If the law has been evaded, it will not avail. Sullivan's sanction was given to this performance when his name was placed on the programme."

The case was finally adjourned until Friday.

CAKEWALK ENDS IN FIGHT.

Three Negroes Shot in Homeward-Bound Trolley Party—One May Die.

A colored cakewalk which was held Christmas night in a hall at One Hundred and Eighty-seventh Street and Bathgate Avenue wound up early yesterday morning in a trolley car with a razor and revolver fight. Three men were shot and one of them will likely die at Fordham Hospital of his injuries.

About 1 o'clock in the morning forty-seven negro men and women boarded a south-bound trolley car at One Hundred and Eighty-seventh Street and Third Avenue. As soon as the car started they began to fight. The motorman doubled the speed of his car and rang his bell vigorously, hoping to attract the attention of a policeman. As his car sped along toward the Harlem Bridge the struggle became worse, and at One Hundred and Sixty-sixth Street the motorman heard five revolver shots. He stopped the car and policemen came out from the Morrisania station.

When they reached the car most of the passengers had escaped, but they captured Charles Trassy, twenty-four years old, who was just leaving. Three wounded men were found on the floor of the car, and one of them identified Trassy as the man who did the shooting. He was arrested and later held in the Harlem Police Court to await the injuries of the wounded men.

The fight is said to have started over one Lizzie Stewart, who with Trassy for a partner won the cake. She told the police that the other negroes insulted her after they were aboard the car. Trassy took up the insult, she asserted, and the other men made for him. He pulled a revolver and defended himself. He admitted doing the shooting. The injured men are Dudley Smith, twenty-three years old, of 696 Morris Avenue, shot in left groin; Edward Lambert, twenty-four years old, 410 East One Hundred and Fifty-second Street, shot in back and three knife wounds on thigh, and George Torrend, twenty-one years old, of 480 East One Hundred and Fifty-second Street, shot in the jaw.

Record of Shipping.

The volume for 1900 of The Record of American and Foreign Shipping, which is the thirty-second annual issue of this register and classification of shipping, is now being delivered to subscribers. The Record contains full reports and particulars of about 17,000 vessels of all classes and nationalities, rules for the construction and classification of steel, iron and wood vessels, rules for the construction and survey of steam machinery and boilers for vessels, provisions for the installation of electric lighting and power apparatus on shipboard, and much other valuable information. The work also contains a list and addresses of prominent shipbuilders, dry docks, marine railways, marine machinery and boiler constructors in the United States, list of vessels whose names have been changed, &c. The Record is published by the American Bureau of Shipping, 37 William Street.

Portrait of Justice Goldfogle.

A representative gathering of residents of the east side, together with the members of the bar who appear in the Fifth District Municipal Court, paid Judge Henry M. Goldfogle a tribute yesterday in the court-room, at 124 Clinton Street. The occasion was the presentation of a large portrait of Justice Goldfogle, inclosed in a gilt frame, to the Fifth District Municipal Court, over which Justice Goldfogle has presided for twelve years. He will retire with the incoming of the new year, and will be succeeded by Benjamin Hoffman, member of the Mazet committee.

ROBERTS ON SPECULATION

Director of Mints Arraigns Practice of Trading on Margins.

CAUSES OF MONEY STRINGENCY

Speculation and Rising Prices Will Always Absorb All the Cash That Can Be Furnished.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Mr. Roberts, the Director of the Mints, was asked to-day whether the present monetary stringency in his opinion signified an actual scarcity of money to meet the present requirements of trade. He said:

"No possible supply of money can prevent Stock Exchange panics or periods of monetary stringency, because speculation and rising prices will absorb any possible increase until the pressure for ready cash is just as great upon the new plane as it was upon the old. The cry for more money is as unappeasable as the demand for more wealth. A new supply instead of satisfying the demand stimulates it. Men want money to buy things with—good things that they think are going higher.

"Given easy money in the banks and we have bankers encouraging borrowers. As a result stocks go up, and as they go up many people want to buy, and so the demand for money increases. You cannot furnish money fast enough to meet the demand of all who would like to borrow while prices are going up, nor could all the gold and silver mines in the world together keep prices going up forever.

"A marvelous era of increasing money stocks began in 1850 and started a period of speculation which ended with a grand world-wide smash in 1857, when even the Bank of England had to suspend payment, without any decline in production and with the mints everywhere open to both gold and silver.

"The real secret of the reaction is speculation on margins. These people who are crying that they have been forced to throw away their property had never paid for their holdings. They borrowed money on call to make small payments, hoping that a right turn in the market would give large profits. But in that class of operations losses come as easily as profits. That is one of the conditions of the game. When they have profits they call it prosperity, but when they have losses they think the country has come to a standstill and want to know who is to blame. Nothing has happened, except that they have been asked to pay what they owe.

"It is impossible to do away with such speculation by any increase in the money supply. If a stock selling at $100 per share has an advance of $10, the investor who owns it outright makes but 10 per cent., while the speculator who has up only a margin of $10 makes 100 per cent. That is the secret of marginal trading.

"In short, it is not legitimate business that causes enormous inflation of credits, multiplies the bank reserves required, and thus absorbs any possible money stock. Speculation—greed—will inevitably do it, and as it is obviously impossible to satisfy that appetite, it is absurd to point to a tight money market as a proof of an insufficient supply of money.

"Undoubtedly the war in the Transvaal has had influence upon our money market. Anything that disturbs normal conditions, which turns the currents of business out of the course they have been expected to follow, will affect business. With trade balances as they are, our bankers early in the season had reason to expect gold imports this Fall, and probably directed their business accordingly. The war has not only cut off a remittance of about $2,000,000 per week to London from South Africa, but compelled heavy shipments the other way. Such a reversal of the regular anticipated order makes money tight in all centres until affairs are readjusted to the new condition.

"The world does not depend upon the Transvaal for its stock of gold. Colorado will produce more gold in 1900 than all North America yielded ten years ago, and this continent will yield more next year than the whole world did ten years ago. Cripple Creek is up to the record of the Transvaal five years ago, and Cripple Creek with Alaska and the Klondike will next year exceed the Transvaal production of 1897. The golden tide, though checked for the moment, is not going to subside."

Distilling Company Inquiry.

At the request of holders of shares of the preferred and common stock of the Distilling Company of America, to a large amount, William L. Bull, William F. Harrity, Rudolph Keppler, Alvin W. Krech, and Richard Sutro have consented to act as a committee to institute an inquiry into the affairs of the company, to recommend such action as may seem advisable and generally to protect the interests of the depositors.

An agreement has been lodged with the Mercantile Trust Company, New York City, and the stockholders desiring to be represented by the committee are invited to deposit their certificates of stock on or before Jan. 6, with said company, which will issue its negotiable receipts therefor. The committee will as soon as possible submit to the depositors an agreement embodying a further plan of action, and afford opportunity to the depositors either to participate therein or to withdraw the shares deposited without expense.

NOTES OF INSURANCE INTERESTS.

Chicago advices say that many of the Western companies have not been adversely affected by the break in the stock market, because their assets are largely invested in mortgages instead of in stocks and bonds of private corporations.

At the annual election of the Empire City Fire Insurance Company the following Directors were chosen: John M. Burke, Charles H. Kerner, Henry C. Mortimer, John W. Condit, Lindley Murray, Jr., Charles H. Lowerre, Henry W. Curtiss, Charles H. Leland, Walter R. Wood, David J. Burtis, Francis M. Scott, J. Eugene Robert, and George M. Miller.

The insurance on the property at 22 Clinton Place, which was considerably damaged by fire Monday, was distributed as follows: On A. L. Ulinick—Eagle, $2,500; Stuyvesant, $1,500; Palatine, $1,000; Hanover, $1,000. On Erlanger & Reis—New York Underwriters', $2,000; Western of Toronto, $2,000; British-America, $1,500. On A. Siegrist & Co.—Commercial Union, $1,000. J. S. Le Bowski & Co. will adjust the loss.

It was reported yesterday that the trouble in the Trenton fire insurance rating compact, which arose last week because of the refusal of one of the Trenton agents to pay a fine for alleged violation of rates, would result within a few days in the issuance of a call for a meeting with a view to the prevention of a rate war. The companies, it is believed, will undertake to prevent the opening of rates in Trenton, especially since seven counties in New Jersey are and have been for some time more or less demoralized, so far as rates are concerned.

The insurance on the property involved in the William Street fire on Sunday was distributed as follows: On the Berlin-Jones Envelope Company—Liverpool and London and Globe, $10,000; Niagara, $10,000; Aetna, $6,000; National, $5,000; Phoenix of London, $5,000; Lancashire, $5,000; Northern, $5,000; Helvetia, $4,500; American of Philadelphia, $4,000; Sun, $3,500; Caledonian, $3,000; Hamburg-Bremen, $2,750; Hamilton, $2,500; Manchester, $2,500; Empire City, $2,500; Atlanta Home, $2,500; County of Philadelphia, $2,500; Baloise, $2,500; United Fire, $2,500; Thuringia-American, $2,500; Continental, $2,500; Imperial, $2,500; Fire Association, $2,500; Phoenix of Hartford, $2,500; Queen, $2,500; United of Baltimore, $2,500; Transatlantic, $2,500; Atlas, $2,500; Westchester, $2,500; American of New York, $2,500; Palatine, $2,500; Union of London, $2,500; Law Union and Crown, $2,500; Netherlands, $2,500; Hanover, $1,500; Commonwealth, $1,500; Albany, $1,500; Milwaukee, $1,500; Magdeburg, $1,500; Connecticut, $1,500; Virginia, $1,500; German-American of Baltimore, $1,500; Svea, 1,500; American of Boston, $1,500; Citizens' of New York, $1,500; Merchants' of Boston, $1,500; Equitable of Providence, $1,500; Phenix of Brooklyn, $1,500; Buffalo Commercial, $1,500; Agricultural, $4,500; Grand Rapids, $1,500; Delaware, $1,500; Glens Falls, $1,500; Hanover, $1,500; Rochester German, $1,500; Mechanics', $1,500; New Hampshire, $1,500; Michigan, $1,500; Union of Philadelphia, $1,250. On Henry Allen—New York Underwriters', $4,500; Continental, $3,000; Hartford, $3,000; Boston, $2,500; Liverpool and London and Globe, $2,500; National of Hartford, $2,000; Buffalo German, $1,500. On building 134 William Street—Niagara, $10,000; Providence-Washington, $8,000; State of Pennsylvania, $2,500; Springfield, $2,500; Pennsylvania $2,000; Reliance, $2,000.

FRAUDULENT USE OF MAILS.

Eugene L. Packard, Who Ran an Investment Company, Convicted.

A jury before Judge Thomas, in the Criminal Branch of the United States Circuit Court, yesterday, found Eugene L. Packard guilty of using the mails for fraudulent purposes in connection with an investment company. He was remanded for sentence Friday. He formerly conducted a security and investment company at 32 Broadway, and claimed to be operating his establishment through a power of attorney from James S. Robinson. The latter did not appear at the trial, although summoned by both sides.

Miss Eleanora S. Moody, a school teacher from Portland, Me., testified that she was swindled out of $800. A servant employed by Mrs. Lispenard Stewart of 56 Fifth Avenue swore that she lost $1,400.

GEORGE V. L. BROKAW FOUND.

Missing Man Taken in Charge by a Policeman Refuses to Talk.

George V. L. Brokaw, whose home is in Saratoga, and who disappeared last Thursday while out shopping with his sister Florence, has been found. Mr. Brokaw was taken in charge at 8 o'clock yesterday morning by a policeman of the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Police Station, who found him on One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street, near Eighth Avenue, in consequence of a general alarm having been sent out. A few hours later Mr. Brokaw was taken to the Hotel Albert, where he and his sister registered Dec. 21.

It was said that he had several times previously disappeared for days at a time, always, however, turning up safe and sound. It was said at the hotel last night that Mr. Brokaw had been sleeping most of the time since his return there, and that he could not give a clear account of where he had been, when he was brought back.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

New York City.

J. F. McGOVERN.—Joseph F. McGovern, dealer in boots and shoes at 1,416 Third Avenue, made an assignment yesterday to Samuel Newmark. Mr. McGovern began this business on Oct. 4, claiming a capital of $2,000. He was formerly in the liquor business and went through bankruptcy, receiving his discharge on Aug. 10 last. His schedules showed liabilities $15,391 and no assets. H. V. Rutherford, his attorney, said yesterday that the assignment was caused by dull trade on account of the unseasonable weather. The liabilities are $1,200 and nominal assets $1,700.

Out of Town.

SUSILL A. ISAACSON.—Susill A. Isaacson, a clothing dealer of Boston, yesterday filed a petition in bankruptcy at the United States District Court in that city. Liabilities are placed at $122,811; assets, $60,000. Isaacson's creditors are nearly all New York firms.

Judge Stover of Amsterdam has appointed Grenville M. Ingalsbe temporary receiver of the Warren Medbury Company, at Sandy Hill, N. Y. Directors Warren, Carpenter, and Cunningham petitioned that Judge Ingalsbe be named. The company has been manufacturing dynamos at Sandy Hill and kept a large force at work.

JAMES B. DAVENPORT.—Deputy Sheriff Roberts has received an attachment for $42,500 against James B. Davenport of Stamford, Conn., in favor of John Davenport, also of that city, on a judgment obtained against James B. Davenport in Fairfield County, Conn., on Jan. 13 last for $42,500 by John Davenport, as executor of the estate of Harriet B. Davenport, which judgment John Davenport as executor assigned to himself. The Messrs. Davenport are brothers.

PETITIONS IN BANKRUPTCY.

GEORGE BECKER.—George Becker of 28 Union Square filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday, individually and as surviving partner of Keiser & Becker, music dealers, of 28 Union Square, who failed on June 1, 1898. The liabilities are $6,052, and no assets.

WEIMAN BROTHERS.—Louis and David Weiman, who composed the firm of Weiman Brothers, formerly dealers in shoes and men's furnishing goods at 141 Division Street, have filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities $1,825 and no assets. They dissolved in 1897.

W. A. PHILLIPS.—William A. Phillips, wholesale dealer in millinery goods at 31 East Seventeenth Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities $15,226, and assets $13,020, consisting of cash, $90; merchandise, $3,817; fixtures, $702, and outstanding accounts, $8,411. There are thirty-three creditors, the largest being S. Zeimer & Feldstein, $6,916. Mr. Phillips made an assignment on Dec. 9.

Judgments.

The following judgments were filed yesterday, Dec. 26, the first name being that of the debtor:

AMMAN, Charles—Hecla Iron Works	$63
BOHLER, Albin—H. Koehler & Co., costs	68
BYRNES, George A.—New Amsterdam Gas Company	35
BERNASCHEFF, Joseph—W. Buess	22
COHEN, Max—J. M. Pollard and another.	225
CHEEVER, Charles A.—New York National Exchange Bank	361
CRAWFORD, Priscilla, executrix, &c.—Isabella McCarthy, costs	363
COLLINS, Charles W.—E. J. Kearney	145
COTTAM, Margaret—Effe V. V. Knox	2,965
CAMPBELL, Joseph N.—E. C. Perkins and another	549
CATLIN, Henry G.—T. Bini	216
CRIDLAND, John—J. F. Knorr and another	10
DAVIS, Eliza—Sam Goldstein	154
DALY, Eda—Virginia W. Baldwin	269
DUFFIELD, U Grant—F. Taylor & Co.	177
DUNN, Thomas L. C.—J. P. Nawrath	167
DANBY, William—Equitable General Providing Company	64
FOTH, Andrew H.—New Amsterdam Gas Company	28
FOOTE, Emerson—H. Jantzen	139
FERGUSON, Edwin R.—New Amsterdam Gas Company	157
GANY, Marco—Adams Brothers Company	906
GRAU, Robert—New Amsterdam Gas Company	49
GLASER, Ferdinand—J. Campbell	120
GLORIEUX, Jules—F. W. Doolittle	195
HOFSASS, Harry—E. Rudolph and another	401
HAILIP, Morris—New Amsterdam Gas Company	32
HAZMAN, Rudolph L., and Aaron J. Oppenheimer—Leon S. Keller	153
HOFFMAN, Annie—W. P. Baker	36
IRIS, Henry J.—New Amsterdam Gas Company	32
ISERMANN, Samuel—New York Telephone Company	73
KNIERING, Conrad, George Spelckhaver, and Henry Kleindienst—William Buess	169
KORN, Moritz—S. A. De Venny	100
KITCHEN, William R.—John Madden	167
KNAPP, George P.—The Reid Ice Cream Company	107
LEMMEL, Hortense J. S.—Rosenfeld	183
LUBITZ, Louis—J. W. McCulloch	461
MAY, Alexander—Acker, Merrall & Condit	111
MORRE, Charles E.—New York Telephone Company	26
MILLER, Theodore S., Herbert F. Anderson, and Edward Margolies—C. Hart	1,546
MARKS, Nathan, executor, &c.—R. Rothschild, costs	241
McDERMOTT, John—M. Singer, costs	90
PARSONS, William H. S.—L. N. Hershfield	241
PEABODY, Charles A., Jr.—J. W. Tracey	1,908
RENSON, Arnold A.—New York Telephone Company	49
STRAUCH, Morris—A. Seligman	136
STARCK, John C.—E. Fleischel	49
STANNARD, William E.—L. C. Baldwin	91
STRIPP, Matthew, Jr.—New Amsterdam Gas Company	43
TRAYNOR, Bernard—J. Haydock	66
THOMPSON, Francis J.—H. Wolf and another	37
KOSTER-BIAL COMPANY — The Cary Printing Company	50
THE MAYOR, &c.—James Slattery	1,527
WAGNER, Richard—New England Company	70
WOHLFAHRT, Carl — New Amsterdam Gas Company	52
WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURing Company—John S. Lesse	11
ZAGAT, Lena—New York Telephone Company	76
ZAHL, Morris—New Amsterdam Gas Company	45

The following judgments were entered against the City of New York: Louis Ettlinger, $4,227.54; T. Nugent, $116.25; H. Buckley, $229; G. Steiger, $205.50; C. Cummiskey, $324; W. Cleary, $233.50; J. McCarthy, $543; T. Leonard, $205.50; T. Follmer, $152; M. Lennon, $378.50; J. R. McKeon, $391; B. Murphy, $82.50; P. J. Whalen, $140; J. Fogarty, $329; E. F. Lyons, $141; Felix Smith, $602.50; J. McCarthy, $142; G. Campo, $485.50; T. Frost, $485; J. Cassidy, $402; M. Clark, $30.50; C. Friel, $293.50; T. Hartnett, $933.50; W. Barr, $135; T. Doyle, $183; W. Gannon, $144.25; M. O'Neill, as administratrix, $349.50; D. J. Sheehan, $89.96; P. Link, $206.50; P. J. McLarney, $398; J. Dillon, $253.10, Rose Kreiser, $281.17, and I. S. Heller, $2,402.69.

FEDERAL COURTS.

Calendar for Wednesday, Dec. 27.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—Brown, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. in Room 66, Post Office Building. In bankruptcy.

1570—In re V. Altman & Co.
——Beattys vs. Feldstein.
Discharges.
1620—Joseph Bernstein.
1681—A. & F. Pape.
1417—John T. Grayson.
1624—Julia Mayer.
1674—Frederick W. Meyer.

A Green Christmas

makes a white Easter. There will be at least three bitter months before Spring.

KOTEDSILK,

the ideal underwear, will carry you safely through them. It is warm as wool and lighter; unshrinkable, very soft and luxurious.

KOTEDSILK

On Every Garment.

KOTEDSILK UNDERWEAR CO., MILLBURY, MASS.
76 Leonard St., N. Y. City, and All Leading Stores.

Dodd, Mead & Company's Clearance Sale.

Previous to removal to our new building, Fifth Avenue and Thirty-fifth Street, on February 1st, we offer, with a few exceptions, our entire RETAIL STOCK at CLEARANCE PRICES.

New Books of the Day,
Books in Fine Bindings,
Rare Books,
Autograph Letters and Manuscripts, are all offered at decided reductions from our usual net prices.

Dodd, Mead & Co.,

Fifth Ave., Cor. 21st St., New York.

1591—Ed. C. Du Barry.
1563—Victor A. Wieder.
1691—Louis Green.
1765—Valere Braquhais.
1684—Pincoffs & Peters.
1671—Albert Hartog.
1636—Isaiah Sagin.
1688—John Schachter.
1685—Henry J. Perley.
1702—William C. Noble.
1545—Adolph Budwig.
1682—Isaacs Stern.
1703—William E. Marsh.
1231—Charles W. Leighton.
130—James MacNaughton.
132—Allan MacNaughton.
1689—M. L. R. Fancher.
1696—Ernest C. Hinck.
1677—Hays Brothers.
1680—Gustav Libling.
1694—Schwab Brothers. Discharges under objection.
1619—Bernard Weinberger.
257—Max Peller.
1504—Marks N. Rosanthal. Adjourned cases.
1554—Emanuel Finsterer.
1368—Rothschild Bros.
1561—Rosenstorer & Bercowitz.
1065—Lichtenstein Bros.
1606—Harris Abrams.
1471—Samuel Wolf. Adjourned motion.
1478—D. & A. Hirschberg.

STATE COURTS.

New York Calendars—This Day.

SUPREME COURT—Appellate Division—Recess.

SUPREME COURT—Appellate Term—For the hearing of appeals from City Court and Municipal Court.—Freedman, P. J.; MacLean and Leventritt, JJ.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Appeals from the Municipal Court.

61—Bristol vs. Hammacher.
62—Balleng vs. N. Y. & Cuba Mail SS. Co.
63—Nichols vs. Weil.
67—Connor vs. Lithauer.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part I.—Beekman, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Litigated motions.

1—Heller vs. Kearney.
2—In re Safety Third Rail Elec. Co.
3—Fleming vs. Stanton.
4—Met. Lumber Co. vs. Lawrence.
5—Whittock vs. Brogan.
6—Shongood vs. Speir.
7—Pierce vs. Van Nostrand.
8—Rofrano vs. B'klyn Lumber Co.
9—Wilson vs. Wilson.
10—Rogers vs. Romaine.
11—Sheppard vs. Sheppard.
12—Steinway vs. Steinway.
13—Sidenberg vs. Blumenthal.
14—Boylan vs. Cassin.
15—Fitzpatrick vs. Arthur Thorne Co.
16—Young vs. Lindblom.
17—Beaumont vs. Wahle.
18—Day vs. Lord.
19—Spofford vs. Pearsall.
20—Matter of Wright.
21—Schuck vs. Rogers.
22—Inter-State Adv. Co. vs. Peters.
23—Spero vs. Spero.
24—Post vs. Savage.
25—Moss vs. Wilson.
26—Alexander vs. Alexander.
27—Smith vs. Smith.
28—Warren vs. Reilly.
29—Seeger vs. Adler.
30—Matter of E. 164th St.
31—McCabe vs. Man. Rv
32—Smith vs. Stuart.
33—Neilson vs. Brown.
34—Guaranty Trust Co. vs. Birdseye.
35—Braker vs. McMorrow.
36—In re Forgay.
37—Hammond vs. Life Assn.
38—Cooke vs. Laughlin.
39—Am. Thread Co. vs. Feltner.
40—Acclos vs. Utica Paying Co.
41—In re Court House Site.
42—Buckler vs. McClenahan.
43—In re Angelora.
44—Winter vs. Ind. Order Ahawas Israel.
45—Danwoom vs. Mequin Restaurant & Wine Co.
46—Matter of Carpenter.
47—Sweeney vs. Isham.
48—McKee vs. Conkling.
49—Carr vs. Eidlitz.
50—Matter of Tauerilo.
51—N. Y. Life Ins. & Trust Co. vs. Cuthbert.
52—Bellows vs. Wolf.
53—Degen vs. Degen.
54—Roth vs. Kennedy.
55—Smith vs. Smith.
56—Angino vs. Ricciardi.
57—Ayer vs. Gill.
58—Litchburg R. R. vs. Dolan.
59—Simon vs. Tide Water Oil Co.
60—Madden vs. Robert Biel Syndicate.
61—Gribben vs. 2d Av. Ry.
62—Schnell vs. Krahuke.
63—Lendle vs. Robinson.
64—McCabe vs. Union Ry.
65—Hennesey vs. Goldberg.
66—People, &c., vs. Peck.
67—Altworth vs. Flynn.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part II.—Gildersleeve, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Ex-parte business.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part III.—Giegerich, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Calendar clear.
Divorces.
4338—Bernstein vs. Bernstein.
4367—Shay vs. Shay.
4156—Fischl vs. Fischl.
4363—Cohen vs. Cohen.
4340—Brave vs. Brave.
4343—Sarlabous vs. Sarlabous.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Parts IV., V., VI., VII., and VIII.—Adjourned for the term.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part I.—(Criminal Term.)—Fursman, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant District Attorneys McIntyre, Hennessy, and Schwarzkopf for the People.

1—William Neufeld.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part II.—McAdam, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Calendar clear. Preferred causes.
12035—Burras vs. Mayer.
8415—Simpkins vs. City of N. Y.
8416—Same vs. same.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Parts III., IV., V., VI., VII., VIII., X., XI., and XII. Adjourned for the term.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part IX. Adjourned until Dec. 28.

SURROGATE'S COURT—Chambers—Fitzgerald, S.—Wills for probate at 10:30 A. M.

John O'Brien,
Hannhan W. Barry,
Elizabeth M. Shane,
William McEntee,
Johann P. Herlich,
George Stone,
Henry Boss,
Elise Keller,
Charles F. Dunn,
Sadie K. Wright,
Henry A. Landgraff,
James M. Harned,
Nellie P. Winston.
At 11 A. M.
Henri Ponjol.

SURROGATE'S COURT—Trial Term—Held in Surrogate's Court, Trial Term, Ground Floor, in County Court House.—Arnum, S.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Estate of James Philip.

CITY COURT—General Term—Adjourned sine die.

CITY COURT—Special Term—Schuchman, J.—Opens at 10 A. M. Held in Brownstone Building. (Chambers Street.) Motions must be made returnable at 10:30 A. M. Defaults on motions will be taken at 11 A. M.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Parts I., II., III., and IV. Adjourned for the term.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES.

$2,000 TO $8,000.—Partner to take entire charge in New York; owner lives in country; business established 12 years; books shown; investigate. STANYNOUGET, Iselin, N. J. Don't call Sunday.

A CLEAN, SAFE, PROFITABLE BUSINESS, with plant, needs $5,000 additional capital and services. DUPLEX, Box 190 Times Office.

DRY GOODS.

FACTS TO REMEMBER.—The Gants Duchess, Albert, or Lavalliere are glove perfection. Our Parisian Jewelry has no equal. Our Perfumes cannot be found elsewhere. Our corsets unbreakable and most pleasant to wear. JAMMES, 4 West 37th St., near 5th Av.

FURNISHED ROOMS.

12TH ST., 248 WEST.—Beautiful large front room, he

The New York Times.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 27, 1899.

OFFICES:

NEW YORK:
Publication Office.....41 Park Row
All American District Telegraph Offices.
WASHINGTON.....515 Fourteenth St.
LONDON: Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Sq., W.C.
SWITZERLAND, Geneva: P. Drehmann, Librairie Nouvelle, Rue du Mont Blanc.
GERMANY, Mainz: Saarbach's News Agency, Agency for Germany and Austria.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY, per Month	$0.50
DAILY, per Year	6.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Year	7.50
SUNDAY, per Year	1.50
SATURDAY, with Review of Books and Art, per Year	1.00
MONDAY, with Financial Supplement, per Year	1.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Month	0.65

For postage to foreign countries add 80 cents per month.

TWELVE PAGES.

A SHORT SESSION!

The theory of the majority leaders that they will have a short session of the Legislature this year is very unlikely to be carried out.

Undoubtedly they would prefer a short session, for the simple reason that they cannot do what they wish and they do not care to do what in some important matters the Governor wishes done. They can control the majority of the Assembly and could control that of the Senate also if they were left to their own devices, but in addition they must reckon with the Governor, and that promises to be a difficult and doubtful task. In these circumstances they would be quite content to avoid any open breach, get through as soon as possible, and maintain the outward seeming of the influence which it is their interest as well as their pride to foster. They also desire to go to the people in the coming elections with only the National issues in dispute. They have every reason to think that they are quite safe as to these. Ordinarily they would regard that fact as giving them license to take their own will in State matters, relying on the excitement of a favorable National election to carry them. Here again the Governor stands in their way, and as they cannot get their schemes past him and get them under the shelter of the National ticket they will prefer to lie low and see what advantage they can pluck from the situation next Winter. A short session would suit them best.

But it is not by any means certain that they can consult their own preferences. There are some matters coming up as to which the policy of "Bre'r Rabbit" may not work. Very early in the session, for instance, the question of a successor to Mr. PAYN will have to be met. It is plain that the Governor will not reappoint him and that Mr. PAYN will not submit to what is practically dismissal without resistance. He has announced that he will fight the appointment of any one in his place, and, though he can hardly hope to force his own appointment, he will struggle for a compromise that will show that he is not without some influence. In this he will claim the aid of the machine, and he has many resources not known to the public to back the claim. It is announced that the machine has decided to keep its hands off and give support neither to PAYN nor to the Governor. That is more easily said than done, and in any case it would tend to prolong the contest. The Governor can make no compromise and will make none. He will name a fit man and no other, and in the end the machine will have to support him or take the odium of continuing the shameful presence of PAYN in the Insurance Department.

There are legislative matters also that will tend to delay. The machine wants some "emergency" amendments to the charter. They are pretty sure to be designed for purely partisan purposes; they are not sure to suit the Governor, and they may well excite a popular agitation to which the Governor, if not the machine, will pay heed. The one department of the City Government as to which there is imperative need of change is the police, and as to this the schemes of the machine are wholly opposed to the best sentiment and to the interests of the city. If anything is undertaken to forward these there will be stubborn resistance. Then there is to be the report of the commission as to changes in the system of taxation of which Senator STRANAHAN is the head. If legislation is attempted on this subject there is bound to be much time consumed. The interests involved are too numerous and conflicting to permit rapid action, and it is not a question as to which the machine can afford to exert too much pressure.

Taking all things into consideration, the session is not likely to be very short.

THE DEFICIENCY OF SUBALTERNS.

It is not surprising to learn that a difference of opinion exists between Gen. MILES and Gen. CORBIN upon a question relating to the efficiency of the army. Such differences between the General commanding the army and the Generals commanding bureaus of the War Department have been frequent and have become painfully public within the last two years. There was one, which the public is not likely to forget very soon, between Gen. MILES and Gen. EAGAN.

In any such controversy the General commanding the army is entitled to have it borne in mind that the line of the army, which he commands and represents, has been covering itself with glory during these months, while the staff, which his antagonists represent, has been covering itself with something very different. The present controversy arises out of the fact that there is an admitted shortage of junior officers for the actual needs of the army. Gen. MILES, as we understand it, urges the supply of this demand by the premature graduation of the senior class at West Point, graduating its members, that is to say, in February instead of June, and assigning them immediately to duty. The proposition favored by the Adjutant General, on the other hand, is that the vacancies shall be filled at once, by appointment from civil life, and that the cadets in the senior class at the academy shall, upon their graduation and assignment, become junior to the civilians who are to receive commissions in the meantime. In considering these opposed propositions it is to be borne in mind that neither Gen. MILES nor Gen. CORBIN is a West Pointer.

We should say that there could be no doubt about the position which the Secretary of War would take in a controversy like this. No juster or more generous eulogy on the Military Academy has ever been made than that which Mr. ROOT has given to it in his first report. It may be owned freely and thankfully that the appointment to the new regiments made last year from civil life were very far better than anybody expected or had reason to expect. But to acknowledge this is not to acknowledge that any such test of fitness had been or could be applied to the appointees as is furnished by the fact of having survived, with credit, a "competitive examination" of three years and a half at the Military Academy. If we need more young officers, as it is not disputed that we do, then clearly the place from which to take them first is the place which we maintain for the express purpose of a nursery of officers. To prefer the claims of untried and unexamined civilians to theirs would be an indignity to the cadets, an injury to the service, and a discredit to the Administration.

GEN. GATACRE'S PROCLAMATION.

It is not wonderful that Gen. GATACRE'S order should already have been likened to the procedures of Gen. WEYLER in Cuba and the Dutch farmers whom it affects be described as "reconcentrados." In one way the comparison is most unjust to the British commander. The Spanish General "concentrated" the natives of Cuba to prevent them from acting against him or from giving information to his enemies. But he concentrated them also with the intention, in the legal sense in which a man is held to intend the consequences of his own acts, of starving them to death. At least he gave himself no concern about what was to happen to them after he had deprived them of the opportunity to earn their livings. For this offense he was justly denounced as an atrocious and monstrous criminal and a disgrace to the nation which allowed him to represent it. We need be in no fear that any such results will follow the order of Gen. GATACRE or that non-combatants will be allowed to starve to death within the jurisdiction of a British commander.

But in another respect the analogy is disagreeably close. The proclamation is an announcement that the rural population of a territory which has been under British rule, in all cases for a third of a century, and in some for much more, is so hostile to that rule that it must be forcibly prevented from giving aid and comfort to the enemies of Great Britain. It is meant to minimize the military mischief of the opposition of the Boers of Cape Colony to the British Government. No fault can be found with it. But very just fault can be found with the policy that has produced it. The British Government is to blame for having done nothing to mitigate the political mischiefs of the Dutch disaffection in South Africa, which it almost seems to have stimulated. The military result is seen in the actions that have rendered Gen. GATACRE'S order necessary. The political results are likely far to outlast the life of any man now living.

DELAGOA BAY AND CONTRABAND OF WAR

We set forth yesterday the peculiar hardships and difficulties under which Great Britain labors in the present war by reason of the Portuguese ownership of Delagoa Bay. The "hinterland" of that piece of water is the South African Republic. If the owners of the hinterland and beneficiaries of the port were also the owners of the port, a blockade of it would already have been established and become effective. But because the port is Portuguese and not Boer, the Boers derive from it advantages which they could not obtain if it were their own property.

As to the immediate question with which we are concerned, "the wisdom of our ancestors" has already provided for the settlement of that, without any international friction. The question is whether the seizures of several cargoes of flour belonging to American shippers, shipped for Delagoa Bay, and suspected to be intended for the use of the Boers, is internationally legal, and, if not, what is our remedy. It is precisely this question which the wisdom of our ancestors has settled in advance. The pretension of Great Britain, then at war with France, to seize provisions on the high seas and to hold them as contraband of war, came, during WASHINGTON'S second Administration, near to becoming "a burning question" between us and Great Britain, and Mr. JEFFERSON, as Secretary of State, had occasion to expound, in his usual rather philosophical than legal manner, the American contention. "If," he exclaimed to our Minister at London, "if, by a circuit of construction, food can be universally ranked among military engines, what article, to which human comfort can be traced, is not to be registered as contraband?" This was in May, 1794, and perhaps to his eloquent insistence may be traced the pertinent provision of the treaty of November, in the same year, which defines contraband of war, and makes the immediately pertinent exception. The definition includes only arms, ammunition, and materials for shipbuilding, as shipbuilding then was. It is the next clause that is pertinent to the present occasion:

> And whereas the difficulty of agreeing on the precise cases in which provisions and other articles not generally contraband may be regarded as such, renders it expedient to provide against the inconveniences and misunderstandings which might thereby arise: It is further agreed that, whenever any such articles so becoming contraband, according to the existing laws of nations, shall be seized, the same shall not be confiscated, but the owners thereof shall be speedily and completely indemnified, and the captors, or, in their default, the Government under whose authority they act, shall pay to the masters or owners of such vessels the full value of all such articles, with a reasonable mercantile profit thereon, together with the freight, and also the demurrage incident to such detention.

It will be seen that this clause of the treaty of 1794, negotiated on our side by JOHN JAY, not only disposes of any questions which may arise out of the seizure of American flour in, or just outside of, Delagoa Bay, but, and more properly, prevents any such difficulty from arising. The British view of the British interest in the matter may be questionable, though that is no business of ours. There is no question that we have disabled ourselves from denying the right of Great Britain to act on her own view of her own interest, at her own risk and expense.

SOCIALISM VS. ANARCHY IN FRANCE.

Not only has individual opinion in France been made a subject for universal applause or contempt through the cause célèbre which has agitated that country for the last two years, but the problems which have grown out of the question of justice to the individual have forced the political parties of the republic to dissolve and to reorganize themselves within definite and conspicuous lines. Declarations of principles of the new groups formed arouse the same emotions of respect or of disgust that were respectively invoked by a Zola, a Picquart, a Labori, or by a Brunetière, a Mercier, a Tézenas. The sittings of the Senatorial High Court of Justice have demonstrated in no doubtful language the pernicious, even treasonable, rules of action of both Royalists and Nationalists. But more important still have been the declarations of the two factions of the Socialist Party in the Socialist Congress just held in Paris.

It must not be forgotten that, at the beginning, the large majority of the Socialists adopted the Dreyfus cause solely as a party policy. On two memorable occasions the Socialist Deputies, uniting with the moderate Republicans, saved a revisionist Cabinet from overthrow if not the Government from a revolution. But the question of individual justice which had brought about the union soon grew into the far graver question of defending the republic as the established form of government.

At this point the rupture among the Socialists became manifest. They had applauded M. JAURÈS for the great sacrifices that he made in advocating the justice of the Dreyfus cause, but a large majority condemned him when he declined to make party capital out of his action. They reviled him when he placed the defense of the republic above party policy just as they reviled M. MILLERAND when he sacrificed legislative ambition to become a member of the Cabinet of "republican defense." They betrayed the real motive which had governed their action in the Dreyfus case when they rushed to enroll themselves under the red flag of M. GUESDE.

The Socialist Congress just ended has established beyond all question the lofty principles that have governed the actions of MM. JAURÈS and MILLERAND, just as it has revealed the principles of the followers of M. GUESDE, which are obviously as treasonable as those of DÉROULÈDE, GUÉRIN, or the DUC D'ORLÉANS. Finding that the Socialist Minister of Commerce would not betray his trust, the congress, by a vote of 818 to 634, declared that he, a Socialist, had no right to accept a portfolio in a bourgeois Cabinet. While another vote, 1,140 to 245, proclaimed GUESDE'S crafty policy to prostitute the republic to the Socialist propaganda by declaring that "in certain exceptional circumstances the Socialist Party may consider the question whether a delegate should be sent to sit in a bourgeois Ministry." The contradictory nature of the two ballots may be explained on the ground that the significance of the resolution which called forth the second was not interpreted in the same manner by the opposing factions, whose actual forces are designated by the first vote.

The line of separation in the Socialist camp is now clearly demarked. The breach is irrevocable and absolute. On one side you have the formative elements of a parliamentary party of law and order which draws, and will continue to draw with increasing strength, its vital force from the honest and industrious workingmen of France. On the other, you have the most dangerous elements of society dictated to by a revolutionist demagogue who gathers his inspiration from the gutters of Paris. And it is with considerable satisfaction that we note that the parliamentary Socialists have succeeded in maintaining their integrity, for it is to their legislative representatives and to their republican allies in the Chamber that the destinies of France will for some time be confided.

It is evident that the Mazet committee and especialy its Chairman is vexed at the report of Mr. MOSS, and everything possible is being done to belittle it. In this the committee has the sympathy and coöperation of Mr. PLATT, who ostentatiously declares that he has not read the report, and that no action will be based on it. Yet, though the report is one-sided and inadequate, as we have pointed out, it will bother Mr. MAZET or any one else connected with the committee to produce a better one. However defective the qualification of Mr. MOSS, the committee is no improvement on him. MAZET is more of a partisan, more under the influence of PLATT, has less courage and less ability. If Mr. PLATT is to rely on a report from Mr. MAZET to justify "emergency" tinkering of the charter, he will find him pretty poor reliance. The whole recent history of the committee and its work seems to indicate that it was quietly asphyxiated by Mr. PLATT, who intended that its decease should not attract attention. With this scheme Mr. MOSS has interfered, and his interference is not welcomed.

The selection of Col. EDWARD M. HOFFMAN as the successor of Gen. ANDREWS in the office of Adjutant General is on the same high level as the other appointments made by the Governor in connection with the military service of the State. Col. HOFFMAN has been in close sympathy with the change in the military administration by which the staff organization was introduced and has had an important part in connection with it. He enjoys the entire confidence of the Governor and of the present Adjutant General, and of the National Guard generally. It is needless to say that the appointment has in it only that kind of politics which results in the good of the service; of partisanship there is not a trace, any more than there was in the selection of Gen. ANDREWS or in the administration of his office. Under the present system the National Guard is rapidly reaching an unusual standard of efficiency, and the improvement will be permanent and progressive.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

—Natural as it was for those upon whom devolved the duty of preaching Christmas sermons to mourn the existence of wars at a season when above all others men should dwell together in loving harmony, it still may fairly be remarked that the situation is far from as discouraging as it might be. True, deadly conflicts are going on in South Africa and the Philippines, but they are both out-of-the-way corners of the world, and the forces in arms, as compared with the rest of humanity, are close to microscopic. The conflicts of both the recent and the remote past were on a vastly larger scale. Nowadays, however, the minutest details of every little skirmish are brought to everybody's attention, and innumerable non-combatants acquire an intimate knowledge of the horrors of battle once confined to members of the military caste. All this makes for ultimate universal peace, of course, and therefore is a most excellent thing, but it also leads to not a little unnecessary despair and to much lamentation containing a considerable element of involuntary exaggeration.

—Such of the innumerable readers of "David Harum" as have not yet forgotten that peculiar book may get a new appreciation of its humor from a few passages of a letter written by its author soon after his return from Europe in 1895. "My itinerary," wrote Mr. WESTCOTT, "was a short one—shorter than I intended when I left home, for I expected at least to go to England, but when it came to the point I was too much out of sorts to undertake the journey. In fact, pretty much all of the time I was abroad I was half sick, and much of the time more than that, and while I am at present very much better in my general condition than when I started out I do not find that I have been as much benefited as I hoped to be." Bad weather combined with loneliness to increase the invalid's woes, and he says that "on the whole I had a pretty dull time of it." He continues: "I was under the doctor's care all the time in Rome, though not confined, and he kept me so long that my plans were considerably curtailed. I was quite alone there, and almost wholly without acquaintances, so that a good part of every day hung pretty heavily on my hands. Novels were my chief resource. I could manage three or four hours in the morning among the relics of the past, but the mind which is nourished exclusively on forums, amphitheatres, triumphal arches, holy families, descents from the cross, entombments, Virgin Marys, saints and martyrs in general, catacombs, bones, old clothes, and ancient history, gets dyspeptic after a long course of that sort of thing, and has trouble to keep it on its stomach. I hope I am not more Philistine than the majority, but I was glad to have done with it, and turn my face toward home." This letter is preserved as a treasure beyond price by Mr. CHARLES R. BELDEN of Hartford, who made Mr. WESTCOTT'S acquaintance on the steamer that carried them both to Italy.

NUGGETS.

His Style.

Bacon—You say your son at college writes a bold hand?

Egbert—I should say so. He's just written for $150 more.—Yonkers Statesman.

Unendurable.

Mrs. Buggins—Why did you move in from the country? Did you find it too lonesome?

Mrs. Muggins—Yes; there wasn't even anybody to inquire how much we paid our cook.—Philadelphia Record.

Indorsed by the Gallery.

"Aha!" exclaimed the heavy villain, "the plot thickens."

"It's about time," remarked the occupant of the gallery; "it's been pretty thin so far."—Philadelphia Record.

His Work Unsatisfactory.

"Did you ever get the money D'Auber owed you?"

"No. He wanted to square accounts by painting my house inside and out."

"Well, that would have evened things up. Why didn't you let him?"

"I was going to until I saw one of his pictures."—Philadelphia Press.

FORTY BELOW.

From The Bismarck Tribune.

Just pity the housholder who Must suffer now a thing or two;
He rises up from bed at dawn
And hastes his frosted garments on
His shivering frame; his fingers blows
That he may button up his clothes,
And seeks to bathe—but nothing flows
From the pitcher—the water's froze.

Then swears he just a little swear
And stumbles down the frosty stair,
Down sinks upon his frosted knees
And blows in vain an icy breeze
When he would start the kitchen fire,
But makes no blaze; in haste and ire
To get the kerosene he goes
But finds, alas! the oil is froze.

Dear, dear! 'Twould drive a man to drink.
He thinks a kindly nip or wink
From the decanter might warm up
The inner man. He gets a cup,
Unto the sideboard moves in haste
And turns the jug with care, lest waste
Ensue, and turns and turns—naught flows,
He finds again the liquor's froze.

Now see, with anger in his heart
Again he seeks the fire to start.
He whittles shavings nice and fine
And lays them in symmetric line,
From out his pocket brings a match,
Essays in vain to scratch and scratch.
His stiffened fingers then he blows
To warm—and finds his breath is froze.

He leaps into the air and seeks
To swear—the frosty floor but squeaks.
Tho' opened wide his mouth, no word
Or sound or utterance can be heard.
He waves his arms and stamps the floor,
And leaps and waves and stamps once more,
So wild his anger, for he knows,
He cannot swear—his voice is froze.

DWIGHT L. MOODY BURIED

Services Were Held in His Former Home and Church.

VILLAGERS VIEW THE BODY

File Past the Coffin Before It Is Removed to Round Top—New Yorkers Participate.

EAST NORTHFIELD, Mass., Dec. 26.—The funeral services in memory of Dwight L. Moody were held at the Congregational Church here at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The Rev. Dr. C. I. Scofield officiated, assisted by the Rev. R. A. Torrey of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, and appropriate music was sung by the choir of the church and the Mount Hermon male quartet, which has assisted Mr. Moody in the work here during the last two years.

The body was borne to Round Top, a historic spot upon the grounds of the institute, for burial. At the grave a hymn was sung, the Rev. Mr. Torrey offered prayer, and Dr. Scofield pronounced a benediction.

Northfield presented little of the aspect of Winter this morning, when the sun came out clear and a gentle breeze floated across the hills. Preparations had been made at the Moody household for an early service to precede the removal of Mr. Moody's body to the church, where it was to lie in state for several hours before the public funeral.

At 9 o'clock, in the presence of the immediate family and relatives, the Rev. Dr. Scofield read selections from the Scriptures and the Rev. Mr. Torrey offered prayer. Mr. Scofield's selection was the Ninetieth Psalm and several verses from the fourth chapter of Thessalonians. He made no comments. Mr. Torrey's prayer followed the reading of the Scripture and concluded the service.

The friends then viewed the body, the family being permitted to spend some time alone with it.

When the family had withdrawn, the corpse, which had been permitted to remain upon a leathern couch, was placed in the casket. This receptacle was of simple design, black, covered, and open at full length. The body was borne to the church on an oblong, black-covered bier, by about forty students from the Northfield Institute, who had been designated as bearers. The bier, carried by the students, followed Dr. Scofield and Mr. Torrey, and behind it, two by two, came the following honorary pall bearers: Ira D. Sankey and George C. Stebbins of Brooklyn, R. C. Morse and D. W. McWilliams of New York, the Rev. W. J. Herdman and the Rev. George C. Needham of Philadelphia.

At the church the body was placed in front of the pulpit and the lid of the casket was removed, showing a spray of palm and ivy extending from the feet to the breast. A large number of villagers and visitors then began to file past the body.

The service opened with the hymn "A Little While," by the choir of 150 students. An invocation was followed by Scripture lesson, read by the Rev. A. F. Pierson of Brooklyn. After praver the Mount Hermon quartet sang "Emmanuel's Land." The Rev. Dr. Scofield then delivered the eulogy, in which he gave an estimate of the man and his work, and made extended reference to the source of his greatness. The Rev. R. A. Torrey followed Dr. Scofield. Mr. Torrey's eulogy was based upon Mr. Moody's life as exemplifying the grace of God.

Following Mr. Torrey remarks were made by the Rev. H. G. Weston of Crozier Theological Seminary, Chester, Penn.; the Rev. A. T. Pierson of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Bishop Mallalieu of Boston, and the Rev. J. W. Chapman of New York. The exercises at the church closed with the hymn "When Morning Gilds the Sky" by the chorus.

The body was then carried to the burial place at Round Top. The chorus sang "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and after prayer and a benediction, the body was lowered to its resting place.

IN MEMORY OF MR. MOODY.

Well-Known Clergymen Eulogize Him at Calvary Baptist Church — Message of Sympathy to His Wife.

Calvary Baptist Church, in West Fifty-seventh Street, was well filled yesterday afternoon at a memorial meeting for Dwight L. Moody, which started at 2:30 o'clock and went on simultaneously with the funeral services for the famous evangelist, which were being held at Northfield, Mass. The church pulpit contained a large body of clergymen. The associate pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr Frank R. Morse, presided. Chopin's Funeral March was played on the organ as a prelude to the service, and then the Rev. G. S. Avery offered a prayer. Dr. Morse, who followed him, said:

"Mr. Moody was a many-sided man—a man of pronounced individuality and marked versatility. Had he been a business man, he would have achieved great success. Had he been a General, he would have led an army to victory. I dare say that not a man in this country knew the English Scriptures better than he."

The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Robert S. MacArthur, was then called and said:

"Mr. Moody's evangelism marks an era in evangelistic work in this country and England. Mr. Moody was never ordained by man, but he was ordained by God to be a winner of souls and a comforter of saints.

"Mr. Moody employed the gentler side of Christianity. He did not hesitate to knock at the door of fear to reach the human heart, but how he loved to knock at the door of love! His mission was one of declaration rather than argument. Mr. Moody's great work was his educational work at Northfield. There he has built his most enduring monument."

Dr. Morse next introduced D. E. Yarnell, who read the text of a telegram of sympathy which was sent from the memorial meeting to Mrs. Moody and the friends and relatives at Northfield. It quoted Revelation xiv., 13, which says, "Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord."

James Stokes, for many years a personal friend of Mr. Moody, was then introduced, and told many incidents of the evangelist's life.

The Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth Church of Brooklyn, then delivered a eulogy of Moody, whom he classed as the greatest evangelist of modern times. He declared that in Moody the unchurched multitudes had lost their best friend. He also drew attention to Moody's versatility—the contrast in his various activities.

"The history of no self-made man in this country was as remarkable as his," said he. "He never entered a college. He never saw the inside of a theological seminary. Thank God for both facts! But he was acquainted in a wonderful way with the method of bringing Christ's message straight home to the hearts of the people."

The Rev. Dr. James H. Hoadley of the Faith Presbyterian Church, the next speaker, referred to Moody's potent influence over educated men. He also said: "I suppose that more people have been led to accept Christ as their personal Saviour by Moody than by any other man since St. Paul."

James Talcott of this city also spoke briefly. When he had concluded Dr. Morse said he thought a movement would be started looking to the endowment of the school Moody founded at Mount Hermon, as a memorial to him, and that if it were Mr. Talcott would be among the first to take hold of the work.

Another Moody Memorial Service.

A Moody memorial service will be held to-morrow night in Metropolitan Temple, Seventh Avenue and Fourteenth Street. Drs. Cadman and Belcher of the parish and many other preachers will take part in the service. Evangelists William Phillips Hall and Radcliffe and a number of prominent laymen will also speak. Arrangements will be made for an overflow meeting.

NEW BUILDINGS FOR YALE.

The Misses Stokes Provide Funds for an Administration Hall.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 26.—The Yale Corporation held a meeting here this afternoon. Edward D. Robbins of Hartford was elected Professor of Jurisprudence, to succeed Prof. Morris F. Tyler, the new university Treasurer.

Plans for proposed new buildings were accepted and a Building Committee was instructed to begin the work of building an auditorium, a memorial vestibule, and a dining hall as soon as the funds permit.

It was also announced that the Misses Olivia Phelps Stokes and Carrie Phelps Stokes of New York, aunts of Anson Phelps Stokes, Secretary of the corporation, have provided funds for the erection of a new administration building, to take the place of the present treasury building.

FRENCH CONSPIRACY CASES.

Prosecutor Begins His Closing Argument—Six Prisoners Freed—Turmoil in the Court.

PARIS, Dec. 26.—The Public Prosecutor this afternoon began his closing speech before the Senate High Court in the conspiracy cases. He reviewed the evidence, which, he said, showed the conspiracy was more dangerous "than when the Comte de Paris so forgot the traditions of his family as to join hands with Gen. Boulanger." This evoked noisy protests from the audience and the accused. M. Jules Guerin called upon the President of the Court, M. Fallières, not to permit the Prosecutor to indulge in such "insulting remarks," but the Prosecutor continued, saying that the same men who conspired ten years ago had again plotted to overthrow the republic. The Comte de Paris, he added, was dead, but the Duc d'Orléans pursued the same system.

The remarks of the Prosecutor were soon drowned by the vehement interruptions of the prisoners. M. Fallières, for a time, faintly rang his bell to restore order, and eventually the Prosecutor was heard to declare that he had decided, owing to want of evidence, to abandon the prosecution of six of the prisoners, MM. Chevilly, Frenchon-Court, Brunet, Cailly, Bourmont, and Balliére. He then recapitulated the story of the anti-Republican machinations of the Duc d'Orléans and his agent, M. Buffet. The latter violently protested and an uproar ensued, many of the Senators demanding M. Buffet's expulsion.

Three of the prisoners, MM. Cailly, Brunet, and Jules Guerin, then successively shouted that if M. Buffet was expelled from the sessions they also wished to be expelled. A perfect pandemonium resulted. Finally the court, in secret session, decided to expel MM. Buffet and Cailly until their counsels' speech for the defense.

CHANCES OF GERMAN SUGAR.

Dr. Paasche Says Beet Product Will Be Driven Out of America Unless Tariff Is Changed.

BERLIN, Dec. 26.—Dr. Paasche, leader of the National Liberals in the Reichstag, has just returned from a four months' trip in the United States, Cuba, and the West Indies. The trip was undertaken for the united German sugar interests, the object of Dr. Paasche being to study thoroughly what prospects cane sugar had in the regions through which he passed of successfully competing with German beet sugar under the existing American tariff.

In the course of an interview to-day, he expressed the opinion that German sugar would be driven out of the United States market within three years unless the United States grants better terms than the present tariff. He will fully discuss the matter in the Reichstag and will also publish a book on the subject.

Dr. Paasche, who says he greatly enjoyed his experiences in the Western World, and speaks enthusiastically of the "phenomenal prosperity everywhere apparent in the United States," believes a way will be found to effect a commercial treaty with the United States which will be beneficial to both countries.

GERMANY GIVES UP ST. THOMAS.

Abandons All Idea of Acquiring the Danish West Indies.

BERLIN, Dec. 26.—The German Government has definitely abandoned all idea of acquiring the Danish West Indies, either by purchase from Denmark or otherwise. This information was received from an authoritative source to-day. The German Embassy in Washington has left no doubt that any such attempt would be looked upon by the Americans as an unfriendly act and as a serious infringement of the Monroe Doctrine.

According to the same authority, the reports representing that Denmark is negotiating to sell the islands to the United States are either entirely premature or without foundation.

FRENCH STRIKERS ARE QUIET.

The Cabinet Will Try to Prevent Shortage of Coal Supply.

ST. ETIENNE, France, Dec. 26.—The coal miners are calm to-day, but the mines are guarded by troops. Only 25 per cent. of the miners descended into the pits to-day. The lace workers held a meeting this morning and resolved to continue the strike.

PARIS, Dec. 26.—The Cabinet Council held to-day at the Elysée Palace discussed the St. Etienne strike. The Premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, and the Minister of Public Works, M. Baudin, announced that measures would be taken to prevent a serious shortage of the coal supply.

Germany Will Have Armored Trains.

BERLIN, Dec. 26.—Armored trains will hereafter be a regular feature of German war equipment. Extensive experiments have been made on the military railroad line from Schoeneberg to Kunersdorf. Various types of plated trains have been used, all made at Krupp's works. It has been found that a light-armored train, with an armored car before the engine, in which a machine gun is placed, adjustable for firing in three directions, is the most available type. These cars are open at the top.

Berlin's Accumulator Cars a Failure.

BERLIN, Dec. 26.—There has been another heavy snowfall in Germany to-day, and street traffic is greatly impeded. One lesson from the severe snows of the last two weeks is that the accumulator electric car system is a failure. The Berlin lines will substitute overhead wires.

MEXICO AND CHINA AGREE.

Representatives of the Countries Sign a Trade and Immigration Treaty at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The negotiations which have been in progress for some time between China and Mexico for a general treaty of trade, navigation, and immigration have been brought to a successful conclusion here, and the formal signing of the document was completed at the Mexican Embassy, Señor Aspiroz, the Mexican Ambassador, signing for his country, and Minister Wu Ting Fang for China. The ceremony was witnessed by the staffs of the Mexican Embassy and the Chinese Legation, and was followed by hearty felicitations on both sides, as this is the first treaty ever entered into between the countries.

Three copies of the instrument were executed, one in Chinese, one in Spanish, and a third in English. This is a departure in diplomatic usage, as the extra copy is usually in French, that being the recognized language of diplomacy. In this case, however, it was determined that English should be the official text for determining any differences of construction between the other texts.

The main feature of the treaty is in establishing official relations between China and Mexico for the first time, thus giving promise of development of trade relations between them. Each side is given favored-nation treatment in the matter of imports, and Mexico is to have "extra-territoriality" in China, the same as other first-class powers. Immigration of the citizens of the two countries is left unhampered, and under this provision it is expected that the latent resources of Mexico will be developed by Chinese labor.

The signed copies of the treaty have now been forwarded to China and Mexico for ratification.

COL. J. K. RICKEY'S SON MISSING.

Disappears from San Francisco and Cannot Be Found.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—Friends of H. W. Rickey, son of J. K. Rickey of New York, and St. Louis, are anxious to discover his whereabouts. He was a guest at the Palace Hotel for a short time this month and left there to go to a sanitarium to undergo a surgical operation. He has not been seen or heard from for ten days.

Col. Rickey was seen yesterday afternoon and said that his son was twenty-four years old and that four months ago he went West to look after some mining interests. About three weeks ago he was thrown from a horse and was somewhat injured. He then went to San Francisco and told some of his friends that he was going to a sanitarium to be treated. He suddenly disappeared, but Col. Rickey said that he did not worry in the least, as he thought he was probably enjoying himself in some unknown place.

Col. Rickey denied the report that his son injured his head in the fall from his horse, and said that he was as well as ever.

REPORT ON STATE MILITIA

Adjt. Gen. Andrews Comments on Its Condition.

CHANGES IN THE STAFF SYSTEM

Present Plan Is New in This Country, but Is Generally Used in Europe.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Dec. 26.—Adjt. Gen. Avery D. Andrews, whose resignation has recently been placed in Gov. Roosevelt's hands, has just completed his annual report. It is embodied in a seventeen-page pamphlet, and tells of the reorganization which has been effected in the past in certain branches of the National Guard, the lessons taught by the Spanish war, the conditions of the present equipment, the amount of practical instruction obtained, and the constitution of the present State militia.

The Governor's staff, which a year ago was composed of fifty-seven commissioned officers, now comprises ten, not counting ten others detailed from the line as aides, whose offices do not detract from the performance of their duties to their own organizations.

Continuing, Gen. Andrews says:

The system of staff administration adopted by the State of New York, while entirely new in this country, bears a general similarity to the staff organization of many of the armies of Europe, there known as the General Staff. The Adjutant General, as Chief of Staff to the Commander in Chief, becomes the directing agency, not only of the line but of the staff, thus insuring harmony and co-ordination of action.

Under the Military Code the Major General commands the National Guard and the Captain commands the Naval Militia, and to them and to their subordinate commanders has been given the fullest authority and the most cordial support in all matters relating to the drill, instruction, discipline, and command of their troops; while to their staffs and to the staffs of the various brigades and regiments have been assigned the duties relating to thir various positions.

The National Guard at this time consists of fifteen regiments and five battalions of infantry, four troops of cavalry organized into a squadron of three troops, and one separate troop, four batteries of light artillery, and four mounted signal corps. These are organized into five brigades, each commanded by a Brigadier General, and the whole under the command of a Major General. The organization closely resembles that of a division. The separate companies throughout the State (with the exception of the Seventeenth at Flushing) have been organized into battalions and regiments, with headquarters in convenient localities.

The Naval Militia consists of two battalions and one separate naval division, all under the command of a Captain.

Referring to the use of the State militia as a reserve force in the time of National wars, Gen. Andrews says:

A regularly organized United States reserve wholly independent of State control and consisting of one or two regiments in the larger States, and a regiment or battalion in the smaller States, enrolled, organized, equipped, drilled, and commanded by United States officers, would afford the most efficient and readily available reserve. In the absence of such a reserve, the choice naturally turns to the organized State troops. There is ample reason for continuing the organization, inspection, and discipline of State troops for State purposes. If, however, they are to be called out for foreign service either directly or indirectly it is only fair and proper that such conditions should be made known, and that officers and men entering the National Guard should understand distinctly the nature of the service which they may be called upon to render, and that they should be organized and equipped accordingly.

In the matter of arms, Gen. Andrews believes that from all standpoints the National Guard should use the same rifle as the regulars, and hopes that in a comparatively short time the Government will be in a position to exchange the Springfields for the Krag-Jorgensens.

The State camp ground at Peekskill, the General thinks, has become almost useless for purposes of instruction. It will serve well enough as a headquarters, but "practical instruction in camping, marching, cooking, sanitation, outposts, and field exercise over rough country should hereafter be provided."

The publication of the civil war records of the New York State troops has progressed, but the completion of the work is still many years ahead. Work upon the records of the Spanish war veterans has been commenced, and will be finished in a short time.

In closing, Gen. Andrews points out the unreasonableness of a comparison of the State force with the regulars, and comments upon the excellent state of discipline and instruction generally prevailing in the National Guard and Naval Militia. The line and staff organization he considers "far superior to that of the United States or of any other State of the Union."

The total strength of the National Guard on Sept. 30, 1899, was 14,287, and the Naval Militia was 759, making a total of 15,046, as compared with 14,429 on the same date in 1897, and 13,815 on the same date in 1896.

THE NEW ADJUTANT GENERAL.

Gov. Roosevelt Appoints Gen. E. M. Hoffman, Now Inspector of Small Arms and Equipments.

ALBANY, Dec. 26.—The Governor has appointed Edward Morris Hoffman of Elmira, now Inspector of Small Arms and Equipments in the National Guard, to be Adjutant General, to succeed Avery D. Andrews, resigned. The rank given is that of Brigadier General, a rank that Gen. Hoffman once held under Gov. Black.

Gen. Hoffman's record is as follows: Private Company D, One Hundred and Tenth Battalion, Oct. 1, 1874; Second Lieutenant, April 7, 1877; First Lieutenant Thirtieth Separate Company, Nov. 29, 1881; Lieutenant Colonel and Assistant Adjutant General Seventh Brigade, Dec. 6, 1884; supernumerary, Aug. 5, 1886; First Lieutenant Thirtieth Separate Company, May 11, 1887; Captain, Sept. 4, 1890; Inspector General, State of New York, Dec. 31, 1896; reappointed Jan. 1, 1897, with original rank; appointed Inspector of Small Arms and Equipments, Jan. 1, 1899.

The Appointee Is Undecided.

ELMIRA, Dec. 26.—Edward M. Hoffman, who was to-day appointed Adjutant General of the National Guard by Gov. Roosevelt, said to-night that he had not fully decided whether he should accept the place, but would to-morrow make a decision regarding the matter.

DESOLATION IN SAN JACINTO.

The City Shows Sad Effects of the Christmas Earthquake.

SAN JACINTO, Cal., Dec. 26.—The earthquake of yesterday left this little city a scene of desolation to-day. People are beginning to recover from the terror inspired by the shock which centred here and destroyed every brick building in the town, and some definite estimates of the damage wrought can now be made.

Main Street presents a sad appearance. It is impossible to walk along the sidewalks because of the heaps of débris and overhanging walls. Brick walls were razed to the level of the ground, with thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise buried underneath. There is not a business house in town but has suffered. Electric wires are down, and some of the power houses have fallen in. The walls of the County Hospital, erected recently at a cost of $10,000, are badly damaged.

At the Saboba Indian Reservation, near here, a dance had been held the night before the earthquake, and the large quantities of whisky consumed by the Indians sent most of them into a drunken st

DEFEATS FOR FILIPINOS

Troops Rout Insurgents in Both Luzon and Panay Fights.

CAPTURE MEN AND CATTLE

Rebels Who Fled from Panay Are Surrendering — Several American Officers Are Wounded.

MANILA, Dec. 26.—Col. J. Franklin Bell of the Thirty-sixth Infantry encountered 150 Filipinos Thursday near Alaminos, Province of Zambales, and killed, wounded, or captured 28 of them. Our troops also obtained possession of a number of rifles and a quantity of ammunition. One American was wounded.

A detachment of the Thirty-fourth Infantry encountered a band of the enemy Saturday at Aritao, Province of Nueva Vizcaya, and routed them, killing two and wounding or capturing thirteen. The Americans also seized a quantity of ammunition.

The Twenty-first Regiment attacked a Filipino outpost Sunday, near Calamba, scattering them and killing five of the enemy.

The Thirty-second Regiment Sunday had a brush with the enemy from the mountains northwest of Dinalupijan. One American was wounded. The troops captured 125 head of cattle and brought them to Orani, Bataan Province.

In the Island of Panay Capt. Brownell's company of the Twenty-sixth Infantry fought the enemy near Sala. The rebels lost heavily, and the Americans captured a number of rifles.

The rebels who fled from Panay to Romblon Island are surrendering to the American garrison from Panay.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Under to-day's date Gen. Otis at Manila reports some details of engagements with the insurgents following the death of Gen. Lawton. His dispatch follows:

"Following recent minor engagements capture San Mateo Dec. 19, Gen. Lawton killed; Capt. Kinan, Twenty-ninth Infantry, Lieut. Breckinridge, Seventh Infantry, slightly wounded; four enlisted men slightly wounded. Capture same date Montalban, Lieut. Cotchett, Eleventh Cavalry, and six enlisted men wounded, mostly slight; enemy's casualties heavy.

"In Northern Zambales, 21st inst., Bell struck 150 insurgents; killed, wounded, and captured twenty-eight and twenty rifles; Lieut. Read, Thirty-sixth Infantry, wounded eight rifles; moderate. Ilhes, Romblo, reports insurgent band attacked Brownell's camp Twenty-sixth Infantry near Jaro, repulsed with heavy loss in men and twenty-six rifles. Insurgents are in Romblon surrendering arms. Twenty-third inst., Capt. Dame, Thirty-fourth Infantry, struck insurgents' band near Aritao, Province Nueva Vizcaya, killing and wounding fifteen, capturing seven rifles. Lieut. Meade, Twenty-first Infantry, attacked insurgents' outpost near Calamba, 24th inst., killing five, capturing five rifles.

"In mountains southern portion Bataan Province, 24th inst., Capt. Comfort, Thirty-second Infantry, struck insurgent band, wounding four and having one man wounded. Major Spence, same regiment, same locality, captured insurgent corral with 125 cattle and ponies. Capt. Nayson, same date, attacked in mountains near Sulug; one man missing."

INSURGENTS ARE REPULSED.

Three Hundred Attack the Garrison at Subig, but Are Beaten Off with a Loss.

MANILA, Dec. 27.—Gen. Santa Ana, with a force of insurgents estimated at 300, attacked the garrison at Subig yesterday. A body of marines were sent from Olongapo to reinforce the garrison; and the Filipinos were driven back, several being killed.

There were no casualties on the American side.

A company of the Forty-sixth Volunteer Infantry, together with a contingent of marines, has been sent from Manila to reinforce the Subig garrison still further.

TO SEND ALL SPANIARDS HOME.

The Cabinet Decides to Transport Civilians as Well as Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—At the Cabinet meeting to-day it was decided to construe that portion of the treaty with Spain regarding the return of Spanish soldiers and prisoners of war in the most liberal way. By the terms of the treaty the United States is bound to transport all Spanish soldiers and prisoners of war serving in the conquered territory to Spain. Quite a number of disputed questions have been raised in connection with the repatriation of the Spanish soldiers serving in the Philippines, and they have been the subject of considerable correspondence between Gen. Otis and the Spanish representatives at Manila.

In the peace treaty various terms are used—"Spanish soldiers," "Spanish prisoners," "Prisoners in the hands of the insurgents," &c. After discussing the question to-day the Cabinet decided to construe the language of the treaty liberally; indeed, to stretch it not only to cover all Spanish prisoners in the hands of the insurgents who are now falling into our hands, but their families and all Spanish civilian officials and their families. All will be transported to Spain at the expense of the United States.

Secretary Root has no information as to how many Spanish prisoners remain on the islands.

London Comment on the Decision.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The Daily Chronicle, commenting upon the decision of the United States Government to transport from the Philippines not only the Spanish prisoners falling into the hands of the Americans, but also the Spanish civil officials and their families, says: "This action of the United States is characteristically generous toward their late foe. It can hardly fail to awake a responsive echo and to do much to diminish the bitterness resulting from the recent war."

President Saves Soldier from Death.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Dec. 26.—William Scarborough of this city, a private of Company B, Third United States Infantry, who was tried by a military court in the Philippines on a serious charge and sentenced to death, has been saved from execution by President McKinley. The President has commuted his sentence to dishonorable discharge and twenty years' imprisonment. Scarborough is little more than a boy.

The Forty-third at Singapore.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Word was received at the War Department to-day that the transport Meade, with Col. Murray and the Forty-third Volunteer Infantry, arrived at Singapore yesterday, on her way to Manila. Col. Murray reports the death of Corp. Kerrigan of Company B, on the 18th inst., of alcoholic poisoning.

LAWTON SUBSCRIPTION FUND.

The Lists Will Be Kept Open for Contributions Until Jan. 5.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Adjt. Gen. Corbin's list of subscriptions to the Lawton home fund aggregated $15,000 at noon today. The committee announces that the subscription lists will be kept open until Jan. 5 next, when the money will be banked and placed to Mrs. Lawton's credit.

The amount now in the hands of Gen. Corbin probably is less than half of that actually subscribed, many subscriptions having not yet reached him.

UNION LEAGUE GIVES $2,000.

Club May Raise $10,000 in All for the Lawton Fund.

A meeting was held at the Union League Club last night in the interest of the fund for the benefit of the widow and family of Gen. Lawton. Ex-Mayor Strong presided at the meeting, which was largely attended.

A letter from Adjt. Gen. Corbin was read, and John S. Wise then addressed the members of the club. After referring briefly to the war in the Philippines, he paid a tribute to Gen. Lawton as a soldier and a man, which aroused great enthusiasm. The sum of $2,000 was at once subscribed to the fund, and it was decided to issue a circular for the purpose of obtaining additional subscriptions.

Mr. Wise said after the meeting: "We've got $2,000 now, but we'll make it $10,000 before we get through."

NEW YORK CONTRIBUTIONS.

The Bankers' Trust Company's Fund Now Amounts to $2,775.

The Lawton fund still continues to grow. The sum of $875 was received yesterday by the Bankers' Trust Company, at 10 Wall Street. The amount of the subscriptions and the names of the subscribers of the money received yesterday are as follows:

Anna E. Benjamin, $10; G. Creighton Webb, $250; Keppler & Schwarzmann, $50; James J. Higginson, $100; Oswald W. Uhl, $25; W. Horace, $5; John J. Heckscher, $50; J. R. Drexel, $100; Comrade, 1861, $5; William B. Garrett, $5; Cash, $10; R. P. Lounsbery, $25; Dominick & Dominick, $100; L. A. Sussdorf, $5; Cornelius Doremus, $10; W. A. Bass, $25; H. G. Campbell & Co., $50, and Charles Head & Co., $50. Total, $875. Previously acknowledged, $1,900. Total, $2,775.

THE NEW YORK TIMES has received from a firm which does not want its name mentioned, a check for $10 for the Lawton fund.

Philadelphia Fund Amounts to $2,411.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26.—The Lawton fund of The Evening Telegraph of this city, which has been officially designated by Adjt. Gen. Corbin to receive subscriptions for the relief of the widow and children of Gen. Lawton amounts to-night to $2,411. Seventeen subscriptions of $100 each have been made to the fund thus far.

Gen. Shafter Has Collected $931.50.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—Donations for the Lawton fund received by Major Gen. Shafter now amount to $931.50.

FUNERAL OF GEN. LAWTON.

Services to be Held Dec. 30—Body Will Be Shipped on the Thomas.

MANILA, Dec. 26.—The funeral of Major Gen. Lawton will take place Dec. 30. The body will be shipped on the transport Thomas.

Council Acts on Lawton's Death.

The Council adopted yesterday a resolution expressing the regret of the Municipal Assembly for the death in the Philippines of Major Gen. Henry W. Lawton. The resolution had been adopted previously by the Board of Aldermen.

FTELEY'S SUCCESSOR CHOSEN.

W. R. Hill Elected Chief Engineer of the Aqueduct Commission at $10,000 a Year.

William R. Hill was yesterday elected Chief Engineer of the Aqueduct Commission to succeed A. Fteley.

The salary of the Chief Engineer is $10,000 a year. Mr. Fteley resigned some time ago.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 26.—William R. Hill came to this city in 1888 to work with J. J. R. Croes of New York City, who was investigating the best source of water supply for Syracuse. He was principal assistant on that work, after which he returned to Brooklyn and had charge of the erection of the superstructure of the Fifth Avenue elevated railroad. He received the appointment of Chief Engineer of the Syracuse Water Board in July, 1889. He was appointed Superintendent of the system Aug. 1, 1894.

Mr. Hill had entire charge of the construction of the present Syracuse plant, and his services have been eminently satisfactory to the city. Before coming here he was engaged on several important engineering works. In 1874 he was in charge of the construction of the tunneled portion of the Harlem Division of the New York Central Railroad, from One Hundred and Fifteenth Street to the Harlem River. Afterward he was engaged on the New York and Manhattan Beach Railroad from Bay Ridge to Coney Island, then as engineer for the contractors on the Riverside Drive, in New York City, and later had charge of the location and construction of the foundations of the Third and Ninth Avenue lines of the Manhattan Elevated Railroad.

Mr. Hill was draftsman and division engineer of the Hoosac Tunnel Line, after which he was employed on the Croton River watershed. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the New England Water Works Association.

CHILDREN VISIT THE MAYOR.

Members of a City History Club Sit in His Official Chair.

A party of girls and boys, members of the City History Club of the Berkeley School, visited the City Hall yesterday to inspect the building and see at close range how they are governed. When they entered the Mayor's office, Mayor Van Wyck was seated at the desk in the southwest corner of the public room. Looking up, he asked the spokesman of the party, a lad of about nine or ten years, what he could do for him.

"I'd like to sit in the Mayor's chair," the boy replied.

"All right," said the Mayor, in his heartiest tones. "Take the chair and enjoy yourselves." Thereupon the Mayor left his seat, and one by one the children sat in the chair, the Mayor looking on approvingly. After all had enjoyed the novelty of sitting in the seat, the party left the room and visited the Governor's Room and the Chambers of the Municipal Assembly.

NEW JERSEY TEACHERS' FUND.

Investigation of the Disposition of Money Raised at a Concert.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 26.—The Board of Trustees of the Teachers' Retirement Fund at a meeting this afternoon placed seven teachers on the retirement list and also appointed a committee of three to investigate the disposition of a sum of money obtained from a concert in Jersey City two years ago, it having, it is alleged, been represented that this concert was given for the benefit of the retirement fund. None of the proceeds was ever paid into the State Treasury.

Miss Elizabeth Allen of Hoboken, one of the Trustees, said after the meeting that the committee was appointed under a misapprehension. The original resolution providing for the concert stipulated that the money should be used for "the furtherance of the work of securing a retirement fund." The receipts at the concert, she said, were $1,219, of which the expenses consumed $219.26. About $400 was paid to the Treasurer of the committee of the State Teachers' Association for printing and other sums to lawyers for drafting the needed legislation. The money, she said, was never intended as a contribution to the fund itself.

Providence Bank to be Absorbed.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 26.—The arrangements for the absorption of the Third National Bank by the Industrial Trust Company are practically completed. The offer made by the company for the stock has been accepted individually by the Directors and some of the stockholders. A meeting of the stockholders for the purpose of voting the liquidation of the bank has been called for Jan. 25. The Third National has a capital stock of $100,000 and deposits of about $500,000.

Two New Cathedral Trustees.

A meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine was held yesterday afternoon at the Diocesan House, 29 Lafayette Place. The only business transacted was the election of John Jacob Astor and Francis Lynde Stetson to fill two of the three vacancies on the board.

Funeral of G. W. Sneden.

The funeral of George W. Sneden, who died Sunday morning in the eighty-fifth year of his age, was held last evening at 8 o'clock at the family residence, 120 West Fifty-seventh Street. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. MacArthur of the Calvary Baptist Church. Mr. Sneden was born in New York and resided there all his life. For many years he conducted a furniture establishment on the Bowery. He came of the well-known Sneden family of Sneden's Landing, on the Hudson, several of his ancestors being prominent in the wars of the Revolution and of 1812.

Chicago Run of "Quo Vadis" Extended.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—The dramatization of "Quo Vadis" has made such a success that it was decided to-day to double the length of the initial engagement before taking the play elsewhere. It will therefore be presented at McVicker's Theatre here until Jan. 27, a run of six weeks.

MR. GRAU'S NEW POLICY

Will Refund Money on Unexpected Opera Changes.

SUBSCRIBERS NOT AFFECTED

Mme. Calve's Withdrawal from the Cast of "Faust" Last Saturday Precipitated the Change.

The question of refunding money to purchasers of tickets to the grand opera performances at the Metropolitan Opera House during the remaining part of this season has been the subject of serious consideration by Maurice Grau, Manager Frank Sanger, and the Directors of the Grau Opera Company ever since last Saturday. Discussion was prompted by the complaints over the refusal of the management to refund the price of tickets to those who had bought seats for the performance of "Faust" when it was announced that Mme. Calvé would be unable to sing and Mme. Suzanne Adams was substituted.

It has been decided, although never done before in the history of the Opera House, that, in the event of the sudden illness of a principal singer making a change in cast necessary, to refund the money or exchange the tickets of those who have bought seats for the particular performance in which the change occurs.

The following official statement touching on the matter was given out:

"On account of many complaints and of the clamor of the press, we have come to the conclusion that hereafter in case of any change of the principal artists in the cast, if any dissatisfied patrons of the opera desire to have their money refunded we shall do so. This does not apply to subscription tickets, which were sold with no understanding whatever. It applies only to those tickets bought for that particular performance. The money will be refunded or the tickets exchanged."

After disposing of this question Mr. Grau announced that he had engaged Mme. Gadski for several years, and that her first appearance under his direction will be tomorrow night in Philadelphia in the rôle of Elizabeth in "Tannhäuser," and that she will be seen at the Metropolitan Opera House on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 6, as Senta in "The Flying Dutchman." This will be the first performance of the opera in this city since Walter Damrosch presented it three seasons ago.

Regarding the acquisition of Mme. Gadski to the Maurice Grau forces, her manager, C. L. Graff, said yesterday that after her engagement to sing in opera, which will be for a limited number of nights, she will appear in fifty concerts throughout the country, beginning Feb. 19 and terminating April 1. During her appearance in this city she will probably sing only in the Wagner operas, and may possibly be heard in the rôle of Valentine in "Les Huguenots" and as Pamina in the production of "The Magic Flute."

The continued illness of Mme. Ternina due to a severe sore throat, which, it was stated, would compel her to return to Germany, is absolutely untrue Mr. Grau said. She has consulted three eminent physicians regarding her condition, and she will inform Mr. Grau to-day how soon she will be able to appear.

Mr. Grau also denied the rumors which prevailed throughout the Opera House during the performance Monday night regarding the engagement of Mme. Melba and Jean de Reszke for the season. He said these rumors probably became current through the negotiations which were pending with Mr. Graff for the services of Mme. Gadski.

J. K. HACKETT IN A NEW PLAY.

Produces "The Pride of Jennico" at Ford's in Baltimore.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 26.—James K. Hackett and company produced to-night at Ford's Opera House before a large audience the four-act play "The Pride of Jennico," this being its first performance on any stage. The play is a dramatization of the novel of the same name, and is the work of Abby Sage Richardson and Grace L. Furniss, authors of "Americans at Home" and "A Colonial Girl." The piece was enthusiastically received. Mr. Hackett scored a great personal success.

The scenes are laid in Hungary late in the eighteenth century. Mr. Hackett appeared as Basil Jennico, scion of a long line of warriors, who marries a Princess, and finds out later, as he supposes, that she was merely a maid of honor in the royal household. But he loves her, and when they become estranged follows her and becomes involved in numerous duels in an effort to regain her love, in which he is finally successful. Miss Bertha Galland made her first appearance as Mr. Hackett's leading lady.

Mrs. Richardson, one of the authors, and Daniel Frohman were in the audience.

THE KOSTER & BIAL LEASE.

Biel Syndicate May Transfer It to a Pittsburg Manager.

Negotiations are again under way for a change in the management of Koster & Bial's Music Hall, which it was intimated last night would be consummated within the coming week or ten days. This time it is said that Nelson Roberts, a manager from Pittsburg, Penn., has become associated with two wealthy Wall Street brokers, who intend to purchase outright the lease of the music hall from the Robert Biel syndicate.

What form of attraction Mr. Roberts and his partners intend to give the patrons of this house Mr. Roberts refuses to make public at this time. He says, however, that a complete change in policy will be made if he secures the house.

"Men and Women" at Murray Hill.

For this week's revival the Henry V. Donnelly Stock Company at the Murray Hill Theatre have been seen in Henry C. De Milne's and David Belasco's four-act drama entitled "Men and Women." The production, as all others heretofore presented, was well mounted, and the characters were for the principal rôles, adequately impersonated. Thomas Coleman as Israel Cohen, Ralph Stuart as William Seabury, Charles D. Waldron, J. Redman, Walter Allen, Miss Hannah May Ingham as Agnes Rodman, Dorothy Donnelly as Mrs. Kate Delafield, Mrs. Thomas Barry and Grace Huntington were all sincere and forceful in the impersonation of their characters. The attraction for next week will consist of a revival of William Gillette's comedy "All the Comforts of Home."

Edwin L. Bloom a Bankrupt.

Edward L. Bloom, theatrical manager, residing at 36 West Fifty-ninth Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities $22,413 and no assets. The liabilities are to eighty creditors, were contracted from 1893 to 1898 in this and various other cities throughout the United States, and are for printing, merchandise, borrowed money, rent, notes, carriage hire, and services. Among the creditors are the First National Bank of St. Paul, $3,500; Riverside Printing Company of Milwaukee, $3,000; Enquirer Job Print, Cincinnati, $1,500; Detroit Free Press, $1,200, and Edward Harner, $1,000.

Has Contract with Mme. Barrios.

Arthur Rehan denied yesterday the truth of a statement made recently by Richard Dorney that Mme. Algeria Barrios, widow of the former President of Guatemala, was not to appear on the New York stage in a repertoire of plays under the management of Mr. Rehan. Speaking of the matter yesterday Mr. Rehan said: "Dorney's statement is false. There is a contract between Mme. Barrios and myself. It is my intention to bring Mr. Dorney into court. The matter is in the hands of my attorneys.

Roland Reed's Condition Fair.

The condition of Roland Reed, the actor, who was taken to St. Luke's Hospital on Monday suffering from appendicitis, was reported as fair yesterday. He is not considered to be in danger. The surgeons who examined Mr. Reed had not decided yesterday that an operation was necessary.

C. F. Salisbury Goes to a Hospital.

Charles F. Salisbury, a theatrical man, living at the Herald Square Hotel, presented himself at the Presbyterian Hospital last night and was admitted to a medical ward without the usual examination. He bore a letter from one of the visiting physicians which gave him immediate entree. Nothing more could be learned about the case.

WHAT IS DOING IN SOCIETY

The influence of the double holiday which the falling of Christmas on Monday brought this year was strongly felt yesterday, and the wheels of business and society were slow to begin to move after their stoppage of forty-eight hours. The cold weather, as yet a novelty, tended to keep people of leisure within doors, and so the avenue and up-town districts seemed very dull and deserted all through the morning and early afternoon hours. Toward dusk, however, more people began to appear, and although one heard of this or that person being out of town at a country house party, there was a remarkably good representation of society at the dinner hour at the fashionable restaurants and also at the opera last evening.

***

From the country come stories of an enjoyable but rather dull and uneventful Christmas Day. Severe as was the cold, it had not been of sufficient duration to make skating possible, except on very shallow ponds here and there, and it was too cold for golfing, driving, or riding with any comfort; cycling has ceased to be a fashionable amusement. The St. Nicholas Rink, in this city, was fairly well filled Christmas afternoon and evening, and yesterday morning there was quite a good social representation there.

***

To-day the Christmas holiday entertaining will be in full swing. There will be several informal "at homes," and the evening will bring a brilliant audience at the opera, where "Don Giovanni," in which Mme. Sembrich and Mme. Eames are to appear, will be sung, and two cotillions, those to be given by Mrs. Bayard Dominick for her daughter, Miss Helen Dominick, at Sherry's, and by Mrs. A. H. Holmes, at 452 Madison Avenue, will be danced. The first meeting of the organization known as the "Five Cotillions" will also be held at Delmonico's.

***

The New Year's festivities at Tuxedo are to be on a larger scale this year than ever before, and there is an unwonted demand for rooms in the clubhouse for the two days' holiday on the part of the members for themselves and their guests. The New Year's Eve dance of former years will not be given this year, but instead there will be a ball on the evening of Monday, New Year's Day. The customary ceremonies over the bowl of egg nog in the clubhouse on New Year's Eve as midnight approaches will, however, take place as usual. The members of the gay world are more and more fond of spending New Year's out of town.

***

Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, Mrs. Burke-Roche, and other well-known women have invited a number of friends to accompany them to the Hungarian Peasant Ball, which is to begin at midnight on New Year's Eve in the Madison Square Garden. Another well-known woman, who, like Mrs. Burke-Roche and Mrs. Oelrichs, had engaged a box at the Garden for this ball, and who was to have given a supper later in the night at her residence, has recalled the invitations and will sail for Europe on the Campania on Saturday morning accompanied by her young son. This change of plans on the part of the modish woman in question will not interfere with Mrs. Oelrichs's and Mrs. Burke-Roche's parties for the ball.

***

The graduates of St. Paul's School, resident in this and neighboring cities, will hold a meeting and enjoy a supper in the Medico-Legal Society Building, 17 West Forty-third Street, this evening. The meeting has been called for 8:30 P. M., when the rector of the school, Dr. Joseph Coit, will be present to meet the Alumni. St. Paul's has so many graduates prominent in the professions and in business and social life in New York that this reunion to-night will bring together perhaps the most thoroughly representative body of men that could be assembled by any similar call from college or school. The invitations have been issued in the names of the following well-known men, all graduates of old St. Paul's: Frederick Shattuck, Gen. F. H. Appleton, Charles J. Nourse, Douglas Robinson, Henry Marquand, George R. Sheldon, H. E. Drayton, Robert W. Johnston, C. Lawrence Perkins, Stephen Peabody, Sherman Evarts, Samuel H. Hoppin, Edwin A. Stevens, Edward D. Appleton, Owen Wister, W. Strother Jones, Charles D. Dickey, James D. Livingston, R. B. Keyser, Louis F. Bishop, George S. Mumford, Herbert Parsons, George S. Brewster, George W. Burleigh, Noah H. Swayne, second, Charles R. Swords, Alonzo Potter, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt.

***

Yesterday was not a very gay day in the New York society world. The majority of people were suffering from the reaction from the double holiday, and the younger people from the feasting and the goodies consumed in abnormal quantities. It was really the family doctor's day, and the physician's automobile, which has now supplanted the doctor's gig, was seen standing before many well-known houses. It was truly "the day after Christmas."

***

The chief event of last evening, especially for the younger set, was the bal poudre given by Mrs. Anson Phelps Stokes at her residence, 229 Madison Avenue, for her daughter, Miss Mildred Stokes, who is a débutante of the season. This is the first large entertainment given in the Stokes residence this year. The ballroom of the Stokes house is a large one, and the scene when the hundred or more guests in their powdered hair were assembled under the electric lights was a fascinating one. The young women, both hostesses and their guests, wore gowns of white organdie silk and satin, decorated with holly and sprigs of holly in their hair. There were two orchestras, which played alternately through the evening. Miss Stokes received the guests with her mother and sister in the drawing room. The furniture and appointments of this room are in the style of Louis XV. The walls are covered with hangings of shell pink silk, with panels containing hand-painted copies of pictures by Watteau, Boucher, and Natier. The ballroom in which the dance was held was decorated with garlands of evergreen, and over the mantel gleamed a large star made of electric lights, while in the hallway over one of the central arches glistened another star. The other decorations were Christmas greens, mistletoe, and holly. The dance began about 9:30 P. M., and a buffet supper was served shortly before midnight. Among the guests were the Baroness Halkett, Mrs. Stokes's eldest daughter; Miss Barnes, Miss Clare Bryce, the Misses Gurnee, Miss Butler, Miss Cutting, the Misses de Peyster, the Misses Delafield, Miss Anna Dodge, Miss Pell, Miss Low, Miss Metcalf, Miss Anne Sands, Miss Helen Peabody, Miss Van Nest, the Misses Schieffelin, Miss Amy G. Olyphant, the Misses Bowers, the Misses de Coppet, Miss Louise Du Pont, the Misses Iselin, Miss May Gallatin, Miss Hoppin, Miss Marie Mott, Miss Marguerite Chapin, Miss Eleanor Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Vatable, Miss Evelyn Sloane, Miss Huntington, Miss Miller, and the Messrs. Alexander Hadden, Valentine Hall, Beekman Hoppin, James W. Gerard, Jr., Sherman Hoyt, A. S. Stokes, Jr., Cutting, Schieffelin, Gallatin, Hard, Fitzgerald, Iselin, David Bishop, Jr., Burden, Sloane, Dodge, and Barclay.

***

The second De Coverley dance took place in the large ballroom at Sherry's last evening. There was a large attendance. The guests were received by Mrs. William H. Bliss and Mrs. Charles B. Foote. The cotillion was led by Mr. Arthur S. Wiley. There were no favors.

***

Mme. Pandelli y Fachiri gave last evening at her residence, 145 West Fifty-eighth Street, a cotillion for her daughter, Miss Fachiri. The guests at this dance were débutantes of this season—a number of girls who, like Miss Fachiri herself, are not yet out, but who are to make their début next year, and a few girls who have already made their bow. Mrs. Antonio Ralli and Mrs. P. S. Galatti assisted Mrs. Fachiri in receiving the guests. Mrs. Fachiri wore a gown of white satin, spangled, and Miss Fachiri wore a white tulle costume. The cotillion was led by Miss Fachiri, H. Alexander Smith, and Antonio Fachiri. The favors were varicolored butterflies, mounted on gilded sticks, Pierrot hats, shepherdess crooks of metal, tied with ribbons; tulle streamers, tinsel garlands with tiny bells for the girls, and metal pipes, silver knives, cigarettes, and boutonnières for the men. Among the guests were Misses Helen Dominick, Helen Bulkley, Pansy Roosevelt, Eleanor Swayne, Grace Delafield, Dorothea Draper, Elsie Schefer, Cecil Boardman, Josephine Williams Alice Agnew, and the Misses Ellis, Carpenter, and Isabella Curtis, and Messrs. Prentice Kellogg, E. Curtis, Prentice Strong, C. Curtis, A. D. Dodge, Julian Day, E. Tinker, J. B. Flower, Jr., P. del Calvo, E. Schuyler Smith, Robert Grannis, and Alexander Rall.

***

The Benedicts' Ball, given by Messrs. Frederick T. Mason, J. Dundas Lippincott, A. J. Cassatt, and a number of other prominent widowers and married men in Philadelphia, and which has been looked forward to with lively anticipations by the social world of the Quaker City, will take place in Philadelphia this evening. On Friday evening Mr. James W. Paul, Jr., will give a ball in Horticultural Hall, Philadelphia, for his daughter, Miss Ellen Drexel Paul. Philadelphia is enjoying the gayest Winter thus far in its history, and, strange to say, the gayety increases as the days lengthen, notwithstanding the departure for a five years' stay in England of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel.

***

The St. Paul, which sailed for Southampton this morning, has booked, among other passengers, Col. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. Astor, child, nurse, and governess. Col. Astor and Mrs. Astor are going abroad for the Winter. They will probably spend a few days in London and Paris, and then proceed to the Riviera, from where they will probably go to Egypt. Among others booked to sail on the St. Paul are the actress Miss Kate Forsythe, Miss Hunt, Mrs. Adolph Ladenberg, with her child and its governess, Mr. and Mrs. Megargee of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. John Munroe of Paris, Mrs. Raymond Rogers and Miss Rogers, Mrs. S. Montgomery Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Webster, and Mrs. J. G. White and son.

***

The Teutonic, sailing to-day for Liverpool, has booked, among other passengers, Capt. M. L. Feildan and Mrs. Feildan, E. J. Henderson, Mrs. Kitson, D. McLean, Mr. Salamon, Howard Page, P. C. Stewart, Benjamin Watkins, and W. C. Whitney.

***

Ex-Gov. and Mrs. Morton will give a dinner at their residence to-morrow evening, Dec. 28, for Miss Mary Gardiner, granddaughter of the Right Rev. Bishop Doane of Albany.

***

Holiday week in England is not marked as usual this year by country house parties, as the anxiety to hear the latest news from the Cape has kept many people in London. At those country house parties, however, which are being given, private theatricals appear to be the principal amusement. The largest party of the year will be given at Shatsworth in January, where the Duchess of Devonshire is to be the hostess. Miss Muriel Wilson, Mrs. Willie James, and Lady Mary Sackville will be the stars, and the usual company of amateur actors and actresses will assist. Lily, Duchess of Marlborough, and Lord William Beresford entertained over the holidays with a shooting party at Deepdean. The Duchess of Marlborough remained at Blenheim. The sailing of Lady Randolph Churchill brought the entire American contingent to London, where they remained over Christmas. The Bradley Martins, as already announced, will keep up their house party at Balmacaan until after the new year.

***

The season at Cairo, Egypt, can hardly be said to have begun, and as yet the American arrivals there are few. Lord and Lady Crew will pass the entire Winter at Cairo. Lady Crew, it will be remembered, is the daughter of the Earl of Rosebery, and she and her husband will entertain very handsomely during their stay in the Egyptian city. At San Remo, on the Riviera, the tennis club has been opened, and among the American arrivals are Mrs. and Miss Loring, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Wales, and Miss Foster Barham. Nice is quite crowded. Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., are there for a short while before they take a tour through Spain. Mr. Howard Case has arrived at the Hotel des Anglais, and will entertain there this Winter. Mr. and Mrs. Naylor gave a large dinner at their apartment to the officers of the United States steamship Essex. Mrs. James Stillman has been in Nice for a few days, en route for Rome, where she will pass the Winter. Another visitor who will shortly arrive at Nice will be Mr. Rutherford Stuyvesant, who will entertain a party on his yacht Arcturus and cruise during the Winter in the Mediterranean. Pau still remains mildly gay, for hunting and golfing being the principal amusements. Among the recent visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Kernochan, Mr. L. Cavendish Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Carrington. Mr. and Mrs. George Kiner of Paris will pass the Winter on the Riviera. They are now at Nice. Mrs. Kiner will be remembered as the elder Miss Eustis, a niece of the late Ambassador and a sister of Miss Lydia Eustis. She is even more famous than her sister as a singer, but has never been on the professional concert stage.

WASHINGTON SOCIAL NEWS.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The Secretary of War and Mrs. Root gave their first entertainment of the season at their Washington home this evening, when they invited a distinguished company to meet Sir Henry Irving at supper after the play. The Root residence, at 1,626 Rhode Island Avenue, is one of the show mansions of the capital, and admirably adapted for entertaining. The company to meet Sir Henry included the Spanish Minister and Duchess of Arcos, Secretary of State and Mrs. Hay, Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Gage, Senator and Mrs. Lodge, Gen. and Mrs. Miles, the Paymaster General of the Army and Mrs. Bates, ex-Ambassador to Italy and Mrs. MacVeagh, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page, Capt. and Mrs. Cowles, Gen. Corbin, Mr. Stoker, and Miss Root.

Mrs. Sartoris gave a large dinner party for young people this evening in honor of her son and daughter, Capt. Algernon Sartoris and Miss Vivian Sartoris.

Admiral and Mrs. Dewey will hold their New Year reception at the residence of Mrs. Dewey's mother, Mrs. Washington McLean, in K Street, from 1 to 3 o'clock next Monday. No cards will be issued, and all friends and admirers of the Admiral and his wife are cordially invited. Mrs. Dewey, who has long been one of the famous hostesses of the capital, will be assisted by fifty young women of prominence in naval and social circles.

DEATH LIST OF A DAY.

Dr. Elliott Coues.

Elliott Coues, the well-known ornithologist, died yesterday in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, from the effects of an operation. He received his liking for natural history studies from his father, Samuel Elliott Coues, who was a scientific man of note. In 1853, when young Coues was eleven years old, the family moved from his birthplace, Portsmouth, N. H., to Washington, D. C. His education was received at the Jesuit Seminary, now known as Gonzaga College, and the Columbian University. He was graduated from the Academic Department of the latter in 1861, and from the School of Medicine two years later. Since graduation his alma mater has bestowed upon him the degrees of A. M., M. D., and Ph. D.

In 1862 he entered the United States Army as a medical cadet, and two years later was promoted to Assistant Surgeon, which rank he held until his resignation, in 1881. Wherever his army duties called him he made exhaustive studies of the fauna and flora of the region. Several scientific papers resulted from his residence in Arizona and at Columbia, S. C.

In 1872 his "Key to North American Birds" appeared. This was followed in 1874 by his "Field Ornithology" and "Birds of the Northwest." In 1873 an appointment as surgeon and naturalist to the United States Northern Boundary Commission placed him in the field again for a couple of years, after which he returned to Washington, and became connected with the Smithsonian Institution. In 1876 he became the naturalist of the United States Geological and Geographical Survey of the Territories, and in 1877 he was elected a member of the National Academy of Sciences. For some years he was the youngest academician in that body.

Other works published in this period are "Fur-Bearing Animals" (1877,) "Monographs of North American Rodentia," (with J. A. Allen, 1877,) and "Birds of the Colorado Valley," (1878.) In 1880 Dr. Coues was ordered to the frontier by the War Department, but he had become so deeply interested in scientific works that he resigned from the army and returned to Washington.

He held the Chair of Anatomy in the National Medical College from 1877 to 1883, when he was appointed Professor of Biology in the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Soon after his resignation from the army he began to investigate by means of scientific methods the phenomena of spiritualism and telepathy. He became a theosophist and a prominent associate of Mme. Blavatsky, with whom he visited England and the Continent, making the acquaintance of other noted members of that sect. The results of his study of occult phenomena appeared in a series of speculative works on the origin and nature of life, including "Biogen," "The Daemon of Darwin," and "Ocott's Buddhist Catechism." He was elected member of the General Council and President of the American Board of Control of the Theosophical Society of India. He was also a member of the British Society of Psychical Research. In later years he lost much of his interest in occult studies while still maintaining a connection with several societies.

One of his most important labors in recent years was done on the Century Dictionary, to which, in seven years, he contributed 40,000 words and definitions in general biology, comparative anatomy, and all branches of zoology.

The range of Dr. Coues's literary life was very great. He was the author of thirty-seven volumes, and contributed over 1,000 articles to various magazines and periodicals. He served six different scientific journals in editorial capacities, and his name was on the rolls of more than fifty foreign and American scientific societies.

Dr. Coues was twice married. his first wife obtaining a divorce from him on the ground of desertion, after which, in 1887, he married Mrs. Mary Emily Bates of Philadelphia.

Allen B. Rorke.

Allen B. Rorke, a prominent contractor and builder and Republican politician of Philadelphia, died at his home there yesterday. He was stricken with apoplexy after he had retired Sunday night, and this was followed by an attack of paralysis. He did not regain consciousness after the first attack.

Mr. Rorke was born in Philadelphia March 21, 1846, and started in business for himself in 1870. He constructed the buildings of the National Export Exposition and new State Capitol at Harrisburg. He also constructed a large number of prominent buildings in Philadelphia and vicinity, among which are the Philadelphia Bourse Building, the Betz office building, Spreckels sugar refinery, Thomas Dolan & Co.'s mills, Edwin Fitler & Co.'s cordage works at Bridesburg, Penn.; the Park Theatre, and the Manufacturers' Clubhouse.

He was Chairman of the Republican City Campaign Committee at Philadelphia for two years.

Franklin A. Stemmler.

Franklin A Stemmler died on Sunday of pneumonia at his home, 346 East Eighty-sixth Street. He was a son of the late Police Justice Stemmler, and was born in this city. In early life he was in the real estate business. Seven years ago he became a cl

FINANCIAL DIRECTORY.

Chemical National Bank
270 Broadway.

National Bank of Commerce
CAP. AND SUR. $6,500,000.
31 Nassau St.

Hanover National Bank
Capital $1,000,000. Surplus and profits, $2,500,000.
9 and 11 Nassau St.

The Nassau Bank
Corner Beekman and Nassau Streets.

Central National Bank
320 Broadway.

Phenix National Bank
49 Wall Street.

Continental Trust Company
30 Broad St.

Colonial Trust Company
CAPITAL & SURPLUS, $1,500,000.
ST. PAUL B'LD'G.
222 B'way.

Washington Trust Company
Stewart Building, 280 Broadway.

Real Estate Trust Co.,
30 NASSAU STREET.
Capital, Surplus, and Undivided Profits $900,000.
Receives Deposits, Allowing Interest.
Acts as Trustee. Transfer Agent, Registrar, &c.

PHILADELPHIA.
Fourth Street National Bank
Capital, $1,500,000. Surplus, $1,500,000.

BANKERS' CARDS.

Spencer Trask & Co.
BANKERS
27 & 29 Pine Street, New York.
Transact a general banking business; act as Fiscal Agents for corporations, and negotiate security issues of railroads and other companies. Execute commission orders and deal in
INVESTMENT SECURITIES.
Members New York Stock Exchange.
Branch Office: 65 State St., Albany.

The Domestic Exchange National Bank
OF NEW YORK.
CAPITAL $300,000.
DIRECTORS:
Robert D. Kent, Ethan Allen Doty,
William P. Aldrich, Horace W. Fish,
Samuel S. Bradley, William Kent,
Thomas H. Cullen, Edward S. Peck,
C. D. Spencer.
ROBERT D. KENT, President.
CHARLES H. SPENCER, Cashier.
Specialty { COLLECTION OF OUT-OF-TOWN CHECKS.
TEMPORARY OFFICES 11-13 MAIDEN LANE.
TELEPHONE, 2885 BROAD.

Holmes & Co.,
EMPIRE BUILDING,
71 Broadway, New York.
Members { N. Y. Stock Exchange. N. Y. Cotton Exchange. Chicago Board of Trade.
Branch Office:
Lakewood Hotel, Lakewood, N.J.

Redmond, Kerr & Co.
BANKERS,
41 WALL ST., N. Y.
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
Transact a general banking business, Receive deposits subject to draft. Dividends and interest collected and remitted. Act as Fiscal Agent for and negotiate and issue loans of railroads, street railways, gas companies, etc. Securities bought and sold on commission. DEAL IN High-Grade Investment Securities.
Lists of current offerings sent on application.
PHILADELPHIA CORRESPONDENTS,
GRAHAM, KERR & CO.

The Corn Exchange Bank,
William and Beaver Sts., New York.
WILLIAM A. NASH, President.
Capital and Surplus . . $3,000,000.00
Deposits 20,000,000.00
BRANCHES:
Broadway Branch, Astor Place Bank.
Broadway & Spring St. Astor Place.
Hudson River Bank, Queens County Bank,
72d St & Columbus Ave. Borough of Queens.

DOUGLAS & JONES
Members New York Stock Exchange,
ESTABLISHED 1886.
24 Broad St., New York City.
STOCKS AND BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD ON COMMISSION AT THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE AND CARRIED ON MARGIN.
Daily Market Letter on Application.
CORRESPONDENCE INVITED.
36 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK.

Fisk & Robinson
BANKERS
Investment Securities
HARVEY EDWARD FISK,
GEORGE H. ROBINSON.
Member New York Stock Exchange.

Hurlbutt, Hatch & Co.,
BANKERS.
MEMBERS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE,
71 Broadway, N. Y. City.
STOCKS and BONDS bought and sold for cash or on margin.
Interest allowed on deposits subject to check.
Telephone No. 1239 Cortlandt.

New York Telephone, 4914 Cortlandt. Brooklyn Telephone, 391 Brooklyn.
Geo. H. PRENTISS & Co.
DEALERS IN
LOCAL SECURITIES.
37 William St., New York. 298 Montague St., Brooklyn.
MEMBERS OF N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE.

A. J. DE KANTSTEIN & CO.
Members Consolidated Stock Exchange,
30 West 23d St.
STOCKS and BONDS bought and sold for cash and carried on margin.
SPECIAL LADIES' DEPARTMENT.
DAILY MARKET LETTER ON APPLICATION.
CORRESPONDENCE INVITED.

"OUTSIDE" SECURITIES
DEALT IN.
DAVID PFEIFFER, 18 Wall St.

FINANCIAL. | FINANCIAL.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company.

$25,000 REWARD.

TO THE PUBLIC:

WHEREAS, The circulation of false statements or rumors, with intent to affect the market price of the stocks or securities of a corporation, is punishable criminally under the laws of this State; and

WHEREAS, Certain persons have circulated false statements and rumors, with intent to affect the market price of the stocks and securities of BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT COMPANY:

RESOLVED, By the Board of Directors of BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT COMPANY that a reward of $25,000 is hereby offered, and will be paid by the said Company, for information furnished to the Counsel of the Company, SHEEHAN & COLLIN, 32 Nassau Street, New York City, leading to the discovery and conviction of any of the persons who have circulated such false statements or rumors; and the Company hereby requests all persons interested in the preservation of honest business methods to furnish such information.

BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT COMPANY.

December 22, 1899.

Provident Savings Life Assurance Society,
ORGANIZED 1875.
346 and 348 Broadway.
EDWARD W. SCOTT, President.
Issues All Desirable Forms of Policies.
Assurance in force $100,000,000
Paid Policyholders $16,500,000
Assets to Liabilities 132½ per cent.

MORTON TRUST COMPANY,
38 Nassau St., New York.
Capital & Surplus—$2,500,000
LEVI P. MORTON.....President
EDWARD J. BERWIND..Vice-President
JAMES K. CORBIÈRE....Second Vice-Pres.
WM. REDMOND CROSS..Secretary
DIRECTORS.
James W. Alexander, James N. Jarvie,
John Jacob Astor, Aug. D. Juilliard,
George F. Baker, Joseph Larocque,
Edward J. Berwind, D. O. Mills,
Frederic Cromwell, Levi P. Morton,
Henry M. Flagler, Richard A. McCurdy,
G. G. Haven, W. G. Oakman,
Jos. C. Hendrix, John Sloane,
Abram S. Hewitt, William C. Whitney,
A. Wolff.

Central Realty Bond and Trust Company,
59 TO 65 LIBERTY ST., NEW YORK.
Capital and Surplus, $1,500,000.
Allows interest on deposits subject to check and transacts all Trust Company business.
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE:
Frederic P. Olcott, James Stillman,
Augustus D. Juilliard, James N. Jarvie,
Frederick Southack, Hugh J. Grant,
Henry Morgenthau.

N. Y. SECURITY & TRUST CO.
46 WALL STREET, NEW YORK.
Capital and Surplus . . . $3,000,000
CHARLES S. FAIRCHILD, President.
Wm. L. Strong, 1st V.P.; Abram M. Hyatt, 2d V.P.; Osborn W. Bright, Sec.; Zelah Van Loan, Asst. Sec.

The Trust Co. of America,
149 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Capital and Surplus, $5,000,000.
ASHBEL P. FITCH.....President.
WILLIAM H. LEUPP, Vice-President. WILLIAM BARBOUR, Vice-President.
RAYMOND J. CHATRY, Secretary. HENRY S. MANNING, Vice-President.
ALBERT L. BANISTER, Treasurer. LAWRENCE O. MURRAY, Trust Officer.

OREGON RAILWAY & NAVIGATION CO.
First Mortgage 6 Per Cent. Bonds.
Sealed proposals will be received at the office of The Farmers' Loan & Trust Company, 16, 18, 20 & 22 William Street, New York City, for the sale to the trustees of one hundred and fifty-eight First Mortgage Bonds of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company for the Sinking Fund, as provided in the mortgage to the undersigned securing the same, dated September 1st, 1880.
In the event of the Trustee not being able to purchase the bonds in accordance with the terms of Section 4, Article 2, of the mortgage, it will become necessary for the Trustee to DRAW bonds BY LOT AT PAR.
Proposals must be presented before 12 o'clock M. on the 30th day of December, 1899, and should be directed as follows: Proposals for the Sinking Fund, The Farmers' Loan & Trust Company, Trustee, E. S. Marston, President, 16, 18, 20 & 22 William Street, New York City.
THE FARMERS' LOAN & TRUST CO., Trustee,
By E. S. MARSTON, President.
New York, December 15th, 1899.

Haskins & Sells,
Certified Public Accountants,
NO. 30 BROAD ST., NEW YORK.

BROWN BROTHERS & CO.,
NO. 59 WALL ST.,
ISSUE COMMERCIAL AND TRAVELERS' CREDITS, AVAILABLE IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

TO THE HOLDERS OF THE Preferred and Common Stock
of the
Distilling Company of America
At the request of holders of shares of the Preferred and Common Stock of the Distilling Company of America to a large amount, the undersigned have consented to act as a Committee to institute an inquiry into the affairs of the Company, to recommend such action as may seem advisable and generally to protect the interests of the depositors.
An appropriate agreement has been lodged with The Mercantile Trust Company, No. 120 Broadway, New York City; and stockholders desiring to be represented by the Committee are invited to deposit their certificates of stock, on or before January 6th, 1900, with said Company, which will issue its negotiable receipts therefor. The Committee will, as soon as possible, submit to the depositors an agreement embodying a further plan of action, and afford opportunity to the depositors either to participate therein or to withdraw the shares deposited without expense.—Dated New York, December 26th, 1899.
WILLIAM L. BULL,
WILLIAM F. HARRITY,
RUDOLPH KEPPLER,
ALVIN W. KRECH,
RICHARD SUTRO,
Committee.
GUY RICHARDS, Sec'y, 120 Broadway, N. Y.

LOUIS MESIER, Auctioneer.
REGULAR AUCTION SALE OF
STOCKS AND BONDS
By ADRIAN H. MULLER & SON,
WEDNESDAY, DEC. 27th, 1899,
At 12½ o'clock, at the N. Y. Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway.
BY ORDER OF BROOKLYN TRUST CO., EXECUTORS.
250 shs. Brooklyn City R. R. Co.
BY ORDER OF EXECUTORS.
25 shs. Central National Bank.
5 shs. National Park Bank.
50 shs. Bank of the Republic.
FOR ACCT. OF WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.
849 shs. Brigantine Co. of New Jersey, (Hypd.)
15 shs. International Postal Supply Co.
$10,000 Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling Co. 1st Bds.
20 shs. Title Guarantee & Trust Co.
14 shs. National Bank of North America.
5 shs. International Banking & Trust Co.
15 shs. Bankers' Trust Co.
5 shs. Trust Co. of America.
7 shs. Mutual Bank.
20 shs. Consolidated Fireworks Co. Prefd.
50 shs. The Alignum Co.
100 shs. St. Lawrence Power Co. Pfd., (Hypd.)
10 shs. International Banking & Trust Co.
25 shs. Trust Co. of America.
18 shs. National City Bank.
25 shs. Corn Exchange Bank.
20 shs. Brooklyn Academy of Music, (with ticket.)
1,000 shs. Philadelphia Co. of Pittsburg, Penn., common.
20 shs. International Banking & Trust Co.
20 shs. International Banking & Trust Co.
10 shs. Trust Co. of America.
10 shs. National Bank of North America.
10 shs. Trust Co. of America.
10 shs. 23d Ward Bank.
200 shs. Trust Co. of America.

Peoria, Decatur & Evansville Railway Company:
Under the plan and agreement to purchase the railroad of the Peoria, Decatur & Evansville Railway Company: Holders of the second mortgage bonds and holders of certificates of deposit of the New York Security and Trust Company, and holders of stock of the Peoria, Decatur and Evansville Railway Company will take notice that the 22d day of January, 1900, is fixed by the Committee as a date after which none of such securities will be received by such Committee on deposit under said plan.
By the Committee,
WALSTON H. BROWN, Chairman,
40 Wall Street, New York City.
New York, Dec. 20th, 1899.

TO THE HOLDERS OF
St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company
Second Mtge. Income Bond Certificates.
Notice is hereby given that on and after January 2d, 1900, interest will be paid on the above certificates at the rate of $16.78 on each $1,000 certificate upon presentation and surrender of the coupons maturing January 1st, 1900, at the office of the undersigned, at 120 Broadway, New York City.
THE MERCANTILE TRUST COMPANY,
By H. C. DEMING, Vice President.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

West Side Bank.
New York, Dec. 25th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking room, Nos. 485 and 487 Eighth Avenue, on Tuesday, the 9th day of January, 1900, between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M.
THEO. M. BERTINE, Cashier.

Fourteenth Street Bank,
3 East 14th Street.
New York, Dec. 26, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house on Tuesday, January 9, 1900, between the hours of 9:30 and 10:30 A. M. IRVING C. GAYLORD, Cashier.

Pacific Bank,
New York, Dec. 26, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, 470 Broadway, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900. The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
S. C. MERWIN, Cashier.

THE NATIONAL BANK OF THE REPUBLIC, New York, December 7th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the Banking House on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M. C. H. STOUT, Cashier.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.
New York, December 2, 1899.
To the Stockholders of the New York Loan & Improvement Company:
A Special Meeting of the Stockholders of the New York Loan & Improvement Company will be held on Tuesday, the second day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon, at the office of said Company, Rooms 306-308, No. 71 Broadway, in the City of New York, for the purpose of voting upon a proposition to reduce its capital stock from Two million one hundred and eighty-nine thousand three hundred Dollars, consisting of Twenty-one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three shares of the par value of $100.00 each, to One million nine hundred and seventy thousand nine hundred Dollars, consisting of Nineteen thousand seven hundred and nine shares of the par value of $100.00 each.
C. T. BARNEY,
H. F. DIMOCK,
JOHN J. McCOOK,
J. O. BAKER,
FRANCIS L. SILL,
H. B. COCHEU,
JAMES R. HAY,
A Majority of the Directors.

CENTRAL REALTY BOND AND TRUST COMPANY.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a meeting of the stockholders of the CENTRAL REALTY BOND AND TRUST COMPANY will be held at the office of the Company, Nos. 59 to 65 Liberty Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, N. Y., on the 10th of January, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M., for the election of five Directors for the ensuing year, and for the election of three Inspectors of Election to serve at the next annual meeting, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before such meeting. The polls will remain open from 12 M. to 1 P. M. The transfer books will close on the 30th day of December, 1899, at 12 M., and will open on Thursday, January 11th, 1900, at 10 A. M.
Dated New York, December 19th, 1899.
CENTRAL REALTY BOND & TRUST COMPANY
By ERNEST EHRMANN, Secretary.

The Astoria Light, Heat & Power Company,
32 LIBERTY STREET.
New York, December 22d, 1899.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of this Company for the election of Directors to serve during the ensuing year, and for such other business as may come before the stockholders, will be held at this office on Monday, January 8th, 1900. Polls open from 12 M. to 1 P. M. Transfer books will close on Saturday, December 23d, 1899, at 12 M. and reopen on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900. FRANCIS R. FORAKER, Secretary.

CITY TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK.
The annual meeting of stockholders of the City Trust Company of New York for the election of Directors to supply the places of those whose terms expire will be held at the office, 36 Wall Street, on Wednesday, January 17th, 1900, at 11 o'clock A. M.
The transfer books will close January 3d, 1900, at 3 P. M., and reopen on January 18th.
ARTHUR TERRY, Secretary.
December 27th, 1899.

The Greenwich Bank of the City of New York,
New York, Dec. 27, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank and Inspectors of the next election will be held at the banking house, No. 402 Hudson St., on Monday, January 8, 1900. The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M. The transfer books will be closed until after the election.
WILLIAM A. HAWES, Cashier.

The Western National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
9th December, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the stockholders of this Bank for the election of Directors and such other business as may come before it will be held at the Banking House, No. 15 Nassau Street, on TUESDAY, January 9th, 1900. The Polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M.
H. A. SMITH, Cashier.

Lincoln National Bank,
32-42 EAST 42D ST.,
New York, December 23d, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the shareholders of this bank, for the election of Directors for the ensuing year, will be held at the banking house, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M. W. T. CORNELL, Cashier.

The Bank of New York,
National Banking Association.
New York, Dec. 8th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 48 Wall Street, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
CHAS. OLNEY, Cashier.

THE BANK OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK.
New York, Dec 4, 1899.
The annual meeting of the Stockholders of this bank for the election of Directors and Inspectors of Election for the ensuing year will be held at the Banking House, 33 William Street, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 11 o'clock A. M. and noon.
R. L. EDWARDS, President.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKholders of the American Deposit and Loan Company will be held at the office of the company, 120 Broadway, in the City of New York, on Tuesday, the second day of January, 1900, at one o'clock in the afternoon, for the election of Trustees and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.
G. D. HARTLEY, Secretary.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKholders and a meeting of the Directors for the election of officers of the Mercantile Electric Company will be held at the office of the company, 120 Broadway, New York, on Wednesday, January 3, 1900, at 1 o'clock P. M. The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M. for the election of Directors for the ensuing year.
LYMAN RHOADES, President.

New York, December 26th, 1899.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of The P. W. Enos & Sons' Company for the election of Directors for the ensuing year and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before said meeting will be held at the Company's office, 268 West Broadway, on Monday, January 8th, 1900, at twelve o'clock noon.
F. W. STRUVY, Sec'y & Treas.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SHAREholders of the New York Building Loan Banking Company will be held at the offices of the Company, 111 Fifth Avenue, New York City, on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, from 12 M. till 4 P. M., for the election of Directors, and such other business as may properly come before it.
W. E. BUZBY, Secretary.

Leather Manufacturers' National Bank
29 Wall St.
New York, December 4th, 1899.
The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of this bank for the election of Directors will be held at the banking rooms on TUESDAY, January 9th, 1900, from 12 M. to 1 P. M.
GATES W. McGARRAH, Cashier.

The Mechanics' National Bank of the City of New York,
Dec. 9th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 33 Wall Street, on TUESDAY, Jan. 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
G. W. GARTH, Cashier.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKholders of the Atlantic Trust Company, for the election of Trustees and Inspectors of Election, will be held at the Company's office, No. 39 William Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on Monday, January 15, 1900. Polls are open from 11 A. M. to 12 M.
JOHN ALVIN YOUNG, Secretary.

The Hanover National Bank of the City of New York,
NEW YORK, December 8th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the banking house, 9 and 11 Nassau Street, on TUESDAY, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 o'clock M. and 1 o'clock P. M. WILLIAM HALLS, Jr., Cashier.

The Merchants' National Bank of the City of New York,
December 7th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking room, No. 42 Wall Street, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
JOSEPH W. HARRIMAN, Cashier.

Nineteenth Ward Bank,
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of this Bank, for the election of Officers and Directors, and Inspectors of Election, will be held at the banking house on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock A. M. L. H. HOLLOWAY, Cashier.

The Importers' and Traders' National Bank of New York,
New York, December 22d, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at its banking rooms, corner of Broadway and Murray Street, Tuesday, January 9th, 1900. The poll will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M. EDWARD TOWNSEND, Cashier.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKholders of the Sebastian Wagon Company for the election of Trustees for the ensuing year will be held at the company's office, 224 East 44th St., on MONDAY, January 8th, 1900, at 10 o'clock A. M. CHARLES A. STADLER, Prest.

National Broadway Bank of the City of New York,
New York, Dec. 11th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 237 Broadway, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
CHAS. J. DAY, Cashier.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS of Harris Brick Co. will be held at their office, 1,123 Broadway, on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, at 12 M. Election of Directors and Inspectors of Election. CHAS. H. MAGIE, Secretary.

DIVIDENDS.

Wisconsin Central Railroad Co.
Coupons No. 39, due January 1st, 1900, from the First Series Bonds of the above company will be paid after that date at the offices of Maitland, Coppell & Co., No. 24 Exchange Place, New York City.
Wisconsin Central Railroad Co.,
By GEORGE COPPELL, Chairman.

DIVIDENDS.

The MERCHANTS' NATIONAL BANK
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
191st Consecutive Semi-Annual Dividend
December 21st, 1899.
THE DIRECTORS of this bank have this day declared a Dividend of Three and one-half per cent., (3½%,) free of tax, payable January 2, 1900.
The transfer books will be closed on and after December 22, 1899, and reopened January 3, 1900.
JOSEPH W. HARRIMAN, Cashier.

National Tube Company,
No. 26 Cortlandt Street,
New York, November 21st, 1899.
PREFERRED STOCK DIVIDEND NO. 2.
At a meeting of the Board of Directors held this day a quarter-yearly dividend of One and Three-quarters Per Centum upon the Preferred Capital Stock of the National Tube Company was declared out of the net profits of the Company, payable January 2d, 1900, at the office of the Company, No. 26 Cortlandt Street, New York City.
The Preferred Stock Transfer Books will be closed on December 15th, 1899, at 3 o'clock P. M., and will remain closed until January 4th, 1900, at 10 o'clock A. M. A. F. LUKE, Treasurer.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co.'s Prior Lien 3½ % Gold Bonds.
Coupon No. 3, due January 1, 1900, from the above bonds, will be paid at maturity upon presentation at the office of the company, No. 2 Wall Street, New York.
For packages of coupons left for verification on and after Thursday, 21st of December, temporary receipts will be given.
The books for the registration and transfer of the above-mentioned bonds will close at noon on Saturday, 23d of December, and will reopen at 10 A. M. on January 2d, 1900.
J. V. McNEAL, Treasurer.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co.'s Southwestern Division First Mortgage 6½% Gold Bonds.
Coupon No. 2, due January 1, 1900, from the above bonds, will be paid at maturity upon presentation at the office of the company, No. 2 Wall Street, New York.
For packages of coupons left for verification on and after Thursday, 21st of December, temporary receipts will be given.
The books for the registration and transfer of the above-mentioned bonds will close at noon on Saturday, 23d of December, and will reopen at 10 A. M. on January 2d, 1900.
J. V. McNEAL, Treasurer.

Irving National Bank,
NEW YORK.
December 19th, 1899.
69TH CONSECUTIVE DIVIDEND.
The Board of Directors have declared a semi-annual dividend of Four (4) per cent., free of tax, to stockholders of record on this date, payable January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will remain closed until that date.
J. DENNISON, Cashier.

New York Central & Hudson River R. R. Co.
Office of the Treasurer,
New York, December 20, 1899.
The Board of Directors of this company, at a meeting held this day, declared a dividend of one and one-quarter per cent. on its capital stock, payable at this office on the 15th day of January next to stockholders of record at the close of business on Saturday the 30th inst.
E. V. W. ROSSITER, Treasurer.

The Fourth National Bank of the City of New York,
New York, Dec. 21st, 1899.
The Board of Directors has this day declared a semi-annual dividend of THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT., free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, proximo.
The transfer books will close at 3 P. M., this date, reopening January 2d, 1900.
CHARLES H. PATTERSON, Cashier.

Amalgamated Copper Company,
52 Broadway, New York, December 21, 1899.
At a meeting of the Directors of the Amalgamated Copper Company, a quarterly dividend of one and one-half per cent. and an extra dividend of one-half per cent. were declared payable January 22, 1900, to stockholders of record at 12 o'clock noon, Dec. 23, 1899. Transfer books close 12 o'clock noon, Dec. 28, 1899, and open Jan. 22, 1900. WM. G. ROCKEFELLER, Sec. and Treas.

The Oriental Bank.
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
NINETY-THIRD CONSECUTIVE SEMI-ANNUAL DIVIDEND.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a dividend of Five (5) Per Cent., payable on and after January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will be closed from December 20, 1899, until January 2, 1900.
NELSON G. AYRES, Cashier.

The Bowery Bank of New York,
New York, Dec. 20th, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared, out of the earnings of the last six months, a regular semi-annual dividend of SIX (6) PER CENT., and also an extra dividend of FIVE (5) PER CENT., payable on and after Jan. 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will be closed from Dec. 20th, 1899, until Jan. 2d, 1900.
CHARLES ESSIG, Cashier.

Havana Commercial Company,
32 Broadway, New York, Dec. 13, 1899.
Preferred Stock Dividend.
The Board of Directors, at a meeting held this day, have declared a quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. on the Preferred Stock of this Company, payable Jan. 15, 1900, to stockholders of record.
Transfer books will close Saturday, Dec. 30, and reopen Tuesday, Jan. 16.
FORD HUNTINGTON, Treasurer.

Office of the United Gas Improvement Company,
N. W. Corner Broad and Arch Streets,
Philadelphia, Pa., December 15, 1899.
The Directors have this day declared a quarterly dividend of TWO PER CENT., ($1 per share,) payable January 15, 1900, to stockholders of record at the close of business December 30, 1899. Checks will be mailed.
EDWARD C. LEE, Treasurer.

Garfield National Bank,
23d St. & Sixth Av.
New York, December 20, 1899.
The Board of Directors has this day declared a quarterly dividend of TEN PER CENT. upon the capital stock of this Bank, payable, free of tax, on and after December 30th, 1899. The transfer books will be closed until Tuesday, January 2d, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M.
R. W. POOR, Cashier.

100TH CONSECUTIVE DIVIDEND.
National Broadway Bank.
New York, December 20th, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of Six Per Cent., free of tax, payable on the 2d day of January, 1900.
The transfer books will be closed on December 20th, 1899, at 3 o'clock P. M. and reopened January 2d, 1900, at 10 o'clock A. M.
CHAS. J. DAY, Cashier.

National Bank of Commerce in New York. Dividend.
December 22d, 1899.
A semi-annual dividend of FOUR (4)' PER CENT. has been declared upon the capital stock of this Bank, payable on and after Tuesday, 2d January, proximo. Transfer books will be closed Friday, December 22d, 1899, at close of business and reopened Wednesday, January 3d, 1900, at 10 o'clock A. M. W. C. DUVALL, Cashier.

Columbia Bank,
Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street,
New York, December 20th, 1899.
The Directors of this Bank have declared a semi-annual dividend of Four (4) Per Cent., free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will remain closed from December 20th, 1899, to January 2d, 1900.
W. S. GRIFFITH, Cashier.

The Hanover National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
New York, December 22d, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a dividend of Five Per Cent., free of tax, payable on and after Jan. 2, 1900. The transfer books will remain closed until that date.
WILLIAM HALLS, Jr., Cashier.

The Bank of America,
New York, December 22, 1899.
The Board of Directors have to-day declared a semi-annual dividend of SEVEN (7) PER CENT., free of tax, payable January 2, 1900, to stockholders of record of this date.
The transfer books will remain closed until January 4, 1900. W. M. BENNET, Cashier.

The Mechanics' National Bank of the City of New York,
Dec. 20th, 1899.
DIVIDEND.
A dividend of FOUR PER CENT. has to-day been declared by this bank, payable Jan. 2d, 1900.
Transfer books will remain closed until that date. G. W. GARTH, Cashier.

The Eleventh Ward Bank.
New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of Four (4) per cent., free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900. The transfer books will remain closed until that date.
CHARLES E. BROWN, Cashier.

The Importers' and Traders' National Bank of New York,
New York, December 22d, 1899.
A Dividend of Ten Per Cent. out of the earnings of the last six months has to-day been declared by this bank, payable on the second day of January next. The transfer books will remain closed till that date. EDWARD TOWNSEND, Cashier.

The Procter & Gamble Company.
Cincinnati, Ohio, Dec. 19th, 1899.
The Directors of this Company have this day declared the regular quarterly dividend of TWO PER CENT. on the Preferred Stock of the Company, payable on and after Jan. 15th, 1900. The transfer books will be closed from Jan. 1st to Jan. 15th, inclusive. D. B. GAMBLE, Sec'y.

Ninth National Bank,
New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
A dividend of Two Per Cent. upon the capital stock of this bank, free of tax, has been declared, payable on and after January 2d, 1900. The transfer books will be closed from Dec. 23d, 1899, to January 2d, 1900. H. H. NAZRO, Cashier.

East River National Bank.
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
A dividend of Four (4) Per Cent. has been declared, payable on and after Tuesday, January 2, 1900. E. NEWELL, Cashier.

DIVIDENDS.

CITY OF SYRACUSE.
Syracuse & Chenango Valley R. R. Bonds.
Syracuse Northern Railroad Bonds.
The bonds and coupons of the City of Syracuse, known as
"Syracuse & Chenango Valley Railroad Bonds".....$500,000.00
"Syracuse Northern Railroad Bonds".....$500,000.00
due January 1st, 1900, will be paid on and after that date, at the office of the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, 59 Cedar Street, New York. E. F. ALLEN, City Treasurer.

The American Tobacco Company,
111 Fifth Avenue,
New York, December 27th, 1899.
A quarterly dividend of 2 Per Cent. has been declared on the Preferred Stock of this Company, payable at the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, 20 William Street, New York City, on the 1st day of February, 1900, to the holders of the Preferred Stock of record on the 15th day of January, 1900.
The transfer books for the Preferred Stock will be closed on January 15th, 1900, at 3 o'clock P. M., and will reopen on February 2d, 1900, at 10 o'clock A. M. GEORGE ARENTS, Treasurer.

The American Tobacco Company,
111 Fifth Avenue,
New York, December 27th, 1899.
A dividend of One and One-half Per Cent. (1½%) has been declared on the Common Stock of this Company, payable at the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, 20 William Street, New York City, on the 1st day of February, 1900, to the holders of the Common Stock of record on the 15th day of January, 1900.
The transfer books for the Common Stock will be closed on January 15th, 1900, at 3 o'clock P. M., and will reopen on February 2d, 1900, at 10 o'clock A. M. GEORGE ARENTS, Treasurer.

Leather Manufacturers' National Bank
29 WALL ST.
133D DIVIDEND.
New York, December 26th, 1899.
The Board of Directors has this day declared a semi-annual dividend of FIVE PER CENT., free of tax, out of the earnings of the current six months, payable January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will be closed until that date. G. W. McGARRAH, Cashier.

Hamilton Bank
OF NEW YORK CITY.
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
DIVIDEND.—The Directors of this Bank have this day declared the usual semi-annual dividend of THREE PER CENT., free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will remain closed until that date. J. C. JAY, Cashier.

The Chatham National Bank.
QUARTERLY DIVIDEND.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a quarterly dividend of FOUR PER CENT. out of the earnings of the past three months, payable on or after January 2, 1900, until which date transfer books will be closed.
H. P. DOREMUS, Cashier.
New York, December 22, 1899.

Merchants' Exchange National Bank of the City of New York.
New York, Dec. 20th, 1899.
The Board of Directors have declared a semi-annual dividend of Three Per Cent., free of tax, payable on and after the second day of January, 1900, until which date the transfer books will be closed. A. S. APGAR, Cashier.

The National Butchers and Drovers' Bank.
New York, December 20th, 1899.
The Directors of this Bank have this day declared a semi-annual Dividend of three (3) per cent. payable on and after January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will remain closed until that date. WM. H. CHASE, Cashier.

December 22, 1899.
The coupons due January 1, 1900, on the PLEASANT VALLEY COAL COMPANY'S First Mortgage Five Per Cent. Bonds will be paid on and after January 2d on presentation at The State Trust Company, 100 Broadway, New York.
WM. F. COLTON, Treasurer.

THE BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R. CO. Southwestern Division Bonds.
Coupon No. 2 from the above bonds, due Jan. 1st, 1900, will be paid on presentation at the office of the Company, No. 2 Wall Street, New York, on and after Thursday, Dec. 28.
J. V. McNEAL, Treasurer.

THE BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R. CO. Prior Lien Bonds.
Coupon No. 3 from the above bonds due January 1, 1900, will be paid on presentation at the office of the Company, No. 2 Wall Street, New York, on and after Thursday, Dec. 28.
J. V. McNEAL, Treasurer.

Seventh National Bank,
New York, Dec. 26, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a dividend of Three Per Cent. (3%,) free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900, until which date the transfer books will be closed.
GEO. W. ADAMS, Cashier.

Phenix National Bank,
New York, December 26th, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of Three (3) Per Cent., free from taxes, payable on and after January 2d, 1900, until which date the transfer books are closed. ALFRED M. BULL, Cashier.

Tennessee Coal, Iron and R. R. Co.,
No. 80 Broadway, New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
The coupons due Jan. 1st on the bonds of the Alabama Steel and Shipbuilding Company will be paid at maturity at the Hanover National Bank.
J. BOWRON, Treas.,
Tenn. Coal, Iron & R. R. Co.

The National Bank of the Republic,
New York, Dec. 22d, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a dividend of Four Per Cent., (4%,) free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900, until which date the transfer books will be closed.
C. H. STOUT, Cashier.

Denver Union Water Company.
Coupons of this Company, due January 1st, 1900, will be paid on and after Jan. 2d, 1900, upon presentation at the Fourth National Bank of the City of New York.—December 26th, 1899.
C. H. PATTERSON, Cashier.

SAVINGS BANKS.

EMIGRANT
INDUSTRIAL SAVINGS BANK.
51 Chambers St., New York.
New York, Dec. 27, 1899.
DIVIDEND.—The Trustees of this Bank have ordered that interest be paid to Depositors entitled thereto for the six and three months ending Dec. 31, 1899, at the rate of Three and One-half Per Cent. per annum on all deposits up to the limit of Three Thousand Dollars, ($3,000.)
Interest will be credited under date of Jan'y 1, 1900, and will be payable on and after Monday, Jan'y 15th. JAMES McMAHON, President.
DAV

was said that it was undoubtedly true, as such a project had been under consideration for some time.

THE DEPOSIT OF INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS IN NATIONAL BANKS.

(FROM A SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.)

Some sensational statements are spread abroad concerning the distribution of the receipts from internal revenue as deposits in National banks, which are calculated to do public injury as well as personal injustice. That the Secretary of the Treasury, some weeks before the pressure for relief to the money market of New York became serious, should have declined to concentrate deposits here and should have afterward concluded to make this city the distributing point for them, inasmuch as this was where the relief was chiefly needed and where most of the deposits would be sure to go, is not of itself a cause of just animadversion. The funds are really to be fairly distributed among the banks which apply for them and put up the required security.

Certain points have to be borne in mind in regard to these deposits, the object of which is to avoid tying up so much of the Government surplus in the Treasury vaults and leaving it idle when it is needed in circulation. One is that this is the only part of the current Government revenues which can be so deposited, and another is that these could not be so deposited if they were once paid into the Sub-Treasury. They must go to the banks from the collectors of internal revenue and every deposit must be secured by an equivalent amount in par value of Government bonds. The convenience and advantage of having some one bank receive the deposits in the first instance and distribute them among the designated depositories, thereby serving as an agent of the Treasury in this matter, is quite obvious.

A bank selected for the purpose had almost of necessity to be in New York, and it ought to be one that can put up ample security at any time for all the funds intrusted to it, and one that has unquestionable facilities for the work which it undertakes. In other words, the selection should be a guarantee of the promptness and safety of the operation, inasmuch as under the law the Sub-Treasury cannot be used for the purpose. The one chosen not only answers this requirement, but it was the first to come forward with its application and with an offer to put up by far the largest amount of bonds. It is the bank which has in its possession the largest accumulation of bonds available for the purpose. Moreover its connections and facilities for a transfer of funds to the different depositories are without question unequaled. In being chosen as a distributing agent it was not permitted to retain deposits to the amount of its own proffered security, but was required to distribute each day's receipts pro rata under the orders of the Treasurer.

The task undertaken by the bank that is to receive the internal revenue collections and distribute them to the various depositories designated by the Treasurer involves considerable labor and expense, for which the bank receives no direct compensation. In ordinary times the receiving of these deposits is rather an accommodation to the Government in its widely extended internal revenue service than a source of profit to the depository banks. Now it is likely that there will be some small profit in it for those which receive the deposits without incurring any direct expense on their account, but for the bank which is to handle the bulk of the collections and do the work of distributing it is doubtful if there will be any profit at all. In fact, its officers calculate that it will cost a little more than it will come to. The only advantage to be derived from it seems to be the recognition which the standing of the institution gets in its selection for a service for which the safest and most efficient agency should be chosen. While this particular bank retains its pro rata share of the deposits, the whole business of collecting and distributing must be conducted by it in accordance with directions from Washington. The attacks that have been made upon this arrangement for relieving the money market can only be inspired by malice or ignorance. A. K. F.

New York, Dec. 26, 1899.

UNION PACIFIC'S EARNINGS.

The pamphlet report of the Union Pacific Railroad Company for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1899, issued yesterday, shows for the system—in which are included the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Companies—a surplus over charges and preferred dividends of more than 5 per cent. on the common stock then outstanding.

The tabulated statement, showing the result of operations of the railroad company for the year, follows.

	1899.
Gross earnings	$19,811,641
Operating expenses and taxes	11,412,168
Net earnings	$8,399,473
Interest, dividends, &c.	1,218,736
Balance applicable to fixed charges and dividends	$9,618,209
Interest on funded debt	3,830,000
Balance	$5,788,209
Received from exchange of Oregon Short Line stock	795,159
Balance applicable to dividends	$6,583,368
Dividends—
1¼ per cent. on preferred, paid April 19	$1,125,000
2 per cent. on preferred, payable Oct. 2	1,500,000
	$2,625,000
Surplus	$3,958,363

***

The total result of operations of the three lines—Union Pacific Railroad Company, Oregon Short Line, and Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company—shows: Gross earnings, $34,394,729; operating expenses, $20,452,061; net earnings, $13,942,668; other income, $1,729,522; total income, $15,672,191; fixed charges, $6,031,871; surplus, $8,740,319.

In this connection it may be said that the Union Pacific Railroad Company owns 98 per cent. of the stock of the Oregon Short Line and, together with the Oregon Short Line Railroad Company, owns 91 per cent. of the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company.

***

The traffic statistics of the Union Pacific Company for the year show: Revenue from passengers, $3,307,564; revenue from freight, $14,148,631; passengers carried, 1,526,465; passengers carried one mile, 167,125,180; revenue per passenger per mile, 1.979 cents; total tons carried, 4,359,224; tons carried one mile, 1,393,205,994; receipts per ton per mile, 1.015 cents. The total mileage acquired during the year aggregated 1,012.67, making the total 2,848.38 miles operated on June 30, 1899; the average mileage operated, however, was only 2,421.60 miles.

***

During the year $1,714,800 was appropriated to be expended for new locomotives, cars, &c., with the result that the number of cars on the united system has increased 4,760, or 44.76 per cent. Over $700,000 has been spent in shortening the line and reducing the grade on the Wyoming division, while for rails, ties, ballasting, &c., over $1,390,000 was spent.

***

Though the report had been more or less discounted, the common stock of the company yesterday rose 1¾ points on sales of 24,000 shares, and the preferred three-fourths of a point.

LOCAL TRACTION STOCKS.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit had rather a sensational opening yesterday, falling off over 2 points, and later declining a full point more. The break, however, was only temporary, for in less than an hour the loss had been recovered, and, save for a short time in the afternoon, when evidences of profit taking appeared, the quotation steadily improved, until at the close of the day the price marked 69⅝, a net advance of 1¾ points. At one time, indeed, the 70 mark was passed. There was no news in respect to the property itself, though there was more or less discussion of what might develop before the Grand Jury to-day.

The other local traction stocks had a good day of it, Metropolitan appreciating over 4 points, Manhattan 2½, and Third Avenue 2. All of these stocks opened strong, Metropolitan being up 3 full points.

SUGAR GOES UP.

American Sugar was notably strong yesterday, and though on several occasions bear pressure was directed against the stock, the quotation throughout the day was so well maintained that at the conclusion of the day's business the price showed a net advance of 3½ points on sales of some 38,000 shares.

It was said on the Street that when the stock was around 120 H. O. Havemeyer and his friends had bought in over 150,000 shares. Lack of definite developments in respect to the talked-of new companies, together with a feeling in some quarters that after the first of the year a truce may be arranged between the warring companies, also contributed to yesterday's strength.

TENNESSEE COAL BUOYANT.

On trading of little over 2,000 shares Tennessee Coal and Iron gained 1⅝ points yesterday. In this connection it is said at the office of the company here that the work now being done in the company's coal mines will add about 20,000 tons to the daily output and swell considerably the earnings.

REGARDED AS SIGNIFICANT.

Wall Street regards as peculiarly significant the changes just made in the Board of Directors of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern, inasmuch as it is assured that the control of the Southwestern and of the Baltimore and Ohio property will now practically be under the same set of officials and the separate corporate organizations be more or less merged.

But it is not so much for this reason as for what further developments may appear that the change in the Directorate is followed with interest. Both Chairman Salomon and President Cowen of the Baltimore and Ohio have hinted at important pending developments relating to the property, and this practical unification of the systems is regarded as but a preliminary to these foreshadowed matters.

HOW DIVIDENDS HELP.

American Tobacco took a sudden spurt yesterday on the declaration by the company of the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent. on the preferred stock and 1½ per cent. on the common. About 20,000 shares of the common were traded in, with a gain for the day of 2¾ points. Other industrials were helped by the rally.

AN OLD STORY REVIVED.

The old story of closer relations between Southern Pacific and Atchison was revived yesterday, and it was even stated that the roads had agreed on a division of territory. It is impossible to obtain exact information as to the now existing relations of the two roads, but that an understanding of some sort has been reached which will be of advantage to both systems is generally understood.

Officers of both companies speak hopefully of the business of the roads.

BUYING FOR INVESTMENT.

There was continued buying for investment yesterday, principally in the Standard Railway stocks, such as St. Paul and Burlington.

It is said that not for a long time have such strong interests appeared in the market as are now seen.

STILL ON THE INCREASE.

Among the excellent statements of railroad earnings published yesterday were those of the Southern, Louisville and Nashville, Chicago Great Western, and Wisconsin Central.

In the case of Southern the earnings for the third week of December increased $81,800, and from July 1, $1,642,100; while in the case of Louisville the respective increases for the same period were $71,300 and $2,131,800. Wisconsin Central bettered itself $29,100 in November, and since July 1 it has a surplus to its credit of $153,670.

The gross earnings of Chicago Great Western for November were $550,390, as compared with $476,950 a year ago, but, thanks to increased expenditures for betterments, &c., the net earnings showed an increase of little more than $1,000. From July 1 to Nov. 30 the net earnings were $1,063,600 and the increase $131,470.

COAL STOCKS STRONG.

The coal stocks were strong yesterday on reports of the continued active business of the roads. Jersey Central gained 2 points, Delaware and Hudson 2, Lackawanna, ¾, and Reading first preferred 1½, and second preferred 1⅜.

STRENGTH OF FLOWER GROUP.

The so-called Flower stocks shared in the strength of the general market yesterday. Federal Steel common advanced two points and the preferred 1⅜; International Paper bettered itself 1¾ points, while People's Gas appreciated 2 points, and Rock Island ⅜.

NATIONAL PARK BANK PLANS.

The stockholders of the National Park Bank are to meet Jan. 9 to ratify a proposition to increase the number of Directors. The present Directors are limited to fifteen. They do not own a majority of the bank's stock, while the ownership of stock recently purchased in the market is not directly represented in the board.

If the stockholders of the bank consent the charter of the institution will be amended so as to permit of the increase of the board by one or two Directors, who will be chosen so that increased representation of stock in the board will be secured. It was stated on authority yesterday that an increase of the capital of the bank, $2,000,000, has not been officially considered. The bank's net profits amount to $3,339,500, it has $44,000,000 of deposits, and the price of its stock is $485 bid, $500 asked.

WALL STREET TOPICS.

Reports from Western roads that merchandise is moving in such volume as to offset any other losses in traffic.

Statement that the East and West Alabama Railway has been purchased in the interest of the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham for $1,250,000.

Declaration of regular dividends on American Tobacco common and preferred stocks.

Decrease of $7,877,812 in exports of general merchandise from the Port of New York for the week, as compared with the previous week, and decrease of $2,665,332 as compared with the corresponding week last year.

Increase of $71,752 in net earnings of the Wabash for November, making an increase of $391,913 since July 1.

Agreement signed by all the roads eastbound from Chicago not to pay commissions on any kind of tickets sold over their lines after Jan. 1.

January dividends and interest disbursements at New York estimated at $165,000,000; at Boston, $30,000,000; at Philadelphia, $25,000,000; a total for the three cities of $220,000,000.

Special meeting of stockholders of the National Park Bank to be held Jan. 9 to act on a proposition to increase the number of Directors.

Deficit of $1,710,250 under legal requirements shown by weekly statement outside banks, a decrease of $318,475 as compared with the previous meeting.

Meeting to-day of the stockholders of the Chicago and East Illinois to ratify the purchase of the Evansville, Terre Haute and Chicago.

Increase of $1,073 in Chicago Great Western's net earnings for November, making an increase of $181,475 since July 1.

On the Paris Bourse.

PARIS, Dec. 26.—Prices opened very firm on the Bourse to-day, but soon reacted. The depression became more marked during the afternoon, prices falling away under the lead of rentes. Kafirs were affected heavily, on the rumor that Ladysmith had fallen. Three per cent. rentes, 98f 90c for the account; Exchange on London, 25f 35½c for checks. Spanish 4s closed at 65.10.

Gold Premiums Quoted in London.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Gold premiums are quoted at Madrid at 27.55 and at Lisbon at 43.50.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

Trading yesterday in the market for outside securities indicated that last week's heavy liquidation had practically cleared the market of loosely held stock, and the more or less general improvement in prices showed that confidence in the future of the market is being renewed. Net gains were not large, except in a very few cases, but though advances were small they extended throughout the list and gave a considerably better tone to the market. Total transactions for the day were not large, and only in two or three stocks did anything like activity appear. Seemingly there is no ground for fear of a repetition in the near future of last week's events, and yesterday's market was an indication that apprehension has about run its course.

NEW AMSTERDAM GAS was one of the issues that showed the most strength, though trading was not large in either the stock or the bonds. No net change appeared in the common stock, which on Saturday had enjoyed a sharp advance, but the gain in this issue was yesterday extended to the preferred stock and to the bonds, and these both showed substantial improvement. At the close 43½ was bid for the preferred stock, against 40¾ on Saturday. In the bonds transactions were very light, and the only sales reported during the day were at a figure fractionally above Saturday's close. It developed that very few bonds were in the market, and later bidders were obliged to considerably advance their bids, and without obtaining any bonds. As high as 91¼ was bid for round lots, while late in the day 94 was bid for an odd lot. None was to be had under 95, and lots other than very small ones were held in the neighborhood of 98. Considerable attention is given to the rumors in regard to the approaching gas-war settlement, and the feeling is more or less general that announcements of developments favorable to the New Amsterdam Gas Company, as well as to the other local gas companies, will not now be long delayed. The strength which the New Amsterdam issues displayed during the latter part of last week when the outside market was more or less demoralized, was taken as a sign that some one had knowledge of developments of no small importance.

STORAGE POWER was in demand, and on a few sales went up to 12½, the final sale, an advance of nearly 2 points over Saturday's best bid. It closed at 12 bid, a net gain of 1¼ points.

DISTILLING OF AMERICA was notably strong, and closing quotations showed a substantial advance in both issues of this stock. The common made a net gain of 1¼ points, ending the day at 7⅛ bid, while the preferred stock advanced 1⅜ points, to 22.

AMALGAMATED COPPER was fairly active at figures fractionally better than Saturday's close. It sold as high as 80⅝, and ended the day at 80⅝ bid, an eighth of a point advance.

ELECTRIC VEHICLE, which suffered so much in last week's liquidation, but which began to show improvement on Saturday, continued its advance, and on small sales got as high as 60. It was in demand at this figure at the close, and showed a net gain of 15 points, or nearly all the loss it suffered last week.

AMERICAN BICYCLE common sold to the extent of 200 or 300 shares at 17, and the bonds were in demand at 92, an advance of 1 point. Very few of these bonds are now offered, and none near the bid mentioned.

Closing quotations were as follows:

ACTIVE SECURITIES.

Gas Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Bay State Gas	1¼	1⅞
New Amsterdam	23½	24
New Amsterdam pf	43½	45
New Amsterdam 5s, with interest	91	95

Industrials.

American Agricultural Chemical	..	31
American Agricultural Chemical pf.	77	78
American Bicycle	15	20
American Bicycle pf	50	60
American Bicycle bonds	92	..
American Hide & Leather	..	35
American Hide & Leather pf	..	80
American Woolen Goods	19½	20¼
American Woolen Goods pf	75	76
American Writing Paper 5s	85	88
Beet Sugar	17	25
Beet Sugar pf	70	77
Distilling Company of America	7¼	7½
Distilling Company of America pf	22	23
Electric Axle Light & Power	6	6¼
Electric Boat	21	23
Electric Boat pf	38	41
Havana Commercial	13	15
Havana Commercial pf	58	60
International Pump	13	16
International Pump pf	58	60
National Gramophone	63	68
National Salt	43	46
National Salt pf	75	77
National Tube	42	43
National Tube pf	91	93
Otis Elevator	20	..
Otis Elevator pf	..	89
Royal Baking Powder pf	90	92
Rubber Goods Mfg	24	26
Rubber Goods Mfg. pf	74	76
Sloss-Sheffield	25	27
Sloss-Sheffield pf	63	67
Standard Oil of New Jersey	450	..
Union Steel & Chain	15	..
Union Steel & Chain pf	..	65
U. S. Pneumatic Horse Collar	..	⅛

Miscellaneous.

Amalgamated Copper	80⅝	81
American Air Power	30	40
American Cotton	..	50
Arizona Lead	10	10½
Asphalt Company of America	11½	12½
British Columbia Copper	8	9
Chicago & Alton sub	98¼	101½
Chicago & Alton 3s, (new)	93	96
Electric Vehicle	60	67
Electric Vehicle pf	..	75
*Electro-Pneumatic, assessment paid	⅞	1⅛
Flemington Coal & Coke	1⅞	..
Illinois Transportation	2½	2⅝
*Markeen Copper	6¾	7⅜
Mexican Gas	97	98¼
New England Transportation	5½	6½
New York Gas & Electric 4s	87	87½
New York Gas & Electric 5s	99	101
New York Transportation	10	10½
Pittsburg, Bessemer & Lake Erie	21	22
St. Louis subs	..	124
St. Louis common, when issued	..	23
St. Louis preferred, when issued	..	93
St. Louis 4s, when issued	..	94¾
Storage Power	12	13
Tennessee Copper	10	12
Trust Company of America	206	212
Virginia Coal, Iron & Coke	..	28
Whipsaw Copper	12¾	13½

*Selling dollars per share. Par value, $10.

LESS ACTIVE SECURITIES.

Street Railways.

	Bid.	Asked.
Broadway & Seventh Avenue	235	240
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 1st	104	105
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 2d	112	112
Broadway Surface 1st	115	117
Broadway Surface 2d	104	105
Brooklyn City Railroad	235	237
Brooklyn, Bath & West End 5s	102	108
Central Park, N. & E. River	198	..
Central Park, N. & E. River 7s	106	108
Chicago Union Traction	28	28¾
Chicago Union Traction, pf	79	79½
Columbus Railway	20	24
Columbus Railway pf	82	86
Con. Traction of N. J.	58	60
Con. Traction of N. J. 5s	106	108
Eighth Avenue Railroad	400	410
Kings County Elevated 4s, (new)	82	84
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av	70	74
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av. 1st	115	117
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av. 2d	82	88
Nassau Electric 4s	90	94
Nassau Electric 5s	109	112
New Orleans Traction	28	30
New Orleans Traction pf	102	104
Ninth Avenue Railroad	190	205
North Jersey Street Railway	80½	82
North Jersey Street Railway 4s	88	90
Orange & Passaic Valley bonds	108	104
Steinway Railway Co. 6 p. c. 1st	117	118
Second Avenue Railroad consols	115½	117
Sixth Avenue Railroad	205	210
Syracuse Rapid Transit	12	18
Syracuse Rapid Transit pf	25	35
Union Railway 1st 5s	115	117
Union Railway stock	190	200
United Traction, Providence	110	175
Worcester (Mass.) Traction	..	30
Worcester (Mass.) Traction pf	104	107

Gas Companies.

Buffalo (N. Y.) stock	7	9
Buffalo (N. Y.) 1st with interest	..	74
Central Union 5s, guaranteed	103½	106
Consolidated Gas of Newark	..	55
Consolidated Gas of Newark bonds	..	103
Consolidated Gas bonds of N. J.	87½	89½
Consolidated Gas of N. J.	21¾	23½
Consumers' Gas (Jersey City) bonds	102	105
Denver Gas	40	48
Denver Gas 5s	80	81
Essex & Hudson Gas	35	40
Fort Wayne Gas	40	45
Fort Wayne Gas 6s	60	64
Indianapolis Gas	100	105
Indianapolis Gas bonds	101	103
Lafayette Gas Co	40	45
Lafayette Gas Co. 1st 6s	60	65
Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas	40	45
Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas 6s	60	65
Mutual Gas of New York	200	..
Madison (Wis.) stock	..	81
New England Gas & Coke	..	22
New England Gas & Coke bonds	..	71
N. Y. & E. R. Gas Co. 1st	107	110
N. Y. & E. R. Gas Co. con	109	112
N. Y. Suburban Gas Co. con	102½	103½
North Hudson L., H. & P. Co.	55	56
North Hud. L., H. & P. Co. bonds	107	109
Ohio & Indiana	40	45
Ohio & Indiana 1st 6s	60	65
St. Joseph (Mo.)	40	46
St. Joseph (Mo.) 6s	96	98
St. Paul Gas stock	88	91
St. Paul Gas bonds	89	91
Standard Gas, New York	..	100
Standard Gas, New York, pf	110	125
Standard Gas 1st	116	118
Syracuse Gas stock	14	16
Syracuse Gas 1st 5 per cent. bonds	85	90
Western Gas	105	107
Western Gas 1st 5s, with interest	106	106½

Ferry Companies.

Brooklyn Ferry	..	82
Brooklyn Ferry 5s	90	94
Hoboken Ferry, (new)	88	93
Hoboken Ferry con. 5s	91	93
Metropolitan Ferry 5s	106	110
Union Ferry	40	41
Union Ferry bonds	100	102

Industrials.

American Ginning	30	38
American Typefounders	51	55
Anderson Tobacco Company	10	12
Barney & Smith	15	20
Barney & Smith pf	..	100
Barney & Smith bonds	106	107
Consolidated Rubber Tire	7	..
Consolidated Rubber Tire pf	30	35
Cramps' Shipyard	86	88
General Chemical	89	..
General Chemical pf	97½	100
Hudson River Telephone	115	118
Lorillard Company pf	..	110
Standard Coupler	37	41
Trenton Potteries	6	10
Trenton Potteries pf	65	75
Union Typewriter	20	25
Union Typewriter 1st pf	110	118
Union Typewriter 2d pf	118	122
Worthington Pump pf	107	109

Miscellaneous.

American Bank Note	47	50
Central & South American Tel	110	113
Iron Steamboat	3	5
Iron Steamboat bonds	60	90
Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis	5	7
Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis pf	20	25

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call was 2¼@6 per cent., closing at 3 per cent.

Time money, 6 per cent. for all periods. Mercantile paper, 6 per cent. for sixty to ninety days' indorsements, 6 per cent. for choice four to six months' single names, and 7@8 per cent. for others.

Clearing House statement: Exchanges, $121,582,538; balances, $7,492,568; Sub-Treasury debit balance, $1,169,764.

Money on call in London, nominally at 4½ per cent. Rate of discount in open market, 6⅛ per cent. for both short and three months' bills.

Foreign exchange quiet and firm. Nominal rates were $4.81½ for sixty days and $4.88 for demand. Rates for actual business closed as follows: Sixty days, $4.80¾@4 demand, $4.87¼; cables, $4.88⅝@4.88¾; commercial bills, $4.80@4.81¼.

Continental exchange was quoted as follows: Francs, 5.23⅜ less 1-16 and 5.20 less 1-16; reichsmarks, 93¾ and 94¼; guilders at 39⅛ and 40 3-16.

Exchange on New York at domestic centres: Boston—20c discount @ par. Chicago—30c premium. New Orleans—Commercial, $1.25 discount; bank, par. San Francisco—Sight, 10c premium; telegraphic, 12½c premium. Charleston—Buying, par; selling, ⅛c premium. Savannah—Buying, ⅛c off; selling, par. St. Louis—10c discount. Cincinnati—Between banks, par; over counter, 50c premium.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Dec. 26.—The decline in United States Oil from above 24 to within a small fraction of 20 on fairly heavy selling, and accompanied by rumors of legal interference with the company's dividend programme, was the principal feature in to-day's stock market. This stock and Sugar and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy made up the bulk of the trading in what was a remarkably dull market. Parrot and Arcadian in the coppers were bought fairly well, the former showing considerable strength. Bell Telephone was about the only other strong spot, the stock working up to 347.

At the Clearing House 6 per cent. was the rate between banks, and New York funds sold from 20 cents discount to par.

Call money is moderately offered at 6@7 per cent. In collateral loans, business is largely confined to renewals and the rate is nominally 6 per cent. up to six months on the highest grade of dividend-paying securities.

Closing bid and asked:

Mining Stocks.

	Bid.	Asked.		Bid.	Asked.
Adventure	6½	6¾	Old Colony	4¼	4¾
Alloues	3	3½	O. Dominion	18⅝	19½
Arcadian	22	22½	Osceola	66½	68½
Arnold	5	5½	Parrot	37	38
Ash Bed	..	1	Pioneer	2	2½
Atlantic	23	25	Quincy	135	140
Baltic	16½	17½	R. Island	4¼	4½
B. & Cr. C.	20	..	Santa Fé	5	5½
Bost. & Mont.	255	260	Santa Ysabel	7	7½
Butte & Bos.	42½	45	Shoe	30	31
C. & Hecla	718	725	Tamarack	175	180
Centennial	15	16	Utah Con	25	25½
Franklin	13	13½	Washing'n	1 11-16	..
Humboldt	2	2½	White Knob	7	8
Isle Royale	25	26	Winona	4½	..
Mohawk	14½	15½	Wolverine	373	373½

Railroad Stocks.

Boston & A.	242	243	Bos. Gas 5s	..	84
Boston & L.	241	..	Cent. Mass.	10	12
Boston & Me.	199	200	Fitchburg pf.	110	115
Boston & P.	299	300	West End	92½	93
Bost. Elev	97	98

Miscellaneous Stocks.

Am. Bell Tel.	345	350	Mex. Tele	2⅜	3
Chi. Stk. Y.	130	131	N. E. Tel.	130	138
Dom. Coal	43½	44¾	U. S. Oil	22	22⅝
D. Coal pf	114	..	West. Elec.	38½	38¾
Erie Tel	100½	101½	W. Elec. pf.	..	63

CHICAGO QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—Biscuit showed strength to-day. The common advanced from the opening, at 34½, to 35½, and closed at 35. The preferred sold at 90¼@90. Linseed opened at 52½, sold to 53, and closed at the starting price. The common sold at 12⅜@12½. Metropolitan bonds opened at 93½, sold to 94, and closed at 93⅜. The preferred brought 74 and the certificates 24.

Sales.		High.	Low.	Close.
475	Am. Linseed	12⅝	12⅜	12½
1,212	Am. Linseed pf	53	52	52½
25	Am. Tin Plate	27	27	27
300	Chicago Union Trac	25	25	25
68	Chicago Union T. pf	75¼	74	75½
100	Diamond Match	121	121	121
50	Lake St. El.	15	15	15
35	Metropolitan El.	24	24	24
110	Metropol. El. pf.	74	73	74
1,040	National Biscuit	35⅛	34¼	35
258	National Biscuit pf	90¼	90	90
50	National Carbon	15½	15½	15½
100	South Side El.	98	98	98
319	West Chicago	110⅞	110⅛	110⅞
7	Western Stone	35	35	35

BONDS.

Sales.		High.	Low.	Close.
$10,000	City Railway 4½s	100⅝	100⅝	100⅝
21,000	Met. El. gold 4s	94	93½	93⅝

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26.—Dullness and firmness were the chief characteristics of the trading to-day. Little long stock came out, the bulk of the offerings coming from those who bought last week at a lower level and were satisfied with their profits. Prices generally were better. Lehigh Valley rose 1, to 24; Pennsylvania allotments, 1⅛ to 12⅝; Cambria Steel, ¾, to 19½; Electric Company of America, ¾, to 12; Asphalt, ⅛, to 12⅜; Tidewater Steel, ⅛, to 11⅞; Union Traction, ⅜, to 36⅜; United Gas, 3¼ to 143½; Marsden, ⅛, to 11½. Electric Storage Battery gyrated between 76 and 78 on sales of 127 shares, which were divided into five transactions. The close was steady below the top.

Closing bid and asked:

	Bid.	Asked.		Bid.	Asked.
Cambria	19¼	19⅝	Union Trac.	36	36½
Choctaw	33	33⅝	United G. & I.	142¼	143½
El. Co. of Am.	11⅜	12	Welsh, Lt.	35	36
Lehigh Val.	23⅞	24¼	W. N. Y. & P.	..	..
Marsden	11	11⅜	Penn.	5	5½
Phila. Trac.	94¾	95

RAILWAY STATEMENTS.

The following railways reporting yesterday gross earnings for the third week in December showed increases:

Alabama Great Southern	$5,422
Ann Arbor	2,703
Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg	14,779
Canadian Pacific	51,000
Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling	11,353
Denver & Rio Grande	2,100
Evansville & Terre Haute	155
Flint & Pere Marquette	3,997
Lake Erie & Western	21,050
Louisville & Nashville	71,315
Peoria, Decatur & Evansville	3,750
Rio Grande Southern	1,000
Rio Grande Western	23,350
St. Paul	3,945
Santa Fé, Prescott & Phenix	2,960
Southern Railway	81,824
Toledo & Ohio Central	4,625
Twin City Rapid Transit	8,228
Wabash	46,858
Wheeling & Lake Erie	8,872
Total increase 20 roads	$374,286

***

The following showed decreases:

Cleveland, Canton & Southern	$397
Evansville & Indianapolis	218
Fort Worth & Rio Grande	2,147
Missouri, Kansas & Texas	24,128
Texas & Pacific	21,089
Toledo, St. Louis & Kansas City	4,969
Total decrease 6 roads	$52,948
Net increase	$321,338

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

Complete Transactions in Stocks—Tuesday, Dec. 26, 1899.

Closing. Bid.	Asked.	Sales.		First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Net Change.
18	18⅝	1,900	Am. Car & Foundry	12¼	18½	12¼	18½	+1½
55⅝	56	1,810	Am. Car & Found. pf	54	55½	54	55½	+1⅝
31⅝	32	225	American Ice	32½	32½	32½	32½	+⅞
32	32⅜	1,770	American Cotton Oil	31½	32⅞	31½	32½	+1
12¼	12⅜	200	American Linseed	12⅜	12⅞	12⅜	12½	+⅜
52¼	52⅞	500	Am. Linseed pf	52½	52⅞	52½	52⅞	+⅞
26	30	100	Am. Malting pf	26	26	26	26	..
34½	35	1,400	Am. Smelt. & Ref.	32	34	32	34	+2
85	86	710	Am. Smelt. & Ref. pf	84	85	84	85	+1
3¼	4	50	American Spirits Mfg.	3½	3½	3½	3½	..
44	44¼	17,100	Am. Steel & Wire	43	44⅞	42½	44	+2
86½	88	5,241	Am. Steel & Wire pf	87½	88	87	87⅜	+¾
124	124⅛	40,355	Am. Sugar Ref. Co.	121⅞	124⅞	120½	124⅛	+3½
111	113	130	Am. Sugar Ref. Co. pf	112½	112½	112½	112½	..
90	96	100	Am. Tel. & Cable Co.	92	92	92	92	..
26	26⅛	780	American Tin Plate	26	26¼	26	26⅛	+⅜
90¼	91	19,425	American Tobacco	88¼	91½	88	90½	+2¾
130	135	110	American Tobacco pf	134	134	134	134	..
39½	40¼	900	American Steel Hoop	40¼	40⅞	40¼	40½	+1½
77	79	100	Am. Steel Hoop pf	79	79	79	79	..
18½	18¾	2,735	At., T. & S. F.	18⅞	19	18½	18⅝	−⅛
58⅝	58¾	19,040	At., T. & S. F. pf	57¾	58¾	57¾	58¾	+1
37⅞	37⅝	3,070	Anaconda Copper	36⅞	38¼	36¼	37¼	+1½
51	51½	2,150	Baltimore & Ohio	50¾	51¾	50	51⅜	+1⅜
71	71¼	10,175	Baltimore & Ohio pf	70⅜	71¾	70¼	71¼	+1¼
69⅜	69⅞	30,866	Brooklyn Rapid Tran	67⅜	70⅜	66¼	69⅜	+1¾
132	134	610	Brooklyn Union Gas	131½	132	131	132

sponding period of last year. Total since Jan. 1, $455,546,750, against $472,705,872 in the corresponding period last year.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

	1899.	1898.	1897.
ANN ARBOR—
Mileage	292	292	292
3d week Dec.	$28,709	$26,006	$27,431
From Jan. 1	1,359,589	1,405,125	1,261,645
ALABAMA GREAT SOUTHERN—
Mileage	310	310	310
3d week Dec.	46,280	40,858	42,252
From July 1	1,043,870	863,646	.....
BUFFALO, ROCHESTER & PITTSBURG—
Mileage	395	336	339
3d week Dec.	80,033	65,224	64,765
From July 1	2,156,270	1,912,298	.....
CANADIAN PACIFIC—
Mileage	6,952	6,678	6,547
3d week Dec.	601,000	550,000	444,000
From Jan. 1	27,971,566	24,384,566	23,249,792
CLEVELAND, LORAIN & WHEELING—
Mileage	192	192	192
3d week Dec.	41,248	29,890	30,677
From July 1	952,049	745,474	.....
DENVER & RIO GRANDE—
Mileage	1,673	1,673	1,666
3d week Dec.	189,700	187,600	168,100
From July 1	4,908,500	4,495,800	7,360,538
EVANSVILLE & INDIANAPOLIS—
Mileage	146	146	156
3d week Dec.	6,741	6,959	6,938
From July 1	184,352	170,878	.....
EVANSVILLE & TERRE HAUTE—
Mileage	174	174	167
3d week Dec.	25,669	25,514	23,554
From July 1	716,512	625,545	.....
FLINT & PERE MARQUETTE—
Mileage	657	657	655
3d week Dec.	65,515	61,518	62,109
From Jan. 1	3,227,444	2,945,625	2,709,196
FORT WORTH & RIO GRANDE—
Mileage	146	146	146
3d week Dec.	9,008	11,155	11,921
LAKE ERIE & WESTERN—
Mileage	725	725	725
3d week Dec.	81,745	60,895	68,619
From Jan. 1	3,761,999	3,346,914	3,325,441
LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE—
Mileage	2,988	2,988	2,985
3d week Dec.	537,770	466,455	444,505
From July 1	13,360,861	11,228,999	.....
MISSOURI, KANSAS & TEXAS—
Mileage	2,208	2,197	2,197
3d week Dec.	246,316	270,444	238,401
From July 1	6,833,995	6,523,822	.....
PEORIA, DECATUR & EVANSVILLE—
Mileage	331	331	254
3d week Dec.	18,664	14,914	14,420
From Jan. 1	860,825	789,137	873,736
ST. PAUL—
Mileage	6,376	6,154	6,154
3d week Dec.	784,771	780,826	605,119
SANTA FE, PRESCOTT & PHOENIX—
Mileage	198	198	155
2d week Dec.	18,887	15,427	.....
From July 1	421,981	391,112	.....
SOUTHERN RAILWAY—
Mileage	6,291	6,285	6,255
3d week Dec.	634,551	552,727	484,861
From July 1	15,068,183	13,426,045	.....
TEXAS & PACIFIC—
Mileage	1,492	1,492	1,499
3d week Dec.	206,336	227,425	216,247
From Jan. 1	8,012,528	7,713,818	.....
TOLEDO & OHIO CENTRAL—
Mileage	371	371	371
3d week Dec.	42,112	37,487	36,322
From July 1	1,060,014	930,988	.....
TOLEDO, ST. LOUIS & KANSAS CITY—
Mileage	451	451	451
3d week Dec.	34,831	39,800	48,150
From July 1	1,013,227	1,094,295	.....
TWIN CITY RAPID TRANSIT—
3d week Dec.	54,141	45,912	.....
From Jan. 1	2,403,571	2,090,457	.....
WABASH—
Mileage	2,326	2,326	2,055
3d week Dec.	318,000	271,142	231,401
From July 1	8,183,865	6,981,740	.....
WHEELING & LAKE ERIE—
3d week December—
W. & L. E. Div.	39,713	30,841	29,906
C., C. & S. Div.	14,035	14,432	.....
Total	53,748	45,273	.....
From July 1 to Dec. 21—
W. & L. E. Div.	912,989	744,762	.....
C., C. & S. DIVISION—
Aug. 14	306,722	273,406	.....
Total	1,219,711	1,018,168	.....

CENTRAL OF GEORGIA for November—

	1899.	1898.	Increase.
Gross earnings	$577,291	$621,352	*$44,060
Exp. and taxes	365 014	359,697	5,316
Net earnings	212,277	261,655	*49,378
From July 1 to Nov. 30—
Gross earnings	2,604,110	2,596,105	8,004
Exp. and taxes	1,679,440	1,613,963	65,477
Net earnings	924,670	982,142	*57,472

*Decrease.

CHICAGO GREAT WESTERN for November—

Gross earnings	550,397	476,950	73,447
Exp. and renewals	401,477	329,103	72,374
Net earnings	148,920	147,847	1,073
From July 1 to Nov. 30—
Net earnings	1,063,628	882,153	181,475
Gross earnings	2,945,205	2,284,693	455,512
Exp. and renewals	1,881,577	1,607,540	274,037

CINCINNATI, NEW ORLEANS & TEXAS PACIFIC for November—

	1899.	1898.	Increase.
Gross earnings	440,097	419,672	20,425
Ex. and taxes	338,997	259,378	79,619
Net earnings	101,100	160,294	*39,194
From July 1 to Nov. 30:
Gross earnings	2,168,988	2,094,908	74,080
Ex. and taxes	1,465,151	1,344,937	120,214
Net earnings	703,837	749,971	*46,134

*Decrease.

COLORADO MIDLAND for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1899—

	1899.	1898.	Decrease.
Gross earnings	1,659,788	1,731,443	71,645
Oper. expenses	1,364,450	1,385,686	21,236
Net earnings	295,348	345,757	50,409
Other income	10,593	.....	.....
Total income	305,941	.....	.....
Int., tax & rent	303,736	.....	.....
Surplus	2,205	.....	.....
Previous surplus	12,093	.....	.....
Profit & loss sur.	14,298	.....	.....

NEW LONDON & NORTHERN for the quarter ended Sept. 30:

	1899.	1898.	Increase.
Gross earnings	257,905	247,945	9,960
Oper. expenses	179,594	162,328	17,266
Net earnings	78,310	85,617	*7,307
Other income	4,799	20,096	*15,297
Total income	83,110	105,714	*22,604
Charges	63,794	60,351	3,443
Surplus	19,316	45,363	*26,047

TWIN CITY RAPID TRANSIT for November:

	1899.	1898.	Increase.
Gross earnings	210,976	177,622	33,354
Oper. expenses	98,618	88,774	9,844
Net earnings	112,358	88,848	23,510
Fixed charges	70,533	63,386	7,147
Surplus	41,825	25,462	16,363
From Jan. 1 to Nov. 30:
Gross earnings	2,286,164	1,960,927	325,237
Oper. expenses	1,055,712	928,278	127,434
Net earnings	1,230,452	1,032,649	197,803
Fixed charges	749,840	713,624	36,216
Surplus	480,612	319,025	161,587

*Decrease.

UNION PACIFIC for the year ended June 30—

	1899.
Gross earnings from operation	$19,811,641
Operating expenses and taxes	11,412,168
Net earnings	8,399,473
Interest, dividends, and miscellaneous	1,218,736
Balance applicable to fixed charges and dividend	9,618,209
Interest on funded debt	3,830,000
Balance	5,788,209
Received from exchange of Oregon Short Line stock	795,159
Balance applicable to dividends	6,583,368
Dividends—1½ per cent on preferred, paid April 20, $1,125,000; 2 per cent. on preferred, payable Oct. 2, $1,500,000	2,625,000
Surplus	3,958,368

The financial operations of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, the Oregon Short Line Railroad Company, and the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1899, are as follows:

	U. P.	O. S. L.	O. R. & N.
Mileage owned	2,855.42	1,480.78	1,062.81
Gross earnings	$19,811,641	$7,577,108	$7,005,989
Op. ex. and taxes	11,412,168	4,751,620	4,288,278
Net earnings	8,399,473	2,825,488	2,717,707
Other income	1,218,736	437,679	73,107
Total income	9,618,209	3,263,167	2,790,814
Fixed charges	3,830,000	1,963,883	1,137,988
Surplus	5,788,209	1,299,284	1,652,827

The total result of the operations of the three lines shows: Gross earnings, $34,394,729; operating expenses, $20,452,061; net earnings, $13,942,668; other income, $1,729,522; total income, $15,672,191; fixed charges, $6,931,871; surplus, $8,740,319.

WABASH for November—

	1899.	1898.	Increase.
Gross earnings	$1,410,460	$1,212,451	$198,009
Operating ex.	1,040,553	913,996	126,557
Net earnings	369,907	298,455	71,452
From July 1 to Nov. 30—
Gross earnings	7,218,685	6,176,729	1,041,906
Operating ex.	5,125,873	4,475,880	649,993
Net earnings	2,092,762	1,700,849	391,913

WISCONSIN CENTRAL for November—

	1899.	1898.	Increase.
Gross earnings	464,118	386,775	77,343
Operating ex.	286,480	238,250	48,180
Net earnings	177,688	148,525	29,163
Other income	2,432	3,466	*1,034
Total net	180,120	152,091	28,029
Fixed charges	128,944	126,659	2,285
Surplus	51,175	25,432	25,743
From July 1 to Nov. 30—
Gross earnings	2,641,418	2,221,126	420,292
Operating ex.	1,511,389	1,257,673	253,716
Net earnings	1,130,029	963,453	166,576
Other income	7,872	53,351	*45,479
Total net	1,137,901	1,016,804	121,097
Fixed charges	650,534	688,114	*32,580
Surplus	487,367	328,690	153,677

*Decrease.

ERIE, for November—

	1898.	1899.	Increase.
Gross earnings	2,943,479	3,386,094	437,614
*Working exp.	2,159,488	2,493,034	333,546
Net Earnings	788,991	893,059	104,068
Gross, 5 months	14,567,659	17,167,600	2,599,941
Exp., 5 months	10,192,386	12,087,451	1,895,064
Net, 5 months	4,375,272	5,080,149	704,876

*Included in the expenses is one-twelfth of the entire taxes of the year.

NEW YORK, SUSQUEHANNA & WESTERN, for November—

Gross earnings	231,379	242,896	11,517
*Working exp.	108,579	126,917	18,337
Net earnings	122,799	115,979	†6,820
Gross, 5 months	1,035,967	1,172,799	136,832
Exp., 5 months	522,763	615,377	92,613
Net, 5 months	513,203	557,522	44,318

*Included in the expenses is one-twelfth of the entire taxes of the year.
†Decrease.

Gold Shipment To-day.

Heidelbach, Ickelheimer & Co. will to-day ship $50,000 in gold coin to Europe by the steamship Teutonic, making $8,425,000 of gold exported since Dec. 16 and a total of $1,750,000 for this firm. Sterling exchange was steady yesterday at $4.87¼ to $4.87½.

MINING STOCK QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—The official closing quotations for mining stocks to-day and Saturday were as follows:

	Tuesday.	Saturday.
Alta	.05	.04
Alpha Con.	.03	.03
Andes	.10	.11
Belcher	.14	.14
Best & Belcher	.25	.28
Bullion	.03	.03
Caledonia	.49	.51
Challenge Con.	.12	.11
Chollar	.22	.18
Confidence	.75	.79
Con. Cal. & Va.	1.40	1.50
Con. Imperial	.01	.01
Crown Point	.13	.13
Gould & Curry	.24	.25
Hale & Norcross	.36	.38
Julia	.03	.03
Justice	.03	.04
Kentucky Con.	.02	.01
Lady Washington Con.	.02	.02
Mexican	.28	.30
Occidental Con.	.11	.11
Ophir	.66	.71
Overman	.10	.10
Potosi	.22	.18
Savage	.09	.09
Sag Belcher	.02	.03
Sierra Nevada	.40	.43
Standard	2.50	2.35
Syndicate	.05	.05
St. Louis	.07	.12
Union Con.	.25	.25
Utah Con.	.04	.05
Yellow Jacket	.24	.23
Silver Bars	58½	58½
Mexican dollars	47½@48	47½@48
Drafts, sight	12¼	12½
Telegraph	.15	.15

Special to The New York Times.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Dec. 26.—Gardner & Co. report closing quotations as follows:

	Tuesday. Bid.	Asked.	Saturday. Bid.	Asked.
Acacia	38	38¾	38½	38½
Alamo	15½	16	16	16½
Anaconda	43	44	42	45
Anchoria	70	80	76	80
Argentum	18	18½	18	19
Bankers'	11⅞	12½	11¾	11¾
Battle	34	34½	33¼	33⅞
Blue Bell	12	13	12	12½
Coin	235	250	235	250
Columbine	19¼	19½	18⅝	19
Consolidated	16	16¼	15	15⅞
Damon	27	28	27	27⅞
Elkton	119	120	118½	119½
El Paso	29	32	29	35
Findlay	13¼	13⅝	13½	13⅝
Fleece	25	30	30	31
Garfield	16	18⅞	17¼	18
Gibson	20	25	22	25
Gould	33	33½	30½	33
Isabella	141½	142½	142¼	142¼
Independence	45	49	45	49
Jackpot	56	57⅝	55	56
King	94	98	91	100
Moon Anchor	69	71	61	63
Matoa	29½	31	30	31
National	11⅝	11¾	11¾	12
Ophir	58	58	52	60
Pharmacist Con.	13⅝	13⅞	13½	13⅞
Pinnacle	25	27½	28	30
Portland	226	227½	226½	227½
Raven	74½	75	74½	75
Rawlings	30	32	30	32
Rosa	50	60	45⅝	50
Sovereign	14⅜	14⅞	14¾	14½
Tornado	46	50	45¼	47½
Triton	35¾	36	35	36
Vindicator	150	170	150	175
Work	28½	28⅝	28½	29
Zenobia	19	21	19½	21

FINANCIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Dividends are announced by the American Tobacco Company, the Leather Manufacturers' National Bank, the Hamilton Bank, the Seventh National Bank, and the Phoenix National Bank.

It is announced that coupons will be paid on certain bonds, details of which will be found in another column, by the City of Syracuse, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, and the Denver Union Water Company.

PRODUCE EXCHANGE TRUST.

Accountants who began on Friday to examine the affairs of the Produce Exchange Trust Company, in the interest of those identified with the plan of reorganization which Gen. Samuel Thomas has presented, were busy yesterday. A result of their investigation will be presented to-day to the Board of Trustees, which may take definite action of Gen. Thomas's proposition. The special committee, of which Edwin Gould is Chairman, which took possession of the property and affairs of the company, held a meeting last evening. Secretary Scudder said that nothing that was done merited a public announcement. Mr. Gould would not talk about the affairs of the company.

One of the members of the special committee said that in his opinion a story that there exists hostility between Mr. Gould and Gen. Thomas is grossly exaggerated. "Mr. Gould," he added, "has an equity of $100,000 in the company, and he naturally is going to look after his interests. But he has exhibited no little public spirit and interest in the affairs of the stockholders and depositors, and would be likely to favor any good plan of reorganization or of honorable liquidation.

The depositors of the Produce Exchange Trust Company have received this circular:

Since the suspension of payment on Monday morning, Dec. 18, 1899, we have been engaged in an examination of the condition of the company. As far as we have gone we have found the assets as listed, and, while we have not had the opportunity of verifying the valuations, we are already convinced that the assets are more than sufficient to pay depositors in full.

Negotiations are now pending looking to a reorganization of the company. Meanwhile the committee will proceed in its work of collecting the assets of the company. It is hoped that the payment of depositors can be commenced at an early date.

In the meantime depositors who owe this institution may apply any balance due them here to the payment of their indebtedness to the Produce Exchange Trust Company, provided all of such indebtedness is paid simultaneously with such offset. Respectfully,

SPECIAL COMMITTEE IN CHARGE.

Many depositors were at the company's offices yesterday to leave their passbooks to have them written up.

SCHOOL BUILDING NOT UNSAFE.

Senator McNulty Denies the Report About the Parkville Structure.

Ex-Senator Peter H. McNulty, the owner of Public School Building No. 112, in the Parkville section of Brooklyn, which Inspector Helwig of the Building Department recently reported as being unsafe, declared yesterday that this report was unfair and untrue. Mr. McNulty contends that the fact that the building is now occupied by the school shows that it must have been approved by the Inspectors employed by the School Board, and also by those of the Building Department.

"I do not care to be known as the owner of a firetrap," said Mr. McNulty. "The lease, made in March last, stated that I was to complete the building for school purposes under the direction of the Superintendent of Buildings and of the Board of Education, and, under the law, it must be under the supervision of the Building Department. I have letters and reports to show that this was done. Now, if this was done and the building passed by the Board of Education and by the Building Department Inspectors, then these authorities are culpable for permitting this building to be used for school purposes if it is unsafe. The heating apparatus complained of was made and put in by the best-known firm in its line in the country, and the system was inspected and reported as all right."

NEW CORPORATIONS.

Syracuse Wall Paper Company of Syracuse; capital $5,000. Directors—Nicholas P. Moses, Jacob R. Nachant, and Nicholas Peters, Jr., Syracuse.

Knowles Brothers' Company of New York, to manufacture and sell saltpetre; capital, $10,000. Directors—William F. Knowles, Margaret V. Knowles, and Percy H. Knowles, New York City.

Olympus Laundering Company of Troy; capital $15,000. Directors—Charles P. Kimball and Stephen J. Lynch, Lansingburg; Stephen N. Rifenburgh, William C. Geer, and Robert M. Taylor, Troy.

Andrew Cullen, Company of New York, to sell and import feed and grain; capital, $100,000. Directors—Frederick Steigerwald, Stapleton; James A. MacDougall and Oscar W. Jeffery, New York City.

Mohican Pulp and Paper Company of Middle Falls; capital, $20,000. Directors—Henry Gray, R. R. Woodruff, C. C. Vankirk, Leroy Thompson, T. W. Wallace, H. C. Gray, and I. G. Blandey, Greenwich, N. Y.

Syracuse Granite and Bronze Construction Company of Syracuse; capital, $10,000. Directors—Daniel Ackerman, Anton F. Baumer, James K. McGuire, Thomas Hogan, Harry L. Davis, Frank H. Hale, and Charles A. Davis, Syracuse.

Capital City Wall Paper Company of Albany; capital, $50,000. Directors—Peter Davendorf, Schenectady; Robert Lindsay, Amsterdam; C. Walter Ackerman, Syracuse; D. F. Cowles and L. A. Walker, Gloversville; B. S. Cowles, Glens Falls; F. W. Cameron, Albany.

Incorporated in Delaware.

Special to The New York Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 26.—Charters were granted at Dover to-day to the following corporations:

The Auto-Mobile Storage Repair Company of New York; capital, $50,000; to deal in automobiles and motor vehicles of all kinds.

The American Electric Appliance Company of Philadelphia, to manufacture electrical devices; capital, $100,000.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Fifteen-story Apartment House at Madison Avenue and Sixty-first Street—Other Dealings and Auction Sales.

The southeast corner of Madison Avenue and Sixty-first Street is to be the site of a fifteen-story apartment house as the outcome of a deal that has just been closed by Brokers B. C. & F. T. Barry. They have sold for the various owners to Frederick Haberman, Vice President of the National Enameling and Stamping Company, 671 Madison Avenue, southeast corner of Sixty-first Street, 25 by 89; 669 Madison Avenue, 22 by 89; 665 and 667 Madison Avenue, each 16 by 89, and also a lot on the south side of Sixty-first Street, 89 feet east of Madison Avenue, 20 by 79.

The Madison Avenue properties are all four-story brownstone-front dwellings. No. 665 is sold by Justice Ephraim A. Jacobs, 667 by D. E. Connell, 669 by Hannah J. Hull, and the corner, 671, by John F. Dillon, who is also the seller of the adjoining street lot. By his several purchases Mr. Haberman has gained control of a plot fronting 79 feet on Madison Avenue and 109 feet on Sixty-first Street.

All the properties are now under lease, with the exception of 665 Madison Avenue, which is Justice Jacobs's residence. These leases have been bought up, however, and the work on the new apartment house will be begun about May 1. Mr. Haberman's purchases, it is reported, are made for all cash.

The final contracts for the purchase of the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum property were signed yesterday afternoon. Archbishop Corrigan and his secretary affixed their signatures to the documents, representing the sellers, while Charles T. Barney and George R. Sheldon signed for the purchasing syndicate.

Hall J. How & Co. have sold for Myer Hellman the lot on the east side of First Avenue, 75.8 feet south of Ninety-third Street.

Kempner Brothers have sold to an investor the three-story dwelling 162 East Seventy-eighth Street, 18.9 by 100.

It is reported that Alexander Walker has bought the dwelling 327 West Eighty-fourth Street, 18.6 by 100, for about $25,000.

Results at Auction.

Yesterday's offerings in the Trinity Building Salesroom resulted as follows:

By Bryan L. Kennelly.

148 West One Hundred and Eleventh Street 33.6 by 100.11, five-story brick flat; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiff, Rachel Lippman $37,750

By McVickar & Co.

873 and 875 Elton Avenue, each 25 by 100, two four-story brick flats; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiffs, Clinton H. Leggett and another. 28,600

By Richard V. Harnett & Co.

219 and 221 West Eighty-third Street, each 25 by 102.2, two five-story brick flats; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiff, Jeannette K. Manne 21,659

By Herbert A. Sherman.

149 and 151 Broome Street, 37.6 by 100, three-story brick tenements, with stores, and four-story brick tenements at the rear; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiffs, Leopold Schmeidler and another 29,450

To-day's Auction Sales.

The following sales at auction are down for to-day at 111 Broadway:

By Philip A. Smyth, foreclosure sale, John Proctor Clarke, referee, One Hundred and Eighty-sixth Street, south side, 100 feet west of Amsterdam Avenue, 175 by 100.6, two eighteen three-story brick dwellings on either side of a private street. Due on judgment, $84,920.

By John N. Golding, foreclosure sale, B. W. B. Brown, referee, 629 East One Hundred and Eighteenth Street, north side, 375.4 feet east of Avenue A, 20.5 by 100.11, two-story brick dwelling. Due on judgment, $4,918.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Samuel A. Beardsley, referee, Third Avenue, northeast corner of One Hundred and Seventy-first Street, 25 by 100, five-story brick flat, with store. Due on judgment, $5,380; subject to other mortgages for $11,228.

By Herbert A. Sherman, foreclosure sale, N. Taylor Phillips, referee, 47 to 53 West One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Street, north side, 300 feet east of Lenox Avenue, 100 by 99.11, four five-story brick flats. Due on judgment, $4,697; subject to other mortgages for $56,100.

THE BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

List of Plans Filed for New Structures and Alterations.

The following plans were filed under the old building law last Friday, but owing to the rush of business at the Building Department, details in regard to them were not obtainable at that time;

Nos. 131 and 133 Thompson Street, for a six-story brick flat, 44 by 90; Charles Bales, Astoria, L. I., owner; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $25,000.

Summit Avenue, east side, 120 feet north of One Hundred and Sixty-first Street, for a one-story frame barn, 23 by 20; E. O. Smith, owner; R. H. Bethel of One Hundred and Sixty-fifth Street and Ogden Avenue, architect; cost, $350.

Bristow Street, west side, 235 feet south of Jennings Street, for three three-story frame tenements, 20 by 62; Louis Harris of 59 Liberty Street, owner; R. R. Davis, architect; cost, $10,500.

Stebbins Avenue, west side, 113.6 feet north of One Hundred and Sixty-fifth Street, for three three-story frame tenements, 19 by 45; Louis Harris, owner; R. R. Davis, architect; cost, $9,000.

Wendover Avenue, southeast corner of Railroad Avenue, for a two-story frame shed, 75 by 50; C. Woodruff, owner; R. Werner, architect; cost, $3,500.

Edgecombe Avenue, west side, 101.4 feet north of One Hundred and Forty-first Street, for four five-story brick flats, 22 by 109 by 105; G. Lippman of 312 West One Hundred and Forty-second Street, owner; W. Graham, architect; cost, $120,000.

One Hundred and Sixty-ninth Street, south side, 90.5 feet west of Home Street, for a two-story frame dwelling, 25 by 33; C. W. Petersen of 1,073 Home Street, owner; C. G. Jorgensen of 1,283 Home Street, architect; cost, $2,800.

Tiffany Street, northeast corner of Westchester Avenue, for two four-story brick flats, 53.3 and 27.6 by 57 and 77; Bronx Realty Company, owner; John De Hart of 1,637 Fox Street, architect; cost, $36,000.

Simpson Street, west side, 78.1 feet north of One Hundred and Sixty-ninth Street, for a two-story and basement brick dwelling, 25 by 32; A. Johnston of 1,635 Fox Street, owner; John De Hart, architect; cost, $3,000.

Kelly Street, east side, 83.10 feet south of One Hundred and Sixty-seventh Street, for three two-story frame dwellings, 16.8 by 50; A. Richardson, owner; John De Hart, architect; cost, $10,500.

Broome Street, northeast corner of Pitt Street, for five six-story brick flats, 25 by 79.8; Horowitz & Parnas of 29 Canal Street, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $125,000.

One Hundred and Eighth Street, southeast corner of First Avenue, for four six-story brick flats, 25 by 79.8; Epstein, Solomon & Solomon, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $100,000.

Stanton Street, northwest corner of Cannon Street, for two six-story and basement brick flats, 20.9 by 45; R. Cohn of 193 Mercer Street, owner; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $85,000.

No. 258 Madison Street, for a six-story brick flat, with stores, 26.6 by 63.9; Jackson & Stern of 31 Nassau Street, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $20,000.

Nos. 745 and 747 East Ninth Street, for two six-story and basement brick flats, 25 by 77.3; Baker & Beman, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $50,000.

No. 88 Monroe Street, for six-story and basement baths and shops, 22.8 by 67.3; Charles Sergansky of 1,652 Madison Avenue, owner; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $20,000.

No. 258 Monroe Street, for a six-story and basement brick flat, with stores, 25 by 87.3; N. Schlessel of 132 Greene Street, owner; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $25,000.

Nos. 21 and 23 Avenue C, for a six-story brick flat, with stores, 45.9 by 68.3; Nuberg Brothers of 245 Broadway, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $40,000.

No. 368 East Eighth Street, for a six-story brick flat and stores; Cohen & Friend of 240 Clinton Street, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $25,000.

Nos. 56 and 58 East Eighty-eighth Street, for two six-story brick flats and stores, 25 by 87.3; Mary Ehrmann of 5 West One Hundred and Eighteenth Street, owner; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $50,000.

Nos. 749 and 751 Fifth Street, for a six-story and basement brick flat, with stores, 45.4 by 79; Baker & Beman, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $30,000.

No. 215 Thompson Street, for a six-story and basement brick flat, 25 by 87; Lippmann & Friedman of 70 Elm Street, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $25,000.

No. 59 East Fourth Street, for a six-story and basement brick flat, with stores, 25 by 80; Samuel Cohen, owner; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $25,000.

Nos. 227 and 229 East Third Street, for a six-story brick flat, with stores, 46 by 82.3; Solomon & Harnben of 141 Norfolk Street, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $80,000.

No. 32 to 38 Cherry Street, for four six-story brick flats, with stores, 25 by 87.3; Rosenberg & Golden of 11 Doyers Street, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $100,000.

Rivington Street, northeast corner of Norfolk Street, for a six-story and basement brick flat, with stores, 24 by 75; Solomon & Harnben, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $25,000.

No. 219 to 225 East One Hundred and Eleventh Street, for three six-story and basement brick flats, with stores, 25 by 87.3; A. Levy of 142 East One Hundred and Twelfth Street, owner; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $75,000.

Rivington Street, northeast corner of Goerck Street, for a six-story brick flat, with stores; Levison & Lippman of 338 East Fifty-third Street, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $50,000.

No. 138 to 142 East Seventeenth Street, for two six-story and basement flats, with stores, 27 by 80; Adelson & Slone of 95 Liberty Street, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $50,000.

No. 204 East Seventh Street, for a six-story and basement brick flat, with stores, 25 by 75.10; J. and W. Bachrach of 60 Liberty Street, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $25,000.

Nos. 110 and 112 Cherry Street, for two six-story brick flats, with stores, 25 by 87.3; Rosenberg & Golden of 110 Cherry Street, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $50,000.

No. 165 to 175 Chrystie Street, for four six-story and basement brick flats, with stores, 25 by 75; H. C. Miner, owner; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $80,000.

Pitt Street, northeast corner of Delancey Street, for a six-story brick flat, with stores, 50 by 42; F. J. Selig of 13 Allen Street, owner; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $25,000.

No. 93 to 97 Roosevelt Street, for three six-story and basement brick flats, with stores, 25 by 87.3; Rosenberg & Golden, owners; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $75,000.

No. 40 Essex Street, for a six-story brick flat, with stores, 25 by 87.3; A. Danziger, premises, owner; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $25,000.

Alterations.

No. 898 East One Hundred and Sixty-fifth Street, to a three-story frame dwelling; Louisa Glueckin, premises, owner; Edward Glueckin, architect; cost, $1,500.

Fulton Avenue, west side, 84 feet south of One Hundred and Seventieth Street, to a three-story frame dwelling; J. Haught, owner; Hunter & Murgatroyd, architects; cost, $150.

No. 583 Third Avenue, to a five-story brick dwelling; Thomas E. Connell of 121 Pearl Street, owner; John H. Kimbel, architect; cost, $800.

No. 53 to 57 Duane Street, to an eight-story brick power house; Edison Electric Illuminating Company, owner; cost, $800.

No. 79 Wall Street, to a four-story brick and stone office building; William C. Vogel of 65 Grand Street, owner; James Carroll, architect and builder; cost, $200.

Recorded Real Estate Transfers.

Tuesday, Dec. 26.

ANTHONY AV, w s, 350.3 ft n of Burnside Av, widened, 25x100; William C. Bergen to Alfred Miller $1

BARKER AV, centre line, at centre of Bleecker St, runs w 425.5 to the e s of Bronx Park, x s 184.11 to the centre of Fulton St, x e 414.7 to the centre of Barker Av, x n 188.8 to beginning; Bronx Investment Company to Elizabeth S. Lee 1

BROADWAY, e s, 25 ft s of 131st St, 25x100; Ella J. Breckenridge to James Kilpatrick 1

CENTRAL PARK WEST, w s, 40.11 ft s of 108th St, 24x100; Patrick McMorrow to Ellen P. Kellogg, rerecorded 1

CHERRY ST, e s, 24.10x138.8x24.3x141.3; Catherine Mearans to Bridget Geraghty 1

CHRYSTIE ST, 40, 25x60x27x60; Sophia Levy to Isabel Levy ..... Gift

FULTON AV, w s, 200 ft n s of 151st St, 50x99.4x50.9x96.8; Peter H. J. Krulder to William H. Holmes and another 1

GREENWICH ST, 114, n w corner of Carlisle St; Thomas Wall, executor and trustee, and others to Lyman Denison 1

GROVE ST, southern corner of Woodruff Av, 100x150; William F. Burrough to August Swenson, 1-9 part 1

KELLY, or 152d St, 935, 25x157.9x27.11x145.5; William H. Holmes and others to Peter H. J. and Catherine Krulder ... Exchange

LOT 366, Block K, amended map of the Mapes estate; 9th Av, s s, ½ of Lot 492, map of Wakefield, 50x114; 9th Av, s w corner of 4th St, 105x114; Annie Boyle to Mary Gunn 1

LOTS, 106, 107, and 116, map of the Arden property; Allan G. Macd

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE Southern District of New York.—In the matter of HARRIS COHEN, bankrupt. No. 1,693.

Notice is hereby given that Harris Cohen, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated December 23d, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January tenth, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

STANLEY W. DEXTER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, Dec. 26, 1899.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE Southern District of New York.—In the matter of HARRIS DAMSKY, bankrupt. No. 1,178.

Notice is hereby given that Harris Damsky, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated July 27th, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 24th, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

STANLEY W. DEXTER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, Dec. 26, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.

In the matter of JOHN J. GALLAGHER, Bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.

To the creditors of John J. Gallagher of the City and County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that on the 18th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said John J. Gallagher was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of F. K. Pendleton, Referee, No. 44 Broadway, in the City and County of New York, on the 8th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

F. K. PENDLETON,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated December 26th, 1899.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE Southern District of New York.—In the matter of MARCUS LANDAU, bankrupt. No. 1,756.

Notice is hereby given that Marcus Landau, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated December 23d, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January tenth, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

STANLEY W. DEXTER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, Dec. 26, 1899.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE Southern District of New York.—In the matter of JULIA MAYS, bankrupt. No. 1,624.

Notice is hereby given that Julia Mays, bankrupt, has filed her petition, dated December 11th, 1899, praying for a discharge from all her debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, December 27th, 1899, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

STANLEY W. DEXTER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, Dec. 26, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of LEWIS A. OLSEN, individually and as a member of the firm of White & Olsen, bankrupt. No. 1,901.

To the creditors of Lewis A. Olsen, individually and as a member of the firm of White & Olsen of the City and County of New York, and district aforesaid, bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 19th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Lewis A. Olsen was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, Number 71 Broadway, in the City of New York, on the 16th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

STANLEY W. DEXTER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated December 26th, 1899.

NO. 1,754.—UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT for the Southern District of New York.—SAUL PRAGER, bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that Saul Prager, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated December 26, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 17th, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

THEODOR AUB,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, December 27, 1899.

NO. 1,897.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In bankruptcy. In the matter of MICHAEL SIEKLICK, bankrupt.

To the creditors of Michael Sieklick of the City and County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that on the 18th day of December A. D., 1899, the said Michael Sieklick was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Theodor Aub, referee, No. 149 Broadway, in the city and County of New York, on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

THEODOR AUB,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, December 26th, 1899.

SURROGATE NOTICES.

BALDWIN, SUSAN T.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. James M. Varnum, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against SUSAN T. BALDWIN, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at his place of transacting business, at the office of Jared G. Baldwin, Jr., 33 Wall Street, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before February 5th, 1900.—Dated New York, July 19, 1899. JARED G. BALDWIN, Executor. JARED G. BALDWIN, Jr., Attorney for Executor, 33 Wall Street, New York City. jy19-1aw6mW

BEVERIDGE, DAVID.—The people of the State of New York, by the grace of God, free and independent, to Marion B. Lee, John F. Beveridge, Hendricks Beveridge, Martin L. Lee, L. S. Sterrit, Arthur H. Grant, Louisa B. Gibb, William H. H. Armstrong, Rev. William K. Hall, the Home for the Friendless, the Children's Home, St. Luke's Home and Hospital, Mrs. Emilie Newton, Ella Lomas, Underwriters' Club of Detroit, Michigan; Frances E. Stockdale, (née Simeson,) Thomas Seager, Farmers' National Bank, Martin L. Lee, as administrator of the goods, chattels, and credits of Marion Beveridge, deceased, and to all persons interested in the estate of DAVID BEVERIDGE, late of the County of New York, deceased, as creditors, legatees, next of kin or otherwise, send greeting:

You and each of you are hereby cited and required personally to be and appear before our Surrogate of the County of New York, at the Surrogates' Court of said County, held at the County Court House, in the County of New York, on the twenty-sixth day of January, 1900, at half-past ten o'clock, in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend a judicial settlement of the account of proceedings of Martin L. Lee, Louis S. Sterrit, and Arthur H. Grant, as executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, and as are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of our said County of New York, at said county, the 5th day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

[L. S.]

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

SIDNEY WARD, Attorney for Petitioner, 120 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, N. Y. City.
d13-1aw6wW

FITZGERALD, MARY A.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to THOMAS HODNETT, Richard Hodnett, Patrick Hodnett, and William Hodnett, the heirs and next of kin of MARY A. FITZGERALD, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas, John E. FitzGerald of the City of New York has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York, to have a certain instrument in writing relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Mary A. FitzGerald, late of the County of New York, deceased, Therefore, you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 13th day of February, one thousand nine hundred, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, Surrogate of our said county, the 15th day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

[Seal.]

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

GEO. B. & ED. GOLDSCHMIDT, Attorneys for Executor, 50 Broadway, New York.
d27-1aw7wW

ENGLE, ROBERT S.—The people of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to Agnes I. Gardner, Madame La Countess de Chevigne, Julia Tuck, Mary E. Mcfrihew, John J. Merrihew, Helen G. Stoddard, Sarah E. Homer, Fannie Thomas, Mary Lyons, Caroline Woolsey, Nellie B. Woolsey, Frank Richardson, Henry H. Rogers, William S. Engle, and to all other persons whose names and whose places of residence are unknown to the petitioner and cannot after diligent inquiry be ascertained, the heirs and next of kin of ROBERT S. ENGLE, late of the County of New York, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas, Susan A. Engle of the City of New York, has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York, to have a certain instrument in writing, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Robert S. Engle, late of the County of New York, deceased, therefore you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 30th day of January, one thousand and nine hundred, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited, as are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York, to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of our said County of New York, at said county, the 5th day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

[L. S.]

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

SIDNEY WARD, Attorney for Petitioner, 120 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, N. Y. City.
d13-1aw6wW

FITZGERALD, MARY A.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to THOMAS HODNETT, Richard Hodnett, Patrick Hodnett, and William Hodnett, the heirs and next of kin of MARY A. FITZGERALD, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas, John E. FitzGerald of the City of New York has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York, to have a certain instrument in writing relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Mary A. FitzGerald, late of the County of New York, deceased, Therefore, you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 13th day of February, one thousand nine hundred, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogates' Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of our said county, at the County of New York, the 19th day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

[Seal.]

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

d27-1aw7wW

GREMMLER, JOSEPH.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against JOSEPH GREMMLER, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same with vouchers thereof to the subscribers at their place of transacting business, the office of Coleman & Donohue, No. 203 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the 23d day of February, 1900, next.—Dated New York, the 15th day of August, 1899. CHARLES HEPS and LOUIS RUPP, Executors. COLEMAN & DONOHUE, Attorneys for Executors, 203 Broadway, N. Y. C.

HUME, WILLIAM H.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. James M. Varnum, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against WILLIAM H. HUME, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at her place of transacting business, at the office of Charles E. Lydecker, No. 120 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the seventh day of June, 1900.—Dated New York, the 29th day of November, 1899. ELIZABETH H. HUME, Executrix. CHARLES E. LYDECKER, Attorney for Executrix, 120 Broadway, (Manhattan,) New York, N. Y.

IN PURSUANCE OF AN ORDER OF HON. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York:

Notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against JACOB BAIZ, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at their place of transacting business, at the office of Cardozo & Nathan, their attorneys, No. 120 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the 16th day of February next.—Dated New York, the 5th day of August, 1899.

ADOLPH PEREIRA,
EMILY M. BAIZ,
Executors.

CARDOZO & NATHAN, Attorneys for Executors, 120 Broadway, Manhattan Borough, New York City. aug9-1aw6mW

GLOVER, THOMAS JAMES.—The People of the State of New York by the grace of God free and independent, to Louisa T. Glover, Thomas G. Barry, Edward B. Barry, James A. Glover, Weltha M. Reynaud, Edward A. Glover, Henry W. B. Glover, Frederick R. Glover, Louisa T. Glover, John M. Glover, Agnes Glover, and Mary Bennett, the widow, heirs, and next of kin of THOMAS JAMES GLOVER, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas, Louisa T. Glover of the City of New York has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York, to have a certain instrument in writing and two codicils thereto, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Thomas James Glover, late of the County of New York, deceased, therefore you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office, in the County of New York, on the 30th day of December, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, at half past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament. And such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of our said county, the 30th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

[L. S.]

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

T. G. BARRY, Atty. for Petitioner, 120 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, N. Y. City.
n15-1aw6wW

LOGUE, ELIZABETH A. C.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. James M. Varnum, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against ELIZABETH A. C. LOGUE, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at his place of transacting business, viz., the office of Darlington & Jenkins, No. 206 Broadway, in the City of New York, on or before the 31st day of March next.—Dated New York, the 25th day of September, 1899. JOHN LOGUE, Administrator. DARLINGTON & JENKINS, Att'ys for Adm'r, 206 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, N. Y. s27-1aw6mW

MORRIS, BRIDGET.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. James M. Varnum, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Bridget Morris, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same with vouchers thereof to the subscriber at his place of transacting business, at the office of his attorney, No. 61 Park Row, in the Borough of Manhattan, the City of New York, on or before the 21st day of May next.—Dated New York, the 11th day of November, 1899. JOHN MORRIS, Administrator. E. M. Wight, Attorney for Administrator, 61 Park Row, New York City. n15-1aw6mW

SCHWIETERING, HERMANN H.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against HERMANN H. SCHWIETERING, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscribers at their place of transacting business, No. 28 Greene Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the tenth day of January next.—Dated New York, the 26th day of June, 1899. HERMANN HARTMANN, GERHARD VON THULEN, Executors. LARNED & MARKS, Attorneys for Executors, 170 Broadway, New York City.
ja28-1aw6mW

SURROGATE NOTICES.

VAN SCHAICK, JENKINS.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Jenkins Van Schaick, late of the County of New York, N. Y., deceased, to present the same with vouchers thereof to the subscribers at their place of transacting business, No. 35 Broad Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the 10th day of January next.

Dated New York, the 27th day of June, 1899.

JOHN B. VAN SCHAICK,
SINGLETON VAN SCHAICK,
Executors.

JOHN D. KERNAN, Attorney for Executors, 39 Liberty St., New York City. jy28-1aw6mW

WILLIAMS, EDWARD T.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against EDWARD T. WILLIAMS, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same with vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, as their place of transacting business at the office of Marbury & Fox, No. 3 Broad Street, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the first day of December, 1899. JOHANNA M. WILLIAMS, Administratrix; JAMES S. BEARNS, Administrator. CHARLES FOX, Attorney for Administrators, No. 3 Broad Street, New York. o25-1aw6mW

REFEREES' NOTICES.

NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF New York.—THE NEW YORK INVESTMENT AND IMPROVEMENT COMPANY, plaintiff, against JOSEPH NEIL CAMPBELL AND OTHERS, defendants. Actions I and II.

In pursuance of judgments of foreclosure and sale made and entered in the above entitled actions, dated the 22d day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, the Referee, in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at The New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 17th day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day by Peter F. Meyer, Auctioneer, the premises in said judgment mentioned, and therein described as follows: All that certain lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City and State of New York, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Morningside Avenue where the same would be intersected by a line drawn parallel with the southerly line of One Hundred and Sixteenth Street and distant twenty-five feet two inches and three quarters of an inch southerly therefrom, the said point of beginning being distant twenty-six feet four and one-half inches more or less southerly from the southeasterly corner of said Morningside Avenue and One Hundred and Sixteenth Street, measured on the easterly line of said avenue, and running thence easterly on a line parallel with One Hundred and Sixteenth Street one hundred and four feet three and one-half inches; thence southerly on a line drawn at right angles to One Hundred and Sixteenth Street twenty-eight feet; thence westerly on a line parallel with One Hundred and Sixteenth Street ninety-three feet three and seven-eighths inches to the easterly side of Morningside Avenue, and thence northerly along the easterly side of Morningside Avenue thirty feet and three-quarters of an inch to the point or place of beginning.

Dated New York, December 23d, 1899.

DANIEL P. INGRAHAM, Referee.

CLARENCE L. WESTCOTT, Plaintiff's Attorney, 146 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, N. Y.

The following is a diagram of the premises to be sold:

The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $31,672.12, with interest thereon from the 20th day of December, 1899, together with costs and allowances amounting to $675.00, with interest thereon, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of taxes, assessments or other liens, which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee, is $503.31 and interest.

The said premises will be sold subject to an easement agreement made between The New York Investment and Improvement Company, Joseph Neil Campbell, and the Department of Buildings in the City of New York, recorded in the office of the Register of the County of New York June 1, 1898, in section 7, liber 53 of Conveyances, page 126, as modified by a further agreement recorded in said Register's office April 22, 1899, in section 7, liber 60 of Conveyances, page 172.

DANIEL P. INGRAHAM, Referee.

d27-2aw3wW&S&ja17

SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEW York, County of New York.—Place of Trial.—ERNEST PERMANN, plaintiff, against DANIEL J. MURPHY and others, defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the twenty-ninth day of November, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the City of New York, Borough of Manhattan, on the 27th day of December, 1899, at twelve o'clock noon on that day, by Philip A. Smyth, Esq., auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that plot of land in the City and County of New York, bounded and described as follows:

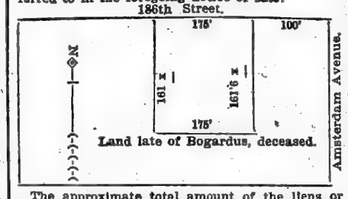
Beginning at a point in the southerly side of One Hundred and Eighty-sixth Street, distant one hundred (100) feet westerly from the intersection of the southerly side of One Hundred and Eighty-sixth Street and the westerly side of Amsterdam Avenue, and running thence southerly, parallel with Amsterdam Avenue, one hundred and sixty-one (161) feet six (6) inches, more or less, to land late of Bogardus, deceased; thence westerly along said land one hundred and seventy-five (175) feet; thence northerly, parallel with Amsterdam Avenue, one hundred and sixty-one (161) feet, more or less, to the southerly side of One Hundred and Eighty-sixth Street; and thence easterly along the southerly side of One Hundred and Eighty-sixth Street one hundred and seventy-five (175) feet to the point of beginning; said premises being those which were conveyed to the said Daniel J. Murphy by the said Ernst-Marx-Nathan Company.

Dated New York, December 1st, 1899.

JOHN PROCTOR CLARKE,
Referee.

LACHMAN & GOLDSMITH, Attorneys for Plaintiff, No. 35 Nassau Street, New York City, Borough of Manhattan.

The following is a diagram of the premises referred to in the foregoing notice of sale:



The approximate total amount of the liens or charges to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $84,529.27, with interest thereon from the 21st day of November, 1899, together with costs and allowance, amounting to $390.43, with interest from the 29th day of November, 1899, together with the expenses of sale.

The approximate amount of taxes and assessments is $1,511.02, with interest, the amount of the water rent for 1899, which is not fixed, not being included herein; such sums to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee.

JOHN PROCTOR CLARKE,
Referee.

d6-2aw3wW&S&d27

SUPREME COURT, NEW YORK COUNTY.—BRADLEY L. EATON, Plaintiff, against ERNEST WETTERER et al., defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, and bearing date the 9th day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 3d day of January, 1900, at twelve o'clock noon of that day, by Richard V. Harnett & Co., auctioneers, the premises in said judgment mentioned, and therein described as follows:

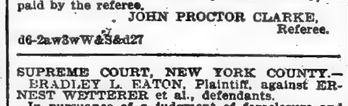
All those four certain lots, pieces, or parcels of land situate, lying, and being in the City of New York, in Section 7, Block 1,086, on the land map of the City of New York, and more particularly bounded and described as follows, viz.: Beginning at a point on the southerly side of One Hundred and Thirty-second Street, distant two hundred and twenty-five feet westerly from the corner formed by the intersection of the southerly side of One Hundred and Thirty-second Street with the westerly side of Amsterdam Avenue; running thence southerly, parallel with Amsterdam Avenue, ninety-nine feet and eleven inches to the centre line of the block; thence westerly along the same one hundred feet; thence northerly, again parallel with Amsterdam Avenue, and partly through a party wall, standing partly on the lot hereby conveyed, and partly on the lot adjoining on the west, ninety-nine feet and eleven inches to the southerly side of One Hundred and Thirty-second Street aforesaid; and thence easterly along the same one hundred feet to the point or place of beginning.

Dated New York, December 12th, 1899.

FRANCIS P. LOWREY, Referee.

E. H. MOERAN, Plff's. Atty., 34 Pine Street, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above property is to be sold is $7,308, with interest thereon from December 8th, 1899, together with costs and allowance amounting to $312.62.

The premises will be sold in one parcel, and subject to a mortgage to secure the sum of $22,000, on which $14,666 66-100 and interest thereon from April 3, 1899, only remains unpaid.

FRANCIS P. LOWREY, Referee.

d13-2aw3wW&S&ja3

REFEREES' NOTICES.

SUPREME COURT, NEW YORK COUNTY.—PETER L. O'NEILL as administrator of the goods, chattels, and credits of Catherine O'Neill, deceased, plaintiff, against ELIZABETH B. McCLURE and others, defendants.

In pursuance of an interlocutory judgment of partition and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, and bearing date the 7th day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 9th day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon of that day, by Herbert A. Sherman, auctioneer, the certain lease, term of years and leasehold premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, with the buildings thereon erected, situate in the Borough of Manhattan and City of New York, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point in the northerly line of Ann Street, at the division line between the premises hereby conveyed and land formerly of F. Panton, and which point is distant one hundred and forty-four feet two and one-half inches, more or less, westerly from the northwesterly corner of Ann and William Streets, running thence westwardly, along the northerly line of Ann Street, twenty-eight feet one inch, more or less, to the division line between the premises known as Numbers fifty-seven (57) and fifty-five (55) Ann Street; thence northeastwardly through a party wall standing on the line between the said premises Numbers fifty-seven (57) and fifty-five (55) Ann Street and beyond the same seventy-four feet and three inches, more or less, to the rear line of the said premises Number fifty-five (55) Ann Street; thence westwardly along the rear line of the premises Numbers fifty-five (55,) fifty-three, (53,) fifty-one, (51,) and forty-nine (49) Ann Street, seventy-five feet seven and one-half inches, more or less, to land formerly of the heirs of George Lorillard, deceased; thence northeastwardly along the said land formerly of the heirs of George Lorillard, deceased, sixty-three feet nine and one-half inches, more or less, to land formerly of Thomas H. Leggett; thence eastwardly along said land formerly of the said F. Panton, and thence southwardly as to include the storehouse lately occupied by the American Fur Company one hundred and one feet seven inches, more or less, to the said land late of F. Panton; and thence southwestwardly along the said land late of F. Panton one hundred and twenty-two feet eleven inches, more or less, to the said northerly line of Ann Street at the place of beginning, being now known by the street Numbers fifty-seven (57) and fifty-nine (59) Ann Street, and being the same premises which were conveyed to the said The New York Steam Power Company by Patrick Reilly and wife by deed dated February 1, 1870, and recorded in the office of the Register of the City and County of New York February 24, 1870, in Liber 1142 of Conveyances, Page 177.

Dated New York, October 11, 1899.

CHAS. G. F. WAHLE, Referee.

CHARLES E. MILLER, Attorney for Plaintiff, 32 Nassau Street, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the premises to be sold:

The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $50,855.45, with interest thereon from September 28, 1899, less the sum of $2,000 paid on account thereof, together with the costs and allowances, amounting to $375.75, with interest from the 6th day of October, 1899, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments, or other liens, which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee, is $1,899.18 and interest.

Dated New York, October 11, 1899.

CHAS. G. F. WAHLE, Referee.

The sale of the above-described premises is hereby adjourned to Friday, November 17, 1899, at the same hour and place.

Dated New York, November 3, 1899.

CHAS. G. F. WAHLE, Referee.

CHARLES E. MILLER, Attorney for Plaintiff, No. 32 Nassau Street, N. Y.

The sale of the above-described premises is hereby adjourned to Friday, December 1st, 1899, at the same hour and place.

Dated New York, November 17, 1899.

CHAS. G. F. WAHLE, Referee.

CHARLES E. MILLER, Attorney for Plaintiff, 32 Nassau Street, N. Y.

The sale of the above-described premises is hereby adjourned to Friday, December 8, 1899, at the same hour and place.

Dated New York, December 1, 1899.

CHAS. G. F. WAHLE, Referee.

CHARLES E. MILLER, Attorney for Plaintiff, 32 Nassau Street, New York.

The sale of the above-described premises is hereby adjourned to Friday, December 22, 1899, at the same hour and place.

Dated New York, December 8, 1899.

CHAS. G. F. WAHLE, Referee.

CHARLES E. MILLER, Attorney for Plaintiff, No. 32 Nassau Street, N. Y.

The sale of the above-described premises is hereby further adjourned to Friday, January 5th, 1900, at the same hour and place.

Dated New York, Dec. 22, 1899.

CHAS. G. F. WAHLE, Referee.

CHARLES E. MILLER, Atty. for Plff., 32 Nassau St., N. Y.

SURROGATE NOTICES.

BAILEY, DEBORAH ANN.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against DEBORAH ANN BAILEY, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at their place of transacting business, at the office of Willis Benrer, 141 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the 7th day of March, 1900.—Dated New York, the 6th day of September, 1899. CHARLES BENNER, WILLIAM H. BAILEY, WILLIAM B. FROST, Executors. WILLIS BENNER, Attorney for Executors, 141 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York. s6-1aw6mW

TRAVELERS' GUIDE—STEAMBOATS.

BOSTON $2.50 VIA THE NEW ROUTE TO NEW HAVEN, PROVIDENCE, AND BOSTON.

NEW HAVEN LINE
NARRAGANSETT BAY LINE.

Steamers daily, Sunday excepted, from Pier 25 East River, for New Haven, Providence, and Boston at 5 P. M.

Catskill, Hudson and Coxsackie Boats

Leave foot of Christopher Street every week-day at 6 P. M.

TRAVELERS' GUIDE—SHIPPING.

GOING ABROAD? GAZE'S High-class Escorted Tours.

56th year.
Dec., Jan., and Feb. to France, Italy, Paris & London, 50 Days, $310, and 67 Days, $495.
Jan. 27, Feb. 10, to Italy, EGYPT, PALESTINE, Turkey and Greece., 76 Days, $800, and 93 Days, $720.
Also other tours; programmes post free.

Nile Tours by newest, finest steamers, $171.50.

Apply at once. Independent travel tickets everywhere. "Tourist Gazette," 100 pp., on travel, 5c. stamp.

HENRY GAZE & SONS,
113 Broadway, New York.

WHITE STAR LINE.

NEW YORK—QUEENSTOWN—LIVERPOOL.
Teutonic..Dec. 27, Noon | Teutonic..Jan. 31, Noon
Germanic...Jan. 3 Noon | Germanic...Feb. 7, Noon
Oceanic...Jan. 24, 11 AM | Oceanic..Feb. 21, 9:30 AM

For passage, freight, and general information apply to WHITE STAR LINE, Pier 48 North River. Office, 9 Broadway, N. Y.

CUNARD LINE

TO LIVERPOOL VIA QUEENSTOWN.
From Piers 51 and 52 North River.
Campania..Dec. 30, 2 PM | Campania..Jan. 27, Noon
Lucania...Jan. 13, 2 PM | Umbria...Feb. 3, 9 AM
Etruria...Jan. 20, 9 AM | Lucania...Feb. 10, 1 PM

VERNON H. BROWN & CO., Gen. Agents. 4 BOWLING GREEN, NEW YORK.

JAPAN-CHINA

Hawaii and Philippine Islands
PACIFIC MAIL S. S. CO.
OCCIDENTAL AND ORIENTAL S. S. CO.
TOYOKISEN KAISHA.

Between San Francisco, Honolulu, Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki, Shanghai, Hong Kong.
Steamers leave San Francisco at 1 P. M.
GAELIC...Dec. 29 | CHINA.....Jan. 2
H. K. MARU...Jan. 16 | DORIC.....Feb. 1

For freight, passage, and general information apply at 349 Broadway, or 1 Battery Place. Wash. Bldg., and 287 Broadway, N. Y. City.

OLD DOMINION LINE.
DAILY SERVICE.

For Old Point Comfort, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Pinner's Point, Newport News, and Richmond, Va., connecting for Petersburg, Richmond, Virginia Beach, Washington, D. C., and entire South and West.

Freight and passenger steamers sail from Pier 26, North River, foot of Beach St., every week day, except Saturday, at 3 P. M., and Saturday, at 4 P. M.

H. B. WALKER, Traffic Manager.

A.—PARIS, 1900.

Steamers "City of Rome" and "Nebraska" specially chartered for Paris Exposition. Oberammergau Passion Play and tour of Europe start June 20th; booking now. Also Thirty other Spring and Summer Excursions. Holy Land parties leave Feb. 17th and March 3d.

FRANK C. CLARK, 111 Broadway, New York.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

TRAVELERS' GUIDE—SHIPPING.

COOK'S

Oriental Tours.

Select parties will leave New York on Jan. 9, Feb. 10, 17, and March 3 for Comprehensive Tours in BIBLE LANDS and ORIENTAL COUNTRIES. The routes include Egypt and the Nile, the Holy Land, Constantinople, Athens, and Southern Europe. The Fares, which include All Traveling Expenses on strictly First-class scale, range from $720 upward, according to length of tour.

Owing to the great demand for accommodation on our NILE STEAMERS we have arranged to dispatch a Special Steamer on Jan. 25 from Cairo for the First Cataract. Tourists intending to proceed to UPPER

THE FIGHT FOR MOLINEUX

Handwriting Expert Ames Keeps the Stenographer Busy.

DISAGREES WITH THE OTHERS

Gives No Weight to Pictorial Effect—Mr. Tolman's Testimony Pleases the Defense.

Expert testimony as regards handwriting took up all of yesterday's session in the Molineux trial before Recorder Goff, in the Court of General Sessions. It was the opening of the seventh week of the trial. Expert Tolman of Chicago finished his direct testimony, and was briefly cross-examined by Mr. Weeks for the defense, and Daniel T. Ames, lately of New York but who now divides all the fees received by him in this territory with Expert Kinsley, as testified to by Mr. Kinsley, was the other witness. He was on the stand when court adjourned.

Mr. Ames has figured in many cases, notably the Tighe will case, the Fair will case, and the Botkin case in San Francisco, which resembles the case on trial in that its main feature consisted of sending poison through the mails. Mr. Ames is of rather patriarchal appearance, but his age has not interfered with his flow of words. He went on the stand at noon, and for one hour, up to the noon recess, he talked at the rate of 175 words a minute, while Col. Beard, the stenographer, put on extra steam to keep up with the stream.

Mr. Ames at 2 o'clock went on again, and talked until 4:10 at the same rate. Then the Recorder told him that the session was at an end, and the expert reluctantly gathered up his exhibits and notes and crayons for further use to-day. During the time Mr. Ames was on the stand neither Mr. Weeks nor Mr. Osborne interrupted him for any considerable time. Twice the counsel for the defense asked him to more clearly elucidate certain principles, and once Mr. Osborne asked him to talk more loudly.

It developed more strongly than heretofore during yesterday's session that the profession of handwriting expert is a profitable one. Mr. Kinsley had already testified that he got $1,700 and expected a great deal more, and that he also got $25 a day. He also testified that he got one-half of Mr. Ames's fees, which are $50 a day. Mr. Tyrrell got the same per diem, and did not have to split it with any one, and Mr. Tolman testified, under cross-examination by Mr. Weeks, that he got $50 a day—the regular rate he said that was—and that he expected to get paid for thirty days' work at that rate. Besides, that he also got his traveling and hotel expenses.

Mr. Tolman's cross-examination also brought out the fact that it did not take him long to arrive at a conclusion. He said he came to New York the day before the Coroner's inquest, and received at the Astor House a number of letters to compare. They consisted of the alleged bogus Barnet and Cornish letters for patent medicines, the poison package address, and the admitted handwritings of the defendant. He worked five hours that night and two hours the next morning, and then came to the unalterable conclusion that the same hand had written all the samples. That same day, he said, he went before the Coroner's jury and swore to that opinion.

In this Mr. Tolman differed with Expert Kinsley, the chief handwriting expert for the people, who swore that, although he had worked on all the samples in question from Jan. 1 to Feb. 20, he had not formed a conclusion that Molineux was the author of all the writings. It was only, he swore, when he had been able to get the defendant to write under conditions directed by him the exact words of the disputed writings that he came to the conclusion that Molineux was the author of the Barnet and Cornish letters and the writer of the poison package address.

MOLINEUX IN GOOD SPIRITS.

Molineux's Christmas relaxation, the visits of his wife, father, and mother, and the extra exercise accorded him, seemed to have done him much good. He seemed in excellent physical form yesterday and was much amused at Expert Ames's volubility. He frequently consulted with Mr. Weeks and Mr. Carvalho, and what they told him seemed to reassure him.

As soon as Mr. Tolman took the stand he started to elucidate his theory regarding the writings of the defendant to the effect that there was a great splurge at the beginnings of words, especially where they started off with capitals, and that there was a succeeding loss of energy which resulted in the word tapering off to nothing at all. Then the expert talked about triangular effect.

"The first thing that a man does when he starts out to disguise his writing," Mr. Tolman said, "is to try to change his style and to leave out if possible all the characteristics he knows of. He is usually able at the start to disguise his hand, but after a while he loses his self-consciousness and unconsciously falls back upon his old and own way of writing."

Mr. Tolman then went into detail to elucidate his theory. He made the declaration that the pictorial effect in all the writings was the same, and that in his opinion the disguises in the alleged bogus Barnet and Cornish letters and the poison wrapper address were very bad disguises. They only differed in slant, he said, that was all. "This handwriting is so full of characteristics," he said, "that disguise would be almost impossible."

"Is your opinion decided?" asked Mr. Osborne.

"Clear and decided. The defendant wrote all the writings under dispute."

"When you came here, did I tell you when I suspected?"

"You did not."

Mr. Weeks then took the witness in hand. He said in answer to questions that he did not know when he arrived here what the standards were, as he saw writings signed "Barnet," "Cornish," and "Molineux."

"Was any question asked of you then?" said Mr. Weeks.

"Only one. Whether all the letters shown to me were in the same handwriting."

Mr. Weeks then asked the expert if he had ever been mistaken, and he said he had been, but that in those cases he had returned the fees. It also developed that he had been opposed to Tyrrell, Ames, and Hay, all experts in this case for the prosecution, but he would not admit that they were right and he wrong. He said that while he had no used his "impulse of energy" theory in this case for the first time, yet it was a comparatively new theory, and was of more service in this case than it had ever been before.

"You say that the writing is strong as to muscle and weak as to will power?" asked Mr. Weeks.

"Yes."

"Have you changed your opinions since the Coroner's inquest?"

"I may have."

"Did you not say at the inquest that the writer was not strong as to muscle?"

"Some of the writing shows that he is able to control himself wonderfully," was the answer.

"You have given all your reasons for believing that the defendant wrote the address on the poison package?"

"All except what was said by other experts. I left that out to save time."

"Take 'C,' the Barnet letter, alone, and tell us if you were able to tell from that whether the writing was disguised or not."

"I could not tell from that letter."

"That's all," said Mr. Weeks promptly, and he and Mr. Carvalho looked more pleased than at any time since Mr. Kinsley left the stand.

MR. AMES'S TESTIMONY.

Mr. Ames was next on the stand, and he started out by agreeing with his brother experts as to the dominating influences in disguising handwritings and the results. He said something about a man walking around a hole, the significance of which was lost. Mr Kinsley, who sat near, was asked for an explanation of the remark.

"I did not understand what he said," said Mr. Kinsley, "but I know what he usually says."

"What is that?" asked the reporter.

"That no man takes the trouble to walk around a hole unless he knows the hole is there. That's one of his favorite similes."

Mr. Ames then went on to tell at great length the methods used in disguise of handwriting. The first thing usually done was to change the slant and the types of well-known letters with which the writer was familiar. He said the strokes of the letters on the wrapper were too absurd to be in the natural handwriting of any one. The great vacillation, he said, showed that the writing was made by a man not accustomed to that sort of slope.

Mr. Ames also dwelt on the peculiar positions of the words as regards the base lines, and attempted to show that in all the writings the slope was clearly uphill, every word ending higher than it begun. In answer to a question by Juror Billings as to how much importance he attached to this matter of slope, he said that such a thing in itself would not be conclusive, but that it was the combination of similarities taken together that gave force to an opinion based on all taken together.

Mr. Ames delivered his testimony much in the style of a country preacher. He waved his arms about in describing curves in the writings, and emphasized his remarks by occasionally slapping the wad of exhibits that he held in his hand. He stated that he gave no weight to pictorial effect, thus exactly opposing the statements of every other one of the experts.

Mr. Ames said that the change of slant changed the pictorial effect to all but the expert, and he also advanced the opinion that an expert knew any person's handwriting better than that person himself, for it was impossible for any one to know all of the idiosyncrasies existing in his writing. It took an expert, he said, to pick those out.

Mr Ames gave great weight to crossings of the letters "t" in all the writings. He said that the cross stroke was a short formal stroke nearly at the centre of the staff, and with an upward tendency. Mr. Weeks at once picked out half a dozen "t's" with a downward tendency on the cross stroke, and Mr. Ames amended his statement by saying that he gave most attention to the fact that the "t" was crossed near the middle of the staff.

"In other words the crossings are practically the same," said Mr. Osborne, coming to the rescue.

"That's right," said Mr. Ames.

"Well, then pass on to something else," said Mr. Osborne, and the witness took a fresh start.

Concerning the letter "r" the witness said that three types existed in the writings, but that the "r" in Harry on the request writing was practically the same as the "r" in Cornish on the poison package.

"The 'r' in Cornish in the writing made at the request of Mr. Kinsley is of another type, and is injected into the writings, so of course it is not a proper subject for comparison," said the witness.

At this point an adjournment was ordered until this morning.

Buckwheat Cakes with Royal Baking Powder

Are delicious and wholesome—a perfect cold weather breakfast food.

Made in the morning; no yeast, no "setting" over night, never sour, never cause indigestion.

To make a perfect buckwheat cake, and a thousand other dainty dishes, see the "Royal Baker and Pastry Cook." Mailed free to any address.

Carefully avoid baking powders made from alum. They look like pure powders, and may raise the cakes, but alum is a poison and no one can eat food mixed with it without injury to health.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 100 WILLIAM ST., NEW YORK.

MARTIN ENGEL'S FRIENDS DINE.

Over a hundred members of the Martin Engel Association, the Tammany Hall organization of the Eighth Assembly District, took part in a dinner in honor of Mr. Engel, the leader of the district, at Flisser's restaurant, Houston and Greene Streets, last night. In the assemblage were nearly all of the political workers of the Eighth District, besides a number from other districts of both the east and west sides, and the merrymaking was kept up until a late hour.

In such a gathering the absence of food would not have been more noticeable than that of Senator Timothy "Dry Dollar" Sullivan, or at least one of his accredited representatives. Senator Sullivan, however, could not attend, so he sent in his stead his nephew, "Little Tim," and Michael C. Padden, the Sergeant at Arms of the Council. Charities Commissioner John W. Keller and Senator Thomas F. Grady were present as representatives of the higher Tammany circle, and among the others in attendance were Municipal Justice George F. Roesch and Henry M. Goldfogle, Max Schwartz, Charles Solomon, George J. Kraus, Florence J. Sullivan, ex-Police Justice Joseph Koch, Henry Bruch, Police Captain Herlihy, and Acting Capt. Cottrell. Councilman Engel's three "ponies," Assemblyman-elect Isidor Cohen, Assistant Corporation Counsel Gustavus A. Rogers, and Henry J. Goldsmith, looked after the comfort of the guests, and took charge of the details of the affair.

During the evening there was presented to Max Hochstim, Mr. Engel's first lieutenant, a portrait of the leader and a set of resolutions, the former the gift of Mr. Engel himself and the latter the tribute of the association in recognition of Mr. Hochstim's work in behalf of the organization. Assistant Corporation Counsel Rogers made the presentation in a speech laudatory of the recipient, who was unable to respond further than to say "Thank you." In his behalf ex-Justice Koch made a formal reply to Mr. Rogers's speech.

Justice Roesch responded to the toast "The Martin Engel Association," in place of Assemblyman Julius Harburger, who was absent, and Justice Goldfogle spoke to "Law and Politics" in lieu of District Attorney Gardiner, who is nursing a broken rib at his home, in Garden City. "Our City" was Charities Commissioner Keller's theme, and Senator Grady and Councilman Engel also spoke.

WILL OF WILLIAM H. APPLETON.

The will of William H. Appleton of the book-publishing firm of D. Appleton & Co., was filed yesterday in the office of the Surrogate. The testator died in October, and the will was executed on Dec. 5, 1893. The estate is divided between his three children, William W., Henry C., and Mary Appleton.

The value of the real estate in this State is said to be $75,000. The value of the personal estate is stated to be unknown, but is believed to be considerably over $1,000,000.

Having made bequests of valuable paintings, books, and bric-à-brac to his children and friends, the testator provides for the disposition of his real and personal estate equally between his three children. The will provides that a sum of $100,000 is to be paid as soon as possible to William W. Appleton, who is to be credited with that sum on the books of the firm. Fifty thousand dollars is left to the testator's daughter, Mary. Henry C. Appleton gets nothing specifically, but receives one-third of the residuary estate under certain conditions.

The third of the residue to which Henry C. is entitled is to be placed in a trust fund, and the executors to the will are empowered to pay him the capital in such sums as they may deem fit, provided that a sum of a $100,000 is always retained in the trust fund, of which he is to receive the interest. He is, however, to be permitted to invest the whole sum bequeathed to him in the firm.

BROTHERS' INTERESTS CLASH.

John C. Calhoun Sues Patrick for the Recovery of $115,383.43.

The differences between John C. Calhoun of this city and Patrick Calhoun of Cleveland, Ohio, the grandsons of John C. Calhoun of South Carolina, over the proper division of the profits and losses of several enterprises in which they were jointly interested, have led to a suit brought against Patrick Calhoun by his brother in the New York Supreme Court for the recovery of $115,383.43.

The brothers submitted their differences to Gen. M. C. Butler of South Carolina, as referee, several months ago, and on Oct. 13 an agreement, it is alleged, was reached between them, by which their joint interests were valued at $250,000, and by which Patrick Calhoun was to discharge certain obligations and pay to John C. Calhoun the balance of $115,383.43 for his interest in the joint enterprises. The matters involved included interests in the Euclid Heights Realty Company, the Railway and Realty Security Company, the Kentucky Coal and Iron Company, the Port Royal Company, the North Augusta Land Company, and the Roger American Mechanical Carriage Company.

Gen. Butler last week filed his report as referee, without regard to the agreement of Oct. 13. He found John C. Calhoun indebted to his brother in the sum of $197.

An injunction was granted to John C. Calhoun on Dec. 9 by Justice Beach of the New York Supreme Court restraining Patrick Calhoun from disposing of his brother's interests pending the hearing of the suit.

Walter S. Logan of Logan, Demond & Harby, attorneys for John C. Calhoun, said yesterday that the filing of Gen. Butler's report was not expected, because the submission of the differences to him as referee had been offset by the agreement between the brothers on Oct. 13. "Patrick Calhoun's defense," he declared, "has settled the obligations for which he was to provide according to the agreement, but did not pay the balance of about $115,000, which was due to his brother for the latter's interests. This failure to complete the obligations of the agreement is responsible for the present suit."

JEWISH HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Papers on the Lives of Early American Hebrews Read at the Meeting.

Much information concerning the life of the American Hebrews during the early days of the country's history was brought out in papers read before the eighth annual meeting of the American Jewish Historical Society at the United Hebrew Charities Building yesterday. The late Judge Charles F. Daly, who was an honorary member and who died since the last meeting, was referred to at the morning session.

The Rev. Dr. H. Pereira Mendes after the noon recess described the Jewish colony at Newport in 1760 from contemporaneous records which he had discovered. The synagogue was built by slave labor and a club was maintained, one of the by-laws of which was that, lest the organization should come to be known as a gaming club, every member was forbidden to play for stakes of greater than 20 shillings under penalty of forfeiting four bottles of good wine to his fellows.

Miss Annette Kohn of this city had prepared a paper on the "Jewish Topography of New York," which was read by Prof. J. H. Hollander of the Johns Hopkins University. Prof. Hollander, in a paper of his own, brought to light many incidents in the life of Haym Solomon, a financier of Revolutionary days and friend and helper of James Madison. In the discussion of Prof. Hollander's paper, Simon Wolf said a claim which Solomon's descendants allege against the Government on account of money he loaned will be pressed before Congress at this session.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President—Dr. Cyrus Adler, Washington; Vice Presidents—Simon W. Rosendale, Albany; Mendes Cohen, Baltimore; Prof. Charles Gross, Cambridge, and Dr. B. Felsenthal, Chicago; Treasurer—Prof. Richard Gotthell, New York; Corresponding and Recording Secretaries—Herbert Friedenwald, Washington, and Prof. J. H. Hollander, Baltimore, respectively.

THE NEUFELD MURDER TRIAL.

Prof. Witthaus Thinks Stains on the Defendant's Clothes Were Blood.

The trial of William Neufeld for the murder of Mrs. Annie Kronman was continued yesterday in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court. The morning session was occupied by the testimony of people who had seen Neufeld exhibit jewelry which had been identified as having belonged to Mrs. Kronman.

Detective Sergeant James McAfferty testified in the afternoon that he had called at Neufeld's house, at 9 Goerck Street, and received from his mother a coat, vest, and trousers, which were sent to Prof. Witthaus for examination. Prof. Witthaus described various small stains on the coat and trousers which he said in his opinion were human blood. He said that some of the stains bore evidence of having been washed. Under cross-examination, Prof. Witthaus admitted that he could not be positive that the stains were human blood.

The trial will be resumed at 10:30 this morning, when Capt. McClusky, Chief of the Detective Bureau, will be called as the last witness for the prosecution.

The sore Throat to which public speakers are subject, can be at once relieved, and eventually cured, with Jayne's Expectorant.—Adv.

LEGAL NOTES.

SHARP AND UNFAIR DEALINGS DISCOUNTENANCED.—When a promissory note for $2,000 given by Elias August to the Madison Square Bank was about to become due, Mrs. August notified the bank that the four bonds given it by her husband as collateral security had been transferred to her. She made an arrangement with the officers of the bank to pay the note, the bank to recognize the transfer of the bonds by surrendering them to her on receiving such payment. When the President of the bank subsequently received the $2,000 in cash, he refused either to surrender the bonds or give back the money. In a suit brought by Mrs. August against O'Brien and others, receivers of the bank, Justice McAdam, before whom the case was tried, yesterday gave her judgment for the value of the bonds, saying she was clearly entitled to one or the other when the bank refused to give her either the money or the bonds. She owed the bank nothing, he said, and she paid the $2,000 merely to obtain the bonds which had previously been transferred to her. Assuming that the bank, according to the terms of the collateral note, had the right to retain the bonds until another obligation held by it against Elias August was paid, it should have corrected her understanding of the arrangement by asserting this right and declining to receive the plaintiff's money impressed with the condition upon which she paid it. The law, the Court said, would not countenance this mode of doing business, nor allow any one to profit by sharp dealings, but would hold the bank to methods more conformable to fair dealing and proper business principles.

***

PREMISES RENDERED UNTENANTABLE.—The late Walter L. Sinn, after occupying for twelve months a house in Brooklyn which he had leased in 1894 for eighteen months, abandoned it, refusing to pay any rent for the remainder of the term. He claimed the house became untenantable and unfit to live in, and hence that there was a constructive eviction. In a suit brought by Evelina A. Meserole against Anna T. Hoyt, as Mr. Sinn's administratrix, to recover rent claimed to be due, the proof tended to show that after heavy rainstorms water entered the cellar through the walls and foundation to the depth of several inches, that the dampness produced malaria among the inmates, and that Mr. Sinn himself became sick from this cause and died subsequent to his removal from the house. The Court of Appeals recently sustained the unanimous affirmance below of a verdict for the defendant. The court holds, in an opinion by Judge O'Brien, that the question whether the leased premises became untenantable without the neglect of the tenant, through "the elements or any other cause," so as to render applicable the statute (L. 1860, Ch. 345) relieving the tenant from liability for rent, depended upon an inquiry of fact, which fact was conclusively determined in favor of the tenant by an undirected verdict for him on the trial and a unanimous affirmance of the judgment by the Appellate Division. The Constitutional provision had the effect of withdrawing from the jurisdiction of the Court of Appeals, after such unanimous decision, the question of law whether there was any evidence tending to prove the fact that the premises were untenantable.

***

MONEY PAID FOR TRANSFER OF CONTROL OF CORPORATION.—Horace Moody, in December, 1891, under the direction of William H. Law, President of the Life Union, a domestic corporation engaged in the business of life insurance on the co-operative or assessment plan, made an agreement with Lucius O. Robertson and Lewis P. Levy by which he undertook to deliver to them the absolute control and management of the association for $15,000. This was to be accomplished by the resignation from time to time of one or more Directors of the corporation and the election of Robertson and Levy, or persons they should designate, as Directors. The agreement was executed, Levy was elected a Director to fill a vacancy, and Law resigned as President and had Levy elected in his place. The money was distributed among the Directors, Law receiving $3,000. The Life Union having in November, 1893, been dissolved for insolvency, David McClure, who was appointed receiver, secured judgment on the trial of his suit against Law to recover this money. The First Appellate Division, which treated the transaction as a bribe, paid to the Directors by Levy, held that the money did not belong to the corporation and directed a reversal. The Court of Appeals, reversing the Appellate Division, has directed judgment for plaintiff on the verdict, holding, in an opinion by Judge Haight, that this was money obtained by Law by virtue of his office, for which he must account to the corporation; that the claim that the Directors' acts were illegal and unauthorized did not avail to render his own wrong a defense to the action. The Court also decited that it was not a defense to the action, nor a justification of the Directors' conduct; that the transfer of the control of the corporation was for the purpose of reimbursing himself and other Directors for moneys which they had invested in the purchase of promissory notes issued by the corporation, but which were not legally collectible from it. Justice Bartlett dissented.

***

WILL CONSTRUED.—Joseph W. Meeks, who died in 1878, by the fourth clause of his will gave his wife a life interest in a trust fund sufficient to produce an income of $8,000, but did not dispose of the corpus of that fund upon the termination of the trust. By the fifth clause he directed his executors to make division and distribution of all his real and personal estate in the manner thereinafter specifically described, "excepting that part hereinbefore appropriated." The Court of Appeals, in an action by Edwin B. Meeks, as executor, against Catharine L. Meeks, for the construction of the will, affirmed the judgment of the Appellate Division of the Second Department, holding, by Justice O'Brien, that the words quoted applied to the life interest of the widow only, and not to the corpus of the fund, and, hence, that there was no intestacy as to the corpus, but that it was intended to pass, on the death of the widow, in the division of all the testator's estate as directed in the fifth clause, and so was disposed of by the will.

A warm welcome here—old Boreas's sudden bluster causes us to heap more fuel on the overcoat fire.

Blue and black kersey with that satiny feel cheaper grades can't imitate—our very best both in cloth and make-up. Were $30 to $40.

Now, sizes 32 to 34, $22.

Sizes 34 to 46, $25.

Men who can't get warm at this fire will surely thaw over our $15 kersey; an overcoat in which is the utmost wear and good looks for the least money.

$15 is made a particularly attractive price to-day by marking down to that figure some 300 rough overcoats—young men's sizes, $10.

ROGERS, PEET & Co.

350 Broadway, cor. Leonard.
569 Broadway, cor. Prince.
Thirty-second and Broadway.

FLINT'S FINE FURNITURE

BOUDOIR DESKS REDUCED.

In choice woods, chaste conceptions and graceful carvings.

MAHOGANY

$13.00; $18.00; $24.00.
(former prices $16.50 to $30.00.)

Beautifully grained wood, carved, and with brass knobs and handles. Maple and oak designs also reduced.

Bureaus and Chiffoniers of equal style and beauty, as well as other necessary appurtenances which go to make up "My Lady's Boudoir," now reduced before stock-taking.

"BUY OF THE MAKER"

GEO. C. FLINT CO.

43 45 AND 47 WEST 23RD ST
NEAR BROADWAY.
FACTORY 154 AND 156 WEST 19TH STREET.

CORNELIUS VANDERBILT'S FINE.

Judge Fitzsimons Says He Must Pay It, and Ought to Apologize.

Speaking yesterday of the fining of Cornelius Vanderbilt $100 for contempt of court in not responding to a jury summons last January, Judge Fitzsimons of the City Court said:

"I do not mean to pose before the public as an oppressor of the moneyed class. There is already too much communism and anarchism rift among the lower classes in our country, and by my action I did not intend to add fuel to the flame, and merely condemned Mr. Vanderbilt as I would any other who committed the same offense. As a matter of fact, if the man had come down here, as many of his class have done, and paid the fine imposed for not serving, I should have been satisfied. But he didn't even take the trouble to refer the summons to his secretary. A good many young men of his position come to me and willingly pay their fine.

"As a matter of fact, I don't want men of young Vanderbilt's station. What interest have they in suits for small amounts that they would have to consider here? I might want their fathers, because they earned their money and know its value. Mr. Vanderbilt will have to pay his fine. He should come here and apologize, not to me, but to the people he has slighted."

Mr. Vanderbilt could not be seen last evening in regard to the remarks of Judge Fitzsimmons, he being out of the city.

CAUGHT IN STATION TURNSTILE.

Manhattan Railway Asked to Pay for Mrs. St. Clair's Illness.

Mrs. H. W. St. Clair is ill at her home, 720 East One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Street, as a result of being caught in the turnstile at the One Hundred and Sixth Street station of the Third Avenue elevated railway last Saturday evening, but her condition is not as serious as was at first thought. The woman tried to follow her husband through the turnstile, when in some manner she became jammed in the stile. One of the arms struck her in the abdomen and another pinned her in the back. She was assisted home, and a physician who was called feared that peritonitis would result from her injuries.

Mr. St. Clair said yesterday that his wife had been caught similarly at the same station a week ago last Saturday evening, but had received only a slight injury at that time. He said that he had reported the case to the officials of the Manhattan Railway Company and asked them to pay the physician's and nurses' bills.

Died Suddenly in a Street Car.

Richard Guy, thirty years old, an embalmer, of 335 East Eighteenth Street, died suddenly yesterday morning in a street car of the Central Crosstown line, and his body was removed to the East Twenty-second Street Police Station. It is supposed that he died of heart disease. Guy boarded the car at Eleventh Street and Greenwich Avenue, took a seat at the forward end of the car, and apparently went to sleep. He rode to the terminus at Avenue A and Twenty-second Street. Conductor Thomas Mulcahy did not attempt to rouse him until the car reached the terminus. Then he went over and shook the man gently, and found him dead.

New Venezuelan Minister.

The official announcement was made yesterday in a cable dispatch from Caracas that President Castro had appointed Gen. N. Bolet-Peraza as Minister Plenipotentiary to Washington. Gen. Bolet-Peraza has long been a resident of this city, and now lives at 78 West Eighty-fifth Street. He has been prominent in the politics of Venezuela, and has occupied many high offices under various administrations.

O'Neill's.

Annual Sale of Women's Muslin Underwear!

Over 75,000 Pieces

At the Lowest Prices ever made in the History of the Retail Underwear Trade.

MAIL ORDERS RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION.

Sixth Avenue, 20th to 21st St.

An attractive suit display with price-changes that will surely sell them all.

$18, $16 and $15 Suits now marked at $12.

Every size of man great or small-short or tall.

Hackett Carhart & Co.

THREE BROADWAY STORES. Cor. 13TH St. Cor. Canal St. Near Chambers.

For New Year's Day.
GREETING CARDS
of all Descriptions.
RICH JEWELRY and FANS,
HAIR ORNAMENTS, and Duchesse Lace Handkerchiefs.
ITEMS FOR MEN'S WEAR
Dress Shirts, Collars and Cuffs, Full-Dress Protectors, Mufflers, Handkerchiefs, Suspenders, Light and Dark Neck Dressing.
Also a Choice Selection of Men's Gloves, (all new colors.)
PRICES VERY LOW.

Daniell's, Broadway, 8 & 9 Sts.

AMUSEMENTS.

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE.
GRAND OPERA SEASON 1899-1900.
Under the Direction of Mr. MAURICE GRAU.
To-night, at 8, DON GIOVANNI. Mmes. Nordica, Suzanne Adams, and Sembrich; MM. Ed. de Reszke, Salignac, Dufriche, and Scotti, (his first appearance.) Conductor, Sig. Mancinelli.
Fri. Evg., Dec. 29, at 8, FAUST. Mmes. Calvé and Mantelli; MM. Alvarez, Scotti, and Edouard de Reszke. Conductor, Sig. Mancinelli.
Sat. Mat., Dec. 30, only matinée of ROMEO ET JULIETTE. Mmes. Eames, Olitzka; MM. Saleza, Plançon, and Ed. de Reszke. Conductor, Sig. Mancinelli.
Sat. Evg., Dec. 30, at Popular Prices, IL TROVATORE. Mmes. Nordica and Mantelli; MM. Campanari, Pringle, and Dippel. Conductor, Sig. Bevignani.
Sun. Evg., Dec. 31, Grand Sunday Night Concert. Soloists: Mmes. Sembrich and Olitzka; MM. Campanari and Salignac, together with Met. Opera House Orchestra. Conductor, Mr. Paur.
Mon. Evg., Jan. 1, at 8, CARMEN. Mmes. Calvé and Suzanne Adams; MM. Saleza and Plançon. Conductor, Sig. Mancinelli.
The Repertoire for the balance of next week will be announced to-morrow morning.
WEBER PIANOS USED.

CARNEGIE HALL—NEXT SUNDAY EVG.
Sunday Ev'g, 31st Dec., at 8:30 o'Clock,
PADEREWSKI
His only appearance with orchestra this season
WALTER DAMROSCH.....Conductor.
Programme. Beethoven E Flat Concerto. Soli, by Chopin.
PADEREWSKI'S Fantasie Polonaise
Seats at 23 Union Sq and at the Hall.
STEINWAY PIANO USED.

CARNEGIE HALL. 27th Season, 1899-1900.
ORATORIO SOCIETY
Frank Damrosch, Conductor.
Friday Aft., Dec. 29, at 2.
Saturday Evg., Dec. 30, at 8.
ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PERFORMANCES
The Messiah
SOLOISTS:
Sopr. Mme. Johanna Gadski
Contr. Miss Grace Preston
Tenor, Mr. George Hamlin
Basso, Mr. David Bispham
Reserved seats 75 cents to $2.00. Boxes $12 and $15. Now on sale at box office.

ST. NICHOLAS
SKATING RINK
69 West 66th St.
Open to the Public New Year's.
INTERNATIONAL HOCKEY MATCHES.
To-night at 8:15 O'clock.
McGILL UNIV. of Montreal vs. NEW YORK A. C.
Saturday, Dec. 30, 8:15 P. M.
McGILL UNIVERSITY VS. ALL-YORK.
Reserved seats, 50 cents extra.

5th Ave Theatre. B'way & 28th St. Evs. 8:15. Mats. To-day, Sat. & New Year's. POSITIVE SUCCESS. The Latest Musical Comedy.
THREE LITTLE LAMBS
Company of 70, including the Misses Adele Ritchie, Nellie Braggins, Marie Cahill, the Messrs. W. E. Philp, Raymond Hitchcock, W. T. Carleton.

PROCTOR'S 23d ST. Marshall Wilder, Cont. Perf. Jennie Yeamans, 15, 25, 50c. Anna Teresa Berger. MOVING PICTURES, (XMAS VIEWS.) 20 other.

PALACE 58th St. & 3d Av. HUNGARIAN BOYS' BAND. Cont. Perf. 15, 25, 50c. 40 Midget Musicians. PRESS ELDRIDGE, Conway & Leland, others.

LYCEUM 4th Av. & 23d.....at 8:30. Daniel Frohman.....Manager. Matinées Thursday & Sat., 2. Extra Matinée New Year's Day. FOURTH MONTH. CHARLES FROHMAN PRESENTS ANNIE RUSSELL in MISS HOBBS MISS HOBBS

DALY'S B'way & 30th.....at 8:30. Matinées Wednesday & Sat., 2. Special Matinée New Year's. 2D MONTH. Permanent Home of Daniel Frohman's Co. THE MANEUVERS OF JANE Comedy, 4 acts, by Henry Arthur Jones.

AMERICAN THEATRE 3rd year. Box Office open 9 A. M. The BEGGAR STUDENT. Evs. 8:15, 25c. to $1. Mat. To-day, 1,100 Seats 25c. Next Week—DIE FLEDERMAUS (in English).

THE NEW YORK Pop. Price Mat. Sat. & New Year's. 2 w'ks only, S. Bernard & Xmas pantom. THE MAN IN THE MOON, Jan. 8, 1st time, "Broadway to Tokio." Sunday Evening, Dec. 31, All-Star Concert and End of the Century Gambol.

HAMMERSTEIN'S VICTORIA Ev'gs, 8:20. 42d St., B'way & 7th Av. Mat. Sat., 2:15. LAST WEEK ROGERS BROS. in WALL ST. TO-NIGHT SOUVENIRS. Mon., Jan. 1—"Chris and the Wonderful Lamp."

CASINO! Last 10 Ngts! LAST MAT. SAT BUT TWO! Mat. Nw Yrs Day! Alice Nielsen OPERA COMPANY Adieu Ngt, Jan. 6. Jan. 8.—Rice's "Little Red Riding Hood." in The Singing Girl

14TH STREET THEATRE, near 6th Av. MATINEE TO-DAY. THE VILLAGE POSTMASTER. "Another Old Homestead."—N. Y. World. AN EVERYDAY PICTURE OF COUNTRY LIFE

BROADWAY Theatre. 41st St. & B'way. Evs. at 8. Mats. To-day & Sat. 2. THE GREAT SUCCESS. BEN-HUR SPECIAL MATINEE NEW YEAR'S.

KOSTER AND BIAL'S 50c. Matinee To-day. REFINED VAUDEVILLE. Parnell monument fund benefit mat. and night Jan. 3d.

KEITH'S CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE. THE GIRL WITH THE AUBURN HAIR. Hart & DeMar, Mme. Herrmann, Canfield & Carleton, Hilda Thomas, Aldrich, Biograph.

COMIQUE Broadway & 29th St. Formerly Sam T. Jack's. Mat. To-day, 25 & 50c. Bohemian Burlesquers. Tobascoscope. (Sensational Moving Pictures.) Extra attraction! Florisell, Direct from Paris.

KNICKERBOCKER. N. C. Goodwin Maxine Elliott. B'WAY & 38TH ST. Matinée To-day, 2:15. THE COWBOY AND THE LADY. Evs. 8:15. Mats. Wed. & Sat.

WALLACK'S Broadway & 30th St. Evs. 8:15. Mat. Sat. 2:15. XTRA MATINEE NEW YEAR'S. FRANK DANIELS in THE AMEER.

EDEN MUSEE WORLD IN WAX—New Groups. Extra Attractions To-day. Christmas Pantomime, Blue Beard. CINEMATOGRAPH Every Hour. Neapolitan Troubadour Orchestra.

IRVING PLACE THEATRE. Last time. Schweighofer BLITZMAEDEL. (TELEGRAPH GIRL.)

ACADEMY OF MUSIC. 14th St. & Irving Pl. Always Crowded. Prices 25, 50, 75, $1. Mats. To-day, Sat. 2. Ev. 8:10. "Way Down East."

BIJOU. B'way & 30th St. Ev. 8:15. Mat. Sat. only. Phone 2224 Mad. Sq. MAY IRWIN IN SISTER MARY. EXTRA MATINEE NEW YEAR'S DAY.

Weber & Fields' MUSIC HALL, Matinées B'way & 30 St. Tues. & Sat. Whirl-I-Gig & BARBARA FIDGETY

MANHATTAN Theatre, 33d & B'way. Ev. 8:15. Sat. Mat. ANNA HELD in PAPA'S WIFE.

THE DEWEY East 14th St. MATINEE TO-DAY. PARISIAN WIDOWS. "Tin Wedding," "Manhattan 4."

Grand Opera House. James A. Herne's Great Play SHORE ACRES. Mat. To-day Orch., 50c. Balc., 25c.

HERALD SQ. THEATRE. Mats. To-day & Sat. PRIMROSE & DOCKSTADER'S Refined Minstrels.

MURRAY HILL THEA. Lex. Av. & 42d St. MATINEE EVERY DAY, 25c. This Week, MEN AND WOMEN.

HARLEM OPERA HOUSE. Mrs. Leslie Carter in "ZAZA." Evgs., 8. Mat. Sat., 2.

Huber's 14TH ST. MUSEUM. 10c. to All. Female Sword Swallower. Thea.—2 Co's.

COMMODORE GERRY'S BAGGAGE.

Treasury Decision Lessens His Duties by About $1,000.

Collector Bidwell received yesterday the decision of the Treasury Department in regard to the personal baggage brought to this port last Fall by Commodore Elbridge T. Gerry. The department accepts without question Mr. Gerry's statements in regard to apparel which he claims was bought here, taken to Europe, and brought back, and this lessens the amount of duties Mr. Gerry will pay by about $1,000. On the other property the duties will be from $3,000 to $4,000.

When Mr. Gerry cleared the goods he deposited by check a sufficient sum to cover all Government claims. The balance will be returned to him after liquidation.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

The New York Times.

THE WEATHER: Snow; south to east winds, becoming westerly.

COPYRIGHT, 1899, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

VOL. XLIX...NO. 15,591. NEW YORK, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1899.—TWELVE PAGES. ONE CENT in Greater New York; Elsewhere, and Jersey City. TWO CENTS.

THE NEWS CONDENSED.

Stocks strong.

Cash wheat, No. 2 red, 74⅜; cash corn, No. 2 mixed, 30½; cash cotton, 7 9-16.

FOREIGN.—The impression is prevalent in London that Gen. Buller is preparing to attack the Boers again in the hope of retrieving his defeat at Colenso. Winston Churchill, who has arrived at Buller's camp, describes the Boer position as one of great strength. Secretary of State Hay denies that Great Britain has intimated an intention to seize Delagoa Bay. British naval guns are shelling the Boer positions at Tugela River. A New York company has underbid British competitors and received the contract for electric feeders for the Glasgow tramways. The French Public Prosecutor yesterday asked that M. Jules Guerin receive an especially severe sentence. The plague is raging at Noumea, New Caledonia. The French coal miners' strike has spread. Two German officers fought a duel, one is dead. Nine people of one family in Poland were tortured and murdered.—Pages 1 and 5.

Page 1.

It is reported that Congressman Boutelle is a sufferer from Bright's disease in its last stages.

An appeal has been issued for a fund of $3,000,000 to carry on the work of the late Dwight L. Moody.

When the Mazet committee meets to prepare its report to the Assembly, John Proctor Clarke of counsel will present a résumé of the evidence, and this report will be used by the committee in drafting its final report.

The Produce Exchange Trust Company will open its doors in January. Edwin Gould and Gen. Samuel Thomas, who become President and First Vice President, respectively, having advanced $2,500,000 to pay depositors.

Page 2.

Sidney Paget, W. C. Whitney's racing partner, sailed for England yesterday to join a regiment which is going to South Africa.

At the final meeting for 1899 of the Central Board of Education yesterday ninety teachers were retired on pension, said to be the largest number retired at one time in the history of the Department of Education.

Page 3.

Attorney General Monnett of Ohio delivered an address in Boston on "Abdication of Sovereignty."

In an interview in Chicago Controller of the Currency Dawes discussed the recent panic.

E. C. Hodges & Co., one of the largest brokerage firms in Boston, made an assignment.

Mr. Weeks yesterday sought to attack the credibility of Expert Daniel T. Ames, a witness for the prosecution in the Molineux trial, on the ground that he had written a book attacking the Bible.

A conference between Park Commissioner Clausen and officials of the Manhattan Railway Company was held yesterday to consider the question of the removal of the elevated structure from Battery Park. No decision was reached.

Page 4.

Intercollegiate chess yesterday resulted in Columbia drawing one point ahead of Harvard.

Page 5.

The stockholders of the Boston and Albany Railway approved the lease of that road to the New York Central.

Reports that the Dewey arch is in a dangerous condition are incorrect. Danger signals are displayed while workmen cover the top.

It is said that the Legislature will be asked to cut off inheritance tax fees now obtained by the New York City Controller and the County Treasurers.

A petition in an application to revoke the probate of Richard Tighe's will was filed in the Surrogate's Court yesterday. An estate of $1,800,000 is involved.

Articles of incorporation of the Panama Canal Company of America were filed in Trenton, N. J., yesterday. The capital stock of the company is $30,000,000.

Page 6.

One hundred and fifty of the Maine dead will be buried in Arlington Cemetery to-day.

Gen. Wood, the Governor General of Cuba, will institute reforms in the prisons of the island.

The Senate committee hearing of the contest over the seat of Senator Clark of Montana will begin Jan. 5.

President Hadley of Yale addressed the American Economic Association yesterday at Ithaca on "Economic Theory and Political Morality."

Page 7.

Harvard's new boathouse was burned, and the Thompson launch was badly damaged.

Page 12.

England's seizure of flour shipments to the Boers has stirred up exporters as to the international aspect of the situation.

Col. Edward M. Hoffman has informed Gov. Roosevelt that he accepts the position of Adjutant General to succeed Gen. Andrews.

Several more witnesses were examined yesterday by the Grand Jury which is investigating the source of the recent rumor that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company was to go into the hands of a receiver. An application for an injunction restraining the company from paying its offered reward of $25,000 for information leading to the conviction of the person or persons who circulated the report came up in the Supreme Court.

Amusements.—Page 7.
Arrivals at Hotels and Out-of-Town Buyers.—Page 2.
Business Troubles.—Page 5.
Court Calendars.—Page 10.
Insurance Notes.—Page 5.
Legal Notes.—Page 12.
Losses by Fire.—Page 2.
Markets.—Page 10.
Marine Intelligence and Foreign Mails.—Page 3.
New Corporations.—Page 10.
Railroads.—Page 5.
Real Estate.—Page 10.
Society.—Page 7.
Weather Report.—Page 2.
Yesterday's Fires.—Page 2.

MR. ROOT NOT A CANDIDATE?

Secretary Wilson Believes the New Yorker Does Not Care for the Vice Presidential Nomination.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson stopped in this city a few hours to-day while on his way to Doylestown, Penn., where he inspected the National Farm School. The Secretary was entertained at dinner by a number of prominent citizens. In an interview on the Presidential campaign of next year, Mr. Wilson said:

"The Administration has no candidate for Vice President. It wishes that candidate to be the complete choice of the people."

"Do you think Secretary of War Root is a candidate for the Vice Presidency?"

"I do not think he cares for the nomination."

"Do you think that either Gov. Roosevelt or ex-Secretary of the Interior Bliss will be candidates for the nomination?"

"I do not think that Gov. Roosevelt wishes the nomination. Mr. Bliss I consider an ideal candidate for the Vice Presidency, especially as it seems conceded that the next Vice President is to come from the East."

BUBONIC PLAGUE IN HONOLULU.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27.—Some time ago there was a plague scare in Honolulu, as physicians discovered two men suffering from disease in the native quarters. They showed all signs of the bubonic plague, and one died. Local physicians, however, promptly isolated the victims and no further cases were reported.

It is probable that the disease was introduced by Japanese coolies brought over to work on sugar plantations. These coolies are herded like animals in huge buildings which in case of an outbreak of the disease would be regular breeding places for the plague.

The transport Centennial arrived at 9 o'clock to-night from Manila, via Honolulu, with a large number of officers and sick and discouraged soldiers. They bring the news that the bubonic plague has broken out at Honolulu.

Marvelous Accuracy.

Operation of the Pennsylvania Railroad. All the safeguards known to science. Short line to Chicago.—Adv.

MAZET COMMITTEE REPORT

Resume by John Proctor Clarke Will Be Followed in Making It.

MR. MOSS ADMITS NO FRICTION

Refuses to Enter Into a Controversy with Mr. Platt and Is Not Worried About His Fee.

When the Mazet committee meets to prepare its report to the Assembly, as it will this week, John Proctor Clarke of counsel will present a résumé of the evidence and a number of suggestions for emergency charter amendments, and this report will, it was said yesterday on good authority, be used by the committee in drafting its final report. The report made by Mr. Moss, it was said, will receive a certain amount of consideration, but it will be entirely subservient to that of Mr. Clarke, who, from his acquaintance with municipal affairs, gained by his experience as an assistant to the Corporation Counsel during the Strong administration and his study of existing conditions during the Mazet investigation, is regarded by the majority of the committee as being eminently fitted to perform this duty.

The fact that Mr. Clarke occupied a secondary place as counsel to the committee, one of the majority members said yesterday, was really a point in his favor, as he was thus able to follow the developments of the examination in a somewhat impartial and judicial manner.

While Mr. Moss in his report favored sweeping changes in the charter, Mr. Clarke, it was said, will present only suggestions for such changes as are absolutely necessary to the good government of the city until the Charter Revision Commission can offer to the Legislature of 1901 its draft of the revised charter. When asked what recommendations he would make and what would be the scope of his report Mr. Clarke refused to talk.

Frank Moss, the publication of whose report before it had been submitted to the members of the committee has called forth criticism, would not admit that there was any friction over his report. "I see members of the committee quoted in the papers," said he, "in a way that would indicate that they criticised the report, but none of them has indicated personally to me that there is any feeling in regard to the matter.

"It was simply a matter of courtesy to the committee, the withholding the report from the public till they had received and considered it. There was no intentional discourtesy on my part. I have written to the Chairman of the committee at his request, telling him that a garbled report appearing in a Sunday newspaper got out without my knowledge and against my wishes. That fulfills all the requirements of courtesy.

"Something has been said about my having the report printed, and so many copies having been struck off. That is nothing unusual. A large number of copies were needed. I certainly did not write the report expecting that it was going to embalmed."

Mr. Moss was told that a prominent politician had remarked that letting one paper have a partial report of a thing, and then giving out the whole report next day so as to let all papers have an equal chance was a common way of getting into print under such circumstances. Mr. Moss only replied that Senator Platt may have known of these ways of doing things, but he had not given out the report in any such way. He added that he wanted to get into no controversy with Senator Platt.

Mr. Moss was asked why John Proctor Clarke had not been consulted in making up the report. "The committee directed me, on Dec. 15," he said, "to sum up the evidence, as the counsel who had prepared the case and brought out the evidence. Mr. Clarke was at that meeting, and the request to me was made with his consent. As Mr. Laimbeer had assisted me directly with the work and the report, it was only right that he should sign it. If the report had not got out prematurely, Mr. Clarke would have been asked to sign it if he approved of it."

Mr. Moss was asked about the reported disagreement between himself and Mr. Mazet at the time Mr. Croker appeared at the Mazet committee hearing just before election and was allowed to go after he had made a statement. Mr. Moss remained out of the room while Mr. Croker was on the stand.

"There was no personal feeling at all over that matter," said Mr. Moss. "I simply disagreed with Mr. Mazet about the examination of Mr. Croker at that time. I remained out of the room, because I did not want to be responsible for the allowing of him to leave the stand as he did."

Mr. Moss said he could not estimate the expense the State had been put to for the investigation. One item that was still uncertain was the amount counsel were to receive. He could not estimate the mileage and other expenses of the members of the committee. "The expenses of this office, including clerk hire, the employing of detectives, furniture, telephones, and all pertaining to the making up of the case cost in the neighborhood of $16,000. We were careful about all our expenses."

It was suggested that the Legislature might cut Mr. Moss's fee, since his report has not been well received by the committee. "I am not worrying about that," he said. "I have no doubt that the Legislature will do the right thing by all of the counsel. We did not expect to make fortunes."

MR. ROOSEVELT IN TOWN.

Again to Meet Leaders—Will Not Consider Maset Report.

Gov. Roosevelt unexpectedly came to the city last night, and is reported to be staying with a relative in Washington Square. Chairman Odell ofo the Republican State Committee, who was absent from the Fifth Avenue Hotel for several hours last night, declared he had not seen the Governor.

It was conceded, however, that Gov. Roosevelt would have conferences to-day with the Republican leaders and others relative to the Educational and other bills. It is said that the forthcoming report of the Maset Committee will not be considered.

WENT TO LAW OVER A $10 BET.

Objected to Stakeholder's Decision and Got His Money Back.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 27.—Judge Guild, in the District Court, to-day directed a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the suit brought by Michael Meyer against William Wraage, who was stakeholder of a bet made by Meyer with Solomon Oury. Oury had often heard Meyer offer to bet that no one could eat two hard-boiled eggs on an empty stomach. Oury believed he could accomplish the feat and a bet of $10 was made.

Oury placed two eggs in his mouth, closed down on them, and they soon disappeared. He claimed the stake money, but Meyer insisted that one egg had preceded the other into Oury's stomach, and consequently the stomach was not empty when the second egg was eaten. The stakeholder decided against Meyer and paid the money over to Oury.

Oury was ready in court to-day to perform the feat over again to convince the Judge that he had won the bet fairly. The Judge decided, however, that the question of whether he won fairly or not had no weight in court. The plaintiff was entitled to the money he put up, as betting is a violation of the law. The jury was directed to find for Meyer. But for the Court's direction it would have been the other way.

John B. Stetson's Manager Retires.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—Theodore C. Search, President of the National Manufacturers' Association of the United States, has retired from the active management of the John B. Stetson Company because of ill-health, and will be succeeded by John B. Stetson himself. Mr. Search will continue as Treasurer of the company.

A Curious Water Level.

The thousand miles between New York and Chicago by New York Central Lines, along the Hudson and Mohawk Rivers, Lake Erie and Lake Michigan.—Adv.

MONEY FOR THE LAWTON FUND.

Lewis Cass Ledyard of New York Sends $500—Recorded Subscriptions Now Amount to $31,404.45.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Among the letters received to-day at the office of the Adjutant General of the Army containing subscriptions to the fund for the widow of Gen. Lawton, was one from Lewis Cass Ledyard of New York, as follows:

"No. 54 Wall Street, Christmas, 1899.

"My Dear General Corbin:

"I beg to inclose a contribution to the fund for Gen. Lawton's family in memory of my nephew, Lieut. A. C. Ledyard, killed in action in Negros Dec. 8, 1899."

Gen. Corbin has received in actual money and checks $17,323.45 toward the Lawton home fund, and has received notices of subscriptions from individuals and others in cities where funds are raising for the relief of Gen. Lawton's family sufficient to bring the total up to $31,404.45. This latter total includes the following announcements sent by telegraph on the dates named:

Dec. 26—Bankers' Trust Company, New York	$2,535
Dec. 26—Evening Telegraph, Philadelphia	2,323
Dec. 25—Alex. H. Revell and Jesse Spalding, Chicago	2,102
Dec. 26—Col. Frank J. Hecker, Detroit	1,820
Dec. 26—George E. Albee, New Haven, Conn.	1,766
Dec. 24—Gen. William R. Shafter, San Francisco	835
Dec. 23—Charles Parsons, St. Louis, Mo.	1,200
Dec. 22—Indianapolis Press, Indianapolis	1,000

In many of these cities the contributions are believed to have increased considerably since the dates named.

To-day Gen. Corbin received the following dispatch from Alexander H. Revell, who with Jesse Spalding is co-operating in the work of raising subscriptions for the fund in Chicago:

"Chicago has reached $3,000 for total subscription. First lot of checks sent yesterday. Others will follow each day."

In addition to this aggregate from Chicago there have been individual Chicago contributions sent to Gen. Corbin direct. On Dec. 24 Gen. Corbin sent the following telegram to Mr. Revell:

"Permit me to again thank you for aid in raising the Lawton fund. * * * It is hoped that no effort will be spared to make this fund all that it ought to be, as we hope to make it sufficiently large to enable Mrs. Lawton to live in comfort and provide for and educate her little children."

The following dispatch was received yesterday from Frank J. Hecker, Detroit: "Have subscriptions of $1,820. Add to this amount $100 each sent you direct by Gen. Alger, Col. Seyburn, and myself, makes $2,120 as Detroit's contribution to the Lawton fund."

The Adjutant General wired the Pittsburg committee as follows: "The work of collecting the fund will continue until the 15th of January and possibly until the return of Mrs. Lawton to this country. Gen. Lawton's services and sacrifices for his country's flag, and his expressed concern for the care of his family is the most fetching appeal that can be made."

New Haven Expects to Raise $5,000.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 27.—This is the banner town of the State for raising money to swell the fund for the widow of Major Gen. Henry W. Lawton. Major George E. Albee of this city, who was a comrade of Gen. Lawton when he was a First Lieutenant in the Twenty-fourth Infantry, yesterday sent $1,766 to the committee in Washington. One thousand dollars of this sum was given by a donor who refused to have his name made public. To-morrow night a benefit is to be given in the Hyperion Theatre, Manager Bradley tendering the services of the entire company. It is expected $5,000 will be raised for the fund in this city.

First Day in Toledo Nets $300.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Dec. 27.—Contributions to the Lawton fund were solicited to-day for the first time in Toledo. Gen. John S. Kountz reports $300, and expects to have $1,000 by Saturday night.

New York Contributions.

The following contributions for the fund for the widow of Gen. Lawton were received yesterday at the office of the Bankers' Trust Company: The John Drew Company, $100; C. Armstrong, $10; P. J. Goodhart & Co., $50; Pabst, Wetzlar & Co., $50; W. A. Nash, $25; "Cash," $20; "Cash," $10; Schafer Bros., $25; Wendell & MacDuffy, $25; "Cash," $10; Jacob Cahn, $15; S. H. Rosenbladt, $25; James F. Andrews, $10, W. H. Rolston, $25, and Morgan & Bartlett, $50. Previously acknowledged, $2,775. Total, $3,225.

MRS. LAWTON TO MRS. LOGAN.

Widow of the General in a Letter Sympathizes with the Mother of the Major.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Mrs. John A. Logan has just received a letter from Mrs. Henry W. Lawton, written at Manila after the death of Mrs. Logan's son. Its receipt just after the death of the writer's husband gives it pathetic interest. Mrs. Lawton wrote:

"I am perfectly heartbroken for you and know not what to say. When Jack arrived so short a time ago I was ill in bed, but had his room all ready, and had given instructions to be informed the moment he arrived. Plans were changed, and he did not stop, but went straight on to action with Gen. Wheaton's brigade. Since his merry, warm-hearted boyhood, your boy has been dear to Mr. Lawton and me, and I did not need Mrs. Tucker's good letter to make me feel that no other home must be Jack's out here but ours. And in case of illness he should be my pleasant care.

"I was only waiting to see Jack to answer Mrs. Tucker's letter, and now—oh, what can I say? Be sure, for his dear sake as well as yours, everything possible that kind hands, loving hearts, and sympathetic presence can do will do for you. You already know where Jack died, that he was magnificent, doing so splendidly, and in every sense worthy of his noble father. You may all well be proud of him. I am, and I think of you with a full heart.

"May the good God give you strength to bear this terrible sorrow."

MUTASCOPES IN WASHINGTON.

After Being Suppressed Here They Are Permitted at the Capital.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—When Chief Devery banished the mutascope machines from New York, those exhibitions were obliged to escape to other cities, and one of them appeared in Washington. It is still here. In course of time the attention of the authorities was attracted to it, and they had the exile from New York investigated by both the police and the District Attorney.

Reports have just been received which indicate that the authorities here differ with Devery. The Chief of Police says that the mutascope exhibition does not come under the law against the exhibition of obscene pictures.

The District Attorney, to whom was referred the question whether the managers could not be forced to take out a license of $5 per day for running a show, reports that they cannot.

MAN DIVES TO HIS DEATH.

Peter Michelson Drowns Himself in a Shallow Pond.

Special to The New York Times.

CRAIGH HILL, N. Y., Dec. 27.—Peter Michelson, manager of the Blooming Grove Creamery, at Blooming Grove, committed suicide Sunday night by drowning in a small ice pond. The farmers on Monday morning not finding any one at the creamery, made inquiries at his residence. Michelson's wife informed them that she had not seen her husband since Saturday.

A thorough search was made and the body was found. The water in the pond was only two feet deep. Michelson's head was in the mud and his feet were projecting from the water. Appearances indicated that he had dived into the water with great force. Business troubles and arrears in his accounts ha caused Michelson to become despondent.

$3,000,000 MOODY FUND.

An Appeal Issued for That Amount to Carry on the Work of the Late Evangelist.

EAST NORTHFIELD, Mass., Dec. 27.—An appeal to the world to provide funds for the continuation of the work begun and for twenty years carried on by the late Dwight L. Moody was issued to-day by the Trustees of the Northfield Seminary. This plea will be the only action taken by the Trustees until their meeting a month hence. The plea is entitled "Moody Memorial Endowment," and begins:

"I have been ambitious, not to lay up wealth, but to leave work for you to do," were almost the last words of D. L. Moody to his children. The plea says that Mr. Moody's institutions are unique in character. They consist of the Northfield Seminary and Training School for young women; Mount Hermon School for Young Men, and the Bible Institute at Chicago.

The Northfield plant consists of 1,200 acres of land and about thirty buildings, which, with present endowment, is valued at $1,250,000, and is practically free from debt. At Chicago the buildings, land, and endowment exceed $250,000 in value. The Northfield schools have about 400 students, each of whom is charged $100 per annum for board and tuition. The annual cost is about $200. At Chicago the amount required approximately is $150 each for 300 students.

In brief, therefore, the sum of about $125,000 annually is required to maintain the work inaugurated by Mr. Moody on the principles successfully pursued for the past twenty years. This sum has heretofore been largely raised by his personal efforts. A fund of $3,000,000 is asked for, which at 4 per cent. will perpetuate the work of Mr. Moody.

THE WESTERN MARYLAND DEAL

It Is Asserted in Baltimore that the Vanderbilts Want the Road—City Will Buy Its Bonds.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27.—Col. J. Frank Supplee, City Register, to-day explained away the mystery surrounding the New York syndicate which has made an offer to Baltimore City for the Western Maryland Railroad.

"The Pennsylvania Railroad Company," declared the Register, "is not the bidder. The bidding syndicate is represented by the Manhattan Trust Company of New York, of which John I. Waterbury is President. Others in it are Messrs. Kitchen and Beaman. President Waterbury of the Manhattan is personally interested, and he is now working for the Pennsylvania. The syndicate proposes to build the Western Maryland down the Jones Falls route to tidewater, and to extend the road to coal regions in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

"To do this they propose to spend $15,000,000 of their own money. The road will also have a connection with Chicago. It is further proposed to build an extension of 120 miles to New Haven, Ohio, which is on the Vanderbilt system. If the syndicate did make $10,000,000 out of the transaction, what should Baltimore care if it gets a new trunk line from the West and the coal fields."

Many financial and railroad men here say that from this statement it is apparent that the Vanderbilts are behind the deal.

The city will not issue $875,000 worth of stock to refund the third mortgage bonds of the Western Maryland Railroad Company, maturing on Jan. 1, but any of the holders of those bonds who wish to dispose of the same can do so at par to the Finance Commissioners of the city on and after next Tuesday.

The decision not to sell the new stock, in accordance with the resolution of the City Council, but to buy the bonds in on account of the sinking funds, was reached by the Board of Finance Commissioners at a meeting held to-day at the City Hall. The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That notice be given to the holders of the $875,000 worth of mortgage bonds indorsed by the city, and which mature on Jan. 1, 1900, that the same will be purchased by the Finance Commissioners for the benefit of the sinking fund, and the Register of the city is instructed to purchase all said bonds which may be presented for the benefit of said sinking fund, and to pay for the same at par, on Tuesday, Jan. 2, and thereafter.

There is at present in the various sinking funds about $300,000 available to purchase such bonds as may be presented. If the whole $875,000 worth are brought in, the Finance Commissioners will probably convert other securities into cash and purchase the balance. These old bonds pay 6 per cent. Interest. It is thought that some of the holders will decide to keep them until the City Council finally authorizes the Board of Finance Commissioners to issue the new stock to refund the bonds.

The report of the expert accountant on the financial condition of the railroad will be submitted to the new Board of Directors next week. President Hood predicts that the statement showing the increased earnings of the road will surprise the people who have been advocating a forced sale.

RAILROADS ABANDON RATE PLAN

Former Tariff from Trans-Mississippi Points Restored.

Special to The New York Times.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Dec. 27.—The plan to abolish proportional through freight rates from points west of the Mississippi to the seaboard has been abandoned by the trunk lines. Local agents a few days ago received advance copies of the new rates. To-day the following order was received:

"To agents—The circular advising of the cancellation of pro-rating arrangements on traffic points west of the west bank of the Mississippi River destined to Eastern points owing to the demand of Eastern lines for their local rates from Chicago and other junctions will be canceled and withdrawn. Taking effect Jan. 1, 1900, the former arrangement for through rates from East Mississippi points will be resumed. Tariffs naming these rates are now in the course of preparation."

OVER $460,000 IN LEGACIES.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 27.—By the death of Joseph Forbes, in East Haven, last night the St. Paul's Episcopal Church and the Seaman's Friend Association of this city will come into possession of a large legacy. Mrs. Betsey Bradley died fifteen years ago and left an estate of $364,000. While her brother, Joseph Forbes, was alive, he was to have as much of the income of the estate as the executor of the will, Gen. S. E. Merwin, President of the Yale National Bank, saw fit to give him. At Forbes's death the institutions named above were to have the estate in proportions mentioned in the will.

In the fifteen years the estate increased in value to $460,193.86. By the provisions of the will, St. Paul's Church gets $306,397.86, and the Seaman's Friend Association the balance. Mrs. Bradley had no heirs but her brother, now deceased.

A LARGE FINANCIAL DEAL.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 27.—One of the largest financial transactions ever closed in this city was completed to-day when the sum of $4,500,000 was turned over to the order of the Continental National Bank of St. Louis, to be paid to the holders of the deferred payment certificates of the Maryland Trust Company in payment of the 65 per cent. due on the stock of the Southern Electric and National Railway lines.

The distribution of the money to-morrow will put a large amount in circulation in this city, as all but $1,000,000 of the money will remain in St. Louis. About $9,000 worth of internal revenue stamps will be required for the transfer of the securities in connection with the deal.

This payment is the final step in the transfer of all of the lines to the United Railways Company. It prevents any possible hitch in the plan of purchase of the street railways of St. Louis, which is being carried out by the Brown Brothers syndicate of New York.

Shortest Line to Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis.

Pennsylvania Railroad. Finest trains; fastest time; best service.—Adv.

TRUST COMPANY IS SAFE

Edwin Gould and Gen. Thomas Have Advanced $2,500,000.

WILL RESUME IN JANUARY

Mr. Gould Becomes President and Gen. Thomas First Vice President of Produce Exchange Concern.

The Produce Exchange Trust Company, which suspended payments Dec. 18, will open its doors and resume business on Wednesday morning, Jan. 10, 1900. This was made possible yesterday by Edwin Gould and Gen. Samuel Thomas advancing $2,500,000, each subscribing half, to enable the company to pay its depositors. Edwin Gould was elected President of the company and Gen. Thomas First Vice President. Thomas A. McIntyre withdrew from all management of the company by resigning as a Vice President.

A meeting of the special committee, of which Edwin Gould is President, was held early in the afternoon. At this messages passed between him and Gen. Thomas which established a policy of mutual aid and confidence, and upset rumors of strife between them. The Board of Trustees met at 4 o'clock and was in session two hours, when this official statement was made public:

New York, Dec. 27, 1899.

Produce Exchange Trust Company: We have the satisfaction of announcing to the depositors and stockholders of the Produce Exchange Trust Company that a reorganization of its affairs has been arranged, and the Board of Trustees this day unanimously approved the same.

Messrs. Edwin Gould and Gen. Samuel Thomas have agreed to advance sufficient funds to enable the company to open its doors and to resume business as heretofore on the 10th day of January next.

To facilitate the reorganization all the executive officers of the company, together with the Executive Committee, tendered their resignations, and such resignations were accepted.

Mr. Edwin Gould was elected President, and Gen. Samuel Thomas was elected First Vice President of the company. Almon Goodwin, William Nelson Cromwell, Counsel.

Every Trustee, as the board existed when the company closed its doors, adhered to the resolution adopted last Thursday to be entirely mute as to what happened at the meeting, saying that the official statement told all it was necessary to say. Thomas A. McIntyre, as he left the boardroom, waved his hands deprecatingly and said: "I am not going to say anything one way or the other; that's my resolve." Ex-President Turner A. Beall smiled amiably, and remarked that he was pleased to say he withdrew in favor of Mr. Gould. President Gould asked to be excused from talking, but admitted that his contribution toward the resumption of business of the company was $1,250,000. Gen. Thomas was not bound by the pledge of the Trustees last week. He said:

"I have advanced as much as Mr. Gould. I do not represent Mr. McIntyre, and my plan wasn't his. I represent a lot of stockholders, and, you see, the result of the meeting settles the stories about hostility between me and Mr. Gould. If there was such hostility, the bloody chasm is bridged."

It was learned that when the result of the examination of the affairs of the company was found so satisfactory to Mr. Gould and Gen. Thomas that they agreed to furnish the sum necessary to pay depositors, and to resume business the preliminaries of reorganizing the company were arranged. The resignations of President Beall and Vice Presidents Gould, McIntyre, and Scudder were accepted. Those of the Executive Committee and of Secretary and Treasurer S.—L. Chamberlaine were not accepted. Then Mr. Gould was elected President. Gen. Thomas was elected First Vice President after he had been elected to fill one of four vacancies in the Board of Trustees. The meeting was adjourned until to-morrow, when the Board of Trustees will elect two Vice Presidents and an Executive Committee. The vacancies in the board may be filled.

Gen. Thomas, in talking last night of the affairs of the Produce Exchange Trust Company, said:

"The investigation of the standing of the company made on my account proved satisfactory in that I saw that with the necessary capital the corporation could be put on its feet again and resume business. I and Mr. Gould are to furnish the necessary capital, and a fortnight from to-day the company will open its doors, prepared to pay every dollar of deposits if necessary.

"After a careful examination of all the loans of the company, I am very satisfied that at least 80 per cent. of them can be counted on as good. But it will take time and proper business attention to bring about the best results. I am asked by anxious stockholders as to the probable outcome and value of their stock. I am confident that the stock is worth par, and that the surplus of $2,500,000 will beyond doubt pay all the loss or shrinkage."

CHICAGO IN FINANCIAL STRAITS.

Special Session of Legislature May Be Called to Aid the City.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Financial clouds which have been gathering over the Municipal Government for ten years burst with full force to-day. City officials are at a loss for an expedient to bridge over the present crisis. With less than enough available money from all sources to meet the actual cost of maintaining the Police and Fire Departments during the incoming year, the authorities are confronted with conditions which mean bankruptcy.

Controller Kerfoot, after a conference with Corporation Counsel Walker, announced that nothing but an issue of scrip was ahead of the city. The only hope of relief lies in the possibility of a special session of the Legislature for the purpose of removing statutory restrictions placed upon the city's revenue resources. This is expected to be demanded by the City Council, which, together with the Mayor and city officials, will undertake to present the needs of the city in such a way that the Governor will be induced to call a special session.

ANOTHER TANGLE IN KENTUCKY.

Gov. Taylor Names Election Commissioners, but They Are Ignored.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 27.—Gov. Taylor to-day appointed J. H. Mackey, anti-Goebel Democrat, and A. M. J. Cochran, Republican State Election Commissioners. The Republican minor State officers-elect, whose contests will come before the board, have not decided exactly what course they will pursue, but as Clerk Shackelford will swear in the Democratic Commissioners appointed by Commissioner Poyntz, it is probable Taylor's appointees will institute mandamus proceedings to get possession of the offices. Democratic leaders do not believe the courts will hold Taylor's appointments good, but they do not disguise the fact that they regret the complications growing out of the resignations of former Commissioners Pryor and Ellis.

A few scattering members of the Legislature arrived to-day and it is anticipated that, owing to the unusual interest growing out of the contests for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, nearly all will be here by Saturday or Sunday. Friends of ex-Election Commissioner Ellis are with his authority discouraging a movement among some of the anti-Goebel Democrats to give him a boom for Senator. Ellis is unqualifiedly for Blackburn.

WOOL STOCKS IN CHICAGO.

Canvass of Warehouses Shows a Total of 8,893,000 Pounds on Hand.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—J. H. Howard, wool expert in the Chamber of Commerce Building, has completed a canvass of the wool storage warehouses in Chicago. According to his figures the stocks on hand are as follows: Territory wool, 4,755,000 pounds; bright wool, 1,726,000 pounds; pulled wool, 2,105,000 pounds; scoured wool, 307,000 pounds; total, 8,893,000 pounds.

"Financial troubles in Boston have had a tendency to stop trading," said Mr. Howard. "It is not unusual, though, that buyers should wait till Jan. 1 before stocking up."

MR. BOUTELLE VERY ILL.

Maine Congressman Believed to be a Sufferer from Bright's Disease in Its Last Stages.

Special to The New York Times.

BANGOR, Me., Dec. 27.—It has been ascertained that Congressman Charles A. Boutelle, who was removed to Boston Monday night, has been taken to the Channing Sanitarium, in Brookline, Mass., and it is announced on good authority that he is suffering from Bright's disease of the kidneys in its last stages. Ever since his return to Bangor the Congressman has experienced frequent violent attacks, in which his condition bordered on delirium, and it is said that these have been caused by uraemic poisoning, which results in what are known as uraemic convulsions.

At the Congressman's house here and among his closest friends the utmost secrecy has been maintained regarding his case, the only information given out being to the effect that he was "about the same" or "resting quietly." Enough has become generally known, however, to cause the gravest apprehensions as to the result of his illness.

LAWSON IN THE EXCHANGE.

The Boston Speculator Forms a Copartnership Which May Lead to the Ownership of a Seat.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—Thomas W. Lawson, for years the largest individual speculator in Boston, but who has never been able to get a seat on the Boston Exchange, seems about to secure that much coveted privilege.

Perhaps no man on the Street had more enemies than Mr. Lawson, but just why such is the case few can tell, unless it be jealousy or his peculiarly radical way of doing business. None of his enemies ever for a moment question his honesty and integrity, and it is a singularly known fact that no man or firm ever went to Lawson for assistance that help in some material manner was withheld.

Mr. Lawson has just formed a co-partnership with Allan Arnold, under the firm name of Lawson & Arnold, and as Mr. Arnold owns a seat on the Exchange, and the Governing Committee has voted unanimously not to raise objection, this gives Mr. Lawson an opening which his friends say will soon lead to the practical ownership of a seat.

STEWART IS FOR EXPANSION.

Senator from Nevada Will Ask for Territorial Form of Government for New Possessions.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Senator Stewart of Nevada is one of those who think that the new American dependencies should be governed as Territories and not as colonies. He intends to urge that view on the Senate when the question of government for the different islands comes up for consideration. After leaving the White House to-day, Senator Stewart said:

"The less we depart from the old territorial system in governing our new possessions the less innovation we make in that system, the better we will be able to manage what we have acquired. That system has proved satisfactory for years, and in handling all the new territory we have secured. It ought to be good enough for the latest acquisition.

"My policy is to take all the land we can get and treat the people who come with it as our children. We cannot afford to treat some of them as stepchildren. When we begin that we may have discord in the family circle. I believe in expansion, and believe that it is necessary to the good of the country. A country which doesn't grow, like a tree which has attained its full growth, begins to decay."

WILL OPPOSE ARMY INCREASE.

Senator Cockrell to Fight the Republican Plan for 65,000 Men.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Senator Cockrell of Missouri announced to-day that he intended to oppose the Republican plan to permanently increase the regular army to 65,000 men. Senator Cockrell is the Democratic leader on the Senate Committee on Military Affairs. He said, in explaining his opposition to the plan, that there was no necessity for legislation on the subject at this session.

"The army establishment," he said, "is provided for until July, 1901. This gives us a year and a half in which to consider the matter and to determine what is best to be done. I am in favor of increasing the artillery arm of the service, but I do not think there is now, or will be in the near future, any occasion for a permanent increase in the number of infantry or cavalry regiments above that which has been provided by law for a number of years. I think 26,000 men, with some additions to the artillery to take care of seacoast fortifications, will be all the army this country will need after the present conditions in the Philippines have been overcome."

FREE SILVER TO GIVE WAY.

Bryan the Man in 1900, Says Mr. Danforth, the Issues Trusts and Imperialism.

Elliot Danforth, the Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Democratic State Committee, returned to the city yesterday from a brief trip through the South. Danforth conferred with Chairman Jones of the National Committee and other leaders, and he comes back, he says, with the impression that the National Convention will be held either in Milwaukee or Kansas City. He is firmly convinced that Chicago is already out of the race. The attitude of the Chicago press, Mr. Danforth said last night, was such as to make the National Committeemen resentful, and he felt sure that few, if any, of them would be willing either to have the convention or the campaign headquarters located there. Washington, he said, would probably be selected as headquarters.

"There is only one man mentioned for the first place on the ticket," Mr. Danforth said, "and that man is William Jennings Bryan. I heard no talk of a candidate for Vice President, and I doubt if any name is receiving serious consideration.

"As to the sentiment which I found in the South, I can only say that it is such as to convince me that it will be an easy matter to unite all the Democrats in the country in support of Mr. Bryan. Not one of the leaders I met was disposed to be insistent upon free silver as the main issue in 1900. Not that they had abandoned the idea of 16 to 1, but they acknowledged that the situation had changed in the last three years, and agreed that the dominant issues next year would be imperialism and trusts. They are unwilling to repudiate the Chicago platform, but they see that other issues of equal importance have arisen, and that their importance should be recognized."

GIFT FOR FRANCE'S PRESIDENT.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—George E. Roberts, Director of the Mint, to-day presented President McKinley with the first silver dollar struck off in aid of the fund for the monument to Lafayette, to be erected in Paris.

The President said he would present the dollar to President Loubet of France.

WIFE FROZEN OUT OF HER HOME.

Husband Kept Doors

I was obliged to follow it, as I had no compass or map. I had to make wide detours to avoid bridges, stations, and huts, and so my progress was very slow. Chocolate is not a satisfying food. The outlook was gloomy, but I persevered, with God's help. For five days my food supply was very precarious. I was lying up by daylight and walking by night.

"Meanwhile my escape had been discovered, and my description telegraphed everywhere. All trains were searched and every one was on the watch for me. Four times the wrong people were arrested.

"The sixth day I managed to board a train beyond Middleburg, whence there was direct service to Delagoa.

"In the evening I concealed myself in a railway truck under a great pile of sacks. I had a small store of good water. I remained hidden so, chancing discovery. The Boers searched the train at Komatipoort, but did not search deep enough. After sixty hours of misery I came safely here. I am very weak, but am free. I have lost many pounds in weight, but am light in heart. I shall avail myself of every opportunity henceforth to urge earnestly the unflinching and uncompromising prosecution of the war."

METHUEN DRAWS THE BOER FIRE.

Reconnoitres with Infantry and Unmasks Six Guns.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The War Office here has received the following dispatch from Cape Town, dated Dec. 26:

"There is no change in the situation. Methuen reports that the enemy's force has increased and is engaged in intrenching three and a half miles from his outlying pickets.

"Methuen reconnoitred with two squadrons of mounted infantry for two miles along the line and drew the fire of four guns and two Vickers machine guns. Four horses were hit.

"The Queen's Christmas message was received with enthusiasm.

"Gatacre is endeavoring to reopen communication with the Indwe collieries."

SKIRMISHING NEAR KIMBERLEY.

British Find the Boers Strongly Intrenched and Retire.

KIMBERLEY, Dec. 20.—At half-past two this morning mounted detachments under Col. Peakman, with three Maxims and three seven-pounders under Major May, reconnoitred. Leaving the intrenchments, the British advanced on Toll Pan. The Boer pickets fired, and our Maxims replied, the Boers disappearing over the ridge.

Our guns then began to shell Toll Pan at a range of 2,500 yards. A Boer gun dropped four shells near our men, but did no damage. As the Boers were strongly intrenched, we withdrew. Their guns are well placed.

DUTCH DISAFFECTION GROWS.

Increased Hostility to the British Shown Among the Farmers in Cape Colony.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—A special correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, telegraphing from Sterkstroom, Cape Colony, Dec. 21, says:

"Strong measures are necessary to check the hostile feeling among the Dutch colonists, whose sedition is shown in the removal of railway bolts, the obstruction of bridges and culverts, and attacks upon solitary horsemen.

"Disaffection is bound to increase unless immediate reinforcements are forthcoming. The loyal Dutch and British settlers are becoming alarmingly impatient."

Dispatches from Modder River represent Dutch disaffection in Griqualand West as growing very serious. In some towns the entire Dutch population has joined the Boers. The rebels have formed a laager at a point about thirty miles west of Modder River Camp.

The Cape Town correspondent of The Times, under date of Friday, Dec. 22, says:

"Anxiety regarding the attitude of the Colonial Dutch is steadily growing. They make no effort to conceal their sympathy with the two republics, and the only question now is whether, if the military situation is not changed, they will keep from open rebellion.

"Even in districts that have not been visited by the Boers in the eastern part of the province the Dutch farmers are riding about armed. This is the case also in districts only fifty miles from Cape Town, where a seditious movement is busily propagated. The British forces are inadequate to guard 1,000 miles of communications."

The Queen Issues a Warning.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The Privy Council held a meeting at Windsor Castle to-day, at which Queen Victoria proclaimed a warning to all British subjects not to assist the inhabitants of the Transvaal or Orange Free State or to sell or transport merchandise thereto, under penalty of the law, which was gazetted to-night.

ROBERTS AND KITCHENER MEET.

British Generals Sail from Gibraltar for South Africa.

GIBRALTAR, Dec. 27.—The British steamer Dunottar Castle, having on board Gen. Lord Roberts of Kandahar, Commander in Chief of the British forces in South Africa, arrived here yesterday evening.

Gen. Kitchener, who came from Egypt to join Gen. Roberts as his Chief of Staff, embarked on board the Dunottar Castle and the vessel sailed early this morning for Cape Town.

IRISH ASK AID FOR THE BOERS.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—A call asking aid for the Boers was to-day sent out to every member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, of which there are 25,000 in this city. A return of $25,000 is expected, which will help to swell the general fund of $1,000,000 which Irish organizations throughout the country seek to raise.

P. J. McManus, a prominent Irishman, said to-day that preparations are being made for a public meeting at the Academy of Music. Final arrangements will be completed at a meeting of the County Board of the Ancient Order of Hibernians next Friday.

In speaking about the alleged Fenian plot to raid Canada, Mr. McManus said:

"The proposed Fenian raid, if there is any such thing contemplated, is against the rules of international law. The loyalty of the Irish to this country leads them to regard the announcement as merely a bluff to keep the Canadians at home."

It is expected, he says, that the meeting at the Academy of Music will result in a $50,000 fund to fit out a hospital relief ship.

BOERS HAVE FOOD IN ABUNDANCE.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The Daily Chronicle publishes the following from Cape Town:

"Herr Schlesinger, an agent of the New York Equitable Life Assurance Society, who has arrived here from Pretoria, says the Boers possess immense stores of food imported by speculative capitalists under a belief that mining would be allowed during the war.

"He says also that there were thousands of spectators at the Pretoria railway station when the British who were captured at Nicholson's Nek detrained. The people were ordered by the Boer Commandant to bare their heads, and they did so. The British, astonished, returned the salute."

Mafeking Relief Force Delayed.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The Rhodesian Mafeking relief force, according to a dispatch from Mochudi, Bechuanaland, dated Dec. 16, was progressing slowly, owing to the necessity of repairing the bridges, averaging one per mile.

Gen. Warren Goes to the Front.

PIETERMARITZBURG, Dec. 26.—Gen. Sir Charles Warren, commanding the Fifth Division, arrived here last evening with his staff, and immediately proceeded for the front.

SIDNEY PAGET GOES TO WAR.

Sails for England to Join a Rough Rider Regiment Organized for Service in South Africa.

Among the passengers who sailed on the Teutonic for England yesterday was Sidney Paget, prominent in New York society and who has gained fame as a gentleman rider.

Mr. Paget decided it was his duty as an Englishman to answer the call of his country, and aid it in its fight against the Boers. He will join Lord Cheshire's regiment of Light Horse, in which he has received a commission as Lieutenant. The regiment which Mr. Paget will join is organized much on the order of "Rough Riders" which Gov. Roosevelt organized for the late war with Spain.

William C. Whitney, Mr. Paget's racing partner, went to the pier with Mr. Paget to see him off. Before boarding the steamer Mr. Paget, who was in a cheerful frame of mind, consented to a brief interview.

"As soon as I learned that Lord Cheshire intended to organize a regiment of 'Rough

RED CROSS RECRUITS HERE.

Gustav Simon, from the Transvaal, Reports that He Has Secured Hundreds of Persons.

Gustav Simon, who keeps a cigar store in the saloon on the northwest corner of Mulberry and Houston Streets, came here from the Transvaal about two months ago, and, according to a statement made by him yesterday, has been at work ever since securing Red Cross recruits to go to the aid of the Boers. Simon, who is less than five feet in height, and forty years old, says that he is a naturalized citizen of the Transvaal. He was born in South Africa of German parents.

"I believe," he said, "that I am the only Boer in this city at present, but there are fully 100 persons now here who have been at one time or another in the Transvaal. I was proprietor of two hotels at Johannesburg, the Nugget and the South Africa, and I still have interests there. I am engaged in getting persons for the Transvaal, not as soldiers, but to serve with the Red Cross Society. I have so far secured about 400 men and women. Only those with some experience in nursing are accepted. All of these 400 have already left this city for the Transvaal. I am now getting the names of 500 others for the same purpose. We have formed a club called the Transvaal, and have already held a number of informal meetings here, but our first formal meeting is yet to be held. Our meetings have been and will be secret. I am the Secretary of the club."

It is alleged that one of Simon's associates in this work is Henry Scharff, a young German, who arrived here a short time ago from Pretoria. It is also alleged that he was one of the first to come out from the Yukon country with news of the Klondike gold fields and that he has mining interests there and in the Transvaal. Since his return to the Transvaal from Alaska he has been, it is said, in the confidence of the Boer leaders, and has been sent here on this special mission.

It is reported that most of the persons who have so far been sent to the Transvaal from this city by Simon are young men. Two hundred of them sailed about ten days ago and 60 more sailed just before Christmas Day. Simon said yesterday that the persons would be shipped direct to Delagoa Bay. As they would go to serve under the Red Cross, he said, he did not believe the British Government would interfere with them.

At the British and Orange Free State Consulates yesterday it was said that nothing was known about Simon or his club. The British Vice Consul, Mr. Perceval, said that they had received letters from many persons eager to enlist, and many others had applied in person with the same object in view. They all had to be turned away, however, as the United States statutes prevent them from being enlisted.

ALFRED AUSTIN'S WAR POEM.

Inspired by the Transvaal Conflict and Entitled "Spartan Mothers."

In this week's edition of The Independent, issuing to-day, will appear a late poem of four stanzas by Alfred Austin, the British Poet Laureate, on the war in the Transvaal, entitled "Spartan Mothers." The last two stanzas follow:

The sister's sigh the maiden's tear,
The wife's, the widow's stifled wail,
These nerve the hand, these brace the spear,
And speed them over veldt and vale.
What is to him,
Or life or limb,
Who rends the chain, and breaks the rod!
Who falls for freedom, falls for God.

And should it be his happy fate,
Hale to return to home and rest,
She will be standing at the gate,
To fold him to her trembling breast.
Or should he fall,
By ridge or wall,
And lie 'neath some green Southern sod—
"Who dies for country, sleeps with God."

Pro-Boer Mass Meeting.

The United Irish Societies held a meeting last night at Fernando Hall, Fifty-fifth Street and Third Avenue, and completed arrangements for the pro-Boer mass meeting to be held in the Academy of Music Sunday evening next. Over one hundred organizations, with an aggregate membership of 100,000, were represented at the meeting. It was presided over by Capt. Augustine Elliott Costello. Secretary Michael J. Jennings reported that he had sent invitations to the Governors of all the States, Senator Mason, and several Representatives have answered that they will attend the meeting and speak.

LOUIS MANDELSTAM'S DEATH.

His Widow Annoyed at the Talk of Summit Residents.

Special to The New York Times.

SUMMIT, N. J., Dec. 27.—The residents of this town have for several weeks been discussing the death of its leading jeweler, Louis Mandelstam, who died on Nov. 2 in the German Hospital in New York after a four weeks' siege of illness. His death was thought to be due to jaundice at the time. Since then a good deal of speculation has been indulged in.

Mr. Mandelstam was a bachelor when he married, some two months before his death, Miss Zelma Berman of New York. Shortly after his marriage he became ill, having previously enjoyed excellent health, and Drs. W. H. Lawrence and J. Boyd Risk were successively called in to attend him. Dr. Abraham Jacobi of New York even came to see him, and said he thought his disease would be "a matter of ten or twenty days." After his death, which followed an operation at the German Hospital, Mrs. Mandelstam wrote to Dr. Jacobi asking him what he meant by the reference to "ten or twenty days," and he replied that Mr. Mandelstam when he saw him was suffering from a curable and not a dangerous illness.

Mr. Mandelstam made his will in the hospital, and left his property to Mrs. Mandelstam, excepting $300, which he bequeathed to his mother in Russia. His brother, Dr. Paul Mandelstam, also in Russia, recently wrote to the Russian Consul General in New York asking him to hurry up the sending of the money left to his mother.

Mrs. Mandelstam said to-night she wished her husband's mother could have the $300 at once, but that she was legally prevented even from paying bills out of the estate until nine months after her husband's death. She and Henry Wolf, with whose mother she is now staying, are executors of the will. "The business," she added, "was sold at a sacrifice and brought only $4,500.

"I have been frightfully annoyed since my husband's death by the talk of the people of this town. They are continually coming to Mrs. Wolf's shoe store down stairs and asking what he really died of, and Mrs. Wolf is always bringing me tales about it. Then I have received an anonymous letter inclosing me a newspaper clipping of the Molineux case and speaking about poison. It has driven me nearly crazy. Why don't they go to the doctors if they want information. I am not sure myself what my husband died of, but I shall start an inquiry."

MR. JACQUILLARD TO STAY.

Lieut. Gov. Woodruff Denies Report of His Retirement.

The statement that Harry Jacquillard of Kings was to retire from the position of Sergeant at Arms of the State Senate was yesterday denied by Lieut. Gov. Woodruff.

The report has been current for several weeks that Mr. Jacquillard, who was only elected for a year, was to retire to accept a position under Register-elect Howe, and that Garry Benson of Albany was to take Mr. Jacquillard's place.

NINETY TEACHERS RETIRED

All to Profit by the Increased May Salary Schedule.

THEIR SUCCESSORS' PAY $600

Retirements Will Enable the Board to Equalize Stipends—Planning for School Legislation.

The Central Board of Education held its final meeting for 1899 yesterday afternoon. Thirteen Commissioners were present. Ninety teachers were retired on pension. This is said to be the largest number of teachers retired at one time in the history of the Department of Education. Each retirement is to date from Dec. 31, 1899. This is to enable all those retired to profit under the schedule adopted May 17 last. The pension pay comes out of the excise funds, so the Board of Education will be relieved from that expense. The average pay of the retiring teachers is from $1,200 to $1,400 a year. The teachers who will fill their places will receive only $600 a year, the Ahearn law's minimum. There will, therefore, be a saving of from $600 to $800 on each of the ninety teachers appointed. The total saving will probably be devoted to the equalizing of the salaries of those teachers who are not affected by the Ahearn law's provisions. The teachers retired yesterday, with their respective schools, are as follows:

1. Helena Connolly, C. E. O'Brien, Bridget F. Martin.
3. Eugenia Mayereau.
4. Mrs. Annie M. Raymond.
5. Julia Meaney.
7. Sarah J. Tooker.
11. Barbara Evans, Charlotte Ecker.
12. B. F. McCullow.
13. Lucy Gamble, Phebe A. Kendall.
14. Mary W. Hatch, Sarah C. Cornell, Alice A. Godwin, Mary Barnes.
15. Sarah E. Baker, E. Commerford, E. P. Richards.
16. Kate O'Donnell.
18. Rachel Davies.
20. Anna M. Cullen, Ismena Z. Brown.
21. Caroline Hopkins.
22. Susan E. Cumming.
23. Mary T. Lawlor, Elizabeth Wagner, M. L. McKeon.
28. Mary L. Parsells.
29. Charlotte E. Searle, Annie E. Van Boskerck.
31. Adelaide M. Tuers.
33. Rose Holden, Josephine Walker, Dorothea Dixon, Irene M. Gahagan, Charlotte Pollock.
34. Josephine A. Smith.
36. Rebecca M. Nichols, Margaret E. Dodd, Sarah F. Miller.
38. Sarah L. Frost, Georgiana Dugan.
40. Margaret M. Maybee.
41. Harriet A. Donaldson.
42. Annie L. Post.
44. Sarah Armstrong, Clara Hoppo.
50. E. Isabella Youngs.
51. Margaret Hosford, Margaret A. Fox, Lydia Crowe.
53. Clarine I. Hoyt, Mary F. Rooney, Ellen F. Canty.
54. Henrietta L. Wood.
55. M. H. Close, F. A. Coggeswell.
56. Mrs. J. E. Archer, Louise Seaman, Louise Vandervoort.
59. Marie Christie.
61. Sarah Spratley.
64. Margaret Shea.
67. Louis Kolb, Jane C. McCarthy, Anna F. Rogers, Catherine Connolly.
71. Mrs. L. T. Warner, Henrietta M. Gunton.
80. E. S. Francis.
85. Sarah Durell.
87. Julia Hedges.
104. M. L. Waring.
106. Mary E. Plunkett.
109. Mrs. M. H. Brandon.
110. Josephine Chinn.
111. Mary Sherwood, Matilda M. Vesey.
125. M. S. Cunningham.
126. J. G. Cunningham.
127. Jennie Updike.
130. Joanna M. Judd.
137. Margaret Reilly.
141. Kate J. McCabe.
142. Hannah Lamine.
147. Jane R. Reardon.
160. A. D. Stratton, Fanny L. Requa.
161. Jennie A. Fee.

The Committee on Supplies made a report concerning bids for the printing for the Board of Education for 1900. There were nine bidders. The John Polhemus Printing Company was the lowest bidder for the printing for Manhattan and the Bronx Boroughs and for Richmond Borough, respectively $6,871.35 and $1,211.80. J. B. Watkins was the lowest bidder for Brooklyn, $5,989.04, and M. McNamara was the lowest bidder for Queens, $1,086. Typographical Union No. 6 protested against granting the award to the John Polhemus Company on the ground that it employed aliens and did not pay the legal rate of wages. Affidavits were presented to support this contention. On motion of Commissioner O'Brien it was decided to authorize the Committee on Supplies to award the contracts to the lowest bidders and to have the contracts so worded as to compel contractors to live up to the law's requirements.

On motion of Commissioner Burke the Committee on By-Laws and Legislation was asked to prepare a bill to be introduced at Albany doing away with the present system of apportionment of school moneys and introducing in its stead a measure which will be fairer to the less densely settled Boroughs of Queens and Richmond.

Commissioner O'Brien moved that the various committees appointed by the Borough boards to suggest amendments to the educational chapter of the charter be asked to unite on a bill which the Central Board could indorse. Such patriotic action, he said, would have its effect upon the Legislature and the Governor. Commissioner Dresser said that the skeleton of such a bill had already been prepared. Commissioner Burke said it looked like troublous times ahead at Albany when all the eminent educators began to work upon the charter amendment. It behooved the boroughs to go to Albany united in their demand. Commissioner Dresser said that Brooklyn intended to fight for its rights till it died. Commissioner O'Brien's motion was adopted with only one dissenting vote.

Judge Ingersoll of Knoxville, Tenn., was then invited to address the board. President Little wished all the members a happy and prosperous new year, and the meeting then adjourned.

CUT IN TEACHERS' PAY.

Salaries of School Board Officials in Queens Also Reduced—Eight Hundred Persons Affected.

Acting upon the advice of Corporation Counsel Whalen, the School Board of the Borough of Queens yesterday made a general reduction of the salaries of all the teachers employed in the borough schools and the attaches of the office of the School Board in Flushing. The cut was made at a special meeting of the board called for that particular purpose, and it will affect nearly 800 persons, and cause a financial retrenchment amounting to a little over $150,000 during the coming year.

The work of preparing a schedule of salaries that could be paid without causing another such shortage as now faces the board was delegated a week ago to the Finance and Teachers Committees of the School Board. Corporation Counsel Whalen at the same time was asked to give the board his opinion upon its power to reduce salaries where the teachers did not receive an increase under the provisions of the Ahearn law. The two committees of the board were in secret session in the Flushing office until late Tuesday night, and they only reached a decision after a warm debate.

When the meeting was called to order by Chairman Simonson yesterday afternoon Commissioner Chapman of Jamaica was the only absentee. Chairman Simonson at once announced an executive session, and for nearly three hours the Commissioners remained behind closed doors discussing the matter of the salary cut. When the open session was announced Commissioner Maure of Jamaica offered the following report for adoption:

It is recommended that the following reductions in salaries be made in order to bring the total pay rolls for the coming year within the amount appropriated: Forty High School teachers reduced to $1,000 a year for males and $900 for females; 12 special teachers from $1,000 to $750 each; 3 Supervisors from $2,500 and $2,700 to $2,000; Supervisor of Kindergarten from $1,800 to $1,500; 12 Principals and branch Principals to a total of $14,800 a year; 112 teachers from $650 to $600; 166 teachers from $700 to $600; 17 teachers from $750 to $600; 125 teachers from $800 to $650; 1 teacher from $850 to $650; 31 teachers from $900 to $700; 11 teachers whose salaries range from $1,000 to $1,300 to an average of $800 a year each.

The report was adopted, Commissioner Patrick White of Long Island City alone voting in the negative. Commissioner Maure, who offered the report as Chairman of the Teachers' Committee, stated that he voted for the adoption of the report in the affirmative under protest. He explained his vote by saying:

"I believe that the teachers' salaries cannot be reduced or changed. Judging by decisions in other similar cases, I do not believe that the reductions will hold. I vote for them, however, under protest because I believe that we should keep within the appropriation allowed for the year."

Commissioner White stated that he voted against the report because he did not believe that the School Board had the power to make the reductions.

The matter of reducing the salaries of the office attachés then came up. Commissioner Maure offering the report of the committee appointed to revise the salary rolls, as follows:

School Superintendent Edward L. Stevens from $5,000 to $4,500 a year; Associate Superintendents Edward F. Fagan and John L. Chickering from $4,000 a year each to $3,800; Joseph H. Fitzpatrick, secretary to the board, from $3,000 to $2,850; Chief Clerk Byrnes from $1,500 to $1,425; all other clerks in the office from $1,000 to $950 a year each; stenographer from $1,200 to $1,080; attendance officers from $840 to $800 a year each.

The report was adopted.

ARRESTS OF STREET WOMEN.

Magistrate Pool Says the Present System Is Outrageous and Will Try to Put a Stop to It.

Magistrate Pool, sitting in the Jefferson Market Police Court, has again taken up the cudgel in defense of women arrested on the streets and arraigned on charges of disorderly conduct. He referred yesterday to what he called the present system of arresting such women periodically for no particular reason except that they are believed to be disorderly characters, and said it was a shame and an outrage, and announced his intention of putting a stop to it so far as lay in his power.

Twenty women were arraigned before the Magistrate each upon the charge of disorderly conduct. Accompanying each was an affidavit of the arresting officer, setting forth that the woman was a disorderly character, &c. The Magistrate sprung a surprise by taking up each case and cross-questioning the arresting officer. In nearly every case the officer was unable to swear positively that the woman had been acting disorderly. The burden of nearly every policeman's story was that he had seen his prisoner accost a man on the street, and felt sure that she was disorderly.

"That is not evidence," said the Magistrate sternly. "Dismissed."

This occurred in one case after another. All the cases had been disposed of but three when the Magistrate suddenly asked to see the station house bonds. He found that the bondsman in each case was William Nelson, a brother of "Bob" Nelson. The three women said that they had paid $5 for the bonds.

"This state of affairs," said Magistrate Pool, "must cease. Hereafter I will deal more leniently with those women who have not paid for station house bonds. This whole business is a shame and an outrage!" The last three women were fined $3 each. The usual fine in such cases is $10.

Magistrate Pool, when seen last night, said: "The treatment of this wretched class at present is a sad commentary on our boasted humanity, and I propose to do what little I can to remedy it. Take the case of one of these women as a type of all. She is arrested by a policeman who has no further evidence against her than that perchance he has seen her stop and speak to some man and he believes that she is committing a disorderly act. She may be a respectable woman stopping some pedestrian to inquire the direction of some street. Even supposing that she is what the officer thinks she is, she is entitled to demand that he give some proof of it.

"At any rate, she is arrested, and a professional bondsman goes her bond at the station house, charging her $5. Then she is fined $10 in the court, and some other person pays her fine, for which he gets a money remuneration. The woman is sent out on the street again, with a debt of from $15 to $20 to pay. She is again arrested, and the whole pernicious machinery is put in operation again, and so it goes on, until thousands of these wretched creatures are entangled in an endless chain of bondage.

"I do not believe the municipality should take this money in fines, and I don't intend to impose such fines unless the most absolute proof is given to me by the police in every case. The fines cannot possibly, under the circumstances, act as a deterrent to the commission of this class of misdemeanor, and means simply the putting into the City Treasury of so much money at such a cost. The professional bondsmen and others see to it that as many of these women are arrested as possible. It means hundreds of dollars in their pockets every day.

"I am powerless to deal with this phase of the miserable question. Those professional bondsmen are competent under the law, and the police officers have no alternative than to accept such a bond. I think the number of such arrests, however, can be decreased by requiring absolute proof in support of the charges made against the prisoners, and this I intend to demand."

MR. HOWE'S FRESH BLOW.

Appoints Friends of Arch Foe of Brooklyn's Republican Leaders.

Register-elect James R. Howe of Kings County has again disturbed the peace of the local Republican leaders. It was learned yesterday that two positions in the Register's office had been given by Mr. Howe to friends of Assistant Postmaster Taylor, an arch enemy of the local machine. Thomas J. Varian and William H. Ahrens, both of Mr. Taylor's ward, the Twenty-fifth, have been appointed to clerkships.

What is regarded as lending to these appointments particular significance is the fact that Naval Officer Sharkey, whose leadership of the Sixteenth Assembly District Mr. Taylor has vigorously opposed, has received but one appointment from Mr. Howe.

GRADUATE CLUBS' CONVENTION.

Question of Foreign Universities' Degrees for American Students.

The fifth annual convention of the Federation of Graduate Clubs began yesterday morning in the theatre of Barnard College. Wendell M. Strong of Yale presided and President Seth Low of Columbia University delivered the address of welcome to the delegates, representing the leading American colleges and universities.

The committee appointed to investigate the method employed by foreign universities in conferring degrees upon American students who go abroad to study, made a report recommending that an effort be made to establish a standard of excellence that will be observed by universities all over the world.

Dr. Raymond N. Alden of the University of Pennsylvania read a paper on "The Lecture System in Graduate Instruction." He recommended that the system be changed so as to allow more discussion on the part of the students. In the evening the delegates were entertained by President Low at his residence. The sessions of the convention will be resumed this morning.

INDIAN TERRITORY EXODUS.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—A dispatch from Perry, Indian Territory, says that on Jan. 1 every lessee of land in the Indian Territory will be compelled to leave the Territory or submit to ejection by the United States authorities. The number of farmers who are leasing lands on the five civilized tribe reservations will reach into the thousands, and all will have to vacate. The exodus from the Indian Territory began some days ago and it is estimated that more than 3,000 families have come to Oklahoma, 150 families having left Whitfield, Indian Territory, in one day for Oklahoma.

Recent laws passed by Congress debar the Indians from leasing their lands for any purpose, and this will shut out not only farmers but cattlemen. The merchants and business men in the many towns in the Chickasaw, Cherokee, Seminole, Creek, and Choctaw nations are much alarmed over the prospects of their business being ruined. In communities which heretofore have been thickly settled every family will be compelled to move, leaving the country to the Indians, who live in bands, and a few squaw men. There are several towns in the Indian Territory that have nearly 10,000 population, and if this new law is carried out they will dwindle to almost nothing. Congress will be asked to repeal the law.

APOSTOLIC DELEGATE'S RULING.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 27.—Archbishop Kane today received a communication from Mgr. Martinelli, the Apostolic Delegate at Washington, saying that the recent decree issued from Rome regarding indulgences and other favors from the Pope does not in any way abridge the privileges heretofore held by Bishops and Archbishops of issuing dispensations for mixed marriages.

The message from Mgr. Martinelli was in reply to a request from the Archbishop for a ruling on the matter. Archbishop Corrigan of the New York Diocese last week sent a circular to his clergymen, which gave rise to the report that no dispensations could be obtained during the jubilee year except directly from the Vatican. The statement of the Apostolic Delegate effectually settles this question.

It is explained that the dispensation for the marriage of a Catholic and one of a different faith is only issued in the name of the Pope. Without the seal of the Holy See, the document would have no authority. So that, in this case, the wish of the Pope that Rome shall be "the real fountain of mercy and spiritual favors for the Catholics of the entire world" during the coming year, will still be fully carried out. The decree referred to, it is now understood, related only to certain indulgences which are ordinarily within the faculties of the Archbishops and their ministers.

Silver Service for William Sohmer.

Two hundred members of the Tammany Association of the Tenth Assembly District sat down to dinner last night at the Hotel Boulevard, 156 Second Avenue, in honor of County Clerk William Sohmer, who has retired from the leadership of the district. Joseph Steiner acted as toastmaster. Judge George F. Roesch presented to the County Clerk a solid-silver service set. Mr. Sohmer responded. Assemblyman Julius Harburger, his successor as leader, spoke on "Our Organization"; William P. Mitchell, "Our City," and Henry W. Wolf, "Our District."

Sale of Mink Capes

A Deep Cut in Prices.

23 inches deep, 90 sweep..... $75.00
24 and 26 inches deep..... 125.00
27 deep, dark and very handsome. 250.00
Extra dark Eastern, 30 and 33 in. deep..... 350.00

Muffs, Boas, Scarfs in Proportion.

Skunk Capes, 23 to 34 inches deep, $65, $80, $100 to $150.00
Alaska Sealskin Capes, elegantly finished, $200 up; trimmed with border of mink, 27 in. deep..... 350.00
Hudson Bay Sable, trimmed..... 700.00
Handsome Skunk, trimmed, 23 in. deep, $175; 27 in. deep..... 250.00

Sealskin Coats, Plain and Trimmed

Russian and Hudson Bay Sable Muffs, Capes, Colarettes, and Boas.
Men's Fur Lined Overcoats.
Sealskin Caps and Gloves,
Sleigh Robes.
Lowest possible prices for reliable goods.

C. C. SHAYNE,

MANUFACTURING FUR MERCHANT, 42d St., bet. Broadway & 6th Av.

N. B.—One lot of Fur Muffs, various kinds; your choice, $5.

FEAR COST HIM HIS LIFE.

Harry Oppenheimer, Though Escape Was Easy, Made Fatal Leap from Window of Burning Building.

Harry Oppenheimer, nineteen years old, met a tragic death in an early morning fire yesterday in the apartment house at 579 Franklin Avenue, Brooklyn. The young man, overcome with fear, leaped from a fourth-story window and was killed on the pavement below.

The fire, the cause of which is not known, occurred in the cellar of the building at 3 o'clock. Policemen Lambert and Donnelly of the Grand Avenue Station, who discovered the blaze, turned in an alarm and aroused the sleeping tenants. Henry Oppenheimer, his wife, and six children, including Harry, with all the other tenants, got safely out of the building.

When the father got out on the sidewalk he remembered that he had left all his insurance papers and other documents of value in his rooms on the top floor. At that time the fire had not gained much headway and Mr. Oppenheimer and Harry returned for the papers. When they reached the hall on the top floor they found it filled with smoke, and the father said that they must turn back. The young man, however, became panic stricken and ran into the front room, slamming the door behind him. The door was secured by a snap latch. The father tried to follow his son, but could not open the door. He tried to unlock the door with his keys, but in his excitement failed to find the right one. All the time he was crying to his son to come out and follow him to the street. The young man, however, paid no heed.

Finally, the father, in desperation kicked in a panel of the door, and, reaching in, managed to grasp his son. He pleaded with him again to come out and go down by the stairs, but Harry was apparently so frightened that he would not leave the room. He broke from his father's grasp, and Mr. Oppenheimer was compelled to run down the stairs without him, after warning his son not to jump, but to wait for a ladder.

When the father reached the street he found that his son had climbed out on the window ledge. The crowd on the sidewalk shouted to him not to jump, and Mr. Oppenheimer, with two other men, started up stairs after him again. They had scarcely entered the building when they were drawn back by a shout of horror from the crowd. Harry, heedless of the warnings, had jumped. He fell on his head, crushing his skull, and he died instantly.

The losses by the fire are estimated at $3,500.

THE DEATH OF EDITH H. EATON.

Coroner's Physician Weston Not Satisfied as to Her Husband's Name.

Coroner's Physician Weston at 10 o'clock this morning will satisfy himself as to the circumstances surrounding the death of Edith Hobart Eaton, the woman who died at the Post Graduate Hospital on Monday, and will straighten out some differences as to her husband's name, or her funeral will not take place.

Dr. Weston said last evening that he had no reason to suspect that there was anything irregular about the case, except that from the records of the Post Graduate Hospital it appeared that Mrs. Eaton's husband's name is Allan K. Eaton, and that he lives at 560 Greene Avenue, Brooklyn. Undertaker W. R. Fearn of 599 Ninth Avenue, by whom the body was taken in charge, had it that the husband's name was L. Eaton of the same address in Brooklyn. At that address, which is an apartment house, there lives a William A. Eaton. Dr. Weston failed to get from that source any satisfactory information as to the woman's connections. A reporter talked to Mrs. William A. Eaton last evening, but she was reticent in regard to the case, beyond admitting that her husband and the husband of the Mrs. Eaton who died were relatives, and that the latter's mother lived at Rye, N. Y.

Dr. Weston said last evening: "The woman died from blood poisoning, resulting from an operation. She was brought to the Post-Graduate Hospital on Sunday, and died there Monday afternoon. This discrepancy as to her husband's name and the difficulty in locating him are the only circumstances which have aroused suspicion. I have not ordered the funeral stopped, but I have informed Undertaker Fearn that somebody must be at the Coroners' office this morning to clear up these doubtful points. If this is not done, then some more decisive action may be taken."

Undertaker Fearn could not be found last evening. One of his employes who seemed to be familiar with the matter, said that the difficulty was due to a misunderstanding, and that abundant evidence would be given to the authorities to remove all suspicion.

YESTERDAY'S FIRES.

(From 12 o'clock Tuesday night until 12 o'clock Wednesday night.)

3 A. M.—182 Avenue A, H. Childs; damage, $500.

8:20 A. M.—145 East Thirty-second Street, Frank Gardner; damage, $5.

11 A. M.—126 Seventh Avenue, no name; damage slight.

11:45 A. M.—543 East Sixteenth Street, Michael Curran; damage, $25.

12:35 P. M.—762 Third Avenue, J. L. Seasongood; damage, slight.

1:40 P. M.—240 East One Hundred and Ninth Street, no name; damage slight.

2:45 P. M.—2,091 Third Avenue, Michael Hayman; damage slight.

3:45 P. M.—69 Suffolk Street, Harris Shappiro; damage slight.

5:15 P. M.—151 East Thirty-second Street, Joseph Browman; damage, $100.

5:25 P. M.—Eleventh Avenue, between Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Streets, Rothenhouser & Co.; damage, $25.

8 P. M.—105 Washington Street, J. Hasadfam; no damage.

LOSSES BY FIRE.

EAST ARLINGTON, Vt., Dec. 27.—The Hale Company paint shop was burned this morning, causing a loss of $50,000. The loss is a total one. Altogether 150 men are thrown out of employment. The building will be replaced by a modern structure as soon as possible.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—The vinegar and yeast factory of Spielmann Brothers Company, on North Avenue, was almost destroyed by fire to-night. Four floors of the five-story building were burned with their contents. The damage is estimated at $100,000, which is covered by insurance.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 27.—Fire at 5 o'clock this morning destroyed the wholesale and retail dry goods establishment of George Dewald & Co. and the crockery store of M. F. Kaag, causing an aggregate loss of $200,000, on which there is a total insurance of $135,000, distributed among several companies. The fire is believed to have originated from a rise in the natural gas pressure which overheated a stove in the third floor of the Dewald store. The Dewald concern was established in 1846. The house did a general wholesale and retail dry goods business throughout Northeastern Indiana, Southern Michigan, and Northwestern Ohio. The firm, it is understood, will re-engage in business at once.

B. Altman & Co.

Are exhibiting in

SILK DEPARTMENT,

Recent shipments of exclusive designs in

PRINTED FOULARDS

For the Coming Season.

Also an attractive stock of VELOURS PANNE, the new velvet fabric, being employed by leading Paris Modistes.

Kennedy

12 CORTLANDT ST.

Gray Gloves, 98c. of Real Mocha, piqué stitch, worth 1.50.

Dogskin 98c
Reindeer 1.49

Underwear from every standard hosiery mill in the world.

Fleece lined Shirts and Drawers . . 49c
White Merino " " . . 49c
Natural Wool " " . . 98c

Kent's Rotary Knife-Cleaning Machines.

100,000 IN USE IN EUROPEAN HOTELS AND FAMILIES.

LEWIS & CONGER, Sole Agents,
130 AND 132 WEST 42D ST.

Wm. Vogel & Son

Clothing, Hats, Shoes, Furnishings.
Everything for Men's Attire.
Broadway and Houston St.

International "Labori" NEW CREATION Armor Brand
SAME LOWER "ZOLA"

"BUY CHINA & GLASS RIGHT"
HIGGINS & SEITER
FINE CHINA · RICH CUT GLASS
ALMOST HALF THE PRICE OF THE SAME GOODS ELSEWHERE
50-54 West 22d St.

CROUCH & FITZGERALD
161 BROADWAY.
688 BROADWAY.
723 SIXTH AVENUE.

EDUCATIONAL UNIFICATION.

Bill Prepared on the Lines Laid Down by the Commission.

ALBANY, Dec. 27.—Judge Lincoln of the Statutory Revision Commission to-day mailed to each member of the special commission appointed by the Governor to frame a plan for unifying the educational systems of the State, copies of the bill drafted by him in accordance with the scheme as adopted by that body.

The bill provides for the unification of the educational system of the State and the State Board of Regents. The membership of that body is reduced to fifteen. The office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction is abolished. The administration of the educational system is placed in the hands of a Chancellor, who is to serve for terms of eight years, and receive an annual salary of $10,000. The first Chancellor is to be appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, while the Board of Regents is given the power to appoint succeeding Chancellors.

There are to be five sub-departments, each to be governed by a Director appointed by the Chancellor. These departments are: Administrative, Higher Educational, Libraries, Museum and Home Education, Law and Public Education. The Director of each department is given the power to appoint his subordinates.

London Fears of Panic Groundless.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The financial articles in The Times and other morning papers comment upon the "unexpected ease with which the arrangements for the Stock Exchange settlements have been made." The apprehensions, prevailing for a fortnight, of bankruptcy and extremely tight money have not been realized.

ALBANY FIRE.

Mrs. Reinhardt's Physician

THE TRIAL OF MOLINEUX

Mr. Weeks Assails the Religious Belief of Expert Ames.

SAYS DEFENDANT IS THE MAN

Expert Declares He Wrote the Address on the Poison Package — Mr. Tyrrell Again Called.

The session of the Molineux trial yesterday was entirely taken up with expert testimony. Mr. Weeks sought to attack the credibility of Expert Daniel T. Ames on the ground that he had written a book attacking the Bible, and therefore would have no regard for an oath taken on that book. Mr. Weeks, however, did not get far in his examination on that score before he was shut off by the Recorder, who said that a man's religious beliefs had nothing to do with the question of his credibility.

Mr. Osborne late in the afternoon got his "wizard of the pen," Mr. Tyrrell of Milwaukee, back on the stand to make some more of his crayon drawings. Mr. Weeks objected, but was overruled, and Mr. Tyrrell went on to give almost the same testimony that he had given before and to make the same drawings of words and letters.

After Mr. Ames had made an address of nearly two hours, at the rate of 175 words a minute, he was halted by Mr. Osborne long enough to enable the District Attorney to ask whether he was convinced in his mind that the same hand wrote all the exhibits in question. Mr. Ames said he was positive.

"From your experience of forty years," said Mr. Osborne, "and from the examinations that you have made, do you believe it possible that two hands could have written the exhibits in this case?" asked Mr. Osborne.

"I do not believe it possible," was Mr. Ames's reply.

When Mr. Weeks started the cross-examination of Mr. Ames he began at once on the question of religious belief. He asked the witness if he had written the book called "Biblical Myths; A Rational Exposition of the Same," and Mr. Ames admitted the authorship.

QUOTES FROM MR. AMES'S BOOK.

"Are you the author of the following," began Mr. Weeks, reading: "'Again ignorance and fear trembled and were prostrate before self-seeking, cunning, and fraud, and accordingly the firm of Moses, Jehovah & Co. (unlimited) became re-established; articles of partnership, perpetual; powers, omnipotent; capital, infinite; scope, realms terrestrial and celestial; Moses its general manager, financier, and Treasurer—'"

Mr. Osborne jumped to his feet and shouted out an objection. "This is infamous," he cried.

"I sustain your objection," said the Recorder. "Our laws require no religious test."

"But these blasphemies," shouted Mr. Weeks, shaking a green-covered book in the air. "We want to attack the credibility of the witness. He swore—"

"Enough, enough!" said the Recorder, sternly, and the lawyers on both sides subsided.

It was said yesterday that a complaint had been again made by jurors concerning the zeal of the detectives who follow them about everywhere. The jurors do not object to being followed, for they know it is usual in big murder trials, but they have told the Recorder that they object to having one of these detectives always at their elbow, listening to every conversation and making reports of it to the District Attorney. It was also reported that the Recorder said he could do nothing in the matter.

Assistant District Attorney McIntyre admitted that fifteen men from a private detective agency had been employed for this work, and that it was the usual thing to do. He said he was investigating the complaints.

MR. AMES'S TESTIMONY.

Mr. Ames took the stand at the opening of the session and started off to illustrate the word "oblige" in all the exhibits. The witness passed rapidly over several points he said were only minor ones, and then illustrated by crayon three styles of forming the dollar mark as it is done through the exhibits. He placed the three styles on the board, saying as he did so that in his judgment they represented three distinct types of the writer's personality.

The witness next said it was preposterous for any one to say that the handwriting of the poison package address was of a simulated nature. It had been so insinuated, he said, but was an utter absurdity. If that were so, he said, the person who attempted to imitate the writing would try to write as nearly like the original as possible.

Mr. Ames then stated in answer to questions that not being aware when he first began his study of the writings in the case that the Cornish signature in the exhibits was not genuine, he came to the conclusion that Cornish had written the poison package address. He had not at that time seen any of the defendant's writing.

"Then," asked Mr. Osborne, "it is your opinion that the hand that wrote the Cornish letters also wrote the poison package address?"

"Oh, yes; I came to that conclusion long ago."

"Now, as a matter of fact, Mr. Ames, with the handwriting we have had, we barely need an expert, do we?"

"Well, I don't think it takes much of an expert to pass on these writings."

CONTRADICTS OTHER EXPERTS.

Mr. Ames then illustrated the formation of the word "which" as it appears in Exhibits H and 37. Mr. Weeks asked Mr. Ames to point out some of the "breaks" in Exhibit 37. This the witness did, making the same general statements as preceding experts had made. He was shown Exhibit 43, an admitted specimen, and stated he would be compelled to say that the break between the "i" and the "c" when those two letters appeared together was an accident.

Other witnesses have said the break was always to be found between these letters, and was a characteristic Mr. Ames's statement, which was almost a direct contradiction, immediately brought about a set-to between Mr. Osborne and Mr. Weeks. The former wanted the witness to testify that the testimony of the three preceding experts should receive some weight, but Mr. Weeks objected to all questions asked, and was sustained.

Mr. Osborne then asked the witness to go to the board and demonstrate the word "which" and the break by crayon. Mr. Ames, illustrating, said he thought the word had been written hastily, and that the letter "i" had been omitted. The writer, observing the omission, had interjected the "i" later, dotting it. The "i" was connected with the "h" without any doubt, the witness said.

Mr. Weeks, on cross-examination, went into a series of questions concerning cases in which Mr. Ames had been a witness. He sought to break down the witness's testimony in the direct examination by implying all manner of mistakes and errors in previous cases. All these insinuations Mr. Ames denied.

He was asked if he ever swore in the witness chair he could establish the identity of a person who could not write his name and who used a cross mark instead. He said he did not, but that he once said he believed a certain cross mark for a signature was made by a certain person.

HIS FIRST WORK ON THE EXHIBITS.

The examination then passed to the point of the witness's first work on the exhibits. He told of going to the Astor House, and there seeing the exhibits in the case. He did not consult with Mr. Kinsley at all, and reached a conclusion some time in the first week in February. He submitted a verbal report of this conclusion.

The cross-examination of Expert Ames was continued at the afternoon session. The witness was first asked if he had been able to refresh his memory as to the exact date on which he submitted his report as to his conclusions on the writings. He said it was on the 26th or the 27th of February, and that he had been in error when he previously said it was during the first week of that month.

Mr. Ames was asked if he worked from originals of Molineux's writing or photographs. He thought he worked from the original, but was not sure. The first conclusion he came to was that the handwriting in the Cornish letters was the same as that on the poison package.

Mr. Ames said, in answer to Mr. Weeks, that he had put in a bill for $30 a day as compensation for testimony, which also included traveling expenses. Relative to the bill, he could not state how many days the bill called for, adding: "The Controller had the kindness to cut the bill in half."

Mr. Ames said at first he did not put in any bill for services prior to the May Grand Jury. He later said he did not remember rendering any other bill at that time. One-half of the amount collected went to Mr. Kinsley. His next services for which he would render a bill dated from Nov. 25, 1899, to the time he would return to his home, in California. He expected to be paid at the rate of $50 a day. He did not know, he said, if one-half of that amount would go to Mr. Kinsley.

At this juncture Mr. Weeks concluded his cross-examination. He had not asked a single question as to the opinions on the writing in the case held by Mr. Ames.

Mr. Tyrrell then took the stand and made more drawings of letters and words from the exhibits. He was still at it when court adjourned until to-day.

MONNETT ON TRANSPORTATION.

Attorney General of Ohio Delivers an Address in Boston on the Necessity for Controlling It.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—F. S. Monnett, Attorney General of Ohio, delivered an address to-night before the Twentieth Century Club on "Abdication of Sovereignty," in which he pointed out the necessity for controlling transportation in order to control the trusts.

The speaker began by saying: "I want to demonstrate to you to-night that the most potent weapon of oppression is that club that we, as a sovereign people, hand over to certain favored interests, and they in turn, having thus seized the mace of Governmental authority, pervert it to their own use and for their own self-aggrandizement, in defiance of the rights of the great majority of individuals or citizens composing such sovereignty."

The speaker discussed at some length the application of the principle of eminent domain as applied to transportation facilities, quoting from court records the decisions of eminent jurists in cases in point. Continuing, he said:

"You will discern, if I can make myself understood, that of the three great subdivisions known in political economy as production, transportation, and consumption, the transportation department comes between the two, the highway between the wheat field and the pantry, the rock and the lamp, the cotton field, and the calico dress.

"I say this great subdivision of our industrial and commercial existence should and must be kept strictly within Governmental control, or the abuses that are now being perpetrated in violation of that Governmental control and right will lead to our early downfall.

"I believe I can safely assert that very little injury has ever been done through the accumulation of capital in the manufacturing business, or in other producing departments, so long as the competitors had an equal chance through the markets at the transportation department. It is the millions that have been made from the favoritism obtained through the Governmental grants, as recognized in the transportation department, as above illustrated, that are disarranging the great commercial and economic conditions of to-day."

The speaker then took up at length evidence presented before the Ohio Trust Investigation Commission with reference to the methods of business of the Standard Oil Company. "We have," he continued, "in this, the close of the nineteenth century, a spectacle of grants of corporate power, creatures of the State more powerful than their creator, subverting the Legislature, delaying judicial proceedings, defying courts, compelling servitude on the part of the State, rather than the State retaining its sovereignty over its creatures. It is as complete an abdication of sovereignty, so far as this octopus is concerned, as any of a sovereign in history. Step forward, march on, shoulder to shoulder and recover our lost powers, assert the sovereignty of the State over its creatures; if necessary, even by revoking the charters and conducting the transportation department by the State itself."

ASK FOR MORE TIME.

Columbian Iron Works Creditors Desire an Extension to Finish Work.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27.—At a meeting of creditors of the Columbian Iron Works and Dry Dock Company to-day it was determined to request the Secretary of the Navy to extend the time limit for the completion of the torpedo boat, work on which has been delayed by the company's financial troubles.

Creditors from Philadelphia and New York attended the meeting. It was decided that Henry A. Parr should continue as sole receiver and that the work should be continued. A movement has been started looking to a reorganization of the company, and it meets with favor. New York and Philadelphia capitalists are interested.

TROUBLE FOR A MINISTER.

Reinstatement of Mr. Dater in a Ramsey's Church Ordered.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Dec. 27.—John Y. Dater, editor of The Ramsey's Journal, and his wife are once more members of the Christian Reformed Church. There is a possibility they will be the only recognized members of the church of that denomination which has been located at Ramsey's.

Mr. Dater was deposed last Summer from membership by the minister, the Rev. J. N. Trompen, because he took a snapshot photograph on a Sunday. The matter was appealed by Mr. Dater, and he also made charges against Mr. Trompen of using improper language to Mrs. Dater.

The minister refused to attend to-day's meeting of the classis. The case was heard and decided in Mr. Dater's favor. He was not only restored to membership of the church, but it was declared that the election of a successor to him as deacon was illegal.

Mrs. Dater, who was dropped from membership because she was with her husband at the time he took the photograph, was also restored.

The classis also cited Mr. Trompen to appear before it next month to answer charges of disloyalty to the classis, open rebellion to his ordination vow, and insubordination in ignoring a notice to attend to-day's meeting of the classis. A fourth charge of abuse is said to be based upon alleged cruelty to Frances Krieden, a child adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Trompen.

It is not thought likely Mr. Trompen will attend the meeting at which the charges against him are to be taken up. In that case he will probably be expelled from the classis, and if he is there seems but little chance of the members of his congregation remaining members of the Christian Reformed Church, as they have repeatedly voted to sustain him.

AGAINST WHISKY TRUST.

Justice Gaynor Hears Argument on Application to See Books.

Argument was heard before Justice Gaynor in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday on an application made by Lawyer Bert Reiss as a stockholder of the American Spirits Manufacturing Company, for a writ of mandamus directed against the officers of the company, to compel them to permit Mr. Reiss to examine the books of the company.

James C. Church, on behalf of Mr. Reiss, said that his client purchased stock of the company two years ago at $20, expecting that its value would increase. Instead, it has decreased, and is now listed at $1 a share. No report of the business of the company has been made in the two years, no meeting of the stockholders has been called, and stockholders, he alleged, have been unsuccessful in their efforts to get information.

Mr. Church said that soon after the formation of the American Spirits Manufacturing Company the American Spirits Distributing Company was formed, and the officers of the older company were largely interested in the new one. The distributing company, he said, by secret contract, was permitted to make money.

Samuel Untermyer, in opposing the motion, denied that there had been no statements of the business done. It was also denied that the American Spirits Distributing Company was formed by the officers of the manufacturing company. The present depression of stock, counsel said, was due to financial difficulties all over the country.

Justice Gaynor said:

"The right of the stockholders to see the books must be within some compass clearly defined. The sole question is whether the relator brings himself within that definition. All talk about solvency and insolvency is irrelevant."

Papers were submitted and decision reserved.

Movements of Naval Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Admiral Schley's flagship Chicago has arrived at Buenos Ayres and will remain there until further orders.

The Vixen has arrived at Norfolk.

The Marcellus has been ordered out of commission.

The cruiser Hartford will sail about Jan. 10 for Valparaiso.

The Dixie will sail Thursday for Norfolk.

The Dorothea is not to be placed in commission for the time being.

The Marietta has sailed from Singapore for Manila.

ELEVATED IN THE PARK

Manhattan Officials Argue Against Removal from the Battery.

STATE STREET PLAN FEASIBLE

Park Commissioner Clausen Will Call In Expert Aid on the Question of Appearance.

Judging by the result of the conference held yesterday morning at the office of the Department of Public Parks between officials of the Manhattan Railway Company and Park Commissioner Clausen, the question of the removal of the elevated railway structure from Battery Park is still far from being solved. At first the conference took the form simply of a recapitulation of the arguments for and against the present position of the structure. Afterward a semi-agreement was reached to the effect that a line might be built in State Street. But only a few of the questions connected with the building of such a line were considered. Its practicability from an engineering point of view was admitted by both parties, but whether it would be likely to improve the appearance of Battery Park was not discussed, and neither was the question of possible opposition by property owners considered.

The representatives of the railway company arrived some time after the hour, 11 o'clock, named by Mr. Clausen in his letter inviting a discussion. They were Alfred Skitt, Vice President and General Manager of the company; De Lancey Nicoll, who is associated with Julien T. Davies as counsel for the Manhattan, and Engineer George H. Pegram. The Park Department was represented by Commissioner Clausen and the Chief Engineer of the department, E. A. Miller, and the Secretary, Willis Holly, were called into consultation. The conference was carried on behind closed doors, and lasted nearly two hours.

After the representatives of the Manhattan Company had left the Arsenal, Mr. Holly told what had taken place. He said:

"The Commissioner took up each of the plans that the Manhattan Company suggested and discussed them in detail. It was only an informal meeting, and there was no stenographer present. The upshot of all the company's arguments was that it wants to stay in the park, and it tried to show that its present route was the only advisable one. In reply to each of the arguments Mr. Clausen said he wanted the structure out of Battery Park.

"It seems that the plans of different routes which were presented by the company last week were intended only to show that such routes were impossible and that the existing one would have to remain. But finally a slight modification of the State Street route was proposed, which disposed of the engineering objections put forward by the company. As a result, there may be an agreement—again only so far as the engineering operations are concerned.

"With regard to the effect of the route on the appearance of the park, Mr. Clausen had no means of forming an opinion. He has, therefore, decided to ask John De Wolf, the landscape architect of the city, and N. J. Rose, the landscape gardener of the Park Department in Manhattan and Richmond, to investigate the matter and prepare reports. When these are received the matter will be taken up again. They will be prepared as quickly as possible, but no date can yet be given for the reconsideration of the subject.

"The company presented the State Street route as an object lesson of an impossibility because, it was claimed, the curves were too sharp. But this objection was disposed of when it was pointed out that by cutting off a small corner of the park at the junction of Battery Place and State Street a safe curve could be obtained. The question of what property owners in State Street might have to say was not brought up. That is something that the Manhattan people will have to attend to, supposing, of course, that the Park Department decides that the plan can be entertained—which is by no means certain at present.

"Commissioner Clausen remarked that there might be the less objection on the part of owners of property, as whatever structures were put up, and wherever they should be put up, it would have to be of the modern type, of skeleton construction, and designed for an electric road. It would have truss girders in place of the box and string structure used now. That had been insisted upon by himself as a preliminary and before the question of location was considered."

When the officials of the Manhattan Company who attended the conference were seen De Lancey Nicoll spoke for them. He declared that there was nothing to say except that the matter was still under consideration, and for further particulars referred inquirers to Commissioner Clausen.

RICH MAN SUED FOR DIVORCE.

Wife Names Mrs. Lucy S. Scribner of New York as Co-respondent.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27.—Suit has been brought by Mrs. Ida M. Fraser of Pasadena against her husband, Dr. J. C. Fraser, for divorce. Mrs. Lucy S. Scribner of New York City is named as one of the co-respondents.

It is alleged that Dr. Fraser became acquainted with Mrs. Scribner in January, 1898, and that they traveled in company in May of that year from San Francisco to New York, whence they went to the White Mountains and remained at Jackson, N. H., until August. The expenses of the trip, it is alleged, were paid by Mrs. Scribner, who is said to have advanced money for the doctor's tailoring bills and other personal expenses, besides giving Dr. Fraser outright $4,000.

Mrs. Fraser declares that Mrs. Scribner came to Pasadena in January, 1898, and remained there until April. During that period she is said to have been visited every day by Dr. Fraser. Mrs. Fraser says she besought her husband to discontinue such attentions, but he refused, saying she was a fine woman, and that he would marry her any time he could secure a divorce.

Dr. Fraser is the owner of extensive mining interests in Colorado, real estate in Pasadena, and other property, valued at $500,000, all of which has been accumulated since his marriage to the plaintiff. His wife says she has subsisted by renting rooms in the Pasadena residence for $6 a month and by a monthly allowance of $30 paid to her by the doctor.

JAMES WITTGENSTEIN DEAD.

Former Southern Planter Taken Ill While in a Restaurant.

James Wittgenstein, sixty years of age, living at 234 West Forty-third Street and employed by Montgomery & Co., brokers, 52 Broadway, died suddenly last night in a restaurant at 1,164 Broadway. Magistrate Flammer identified the body, and said that Wittgenstein had been separated from his wife, who lives in Upper Broadway, and that he had a step-daughter who married a Dr. Jacobson.

Mr. Wittgenstein was born in Louisiana, and for many years was a planter. During the civil war he was appointed a Provost Marshal by Gen. Butler, and later had occasion to arrest that official because of his refusal to obey a subpoena summoning him to court. He went to Nicaragua with Gen. Walker and on several occasions distinguished himself during filibustering expeditions.

INVESTIGATING GALLINGER.

Federal Grand Jury Considers Charge Against New Hampshire Senator.

CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 27.—The United States Grand Jury reconvened in this city to-day after an adjournment of several weeks. Among the cases to be considered is one against Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, who is charged by ex-Gov. Charles A. Busiel with violating the civil service law in assessing Federal office holders as Chairman of the Republican State Committee. A number of witnesses summoned to give evidence in this case were present.

District Attorney Charles J. Hamblett says that the report may not be made until Friday afternoon.

Decides to Accept Trolley Franchise.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Dec. 27.—The Elizabeth and Westfield Trolley Company to-day filed notice of acceptance of the franchise awarded the company a month ago to operate a trolley road on Jersey Avenue. When the Aldermen voted the franchise the company would not take it owing to the conditions imposed. The franchise says the company must only charge a five-cent fare from Roselle to Elizabeth and issue transfers good over the North Jersey lines in Elizabeth and an eight-cent fare from Cranford, but after five years it must be reduced to five.

MR. DAWES ON THE PANIC.

Controller of the Currency Anticipates No Recurrence of the Stock Market Disturbance.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Controller of the Currency Charles G. Dawes passed through Chicago to-day en route for Springfield, where he will address a gathering of State Republicans. Concerning the recent financial panic and present conditions, the Controller said:

"The general financial condition of the country, so far as it can be judged from the banking situation, is sound and stable. The recent flurry in the speculative centres of the East was a natural sequence of the condition of last Summer, when the West did not need its capital, and deposited it in the banks of the East in order to procure interest on its credit balances. The immense accumulation there stimulated illegitimate speculation on Stock Exchanges and bubbles of credit were blown, which could not but burst at the first disturbance in an abnormally cheap money market. This disturbance commenced when, in order to move its crops and to furnish legitimate industry with proper funds, the West commenced to call for its own, and to withdraw currency from the East.

"The situation was also aggravated by the London money market and the prospect of gold shipments. The speculators simply had to liquidate, and the legitimate demands of industry and commerce had to be satisfied. There is ample money in the country to provide for legitimate business. The business of the country was never more prosperous nor the credit of the Government better. While the prices of stocks were tumbling on the New York Stock Exchange two weeks ago, wages of workingmen were being increased in Pennsylvania. While the prices of speculative stocks were lowest the price of Government bonds—the best indication of the Nation's credit—remained at about its highest point.

"The wheels of legitimate business are moving, and the recent stock panic simply releases the more capital to aid their motion. It has not operated to retard them. Some legitimate busines concerns with too extended lines of credit have suffered, but the tight money market in most instances only precipitated a failure which was inevitable sooner or later.

"I see nothing in the conditions existing which might cause a recurrence of the flurry of two weks ago, and anticipate nothing of that kind."

MORE BOSTON BROKERS FAIL.

E. C. Hodges & Co., One of the Largest Firms There, Make an Assignment.

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—E. C. Hodges & Co., bankers and brokers of 53 State Street, suspended business to-day. The firm is one of the largest in the city, with dealings principally in municipal bonds, and holds memberships in the Boston and New York Stock Exchanges and the Chicago Board of Trade.

Mr. Hodges said to-day that the trouble was caused by the refusal of the Boston banks to give the firm credit on United States mining shares. "We have 5,000 shares of that stock on hand," added Mr. Hodges, "and when the banks refused to accept it as collateral there was no course for us but to protect our creditors." G. C. Dickson, of the law firm of Dickson & Knowles, has been named as assignee.

Those interested state that no statement of assets or liabilities can be made to-day. The only thing Mr. Dickson cared to say was practically a repetition of Mr. Hodges's statement, and was to the effect that the assignment has been made by the firm for the best interests and protection of all creditors. "The firm," he said, "held some $100,000 worth of United States mining stock, and certain banks refused to credit the firm on that account. This made it necessary to make the assignment."

Besides Edward C. Hodges, E. F. Lowry and Frederick Swift comprised the firm of E. C. Hodges & Co.

The announcement of the failure on the Boston Stock Exchange, a few minutes after the opening this forenoon, was a surprise to many, although it was not altogether unexpected by some of the larger financial interests.

The suspension of this well-known house, it is estimated, will carry the total liabilities of concerns here which have failed within the past two weeks close to $17,000,000. Much of the difficulty is attributed to unfortunate speculation by men who, before the crash, were wealthy, and to the embarrassment of the Globe National Bank. This failure, it appears, was due, partly at least, to a tremendous fall in United States Copper and United States Oil and other securities.

The failed concerns include: Globe National Bank, Broadway National Bank, John P. Squire & Co., and allied firms, provisions and pork packers; Joseph C. Squire & Co., provisions; Francis Bacheider & Co., provisions; Dillsway & Starr, bankers and brokers; John P. Lovell Arms Company, and John P. Lovell Company, and B. C. Hodges & Co., bankers and brokers.

Edward C. Hodges was the firm member of record as a member of the New York Stock Exchange. His brother, Amory G. Hodges, is one of the Stock Exchange members of the New York firm of Halsted & Hodges. The New York agents of the failed Boston firm are Post & Flagg. A member of this firm said yesterday that Hodges & Co. liquidated nearly all of their New York business in the early Summer and the balance was settled quite recently, so that there are no New York debts, and there is a small balance with their agents.

CONDOLES WITH MRS. BRUMBY.

MARIETTA, Ga., Dec. 27.—Mrs. A. V. Brumby, mother of the late Lieut. Brumby, has received from President McKinley a letter speaking in the highest terms of her son's career in the navy and expressing the deep sympathy of both himself and Mrs. McKinley. The letter follows:

Executive Mansion.
Washington, Dec. 22, 1899.

Dear Mrs. Brumby: The death of your gallant son, Lieut. Brumby, is deeply mourned by his countrymen, who remember with gratitude his heroism and devotion to duty.

In his career of faithful service he preserved the best traditions of the navy and his Government, and as typical of this, will be remembered as the officer who raised the first American flag over Manila.

I particularly recall with what enthusiasm and cordial commendation Admiral Dewey has repeatedly referred to your son, and I am sure you will be glad to know of the regard in which he was universally held.

In your great sorrow you have the deep sympathy of Mrs. McKinley and myself.

Very sincerely yours,
WILLIAM McKINLEY.

DAVENPORT WILL PROCEEDINGS.

Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., Dec. 27.—The Sheriff of the County of New York has received an attachment for $42,000 against James B. Davenport of Stamford, in favor of John Davenport of this city, his brother, executor of the will of their late mother, the widow of Theodore Davenport. The attachment is issued as the result of a judgment in a suit decided in the Fairfield County Superior Court last January, and its service by the New York Sheriff is another effort on the part of the executor to straighten out the legal tangle which has arisen in the settlement of the mother's will.

The Davenports are among Stamford's most aristocratic families, being lineal descendants of the Rev. John Davenport, who came to Stamford from New Haven colony in 1642 and settled the town. In the will of the late Mrs. Davenport, John and James were both named as executors, but the other heirs claimed that James owed his mother about $150,000, and, owing to complications likely to arise, James resigned. Suit was thereupon brought against him by his brother John, as executor of the estate, to determine how much he owed the estate, and after the case had been in court for some time Judge John H. Perry of Bridgeport was appointed referee by the Superior Court to determine the facts. It appeared from the evidence that James Davenport was a Wall Street broker, and had managed his mother's business for many years. She had let him have money from time to time to invest for her in securities. Some of these investments had turned out worthless, and the heirs wished to charge James with money lost. A compromise verdict was, however, given by the Court for $35,000.

Mrs. Davenport's estate was inventoried at about $250,000, much of it in New York City real estate and the legal proceedings now being taken in New York City are in the nature of a partition suit for the division of this real estate, which, when done, will give the executor an opportunity of collecting the judgment of $35,000, or, including the costs, about $42,000 out of James's portion.

Chicago Planing Mill Burned.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—The planing mill, pail factory, office building, and lumber yards of the Paepcke-Leicht Lumber Company, at Illinois and Seneca Streets, were destroyed by fire to-night, entailing a loss of $176,000, which is covered by insurance. Ten out of seventeen horses in the company's stables were burned to death.

SHIPPING AND FOREIGN MAILS.

Miniature Almanac—This Day.

A. M.		P. M.		A. M.
Sun rises	7:24	Sun sets	4:40	Moon rises	3:16

High Water This Day.

A. M.		A. M.		A. M.
S. Hook	3:36	Gov. Isl'd	3:59	H. Gate	5:55
P. M.		P. M.		P. M.
S. Hook	3:54	Gov. Isl'd	3:56	H. Gate	5:52

Outgoing Steamships.

TO-DAY, (THURSDAY,) DEC. 28.

	Mails Close.	Vessels Sail.
Cienfuegos, South Cuba	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
La Bretagne, Havre	7:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
Rotterdam, Rotterdam	8:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
Vigilancia, Havana	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.

FRIDAY, DEC. 29.

Colorado, Brunswick		3:00 P. M.
Iroquois, Charleston		3:00 P. M.
Mae, San Juan	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
Origen, Jamaica	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.

SATURDAY, DEC. 30.

Adirondack, Jamaica	10:00 A. M.	12:00 M.
	*10:30 A. M.
Anchoria, Glasgow	10:00 A. M.	12:00 M.
Andes, Haiti	10:00 A. M.	12:00 M.
	*10:30 A. M.
Campania, Liverpool	10:30 A. M.	2:00 P. M.
	*12:00 M.
Masedam, Rotterdam	8:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
Menominee, London		9:00 A. M.
Mexico, Havana	11:00 A. M.	1:00 P. M.
Miramar, La Plata	10:00 A. M.	12:00 M.
	*10:30 A. M.
New York, San Domingo	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
	*1:30 P. M.
Werra, Naples	9:00 A. M.	11:00 A. M.
Yarmouth, Nuevitas	12:30 P. M.	3:00 P. M.

*SUPPLEMENTARY MAILS.—Additional supplementary mails are opened on the piers of the American, English, French, and German steamers and remain open until within ten minutes of the hour of sailing.

TRANSPACIFIC MAILS.

Mails for China, Japan, and the Philippine Islands, via Tacoma, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Dec. $30, inclusive, for dispatch per steamship City of London. Mails for Australia, (except West Australia, which goes via Europe, and New Zealand, which goes via San Francisco,) Hawaii, and Fiji Islands, via Vancouver, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Dec. 30, inclusive, for dispatch per steamship Aorangi. Mails for Hawaii, China, Japan, and the Philippine Islands, via San Francisco, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Jan. $1, inclusive, for dispatch per steamship Gaelic.

†Registered mail closes at 6 P. M. previous day.

Incoming Steamships.

TO-DAY, (THURSDAY,) DEC. 28.

Arkansas, Copenhagen, Dec. 9.
Germanic, Liverpool, Dec. 20.
Hubert, Barbados, Dec. 16.
La Grande Duchesse, Savannah, Dec. 21.
Michigan, Belfast, Dec. 14.
San Marcos, Galveston, Dec. 20.
Wineland, Shields, Dec. 10.

FRIDAY, DEC. 29.

Caribbee, St. Kitts, Dec. 23.
Oranje, Nassau, Port au Prince, Dec. 23.
Othello, Hull, Dec. 17.
Phoenicia, Hamburg, Dec. 17.

SATURDAY, DEC. 30.

Pennsylvania, Hamburg, Dec. 18.
St. Louis, Southampton, Dec. 23.
Thingvalla, Christiansand, Dec. 16.
Tropea, Shields, Dec. 15.

SUNDAY, DEC. 31.

Cufic, Liverpool, Dec. 21.
Drummond, Gibraltar, Dec. 15.
La Normandie, Havre, Dec. 23.
Nicolai II., Stettin, Dec. 16.

MONDAY, JAN. 1.

Caracas, La Guayra, Dec. 24.
El Sud, New Orleans, Dec. 27.
Exeter City, Bristol, Dec. 17.
Massapequa, Leith, Dec. 18.
Victoria, Gibraltar, Dec. 18.

TUESDAY, JAN. 2.

Hindoo, Hull, Dec. 20.
Noordland, Antwerp, Dec. 28.
Tauric, Liverpool, Dec. 22.
Werkendam, Rotterdam, Dec. 21.

Arrived.

SS City of Macon, Savage, Savannah Dec. 25, with mdse. and passengers to the Ocean Steamship Company.

SS Anchoria, (Br.,) Wilson, Glasgow and Moville Dec. 15, with mdse. and passengers to Henderson Brothers. Arrived at the Bar at 3 A. M.

SS Kensington, (Br.,) Albrecht, Antwerp Dec. 16, with mdse. and passengers to the International Navigation Company. Arrived at the Bar at 11:58 P. M., 26th.

SS Menominee, (Br.,) Robinson, London Dec. 14, with mdse. and passengers to the Atlantic Transport Company. Arrived at the Bar at 8:45 P. M., 26th.

SS British King, (Br.,) Wills, Antwerp Dec. 10, with mdse. to Sanderson & Son. Arrived at the Bar at midnight, 26th.

SS Andes, (Br.,) Peterson, Aux Cayes Dec. 13, Jacmel 14th, Savanna la Mar 18th, Black River 19th, and Kingston 20th, with mdse. to Pim, Forwood & Kellock. Arrived at the Bar at 6:15 A. M.

SS Ulier, (Nor.,) Kars, Port Maria and Falmouth Dec. 19, Montego Bay 20th, and Port Antonio 21st, with fruit to Edgar C. Gedney. Arrived at the Bar at 7:45 A. M.

SS Finance, Sukeforth, Colon Dec. 20th, with mdse. and passengers to the Panama Railroad Steamship Company. Arrived at the Bar at 10:10 A. M.

SS Iroquois, Kemble, Jacksonville Dec. 24, with mdse. and passengers to William P. Clyde & Co.

SS Knickerbocker, Post, New Orleans Dec. 20, with mdse. and passengers to E. S. Allen.

SS Jersey City, (Br.,) Watkins, Bristol Dec. 7 and Swansea 9th, with mdse. to James Arkell & Co. Arrived at the Bar at 1 P. M.

SS Chalmette, Blasland, New Orleans Dec. 22, with mdse. to J. T. Van Sickle.

SS Horton, (Br.,) McGregor, Tilt Cove, N. F., Dec. 21, with copper ore, to the American Metal Company; vessel to Miller, Bull & Knowlton.

SS Guvandotte, Hillier, Newport News and Richmond, with mdse. and passengers to the Old Dominion Steamship Company.

SS Catania, McDonald, Mobile Dec. 18, and Key West 20th, with mdse. to the Hollander Line. Arr. at Red Hook 26th.

SS H. H. Meier, (Ger.,) Steencken, Bremen Dec. 16, with mdse. and passengers to Oelrichs & Co. South of Fire Island at 6:20 P. M.

SS City of Philadelphia, Curry, Baltimore, with mdse. to H. C. Foster.

WIND—At Sandy Hook, N. J., Dec. 27, 9:30 P. M., west, moderate breeze; snowing.

Sailed.

SS Neustria, (Fr.,) for Marseilles.
SS Kenmore, (Br.,) for Singapore, &c.
SS St. Paul, for Southampton.
SS F. S. Ciampa, (Ital.,) for Lisbon.
SS Trinidad, (Br.,) for Bermuda.
SS Westerniand, (Belg.,) for Antwerp.
SS Teutonic, (Br.,) for Liverpool.
SS Ethiopia, (Br.,) for Glasgow.
SS Advance, for Colon.
SS Jamestown, for Norfolk and Newport News.
SS Peninsular, (Port.,) for Flores and Lisbon.
United States transport McPherson, for ——.

By Cable.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—SS Armenia, (Ger.,) Capt. Martens, from New York for Stettin, arr. at Copenhagen to-day.

SS Hesperia, (Br.,) Capt. Coverley, from Palermo for New York, arr. at Naples yesterday.

SS Nasmyth, (Br.,) Capt. Braithwaite, from New York, via Queenstown, arr. at Manchester yesterday.

SS Annie, (Br.,) Capt. Grahl, from Calcutta for New York, arr. at Suez to-day.

SS Critic, (Br.,) Capt. Griffin, from New York, via Leith, arr. at Dundee to-day.

SS Lavstakken, (Nor.,) Capt. Reinertsen, from New York, via Algiers, for Hongkong, &c., arr. at Port Said to-day.

SS Willehad, (Ger.,) Capt. Formes, from New York, arr. at Bremen to-day.

SS Coleridge, (Br.,) Capt. Fisher, from Rio Janeiro for New York, sld. from Pernambuco Dec. 23.

SS Bulgaria, (Ger.,) Capt. Hahn, for New York, sld. from Hamburg Dec. 24.

SS Sarmatian, (Br.,) Capt. Brodie, for New York, sld. from Glasgow yesterday.

SS Charlois, (Dutch,) Capt. Peters, from Bremerhaven for New York, passed Scilly Dec. 25.

SS St. Bede, (Br.,) Capt. McPherson, from New York for Manilla, &c., passed Malta to-day.

SS Peconic, (Br.,) Capt. Mills, from New York, via Oran, &c., arr. at Trieste Dec. 20.

SS Archimede, (Ital.,) Capt. Orango, from New York, via Naples, arr. at Genoa Dec. 21.

SS Trojan Prince, (Br.,) Capt. Eagleton, from New York, via St. Michaels, &c., arr. at Genoa Dec. 23.

SS Pontiac, (Br.,) Capt. Brownless, from New York, via Cagliari, arr. at Palermo Dec. 23.

SS British Empire, (Br.,) Capt. Riddle, from New York, arr. at Antwerp Dec. 25.

SS Bolivia, (Br.,) Capt. Craig, from New York, arr. at Naples to-day.

SS Pocahontas, (Br.,) Capt. James, for New York, sld. from Trieste Dec. 19.

SS Winifred, (Br.,) Capt. Couzons, for New York, sld. from Hamburg Dec. 21.

SS Belgravia, (Ger.,) Capt. Schrotter, for New York, sld. from Hamburg Dec. 24 and passed the Lizard to-day.

SS Wartburg, (Ger.,) for New York, sld. from Huelva Dec. 21.

SS Newton, (Br.,) Capt. Davies, from New York for Montevideo, &c., sld. from St. Lucia Dec. 22.

SS Norge, (Dan.,) Capt. Kihl, for New York, sld. from Stettin Dec. 22.

SS Sempione, (Ital.,) Capt. Costa, for New York, sld. from Naples Dec. 22.

SS British Queen, (Br.,) Capt. O'Hagan, for New York, sld. from Antwerp Dec. 24.

SS Patria, (Fr.,) Capt. Bourgi, from New York, arr. at Marseilles to-day.

SS L. P. Holmblad, (Dan.,) Capt. Ericsen, from New York for Copenhagen, arr. at Christiania to-day.

SS Amsterdam, (Dutch,) Capt. Rogeveen, from New York, arr. at Rotterdam at 2 P. M. to-day.

The Wanamaker Store.

The selling of the crisp new 1900 Organdies at 12½c continues. Besides the more than sixty exquisitely printed designs there is a fair choosing of plain tints, Near the Rotunda.

Good News of Shoes

CHILDREN'S SHOES, from $1.50 to $3.50 values at 50c. Only the narrower numbers left.

Boys' Shoes, six hundred and thirty-eight pairs, tan and black, sizes 12 to 5 1-2, all with heels, $1 a pair. We counted similar shoes as bargains worth special announcement at $1.50.

Women's $2 and $2.30 Shoes at $1.40 and $1.85.

Women's Slippers, mostly $1.50 values; the cheapest are $1 sorts. The price is 80c—quilted satin with leather soles; leather with fur trimming, and so on. All sizes, but not all sizes of any one lot.

This Wanamaker shoe business is a fitting index of the store. The main shoe store holds the finest and most stylish footwear any one can wish for. It is chosen with care; most of it is made for us—which, under our system of business, is equivalent to our making it in the store. Careless people say prices are high; careful people know that no store sells equal goods for so little. Careless people blunder when they think that lean purses are helped by buying "cheap" shoes. The people who most need to save really waste by buying trash.

Now the Wanamaker business would collapse if all people were careless or ignorant of real values. It grows because more and more people are finding it to be the one most economical store. Special sales like the one we've told of, are object lessons. They are held apart from the regular shoe store, because we haven't room there. There is plenty of room on the Fifth floor—and express elevators to carry you there.

Silk Remnants---On Fifth Floor

Counted up the accumulation of remnants, yesterday—twenty-eight hundred yards. They were left during the hurry days last week.

Won't you take them? We never beg people to take our regular goods, but remnants are in our way, and, as you'll excuse our asking your help. Lots of the pieces are as long as four yards—which most women can conjure a waist from.

We Take Off Half the Price

Crepe de Chine	Satin Duchesse	Peau de Soie	Evening Silks
Poplins	Fancy Taffetas	Plain Taffetas	Black Silks

—rated at half the yard-price, but sold by the piece. Fifth floor.

Remnants of Broadcloths and Other Cloths

Broadcloth is wonderfully liked this winter. But every bolt we sell leaves a remnant. These (200 of them) you may buy to-day at a third off the price. 1½ to 4½ yards—the shortest piece will make a waist and the longest we'll divide, if you'll let us keep a usable length. In the Rotunda.

Remnants of other dress cloths (both these and the broadcloths are in colors) will be sold at just half price. 1½ to 5 yards. Fourth avenue.

Piano Recital

The third in the series of piano recitals is held to-day. Miss Amy Fay, whom music lovers know, will preside at the Krell Grand piano.

To-day, at 3 p. m.—piano store, fifth floor.

We hope you'll be able to attend. This is the programme—

FIRST PART

1. Sonata Pathetique, . . Beethoven
(Grave. Allegro Cantabile. Rondo)
2. In the Country, Op. 28, . Paine
1. Wood-notes.
2. Wayside Flowers.
3. Under the Lindens.
4. Shepherd's Lament.
5. Village Dance.

SECOND PART

3. Fairy Story, . . . Raff
4. The Guitar, . . . Moszkowski
5. Prelude, Op. 3, No. 2, Rachmaninoff
6. Song Without Words, . Mendelssohn
7. Spinning Song, . Wagner-Liszt
8. Rigoletto. Transcription. Verdi-Liszt

Creams Lotions Perfumes

Do you know we can't explain to you just wherein the Guerlain excellence lies, but all refined Paris has loved his sweets for years and years. Intense but not rank—the French say they are discreet. Odors and lotions.

Cream Blanc, $1.30.
Bain Laiteux, a skin tonic, $2.35 a quart.
Military Shaving Cream, 60c.
Sachet Envelopes, 50c.

But that is list enough.

Queen Mary preparations are ours and we know what we are talking about when we recommend them for excellence and purity.

Cold Cream, 15c and 25c.
Jelly of Glycerine and Honey, 15c a tube; 2 for 25c.
Glycerine and Rose Water, 4 oz. bottle, 25c.
Broadway, toward Tenth street side.

Sleigh Robes are Ready

$7.50 to $125. Bear, wolf, lynx, cub bear, black dog and marten. Then there are clever imitations of various furs made from goatskins. Lined with beaver cloth or plush.

Right in the nick of time, isn't it? And these fur robes are just as good for carriage use. Third floor.

Men's Overcoats—For Real Winter Wear

Ulsters, of black Frieze, full lined with warm wool stuff, $12. That doesn't convey much to you—but may it not induce you to look into the Wanamaker clothing store? The Wanamaker business was built on clothing. If it had not been a best clothing store it would never have grown to a house-ful of stores, with this New York full sister.

Chinchilla Ulsters, blue; wool lined, $18.

Others at $25—black or Oxford-gray; wool lined, with satin-shoulders—a great help to the coat's slipping on.

Montagnac Ulsters—and these stand for luxury—$35.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Curtains and Lambrequins Reduced! Just a word to start you thinking—and to start you coming, for we've quite a lot of drapery goods that are to be sold without profit or at actual loss.

It's this way: New York, Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia like the work of interior decorating that we do. And to maintain the position you've assigned us, we have experts doing their best to devise new things or to give renaissance to some fine old scheme. Last summer we studied in France where some rare old work has been restored.

But that is enough of the story—the stocks must sparkle with freshness and interest. Small lots and loitering lots can't tarry.

These Double-face Curtains are cotton, but it is handsomely worked, and we've sold most of the goods at $7.75 a pair. To-day they are $6. Effective for chambers.

Japanese and Turkish Mantel Lambrequins, Piano and Table Covers—

Lambrequins, $1 to $7.75 each; were $1.50 to $11.50.

The Table and Piano Covers are $1 to $16; were $1.35 to $24.

Third floor, Ninth street.

Cigar and Cigarette Cases All these from Austria—novel, handsome. Various combinations of cigar and cigarette cases with card and postage stamp pockets.

Cigarette Cases, 50c to $5.
Cigar Cases, $1.65 to $9.
Men's Card Cases, 50c to $5. Broadway.

Women's Handkerchiefs They are hemstitched pure linen handkerchiefs—a few with colored borders. If strictly perfect they'd be selling at 25c each. They're not. So they were made 12½c. We had a large quantity, and sold many at that price. The remainder, to close,

Broadway. at 8c each

Tray Covers and Sideboard Scarfs Excellent goods, but they haven't sold quite rapidly enough to satisfy the man who sought them out. Thinks these new prices ought to send them along. So will you.

30c—Bleached Momie sideboard scarfs; drawn work and hemmed ends; 16x70 in.; regularly 40c.

75c—Hemstitched linen scarfs with row of hand-drawn work all around; 18x72 in.; were priced very moderately at $1.10.

50c—Damask tray cover, hemstitched; one row of pretty drawn work; 20x30 in.

Fifth floor, Tenth street.

Towels We tell of two kinds only to-day,—both leaders of their respective classes. We can't buy either now as cheaply as a few weeks ago. We can sell them so, however.

For instance, there's the celebrated "Old Bleach" huckaback towel. Snow-white, soft finish, fringed ends; red, blue or plain white borders. 25c each.

And bath towels, at the same price. They're full bleached; made from carefully selected cotton; extra heavy; hemmed or fringed ends—a particularly good value at 25c.

Fourth avenue.

Flanelette Gowns Cut liberally—roomy. Suitable to sleep in, but worn also as room gowns. Of various flannels, all prettily striped. Some are stitched attractively with silk—others ribbon trimmed. 85c to $2.75. Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Furs This fur store is gaining fame just as a man does—by sticking out a little above the crowd. It is in the hands of the cleverest judges of furs we can find. We will not sell trashy stuff—dry-goods store furs—not at any price. Yet we charge only the fairest of prices for the furs we are willing to let you buy.

Persian Lamb Coats, $100.
Sealskin Coats, some at $150.
Electric-Seal Coats, $55.
Lynx Collarettes, $20.
Collarettes of Alaska-sable, dyed, $15.
Collarettes of Electric Seal, $12.50.
Second floor, Broadway.

Warm Gloves Maybe yesterday's weather reminded you of the need of them. All the good, really warm, kinds are here—for everybody. Here are a few, with prices—reasonable, be assured.

Of Scotch wool—For boys, 25c to $1; for men, 50c to $3.75; for women, 50c to $1.25.

Mocha lined gloves—for boys, $1 to $1.50; for men and women, $1.50.

Kid lined gloves—for boys, 75c, $1, $1.50; for men, $1 to $8.50; for women, $1, $1.50 and $1.75.

Kid and mocha mitts for boys, 50c to $1.50.

Fur gloves for men, $2.75 to $20.

Angora wool gloves for women, $2 to $2.75.

Tenth street.

Calendars Really artistic, are they not? Year after year we produce new series—took 200,000 calendars this season. 10c to 35c. We had thirty-eight styles, but a few are already exhausted.

Book Store and special counters.

The New Shirt Waists Are Ready

Charmingly pretty—and you'll doubtless thank us for inviting you to see them, and giving this chance for you to get first pick. Most of the fabrics are imported, and the prettiest styles, we've seen to it, are confined to our selling. Is that selfish? Not a bit of it—for of all stores we are most careful to keep things select. If every store had them, women would meet themselves at every corner.

Ready this morning,

50c to $17.50

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co.,

JOHN WANAMAKER

Broadway, Fourth Ave., Ninth and Tenth Streets.

HARVARD IN SECOND PLACE

Retires Behind Columbia in Intercollegiate Chess.

ONE POINT BEHIND THE WINNER

Yale and Princeton Follow in the Rear—Sewall's Play Attracts Attention—Three Games Unfinished.

Some chess of an unusually interesting character was witnessed at the Columbia Grammar School yesterday, where play in the third round of the annual tournament between Columbia, Harvard, Yale, and Princeton was continued. It was not so much the brilliancy of the combinations indulged in by the students—although quite a little of that was in evidence—that commanded attention so much as the closeness of the race between the two rivals for the intercollegiate chess premiership, Harvard and Columbia. The victory of Sewall, whose practice in the Brooklyn Chess League's championship series has made him quite a finished exponent of the game, placed Columbia temporarily in the lead, one-half a point in advance of Harvard. His play attracted much attenton. Thereafter the greatest interest centred in the games being conducted by the two crimson representatives, of whom Perry was being sorely pressed by Cook of Yale. Rice, on the other hand, was making heroic efforts to offset Columbia's gain by downing Hunt, the senior man from Princeton. Falk of Columbia at the same time had his hands quite full with Henley, the other Princetonian. All in all, the contests were noteworthy for the stubbornness with which every inch of ground was disputed.

When play stopped at 10 o'clock three games remained unfinished. Falk had meantime established a superiority and was awarded his game with Henley. Columbia, therefore, scored an additional point and took the lead. Perry of Harvard obtained a draw, having sufficiently improved his position. In the other game between Rice (Harvard) and Hunt (Princeton) no decision was rendered, Referee Helms preferring to consult his colleague, Delmar, who was absent, because of the importance of the game. Rice was a pawn to the good, but the position was blocked in such a manner as to make the possibility of his winning somewhat doubtful. Harvard consequently retired to second place, one point behind Columbia.

Following is the college record up to date:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Columbia	4½	1½	Yale	2	4
Harvard	3½	1½	Princeton	1	4

The individual scores:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Falk	1½	1½	Cook	1½	1½
Sewall	3	0	Morgan	½	2½
Perry	2½	1½	Henley	2½	½
Rice	1	1	Hunt	½	1½

The pairing for the fourth round, which will be contested to-day, (Ladies' Day,) reads as follows: Rice (Harvard) vs. Falk (Columbia;) Perry (Harvard) vs. Sewall (Columbia;) Hunt (Princeton) vs. Cook (Yale;) Henley (Princeton) vs. Morgan (Yale.)

The scores of yesterday's games follow:

FIRST TABLE—RUY LOPEZ.

FALK. Columbia. White.	HENLEY. Princeton. Black.	FALK. Columbia. White.	HENLEY. Princeton. Black.
1—P—K4	P—K4	25—Q—K8 ch.	Q—B2
2—Kt—KB3	Kt—QB3	26—QxQ ch.	RxQ
3—B—Kt5	P—Q3	27—P—B3	P—Q4
4—Kt—B3	Kt—B3	28—R—Q2	PxP
6—KtxP	B—Q2	29—R—Q8 ch.	R—B
6—KtxP	B—Q3	30—RxR ch.	KxR
7—BxKt	PxB	31—Kt—Q2	B—Kt4
8—Castles.	B—K2	32—Kt—B3	P—QR3
9—Q—Q3	Castles.	33—K—K	K—B2
10—R—K	R—K	34—K—Q2	K—K3
11—B—Q2	R—Kt	35—Kt—K4	K—Q4
12—R—K2	P—B4	36—K—B3	P—R3
13—Kt—Kt3	B—QB	37—Kt—B2	P—QR4
14—Kt—Q5	KtxKt	38—Kt—R3	P—Kt4
15—PxKt	B—Q2	39—Kt—B2	K—K3
16—P—QB4	P—QB3	40—Kt—Kt4	K—Q2
17—QR—K	B—B3	41—KtxP	K—K3
18—PxP	QBxP	42—Kt—Kt4	K—Q4
19—B—B3	BxB	43—Kt—B6ch.	K—K3
20—QxB	RxR	44—Kt—K4	K—Q4
21—RxR	Q—Q2	45—KtxKtP	K—K4
22—Kt—B	R—KB	46—Kt—K4	Resigns.
23—Q—K3	P—B4	2 hrs. 12 m.	2 hrs. 58 m.
24—K—B	P—B5

SECOND TABLE—Q. P. OPENING.

COOK. Yale. White.	PERRY. Harvard. Black.	COOK. Yale. White.	PERRY. Harvard. Black.
1. P—Q4	P—Q4	25. RxR	RxR
2. P—K3	Kt—KB3	26. BxKt	PxB
3. B—Q3	P—K3	27. RxP	B—Kt5
4. P—QB4	P—B3	28. R—Q3	R—B7ch
5. P—QR3	B—K2	29. K—B	P—Kt3.
6. Kt—Q2	PxP	30. Kt—Q4	R—B8ch
7. KtxP	P—B4	31. K—Kt2	B—K2
8. PxP	BxP	32. Kt(R5)-B6	K—B
9. P—QKt4	B—K2	33. P—KR3	B—B
10. B—Kt2	QKt—Q2	34. Kt—B	K—Kt
11. Q—B2	Q—B2	35. P—KB4	B—Kt2ch
12. R—B	P—QKt4	36. K—B2	B—K5
13. Kt—R5	QxQ	37. R—K8	B—Q4
14. RxQ	P—QR3	38. Kt—Kt3	R—B7ch
15. Kt—B3	Castles	30. K—K	BxKt
16. R—K3	R—K	40. RxB	P—KR4
17. KR—QB	B—B	41. P—KR4	K—K3
18. P—K4	P—R3	42. R—Q3	K—B4
19. P—K5	Kt—Q4	43. K—B	K—K5
20. P—Kt3	Kt(Q2)-Kt3	44. R—Q7	K—B6
21. B—Q4	B—Q2	45. R—Q8ch	K—K5
22. BxKt	KtxB	2 hrs. 36 m.	2 hrs. 29 m.
23. B—Kt4	Kt—Q4	Adjudicated a draw.
24. R—Q2	QR—B

THIRD TABLE—PETROFF DEFENSE.

SEWALL. Columbia. White.	MORGAN. Yale. Black.	SEWALL. Columbia. White.	MORGAN. Yale. Black.
1. P—K4	P—K4	33. K—Q2	K—K3
2. Kt—KB3	Kt—KB3	34. K—K2	K—K4
3. KtxP	P—Q3	35. K—K3	P—KKt4
4. Kt—KB3	KtxP	36. P—QR3	P—QR3
5. P—Q4	P—Q4	37. P—Kt3	K—Q4
6. B—Q3	B—K2	38. K—Q3	P—Kt3
7. B—K3	B—KKt5	39. P—QR4	P—K4
8. P—KR3	B—R4	40. P—QR5	P—B4
9. P—KKt4	B—Kt3	41. PxP	KxP
10. QKt—Q2	Kt—QB3	42. K—B3	P—Kt5ch
11. P—B3	Kt—KBP	43. K—Q3	K—Kt4
12. BxKt	BxB	44. K—Q4	K—B3
13. Kt—B	B—K5	45. K—B4	K—Q3
14. Kt—Kt3	BxKt	46. KxP	K—Q4
15. QxB	Q—Q2	47. K—B3	K—B4
16. Kt—B5	P—KKt3	48. P—Kt4ch	K—B3
17. Kt—K3	Castles, QR	49. K—B4	K—Kt2
18. QxBP	KtxBP	50. K—B5	K—B2
19. QxQP	Kt—B7ch	51. P—Kt5	PxP
20. K—K2	QxQch	52. KxP	K—Kt2
21. KtxQ	B—Kt4	53. P—R6ch	K—R2
22. QR—Q	KR—Kch	54. K—B5	KxP
23. K—B3	P—B3	55. K—Q5	K—Kt4
24. Kt—Kt4	R—Bch	56. K—K5	K—B3
25. K—Kt3	B—K4	57. K—B5	K—Q3
26. B—Kt3	KtxKt	58. KxP	K—K3
27. PxKt	R—Q7ch	59. K—R6	K—B3
28. RxR	BxR.	60. KxP	K—Kt4
29. B—K	R—K	61. K—Kt7	K—R5
30. K—B2	BxBch	32. K—B6	KxP
31. RxB	RxR	63. P—Kt5	Resigns.
32. KxR	K—Q2

FOURTH TABLE—FRENCH DEFENSE.

Hunt. Princeton. White.	Rice. Harvard. Black.	Hunt. Princeton. White.	Rice. Harvard. Black.
1—P—K4	P—K3	14—BxKt	BxB
2—P—Q4	P—Q4	15—B—K3	B—K2
3—PxP	PxP	16—Kt—Kt3	Q—B
4—Kt—KB3	B—K3	17—K—R	B—Q3
5—B—Q3	Kt—KB3	18—Kt—B	Kt—Q2
6—B—Kt5	QKt—Q2	19—B—B2	Kt—B3
7—Castles	B—K2	20—R—K2	R—K2
8—R—K	P—B3	21—Kt—K5	B—KB4
9—QKt—Q2	P—KR3	22—BxB	QxB
10—B—R4	Castles	23—Q—B2	QR—K
11—P—B3	R—K	24—Q—KB5	BxKt
12—Kt—B	Kt—R	25—PxB	Kt—Q2
13—Q—Q2	Kt—K5	26—P—KB4

VIENNA CHESS TOURNAMENT.

Maroczy Leads His Competitors at the End of the Seventh Round.

VIENNA, Dec. 27.—At the Chess Club in this city the seventh round of the Kolisch memorial chess tournament was contested to-day. The pairing was Prock vs. Schlechter, Brody vs. Zinkl, Maroczy vs. Wolf, Schwarz vs. Albin, Kortc vs. Alapin, and Popiel vs. Marco.

Prock lost to Schlechter, Brody and Zinkl drew, Maroczy worsted Wolf, Albin beat Schwarz, Korte and Alapin adjourned their game in an even position, and Popiel and Marco adjourned their game in favor of Marco.

The total number of points won and lost by each player to date is as follows:

Players.	Won.	Lost.	Players.	Won.	Lost.
Alapin	2	3	Popiel	2½	2½
Albin	3½	2½	Prock	0	7
Brody	4½	2½	Schlechter	4½	1½
Kortc	2½	3½	Schwarz	2½	3½
Marco	2	4	Wolf	4	3
Maroczy	5	1	Zinkl	4	3

The pairing for the eighth round, which will be played on Friday, is: Albin vs. Kortc, Wolf vs. Schwarz, Zinkl vs. Maroczy, Schlechter vs. Brody, Popiel vs. Prock, and Marco vs. Alapin.

TRIANGULAR CHESS TOURNAMENT.

Play was begun yesterday morning in the triangular chess tournament between Brown, Cornell, and the University of Pennsylvania at the rooms of the Manhattan Chess Club, six players in all, two from each college, participating. A hundred-dollar trophy has been provided for the collegians by Isaac L. Rice. The three teams were made up as follows: Brown—Clarence B. Lester and H. N. Davis. Cornell—Louis A. Karplinski and Ernest H. Riedel. Pennsylvania—R. B. Griffith and J. S. Francis.

As a result of the day's play Cornell and Pennsylvania tied with 1½ points each, while Brown had scored none.

IN THE BOWLING ALLEYS.

Two records were made by the team representing the John Hancock Company in the Life Insurance League, at Starr's Tournament Hall last night. In the second game against the Mutual Benefit the team scored 938 pins, the record for the tournament, and Gilman made 235, which is the best individual score made thus far. The John Hancock team won the third game after a close contest, beating the Mutual Life team by four pins. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Mutual Benefit—Cadiz, 130; Hornfeck, 125; Williams, 124; Jacobus, 188; Thompson, 128. Total, 745.

Mutual Life—Vredenburgh, 150; Slape and Babcock, 162; Widmer, 123; Carbonel, 138; Miller, 141. Total, 714.

SECOND GAME.

John Handcock—Haight, 185; Jentzen, 213; Baldridge, 130; Luce, 175; Gilman, 235. Total, 938.

Mutual Benefit—Cadiz, 167; Hornfeck, 167; Williams, 139; Jacobus, 149; Thompson, 191. Total, 771.

THIRD GAME.

John Hancock—Haight, 148; Jensen, 172; Baldridge, 97; Luce, 144; Gilman, 142. Total, 703.

Mutual Life—Vredenburgh, 130; Slape, 162; Babcock, 164; Carbonel, 132; Miller, 109. Total, 699.

The Columbias won two games in the Columbian League last night. They won the third game through the steady bowling of Johansmeyer, Le Beau, and Prince in the last frame. Scores.

FIRST GAME.

Belvidere—Hunken, 157; Rehbein, 219; Riedel, 187; Lockwood, 125; Heiles, 194. Total, 882.

Diamond—M. Riedel, 142; Dorscher, 182; Hartman, 143; Harder, 104; E Riedel, 137. Total, 708.

SECOND GAME.

Columbia—Johansmeyer, 169; Le Beau, 137; Koster, 138; Prince, 153; Guillaume, 142. Total, 739.

Diamond—M. Riedel, 142; Dorscher, 180; Hartman, 130; Harder, 118; E. Riedel, 132. Total, 702.

THIRD GAME.

Columbia—Johansmeyer, 179; Le Beau, 107; Koster, 157; Prince, 182; Guillaume, 169. Total, 794.

Belvidere—Newkirk, 136; Hunken, 169; J. Riedel, 142; Rehbein, 161; Heiles, 179. Total, 787.

The Elizabeth Athletic Club was beaten in three games by the New York Athletic Club in the Athletic League series, at the New York Athletic Club alleys, last night. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

New York Athletic Club—Armstrong, 192; Bell, 134; Brown, 188; Klingelhoffer, 168; Booth, 126. Total, 800.

Elizabeth Athletic Club—Lane, 159; Van Derer, 166; Olhausen, 159; Morrell, 142; Pope, 168. Total, 794.

SECOND GAME.

New York Athletic Club—Armstrong, 147; Bell, 132; Brown, 155; Klingelhoffer, 185; Booth, 198. Total, 817.

Elizabeth Athletic Club—Lane, 149; Van Derer, 160; Olhausen, 152; Morrell, 211; Pope, 127. Total, 799.

THIRD GAME.

New York Athletic Club—Armstrong, 211; Bell, 144; Brown, 171; Klingelhoffer, 161; Booth, 149. Total, 836.

Elizabeth Athletic Club—Lane, 185; Van Derer, 172; Olhausen, 116; Morrell, 177; Pope, 189. Total, 788.

The Spalding No. 1, Loyola, Cathedral, and Leo teams were the winners in the Archdiocesan League at Starr's tournament hall last night. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Holy Cross No. 1—Reynolds, 124; Galvin, 136; Reilly, 98; Morrison, 110; Doran, 104. Total, 572.

Spalding No. 1—Sheffler, 134; Davis, 168; Rogers, 143; Stafford, 113; F. Powers, 168. Total, 726.

SECOND GAME.

Loyola—E. Monahan, 118; Meagher, 170; McKay, 151; Golle, 151; W. Monahan, 169. Total, 759.

Holy Cross No. 1—Reilly, 83; Morrisey, 143; Reynolds, 147; Doran, 178; Galvin, 171. Total, 722.

THIRD GAME.

Cathedral—Smith, 162; Holahan, 115; Webb, 209; Haggertyt 142; Feeley, 144. Total, 772.

Leo—Etzel, 116; Boyle, 184; McBride, 141; Plunkett, 133; McCarthy, 152. Total, 726.

FOURTH GAME.

Cathedral—Feeley, 180; Smith, 164; Webb, 144; Haggerty, 123; Lyons, 144. Total, 755.

Spalding No. 2—Shannon, 136; Powers, 173; Clancy, 150; Henriques, 130; Markey, 157. Total, 746.

FIFTH GAME.

Loyola—E. Monahan, 128; Meagher, 151; McKay, 123; Golle, 201; W. Monanan, 132. Total, 735.

Spalding No. 1—Sheffler, 117; Davis, 112; Rogers, 122; Stafford, 167; Powers, 177. Total, 695.

SIXTH GAME.

Leo—Etzel, 141; Boyle, 136; McBride, 141; Plunkett, 168; McCarthy, 168. Total, 753.

Spalding No. 2—McAdam, 142; Shannon, 147; J. Power, 188; Clancy, 125; Markey, 180. Total, 732.

The South Paw team of Brooklyn scored a double in the American National tournament last night. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Fidelia—Wagner, 168; Kibbel, 177; Koster, 179; Foege, 189; Amann, 198. Total, 902.

Lotus—Gerdes, 165; Heath, 153; Warmuth, 140; Rehm, 201; Boemermann, 178. Total, 837.

SECOND GAME.

South Paw—Martin, 197; Medicus, 181; Rendell, 166; Bierschenk, 202; Jenkins, 153. Total, 899.

Lotus—Gerdes, 201; Heath, 164; Warmuth, 152; Rehm, 169; Boemermann, 131. Total, 817.

THIRD GAME.

South Paw—Martin, 182; Medicus, 138; Rendell, 148; Bierschenk, 192; Jenkins, 200. Total, 860.

Fidelia—Wagner, 173; Kibbel, 120; Koster, 165; Foege, 160; Amann, 194. Total, 812.

It required eleven frames to decide the second game in the Harlem League last night between the Colonial and Premier teams. The score was a tie at the end of the tenth frame. In the extra frame Colonial scored 84 and Premier 65. Premier was also beaten in the first game by Phoenix, the latter winning both its games. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Phoenix—Pearse, 170; McLean, 171; Lawrence, 156; Gross, 205; Young, 224. Total, 906.

Premier—Ullman, 140; Lichtenberg, 180; Koenig, 156; Levy, 169; Davidson, 165. Total, 790.

SECOND GAME.

Colonial—O'Brien, 166; Bell, 172; Kilmer, 127; Vogel, 201; Hedley, 202. Total, 868. Eleventh frame—84.

Premier—Ullman, 176; Lichtenberg, 168; Koenig, 214; Levy, 148; Davidson, 162. Total, 868. Eleventh frame—65.

THIRD GAME.

Phoenix—Pearse, 171; McLean, 154; Lawrence, 163; Gross, 165; Young, 174. Total, 627.

Colonial—O'Brien 165; Bell, 182; Kilmer, 159; Vogel, 177; Hedley, 131. Total, 814.

The Welcome Club won two games and the Oradell one in the Arlington National tournament last night. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Oradell—Schmidt, 154; Beimler, 175; Kaempf, 154; Dippel, 145; Reichard, 169. Total, 797.

Manhatta—Daly, 176; Thode, 142; Curley, 132; Steinmetz, 156; Witt, 171. Total, 778.

SECOND GAME.

Welcome—Bernet, 164; Texter, 165; Doerr, 138; Schmidt, 174; Wenderoth, 162. Total, 803.

Manhatta—Daly, 144; Thode, 133; Curley, 105; Steinmetz, 178; Witt, 147. Total, 707.

THIRD GAME.

Welcome—Bernet, 192; Texter, 136; Doerr, 204; Schmidt, 158; Wenderoth, 182. Total, 872.

Oradell—Schmidt, 192; Beimler, 123; Kaempf, 130; Dippel, 159; Reichard, 145. Total, 749.

In the Royal Arcanum League at the Tennis Club alleys last night, the Our No. 1 team scored 934 in its game with the New York No. 2 team. This is the best score ever rolled in the Royal Arcanum League. The games resulted as follows:

FIRST GAME.

Our No. 1—Clinch, 151; Schroeder, 184; Cantrell, 151; Ritter, 126; Wilckens, 170. Total, 782.

Colfax—Dormagen, 167; Hinds, 155; Schroeder, 145; Sherwood, 140; Maier, 143. Total, 750.

SECOND GAME.

Colfax—Dormagen, 155; Hinds, 124; Schroeder, 179; Sherwood, 196; Maier, 158. Total, 812.

Harlem—Cowles, 190; Cook, 153; Holt, 126; Linden, 177; Wyman, 147. Total, 785.

THIRD GAME.

Our No. 1—Clinch, 207; Schroeder, 174; Cantrell, 169; Ritter, 262; Wilckens, 162. Total, 934.

New York No. 2—Schroeder, 141; Faber, 120; May, 145; Crookston, 124; Snover, 156. Total, 686.

Two games were played in the Twenty-sixth Ward tournament of Brooklyn at Helgan's alleys last night. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Van Siclen—Helgan, 163; Mardig, 107; Mitchell, 151; Davis, 122; Reister, 165. Total, 708.

Glenmore—Biermann, 179; Sadler, 157; Kridahl, 191; Batch, 154; Steelman, 133. Total, 814.

SECOND GAME.

Van Siclen—Helgan, 137; Mardig, 112; Mitchell, 125; Davis, 178; Reister, 140. Total, 692.

Glenmore—Biermann, 127; Sadler, 107; Kridahl, 143; Batch, 170; Steelman, 179. Total, 731.

In the Brooklyn Royal Arcanum Sub-Tournament last night, at the Elephant Club alleys, Long Island Council won two games. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Long Island Council—Judge, 144; Henninger, 155; Wheeler, 142; Bloss, 146; Egelhoff, 173. Total, 760.

Fulton Council—White, 115; D. Miller, 148; Wilson, 124; W. Miller, 134; Silveira, 170. Total, 691.

SECOND GAME.

Fern Council—Thorn, 178; Naylor, 168; Hunt, 144; Swan, 154; Waldman, 142. Total, 986.

Fulton Council—White, 154; D. Miller, 186; Wilson, 112; W. Miller, 157; Silveira, 140. Total, 699.

THIRD GAME.

Long Island Council—Judge, 161; Henninger, 144; Wheeler, 151; Bloss, 157; Egelhoff, 176. Total, 799.

Fern Council—Thorn, 182; Naylor, 141; Hunt, 187; Swan, 114; Waldman, 123. Total, 667.

The five-man team tournament of the Twenty-third Regiment was continued last night at the armory alleys, corner of Bedford and Atlantic Avenues, Brooklyn. Companies C, I, F, E, and K caried off the honors. Scores:

FIRST SECTION.—FIRST GAME.

Company C—Stokes, 116; Candee, 128; Pulis, 196, Mayhew, 124; Butler, 160. Total, 724.

Company F—Lambert, 124; W. W. Whitlock, 148; Wiley, 159; T. N. Whitlock, 158; Putnam, 115. Total, 604.

SECOND GAME.

Company I—Perry, 118; George, 101; Ranscauer, 99; Helmstedt, 164; Maillard, 184. Total, 666.

Company K—Robinson, 142; Despard, 121; Bowie, 127; Miller, 146; Rust, 129. Total, 665.

THIRD GAME.

Company F—W. W. Whitlock, 168; Longnecker, 124; Wiley, 176; Zeidler, 130; Lambert, 133. Total, 721.

Company I—Perry, 124; George, 121; Martin, 89; Helmstedt, 106; Maillard, 163. Total, 603.

SECOND SECTION FOURTH GAME.

Company E—Sheppard, 178; Shattuck, 133; Gossman, 126; Taylor, 142; Hoyt, 159. Total, 738.

Company F—Lambert, 148; W. W. Whitlock, 137; Wiley, 89; T. N. Whitlock, 147; Putnam, 147. Total, 668.

FIFTH GAME.

Company C—Stokes, 160; Candee, 118; Pulis, 122; Mayhew, 127; Butler, 144. Total, 671.

Company E—Sheppard, 185; Shattuck, 134; Gossman, 104; Taylor, 117; Hoyt, 117. Total, 657.

SIXTH GAME.

Company I—Perry, 141; George, 101; Thorn, 110; Helmstedt, 115; Maillard, 140. Total, 607.

Company K—Smith, 105; Forman, 180; Booth, 145; Hillmann, 162; Royce, 150. Total, 702.

In the Brooklyn Royal Arcanum League tournament at Trainor's alley last evening, Bushwick Council won two games.

FIRST GAME.

Bushwick Council—Corrigan, 166; Bucken, 143; Scharfenberg, 170; Niles, 191; Baker, 187. Total, 857.

Alert Council—Fiero, 155; F. Wood, 187; Richter, 162; H. Wood, 160; Hawkins, 186. Total, 850.

SECOND GAME.

Lefferts Council—Taylor, 170; Freed, 155; Brand, 177; C. Smith, 165; Sellers, 162. Total, 829.

Alert Council—Fiero, 126; F. Wood, 153; Richter, 158; H. Wood, 139; Hawkins, 155. Total, 731.

THIRD GAME.

Lefferts Council—Taylor, 175; Freed, 138; Brand, 157; C. Smith, 142; Sellers, 150. Total, 762.

Bushwick Council—Corrigan, 173; Bucken, 149; Scharfenberg, 187; Niles, 180; Baker, 190. Total, 829.

Tournament Games To-night.

American National—Spartan, Empire, Glendale.

Columbia League—Oriental, Hamilton, Owl.

Harlem League—Lotus, Riverdale, Oriental.

Fire Insurance League—Germania, Norwich, Union, American.

Bank Clerks' League—Three games at Reid's.

Arlington National—Holschen, Homestead, Edison.

Athletic League—Roseville A. A. at Montclair A. C.

Brooklyn Royal Arcanum League—Ridgewood, Oxford, Brevoort.

Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island—Amphion, Carroll Park, Pierce.

Brooklyn Arlington National—Corinthian, Monarch No. 1, Monarch No. 2.

ANOTHER STAKE AT LEXINGTON.

$10,000 Prize for Foals of 1898 Is Transferred from Louisville.

Special to The New York Times.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 27.—The Board of Directors of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association met here this afternoon and accepted the transfer of the $10,000 Louisville prize for foals of 1898, to be trotted in 1901, to the Lexington Association. This indicates that there will be no racing by the Louisville Association in the near future. The association was suspended by the National Association for violation of its rules, and will close its gates. The Lexington Association proposes to have the race on the week following the decision of the Kentucky Futurity and guarantees to both the Louisville Association and to the nominators in the stake the payment of the money.

New officers elected for the ensuing year by the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association are as follows: President—Major P. H. Johnston; First Vice President—R. P. Stoll; Second Vice President—S. T. Harbison; Secretary—Horace W. Wilson; Treasurer—The Fayette National Bank; Directory—La Brodhead, M. Bowerman, L. V. Harkness, H. K. McAdams, R. C. Stoll.

Oakland Racing Results.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27.—Oakland results:

FIRST RACE.—Five-eighths of a mile; maidens; purse. Sis Quoc, 102 pounds, (Jenkins,) 6 to 1, won; Saul of Tarsus, 102, (J. Martin,) 2 to 1, second; Norford, 105, (H. Jones,) 4 to

BIG PANAMA CANAL PLANS

French Stockholders' Shares Taken by American Financiers.

NEW YORKERS FORM COMPANY

J. Pierpont Morgan Interested in the Project to Americanize the Great Waterway.

A plan, long under way, for the Americanization of the Panama Canal assumed something like definite shape yesterday when William Nelson Cromwell of Sullivan & Cromwell, and Francis Lynde Stetson filed articles of incorporation at Trenton, N. J., of the Panama Canal Company of America. The interests of French stockholders have been taken by Americans, and it was stated at the offices of Sullivan & Cromwell, 45 Wall Street, that the list of financiers back of the new concern included J. Edward Simmons of the Fourth National Bank, Kuhn, Loeb & Co., E. C. Converse, President of the National Tube Company; Warner Van Norden, President of the Bank of North America; August Belmont, J. & W. Seligman, George R. Sheldon, Levi P. Morton, Charles R. Flint, Capt. J. R. De Lamar, and Vernon H. Brown.

J. Pierpont Morgan is also reported to be largely interested.

The authorized capital stock of the new company is $30,000,000, $5,000,000 being first preferred stock; $15,000,000 second preferred stock, and $10,000,000 common stock. It is proposed to increase this to $120,000,000 at any early date.

The company has been incorporated to accomplish the Americanization of the Panama Canal, which will be completed under the direction of American capitalists.

It is alleged, by those prominent in the undertaking, that the Panama Canal offers the most practicable route between the Atlantic and the Pacific, and that about two-fifths of it has been completed.

A representative of Sullivan & Cromwell said yesterday:

"The cost of the completion of the work is estimated at $100,000,000. One-half of the total cost has already been expended. The curvature of the canal is a matter of importance, as easy curves facilitate and render safe the passage of large vessels. The curves upon this route are as favorable as upon any other known canal. It will be the purpose of the American company to press the completion of the work at the earliest practicable date.

"The diplomatic situation is most satisfactory. The route of the canal lies entirely in the Republic of Colombia, with which a treaty has existed since 1846, securing to the United States privileges respecting the protection of the canal.

"The time of transit will be the shortest of any possible trans-isthmian route, not over nineteen hours being required in transit.

"The plans proposed permit of the passage of vessels of the largest known construction, and provide for a system of double locks of varying size, which simplifies and facilitates operation."

INHERITANCE TAX FEES.

Legislature Will Be Asked to Stop Payment to New York Controller and County Treasurers.

ALBANY, Dec. 27.—The fees of the Controller of New York City for the collection of the collateral inheritance tax for 1898 were $15,222; County Treasurer, Kings, $5,701; County Treasurer of Albany, $3,488; County Treasurer of Erie, $3,371; County Treasurer of Westchester, $3,189; County Treasurer of Queens, $2,516; County Treasurer of Orange, $2,324; County Treasurer of Columbia, $1,170; County Treasurer of Dutchess, $1,332; County Treasurer of Rensselaer, $1,062; County Treasurer of Onondaga, $1,610; and other County Treasurers a total of $17,000.

An active attempt will be made at the session of the Legislature which begins next Wednesday, to cut off these immense fees now obtained by the Controller of New York and the County Treasurers of the other large counties in the State. The direction in which the fee cutting is to be done is the doing away with that portion of the collateral inheritance tax law which allows to these officials from 2 to 5 per cent. on all their collections of that tax, in which collection they have no real part and are charged with no expense.

Controller Morgan has recommended to the Governor, and the Governor will probably so recommend in his message, that either the fees go to the county itself, as in the case of Monroe County, which has a special law to that effect, and which last year turned in $1,000 for its own benefit, or that in view of the fact that the State now pays all the expenses of locating, appraising, and collecting the tax, that the fee go to the State.

In New York City particularly it is pointed out that with the decease in any one year of several wealthy persons the Controller would get in fees $20,000 or more in addition to his salary, while the officials employed in his office are paid out of the money collected by the State.

The inheritance tax collected by the State for the past year has exceeded $2,000,000, an increase over last year of more than $100,000. In 1898 it cost $306,907 to collect $1,900,000, and this included the fees of County Treasurers and the Controller of New York, which amounted to a sixth of that cost.

ATTACKS THE TIGHE WILL.

Alleged Grandson of "Sir" Richard Wants Revocation of Probate in $1,800,000 Estate.

A petition was filed in the Surrogate's Court yesterday, in an application to revoke the probate of a will which involves a fight for an estate estimated at $1,800,000. The petitioner, who was represented by Campbell & Hance, is Thomas A. Tighe of this city a victim of paralysis, and the will in question is that of Richard Tighe, (sometimes called by courtesy "Sir" Richard Tighe, though he was not titled,) who died in this city a few years ago, and of whom the petitioner claims to be a grandson.

Thomas A. Tighe was not mentioned in the will of Richard Tighe, which named a large number of cousins and others as legatees, including, in this city, Carrie Carter, 513½ East One Hundred and Thirteenth Street; Ellen C. Goldschmidt, 12 East Fifty-eighth Street; Augusta S. Hochstaetter, 45 Fifth Avenue, and Louise M. Peckham, 31 Fifth Avenue. Richard Tighe Wainwright and several others of Rye, N. Y., and a good many people in County Westmeath, Ireland, were also named in the instrument, which was dated March 27, 1884, and which was admitted by Surrogate Fitzgerald to probate Oct. 20, 1898. The principal reasons advanced by the petitioner for setting the will aside are that the testator was not of sound mind when he made the will, that it had been altered after execution, and that fraud and undue influence were used. The attorneys representing the defense, Strong & Cadwalader, and Miller, Peckham & Dixon, entered a general denial to all these allegations.

The papers were left for Surrogate Fitzgerald's inspection, and Jan. 8 was set as the date on which the parties should again appear and learn whether or not the Surrogate would let the case go to a jury.

Speaker Nixon's Mother Dead.

ALBANY, Dec. 27.—Mrs. L. A. Nixon, mother of Speaker of the Assembly S. Fred Nixon, died in this city at an early hour this morning. She came to the city from her home at Mayville, Chautauqua County, on Thursday last, and within a few hours after her arrival was taken ill. The best medical attendance was given, but the physicians could not save her. Speaker Nixon was at her bedside when she died.

Shot His Wife and Himself.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Dec. 27.—Frank B. Coe shot and killed his wife to-day and then shot himself. They were found side by side. Mrs. Coe is dead, but Coe is still living, and was taken to the hospital. He is an employe of the Ohio Southern Railway. Jealousy is thought to be the cause of the tragedy.

Milwaukee Alderman Kills Himself.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 27.—Alderman George Hill of the First Ward committed suicide at his home to-day by shooting himself through the head. Worry over a street railway ordinance is said to be the cause for the act. Alderman Hill was a Democrat and supported the ordinance. He was thirty-two years old and married.

BEWARE of Imitations of

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT

Look for this exact signature in Blue on the wrapper: Liebig

NEW YORKERS GET A CONTRACT.

Underbid the British for Electric Feeders for Glasgow Tramways.

GLASGOW, Dec. 27.—The corporation of this city has accepted the bid of a New York company for electric feeders for the Glasgow tramways, at £151,000, or £10,000 below the lowest British offer.

PLAGUE RAGES AT NOUMEA.

Causes Many Deaths in the New Caledonian Settlement.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Dec. 27.—The British Consul at Noumea confirms the report that the plague in a severe type is raging and that many deaths from that cause have occurred in New Caledonia. The Governments of Australia have taken stringent precautions for quarantining arrivals from Noumea.

FRENCH MINERS' STRIKE GROWS.

Dragoons Protect the Men Working in the Mines.

ST. ETIENNE, Dec. 27.—The strikers marched in procession to-day to several of the mines where partial work is proceeding, but dragoons stationed at the pit heads protected the workers and no disorder has occurred.

The strike has spread to the mines of Rive de Gier, a town in Loire, twelve miles and a half by rail from this place.

WHOLESALE MURDER IN POLAND.

Nine Members of One Family Killed After Being Tortured.

BERLIN, Dec. 27.—A horrible wholesale murder has just been committed in Osiek, near Kalisch, Poland. Nine members of the family of a wealthy landed proprietor named Kowalski were killed after frightful torture. The house was robbed of everything valuable. The mutilated corpses were discovered to-day, but there is no clue to the murderers.

WANTS GUERIN PUNISHED.

The French Prosecutor Asks for a Severe Sentence.

PARIS, Dec. 27.—The Public Prosecutor concluded his closing speech this evening before the Senate, sitting as a High Court, in the conspiracy cases. He asked that an especially severe sentence be imposed on M. Jules Guerin, the President of the Anti-Semite League.

The President of the Court, M. Falliéres, then read the decision of the High Court liberating those prisoners whose prosecution was abandoned yesterday owing to want of evidence. The prisoners in question then left the court, one of their number, M. Cailly, shouting "Vive la République" and "A bas les Juifs." The court adjourned until to-morrow.

German Officer Killed in a Duel.

BERLIN, Dec. 27.—Two officers, named Schlabitz and Kisslig, belonging to the One Hundred and Twelfth Regiment, which is garrisoned at Muelhausen, fought a fatal duel yesterday on the Swiss frontier, under previously agreed murderous conditions. Schlabitz was killed. The cause of the duel was trifling.

Travel Over a Frozen Sea.

BERLIN, Dec. 27.—An illustration of the severity of the cold throughout Germany is the fact that communication between Scherrebek and the Island of Roem is now had exclusively over a frozen arm of the North Sea, a condition which had not previously existed for twenty years.

Large Iron Works for Prussia.

BERLIN, Dec 27.—A company with a capital of 50,000,000 marks, to be known as the Vulcan Company, has just begun operations in Crefeld, Rhenish Prussia, with the intention of erecting ironworks and other industrial establishments.

Relief for Indian Famine Sufferers.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The Viceroy of India, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, telegraphs from Calcutta that there has been no increase of rain, and that 2,451,000 natives suffering from famine are now receiving relief.

King Receives Minister to Portugal.

LISBON, Dec. 27.—King Carlos to-day gave an audience to John N. Irwin, the new United States Minister to Portugal.

America's Space at Paris Exposition.

PARIS, Dec. 27.—Prof. Benjamin D. Woodward, Assistant United States Commissioner General to the Paris Exposition of 1900, this afternoon took official possession of the spaces allotted to the United States in the Buildings of Machinery and Electricity. There was no ceremony.

RUN DOWN ON A TRESTLE.

Five Persons Caught by a Railway Train—One Woman Killed.

ANDERSON, S. C., Dec. 27.—While James Jones, his wife, two children, and brother-in-law were walking on a high trestle near here last night a train suddenly came upon them. Mrs. Jones was killed, her body being much mangled. Mr. Jones, with one of the children, jumped headlong into the swamp below. The brother-in-law also jumped, and the other child fell through the trestle. All were badly injured, but it is thought they will recover.

WARSHIPS ON THE LAKES.

Joint High Commission Considered Treaty to Permit Construction.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Secretary Long stated in his recent annual report that negotiations were pending between the United States and Great Britain to overcome the treaty inhibition against building warships on the great lakes. It has transpired that the negotiations to which the Secretary of the Navy referred were those carried on by the Joint High Commission which dealt with Canadian affairs.

The American members of that commission put forward a plan of permitting the lake shipyards to build warships, with the understanding that the vessels would not be fitted up and remain on the lakes for naval service. This was accepted by the British-Canadian officials, with the additional provision that the armor should not be placed on the warships until after they had reached salt water. This provision would have been incorporated in the final arrangement had not the commission failed of an agreement because of the Alaskan boundary trouble.

MILL ORDERS MUST BE STAMPED.

Vouchers Presented by Supply Company Subject to War Tax.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 27.—United States Circuit Judge Simonton to-day handed down a decision in the case of the Granby Mercantile Company of Columbia against Weber, Collector of Internal Revenue, which involves a very interesting question of law and will add considerably to the war taxes if all mills have the same system of paying hands as some of those in this State.

Briefly stated, the Mercantile Company sold goods to Granby mill operatives, and the accounts, when presented to the Treasurer of the mill, were paid out of moneys due the operatives. To protect itself, the Mercantile Company took vouchers for each account, and under the stamp law Collector Webster held that a revenue stamp had to be attached to every order.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue sustained the Collector, and the Mercantile Company paid 2 cents each on 15,847 orders. Subsequently suit was brought for the return of the amount, but it has been refused by the Court and the complaint was to-day dismissed.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS

BOSTON AND ALBANY LEASE.

Stockholders of the Road Ratify the New York Central Agreement—Majority of Over 170,000 Shares.

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—The Boston and Albany stockholders voted to-day in favor of the lease of the road to the New York Central, the vote standing: Yes, 186,652; no, 15,971 shares. This action was taken at a special meeting of the stockholders held at the South Terminal Station.

Between 250 and 300 stockholders were present when the meeting was called to order by President William Bliss. Samuel L. Hoar, counsel for the Boston and Albany Road, moved that the contract entered into by the Directors for the lease of the road to the New York Central, on terms already known, be approved and adopted. A stir followed when it appeared that only "yes" ballots has been distributed, and calls were made for "no" votes. It appeared that no "no" ballots had been prepared. This led to accusations of unfairness against the management, and a motion was made to adjourn until "no" ballots could be printed.

Mr. Hoar opposed the motion, defending the management. He said that it was easy for a person who had to write his name on the ballot and the number of shares he represented to strike out the word "Yes" and write "No" instead. The speaker said he would volunteer to write it for any stockholder. He also made reference to the inconvenience of waiting for printed ballots. The motion to print negative ballots was voted down after Mr. Hoar finished. Mr. Hoar then moved that the stockholders pass a motion of thanks to Mr. Sargent for the "sagacity, courage, and devotion" which he had shown on behalf of the shareholders in the lease matter. The motion was carried.

The ballot on the question of the lease was then taken up. A large bundle of proxies in opposition to the lease was handed in by Mr. Bryant, and Mr. Hoar, for the Directors and the Protective Committee, passed in a much larger bundle. After the ballots had been cast a recess was taken until 4 o'clock this afternoon, when a report from the tellers was made, showing a ratification of the lease.

The matter now goes to the Legislature for final approval, and it is said that a strong attempt will be made by persons interested in the Fitchburg Railroad and by others to obtain adverse action on the part of the Legislature.

The amended lease provides for the payment of $5,500,000 to the Boston and Albany stockholders, in addition to the 8 per cent. annual dividend guaranteed. The amount formerly decided upon was $4,000,000. Payment of this amount will be made in 3½ per cent. New York Central bonds. The tenure of the lease itself is reduced from 999 years, the original proposition, to 99 years.

HOCKING VALLEY RAILWAY.

Controlling Interest Acquired in the Toledo and Ohio Central.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 27.—A statement prepared in the office of President Monsarratt of the Hocking Valley Railroad, who represents the Morgan interests of New York, has been given to the public. It is in part as follows:

"It is stated that large holders of stock of the Hocking Valley Railroad Company, including some who are also interested in the securities of other railroads, notably the Chesapeake and Ohio, and the Erie, have acquired a controlling interest in the stock of the Toledo and Ohio Central Railway Company. Through an arrangement made with the majority stockholders of the Toledo and Ohio Central, the minority stockholders of that company will be given an opportunity, if they desire, of selling their holdings on precisely the same terms as those accepted by the majority holders.

"The two properties will not be consolidated. They will be operated separately, and separate corporate organizations will be maintained, but naturally as a result of the transaction harmony and economy in operation will be arrived at, and while they will continue as rivals in business, illegal discrimination will undoubtedly be obviated." The general passenger agents of the Hocking Valley and Ohio Central Roads have already been instructed to end the rate cutting.

From other sources it is understood that the Columbus, Sandusky and Hocking is included in the deal.

THE SEABOARD CONSOLIDATION.

Florida Central and Peninsular Takes a Step Toward Absorption.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 27.—A meeting of the stockholders of the Florida Central and Peninsular Railway Company was held here to-day. Resolutions were passed authorizing the consolidation of that company with the South Bound Railway, the consolidated company to be known as the Florida Central and Peninsular Consolidated Railway Company.

It is supposed that this is the first step to a consolidation with the Seaboard Air Line, the local consolidation being opposed by the Dutch syndicate of minority stockholders, representing 22,000 shares. The opposing resolutions were all defeated by the majority stockholders, the vote being, in round figures, 219,000 shares against 22,000. Evarts, Choate & Beaman represented the Dutch syndicate through their local representative, Horace Bigbee.

Thomas F. Ryan of New York served notice on the stockholders that suits were pending in the Federal courts of North Carolina and Virginia to prevent the consolidations of roads in which Ryan is interested with the Seaboard Air Line.

CHICAGO AND EASTERN ILLINOIS.

Stockholders Meet and Decide to Purchase Two Other Roads.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—A special meeting of the stockholders of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad was held to-day, and propositions submitted and agreed upon for the purchase of the capital stock, railway property, corporate rights, and franchise of the Evansville, Terre Haute and Chicago Railway Company, and the Indiana Block Coal Railroad Company.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois operated both roads for some time under a ninety-nine-year lease. Both of them are heavily mortgaged.

CONDUCTED A SCHOOL OF CRIME.

Ohio Man Taught Little Children How to Steal in Retail Stores.

LIMA, Ohio, Dec. 27.—James Poorman, arrested here to-day, has been conducting a school of crime, according to the stories of Aggie Scanlan, aged eight years, and of others to the police. The Scanlan girl said that Poorman instructed her and several others to mingle with crowds in retail stores, to pick up articles from the counters.

How well he schooled them is evidenced by the fact that none of the children was detected, but when the police searched Poorman's room they found two trunkfuls of plunder—jewelry and small articles of value.

AN AMERICAN PACIFIC CABLE.

Capt. Squier Discusses Practicability of the Proposed Routes.

"An American Pacific Cable" was the subject of a paper read by Capt. George Owen Squier, United States Army, last evening, at a meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, held at 12 West Thirty-first Street. Capt. Squier described the route to be followed by the proposed British Pacific cable, and then discussed the proposed routes for an American cable. He declared that the northern route via Alaska, the Aleutian Islands, Siberia, and Japan would necessitate a division of receipts with the last-named country, and a large number of intermediate stations. On the other hand, a route via Honolulu, an intermediate island station, and Guam to the Philippines would enable messages to be delivered in Manila with only four cable transmissions.

"There is," Capt. Squier went on to say, "no longer any doubt as to the practicability of the Pacific cable project from a technical and engineering point of view." Capt. Squier spoke of the desirability of the cable from an economic point of view, and said the cable tolls of the War Department messages alone to and from the Philippines in the last five months had averaged monthly a rate of over $325,000 a year.

A general discussion followed. H. L. Webb said he did not believe in the Government ownership of cables, telegraph, or telephone systems, or even postal systems. The service, he said, would not be so good, and the enterprise would not flourish as well as if the cable belonged to a private corporation.

NEW PUBLICATIONS. NEW PUBLICATIONS. NEW PUBLICATIONS. NEW PUBLICATIONS.

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION

JANUARY ISSUE IS OUT TO-DAY AND ON SALE AT NEWSDEALERS' AT TEN CENTS THE COPY

From cover to cover the COMPANION is filled with the best thoughts of leading authors and artists.

Mrs. Burton Harrison's New Story, "Chateaugay"

ILLUSTRATED BY MR. C. M. RELYEA

The opening chapters of this splendid serial appear in the January number of the Woman's Home Companion. The January Companion is now ready. It contains many attractive features.

The Home-Life of "The Waltz King"
By EDWARD A. STEINER. An interesting account of the personal side of Johann Strauss

New-Year's Customs in the Orient
By BELLE M. BRAIN

The Idiot at Home
By JOHN KENDRICK BANGS

The Revival of Art and Beauty
By Dr. NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS, the popular pastor of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn

Nooks in Narcissus Land
By WALDON FAWCETT

Dining-Rooms of Yesterday and To-Day
By JOHN GILMER SPEED

Short stories of the brightest and most entertaining kind, articles of general interest, gossip for club-women, housekeepers, dressmakers, needle-workers, mothers and young girls.

If the Woman's Home Companion is not on sale at your newsdealer's, send 10 cents for sample copy, and we will also send you free our handsomely illustrated catalogue, size 8x11½ inches, of reproductions of famous paintings, explaining how to secure them without cost to you.

THE CROWELL & KIRKPATRICK CO., Publishers, Springfield, Ohio

JOHN I. SARGENT INSANE.

He Was Suspected of Killing Robert Ray Hamilton—Indicted for Killing His Wife.

EVANSTON, Wyoming, Dec. 27.—John B. Sargent of New York, who was suspected of the murder of Robert Ray Hamilton, the New Yorker whose body was found in Snake River in 1891, is incurably insane.

Sargent and Hamilton established a ranch on Snake River and lived there for some time. Later Hamilton was drowned, and Sargent was accused of the crime.

Sargent is now under indictment for the murder of his wife, and is also charged with assaulting his four-year-old daughter. He fled to New York after the latter crime was said to have been committed, but returned last Summer to stand trial. The confinement in jail caused him to become a physical wreck and to lose his mind, consequently he has been released.

Another Cave-in at Rosendale.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Dec. 27.—The mountain near the Wallkill Valley Railroad Bridge at Rosendale at 10:30 last night caved in, causing a terrific noise and arousing the entire village from slumber. Some of the inhabitants were terror stricken. Houses shook and windows rattled. The slide is greater than that of a week ago, when the canal and the road were completely blockaded. It is not believed the railroad bridge has been damaged. The cave-in was caused by the slide of a week ago, when rocks weighing thousands of tons were left in a very dangerous position. The quarry is known as the Smith quarry, and is owned by the New York and Rosendale Cement Company.

Drowned While Skating.

DOVER, N. J., Dec. 27.—Clarence Diehl, nine years of age, son of Frank Diehl, while skating on Goodale's Pond yesterday, broke through the thin ice and was drowned. The accident was witnessed by a number of the lad's companions. William McCarthy nearly lost his life attempting to rescue the drowning boy.

Fourth-Class Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The following fourth-class Postmasters were appointed to-day for New York offices: Alfred Station, D. A. Smith; East Campbell, E. F. Dunklee; Knox, Milo Fairlee; Minisink, J. M. Moore.

NOTES OF INSURANCE INTERESTS.

C. L. Sherman has resigned as Secretary of the Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Wilmington, Del.

Fisher, Martin and Wurz have been appointed Chicago agents of the National Assurance Company of Ireland.

Assistant Manager Slocum of the Aachen and Munich Fire Insurance Company of Germany, which was admitted to this State last week, has appointed Vedder and Wood of Buffalo; Stillman and Sons of Troy, and Ten Eyck and Lansing of Albany, agents of the company.

Local fire insurance managers are very anxious in regard to the possibility of large fires in the few remaining days of the year. The fire record for the year has been by far the heaviest experienced for a great many years, and especially severe as compared with the last five years. The loss in William Street last Sunday promises to be considerably larger than was first estimated. Most of the business now being written consists of renewals of lines expiring in January and February, although this week has brought in a considerable number of new lines of insurance on sugar in independent stores Nos. 9 and 10, South Brooklyn.

The Review, a London insurance journal, in its current issue publishes the first general statement of the Russian fire insurance companies for 1898. The figures are especially pertinent, because of the reported intention of several of these companies to enter the United States. The Moscow shows a net loss rate of 74.6 per cent., and a charge (expense) rate of 20.9 per cent.; the Salamander, a net loss rate of 85.9 per cent., and a charge rate of 22.2 per cent.; the First Russian, a net loss rate of 78.2 per cent., and a charge rate of 22.7 per cent.; the St. Petersburg, a net loss rate of 74.7 per cent., and charge rate of 32.8 per cent.; and the Warsaw, a net loss rate of 78.1 per cent., and a charge rate of 21.7 per cent. The year 1898 was the third under the extended system of mutual reinsurance agreements. With the exception of the Warsaw, the Commerz, and the Wolga, whose charge rates have decreased, there was a uniform increase in expenses for the several companies. A like increase in the net loss rate was experienced by all of the companies, except the Moscow, the Salamander, and the St. Petersburg.

Additional insurance on property damaged in the William Street fire of last Sunday morning was distributed as follows: On Lehn and Fink, 128 William Street, Liverpool and London and Globe, $13,000; Imperial, $5,750; Palatine, $5,000; North British and Mercantile, $5,000; Western of Toronto, $5,000; Reading, $5,000; Atlanta Home, $4,00; British America, $4,000; Hartford, $3,500; Commercial Union, $3,000; Pennsylvania, $3,000; Westchester, $3,000; New York Underwriters', $3,000; Teutonia, $2,500; Citizens' of St. Louis, $2,500; Traders' of Illinois, $2,500; Hamilton, $2,500; Continental, $2,500; Norwich Union, $2,500; Caledonian, $2,500; London Assurance, $2,500; Firemen's Fund, $2,500; Phoenix of Hartford, $2,500; American of New York, $2,500; Niagara, $2,500; United Fire, $2,500; Citizens' of New York, $2,000; Farmers' of York, $1,500; Northern, $1,500; Nassau, $1,500; Stuyvesant, $1,500; Caledonian-American, $1,500; Boston, $1,000; Delaware, $1,000. On Thurston and Benedict, at 130 William Street: Aetna, $25,000; Home, $12,500; National, $10,000; Norwich Union, $10,000; Phoenix of London, $10,000; Lancashire, $10,000; Merchants' of New Jersey, $7,000; Liverpool and London and Globe, $5,000; Manchester, $5,000; Union of London, $5,000; Royal, $5,000; Northern, $5,000; Hanover, $5,000; London and Lancashire, $5,000; Traders' of Illinois, $5,000; Pennsylvania, $5,000; German American, $5,000; London Assurance, $5,000; Boston, $5,000; Caledonian, $5,000; Firemen's Fund, $5,000; Providence-Washington, $5,000; Springfield, $5,000; Royal Exchange, $5,000; St. Paul, $2,500; Merchants' of Providence, $2,500; Kings County, $2,500; New Hampshire, $2,500; Rochester German, $2,500; Buffalo German, $2,500; Glens Falls, $2,500; Caledonian American, $2,500; Newark, $2,500; Greenwich, $2,500; North American, $2,500; Citizens' of New York, $2,500; Pelican, $2,500.

DEWEY ARCH NOT IN PERIL.

The Plans to Preserve It—Meaning of Danger Signals.

A report was printed yesterday to the effect that the Dewey arch was in a dangerous condition and that consequently danger signals were displayed to warn passers-by not to go near it. It is true that red lanterns were shown on Tuesday night and last night, but it is not correct to say that the arch, or any part of it, is in danger of falling.

The signals are simply displayed because workmen are at present engaged in placing a wooden covering on the top of the structure, to prevent the leakage of water on to the figures and bas reliefs. The sculptors who designed the arch declare that the outer surface of the "staff," of which it is made, will resist all kinds of weather for at least a year. Should, however, snow or rain get into the interior, between the burlap and the surface, and afterward freeze, it would probably result in damaging the work greatly. The covering in with wood of the top of the arch will probably be finished to-day, and in the meantime the danger signals are used in case pieces of timber should fall to the street.

It is considered fortunate that no snow has as yet fallen in this city, as the prosecution of the plans to preserve the temporary arch was not possible until recently.

It was expected that the Board of Aldermen would vote in favor yesterday of the appropriation of $2,000 for the preservation of the arch for one year. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment has sanctioned the expenditure of this sum, and the Council voted in favor of allowing it on Oct. 17. The matter did not, however, come before the Aldermen yesterday.

Killed Himself by Taking Gas.

Samuel Renfro, twenty-six years old, of Elizabethtown, Tenn., committed suicide by turning on the gas in his room at Gallagher's Hotel, 409 Sixth Avenue. He arrived in New York Dec. 15 with two blooded horses which had been pasturing on his father's farm in Tennessee for E. R. Chapman, Secretary of the Sugar Trust. He was unconscious when found yesterday morning, and died later at the New York Hospital.

Bride Forty-four Years His Junior.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Dec. 27.—Mrs. Jennie D. Condit, the nineteen-year-old daughter of Emmons Condit of Verona, was married on Sunday night to J. Edgar Williams, whose age is sixty-three years. Mr. Williams is the head of the firm of J. E. Williams & Co., dealers in remnants. He has been a member of the Freeholders of the Township Committee.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

New York City.

GREATER NEW YORK AMUSEMENT COMPANY.—Judgment for $1,445 was entered yesterday against the Greater New York Amusement Company in favor of Park & Tilford, and execution was issued to Deputy Sheriff Murray.

JAMES B. DAVENPORT.—A lis pendens was filed yesterday against real estate in this city of James B. Davenport of Stamford, Conn., against whom an attachment was obtained on Tuesday for $42,500 by John Davenport. There are three pieces of property, on Twenty-eighth Street, near Fourth Avenue, on Thirty-fifth Street, between Fifth and Sixth Avenues, and on Second Avenue, near Fiftieth Street.

PAIN'S FIREWORKS COMPANY.—Bertram Gardner, assignee of Pain's Fireworks Company, yesterday filed with the County Clerk in Brooklyn the schedules of the assets and liabilities of the company. The liabilities are $58,945.36; nominal assets, $59,920.98; actual assets, $36,505.94; contingent liabilities, being actions resulting from accidents at the World's Fair in Chicago, at Columbus, Ohio, in 1899, and at Chicago in 1895, $67,500.

W. MACHOFF.—William Machoff, dealer in house furnishing goods, toys, &c., at 1,556 Third Avenue, made an assignment yesterday to Lewis M. White, without preference. Herman Herst, Jr., his attorney, said that the liabilities are $4,500, and nominal assets about $4,000, and the assignment was caused by pressure of creditors, two of whom expected to enter judgments against him. He has been in business ten years.

GREATER NEW YORK FIRE PROTECTIVE COMPANY.—A meeting of the creditors of the Greater New York Fire Protective Company of 127 West Thirty-seventh Street, of which ex-Fire Chief Hugh Bonner is President, was held yesterday at the office of William H. Van Steenbergh, who acted as Chairman of the meeting, with Joseph B. Hickey, Secretary. A committee of three, consisting of Mr. Van Steenbergh, Frederick Pierce of 18 Rose Street, and William R. Ficke of 45 Liberty Street, was appointed to submit a plan for the reorganization of the company. Mr. Van Steenbergh said that, so far as he could learn, all the creditors present would grant an extension of time to permit the reorganization of the company, which, it was thought, could be speedily accomplished.

Out of Town.

A. VANAMAN & Co.—Patrick Davenport was appointed yesterday receiver of the assets of A. Vanaman & Co., cigar dealers at Chicago. The firm had previously filed a petition in bankruptcy, in which it placed the indebtedness at $37,000; the assets are valued at $20,000.

AMOS HERSHEY & BROTHER.—Executions aggregating $39,000 have been issued against Amos Hershey & Brother of Gordonville, Penn., who conducted a general store, coal yard, tobacco warehouse, and cigar factory at that place. They have property interests assessed at $13,000.

LEBECK & CORIN.—Lebeck & Corin, proprietors of the Leader Department Store, one of the largest establishments of its kind in Scranton, Penn., made an assignment yesterday to R. A. Zimmerman for the benefit of their creditors. The main store and a branch in Carbondale have been closed. The liabilities are estimated at $150,000; assets, not stated. It is asserted that the value of stock on hand will cover all claims against the firm.

PETITIONS IN BANKRUPTCY.

ABRAHAM MOOS.—Abraham Moos, residing at 339 West Thirtieth Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $2,549 and no assets. The debts were contracted in 1896 when he was in the millinery business.

MORITZ FRIEDMAN.—Moritz Friedman, banker of 43 Avenue D and 250 East Fourth Street, has filed a petition of bankruptcy with liabilities of $828 and nominal assets $250 in debts due him.

COCHRANE & COLQUHOUN.—A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed here yesterday against Cochrane & Colquhoun, plumbers of Yonkers, by the following creditors: Charles Hoffman, Jr., $1,641; Richardson & Boynton Co., $21; Henry R. Russell, $435. They allege that they committed an act of bankruptcy by making a general assignment on Dec. 15 to Thomas Wigley.

Discharges in Bankruptcy.

Judge Brown in the United States District Court yesterday granted discharges to twenty-two bankrupts, among whom were William E. Marsh of 26 Broadway, formerly of W. E. Marsh & Co., wholesale lumber dealers, with liabilities of $182,193; Peter A. Pincoffs and Henry Pieters, who composed the firm of Pincoffs, Pieters & Co., formerly exporters of dried fruits at 25 Stone Street, this city, and Chicago, liabilities $59,343; Isaac Stern, clerk, of 485 Eighth Avenue, formerly of M. Stern & Co., St. Louis, liabilities $80,715; John T. Grayson, mining engineer, formerly of 30 Broad Street and later of Baker-City, Oregon, liabilities, $84,682; Adolph E. and Gustav Schwab, formerly of William Schwab & Sons, album manufacturers at 252 Water Street, liabilities $167,170, and William Clark Noble, sculptor, of 144 East Thirty-fourth Street, liabilities, $28,744.

The applications of discharges in bankruptcy of James Macnaughton, ex-President of the Tradesmens National Bank, and Allan Macnaughton, ex-President of the Wool Exchange, whose liabilities were $1,129,530, came up before Judge Brown in the United States District Court yesterday. Opposition to their discharge was made by three creditors, the same in each case, viz., the Tradesmens National Bank, Hamilton Trust Company, and the People's Trust Company, and the matter went over for two weeks to give the creditors time to fill specifications of their objections.

Judgments.

The following judgments were filed yesterday, the first name being that of the debtor:

BOHLK, George—S. J. Berry and others	80
BOLNICK, Herman—S. Downing and others	208
BILLS, Amanda M.—A. H. Whiting and another	185
BOYD, James K.—C. E. Wackett	195
BROOKS, William—City of New York	109
BABCOCK, Henry C., Jr., and Edwin B.—Twelfth Ward Bank of New York	558
BROWNING, Henry L.—T. Sullivan and others, costs	44
BOSCH, William F.—L. W. Morse and others	112
BLEI, Robert—Joseph A. Cooper	1,826
BYRNES, John—S. Kalvin	62
BIMBERG, Meyer—E. Lentilhon, costs	40
BALLIN, Carrie—Third Avenue Railroad Company, costs	109
BRADY, James M.—W. B. Crosby	245
AMERICAN DIAMOND ROCK BORING Company—City of New York	43
CARY, William F.—Howard National Bank of Boston	832
CONKLIN, George W.—John J. Murray	144
DEL PINO, Gaspar—C. H. Acker and another	38
DIETER, Blanca—Julius Engel and others	326
DUFFIE, Archibald B.—S. Heinemann and another	436
DURBROW, William—Mechanics' Bank	1,607
DE BRAEKELEER, Edmund—City of New York	258
DAKIN, Millard F.—Hotel Metropole	71
ERANDON PAINT COMPANY—Samuel Carey	256
FREEMAN, William—John Polhemus Printing Company	367
GOLDSCHMIDT, Elizabeth F.—James Conley	1,121
GEISSENSETTER, Theodore—R. Hill	37
HORNE, Louther S.—W. O. Fredenberg and another	195
HEINEMANN, Charles—Cudahy Packing Company	108
HOLLISTER, Douglas—City of New York	67
HALL, Albert G.—Millard F. Smith	170
HELLER, Jacob and Bertha, also Louis C. Cohen—Samuel Goldberger	271
JAXON, John J.—Henry Straasman	224
KAUFMAN, Alexander—I. J. Cohen	283
KRESS, Henry, and Constantine Rosswog—John T. McGrath	200
KNAPP, John H.—City of New York	67
KIERNAN, Frank—S. S. McCure Company	131
KUEHN, Henry E. and Edward H. Lubers—Charles Killgore	22
LIP, GARMENT GUARD COMPANY AND Protector Binding and Facing Company—Thomas P. Byrne	588
LOENING, Albert—J. H. Fraser	271
LITTLE, Joseph J., receiver, &c.—Aetna Life Insurance Company	254
LITT, Jacob—Grant Stewart, costs	79
LIVINGSTON, Frederic—New York National Exchange Bank	449
MAY, Mary—A. M. Green and another	145
MACHOFF, William—G. W. Travers	143
MOHR, William and Jacob—Michael J. Quigley	481
MEYER, Herman—George W. Archer, trustee, &c	378
McCABE, Thomas J.—Joseph C. Hurley	280
NATIONAL ASPHALT PAVE COMPANY—City of New York	73
O'HAGEN, Francis—F. and M. Schaefer Brewing Company	1,200
O'DONNELL, Jane—Edward W. Ashley	572
PHILLIPS, Samuel C.—Sackin Brothers	74
PURDY, Nathan S.—Eliza Smith	184
PLACE, George—City of New York	46
PICKER, Charles—Beadleston & Woerz	2,945
PENNINGTON, R. G., Harper—Park & Tilford	743
ROBINSON, George C.—M. C. Spencer &

The New York Times.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NEW YORK, THURSDAY, DEC. 28, 1899.

OFFICES:

NEW YORK:
Publication Office.....41 Park Row
All American District Telegraph Offices.
WASHINGTON.....515 Fourteenth St.
LONDON: Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Sq., W.C.
SWITZERLAND, Geneva: P. Drehmann, Librairie Nouvelle, Rue du Mont Blanc.
GERMANY, Mainz: Saarbach's News Agency, Agency for Germany and Austria.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY, per Month	$0.50
DAILY, per Year	6.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Year	7.50
SUNDAY, per Year	1.50
SATURDAY, with Review of Books and Art, per Year	1.00
MONDAY, with Financial Supplement, per Year	1.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Month	0.65

For postage to foreign countries add 80 cents per month.

TWELVE PAGES.

NOT THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

The Berlin dispatch announcing that Germany has abandoned her intention to buy the Danish West Indies will be read with satisfaction in this country. The reasons why it will be better for us and better for Germany if she do not come into possession of St. Thomas, within forty miles of our own island of Puerto Rico and only a thousand miles from Key West, are many and convincing. We shall be much better friends if we are not such near neighbors. If the report from Berlin is true, Germany has been wise to be guided by the counsels of prudence and our preferences, which have probably been communicated to her.

But it cannot be true that our Government declared to Germany that her purchase of St. Thomas would constitute a "serious infringement of the Monroe doctrine." It would be nothing of the kind. The Monroe doctrine does not relate to peaceful trading in territory. It forbids attempts to control by force the destiny of Americans who have declared themselves free from old-country sovereignty. It opposes the extension of the monarchical system in this hemisphere. The buying of St. Thomas by Germany is not repugnant to its principles. It would be simply adverse to our interests and an impolitic thing for us to permit.

TRYING TO KILL THE MAIN ISSUE.

Mr. ELLIOT DANFORTH'S political pilgrimages in the South have gained him the confidence of the leaders of his party in that part of the country. We have no doubt that he finds out pretty nearly what the chief men among the Democrats down there are thinking about. But when he reports the fruits of his excursions to some inquiring newspaper man with leave to print we are embarrassed by the fact that Mr. DANFORTH is not a disinterested observer picking up political information in wayside talks with the natives just to while away the time on a trip undertaken for the improvement of his health. Mr. DANFORTH is in the political line himself, and there is always reason to fear that his talks to reporters are less frank and full than his communications with his associates in the organization.

For instance, if he should report to a grave and solemn conference of the National leaders of the Democracy that during his travels in the South he found that while the Democrats there had not abandoned 16 to 1, they acknowledged "that the situation had changed since 1896," and that the dominant issues next year were trusts and imperialism, those members of the conference who represented the silver mining interest or the fiat money idea would overflow with the most pointed questions. Mr. DANFORTH would be compelled to explain what he meant by saying that the Southern Democrats acknowledged that the situation had changed since 1896, and that free silver coinage would have to take third place—that is, no place at all—on the party's list of campaign issues next year. That statement is altogether too vague. If free silver goes to the rear it is abandoned. That is the plain English and the plain politics of it. The men the owners of silver mines hire and pay to look out for their interests in the councils of the Bryan organization know very well that if any other issue becomes really dominant the party will have to go through the contest of 1900 with an empty campaign chest. The silver-mine capitalists have only a remote and shadowy interest in anti-imperialism, and an anti-trust campaign would find many of them on the other side.

On the other hand, a campaign that was not conducted primarily in the interest of fiat money, inflation, and the repudiation of honest debts would awaken no enthusiasm among the Populists and the "debtor class." Something like one-half of the effective force and momentum of the Bryanite party would be sacrificed at once if the free coinage issue should be subordinated to the new issues of trusts and imperialism.

Moreover, Mr. DANFORTH'S report about anti-imperialistic sentiment in the South is against other and trustworthy evidence. The trade and wealth of the Southern States will be increased by the new markets which the policy that is called imperialism opens to their products. The policy of the present Administration is one that promotes the prosperity of the South, and the leaders of opinion there know it. It will be impossible to make headway in the campaign anywhere south of MASON and DIXON'S line with Mr. ATKINSON'S pamphlets as campaign text books. We cannot suppose that the Southern Democrats successfully concealed from Mr. DANFORTH their views in regard to the Philippine Islands and the Chinese market. Nor is there any evidence other than his report that the South is aflame with a warlike feeling toward the trusts.

What are we to conclude, therefore, from Mr. DANFORTH'S statement about the political situation in the South? Nothing very definite, we fear. But it cannot be very cheering reading to the supporters of W. J. BRYAN. For one thing, it shows that in Mr. DANFORTH'S judgment it will be unwise to say very much about silver next Summer. He knows that the country is surely against BRYAN on that issue. To his tactical mind the idea has evidently occurred that if the party can make a campaign without saying much about silver, BRYAN may possibly be elected on the new issues. It is his only chance, or ghost of a chance. It requires no political prophet to foresee the wild turmoil that the Populist and silver mining representatives will create in the convention if an attempt is made to adopt a platform that dodges the silver question. Silver will not win at the North, anti-imperialism will lose at the South. There remains the trust issue, which has not vitality enough to win anywhere.

When Mr. DANFORTH declares that the sentiment at the South is such that he apprehends little difficulty in "bringing about a union of the Democracy of the whole country next year," we must conclude that he sets a higher value upon his position as a regular Democrat than upon his reputation as an accurate commentator upon passing political events.

LAW AND POLICY OF THE BRITISH SEIZURES.

We observe that our esteemed contemporary The Sun differs from our interpretation of the treaty of 1794 as justifying the British seizure of American breadstuffs bound to Delagoa Bay. There is no dispute that the terms of the treaty justify the seizures, subject to the obligation of Great Britain to pay the value of the goods seized, including freight, demurrage, and a "reasonable mercantile profit." But The Sun's contention is that the war of 1812 terminated the Jay treaty, and that no subsequent treaty has contained any re-enactment of this article. Its final conclusion is that unless there is some clear proof that the provisions in question were intended for the use of the military forces of the Transvaal, "their seizure is unjustifiable."

It seems to us that our esteemed contemporary speaks very much at its ease in deciding offhand that the treaty of 1794, not having been re-enacted, was abrogated by the war of 1812. It seemed to us, on the contrary, that this treaty, or this clause of it, was one of the provisions which at most are suspended during war, and revive at the conclusion of peace. Evidently that is the view which has been taken by the legal advisers of the British Government. Without explicit instructions, founded on such advice, no naval officer would have ventured to seize, as contraband of war, the property of neutrals, not recognized by general international law as contraband of war, and in this list provisions are not included.

The question which in this instance The Sun decides offhand is one of the most puzzling in international law. It is the question of the effect of a war upon treaties between the belligerents. The text writers treat it with extreme caution, and go far toward saying that every case must be judged upon its own individual merits. That all treaties are abrogated by war is a proposition as repugnant to diplomatic history as it is to common sense. If it had been accepted, Great Britain would have had to reënact, in the treaty of peace which closed the war of 1812, the treaty of peace by which she had previously acknowledged the independence of the United States. On the contrary, in more than one of its clauses, the treaty of Ghent assumes the validity of certain minor clauses of the treaty of 1783, and, without expressly reënacting them, provides machinery for carying them into effect. There are two rules which we have maintained upon the subject. One is that "such obligations of treaties as are transient are dissolved by a subsequent war between the parties." The other is that "treaties stipulating for a permanent arrangement of territorial and other national rights are at most suspended by war and revive at peace, unless they are waived by the parties or new and repugnant stipulations are made." Perhaps as safe a general statement as could be made is that, so far as concerns the substantial and permanent relations and interests of the parties, the "status quo post bellum" is the "status quo ante bellum," except in so far as this is expressly modified by the treaty of peace. If we adopt this statement of the case the provisions of the treaty of 1794, relating to the seizure of neutral goods not contraband of war "per se," are still in force, seeing that those provisions were evidently intended to amount, on each side, to a declaration of permanent national policy.

So much for the question of law. As for the question of policy it seems to concern Great Britain alone. She has taken her stand upon a treaty which binds her, whenever she seizes a cargo of provisions belonging to an American consignor, to pay him expenses—freight, demurrage, and a profit, not a profit depending upon the changes and chances of the market, but a "reasonable mercantile profit," without regard to the accuracy of his calculations. There is no reason, from the point of view of the American consignor of provisions to Delagoa Bay, why he should object to the "seizure" of the same by a customer who is prepared to pay him his outlay and profit. It is true that if he has been shipping unquestionable contraband as "provisions" he might be expected to make Rome and the Anglophobistical newspapers howl with his grievances. But we trust that none of our countrymen have been exposing themselves to this particular turn of the whirligig of time and its revenges.

So far as Great Britain is concerned, the impolicy of her action seems to be at least as clear as the lawfulness of it. Apparently the first result of the transaction would be to induce every active-minded and not too scrupulous shipper in an Atlantic port to catch a British tramp steamer, load her with flour, and start her for Delagoa Bay, profits guaranteed by the British Empire. If munitions of war were found on board the case would of course be different, and it would be in order for the shipper to express indignation at the "high-handed behavior" of the British and sympathy with an oppressed republic or two. But from the British point of view, even conceding everything that the British may claim as plausible, the seizure of these vessels and cargoes betokens the seriousness, bordering upon desperation, of this "little war" in the Transvaal. If provisions are to be treated as contraband of war, then, whenever Great Britain is engaged in a European war, her own doctrine may be used against her. If provisions are contraband of war then she will not be able, when she is at war, to send out a single ship laden with provisions from an American port without convoying it with a squadron able to beat any opposing force it may fall in with. It is, for herself, a very serious precedent she is engaged in establishing.

THE TALKING FENIANS.

The only serious comment to be made upon the mouthings of Irish Nationalist agitators in various parts of the country about an intended invasion of Canada is that they are not to be taken seriously. The stories about an army of a hundred thousand men, well armed with Springfield rifles and "handy with the bayonet," who stand ready to respond to the call to cross the Canadian border have a fine flavor of Irish humor about them that excites in the listener quite other emotions than alarm. The amusement to which this Fenian talk gives rise is heightened by the statement that the former Fenian demonstration against Canada failed because there were too many Captains and Colonels, but that the present army is well disciplined and efficient.

While there is no degree of likelihood that the neutrality laws of the United States will have to be invoked to prevent or punish any attempt to disturb the Canadians in their Winter meditations, it may satisfy the curiosity of some part of the public to know that the section of the Revised Statutes relating to this class of offenses reads as follows:

Sec. 5,286. Every person who within the territory or jurisdiction of the United States begins, or sets on foot, or provides, or prepares the means for, any military expedition or enterprise to be carried on from thence against the territory or dominions of any foreign Prince or State, or of any colony, district, or people with whom the United States are at peace, shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor and shall be fined not exceeding $3,000 and imprisoned not more than three years.

Of course the behavior of the Irish Nationalists is open to the gravest objection on grounds of taste. Those Americans who are not of such recent immigration or near foreign descent as to look at the Boer war altogether from the point of view of European politics and prejudices try to find some basis of right and justice for their opinions. The Irish Nationalists need and habitually accept no basis for any opinion save hatred of England. Under the cover of American citizenship they continue to preach and defend their detestable policy of violence against a friendly nation. So many of them as are of American birth show themselves to be unworthy of their heritage. Those who have become citizens by naturalization must have forgotten their oath forswearing allegiance to the Queen, for clearly that oath binds them to lay aside not only fealty, but all interest and participation in British political affairs.

The free discussion of the right and wrong of the Boer war and of our interest as a nation in its results is in nowise unbecoming. But resolutions passed by legislative bodies expressing sympathy with the Boers and the planning, even on paper, of enterprises calculated and intended to embarrass England are evidence of an imperfect conception of the obligations of American citizenship.

THE NEW ENGINEER AND RAMAPO.

It is pleasant to receive from all quarters such assurances concerning the capacity and integrity of the new engineer of the Aqueduct Commission, the successor of Mr. FTELEY. It is especially reassuring to know that Mr. HILL has been an associate of Mr. CROES. From that association the ideas of Mr. CROES about water supply can hardly have helped making their way into the mind of his former associate. And they are ideas which have commended themselves to serious and unofficial students of the question of water supply.

As we have frequently had occasion to point out since Mr. CROES appeared before the Board of Estimate as an expert witness on behalf of the Controller, there is nothing sensational about his prescription for the trouble with the water supply. It is the old and homely advice to save at the spigot rather than to spill at the bung. Nothing in Mr. MOSS'S report of his investigation is more conclusive than his exhibition of the constituted authorities, meaning particularly Mr. DALTON and incidentally Mr. HOLAHAN, with reference to this question. His abridgement of the testimony of the astonishing Mr. DALTON makes it at least doubtful whether that official, by reason of want of education, does not actually believe a good part of what he says about the water supply, does not actually believe that the only thing for New York to do, in order to evade the perils of a water famine, is not to close a contract with a corporation about the facilities of which or the responsibility of which he admits he knows nothing, at the rate of five millions a year for forty years. A mind, if it may be called so, like that of Mr. DALTON is quite capable of shedding evidence and argument such as Mr. CROES adduced, as a duck's back or the old down-town pipes shed water.

Let us not be too hard upon poor Mr. DALTON. But let us at the same time not forget that he actually has a voice and a vote about the ways and means of averting a water famine. Mr. CROES has said, and has gone near to proving, that all this fuss about new sources of supply is premature, that, with proper economy in the use of water, we are safe from a water famine for many years to come. It was a probable case for action and a clear case for investigation that he made out. Whether it was mental incapacity or moral corruption that has prevented Messrs. HOLAHAN and DALTON from seeing that he made out any case at all makes no difference to the people of New York. They are simply forced to let a scandalous job go through or else to scare these two remarkable public servants. It is already clear that they are not to be reasoned with, that reasoning is thrown away on them, and that intimidation alone will compel them to desist from prosecuting the nefarious scheme to which they are fully committed.

There are various measures of intimidation. One of them is the independent and impartial investigation which the Merchants' Association has undertaken, and the result of which the cheerful HOLAHAN has predicted will be an approval of his and Mr. DALTON'S amazing scheme. Another is the opinion of an accomplished and experienced engineer of the Aqueduct Commission. This there is every reason for expecting from Mr. HILL. But it is evidently as necessary, for the performance of this public service, that the new engineer should be furnished with a backbone as that he should be furnished with brains.

GENERAL NOTES.

It may become necessary to call upon Ignatius Donnelly of Minnesota to settle who wrote the gold-standard plank in the Republican National platform of 1896.

* * *

A Kansas man is suing for divorce partly and mainly on the ground that his wife nags him so persistently and has done it so long that he hasn't the heart even to say grace at the table.

* * *

The first Constitutional Convention in Ohio contained as delegates five who afterward were elected Governor of the State and four who became United States Senators.

* * *

An old woman arrested for street begging in Marquette, Mich., had in her dirty, ragged clothing $3,445 in bills and eleven one-hundred-dollar United States 4 per cent. bonds. She was sent to an asylum, the authorities urging that a woman who thus made a savings bank of her clothes must be insane.

* * *

The senior class at Emory College, Oxford, Ga., has formed itself into a society for the purpose of compiling a bibliography of Georgia authors from the earliest Colonial days to the present time. State Librarian James B. Brown, who is making a collection of books by Georgia authors, has already obtained about two hundred.

* * *

The stand of colors won by Col. Elmer E. Ellsworth's United States Zouave Cadets in competition in Chicago in 1859, and the next year on an extensive tour defended by them against all drill companies in the United States and Canada, has been intrusted by the surviving members of the company to the Chicago Historical Society for perpetual keeping.

NUGGETS.

Harshly Stated.

"What is ambition, Uncle Theodore?"

"It is a man's conceited idea that he is big enough to become popular outside of his own town."—Indianapolis Journal.

Where He Gets It.

"Your son George talks well for his years."

"Yes, but you ought to hear his mother."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Undaunted.

Sue Perstishus—Goodness! You wouldn't start on a journey on Friday, would you?

Miss Schoffer—I'd start for Europe on thirteen Fridays.—Philadelphia Record.

In a Circle.

"It is really wonderful," mused the deep thinker, "how a thing or an entity will have its beginning, run its course, and end exactly as it began. You follow me, I hope?"

"I think I do," said the worldly one. "For instance, a man will get a jug. Immediately a jag is developed. Then he may produce a jig, and very likely he'll wind up in the jug."—Philadelphia Press.

CY NYE, PREVARICATOR.

Holman F. Day in Lewiston Journal.

Cy Nye
Thunder, how he'll lie!
Never has to stop and think—never has to try,
Says he had a settin' hen that acted clean possessed,
Says a kag o' powder couldn't shake her off her nest.
Didn't mind a flannel rag tied around her tail,
—Ev'ry now and then he'd take 'er, souse 'er in a pail;
Never had the least effect—feathers even friz;
Then she set and pecked the ice, but 'tended right to biz.
'Peared to care for nothin' else 'cept to set and set;
Didn't seem to care a tunket what she drunk or et.
Cy he said he got so mad he thought he'd use 'er ha'ash,
So he went to feedin' on 'er hemlock sawdust mash.
Hen she gobbled down the stuff, reg'lar as could be,
"Reely seemed to fat 'er up," Cy says he to me;
"Shows the power of the mind when it gets a clutch;
Hen imagined it was bran—helped 'er just as much."
Then she hid her nest away—laid a dozen eggs;
'Leven chickens that she hatched all had wooden legs,
T'other egg it wouldn't hatch—solid junk o' wood,
Hen's a-wrastlin' with it yet—thinks the thing is good.
Thunder, how he'll lie!
But he's dry.
—That Cy.

Cy Nye
Tells another lie:
Claims to be the strongest man around here; this is why:
Says he bought a side o' beef up to Johnson's store,
Tucked it underneath his arm—didn't mind it more
Than a pound o' pickled tripe; sauntered down the road,
Got to ponderin' Bible texts—clean forgot his load.
All to once he chanced to think he meant to get some meat,
Hustled back to Johnson's store t'other end the street,
Bought another side o' beef. The boys commenced to laugh,
—Vummed he hadn't sensed till then he lugged the other half.
Can't deny
T' he can lie,
—That Cy.

POLITICS AND THE TRUSTS

President Hadley of Yale Discusses Them at Ithaca.

NEED FOR RADICAL REFORMS

The American Economic Association Warned of Dangers That Confront the People Under New Conditions.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, Dec. 27.—At the opening session of the twelfth annual meeting of the American Economic Association held here this morning President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale University, who is also President of the association, delivered his annual address, taking for his subject "Economic Theory and Political Morality."

After tracing the outlines of a system of political ethics, he said:

"Does the theory of competition give ground for the view that a struggle between different parts for their class interests works out in an economic harmony? Not at all.

"What the champion of competition holds is rather that the struggles of each man for himself prevent others, who are in a similar position, from taking undue advantage over their fellow-men. It is not a conflict between classes, but a conflict within classes, which he seeks to perpetuate; and he who would perpetuate it because he can prove, or thinks that he can prove, that it conduces to a common interest more wide and more lasting than those which the individual classes, if organized into trusts or trades unions, would seek to pursue.

"The success of competition, so far from warranting us in the adoption of a system of political morality and a theory of political progress, based on advocacy of class interests, proves rather the advantage and even the necessity of subordinating those interests to a wider common good.

"With the institution of representative government the case is somewhat different. Here we have an organization of localities and classes, and a recognition of such classes in the actual work of government. It would, therefore, seem as though the success of this system were a powerful argument on the side of that theory of politics and of ethics which regards the good of the whole community as best to be reached by a compromise between the aims of different sections of the community. But a profounder study of Constitutional history leads to an opposite conclusion. It shows that Parliaments and Congresses, in the really great periods of their history, have been valuable, not as a field of compromise between local interests, but of information as to general ones; not for the consummation of private bargains, but for the creation of public spirit.

"In the course of the present century our representative assemblies have ceased to be places for debate. Parliaments and Congresses have become bodies for the making of laws rather than for the making of opinions. That this change has been accompanied by a loss in salutary influences of legislative bodies is, I think, unquestionable. No longer do the members strive to impress their several convictions on the whole body of which they form a part; they strive rather to form a compromise in which the interests of the part which they represent shall have adequate recognition. This substitution of compromise for conviction as the ideal of legislative activity is perhaps the greatest and most pervasive evil under which our political machinery suffers.

"The character of modern statutes as a patchwork of private demands has become only too notorious.

For these reasons, he added, the tendency had been, especially in municipal affairs, to invest more power in the hands of the executive and less in those of the legislative bodies. The abandonment of debate and the substitution of the work of negotiations had, he believed, been a frequent source of public danger.

Turning to the subject of competition in business, he continued:

"Improvements in machinery and in business organization during recent years have developed to such an extent that competition, in the old sense, is in many lines a thing of the past. It can no longer be utilized without loss of public as well as private economy. Business has become a trust, in a sense far different from that which the accidental application of this word has carried with it—a thing involving a delegation of power by the public to the hands of a few men, which they are able, if they please, to misuse to the detriment of others without being immediately overtaken by any legal or commercial penalty. The correctives to the abuse of individual selfishness in the commercial world to-day are so much less immediate and automatic than they once were that very few persons now preach unlimited competition as a means of promoting the general good. So marked, indeed, is this reaction that there is danger of our having too little confidence in individual initiative in the immediate future, and of regulating these trusts by exercise of public authority, which may prove in the long run less wise than private enterprise itself.

"A similar change is taking place in matters political as well as industrial. Not only are our municipalities giving examples of combined action in the way of public works undreamed a century ago, but our nations as a whole are undertaking yet larger combinations in the shape of colonial empires. What will be the ultimate result of this last change of National character it is far too early to predict; but this is certain, that it will necessarily be accompanied by a recognition of the fact that public office is a public trust more fully than it has been recognized in the past. A federation of States of approximately equal strength may govern one another on a principle of separate pursuits of selfish interests; but when we come to administer the affairs of a weaker nation to which we do not and cannot give political autonomy, the evils of the old system become so obvious and the need of ideals in politics becomes so exacting that even those who in their past public life have scoffed at the conception of a higher law than their own selfishness, are, under the new conditions, compelled by very shame to appeal to such a higher law. The more completely our undertakings, whether private or public, industrial or political, take the character of trusts, the more impossible does it become for those who are placed in authority to represent personal or class interests without gross violation of what we, in our every-day life, recognize as fundamental dictates of sympathy or of justice.

"Because the political and commercial methods of the past have led to compromise rather than conviction, or because the successful men of affairs must be made to compromise where he fails to convice, let us not say that all politics and all commerce is but a tissue of compromises, and that a political or commercial science which pretends to be something broader and better than this, is an illusion."

Seal Herds Rapidly Diminishing.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Renewed attention has been attracted to the Bering Sea controversy between the United States and Great Britain by the report of John M. Morton, the United States agent on the Seal Islands, who has come on to submit his report and confer with the authorities. The essential point of the report is that the seal herds have diminished 20 per cent. within the last year.

German Warships at Havana.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The German warships Nixe and Von Moltke, used as training ships for naval cadets, have arrived at Havana after a cruise in West Indian waters. It was the arrival of these ships in Haitian waters about ten days ago that caused consternation among the officials and people there. It appears, however, that the cruise of the Nixe and Von Moltke was arranged a year ago, and the call at Haitian ports was entirely devoid of significance.

Celebrate Their Golden Wedding.

ORANGE, N. J., Dec. 27.—James Brewster and Mary A. Ellor were married fifty years ago at Draylston, England, at the age of twenty-two, and last night, at their residence, 65 Marcy Avenue, East Orange, surrounded by their four children and twenty-two grandchildren, they celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding. During the civil war Mr. Brewster made knapsacks for the Government. When the war closed he moved to Elizabeth and established an oilcloth factory. He invented a number of labor-saving devices, but declined to put them to use, as he declared there were already too many people out of employment. Mr. Brewster retired from business four years ago, and has since lived in East Orange.

MAINE DEAD AT REST TO-DAY.

One Hundred and Fifty Sailors Who Died in Havana Harbor Will Be Buried in Arlington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The remains of 151 of the dead sailors of the Maine, brought from Cuba by the Texas, arrived here this morning, and were conveyed to Rosslyn, Va., opposite the District, and there transferred to wagons belonging to the Quartermaster's Department, which removed them to the burial site in Arlington Cemetery. The caskets have been placed in open hospital tents, and the guard of honor will be maintained over them until they are buried to-morrow.

The exercises will be as simple as possible. The President and members of the Cabinet and a number of naval officers are expected to attend the funeral ceremonies. The Navy Department to-day ordered a sufficient number of wreaths made to enable one to be placed on each casket.

The body of Frederick C. Holzer, an ordinary seaman killed in the explosion of the Maine, is the only one of the 151 disinterred which will not be buried at Arlington Cemetery to-morrow. The body of Holzer has been shipped to New York, where it will be received by his relatives. About thirty requests were received at the Navy Department for the bodies of the victims of the Maine disaster, but in only ten of these cases had the bodies been identified. The other twenty were either in the list of unidentified dead or among the bodies not recovered.

Owing to the confusion in which the graves were found when the dead were disinterred at Havana, the department has reluctantly decided not to extend to the relatives and friends of the other nine positively identified bodies the privilege of burying the remains at home. When the remains were interred in Colon Cemetery the ceremony was conducted with great haste, because the condition of the bodies absolutely required such action should be taken in the hot climate. As the remains were landed at Machina wharf in Havana harbor they were identified as far as possible, and each coffin was numbered. They were then taken to the cemetery, but in some cases the Superintendent of the cemetery failed to note more than the number of the row in which those coffins were placed.

In one case there were fourteen coffins containing two victims who had been positively identified. When these coffins were disenterred the numbers had become undecipherable, and it was manifestly impossible to determine which of the two were those of bodies identified at the time of burial in Havana. The department, therefore, was compelled to deny the requests except in the case of Holzer, who died in the hospital some time after the disaster, and whose grave was definitely located.

In all of the 260 victims of the disaster, two officers and 258 men, the body of one officer, Lieut. Jenkins, who was buried at Allegheny, Pa., and the bodies or portions of the bodies of 101 men were recovered. Of the latter, seventy-three were identified. The body of Assistant Engineer Merritt was not recovered, or if recovered, was unrecognizable. Twenty-five of the Maine victims were buried at Key West. Their bodies are not among those to be buried at Arlington.

TO TRY THE CLARK CONTEST.

Senator Chandler Says Inquiry Into the Charges Against the Montana Senator Will Begin Jan. 5.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Senator Chandler, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, said to-day that the committee would begin its formal inquiry into the contest over the seat of Senator Clark of Montana on Friday, Jan. 5. The counsel on both sides will be heard on that date, and they will be followed on Saturday and Monday by the witnesses for the complainants. Of these about twenty have been requested by telegraph to appear at the time mentioned. After these have been heard, it is understood that the defense will name the witnesses which it may desire to have heard in rebuttal of those called by the prosecution.

The indications are that the hearing in the case will consume considerable time. Several hundred residents of Montana have indicated a willingness to come to Washington to testify, but the committee is quite determined to hold the list down to as narrow a limit as possible, because of the expense of bringing persons from so great a distance. Among those who probably will be asked to attend are a number of members of the Legislature whose names have been mentioned in connection with the charges of bribery in the case.

The first point taken up will be the charge to the effect that thirty bills of $1,000 each were paid to one man to secure his support of Mr. Clark. The counsel for the prosecution includes ex-Senator Edmunds, Representative Campbell of Montana, ex-Representative Hartman of Montana, and Jeremiah Wilson of this city. Ex-Senator Faulkner of West Virginia is so far the only counsel of record in behalf of Mr. Clark.

THE QUESTION IN QUAY'S CASE.

Senator Beveridge Calls It One of Constitutional Construction.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 27.—Senator Beveridge to-day made the following statement concerning Senator Quay:

"The talk about Quay not having votes enough to seat him is nonsense, so are the claims that he has enough votes to seat him. Nobody knows just what the situation is. Nobody knows, for example, how I shall vote. I know that a great many other Senators are in exactly the same situation. The whole matter is a pure question of Constitutional construction. All this talk about corrupt elections, &c., has nothing to do with the case. Quay is not claiming a seat through an election. He is claiming a seat through an appointment by the Governor. The question is whether or not the Governor had a Constitutional right to appoint him.

"I have not had time yet to give the question the special study which its immense importance deserves. When I have done so, I shall know how I shall vote. For that consideration, and that consideration alone, will determine the matter. This also is the case with a great number of other Senators."

ACTS ON SHIPPERS' REQUEST.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission Sends Testimony on Freight Rates to the Attorney General.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission decided to-day to comply with the request of the shippers of freight to transmit to the Attorney General of the United States a transcript of the evidence taken before the commission last week on the increase in the classification of freight by the Official Classification Commission.

The shippers in their petition urged that the testimony taken showed a violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust act. Their desire is that the Attorney General shall take action by injunction or otherwise to restrain the railroads from putting the classification into effect on Jan. 1.

SMALLPOX AMONG INDIANS.

The Department Has No Money to Buy Vaccine Points.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Smallpox among the Indians in the Indian Territory and at Crow Creek Agency, in South Dakota, and other reservations has assumed serious phases. Congress immediately after reconvening will be asked for an appropriation of $50,000 with which to stamp out the epidemic. The department has been telegraphed to from a number of agencies to forward vaccine points, but is confronted by a lack of funds.

TO AMEND THE SENATE RULES.

Mr. Mason Will Try Again to Have Them Changed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Senator Mason intends to renew his fight for a change in the Senate rules on debate. He wants the previous question introduced. Senators of more experience than he have made similar attempts in the past without success.

When Mr. Mason first appeared in the Senate he introduced such an amendment, but it was promptly smothered in the Committee on Rules. He is fully determined, however, to try again, and apparently believes that he has improved his standing in the Senate to such extent that this time his proposition will receive more serious consideration.

Died Almost a Centenarian.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Dec. 27.—Daniel Mahl, whose one hundredth birthday was to have been celebrated one month from to-day, with a grand family reunion of 130 persons, died at St. Johnsburg this morning. He was born in Germany.

REFORM IN CUBAN PRISONS

Gen. Wood Will Endeavor to Remedy All Irregularities.

PRISONERS MUST BE TRIED

Many Have Been Confined for Months Without a Trial—Governor General Wants List of These.

HAVANA, Dec. 27.—Gen. Wood says that one of the first things he looked into after his arrival was the management of Cuban prisons. Investigation has proved that, even among American prisoners alone, there has been an average detention of five months without trial. There are many things calling for immediate attention, particularly in the matter of sleeping accommodations. Reforms will be promptly instituted in this respect, and hammocks will be supplied so that the prisoners will not be compelled to sleep on the bare floors, as is now the case with those who are without friends or money. Only a few who are able to pay for them have cots.

One of the first things taken in hand by Gen. Wood as Military Governor of Santiago was prison management. It was his custom then to make a personal visit to the local jail once a week and to go through the entire list of those confined, summarily disposing of the charges against those who were obviously unjustly detained and releasing those who had been imprisoned for a long period on some trifling ground.

He intends to make weekly visits here also until a majority of the existing abuses are abated, and he is trying to devise means that will insure prompt trials for persons accused.

So far as the Havana penitentiary is concerned, this has been found to be in a perfectly satisfactory condition. It is clean, airy, well drained, and well ventilated, and the inmates seem healthy.

A lawyer who recently visited several of the island prisons says the Lewis report gives only a portion of the terrible truth. Early last January Gen. Ludlow appointed a military board to inquire into the question. Over 800 prisoners were reported upon, and Gen. Ludlow issued orders for the release of more than 100. Before fifty had been discharged, however, Gen. Brooke ordered a halt, and the matter was referred to the Cabinet Secretaries, since which time practically nothing has been done.

Men whom Gen. Ludlow ordered to be released are still held, after three or four years of waiting without trial. Gen. Wood thinks that when his order goes into effect calling upon all judicial officers and military commanders to send complete lists of prisoners awaiting trial the congestion of untried prisoners will be relieved within fifteen days, and he does not intend that similar conditions shall arise again.

CUBAN OFFICIALS REARRESTED.

Custom House Appraisers Will Be Vigorously Prosecuted for Alleged Frauds—Brokers Also Accused.

HAVANA, Dec. 27.—Warrants are out for the rearrest of three of the Custom House Appraisers recently released. Two Custom House brokers and six other men were arrested to-day in connection with the charge of defrauding the Government, but were released in $2,000 bail each. The cases will be pushed to the uttermost. Considerable difficulty is being experienced in obtaining evidence with reference to most of the importers and their employes, because nearly all the best families in Havana have relatives who are believed to be implicated.

The investigation shows a widespread conspiracy to defraud. Heretofore Collector Bliss, when he has had persons arrested for fraud, has been referred to the Governor General's secretary and has found the entire judicial system apparently banded against him and against conviction. Now the matter seems to have been taken up by the military authorities, who are determined that the courts shall act with firmness, and that decisions shall be impartial, and in accordance with the evidence.

Legal talent of a high order has been engaged by both sides. The Government intends, if possible, to make an example of those against whom there is absolute proof, and will endeavor to strike terror to the others. The corrupt system which it is sought to break down has existed for more than a century, and scarcely any one has looked upon it until the present proceedings were instituted, as a curable evil. Probably some weeks will elapse before the cases can be brought to trial.

CUBA INVITES IMMIGRATION.

Circular of Invitation Issued to Residents of Foreign Countries.

HAVANA, Dec. 27.—The Cuban Planters' Association, in view of the alleged urgent need of immigration to Cuba, have finally published the expected circular for circulation in Spain and other foreign countries. The circular says:

"Spaniards will find a home in Cuba, the only thing different being the Government. Cuba can easily support 6,000,000 people, whereas at present there are only 1,500,000 in the island. The climate is excellent, and a good future is assured to the steady laborer."

Land for the Thurston Home.

The Thurston Memorial Home Fund, for the establishment of a Home for Orphans and Homeless Children in Cuba, has been granted forty acres of land near Gloria, Cuba. Mr. and Mrs. George E. Andrews will leave for Cuba Saturday to take possession of the land for the home and to perfect plans for the building of the orphanage. Dr. Seneca Howland, the Treasurer of the fund, says he has received many contributions.

GEN. CARPENTER RETIRED.

Six Other Generals Likely to be Retired After Transfer to Regulars.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Gen. Gilbert S. Carpenter, who was recently confirmed as Brigadier General in the regular army, has been placed on the retired list on his own application, after thirty years' active service. His last assignment was in command of the Eighteenth Infantry in the Philippines. He has been detached from further service in the field and ordered home. His retirement leaves two vacancies in the list of Brigadier Generals, and results in promotions in every grade of the line, including the promotion of Lieut. Col. J. M. J. Sanno of the Fourth Infantry to be Colonel of the Eighteenth Infantry.

The two vacancies in the list of Brigadier Generals will be filled on the reassembling of Congress by the promotion and retirement of several officers who have distinguished themselves in action in the recent war. It is generally supposed that Gens. MacArthur, Wilson, Lee, Wheeler, Bates, Young, Ludlow, and Wheaton, all of whom hold volunteer commissions, are to be made Brigadier Generals in the regular establishment, and that all but two of the number will be immediately retired.

Gen. MacArthur undoubtedly will be retained in active service, but there is less certainty as to the other general officer. The death of Gen. Lawton left a vacancy in the list of Major Generals of Volunteers which will be filled by the promotion of either Gen. Bates, Gen. Young, or Gen. Wheaton, all of whom are on duty in the Philippines. This appointment will be made early next week.

NEW TORPEDO BOAT LAUNCHED.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 27.—Despite the fact that it was snowing heavily, a large crowd assembled at the Trigg shipyard this afternoon to witness the launching of the torpedo boat Stockton. The Stockton is a sister boat to the Shubrick, which was launched at the Trigg yard some weeks ago.

Miss Katherin Stockton, the oldest unmarried daughter of the oldest son of Commodore Stockton, christened the boat and the affair went off without the slightest hitch. The Stockton is 175 feet long, of 17 feet beam, and 4 feet 8 inches draught, and is expected to make twenty-six knots on her trial trip.

Col. Volkmar Ordered to Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Col. William J. Volkmar, Assistant Adjutant General, has been relieved from duty in the Department of Colorado, and ordered to temporary duty at New York, in the Department of the East, at the completion of which he will proceed to Havana, Cuba, for assignment to duty as Adjutant General in the Division of Cuba.

REBELS AGAIN DEFEATED

Col. Lockett Scatters a Strong Force Near Montalban.

THE ENEMY'S LOSS IS HEAVY

Americans Tried to Surround Insurgents to Cut Off Escape, but Nature of Country Prevented.

MANILA, Dec. 27.—Col. Lockett, with a force of 2,500, including artillery, attacked this morning a strong force of insurgents intrenched in the mountains near Montalban, about five miles northeast of San Mateo. The enemy were completely routed, the Americans pursuing them through the hills, amid which they fled in every direction.

Four Americans were wounded. The Filipino loss was large, resulting from a heavy infantry and artillery fire for three hours into the trenches.

It is supposed that the insurgents were those who were driven out of San Mateo on the day Gen. Lawton was killed. They numbered probably 1,000.

A dozen lines of insurgent trenches covered the steep trail through the hills, and likewise the valley below, along which the Americans passed. The main attacking party consisted of the Forty-sixth Volunteer Infantry, a troop of cavalry, and artillery, Col. Lockett commanding in person. The rest of the command operated from remote points in an endeavor to carry out Col. Lockett's plan of throwing his lines around the enemy, and thus cutting off retreat. The nature of the mountainous country made it impracticable to execute this movement successfully.

After the insurgents began to run there was a vain attempt to use artillery.

THE FIGHT NEAR SAN JACINTO.

Battle in Which Logan Was Killed Cost Filipinos More Men Than Any Other of the Insurrection.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Mail advices have reached the War Department in regard to the crushing defeat administered by Wheaton's brigade to the insurgents near San Jacinto early in November, in which engagement Major John A. Logan lost his life.

According to the correspondent of The Manila American, the Thirty-third Infantry, under Col. Hare, encountered a force of the enemy between San Fabian and San Jacinto, and brought on one of the sharpest engagements of the war, resulting in the death of more insurgents than in any other fight since the beginning of the insurrection. The battle raged for two hours, and at its conclusion seventy-seven dead Filipinos were found in the trenches. Many wounded were found hidden in the high grass and creek bottoms.

It is estimated that over one hundred insurgents were killed in the fight, from twenty to thirty being found dead together in several places. Twenty-nine prisoners and 100 rifles were captured. The Americans lost one officer killed and six men wounded.

The officer killed was Major John A. Logan, who was shot through the head during the first few minutes of the engagement while at the head of his battalion, which formed an advance guard. He was in the act of assisting a wounded soldier, and was hit by a Mauser bullet, fired by a sharpshooter concealed in the top of a cocoanut tree. He died a few hours later.

A reconnoissance on the Tuesday preceding, made by Major Buck's battalion of the Thirteenth Infantry, in the vicinity of San Jacinto, developed nothing of importance, but later Gen. Wheaton received information that the enemy was assembling in strong force there for the purpose of preventing our control of the road from Dagupan north through San Jacinto, by which it was considered probable that Aguinaldo's Tarlac army would attempt to retreat. The Thirty-third was ordered out, accompanied by a Gatling gun, with a detachment of the Thirteenth under the command of Capt. Howland of Gen. Wheaton's staff.

The troops encountered five miles of the worst road ever found in Luzon, being a succession of creeks and miry ditches, in which the men sank to their waists in mud and water. Every bridge was unserviceable and had to be repaired where possible, but in most cases the men, with horses and guns, plunged into the quagmire and struggled through as they could. Nothing but the indomitable energy of Capt. Howland enabled the Gatling to get into action. A score of times it was necessary to unhitch the horses and lead them around through rice fields, while a hundred soldiers dragged the gun over ditches or broken bridges.

The fight was opened by the insurgents two miles from San Jacinto, while the leading battalion was passing a clump of native houses, surrounded by a grove of cocoanut trees, and the men were knee deep in mud. The first fire came from the sharpshooters in trees and houses and from a small trench across the road, all at close range. There was also a heavy fire from thickets more distant, to the right and left. The aim of the sharpshooters was deadly, and was directed at the officers, for the first five men that fell wore either chevrons or shoulder straps. The other officer hit besides Major Logan was Captain Green. He was also shot from a tree, but his wound was slight.

The regiment never wavered a moment. The crack marksmen it contains soon located the natives and began knocking them out of trees like squirrels. The men rushed at the trench, through the soft mud, waist deep, and passed over it, leaving four dead Filipinos within. At the same time the regiment deployed as skirmishers, Major Logan's battalion in the centre. Major Cronin's was on the right and Major Marsh's on the left. Col. Hare and Lieut. Col. Brereton directed the general movement. The skirmish line, which was nearly two miles long, rushed forward rapidly through water-soaked rice fields, ditches, creeks, and thickets, firing all the time and doing deadly execution. The Filipinos made the best stand for a long time, several cases being reported of the rebels remaining in position behind cover until the Americans were within twenty feet of them.

Major Marsh's battalion surprised a trench full of insurgents by coming up on their flank. They poured a terrible fire along the trench, slaughtering nearly all in it. Just before entering the town the Gatling did good execution by killing five of a party that was guarding a broken bridge, and afterward swept the country beyond the town, driving 150 rebels into the hills. Major Marsh's battalion entered the town first and captured a large battle flag that was floating over a convent. Not a native was left in the town when the troops arrived, except a blind boy and one woman.

Most of the survivors of the insurgent force are supposed to have escaped toward Magaldon or Dagupan. It was impossible to pursue them further, as the troops were exhausted, the ammunition was low, and the troops had only two days' rations with them, and no possibility of getting further supplies from San Fabian, owing to the condition of the road. The column camped for the night at San Jacinto.

Five more rebels were killed during the night by the outposts. Among the bodies found was that of a Lieutenant Colonel, supposed to have been in command of the rebels at that point.

BRIBERY IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Gen. Otis Believes There May Be Some Foundation for Charges.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The Adjutant General has received a copy of an order recently issued by Gen. Otis, aiming at the suppression of bribery, which, it is reported, has been extensively practiced in the Philippines. Gen. Otis says the persistence of these reports touching both the military and civil service in the islands has forced him to the conclusion that there may be some foundation for the general charge. He cautions all commanding officers, heads of departments, and others in authority, to probe to the bottom any such reports that may reach them, and announces that all offenses of this nature will be suppressed with a strong hand.

TO SEND OFFICERS' BODIES HOME.

The Thomas Will Carry Those of Lawton, Logan, and Armstrong.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Quartermaster General Ludington received a cable message to-day from Col. Miller of the Quartermaster's Department at Manila, saying that arrangements have been made to send home the remains of Major Gen. Lawton, Major John A. Logan, Jr., and Major Armstrong on the transport Thomas, which will leave on the 30th inst. for San Francisco.

PHILIPPINE CASUALTIES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Gen. Otis sent to the War Department to-day the following list of casualties not previously reported:

Killed: In action—engagement near Banna, Dec. 11, Third Cavalry, A, Harry Swegger, Charles W. Frasee; action against Romblon, Panay, Dec. 10, Eighteenth Infantry, C, Charles J. Feley.

Wounded—William J. Sheesey, Hospital Corps, abdomen and head, slight; wounded and taken prisoner during attack on train near Angeles, Sept. 22, escaped during engagement near Mangataren, Nov. 28; action near Alimodian, Panay, P. I., Nov. 20, Twenty-sixth Infantry, F, Thomas Russell, foot, slight; H. John Nadeau, thigh, severe; Nineteenth Infantry, A, William Hicks, arm, severe; action Lagranji, Samar, Dec. 7, Sixth Infantry, M, Payton M. Womack, buttock, slight; Reed M. Keeney, shoulder, slight; attack on Ginigaran, Samar, Dec. 8, Sixth Infantry, D, Raymond D. Burbee, thigh, slight; William Huggard, both wrists, slight; advance on Sibui, Dec. 10, Fourth Cavalry, B, Lorenzo A. De Clairmont, Corporal, chest, moderate; H. Winthrop Richardson, Corporal, thigh, severe; action Ivo, Dec. 19, Twenty-fifth Infantry, E, Gish Wade, leg, slight; action near Tarlac, Dec. 10, Twenty-fifth Infantry, H, Burt M Coy, Corporal, thigh, severe.

One American Killed at Subig.

MANILA, Dec. 27.—It now appears that one American was killed in the attack upon the Subig garrison yesterday by Gen. Santa Ana.

HEALTH OF NEW REGIMENTS.

Gen. Corbin Says Not One Man Died on the Trip to Manila.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Adjt. Gen. Corbin said to-day that every regiment of the infantry last recruited, which has reached Manila, has made the remarkable report of the safe arrival of every man who started. This is considered a very convincing proof of the care with which the men were selected. These troops have traveled by both routes, the Suez Canal and by way of San Francisco, and have been subjected to great changes of climate and some vicissitudes, yet not one man has died of illness on the way.

Two Regiments Arrive at Manila.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Gen. Otis has notified the War Department of the arrival at Manila of the transports Duke of Fife and St. Paul, carrying the Thirty-eighth Volunteer Infantry, Col. George S. Anderson, which left San Francisco Nov. 21, and the transports Ohio and Indiana, carrying the Fortieth Volunteer Infantry, Col. E. T. C. Richmond, commanding, which left San Francisco Nov. 24. The Thirty-eighth Infantry was organized at Jefferson Barracks and the Fortieth Infantry at Fort Riley, Kansas. There were no casualties in either regiment on the voyage.

Civil Marriages in the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Gen. Otis has issued a decree authorizing the celebration of civil marriages in the Philippines. He cabled Secretary Root to that effect to-day and the Secretary promptly approved the action. Heretofore all marriages were celebrated by the Catholic Church, so that Protestants and non-Christians were prohibited from marrying. If the decree does not interfere with the Catholics, who may be married according to their own rites, but extends the privilege of civil marriage to those who desire it, just as is practiced in the United States.

WILL NOT BE SOLDIER'S BRIDE.

Girl on Hed Way to Manila Will Find Her Fiance Is Dead.

FARIBAULT, Minn., Dec. 27.—In the list of dead forwarded by Gen. Otis Monday is the name of Henry C. Merriam of Company G, Sixth Infantry, of typhoid fever. This is the young man to whom Miss Bessie Ray of this city was to have been married. She left here with her mother for Manila in November, and is now on her way.

Merriam was a graduate of the Class of '97 at Shattuck and was very popular. When the war was declared against Spain he enlisted in Battery H, Sixth Artillery. For high executive ability displayed in Manila, Gen. Otis recommended him for promotion. He was the son of Capt. Merriam, a retired army officer residing in Washington.

Miss Ray will not arrive in Manila for more than a week.

MONEY ASKED FOR WOMEN'S HOTEL.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The impression has gone abroad, and has been announced in many of the papers, that the total amount necessary to be pledged before the Woman's Hotel Company can be incorporated and begin operations, has been subscribed. As this statement is incorrect and seems to hinder and prevent further expected subscriptions, will you permit the committee to say that pledges for $75,000 more are still required; and this amount must be secured before the close of the year or the undertaking will end?

Therefore, all friends of this needed enterprise which, while offering a sound and profitable investment, promises so much for the social betterment of the higher grades of self-supoprting women are requested to be prompt in advising the committee of their willingness to co-operate.

CHARLES D. KELLOGG, Secretary.
New York, Dec. 26, 1899.

EXPLOSION IN CHINESE MISSION.

Bomb Placed Under Methodist Church Building in Victoria, B. C.

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 27.—During service yesterday in the Methodist Mission Church in Chinatown an explosion occurred and sixty or seventy Chinese converts and white people rushed for the street, with the building tumbling about their heads. All escaped serious injury. It was found that a bomb had been exploded by a slow fuse underneath the church, and the police are on the track of the Chinese suspects.

The explosion is supposed to be the work of Chinese highbinders who hoped to kill seven mission women and the preacher, the Rev. Mr. Gardner, who married a Chinese woman and learned many secrets of the highbinders through his wife's relatives. Twelve months ago he disclosed a plot by which several Chinese were to be murdered, and the highbinders then sent him notice that he was marked for death. The seven Methodist women were instrumental in having the Chinese girl slaves of prominent Chinese taken from their masters and placed in the Methodist home, where they were taught English and Christianity. Eighteen of the rescued girls were in the church at the time of the explosion.

HARVARD BOATHOUSE BURNED.

Launch Badly Damaged—Total Loss About $37,000.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 27.—The new boathouse for Harvard oarsmen, on Charles River Parkway, which was almost completed, was burned to-day and the launch Frank Thompson, a gift of the late President of the Pennsylvania Railroad to Harvard, was badly damaged. The loss is estimated at $37,000, of which $27,000 on the building falls on the contractor, Frank B. Furbish of this city. The insurance on the boathouse is $20,000. Workmen were heating creosote stain in a shahty near the boathouse, when the substance caught fire. The flames burned through the sides of the hut, reaching the boathouse. Although twenty-five of the contractor's men and the fire department worked hard they could not save the building, and in spite of their efforts the launch, which was moored about twenty-five feet from the boathouse, was burned almost to the water's edge.

The boathouse was to have been ready for occupancy next March, and was one of the best buildings of its class. It was 139 feet long, 35 feet wide, and two stories high, with basement. The Harvard Boat Club of New York subscribed $25,000 toward the construction of the building. The building was to have been named for Marshal Newell, the Harvard oarsman and football player who was killed at Springfield, Mass., two years ago.

Trenton Trolley Extension.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 27.—The Township Committee of Hamilton Township to-day granted a franchise to the Trenton Street Railway Company to extend its line from Yardville to Allentown, N. J. The line from Trenton to Yardville is already in operation.

"DON GIOVANNI" AT THE OPERA

Mozart's Opera Well Sung Before a Large Audience—Work of the Singers and the Orchestra.

Mozart's masterpiece, "Don Giovanni," was brought forward at the Metropolitan Opera House last night for the fifth subscription performance of the season. The prevalence of the works of Mozart in the early part of the series may be taken as evidence of one of two things, either that there are many Wagner singers under the ban of the weather or that Mr. Grau's visit to Munich last Summer in the course of the Mozart cycle convinced him that there was something in these operas worth cultivating. A Mozart cycle is mentioned as among the possibilities of the season, but its materialization will probably depend on the manifestations of public interest in the works as they are given separately. The audience last night appeared to be well pleased with the work of the principal singers.

In the general presentation of the work there were some few evidences of an increase in the stock of knowledge possessed by the authorities of the house. The stage management showed some improvement, and for the first time the small orchestras in the ballroom scene, called for by the score to play the dances, made their appearance. Heretofore we have had only dummies. Last night we had real musicians. Truly the sun do move. To the audience in general, however, the most important feature of the evening was the début of the new baritone, Signor Scotti.

This gentleman, who made his first appearance here as Don Giovanni, was immediately successful. He is a good-looking man, graceful and dignified in bearing, and elegant in manner. His voice is fresh, mellow, well schooled, and well managed. It has plenty of volume, but was not at any time last night forced. Possibly the quality of the voice is not of the richest, but it was a pleasure to hear such a fresh, unworn organ used with so much freedom. Furthermore, in his treatment of the recitativo Signor Scotti showed understanding and at times finesse. He sang the "Champagne Song," as it is sometimes called, with fine dash and vigor, and won two hearty recalls thereby. The details of his work as Don Giovanni will bear further discussion, but it may be said now that his conception of the part was according to the traditions, and was generally well carried out.

Signor Pini-Corsi made his first appearance in this city as Masetto. He will probably prove to be a very useful buffo. He is a diminutive man with a genuine comedian's face. Of his voice not much can be said at present, except that it is large, because he had not recovered last night from the effects of a recent cold. His acting was good, and in general he showed a comprehension of the part. He plainly pleased the audience.

The other members of the cast were old acquaintances. With Mme. Nordica as Donna Anna, Mme. Sembrich as Zerlina, M. Edouard de Reszke as Leporello, M. Salignac as Don Ottavio, and M. Devries as the Commendatore, nothing unexpected was likely to happen. Miss Suzanne Adams was the Donna Elvira. It was to her credit that she showed improvement in the rôle, especially in her delivery of the first air, in which her conception of the composer's intent was much nearer to the truth than it was last season. But she is still far from realizing for the auditor the intense pathos of the part. Donna Elvira is really the most sympathetic figure in this unique tragedy, and in the hands of a singer of high dramatic and vocal skill can easily be made to share with Donna Anna the interest of the audience. Through inefficient treatment of this rôle much of the power of Mozart's masterpiece is lost to the public.

The orchestra last night deserved praise for its discreet treatment of most of the music, for little more color and insistence on the light and shade would have heightened the effect of the performance. Signor Mancinelli conducted, and from him only a conventional reading of the score can be expected. He is not the man to discover the German spirit which lies behind the Italian forms of "Don Giovanni."

EMMET CORRIGAN IN "BEN-HUR."

Replaces Temporarily Mr. Morgan, Who Soon Returns to Mr. Frohman.

At the matinée performance yesterday of "Ben-Hur," which was played to the largest matinée audience thus far seen in the Broadway Theatre, since the play was produced, Emmet Corrigan appeared in the title rôle for the first time, temporarily, in the place of Hale Morgan. Mr. Morgan, it is said, will shortly terminate his connection with this company to resume an important place with an attraction of Daniel Frohman's soon to be produced.

When Mr. Morgan was secured to play the part of Ben-Hur by Klaw & Erlanger, it was with the understanding that he would be enabled to assume a part with any attraction in which Daniel Frohman might deem it wise to place him. This new play will probably be "The Ambassador," which will follow the present piece, "The Maneuvers of Jane," at Daly's Theatre.

Mr. Frohman has purchased the American rights of Kinsey Pelle's play, "An Interrupted Honeymoon," which is destined for production in this city at some future date. The play was produced in London this season, and at the time caused quite a sensation on its first presentation in the English metropolis.

KOSTER & BIAL'S LEASE SOLD.

Nelson Roberts Has Closed the Deal and Will Assume Control.

Nelson Roberts, who has been negotiating for the purchase of the lease from the Robert Biel syndicate of Koster & Bial's Music Hall, has closed the deal.

Managers of various vaudeville artists were notified yesterday to call on Mr. Roberts last night and have their contracts which were made with the Robert Biel syndicate transferred to Nelson Roberts. This was done in every instance where attractions were booked for engagements on and after Jan. 8. This is the date when Mr. Roberts will assume absolute control of the house, and it is said he will not alone confine himself to offering a vaudeville bill, but will also present extravaganzas, burlesques, and possibly plays of a more ambitious nature.

MINSTRELS AROUND THE GLOBE.

Plans Maturing for a Long Trip of Primrose & Dockstader's Company.

Arrangements are being made by Manager J. H. Decker of the Primrose & Dockstader Minstrels to present this attraction in London next June, and after the English engagement they propose to visit Australia and South Africa. This trip has been in contemplation for a long time, and was practically settled yesterday by a cable from Mr. Musgrove of the Shaftesbury Theatre.

The plan as outlined is to continue in this country until June, then to take the company intact to London for a long run. Afterward, if the present war ceases, a visit to some of the principal cities of South Africa will be made; thence to Australia, and from there to San Francisco, and then a return engagement in this city in the Fall of 1901.

Schweighofer in "'s Nullerl."

Felix Schweighofer, the German comedian, will be seen for the first time to-night in "'s Nullerl" (A Nobody) at the Irving Place Theatre. The comedy is a five-act play by Morre, and the character Schweighofer assumes is entirely different from the rôle in which he appeared in "Ein Blitzmädel." Herr Schweighofer's support will be Miss Ada Merito, Miss Anna Leonardi, Slava Roberts, Mrs. Wilhelmine Schlüter, and Messrs. Manno, Kierschner, Klein-Rhoden, and Olmar. "'s Nullerl" will be repeated to-morrow night and in both performances on Saturday.

Richard Mansfield's Plans.

Richard Mansfield, in announcing his plans for the last two weeks of his engagement in this city at the Garden Theatre, beginning next Monday night, offers to the patrons of this house another week of "The First Violin," followed by seven different plays from his répertoire. These will include "Arms and the Man," Monday; "Cyrano de Bergérac," Tuesday; "Prince Karl," Wednesday; "A Parisian Romance," Thursday; "Beau Brummell," Friday; "The Devil's Disciple," Saturday matinée, and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," Saturday evening.

Roland Reed's Condition.

At St. Luke's Hospital last night it was announced that Roland Reed, the actor, who is lying ill there following an operation, was resting comfortably.

As to Gifts for Yale Buildings.

A published report to the effect that $750,000 has been given by two New York women for the new Yale Administration Building, according to the Secretary of the Yale corporation, is erroneous. It arose, the Secretary says, from confusion between the new Bi-Centennial Buildings and the Administration Building. The gift for the construction of the latter, announced at Tuesday's meeting of the corporation, was $40,000.

WHAT IS DOING IN SOCIETY

Yesterday was a typical Winter day—clear but too cold for comfort in walking or driving. The nipping and eager air was enjoyed by the hardy and strong, but kept invalids and those who fear the cold indoors, so that the Avenue and the uptown fashionable streets were not as lively as is usual on a sunny Winter day. The cold brought out the most remarkable display of furs, now so much in fashion, seen this Winter, and some of the sables worn were the finest ever shown in New York. The shops were fairly well filled with people exchanging Christmas gifts or buying New Year's presents, for there are many people in New York, and particularly its French residents, who still give each other gifts on New Year's Day.

***

To-day will bring a dance at Sherry's for Miss Grace Ballard, given by her mother, Mrs. Frederic E. Ballard of 21 West Seventy-third Street. The dance is really a birthday dance, and Miss Ballard's birthday was celebrated in the same manner a year ago to-day, when the dance was given at Mrs. Ballard's residence. Mrs. Robert Hoe of 11 East Thirty-sixth Street will give an afternoon musicale. There will be an entertainment for the children, under the auspices of the Exchange for Women's Work, at Wallack's Theatre, at 2 P. M., and ex-Gov. Morton and Mrs. Morton will give a dinner in the evening at their residence, 681 Fifth Avenue, for Miss Mary Gardiner, granddaughter of Bishop Doane of Albany. Mrs. Frederic Gallatin will give a Christmas tree party and dance for children this afternoon, and this evening Mrs. J. Harry Alexandre will give a dance for her son, J. Harry Alexandre, Jr., at her residence, 10 West Thirty-second Street, and Mrs. William Barclay Parsons of 505 Fifth Avenue will give an afternoon cotillion for her younger granddaughter, Miss Sylvia Parsons, not yet out. There will be numerous other Christmas tree parties and children's dances this afternoon and evening, for this is holiday week and the young folk are having their innings.

***

This morning Mr. Albert Morris Bagby will celebrate his one hundredth musical morning in the ballroom of the Astoria. The centenary, so to speak, of Mr. Bagby's entertainments will be marked by Mrs. Emma Eames-Story's appearance as the soloist. The concert was postponed from Monday. Mr. Bagby during the hundred performances he has given has had as artists all the celebrated singers who have been in New York during the last three years. On one occasion he gave the second act of the "Barbier de Seville" with Sembrich, and he also introduced several charming short operas to his audiences season before last. The Bagby musicales have been and are purely subscription affairs, and are not open to the public. They have from December until Lent formed the opening of each fashionable week, and have been the rendezvous of society on Monday mornings.

***

Cards for receptions and dinners are still coming in, and the month of January will have a large and well filled social calendar. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parish have sent out cards for a dinner on Saturday, Jan. 6; Mrs. Charles H. Stebbins and the Misses Stebbins, 33 West Ninth Street, will be at home on Fridays in January and February, and Mrs. Truax and the Misses Truax on Saturdays in January; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Murray of 54 West Forty-ninth Street will give a dinner on Saturday, Jan. 6; Mrs. George T. Bonner and Miss Mabel Bonner of 115 East Twenty-first Street will receive on Thursdays until Lent; Mrs. Maturin Delafield, 475 Fifth Avenue, on Tuesdays in January, and Mrs. Albert James Adams and Miss Adams of the Hotel Netherland on Tuesdays in January.

***

Mr. Charles E. Manierre and Miss Elizabeth Hunt Welling, daughter of the late Charles Hunt Welling, who are to be married in Calvary Church at noon on Wednesday, Jan. 3, by the Rev. J. Lewis Parks, have chosen their attendants. Miss Mary H. Welling, a sister of the bride, will be her maid of honor, and Mr. George H. Sullivan will be Mr. Manierre's best man. The ushers will be Messrs. Richard W. G. Welling, Edward P. Casey, Herbert Thomson, James R. Burnett, and Francis E. Ward. A small breakfast at the residence of the bride's mother, 46 Park Avenue, will follow the ceremony.

***

Miss Edith Lawrence Speyers, daughter of Albert G. P. Speyers, and who, as already announced, will be married to Mr. Edward McVickar, in the Church of the Holy Communion on the afternoon of Wednesday, Jan. 17, will have for her bridesmaids Miss Julia Walsh of Albany, Miss Selina Schroeder, daughter of Mr. Gilliat Schroeder, and a cousin of the bride; Miss Mary Vibbert, daughter of the Rev. Dr. Vibbert, and Miss Mabel Jones, daughter of Mrs. Edward Renshaw Jones. Miss Speyer's maid of honor will be Miss Cornelia Van Rensselaer Robb, daughter of Mr. J. Hayden Robb. Mr. McVickar has not yet selected all his ushers. Mr. Andrew Bibby will probably be his best man.

***

The engagement has been announced in Boston of Mr. William P. Graves of this city and Miss Alice Chase, daughter of Mr. Sidney Chase, and in Albany of Dr. James Herbert Irish of this city and Miss Virginia Hurlburt Murphy, a sister of Mrs. Henry Otis Chapman of this city.

***

There were many well-known people at the White Star and American piers yesterday morning to see friends off on the Teutonic and St. Paul, respectively. As was announced yesterday in this column, Col. John Jacob Astor and Mrs. Astor, Miss Hunt, Mrs. Adolph Ladenburg, Mr. and Mrs. John Munroe of Paris, Mrs. Raymond Rogers, and Miss Rogers, Mrs. S. Montgomery Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Webster, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Webster sailed on the St. Paul, while the Teutonic took, among other passengers, E. J. Henderson, Mrs. Kitson, D. McLean, Howard Page, and Sidney Paget.

***

Col. Astor and Mrs. Astor will go to St. Moritz later in the Winter, and will probably board Col. Astor's steam yacht Nourmahal at Nice late in February. The Nourmahal will be placed in commission next month, and will then proceed to the Riviera for her owner, who, with a party of friends, will cruise on her in the Mediterranean.

***

The Rotterdam, which sails to-day for Rotterdam, has booked among other passengers, Marchese A. de Viti de Marco, the Marchesa de Viti de Marco and two children, and the Hon. Stanford Newel, United States Minister to the Netherlands, and Mrs. Newel. La Bretagne, sailing to-day for Havre, has booked among other passengers Mr. and Mrs. Jules Noel and Mrs. Herbert J. Taylor and Miss Ethel Taylor.

***

Mrs. Bayard Dominick of 22 West Fifty-first Street gave a large cotillion last night at Sherry's for her second daughter, Miss Helen Dominick, who made her début a few weeks ago. The decorations were of holly and other Christmas greens. The cotillion was led by Mr. Alexander Hadden dancing with Miss Helen Dominick, and the favors were long crimson sashes with sleigh bells attached, crystal hearts on ribbons, and Alsacian bows for the girls, and gun-metal ash receivers and cuff buttons of odd stones set in precious metals for the men. Miss Helen Dominick's gown of pink liberty silk had trimmings of dull pink, and her sister, Miss Dominick, wore a costume of pale blue crêpe de chine, with white lace. There were between 350 and 400 guests present, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Delafield, Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Low, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Vatable, Mr. and Mrs. Lefferts, Dr. Edgar and Mrs. Edgar, the Misses Edith and Julia Clark, Edith Carpenter, Miss Lockwood, Miss De Forest, Miss Hilda Tiffany, the Misses Low, Miss Fachiri, Miss Morris, Miss Barnes, and the Messrs. Tallmadge, Hopkin, Prentice Kellogg, Kip, Stokes, Prentice, Lefferts, and the Messrs. Agnew. Mrs. Albert Barnes Boardman gave a dinner last evening, from which her young guests went to Sherry's for Miss Helen Dominick's cotillion.

***

A cotillion was given last evening by Mrs. Artemas H. Holmes at her residence, 453 Madison Avenue, for her young daughter, Miss Lillian Stokes Holmes, and son, Artemas Holmes. The cotillion was led by Mr. Artemas Holmes alone, Miss Lillian dancing with her cousin, Mr. Walter Stokes. The favors, which were handed out by Mrs. Stokes, Mrs. Bostwick, and Miss Stiles, consisted of Leghorn hats, trimmed with tarletan bows, pink and blue being the colors used, staffs with artificial flowers, and tied with ribbons of different colors, and horns covered with various shades of crepe paper, for the girls, while the boys' favors were canes, cigarettes, and badges. The decorations were of holly and Christmas greens. Mrs. Holmes, who received the young people, was gowned in a pink satin Louis XVI. costume, heavily embroidered in pearls and draped with antique lace. The buffet supper was served by Sherry. There were about fifty-one couples, and among the boys and girls not yet out were numbered a few who have already made their bow. Among those present were the Misses Mildred Carruth Dix, Eleanor Swayne, Ella Guthrie, Dollie Low, Josephine Jenner, Ada Acosta, Adelaide Havemeyer, Louise E. Peters, May Gallatin, Twombly, Cary, and Louise Trowbridge, and the Messrs. Baylis, Edward Bell, George Vietor, John Stone, Harry Alexandre, Stokes, Williams, Peters, Fosdick, and Lloyd M. Hitchcock.

***

New Year's parties will be quite the vogue at Lenox, and there will be entertaining at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Barclay, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Alexandre, and the Greenleafs. A number of well-known people will leave for Lenox to-morrow and Friday.

***

Aiken is filling up slowly. Among the recent arrivals there have been Major and Mrs. Mallery and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dodge. The hunts will begin early in January.

***

Mrs. Leiter will sail on Jan. 3 for England. From there she will go to Cairo. The Misses Leiter, who have been guests of their sister, Lady Curzon, at Simla, India, will meet their mother at Cairo and pass the Winter there with her. Lady Curzon is due this week in Bombay. She will not accompany her sisters to Cairo.

***

Mrs. Dunlop Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Rudyard Kipling, Mrs. Choate, Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, Mrs. Ronalds, Mrs. Webster Glynes, who was Mrs. Ella Dietz Clymer; Mrs. Brown Potter, Mme. Blanche Marchesi, Mrs. Ronalds, and Sir Arthur Sullivan made up a rather assorted and interesting company of guests recently at a tea given by the Society of American Women in London.

***

An English authority differs somewhat from the roseate views taken of gayety on the Riviera. It states that at Nice there is little worth mentioning. Among the few arrivals there are Mrs. Alfred Roosevelt, Prince Galitzin, and the Baron Arthur de Rothschild. Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., found Nice so dull that they left it and have been amusing themselves until Valiant is ready for them in taking all sorts of excursions. Monte Carlo is full of Russians, Cannes full of golfers, and San Remo of all sorts and conditions of Anglo-Saxons. The same authority also says: "I saw one night at Prince's Mr. and Mrs. Cavendish-Bentinck dining with Mr. Hebert Bishop, the rich American, who has rented Houghton this season, and I thought that Mrs. Bentinck was still looking very far from well."

***

Cornelius Vanderbilt and party and Senator Allison, with a large party, arrived yesterday morning at the Hotel Chamberlin, Old Point Comfort, Va., for the holidays.

PHILADELPHIA BENEDICTS' BALL

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., Dec. 27.—This evening the first large ball of the season took place at Horticultural Hall, Philadelphia, given by the Benedicts. It was a representative affair, and the invitations were limited to only 300. For many years the Benedicts' ball has been regarded as the most exclusive function of the Winter in Philadelphia society, and the ball last night was no exception to those of former years. The large ballroom in Horticultural Hall was screened off by ferns and flowers, and the dancing took place in the foyer. The supper was served down stairs. At the head of the grand stairway the following ladies received: Mrs. Grace Tacher Bispham, Mrs. Henry Williams Biddle, and Mrs. John A. Brown, Jr. Mrs. Bispham wore a handsome gown of pale blue, trimmed with black lace. Mrs. Biddle was in white satin, and wore her famous necklace of pearls and diamonds, said to be one of the handsomest in this country. Mrs. Brown was in pale pink, with diamond ornaments.

The following Benedicts gave the ball: Messrs. Henry W. Biddle, George Tucker Bispham, John A. Brown, Jr., Alexander J. Cassatt, Henry C. Chapman, Edward Coles, Henry B. Coxe, Charles E. Dana, Anthony J. Drexel, George Harrison Fisher, Charles C. Harrison, J. Dundas Lippincott, John H. Livingston, Frederick T. Mason, Edward de V. Morrell, John T. Spencer, Rudulph Ellis, John W. Williams, Edward S. Willing, and William D. Winsor. There was no cotillion, and supper was served at midnight. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer, Dr. and Mrs. Henry C. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. George W. C. Drexel, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cassatt, Mrs. Frederic Thurston Mason, Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cramp, Miss Florence Cramp, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coles, Mrs. Edward S. Willing, the Misses Bakie, Mrs. Holsman, the Messrs. Holsman, Mrs. May Stevenson Easby, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alexander Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. De Witt Cuyler, Mr. Hazlehurst, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Platt.

A DAY'S WEDDINGS.

Vogelgesang—Shepard.

Miss Zenaide Stevens Shepard, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Edwin Malcolm Shepard, United States Navy, was married at St. Paul's Memorial Church, Stapleton, S. I., at noon yesterday to Lieut. Theodore Vogelgesang, United States Navy. The Rev. Alonzo Lippincott Wood performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Kate Shepard, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Emilie Kennedy of Philadelphia, Miss Mary Todd of Washington, and Miss Isabel Sackett of New York. The best man was E. M. Shipp, Surgeon United States Navy. The ushers were Lieut. Montgomery M. Taylor, United States Navy; Lieut. William M. Moffett, United States Navy; Lieut. Arthur Cranston, United States Army; Capt. Thomas C. Treadwell, United States Marine Corps; John M. Blankenship of Baltimore, and W. B. Chace of New York. A reception to intimate friends and a breakfast to the bridal party followed at the residence of the Naval Inspector, Third Lighthouse District, at Tompkinsville.

Lavelle—Brady.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Dec. 27.—Miss Mary A. Brady, sister of Police Justice John K. Brady of this city, and Peter J. Lavelle of New York City were married in the Church of the Sacred Heart this morning. The nuptial mass was celebrated by the Rev. Dr. M. J. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York City, a brother of the bridegroom. The best man was Joseph F. O'Grady of the Municipal Council of New York City, and the bridesmaid was Miss Minnie Griffin of this city. After a wedding tour in the South Mr. and Mrs. Lavelle will take up their home in New York City.

Meyers—Abrew.

PORT JEFFERSON, L. I., Dec. 27.—Prof. E. D. Meyers, Principal of the Union Free School, and Miss Jessie Abrew were married to-day at the bride's residence. The Rev. Charles G. Ellis, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Northport, officiated. After the ceremony the couple started on a wedding trip.

AID FOR THE HOSPITALS.

Result of the Appeal to the Members of the Bar.

Charles Lanier of 17 Nassau Street, the General Treasurer of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, reports that an appeal specially directed to members of the bar is resulting in a very generous response. Contributions received up to date from this source are as follows:

Melville C. Day	$50	Nathan Bijur	10
James C. Carter	25	Edward M. Shepard	10
Wm. B. Hornblower	25	R. Burnham Moffatt	10
Cardozo & Nathan	25	J. & Cadwalader	10
William Man	25	M. Dwight Collier	10
Thomas Thatcher	25	Charles Straus	10
F. L. Stetson	25	Wm. B. McVickar	10
Wm. D. Guthrie	25	Alex. W. Fraser	10
Thatcher M. Adams	10	Frederick A. Snow	10
G. Van Slyck	25	Charles Curie	10
Charles Steele	25	J. F. Kernochan	10
J. J. McCook	25	Henry Thompson	10
E. Lauterbach	25	George Hahn	5
James L. Bishop	25	D. B. Toucey	5
Geo. M. Miller	25	S. O. Edmonds	5
E. W. Sheldon	25	C. R. Westbrook	5
Victor Morawetz	25	C. S. Petrasch	5
David Willcox	25	A. S. Bard	5
John W.

FINANCIAL DIRECTORY.

Chemical National Bank
270 Broadway.

National Bank of Commerce
CAP. AND SUR. $8,500,000.
31 Nassau St.

Hanover National Bank
Capital $1,000,000. Surplus and profits, $2,500,000.
9 and 11 Nassau St.

The Nassau Bank
Corner Beekman and Nassau Streets.

Central National Bank
320 Broadway.

Continental Trust Company
30 Broad St.

Colonial Trust Company
CAPITAL & SURPLUS, $1,500,000.
ST. PAUL B'LD'G.
222 B'way.

Washington Trust Company
Stewart Building, 280 Broadway.

PHILADELPHIA.

Fourth Street National Bank
Capital, $1,500,000. Surplus, $1,500,000.

BANKERS' CARDS.

The Domestic Exchange National Bank
OF NEW YORK.
CAPITAL $300,000.

DIRECTORS:
Robert D. Kent, Ethan Allen Doty,
William P. Aldrich, Horace W. Fish,
Samuel S. Bradley, William Kent,
Thomas H. Cullen, Edward S. Peck,
C. D. Spencer.

ROBERT D. KENT, President.
CHARLES H. SPENCER, Cashier.

Specialty { COLLECTION OF OUT-OF-TOWN CHECKS.

TEMPORARY OFFICES 11-13 MAIDEN LANE.
TELEPHONE, 2883 BROAD.

Holmes & Co.,
EMPIRE BUILDING,
71 Broadway, New York.
Members { N. Y. Stock Exchange. N. Y. Cotton Exchange. Chicago Board of Trade.
Branch Office:
Lakewood Hotel, Lakewood, N.J.

G. Sidenberg & Kraus,
BANKERS,
20 BROAD ST., NEW YORK.
Members of N. Y. Stock Exchange.
Transact a general Banking Business.
Interest allowed on deposits.
Orders executed for cash or on margin.
Investment Securities
A SPECIALTY.
LIST SENT ON APPLICATION.

Geo. E. Armstrong & Co.
BANKERS & BROKERS,
MEMBERS OF
New York and Boston Stock Exchanges.
44 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
146 DEVONSHIRE ST., BOSTON.
231 MAIN ST., SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

Ward, Armstrong & Co.,
20 GT. WINCHESTER ST., LONDON.

KOUNTZE BROTHERS,
BANKERS,
Broadway & Cedar St. NEW YORK.
Investment Securities.
Foreign Exchange.
Loans made against approved collateral.
Interest allowed on deposits.
LETTERS OF CREDIT.

New York Telephone, 4914 Cortlandt. Brooklyn Telephone, 391 Brooklyn.

Geo. H. PRENTISS & Co.
DEALERS IN
LOCAL SECURITIES.
37 William St., New York. 298 Montague St., Brooklyn.
MEMBERS OF N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE.

TUNSTALL & CO.,
MEMBERS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE
52 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Stocks and Bonds bought and sold for cash or carried on margin.
Market Letter on Application.
Telephones No. 1492 and No. 830 Broad.

P. J. Goodhart & Co.,
Dealers in
Bank & Trust Co. Stocks.
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
38 WALL STREET.

FINANCIAL.

UNITED STATES OF MEXICO
6% Consolidated External Gold Loan of 1899.
23 Wall Street,
New York, December 28, 1899.

Three months' interest, due January 1, 1900, on bonds of the above issue will be paid on and after January 2, 1900. Holders of our temporary certificates representing said bonds may collect such interest upon presentation of the certificates at our office, in order that payment may be stamped thereon. J. P. MORGAN & CO.

The Woman's Hotel Company
of New York City

Invites subscriptions to its Capital Stock, of which $140,000 remains to be taken.
Subscription lists close Dec. 31st.
Prospectuses & Subscription blanks can be had of The New York Security & Trust Co., 46 Wall St.; The Knickerbocker Trust Co., 234 Fifth Ave.; and the Secretary, 105 East 22d St.
Herbert B. Turner, J. Kennedy Tod.
Charles S. Fairchild, Charles F. Cox.
Charles D. Kellogg, Sec'y Committee.

RAMAPO WATER CO. STOCK FOR SALE AT 45.
TOBEY & KIRK,
NO. 8 BROAD ST.

"OUTSIDE" SECURITIES
DEALT IN.
DAVID PFEIFFER, 18 Wall St.

BROWN BROTHERS & CO.,
NO. 59 WALL ST.,
ISSUE COMMERCIAL AND TRAVELERS' CREDITS, AVAILABLE IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

FINANCIAL.

An Absolutely Safe-Guarded Investment.
Earning 22% Annually and Paying 1% Monthly.

International Zinc Co., Ltd.,

OF JOPLIN, MO.

The ONLY COMPANY in the Missouri-Kansas zinc fields issuing to its stockholders quarterly statements of earnings and profits certified as correct by Chartered Accountants (BARROW, WADE, GUTHRIE & CO., of Boston, New York, London and Manchester, England,) who supervise its accounts.

CAPITAL - - - - - $1,000,000
Divided into 1,000,000 Shares. Par Value $1.00 Each, Full Paid and Non-Assessable.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS:
President, A. C. FOSTER, Joplin, Mo.
Vice-President, D. K. WENRICH, Joplin, Mo.
Sec. and Treas., J. B. CARMICHAEL, Joplin.
Hon. CHARLES P. BENNETT, Providence, R. I.
Dr. IRA B. CUSHING, Boston, Mass.
Consulting Engineer, GEORGE E. QUINBY, Joplin.
Registrars and Transfer Agents,
KNICKERBOCKER TRUST CO., New York.

This company offers investors
Valuable Properties, actively producing, under business management, now paying 12 per cent. and carrying forward a surplus of 10 per cent.
Low-Priced Shares, sure to advance in value rapidly.
Large Earnings, even on $30 ore, as demonstrated by the chartered accountants in their examination of the properties.
Dividends equaling those paid by the highest capitalized companies in the zinc fields, yet on a much smaller investment.
Absolute Security of its shareholders' interests.

The four new mills now in course of construction will increase the company's net annual income to 42 per cent. on its entire capital stock.

300,000 SHARES
of its stock are now offered for public subscription at 75c. PER SHARE,
to complete the balance of the purchase price and pay for the new mills now being built.

At the above price the shares net 16 per cent. on their cost, and NO INVESTOR can afford to let this company's offer pass without investigation.

SEND FOR PROSPECTUS, and note carefully the detailed accounts and Barrow, Wade, Guthrie & Co.'s reports on the properties.

Beginning January 1st, 1900, this company will pay regular monthly dividends of one per cent., with such extra dividends from time to time as the condition of the company shall warrant.

Applications for stock, accompanied by remittance, received at either of the following offices of the fiscal agents,

JOSHUA BROWN & CO., Bankers,
45 and 47 Wall St., New York. 89 State St., Boston. 421 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

COMMERCIAL TRUST COMPANY
OF NEW JERSEY.
33 Montgomery Street, Jersey City.
Capital, $500,000.
Surplus, 500,000.
Transacts a General Banking and Trust Business.
Allows interest on deposits subject to check and on certificates of deposit.
Loans money on Bond and Mortgage.
Acts as Trustee under Corporate Mortgages, and as Registrar and Transfer Agent for Corporations.

Special attention and facilities offered to all corporations organized under the laws of New Jersey.

OFFICERS.
JOHN W. HARDENBERGH..President
GEORGE W. YOUNG, } Vice Presidents
ROBERT S. ROSS, }
OSCAR L. GUBELMAN..Sec. and Treas.

DIRECTORS.
Walter E. Ammon, Luther M. Kountze,
Joseph S. Auerbach, Henry Lembeck,
Charles T. Barney, James A. Macdonald,
Marcus Beach, Frank J. Mathews,
August Belmont, Allan L. McDermott,
C. Ledyard Blair, James G. Morgan,
Frederick G. Bourne, N. Thayer Robb,
William Brinkerhoff, Robert S. Ross,
John D. Carscallen, Edwin A. Stevens,
C. C. Cuyler, Benjamin L. Stowe,
Jacob J. Detwiller, Eben B. Thomas,
John W. Hardenbergh, Myles Tierney,
J. H. Hyde, Augustus H. Vanderpoel,
Robert M. Jarvis, John J. Voorhees,
Gustav E. Kissel, George W. Young,
Augustus Zabriskie.

Bankers' Trust Co.
OF NEW YORK,
10 Wall Street.
CAPITAL - - - - $1,500,000
SURPLUS - - - - $1,500,000
Transacts a general Trust and Banking business and allows interest on daily balances subject to check on sight.

OFFICERS:
George W. Ely, President.
Francis H. Leggett, } Vice-Presidents.
Louis V. Bright, }
Alfred H. Swayne, Secretary.
John H. Allen, Ass't Secty.

DIRECTORS:
Louis V. Bright, Wm. H. Hollister,
D. Crawford Clark, Percival Knauth,
George Coppell, Francis H. Leggett,
Bayard Dominick, Almeric H. Paget,
John F. Dryden, William G. Park,
Benjamin N. Duke, Gilbert M. Plympton,
George W. Ely, William Schall, jr.,
Albert E. Goodhart, John W. Simpson,
Edwin Gould, Francis S. Smithers,
Edmund T. Halsey, Ransom H. Thomas.
J. Walter Wood, jr.

Bleecker Street & Fulton Ferry Railroad Company
SEVEN PER CENT.
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.

The above mentioned Seven hundred thousand Dollars Bonds will mature on January 1, 1900.

The Bleecker Street and Fulton Ferry Railroad Company proposes to extend these bonds at the rate of four per cent. per annum until January 1, 1950, the present security and lien to remain in full force, the principal and interest of the extended bonds to be payable in gold.

Arrangements have been made with The State Trust Company to purchase the bonds at maturity at par, and to extend the same on their account, The State Trust Company reserving the right to terminate without notice the privilege to be extended to the bondholders.

Bondholders who wish to avail themselves of the privilege may notify The State Trust Company at once of their intention so to do, and may present their bonds at the office of The State Trust Company, No. 100 Broadway, New York, on and after January 2, 1900, to have the contract of extension and new coupon sheets attached. CHARLES E. WARREN, Secretary.

Referring to the above notice, we shall be prepared to purchase the above named bonds on and after January 2 at par.

Bondholders preferring to extend their bonds will have the privilege to do so, if they notify us of their intention on or before Jan. 5.

THE STATE TRUST COMPANY,
100 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

FINANCIAL.

Financial Summary for 1899

THE EVENING POST will publish on Saturday, December 30, a special summary of the financial movements of 1899.

The tables in this edition will be the most complete and comprehensive ever compiled. They will comprise, beside the highest, lowest, and closing prices, and net changes of the year, in all securities dealt in on the Stock Exchange, the similar statistics of important securities government and corporation, dealt in on the foreign Stock Exchanges.

It will also contain the year's record in the commercial markets, with the highest, lowest, and closing prices, and net changes, in iron, cotton, wheat, corn, and other commodities; the date of the high and low prices in such markets, and, for comparison, the "record prices" of the present generation. The high and low prices of the last twenty-five years in American and European Government bonds, and in the principal home and foreign railway securities, with the accompanying dates, will be appended. Similar tables will be included for the money market; the sterling exchange market; the reserves, deposits, and loans of the New York City banks and of the principal European banks; the holdings of the United States Treasury; the export and import trade in merchandise, gold, and silver of the United States and of Great Britain. These tables will specifically cover the year 1899, and generally the past twenty-five years. They will be compactly and conveniently arranged so as to make a table of reference complete both as to the extraordinary financial year now closing and the checkered financial generation of which it is a part.

These tables, never hitherto brought together, will be invaluable to any well-equipped banking or economic library.

The edition containing these special features will be published in New York promptly at the close of the financial markets on the last business day of the year, and will be mailed to out-of-town subscribers at that time.

The Evening Post
Cor. B'way & Fulton St., N. Y.

LIQUID AIR.
THE MARVEL OF THE CENTURY.
It will take the place of ice. It will be used as a motive power, as an anaesthetic, and for many other purposes.
NATIONAL LIQUID AIR COMPANY
is now offering stock at
$2.50 A SHARE.
(Par value $10; full paid and non-assessable.)
Subscription by mail or in person. Make checks or money orders payable to
NATIONAL LIQUID AIR CO.,
124 World Building, New York.
Send for circular.

MORTON TRUST CO.
38 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK.
Capital & Surplus, $2,500,000.
LEVI P. MORTON, Pres't. EDWARD J. BERWIND, V.-Pres't.
JAS. K. CORBIERE, 2d V.-Prest. WM. REDMOND CROSS, Sec.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

Nineteenth Ward Bank,
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of this Bank, for the election of Officers and Directors, and Inspectors of Election, will be held at the banking house on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock A. M.
L. H. HOLLOWAY, Cashier.

The Importers' and Traders' National Bank of New York,
New York, December 22d, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at its banking rooms, corner of Broadway and Murray Street, Tuesday, January 9th, 1900. The poll will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M.
EDWARD TOWNSEND, Cashier.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

EMPIRE CITY FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY
50 Wall St., New York, Dec. 7, 1899.
At the annual election for Directors of this company, held on the 4th inst., the following-named gentlemen were elected for the ensuing year:
John M. Burke, Henry W. Curtiss,
Charles H. Kerner, Charles H. Leland,
Henry C. Mortimer, Walter R. Wood,
John W. Condit, David J. Burtis,
Lindley Murray, Jr., Francis M. Scott,
Charles H. Lowerre, J. Eugene Robert.
George M. Miller.
For Inspectors of Election for the year 1900,
Areunah M. Burtis, Wm. M. Farrington,
Thomas B. Peck.
At a meeting of the Board of Directors held this day, Mr. LINDLEY MURRAY, Jr., was unanimously re-elected President.
DAVID J. BURTIS, Secretary.

The Astoria Light, Heat & Power Company,
32 LIBERTY STREET,
New York, December 22d, 1899.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of this Company for the election of Directors to serve during the ensuing year, and for such other business as may come before the stockholders, will be held at this office on Monday, January 8th, 1900. Polls open from 12 M. to 1 P. M. Transfer books will close on Saturday, December 23d, 1899, at 12 M. and reopen on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900.
FRANCIS R. FORAKER, Secretary.

Acme Bedding Company.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of the ACME BEDDING COMPANY will be held at the office of the Company at No. 163 West 19th Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on Wednesday, January 3d, 1900, at five o'clock in the afternoon of said day, for the election of Directors for the ensuing year and to transact such other business as may come before the meeting.
Dated December 14th, 1899.
ROBERT C. ODELL, Secretary.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE stockholders of the Astoria Light, Heat and Power Company for the election of Directors to serve during the ensuing year, and for such other business as may come before the stockholders, will be held at No. 32 Liberty Street, on Monday, January 8th, 1900. Polls open from 12 M. to 1 P. M. Transfer books will close on Saturday, December 23d, 1899, at 12 M. and reopen on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900.
FRANCIS R. FORAKER, Secretary.

The Tradesmen's National Bank of the City of New York, Borough of Manhattan.
New York, December 27, 1899.
An election for Directors of this Bank and also for Inspectors of the next ensuing election, will be held at the Banking House, West Broadway and Beach Street, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 and 1 P. M.
WM. H. WOOLVERTON, Cashier.

The Western National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
9th December, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the stockholders of this Bank for the election of Directors and such other business as may come before it will be held at the Banking House, No. 15 Nassau Street, on TUESDAY, January 9th, 1900. The Polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M.
H. A. SMITH, Cashier.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE MAPLE Grove Cemetery Association, for the election of two Trustees and the transaction of any other business, will be held at the office of the Association, No. 1,286 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, at 2 o'clock P. M., Monday, January 8th, 1900.
WM. S. COGSWELL, President.
Dated December 27th, 1899.

Lincoln National Bank,
32-42 EAST 42D ST.,
New York, December 23d, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the shareholders of this bank, for the election of Directors for the ensuing year, will be held at the banking house, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
W. T. CORNELL, Cashier.

The Bank of New York,
National Banking Association.
New York, Dec. 8th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 48 Wall Street, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900.
The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
CHAS. OLNEY, Cashier.

New York National Exchange Bank.
S. W. Cor. Chambers St. and West Broadway.
New York, Dec. 8th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this bank will be held at its banking office, West Broadway and Chambers St., on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
LEWIS E. PIERSON, Cashier.

The Mechanics' National Bank of the City of New York,
Dec. 9th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 33 Wall Street, on TUESDAY, Jan. 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
G. W. GARTH, Cashier.

The Second National Bank of the City of New York,
New York, Dec. 6, 1899.
The annual election of Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 190 5th Av., on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900. The polls will be opened from 10 to 11 A. M.
J. S. CASE, Cashier.

Garfield National Bank.
New York, December 28, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of this Bank, for the election of Directors, and such other business as may come before said meeting, will be held at the Banking House, 23d Street and Sixth Av., on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of eleven A. M. and 12 M.
R. W. POOR, Cashier.

The Bowery Bank of New York.
New York, December 28, 1899.
The annual meeting of the shareholders of this Bank, for the election of DIRECTORS for the ensuing year will be held at the Banking House, Number 62 Bowery, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of three (3) and four (4) P. M.
CHARLES ESSIG, Cashier.

The Tradesmens National Bank of the City of New York.
New York, December 7th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
D. H. BATES, President.

THE NATIONAL BUTCHERS AND DROVERS' BANK,
New York, December 7th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking room, No. 124 Bowery, on TUESDAY, Jan. 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
WM. H. CHASE, Cashier.

The Hanover National Bank of the City of New York,
NEW YORK, December 8th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the banking house, 9 and 11 Nassau Street, on TUESDAY, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 o'clock M. and 1 o'clock P. M.
WILLIAM HALLS, Jr., Cashier.

The Merchants' National Bank of the City of New York,
December 7th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking room, No. 42 Wall Street, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
JOSEPH W. HARRIMAN, Cashier.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS of the Sims-Dudley Defense Company, for the transaction of such business as may properly come before the meeting will be held at the offices of the Company, 120 Liberty Street, New York City, at eleven o'clock in the morning of Thursday, January 11th, 1900.

Mount Morris Bank.
The annual election for Directors of this Bank for the ensuing year will be held at the Banking House, No. 85 East 125th Street, on Thursday, January 4th, 1900, between the hours of three and four o'clock P. M.
FRED'K W. LIVERMORE, Cashier.

Fourteenth Street Bank,
3 East 14th Street.
New York, Dec. 26, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house on Tuesday, January 9, 1900, between the hours of 9:30 and 10:30 A. M.
IRVING C. GAYLORD, Cashier.

Pacific Bank,
New York, Dec. 26, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, 470 Broadway, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900. The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
S. C. MERWIN, Cashier.

East River National Bank,
New York, Dec. 5th, 1899.
An Election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the banking house, No. 682 Broadway, New York, on Tuesday, January 9, 1900. Polls open from 2 to 3 o'clock P. M.
Z. E. NEWELL, Cashier.

THE NATIONAL BANK OF THE REPUBLIC.
New York, December 7th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this bank will be held at the Banking House on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
C. H. STOUT, Cashier.

DIVIDENDS.

The Mechanics' National Bank of the City of New York,
Dec. 20th, 1899.
DIVIDEND.
A dividend of FOUR PER CENT. has to-day been declared by this bank, payable Jan. 2d, 1900. Transfer books will remain closed until that date.
G. W. GARTH, Cashier.

The Eleventh Ward Bank.
New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of Four (4) per cent., free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900. The transfer books will remain closed until that date.
CHARLES E. BROWN, Cashier.

DIVIDENDS.

OFFICE OF THE
Northern Pacific Railway Company
Mills Building, New York, Dec. 13, 1899.
At a meeting of the Board of Directors, held this day, there were declared from the net earnings of the company a dividend of ONE PER CENT. on the Common Stock of the Company, and an extra dividend of ONE PER CENT. on said common stock, both to be paid Feb. 5, 1900, to the stockholders of record at the closing of the transfer books on Jan. 11, 1900.
For the purpose of such dividends the transfer books of this company will be closed at 3 P. M. on Jan. 11, 1900, and will be reopened at 10 A. M. on Jan. 23, 1900.
NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY,
By GEORGE H. EARL, Secretary.

23 Wall Street.
New York, Dec. 13, 1899.
The transfer books of the Voting Trustees for Common Stock Trust Certificates of the NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY will close in New York and Berlin at 3 P. M. on Jan. 11, 1900, and will reopen at 10 A. M. on Jan. 23, 1900.
On Feb. 5, 1900, the Voting Trustees will be prepared to distribute the above dividends, aggregating two per cent. on the Common Stock of the Company, when received by them, among the parties entitled thereto, as the same appear of record on their books when closed as above.
J. P. MORGAN & CO., New York,
DEUTSCHE BANK, Berlin,
Agents for Voting Trustees.

The MERCHANTS' NATIONAL BANK
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
191st Consecutive Semi-Annual Dividend
December 21st, 1899.
THE DIRECTORS of this bank have this day declared a Dividend of Three and one-half per cent., (3½%,) free of tax, payable January 2, 1900.
The transfer books will be closed on and after December 22, 1899, and reopened January 3, 1900.
JOSEPH W. HARRIMAN, Cashier.

The Peoples Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
December 21st, 1899.
NINETY-SEVENTH CONSECUTIVE SEMI-ANNUAL DIVIDEND.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of Five Per Cent., free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900. The transfer books will be closed from the 26th inst. until that date.
WILLIAM MILNE, Cashier.

Canada Southern Railway Company.
GRAND CENTRAL STATION,
New York, Dec. 21st, 1899.
The Board of Directors of this Company have declared a dividend of ONE PER CENT. on its Capital Stock, payable at this office on the 1st day of February next to shareholders of record at 12 M. on the 30th day of December.
The transfer books will not be closed.
CHARLES F. COX, Treasurer.

United States Mortgage & Trust Co.
59 Cedar Street, New York, December 21, 1899.
A dividend of FIVE PER CENT. (5%) on the Capital Stock of the Company has this day been declared, payable on and after January 2d, 1900. The transfer books will close on Saturday, December 23, 1899, and reopen January 3, 1900.
CLARK WILLIAMS, Treasurer.

United Traction and Electric Company,
Jersey City, N. J., December 14, 1899.
A dividend of ONE PER CENT. on the Capital Stock of this Company will be paid to the registered holders on the 1st day of January, 1900. Transfer books will be closed on the 20th inst., and will reopen 2d proximo.
C. S. SWEETLAND, Treasurer.

The Chatham National Bank.
QUARTERLY DIVIDEND.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a quarterly dividend of FOUR PER CENT. out of the earnings of the past three months, payable on and after January 2, 1900, until which date transfer books will be closed.
H. P. DOREMUS, Cashier.
New York, December 22, 1899.

MILWAUKEE & LAKE WINNEBAGO RAILROAD COMPANY.
Coupons No. 35, due January 1st, 1900, from the First Mortgage Bonds of the above company, will be paid after that date at the offices of Maitland, Coppell & Co., No. 24 Exchange Place, New York City.
Wisconsin Central Railway Co,
By GEORGE COPPELL, Chairman.

Wisconsin Central Railway Co.
Coupon No. 1, due January 1st, 1900, from the First General Mortgage 4% Bonds of this Company will be paid after that date at the offices of Maitland, Coppell & Co., No. 24 Exchange Place, New York City. Coupons may now be left for examination, for which checks will be mailed.
GEORGE COPPELL, Chairman.
New York, December 22d, 1899.

The Bank of America.
New York, December 22, 1899.
The Board of Directors have to-day declared a semi-annual dividend of SEVEN (7) PER CENT., free of tax, payable January 2, 1900, to stockholders of record of this date.
The transfer books will remain closed until January 4, 1900. W. M. BENNET, Cashier.

Wisconsin Central Railroad Co.
Coupons No. 39, due January 1st, 1900, from the First-Series Bonds of the above company will be paid after that date at the offices of Maitland, Coppell & Co., No. 24 Exchange Place, New York City.
Wisconsin Central Railway Co.,
By GEORGE COPPELL, Chairman.

Continental National Bank,
New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
EIGHTY-SECOND DIVIDEND.
The Directors of this bank have to-day declared a semi-annual dividend of THREE (3) PER CENT., free of tax, payable Jan. 2, to which date from Dec. 26 the transfer books will be closed.
ALFRED H. TIMPSON, Cashier.

The National Park Bank of New York.
December 19, 1899.
The Directors have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent. upon the stock of this bank, free of tax, payable on and after January 2, 1900, and the transfer books will be closed until that date.
GEORGE S. HICKOK, Cashier.

The National Shoe and Leather Bank of the City of New York.
New York, December 20, 1899.
EIGHTY-NINTH (89TH) DIVIDEND.
The Directors have declared a quarterly dividend of One Per Cent., payable, free of tax, January 2, 1900, until which date the transfer book will be closed.
JOHN L. COLE, Cashier.

No. 11 Broadway, New York, Dec. 19th, 1899.
THE RIO GRANDE WESTERN RAILWAY CO. will pay a quarterly dividend of one dollar and twenty-five cents per share February 1st, 1900, to PREFERRED Stockholders of record December 30th, 1899. Checks will be mailed.
WALTER HINCHMAN, Treasurer.

The National Citizens' Bank,
401 Broadway.
New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
A dividend of Three and One-half Per Cent. has been declared, payable to the shareholders on and after Jan. 2, 1900.
D. C. TIEBOUT, Cashier.

The National Butchers and Drovers' Bank.
New York, December 20th, 1899.
The Directors of this Bank have this day declared a semi-annual Dividend of three (3) per cent. payable on and after January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will remain closed until that date.
WM. H. CHASE, Cashier.

THE BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R. CO. Southwestern Division Bonds.
Coupon No. 2 from the above bonds, due Jan. 1st, 1900, will be paid on presentation at the office of the Company, No. 2 Wall Street, New York, on and after Thursday, Dec. 28.
J. V. McNEAL, Treasurer.

THE BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R. CO. Prior Lien Bonds.
Coupon No. 3 from the above bonds due January 1, 1900, will be paid on presentation at the office of the Company, No. 2 Wall Street, New York, on and after Thursday, Dec. 28.
J. V. McNEAL, Treasurer.

Seventh National Bank,
New York, Dec. 26, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a dividend of Three Per Cent. (3%,) free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900, until which date the transfer books will be closed.
GEO. W. ADAMS, Cashier.

Phenix National Bank,
New York, December 26th, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of Three (3) Per Cent., free from taxes, payable on and after January 2d, 1900, until which date the transfer books are closed.
ALFRED M. BULL, Cashier.

The National Bank of the Republic.
New York, Dec. 22d, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a dividend of Four Per Cent., (4%,) free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900, until which date the transfer books will be closed.
C. H. STOUT, Cashier.

Tennessee Coal, Iron and R. R. Co.
No. 80 Broadway, New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
The coupons due Jan. 1, 1900, on the BIRMINGHAM DIVISION Bonds will be paid at maturity at the Hanover National Bank, N. Y. City.
JAS. BOWRON, Treasurer.

Ninth National Bank,
New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
A dividend of Two Per Cent. upon the capital stock of this bank, free of tax, has been declared, payable on and after January 2d, 1900. The transfer books will be closed from Dec. 23d, 1899, to January 2d, 1900. H. H. NAZRO, Cashier.

Denver Union Water Company.
Coupons of this Company, due January 1st, 1900, will be paid on and after Jan. 2d, 1900, upon presentation at the Fourth National Bank of the City of New York.—December 26th, 1899.
C. H. PATTERSON, Cashier.

East River National Bank.
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
A dividend of Four (4) Per Cent. has been declared, payable on and after Tuesday, January 2, 1900. Z. E. NEWELL, Cashier.

DIVIDENDS.

THE LAKE SHORE AND MICHIGAN SOUTHERN RAILWAY CO.
Treasurer's Office, Grand Central Depot.
New York, December 20th, 1899.
The Board of Directors of this Company have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT. on its Capital Stock, payable at this office on Monday, the 29th day of January next, to the stockholders of record at 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, the 30th instant.
There will be no closing of the transfer books for the purposes of this dividend.
E. D. WORCESTER, Treasurer.

Tennessee Bonds.
The interest maturing January 1st on $13,666,600 3 per cent. bonds of the State of Tennessee will be paid at our Banking House, 16 and 18 Wall Street, or by the Treasurer of the State, at Nashville, ON DECEMBER 29TH, without rebate.
LATHAM, ALEXANDER & CO.,
Fiscal Agents, State of Tennessee.
New York, December 28th, 1899.

Office of the American Smelting & Refining Co.
71 Broadway, New York, Dec. 19th, 1899.
The Directors of the American Smelting & Refining Co. have this day declared a dividend of 1¾% upon the Preferred Capital Stock of the Company, payable January 9th, 1900, to stockholders of record at three o'clock P. M., December 27th, 1899. The books for the transfer of the preferred stock of the company will close at three o'clock P. M., December 27th, 1899, and open January 10th, 1900.
EDWARD BRUSH, Secretary.

Michigan Central Railroad Company.
GRAND CENTRAL STATION,
New York, Dec. 21st, 1899.
The Board of Directors of this Company have this day declared a dividend of TWO PER CENT. upon its capital stock, payable at this office on Monday, the 29th day of January next to stockholders of record at 12 M. on Saturday, the 30th day of December.
The transfer books will not be closed.
CHARLES F. COX, Treasurer.

Irving National Bank,
NEW YORK.
December 19th, 1899.
69TH CONSECUTIVE DIVIDEND.
The Board of Directors have declared a semi-annual dividend of Four (4) per cent., free of tax, to stockholders of record on this date, payable January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will remain closed until that date.
J. DENNISON, Cashier.

The Fourth National Bank of the City of New York,
New York, Dec. 21st, 1899.
The Board of Directors has this day declared a semi-annual dividend of THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT., free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, proximo.
The transfer books will close at 3 P. M., this date, reopening January 2d, 1900.
CHARLES H. PATTERSON, Cashier.

Amalgamated Copper Company,
52 Broadway, New York, December 21, 1899.
At a meeting of the Directors of the Amalgamated Copper Company, a quarterly dividend of one and one-half per cent. and an extra dividend of one-half per cent. were declared payable January 22, 1900, to stockholders of record at 12 o'clock noon, Dec. 28, 1899. Transfer books close 12 o'clock noon, Dec. 28, 1899, and open Jan. 22, 1900. WM. G. ROCKEFELLER, Sec. and Treas.

The Oriental Bank.
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
NINETY-THIRD CONSECUTIVE SEMI-ANNUAL DIVIDEND.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a dividend of Five (5) Per Cent., payable on and after January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will be closed from December 20, 1899, until January 2, 1900.
NELSON G. AYRES, Cashier.

The Bowery Bank of New York,
New York, Dec. 20th, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared, out of the earnings of the last six months, a regular semi-annual dividend of SIX (6) PER CENT., and also an extra dividend of FIVE (5) PER CENT., payable on and after Jan. 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will be closed from Dec. 20th, 1899, until Jan. 2d, 1900.
CHARLES ESSIG, Cashier.

Garfield National Bank,
23d St. & Sixth Av.
New York, December 20, 1899.
The Board of Directors has this day declared a quarterly dividend of TEN PER CENT. upon the capital stock of this Bank, payable, free of tax, on and after December 30th, 1899. The transfer books will be closed until Tuesday, January 2d, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M.
R. W. POOR, Cashier.

National Bank of Commerce in New York. Dividend.
December 22d, 1899.
A semi-annual dividend of FOUR (4) PER CENT. has been declared upon the capital stock of this Bank, payable on and after Tuesday, 2d January, proximo. Transfer books will be closed Friday, December 22d, 1899, at close of business and reopened Wednesday, January 3d, 1900, at 10 o'clock A. M.
W. C. DUVALL, Cashier.

Columbia Bank,
Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street.
New York, December 20th, 1899.
The Directors of this Bank have declared a semi-annual dividend of Four (4) Per Cent., free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will remain closed from December 20th, 1899, to January 2d, 1900.
W. S. GRIFFITH, Cashier.

New York County National Bank,
No. 79 Eighth Avenue.
New York City, December 27th, 1899.
94TH DIVIDEND.
The Directors have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of twenty-five (25%), free of tax, payable January 2d, 1900. The transfer books will remain closed until that date.
FRANCIS M. BREESE, Cashier.

Continental Trust Company,
30 Broad Street.
The Board of Trustees have declared the usual quarterly dividend of ONE AND ONE-HALF PER PER CENT., payable to stockholders of record on January 10th next. Transfer books will close January 2d and reopen January 11th.
WILLARD V. KING, Secretary.
December 20, 1899.

The Twelfth Ward Bank.
New York, Dec. 21st, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of Three Per Cent., free of tax, payable on and after Jany. 15th. The transfer books will close January first, and reopen Jany. 16.
F. B. FRENCH, Cashier.

The Hanover National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
New York, December 22d, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a dividend of Five Per Cent., free of tax, payable on and after Jan. 2, 1900. The transfer books will remain closed until that date.
WILLIAM HALLS, Jr., Cashier.

The Importers' and Traders' National Bank of New York,
New York, December 22d, 1899.
A Dividend of Ten Per Cent. out of the earnings of the last six months has to-day been declared by this bank, payable on the second day of January next. The transfer books will remain closed till that date. EDWARD TOWNSEND, Cashier.

Interest on Mobile City Bonds.
The January, 1900, coupons of Mobile City Bonds, issue 1881, will be paid on and after January 1, 1900, in New York by the Mercantile National Bank, and in Mobile by the First National Bank of Mobile.
Z. M. P. INGE, Trustee, &c.

SAVINGS BANKS.

MANHATTAN SAVINGS INSTITUTION,
NO. 644 BROADWAY.
NEW YORK, Dec. 20, 1899.
97th Semi-Annual Dividend.
The Trustees of this institution have declared interest at the rate of THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT. per ann that any further surpluses will go as applicable to the common stock.

The surplus for the month of November alone was $1,728,395, as compared with $1,291,950 a year ago.

MANY STORIES ABOUT SUGAR.

American Sugar enjoyed a remarkable upward movement yesterday, advancing more than six points on sales of about 85,000 shares. There was further talk of a probable settlement of the sugar war, and it was also said that a bull pool in the stock has been formed.

On the other hand, there is a report that there still is a large short interest in the stock, and some people predict further recessions in the quotation.

TAKING OVER A PROPERTY.

The report of the sale of the Toledo and Ohio Central to Hocking Valley and the alleged association of the latter property with some strong trunk line interests in a new combination were among the contributing factors which brought about the gain of 2 points on the common stock of Hocking Valley and 2¾ in the preferred.

Reports of the earnings of the road for the third week in December show an increase of $28,800, and since Jan. 1 of $791,000.

DIVIDEND SOON COMING.

Norfolk and Western common advanced 1 point yesterday and the preferred 1½ on official reports to the effect that the next published statement of earnings will show an extraordinary increase.

The semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent. on the preferred is due in a few weeks, and the buying in anticipation of it has begun. The short interest in the stock is now covering.

VYING FOR LEADERSHIP.

Tennessee Coal and Iron and Federal Steel common vied with each other yesterday for leadership in the steel group, with the result that at the conclusion of the day's trading each stock had scored the substantial gain of 3⅝ points. In the case of Tennessee Coal and Iron the gain was made on sales of less than 5,500, while in the case of Federal Steel the sales fell only a few shares short of 25,000. Federal Steel preferred advanced 2¼ points.

Of both properties only favorable reports were heard. The promised dividend on Federal Steel common will shortly be declared.

TOBACCO GOES UP.

After Sugar, American Tobacco was easily the most conspicuous of the advancing industrials, its gain yesterday being 5⅝ points on sales of something like 30,000. There were no news developments in connection with the property, but there seemed to be a belief that the stock was worth intrinsically more than the low figure that had been ruling this week.

EXTRAORDINARY ADVANCE.

The gain of 9⅜ points in Metropolitan yesterday was the feature of the market. The low figure for the day was 160¼ and the high 171, with the close 170⅝. There was no news whatever concerning the property. In the same way Manhattan gained 2⅞ points without any news developments, while Third Avenue appreciated 5 points.

ANTICIPATING INTEREST.

Following the example set by the Standard Oil Company, which some time ago anticipated its January dividend, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has ordered the payment in advance of the interest upon the company's 3½ per cent. prior lien bonds. The payment will be begun to-day, and all told something like $2,000,000 will thus be anticipated.

BUSINESS INCREASING.

The advance of 4½ points yesterday on People's Gas was aided by the report from Chicago that much new business has been secured by the company during the present month, and that the earnings will show a substantial increase.

MORE DIVIDEND TALK.

Union Pacific stocks yesterday continued their advance, begun on Tuesday, with the result that the common stock appreciated 2½ points and the preferred 1½. Undoubtedly this advance was due principally to the tardy realization and appreciation by the Street of the excellent showing made in the annual report of the company. In the case of the common stock there was added strength in the report that at the Directors' meeting next month the much talked-of dividend on the common may be declared. No official verification of this report, however, can be had.

NOT TO CLOSE SATURDAY.

Members of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday circulated a petition, which was very generally favored, asking the Board of Governors of the Exchange to close on Saturday.

The Governing Committee met in the afternoon to consider the petition, when it was decided not to close as suggested. It is said the committee think the present condition of the market too uncertain to warrant so long a suspension of business.

UTAH GOLD MINES.

Wall Street is at present discussing talked-of probable developments in the affairs of the Utah Consolidated Gold Mines, Limited. It is known that there is a great deal of dissatisfaction among the stockholders of the company because of the way in which the stock has acted. A stockholder said yesterday that the stock had fallen off like other mining stocks, and that, in his opinion, there was no justification for the decline, inasmuch as it intrinsically was worth more than ever.

Exactly what developments may be expected the dissatisfied stockholders will not say; but it is assured that they will insist upon a statement of the company's financial condition and earnings.

NEW SECURITIES LISTED.

The Listing Committee of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday listed the following new securities:

Iowa Central Railway Company, $328,000 additional first mortgage 5 per cent. gold coupon bonds of 1938 for $1,000 each, No. 5,923 to 6,000, inclusive, and No. 6,651 to 6,900, inclusive, making the total amount listed to date $6,900,000, No. 1 to 6,900, inclusive.

The Hocking Valley Railway Company—$1,453,700 additional preferred stock and $3,150,700 additional common stock, making the total amount of preferred stock listed to date $11,453,700, and of common stock $9,150,700. The committee was also empowered to add to the list from time to time additional preferred and common stock when officially notified that said stocks have been issued, in exchange for shares of the Toledo and Ohio Central Railway Company stock, in accordance with the terms of application. The amount of such additional issues shall not exceed $12,780,900 of preferred stock and $10,421,600 of common stock.

The Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf Railroad Company (Reorganization.)—Mercantile Trust Company's engraved certificates of deposit for $21,059,150 first mortgage 5 per cent. thirty-year gold coupon bonds of 1923, and $19,279,700 capital stock, the bonds and stock on the list to be reduced accordingly. The committee is empowered to add to the list, from time to time, additional certificates of deposit for first mortgage 5 per cent. thirty-year gold coupon bonds up to $23,000,000, and for capital stock up to $23,000,000, as officially notified that further amounts have been issued under the terms of application.

The New York Gas and Electric Light, Heat, and Power Company.—$11,500,000 first mortgage collateral trust 5 per cent. gold coupon bonds of 1948, for $1,000 each, No. 1 to 11,500 inclusive (and registered bonds into which said coupon bonds may be converted); also, $20,191,000 purchase money mortgage collateral trust 4 per cent. gold coupon bonds of 1949, for $1,000 each, No. 1 to 20,191 inclusive. The committee is empowered to add to the list from time to time additional purchase money mortgage collateral trust 4 per cent. gold coupon bonds of 1949, when officially notified that said bonds have been issued in exchange for shares of the capital stock of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of New York, in conformity with application, making the total amount to be listed not to exceed $21,000,000.

WALL STREET TOPICS.

Increase of $436,438 in Atchison surplus for November, making an increase of $2,537,127 since July 1.

Ratification by Chicago and East Illinois stockholders of the purchase of the Evansville, Terre Haute and Chicago and the Indiana Block Coal Railroad.

Wisconsin Central said to become a member of the Western Passenger Association on assurances of a fair proportion of the business.

Statement that the Southern Railway and Seaboard Air Line have decided to maintain current rate schedules during the coming year.

Payment to begin to-day of interest due Jan. 1 on Baltimore and Ohio's 3½ per cent. prior lien bonds.

Rudolph Keppler, President of the Stock Exchange, added to the committee appointed by the holders of large amounts of the common and preferred stocks of the Distilling Company of America to investigate the affairs of that company and to recommend such action as may seem advisable.

Increase of 2,649 tons in east-bound shipments of dead freight from Chicago as compared with the previous week.

Denial by Paul Morton, Third Vice President of the Santa Fé, of the story from Chicago that he is to be President of the reorganized Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf system.

Advance of half a cent in posted rates for sterling exchange.

Decrease of $89,524 in Omaha's gross earnings for November, but increase of $1,050,954 since Jan. 1.

Organization of the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis Railway, with $7,350,000 capital stock, to purchase the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis Railroad and the St. Louis, Chicago and St. Paul, under foreclosure.

Postponement until Jan. 8 of the hearing in the suit of Thomas F. Ryan for a permanent injunction against the Seaboard Air Line consolidation, which was to have been heard in Richmond, Va., yesterday.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call was 3@6 per cent., closing at 4½ per cent.

Time money, 6 per cent. for all periods. Mercantile paper, 6 per cent. for sixty to ninety days' indorsements, 6 per cent. for choice four to six months' single-names, and 7@8 per cent. for others.

Clearing House statement: Exchanges, $246,394,880; balances, $9,726,586; Sub-Treasury debit balance, $1,426,840.

Money on call in London, at 5 per cent. Rate of discount in open market, 6⅝ per cent. for both short and three months' bills.

Foreign Exchange firm. Nominal rates were $4.82 for sixty days and $4.88½ for demand. Rates for actual business closed as follows: Sixty days, $4.81; demand, $4.87¼; cables, $4.88½@$4.88⅝; commercial bills, $4.80¼@$4.82.

Continental exchange was quoted as follows: Francs, 5.23¾ and 5.20; reichsmarks, 93⅜ and 94.11-16; guilders at 39¼ and 40 3-16.

Exchange on New York at domestic centres: Boston—par @ 10c premium. Chicago—20c premium. New Orleans—Commercial, $1.25 discount; bank, par. San Francisco—Sight, 12½c premium; telegraphic, 15c premium. Charleston—Buying, par; selling, ⅛c premium. Savannah—Buying, ⅛c off; selling, par. St. Louis—$1 discount. Cincinnati—Between banks, par; over counter, 50c premium.

THE LONDON MARKET.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—American securities opened rather firmer in response to better overnight prices from New York, and values were well maintained throughout the session on a good speculative demand. The final tone was firm.

Consols for money and the account, 98 13-16d; Canadian, 92½; Erie, 11⅛; Erie first preferred, 32½; Illinois Central, 112; Union Pacific preferred, 74; St. Paul, 119⅝; New York Central, 131¼; Pennsylvania, 68⅜; Reading, 9¼; Northern Pacific preferred, 74¾; Atchison, 19½; Louisville, 79¼; Grand Trunk, 6½; Anaconda, 7⅝.

Money, 5 per cent. Rate of discount in the open market for short and three months' bills, 6⅞ per cent.

The amount of bullion taken into the Bank of England on balance to-day was £739,000, including £706,000 American eagles. Gold premiums: Buenos Ayres, 129.10; Madrid, 27.55; Lisbon, 43.50; Rome, 7.29½.

India Council bills were allotted to-day at 1s 4 1-32d.

Bar silver quiet at 26 15-16d per ounce.

In Continental Centres.

PARIS, Dec. 27.—Prices opened firm on the Bourse to-day, but subsequently declined owing to the many sales made to close accounts in view of the forthcoming settlement. Near the close, however, there was a slight recovery. On the Street, after the close of the regular business on the Bourse, Kafirs received. Three per cent. rentes, 98f 87½c for the account. Exchange on London, 25f 35c for checks. Spanish 4s closed at 65.05.

BERLIN, Dec. 27.—Business on the Boerse to-day was quiet owing to London being absorbed in the settlement. Prices were generally maintained. Only mine shares declined, and this fall was due to apprehensions that the scarcity of transport facilities would interfere with the working of mining properties. Exchange on London, 20 marks 59 pfennigs for checks.

The weekly statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany shows the following changes: Cash on hand decreased 18,880,000 marks, Treasury notes decreased 3,180,000 marks, other securities increased 39,200,000 marks, and notes in circulation increased 58,000,000 marks.

The Reichsbank statement is regarded in German business circles as highly unfavorable. It shows 71,000,000 marks less metal in stock than a year ago, 34,000,000 marks in notes in circulation, and 241,000,000 marks in discounts in excess of last year's figures. Herr Koch, President of the bank, admits that the final statement at the end of the year will be the worst in the bank's history. The usual relaxation in January will be less marked than in former years, owing to London conditions, where a further advance in the money rate is expected.

FRANKFORT, Dec. 27.—On the Boerse to-day prices opened firm, being encouraged by the reports received from New York and Berlin. Business, however, was inactive, investors being occupied with the settlement. Toward the close local shares were offered.

MADRID, Dec. 27.—Gold was quoted to-day at 27.50.

SECURITIES AT AUCTION.

Adrian H. Muller & Son sold yesterday at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, 111 Broadway, the following securities:

25 shares Central National Bank, $100 each, 176¾.
5 shares National Park Bank, $190 each, 485½.
50 shares Bank of the Republic, $100 each, 197½.
20 shares Title Guarantee and Trust Company, $100 each, 190.
14 shares National Bank of North America, $100 each, 205.
7 shares Mutual Bank, $100 each, 150⅝.
100 shares St. Lawrence Power Company, preferred, (hypothecated,) $100 each, $230 lot.
25 shares Trust Company of America, $100 each, 210.
18 shares National City Bank, (with rights,) $100 each, 1896.
25 shares Corn Exchange Bank, $100 each, 350.
1,000 shares Philadelphia Company of Pittsburg, Penn., common, $50 each, $35 per share.
10 shares National Bank of North America, $100 each, 205.
10 shares Trust Company of America, $100 each, 205¼.
200 shares Trust Company of America, $100 each, 200.

COPPER PRICES IN GERMANY.

An Expert Says There Is No Reason Why They Should Fall.

BERLIN, Dec. 27.—An official of the Allgemeine Electricitaets Gesellschaft, which is the largest in the world, discussing the fall in copper prices, said to-day:

"So far as Germany is concerned there is no occasion for a fall in price, since copper consumption here is still increasing and the condition of the electrical industry points to an increased consumption. I must admit, however, that aluminium is coming into sharp competition with copper for trolley wire."

FINANCIAL.

Chester B. Lawrence, Jr.,

Member Consolidated Stock Exchange.
STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.
Branch Offices:
1,300 BROADWAY, CORNER 34TH ST.
621 BROADWAY, CORNER HOUSTON ST.
MAIN OFFICES, 32 & 34 BROADWAY.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

Much improvement appeared yesterday in the market for outside securities. The firmness displayed at the opening of the week's market was followed by good buying in a number of issues which in several cases resulted in substantial net gains. More confidence was displayed than on any day in the last two or three weeks, and especially at the close did the market show signs that last week's apprehension is over. Selling pressure was almost entirely removed, and, instead of offerings of stocks without bids, it more frequently happened that stock was wanted and none offered. Some of the day's net changes amounted to a number of points, while in nearly every quarter of the market a distinctly better tone prevailed. Total transactions for the day were below recent averages, and in some of the stocks, even among those which showed the largest net gains, the day's trading amounted to only a few hundred shares. Several of the industrial stocks, one or two of the issues in the electric group, and some of the copper stocks were among the stocks substantially better than on the previous day. Very few net changes were on the side of declines, and only one or two of these were important.

ELECTRIC VEHICLE was in good demand, but the transactions were very light, as little or no stock appeared in the market. On the purchase of two or three lots the price went to 62, and it closed at 62 bid, a net gain of two points. In the preferred stock the only sale reported was an odd lot which changed hands at 90. This was the first sale made since last week, when a small amount of stock offered brought no better price than 72½. A condition characterizing many of the movements in stocks of this kind is the very small amount of stock needed to either advance or depress the price. Owing to the feeling prevailing last week, 100 or 200 shares were in many issues sufficient to bring about declines of a number of points, while in those prevailing now the purchase of a similar amount of stock brings about an equally large advance. As in Electric Vehicle, several other issues showed substantial net gains on very small transactions.

ELECTRIC BOAT common was bid up to 23 without any stock appearing. This was an advance of 2 points over the previous day's bid.

NEW YORK TRANSPORTATION sold up to 11, an advance of 1 point, and closed at 10⅝ bid.

AMALGAMATED COPPER was quiet and steady most of the day, closing strong at 81 bid, a net gain of three-eighths of a point. For the last two or three days the fluctuation in this stock has been very narrow, prices keeping within a range of half a point. For the time being traders appear to be doing little in the copper stocks. At all events they are much less active in them than they were last week, when they profited by the conditions to break the price of Amalgamated.

TENNESSEE COPPER shared the generally improved condition of the market, and the bid for this issue advanced from 10 to 11⅝, closing at the latter figure.

NATIONAL SALT was one of the strongest stocks in the industrial group, and at the close of the day showed a net gain of at least 3 points in each issue. Transactions in the stock were in very small amount, but in this, as in other stocks, the amount of the day's sales was not at all in proportion with the net gains recorded. In the common stock the last sale was made at 47, and it closed at 46¼ bid, against 43 bid on Tuesday, and the preferred stock closed at 78 bid, an even three-point advance.

RUBBER Goods preferred sold at 76, and ended the day at 75½ bid, an advance of 1½ points. Similar advances were recorded in several other stocks.

NEW AMSTERDAM GAS was strong early in the day, being in demand at about the previous day's closing figures, but subsequent offerings of the stock considerably decreased the price. In the common stock the bid went off about 2 points, and the preferred suffered a similar loss. Unlike the stock, the bonds remained firm until the close, and showed a net gain of 2 points. Early sales of the bonds were made from 93 up to 94¾.

AMERICAN BICYCLE bonds closed with a further fractional net gain, at 92½ bid, and no bonds were offered.

GENERAL CARRIAGE, which a short time ago was bid up to 200, was yesterday offered at 45, with practically no bids to be had.

Closing quotations were as follows:

ACTIVE SECURITIES.

Gas Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Bay State Gas	1¼	1½
New Amsterdam	21	23
New Amsterdam pf	41	43
New Amsterdam 5s, with interest	93	95

Industrials.

American Agricultural Chemical	..	31
American Agricultural Chemical pf	77	78
American Bicycle	15	20
American Bicycle pf	50	60
American Bicycle bonds	92½	..
American Hide & Leather	..	85
American Hide & Leather pf	..	80
American Woolen Goods	19½	20½
American Woolen Goods pf	75½	77
American Writing Paper 5s	85	88
Beet Sugar	17	25
Beet Sugar pf	70	77
Distilling Company of America	7¼	7⅝
Distilling Company of America pf	23	24
Electric Axle, Light & Power	5½	6½
Electric Boat	23	..
Electric Boat pf	38	41
Havana Commercial	13	15
Havana Commercial pf	58	59½
International Pump	14	16
International Pump pf	60	62
National Gramophone	63	68
National Salt	46½	48
National Salt pf	78	80
National Tube	41	43
National Tube pf	92	94
Otis Elevator	21	22
Otis Elevator pf	86	88
Royal Baking Powder pf	90	92
Rubber Goods Mfg.	24½	26
Rubber Goods Mfg. pf	75½	77
Sloss-Sheffield	28	30
Sloss-Sheffield pf	66	69
Standard Oil of New Jersey	451	459
Union Steel & Chain	15	..
Union Steel & Chain pf	..	65
U. S. Pneumatic Horse Collar	⅜	½

Miscellaneous.

Amalgamated Copper	81	81¼
American Air Power	30	40
American Cotton	..	50
Arizona Lead	10	16½
Asphalt Company of America	11¾	12½
British Columbia Copper	9	10
Chicago & Alton sub	100	102
Chicago & Alton 3s, (new)	93	96
Electric Vehicle	62	66
Electric Vehicle pf	..	100
*Electro-Pneumatic, assessment paid	1¾	1⅞
Flemington Coal & Coke	17	..
Illinois Transportation	2½	2¾
*Markeen Copper	7¼	7½
Mexican 5s	97	98¼
New England Transportation	5½	6½
New York Gas & Electric 4s	88	89
New York Gas & Electric 5s	99	101
New York Transportation	10¾	11½
Pittsburg, Bessemer & Lake Erie	21	22
St. Louis subs	125	..
St. Louis common, when issued	..	28
St. Louis preferred, when issued	..	93
St. Louis 4s, when issued	..	94¾
Storage Power	13½	15
Tennessee Copper	11¾	12½
Trust Company of America	200	206
Virginia Coal, Iron & Coke	..	28
Whipsaw Copper	12⅝	13½

*Selling dollars per share. Par value, $10.

LESS ACTIVE SECURITIES.

Street Railways.

	Bid.	Asked.
Broadway & Seventh Avenue	235	240
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 1st	104	105
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 2d	110	112
Broadway Surface 1st 5s	115	117
Broadway Surface 2d	104	105
Brooklyn City Railroad	235	237
Brooklyn, Bath & West End 5s	102	103
Central Park, N. & E. River	198	..
Central Park, N. & E. River 7s	108	108
Chicago Union Traction	28	28¾
Chicago Union Traction, pf	79	79½
Columbus Railway	20	24
Columbus Railway pf	56	60
Con. Traction of N. J.	53	60
Con. Traction of N. J. 5s	106	108
Eighth Avenue Railroad	400	410
Kings County Elevated 4s, (new)	82	84
Lake Shore & Michigan Southern	70	74
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av. 1st	115	117
42d St. Man. & St. Nicholas Av. 2d	82	88
Nassau Electric 4s	90	94
Nassau Electric 5s	109	112
New Orleans Traction	23	30
New Orleans Traction pf	102	104
Ninth Avenue Railroad	190	205
North Jersey Street Railway	30½	32
North Jersey Street Railway 4s	88	90
Orange & Passaic Valley Railway	103	104
Steinway Railway Co. 6 p. c. 1st	117	118
Second Avenue Railroad consols	115½	117
Sixth Avenue Railroad	205	210
Syracuse Rapid Transit	12	18
Syracuse Rapid Transit pf	25	35
Union Railway 1st 5s	115	117
Union Railway stock	190	200
United Traction, Providence	110	113
Worcester (Mass.) Traction	..	30
Worcester (Mass.) Traction pf	104	107

Gas Companies.

Buffalo (N. Y.) stock	7	9
Buffalo (N. Y.) 1st with interest	..	74
Central Union 5s, guaranteed	103½	106
Consolidated Gas of Newark	..	55
Consolidated Gas of Newark bonds	..	103
Consolidated Gas bonds of N. J.	87½	89¼
Consolidated Gas of N. J.	21¾	23½
Consumers' Gas (Jersey City) bonds	102	105
Denver Gas	40	43
Denver Gas 5s	80	81
Essex & Hudson Gas	35	40
Fort Wayne Gas	35	39
Fort Wayne Gas 6s	90	94
Indianapolis Gas	100	105
Indianapolis Gas bonds	101	103
Lafayette Gas Co	40	45
Lafayette Gas Co. 1st 6s	60	65
Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas	35	40
Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas 6s	60	65
Mutual Gas of New York	300	..
Madison (Wis.) stock	61	63
New England Gas & Coke	..	22
New England Gas & Coke bonds	..	71
N. Y. & E. R. Gas Co., 1st	107	110
N. Y. & E. R. Gas Co. con	109	113
N. Y. Suburban Gas Co. con	102½	103½
North Hudson L., H. & P. Co.	55	58
North Hud. L., H. & P. Co. bonds	107	109
Ohio & Indiana	35	38
Ohio & Indiana 1st 6s	60	65
St. Joseph (Mo.)	40	46
St. Joseph (Mo.) 6s	90	93
St. Paul Gas stock	89	91
St. Paul Gas bonds	89	91
Standard Gas, New York	100	125
Standard Gas, New York, pf	110	125
Standard Gas 1st	110	118
Syracuse Gas stock	14	16
Syracuse Gas 1st 5 per cent. bonds	85	90
Western Gas	105	106
Western Gas 1st 5s, with interest	105	106½

Ferry Companies.

Brooklyn Ferry	..	82
Brooklyn Ferry 5s	90	94
Hoboken Ferry, (new)	65	68
Hoboken Ferry con. 5s	91	93
Metropolitan Ferry 5s	105	110
Union Ferry	40	41
Union Ferry bonds	100	102

Industrials.

American Ginning	20	22
American Typefounders	51	53
Anderson Tobacco Company	10	19
Barney & Smith	15	20
Barney & Smith pf	100	..
Barney & Smith bonds	105	107
Consolidated Rubber Tire	..	..
Consolidated Rubber Tire pf	30	35
Crampe' Shipyard	80	85
General Chemical	59	..
General Chemical pf	97½	100
Hudson River Telephone	115	118
Lorillard Company pf	..	110
Standard Coupler	37	41
Trenton Potteries	6	10
Trenton Potteries pf	45	55
Union Typewriter	20	25
Union Typewriter 1st pf	110	113
Union Typewriter 2d pf	118	122
Worthington Pump pf	107	109

Miscellaneous.

American Bank Note	47	50
Central & South American Tel	110	112
Iron Steamboat	3	5
Iron Steamboat bonds	50	60
Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis	5	7
Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis pf	20	25

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—To-day's market was fairly active, with noticeable firmness throughout the list, and in a few spots, as Sugar, Burlington, Atchison, Union Pacific, and Federal Steel, considerable strength. A feature was the ten-point drop in Gas seconds on a revival of the report of no interest payment. In the copper shares, Parrot's advance to 39 and subsequent dip, the buying of Montana, selling of Tamarack, and weakness in Utah and Copper Range were the features.

At the Clearing House the rate between banks was 6 per cent., and New York funds sold at par and 10c. premium.

Aside from business between the banks and their customers, there is very little movement in money. Renewals are making at 6 per cent., where collateral is first class. Note brokers are expecting a considerable pressure to put out money by the middle of January. Commercial paper is nominally 6@7 per cent. On call, money rules from 6@7 per cent.

Closing bid and asked:

Mining Stocks.

	Bid.	Asked.		Bid.	Asked.
Adventure	6¼	7	Old Colony	4	5
Aliouez	3	3½	Old Domin	19½	..
Arcadian	22½	23	Osceola	67½	69
Arnold	5	5½	Parrot	36½	37
Ash Bed	1	..	Pioneer	2	2½
Atlantic	23	25	Quincy	137½	140
Baltic	17½	..	Rhode Isla'd	..	5
Bost. & C. C.	20	..	Santa Fé	4⅜	5
Bost. & Mon.	255	265	Santa Ysabel	7	7½
Butte & Bos.	42	45	Shoe	30	..
Cal. & Hec.	710	720	Tamarack	156	170
Centennial	15½	16½	Utah Cons.	26½	27
Franklin	13	13¼	Washington	1½	..
Humboldt	1	2	White Knob	7	10
Isle Royale	26	..	Winona	4½	5½
Mohawk	14½	15	Wolverine	37	37½

Railroad Stocks.

Bost. & Alb.	244	246	Bost. Gas 5s.	80	84
Bost. & Low.	241	..	Cent. Mass.	9	..
Bost. & Me.	199	200	Fitchburg pf.	115	120
Bost. & Prov.	299	300	West End	92	92¾
Bost. Eley.	97	97½

Miscellaneous Stocks.

Am. Bell Tel.	342	344	Mex. Tel.	3	3¼
Chi. Sk. Yds.	130	132	N. Eng. Tel.	130	138
Dom. Coal	43	44	U. S. Oil	22½	23½
D. Coal pf.	114	..	West. Elec.	39	3
Erie Tel.	100½	101½	West. El. pf.	83	7

CHICAGO QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Activity to-day was all in Linseed preferred and Biscuit common. The former opened at 52⅜, and after dropping to 52¼ sold to 53⅛, closing there. The latter advanced from 35⅝ at the start to 36, and finished at that price. The preferred ranged from 89¾ to 91, closing at the latter. It opened at 90. Metropolitan preferred to-day closed at 76½, a gain of 1½ points over the opening. The common closed at 25, a point gain over the starting price. A few shares brought 25½. The bonds brought 93¾@94. Match's close at 121 was a decline of a point.

	High.	Low.	Close.
1,000..American Linseed	12⅞	12⅜	12⅞
3,888..American Linseed pf	53¼	52¼	53⅛
40..American Radiator	45	45	45
100..American Tin Plate pf	77⅞	77⅛	77⅞
10..Chicago Union Trac	25½	25½	25½
280..Chicago Union Trac. pf	75¾	74½	75¾
203..Diamond Match	122¾	121	121
25..Lake Street Elevated	16	16	16
25..Lake St. Elevated pf	14½	14½	14½
160..Metropolitan Elevated	25½	24	25
570..Met. Elevated pf	76½	75	76½
1,764..National Biscuit	36	35½	36
442..National Biscuit pf	91	89½	91
90..South Side Elevated	99	98½	99
450..Union Loop	103	102	102
259..West Chicago	112	110½	110½

BONDS.

	High.	Low.	Close.
$20,000..City Railway 4½s	100⅝	100⅝	100⅝
17,000..Met. El. gold 4s	94	93⅝	94

RAILWAY STATEMENTS.

The following railways reporting yesterday gross earnings for the third week in December showed increases:

Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern	$8,022
Chicago & Eastern Illinois	12,500
Chicago Great Western	14,855
Mexican Central	55,894
Mexican National	12,906
Minneapolis & St. Louis	989
Missouri Pacific—Central Branch	4,000
New York, Ontario & Western	27,931
Pittsburg & Western	2,648
Toledo, Peoria & Western	265
Total increase ten roads	$140,010
Increase previously reported	374,286
Total increase thirty roads	$514,297

The following showed decreases:

International & Great Northern	$11,768
Missouri Pacific	14,000
Total decrease two roads	$25,763
Decrease previously reported	52,948
Total decrease eight roads	$78,711
Net increase	$435,586

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE SALES

STOCKS.

Sales.		Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
3,830	Am. Steel & W.	44½	46⅝	44⅜	46⅝
22,560	Am. Sugar Ref.	124¾	130⅝	124	130½
1,260	Am. Tobacco	93	96½	92¾	96
20	A., T. & S. F.	19½	19½	19¼	19½
3,390	A., T. & S. F. pf.	58½	60	58¾	60
44,590	Brook. Rap. Tr.	69½	70½	68¾	69¾
90	Ches. & Ohio	29	29⅝	28⅞	29
5,240	Chi., Bur. & Qy.	119⅝	121¾	119½	121¾
3,200	C., M. & St. P.	116⅝	118¾	116½	118¾
440	C., R. I. & Pac.	104¾	106½	104¾	106½
590	Cont. Tobacco	30½	31¼	30¼	31¼
6,200	Federal Steel	47½	50¾	47	50¾
220	Fed. Steel pf.	71½	72⅞	71	72¾
480	Louis. & Nash.	77⅛	78½	77¼	77⅝
3,710	Manhattan	92¼	95	91¾	95
1,250	Mo. Pacific	38⅜	39½	38½	39⅜
40	N. Y. Central	129⅜	129½	129½	129½
50	N. Y., O. & W.	21½	21⅝	21¼	21¼
20	Norf. & West.	22¾	22⅞	22¾	22⅞
390	Nor. Pacific	52	52½	52	52½
80	Pacific Mail	38⅜	39½	38⅜	39½
1,670	People's Gas	98¼	102½	98¼	102½
800	Reading 1st pf.	48	49	47¾	48¾
4,350	Southern Pac.	35¼	36⅞	35	36⅝
10	Southern Ry.	11½	11½	11½	11½
60	South. Ry. pf.	53½	53⅝	53	53½
320	Tenn. C. & I.	80¾	83¼	80½	82⅝
2,160	Union Pacific	45¼	47¼	45	47
280	Union Pac. pf.	73¼	73⅝	72	73¼
2,580	U. S. Leather	14⅞	14⅞	13⅝	13⅝
40	U. S. Leath. pf.	72	72	71½	71½
10	West. Union	85½	85½	85½	85½

109,960

BONDS.

Sales.		Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
$10,000	Am. Gas 5s	91¼	94¾	91½	94⅝

The J. W. Taylor's Coffee to Land.

President Murphy of the Board of Health has decided to allow the coffee brought here by the steamer J. W. Taylor, which had a case of bubonic plague on board, to be landed in Brooklyn. The barges containing the coffee will go to Brooklyn one by one, where the coffee will be roasted under the supervision of the Health Board Inspectors. The steamer Lassell, which came in with the Taylor, and which was run into by the steamer Friesland, while at anchor in the lower bay, will probably be taken to sea and sunk.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

Complete Transactions in Stocks—Wednesday, Dec. 27, 1899.

Closing Bid.	Closing Asked.	Sales.		First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Net Change.
145	..	400	American Coal	145	145	145	145	..
13	13⅜	940	Am. Car & Foundry	13¾	13⅞	13¼	13¼	-⅛
57	58	1,100	Am. Car & Found. pf.	56	57½	56	57½	+2
31½	32	420	American Ice	31½	32	31½	32	½
34¼	34½	1,100	American Cotton Oil	32¾	34¾	32½	34⅝	+1⅝
..	92	110	Am. Cotton Oil pf.	90	92	90	92	..
12¾	13	390	American

character. Still, little long stock pressed on the market, and the gains were well held to the close, which was firm. Closing, bid, and asked:

	Bid.	Asked		Bid.	Asked.
Cumbria	19⅝	20	Union Trac.	37¼	37⅝
El. Co. of A.	12¾	12⅝	U. Gas Imp.	14⅜	..
Lehigh Val.	25¼	25⅝	Weisbach Co.	37½	38
Marsden	11	11¼	W. N. Y. & P.	5	5⅛
Philad Trac.	94⅞	95⅛	Penn.	..	..

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

	1899.	1898.	1897.
BALTIMORE & OHIO SOUTHWESTERN—
Mileage	921	921
3d week Dec.	$134,206	$128,244	$133,370
From July 1.	3,535,110	3,473,995
CHICAGO & EASTERN ILLINOIS—
Mileage	648	648	648
3d week Dec.	132,500	120,000	115,150
From July 1.	2,965,027	2,258,395
CHICAGO GREAT WESTERN—
Mileage	930	930	930
3d week Dec.	121,850	107,020	93,781
From July 1.	3,220,297	2,770,988
INTERNATIONAL & GREAT NORTHERN—
Mileage	775	775	775
3d week Dec.	90,000	101,760	89,030
From Jan. 1.	3,891,013	3,847,102	3,539,184
MEXICAN CENTRAL—
Mileage	2,010	2,010	1,956
3d week Dec.	370,768	314,374	257,820
From Jan. 1.	15,125,970	13,114,992	12,443,500
MEXICAN NATIONAL—
Mileage	1,206	1,219	1,219
3d week Dec.	131,116	118,210	108,447
From Jan. 1.	6,704,163	5,942,095	5,807,301
MINNEAPOLIS & ST. LOUIS—
Mileage	507	366	366
3d week Dec.	51,157	50,168	34,736
From July 1.	1,486,196	1,180,648
MISSOURI PACIFIC—
Mileage	4,938	4,938	4,938
3d week Dec.	523,000	537,000	461,000
From Jan. 1.	25,115,271	25,857,217	24,010,386
CENTRAL BRANCH—
Mileage	388	388	388
3d week Dec.	23,000	19,000	20,000
From Jan. 1.	1,209,932	1,245,651	1,089,554
NEW YORK, ONTARIO & WESTERN—
Mileage	481	481	481
3d week Dec.	96,487	68,506	64,715
From July 1.	2,521,579	2,013,565
OMAHA—
Month November.	999,719	1,080,243	99,257
From Jan. 1.	9,694,239	8,643,285	7,925,443
PITTSBURG & WESTERN—
Mileage	345	343	336
3d week Dec.	60,404	57,816	51,447
From July 1.	1,685,685	1,590,975
TOLEDO, PEORIA & WESTERN—
Mileage	248	248	248
3d week Dec.	18,373	18,108	20,638
From Jan. 1.	994,605	950,560	917,567
ALLEGHENY VALLEY for November—
Gross earnings	285,092	230,833	236,016
Oper. expenses	199,095	134,990	131,385
Net earnings	85,997	95,842	104,631
Prop. op. exp. to gross	69⅞	58¼	55⅝
Gross, 11 months.	2,917,587	2,442,306	2,324,908
Net, 11 months.	1,030,117	1,025,435	982,134
ATCHISON, TOPEKA & SANTA FE for November—
Gross earnings	4,241,731	4,008,903	3,889,246
Oper. expenses	2,359,594	2,574,754	2,515,583
Net earnings	1,882,137	1,434,149	1,373,663
Prop. op. exp. to gross	55⅝	64⅜	64⅝
Charges	153,741	142,192	146,307
Surplus	1,728,395	1,291,957	1,227,356
Gross, 5 months.	19,424,543	17,200,859	16,316,039
Net, 5 months.	7,533,134	4,968,131	5,113,009
Surplus, 5 months.	6,793,933	4,256,806	4,401,101
ERIE RAILROAD for November—
Gross earnings	3,386,094	2,948,470	2,956,020
Oper. expenses	2,493,034	2,159,488	2,136,828
Net earnings	893,059	788,991	819,192
Prop. ex. to gross	73⅝	74½	72¾
Gross, 5 months.	17,167,660	14,567,529	15,447,686
Net, 5 months.	6,080,149	4,375,272	4,500,807
NEW YORK, SUSQUEHANNA & WESTERN, including the Wilkesbarre & Eastern Railroad, for November—
Gross earnings	242,896	231,370	220,670
Oper. expenses	126,917	108,519	112,669
Net earnings	115,979	122,799	108,001
Prop. op. exp. to gross	52¼	47⅛	51⅛
Gross, 5 months.	1,172,799	1,035,967	1,028,077
Net, 5 months.	557,522	513,203	453,257
HOCKING VALLEY for November—	1899.	1898.	Increase.
Gross earnings	389,533	281,764	107,789
Oper. expenses	229,184	142,994	47,019
Net earnings	160,368	108,769	60,599
Prop. op. exp. to gross	56½	61⅜	.....
Charges	67,657	.....	.....
Surplus	101,711	.....	.....
Gross, 5 months.	1,170,310	1,102,411	586,020
Net, 5 months.	724,229	390,693	334,536
Surplus, 5 months.	497,203	.....	.....
WRIGHTSVILLE & TENNESSEE for November—
Gross earnings	16,672	11,069	5,603
Oper. expenses	9,747	5,098	4,649
Net earnings	6,925	5,971	954
Gross, 5 months.	73,741	43,107	30,634
Net, 5 months.	27,582	18,553	9,029

MINING STOCK QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27.—The official closing quotations for mining stocks to-day and yesterday were as follows:

	Wednesday.	Tuesday.
Alta	.06	.05
Alpha Con.	.03	.03
Andes	.10	.10
Belcher	.14	.14
Best & Belcher	.26	.26
Bullion	.03	.03
Caledonia	.49	.49
Challenge Con.	.10	.12
Chollar	.21	.22
Confidence	.65	.65
Con. Cal. & Va.	1.35	1.40
Con. Imperial	.01	.01
Crown Point	.13	.13
Gould & Curry	.22	.24
Hale & Norcross	.33	.33
Justice	.02	.02
Kentucky Con.	.02	.03
Lady Washington Con.	.02	.02
Mexican	.28	.28
Occidental Con.	.11	.11
Ophir	.66	.66
Overman	.10	.10
Potosi	.22	.22
Savage	.08	.09
Sag Belcher	.03	.02
Sierra Nevada	.41	.40
Standard	2.00	2.50
Syndicate	.05	.05
St. Louis	.07	.07
Union Con.	.26	.25
Utah Con.	.04	.04
Yellow Jacket	.24	.24
Silver bars	58⅝	58½
Mexican dollars	47½@48⅝	47½@48
Drafts, sight	12½	12½
Telegraph	.15	.15

Special to The New York Times.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Dec. 27.—Gardner & Co. report closings quotations as follows:

	Wednesday. Bid.	Asked.	Tuesday. Bid.	Asked
Acacia	38⅝	39	38	38¾
Alamo	16	17	15½	16
Anaconda	44	47	43	44
Anchoria	70	80	70	80
Argentum	18½	19	18	18½
Bankers'	11¼	12½	11⅞	12½
Battle	32	33	34	34½
Blue Bell	12	12½	12	13
Coin	235	250	235	250
Columbine	19¼	20	19½	19½
Consolidated	15¾	16	16	16¼
Damon	28	28¼	27	28
Elkton	118½	120	119	120
El Paso	30	31	29	32
Findlay	12⅝	13½	13¼	13⅝
Fleece	25	31	25	30
Garfield	16½	18⅝	16	18⅜
Gibson	20	25	20	25
Gould	33	33½	33	33½
Isabella	141	142	141½	142½
Independence	47	49	45	49
Jackpot	56	57½	56	57⅜
King	93½	97	94	98
Moon Anchor	72	73	69	71
Matoa	29¾	30½	29¼	31
National	10⅞	11	11¾	11¾
Ophir	52½	58	53	58
Pharmacist Con.	13¼	14	13⅜	13⅞
Pinnacle	27	28	28	28½
Portland	224	224½	226	227½
Raven	74	75	74½	75
Rawlings	30	32	30	32
Rosa	50	60	50	60
Sovereign	14⅜	15	14⅜	14⅝
Tornado	46	50	46	50
Union	36¼	36½	35¾	36
Vindicator	150	170	150	170
Work	28¼	29	28¼	28⅝
Zenobia	19	21	19	21

FINANCIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Dividends have been declared by the New York County National Bank, the Continental Trust Company, and the Twelfth Ward Bank, details of which will be found in another column, as well as the announcement of the payment of interest on $13,666,000 3 per cent. bonds of the State of Tennessee.

The Mechanics and Traders' Bank has issued a statement showing the increase in its deposits from Oct. 21, 1898, when Leo Schlesinger was elected its President, to Dec. 21, 1899. The total deposits on the last-named date aggregated $2,680,000, an increase of $1,411,000 over the deposits of Oct. 21, 1898.

The Commercial Trust Company of New Jersey, John W. Hardenbergh, President, announce that they will be open for business from Jan. 2. They are prepared to transact a general banking and trust business, and offer special attention and facilities for all corporations organized under the laws of New Jersey.

J. P. Morgan & Co. announce that on and after Jan. 2 they will pay three months' interest due Jan. 1 on bonds of the United States of Mexico, 5 per cent. consolidated external gold loan of 1899. Holders of their temporary certificates may collect such interest upon presentation of the same at the bankers' offices in order that payment may be stamped thereon.

Advance in Price of Pasteboard.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the National Board and Paper Company held yesterday at 216 Wooster Street, it was decided that the price of pasteboard should be advanced $2.50 a ton. Over a score of representative manufacturers of pasteboard were present at the meeting.

Burglars Rob Watkins Post Office.

WATKINS, N. Y., Dec. 27.—The safe in the Post Office here was blown open by burglars at 3 o'clock this morning and the office badly wrecked. A good haul was probably made, though the exact amount is not yet obtainable

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Dealings by Brokers—Thirty-second and Thirty-third Street Properties Transferred—Auction Sales.

Jesse C. Bennett & Co. have sold for Alexander Cash to an investor the four-story brownstone front dwelling 143 West Seventy-fifth Street, 20 by 00 by 102.2. The house is now under lease at an annual rental of $2,400.

Simon Sterne has sold the three-story brownstone front dwelling 173 East Ninety-third Street, 18.9 by 50 by 100.

Negotiations are well advanced for the resale of a thirty-two-foot frontage on the Fifty-second Street side of the orphan asylum block.

It is reported that the six-story building running through from 228 West Broadway to 8 North Moore Street, 25 by 60, has been sold for about $110,000. Thomas J. McLaughlin is the owner of record of the property.

W. R. Martin has bought for about $34,000 the five-story flat 150 Columbus Avenue, 25 by 85 by 100.

H. Rawak has sold for Julius Fleischmann the five-story flat at the northwest corner of Madison Avenue and One Hundred and Nineteenth Street, 25.10 by 100.

Peter Axelrod has sold for the Frederick Specht estate, to S. Straus, 430, 440, 442, 444, and 446 East One Hundred and Sixteenth Street.

Lowenfeld & Prager have bought 209 and 211 East Eighty-first Street, old buildings, on a plot 50.10 by 102.2; also, the dwelling 237 East Thirty-ninth Street, 10.7 by 98.9.

The American Realty Company took title yesterday from Michael J. O'Shaughnessy, Jr., of St. Paul, Minn., to 31, 33, and 35 West Thirty-second Street, 75 by 98.9, and 30 to 36 West Thirty-third Street, 70 by 98.9, for a total consideration of $446,500. Mr. O'Shaughnessy also transferred to the company the plot on Riverside Drive 175 feet south of One Hundred and Twenty-second Street, running through to Claremont Avenue, 25 by 200, and the property on the north side of One Hundred and Seventeenth Street, 250 feet east of Amsterdam Avenue, 18 by 100.11. Albert J. Conklin, Jr., conveyed to the company a parcel 25.8 by 100, on the north side of Eighty-eighth Street, just east of Park Avenue, and 905 Sixth Avenue was transferred to it by George Wolf. All of these holdings, together with property at Southampton, L. I., were mortgaged by the American Realty Company to the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company in the sum of $500,000, to secure an issue of bonds for that amount due in thirty years.

The Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, the Trustees of which recently filed plans for the remodeling of the church edifice, yesterday mortgaged its property at the southwest corner of Madison Avenue and Fifty-third Street to the Lawyers' Title Insurance Company for $100,000, due in one year.

Ole H. Olsen will erect a ten-story stofe and loft building at 23 to 29 Washington Place. Two mortgages on the property were recorded yesterday in favor of Joseph J. Asch—one, due in one year, for $105,126, and the other for $225,000, to secure advances made in the shape of a building loan.

Results at Auction.

Yesterday's offerings in the Trinity Building Salesroom resulted as follows:

By Philip A. Smyth.

One Hundred and Eighty-sixth Street, south side, 100 feet west of Amsterdam Avenue, 175 by 161.6, being eighteen three-story brick dwellings on either side of a private street; foreclosure sale, to M. L. & C. Birnan.

By John N. Golding.

529 East One Hundred and Eighteenth Street, 20.5 by 100.11, two-story brick dwelling; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiff, the Bank for Savings.....$ 5,000

Third Avenue, northeast corner of One Hundred and Seventy-first Street, 25 by 100, five-story brick flat, with store; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiff, the Ernst-Marx-Nathan Company..... 15,250

By Herbert A. Sherman.

47 to 53 West One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Street, 100 by 99.11, four five-story brick flats; foreclosure sale, to Michael Hughes..... 61,700

To-day's Auction Sales.

The following sales at auction are down for to-day at 111 Broadway:

By D. Phoenix Ingraham & Co., foreclosure sale, George Edward Kent, referee, 77 East One Hundred and Fourteenth Street, north side, 130 feet west of Park Avenue, 25 by 100.11, five-story brick flat. Due on judgment, $6,493; subject to another mortgage for $15,000.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Thomas D. Husted, referee, 209 East One Hundred and Sixteenth Street, north side, 145 feet east of Third Avenue, 15 by 100.10, five-story brick tenement. Due on judgment, $26,890.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Sidney J. Cowen, referee, 411 to 417 West One Hundred and Forty-fourth Street, north side, 175 feet east of Convent Avenue, 20, 19, 18, and 18, respectively, by 99.11, four-story brick dwelling. Due on judgment, on 411, $15,076; on 413, 16,000; on 415, $16,520; on 417, $17,034.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Clifford W. Hartridge, referee, 49 West Ninety-sixth Street, north side, 204 feet east of Columbus Avenue, 20.8 by 100.11, four-story brick dwelling. Due on judgment, $22,560.

By Richard V. Harnett & Co., public auction sale, Farrell Street, northwest corner of Cherry Street, Rahway, N. J., 101 by 110, vacant.

THE BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

List of Plans Filed for New Structures and Alterations.

Bathgate Avenue, east side, 121 feet north of Tremont Avenue, for a one-story frame shed, 16 by 14; Catharine Fox of 1,960 Washington Avenue, owner; John E. Kerby, architect; cost, $50.

Alterations.

Nos. 139 to 143 West Thirty-fifth Street, to a three-story brick hotel; Ellen Archbold of 118 West Thirteenth Street, owner; G. W. Foster, Jr., of 10 West Twenty-third Street, architect; cost, $700.

Samuel Street, south side, 125 feet east of Mohegan Avenue, to a two-story frame dwelling; T. Giordano, owner; C. S. Clark, architect; cost $50.

No. 2,296 Broadway, to a two-story brick dwelling and store, 25.2 by 72; Mrs. N. F. Reynal, owner; C. H. Richter, Jr., architect; cost, $1,500.

Recorded Real Estate Transfers.

Wednesday, Dec. 27.

AVENUE A, n e corner of 68th St, 25.1x 98x75.4x50x100.5x148; A. Newbold Morris, trustee, to the Central Brewing Company.....$25,000

BROADWAY, e s, 116.2 ft n of 63d St, runs e 89.11x n 100.5 to 63d St x w 25x s 84.11x irregular to Broadway x s 46.10; Amos F. Eno and others, executors, &c., to William P. Eno..... 49,000

CATHARINE ST, e s, 176.8 from s s De Milt Av, 37.4x—x—x100; Margaret Keenan to Andrew A. Wood, quit claim. 1

CENTRAL PARK WEST, w s, 25 ft n of 84th St, 20x100; Jennie L. Ropes to Simon J. O'Neill..... 100

CHATHAM SQUARE, 194, n w s, 25x129.8 x25x133; Chatham Square, n s, 105.11 ft w of Doyer St, 25.8x154x irregular; Bowery Savings Bank to Henry Weiss..... 100

DENMAN ST, s s, e ½ of Lot 181, map of the village of Melrose South, 25x100; Richard Wallace and another, executors, to William F. Spierling..... 6,500

HUDSON ST, 226, 22.11x70; Ursule Taunay to James Pyle..... 1

LEXINGTON AV, n e corner of 114th St, 25x100.11; Simon E. Bernheimer and others to Hermann Strauss and another..... 55,000

LOT 175, second map of Neill estate, 24th Ward; August Diener to Louisa B. Diener..... 100

NORTH MOORE ST, 38, 25x87.6; North Moore St, 40, 25x87.6; Carrie A. Brink to Hugh Getty..... 1

PENFIELD AV, s w s, Lots 146, 148, 150, 152, 154, 156, 158, and 160, on map of the Penfield property, Bronx; Louisa A. Penfield to James T. Penfield..... 1

PLOT, begins 175 ft n w of 3d Av and 46 ft n e of 9th St, runs 46 x s e 75 x s w 23.4 x n w 37.6 to centre of Lafayette Court x s w 22.8 x n w 37.6; Henry C. Irons and another to Andrew J. Bastine.

RIVERSIDE DRIVE, w s, 175 ft s of 122d St, 25x200 to Claremont Av; Michael J. O'Shaughnessy, Jr., to American Realty Company..... 31,500

SIDNEY ST, s e corner of Westchester Av, 31.9x irregular; Melvin H. Dalberg, referee, to Levi Springsteen..... 2,000

UNION AV, w s, 274.10 ft n of 152d St, 21.4x100; Adolphine C. Thode to William Rabenstein..... 1

WASHINGTON PLACE, 23 to 29, n w corner of Greene St, 100.9x100; Joseph J. Asch to Ole H. Olsen..... 1

3D AV, new line, n e corner of 171st St, 25 x100; Samuel A. Beardsley, referee, to Ernst-Marx-Nathan Company..... 4,000

6TH AV, 805, w s, 19.6x80; George Wolf, executor, to the American Realty Company..... 31,000

87TH AV, n e corner of 140th St, 25x100; William Wetterer and wife to Simon E. Bernheimer and another..... 100

87TH AV, s e corner of 141st St, 25x100; William Wetterer and wife to Simon E. Bernheimer and another..... 100

87TH AV, s e corner of 141st St, 25x100; Herman Strauss and another to William Wetterer..... 55,000

10TH ST, 14 East, 25x92.3; Howard H. Henry and others, executors, to Julia H. Henry and another..... 29,240

10TH AV, n w corner of 97th St, 25.8x80; Bernard McGuire to Margaret C. McGuire..... 1

25TH ST, 314 East, 25x98.9; Pincus Lowenfeld and another to Jacob Kassewitz..... 1

32D ST, 31 West, 25x98.9; Michael J. O'Shaughnessy, Jr., to American Realty Company..... 70,000

32D ST, n s, 493 ft w of 5th Av, 25x98.9; Michael J. O'Shaughnessy, Jr., to American Realty Company..... 75,000

32D ST, 33 West, 25x98.9; Michael J. O'Shaughnessy, Jr., to American Realty Company..... 75,500

32D ST, 30 West, 17.6x98.9; Michael J. O'Shaughnessy, Jr., to American Realty Company..... 51,000

33D ST, 32 West, 17.6x98.9; Michael J. O'Shaughnessy, Jr., to American Realty Company..... 60,000

33D ST, 36 West, 17.6x98.9; Michael J. O'Shaughnessy, Jr., to American Realty Company..... 60,000

33D ST, s s, 435 ft w of 5th Av, 17.6x 98.9; Michael J. O'Shaughnessy, Jr., to American Realty Company..... 55,000

33D ST, n s, 180 ft e of 3d Av, 135x99.6; Thomas H. Faulkner to John R. Ferrier. 5,000

44TH ST, n s, 118.6 ft e of 9th Av, 21x 100.5; Adolph Handte to Gottlob Handte. 1

47TH ST, Lots 132 to 135, map of Hermitage, 100x100.4; Harry P. Pike and the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company to Jacob Korn..... 20,000

51ST ST, s s, 200 ft w of 8th Av, 20x 100.5; Mary A. Tanner to Frederic A. Tanner..... 100

62D ST, n s, 225 ft w of Central Park West, 50x100.5; Amos F. Eno and others, executors, &c., to William P. Eno..... 43,500

83D ST, 219 and 221 West, 50x102.2; Richard H. Clarke, referee, to Jeanette K. Manne..... 1,000

84TH ST, 126 East, 25.7x102.2; Arthur D. Truax, referee, to Peter Schaeffer..... 19,750

88TH ST, n s, 100 ft e of Amsterdam Av, 16.8x100.8; William C. Turner, referee, to New York Life Insurance and Trust Company..... 10,000

89TH ST, n s, 82.3 ft e of Park Av, 25.8x 100.8; Albert L. Conklin, Jr., to American Realty Company..... 1

108TH ST, n s, 175 ft e of Columbus Av, 75x100.11; Joseph Friedman and another to Herman Klein, 2-3 part..... 1

117TH ST, n s, 270 ft e of Amsterdam Av, 18x100.11; Michael J. O'Shaughnessy, Jr., to American Realty Company..... 1

134TH ST, s s, 282.6 ft w of Lenox Av, 55.11x99.11; Thomas Moloney to John W. Chandler..... 1

142D ST, 453 West, 20x99.11; John Jordin to Mary H. Lester..... 1

161ST ST, n s, 301.7 ft e of Boulevard, 18x99.11; Samuel V. Heimberger, referee, to Mary A. McLaughlin..... 2,000

Recorded Leases.

MICHEL, Leopold, and another to Charles A. Fougart and another; Desbrosses St, 30; 5 years.....

SHERRY, Louis, to A. B. Proal; 5th Av, corner of 44th St. Lots 11 to 16, 20 and 184, on fifth and eleventh floors, 2 years from Oct. 1, 1899..... $900

WALKER, F. H., to Gustav Danker; Amsterdam Av, 1,725 and 1,727, 10 years, $1,800 to.....

Recorded Mortgages.

AMERICAN REALTY COMPANY to the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company; 30 and 32 West 33d St; 33d St, s s, 485 ft w of 5th Av; 36 West 33d St; 32d St, n s, 445 ft w of 5th Av, and two adjoining lots; 117th St, n s, 276 ft e of Amsterdam Av and Riverside Drive, or avenue, n s, 175 ft s of 122d St, 25x200 to Claremont Av; 88th St, n s, 82.3 ft e of Park Av, and property in Southampton, N. Y., 30 years..... $500,000

BANKS, Mabel, and another to Equitable Life Assurance Society; 428 West 23d St, 3 years..... 3,000

BURKE, William E., to Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank; 107 Sullivan St, 1 year..... 7,000

BUSSEREAU, John, and Charles Schnitz to George Ehret; 77 Nassau St, saloon lease, demand..... 5,000

CHAMBERLIN, Edwin C., to Francis P. Pace; 113th St, s s, 100 ft w of Broadway, 1 year..... 16,000

DAMATO, Frances, and Raphael Avallone, Caroline Coby; 151st St, s s, 125 ft w of Morris Av; 1 year..... 486

GUILFOY, Samuel, and others, to William R. Bell; 139th St, n s, 325 ft e of St. Ann's Av, installments..... 2,600

HAAS, Emil, to N. Y. Savings Bank; 135th St, 4 West, 5 years..... 12,000

HADLEY, Zella S. and Ritter C., to New York Life Insurance and Trust Company; 118 Avenue D, 3 years..... 9,500

HANDTE, Gotlob, to Adolph Handte; 44th St, n s, 118.6 ft e of 9th Av, 3 years..... 12,000

HENRY, Ambrose D. and Julia H., to Equitable Life Assurance Society; 14 East 10th St..... 20,000

JONES, Elizabeth, to Mary E. Sniffen; Wadsworth Av, s e corner of 185th St, 3 years..... 5,000

JONES, Herman L. and Margaret H., to Elmer Chrystie; all title to lands in United States under will of Ambrose C. Kingsland, 9 years..... $900

KAUFMANN, Leopold, to New York Life Insurance and Trust Company; 21 Morton St, 3 years..... 10,000

KLEIN, Herman, and Jacob Manheim; 108th St, n s, 175 ft e of Columbus Av, demand..... 27,000

KORN, Jacob, to Farmers' Loan and Trust Company; 47th St, s w s, Lots 152 to 155, map of the Hermitage, 1 year..... 2,500

LEWENSOHN, Louis, and wife to Millie H. Rindskopf; Convent Av, n w corner of 148th St, 3 years..... 10,000

LYNCH, Valentine D., to New York and Suburban Co-operative Building and Loan Association; Forest Av, n e corner of 165th St, 1 year..... 20,000

LYNCH, Valentine D., to William J. Shaw; Forest Av, n e corner of 165th St, 1¼ years..... 15,457

MADISON AVENUE PRESBYTERIAN Church to the Lawyers' Title Insurance Company; Madison Av, s w corner of 53d St, 1 year..... 2,000

McMANUS, Mary, to Alice L. Atkinson; 417-West 146th St, 5 years..... 100,000

MEHRBACH, Solomon, to John A. Stewart and others, trustees, &c.; 1st Av, centre line, extends from centre of 97th St to centre of 98th St, runs e to Harlem River, with all rights to land under water, &c., 4½ years..... 5,500

OLSEN, Ole H., to Joseph J. Asch; 23 to 29 Washington Place, 1 year..... 20,000

OLSEN, Ole H., to Joseph J. Asch; 23 to 29 Washington Place, secures advances.. 105,126

SCHAFER, Mary, to Sylvester Pope and others, trustees; St. Ann's Av, w s, 25.1 ft s of Rae St, and four adjoining lots, 3 years, (five mortgages)..... 225,000

SCHAFER, Mary, to Sylvester Pope and others, trustees; St. Ann's Av, n w corner of Rae St, 3 years..... 67,500

TANNER, Frederic A. to Irving Savings Institution; 51st St, s s, 200 ft w of 8th Av, 1 year..... 20,000

TARLACH, Veronika, to Union Dime Savings Institution; 17th St, s s, e 2-3 of lot 77, map of property of George Rapelye, 2 2-3 years..... 3,000

THE CENTRAL BREWING COMPANY to A. Newbold Morris, trustee; Avenue A, n e corner of 68th St, 5 years..... 18,000

TOOP, George H., to Mary A. C. Hallahan and another; 91st St, s s, 275 ft e of Park Av, 3 years..... 10,000

VAN DOLSEN, John, to Joseph D. Baker; Courtlandt Av, s e corner of 160th St, widened, 1 year..... 2,000

WALLACE, Andrew, and wife to Frances S. Major, executrix and trustee; 56th St, n s, 125 ft w of 9th Av, 5 years..... 18,000

WEISS, Henry, to Mary Ehrmann; 7 and 8 Chatham Square, 1 year..... 7,000

WEISS, Henry, to New York Security and Trust Company; 7 and 8 Chatham Square, 1 year..... 47,000

WEISS, Henry, to American Mortgage Company; 7 and 8 Chatham Square, 1 year..... 3,000

WETTERER, William, to Union Trust Company; 8th Av, s e corner of 141st St, 5 years..... 26,000

Mechanics' Liens.

BROADWAY, n e corner of 96th St, 100x 96.10; John B. Dosso against Charles J. La Grassa, owner and contractor..... $240

BROOK AV, n w corner of 169th St, 59x 130; Clifford L. Miller against Andrew Schmitt and others, owners; Henry J. Nicksich, contractor..... 1,159

CHERRY ST, 478 to 484; Joseph Saladino against Joseph W. and John J. Kiersted, owners; Joseph W. and John J. Kiersted, contractors.

CROTONA PARK SOUTH, s e corner of Crotona Av, 140x100; Willett R. Skillman against Frederick Bailey, owner and contractor..... 733

GRAND ST, 68; William Klenert against Harris Hermann, owner and contractor. 423

PARK AV, s w corner of 173d St, 100x148; Christ Liberum against Joseph Schwarzler, owner; Rodgers and Andrews, contractors..... 882

PEROT ST, n s, 100 ft w of Sedgwick Av, 100x100; Thomas Johnston against Adelaide A. Yeandle, owner; Adelaide and George W. Yeandle, contractors..... 100

WALES AV, e s, 207.7 ft s of Westchester Av, 75x irregular; East River Iron Works against Murray and Constantine, owners; Andrew Mayer, contractor. 736

50TH ST, 60 West; Bartholomew McKeon against William P. Martin, owner of lease and contractor; William F. Hall, contractor..... 400

50TH ST, 60 West; Patrick McCarthy against William Martin, owner of lease and contractor; William F. Hall, contractor..... 123

99TH ST, n s, 125 ft w of Park Av, 100x 100; Christ Liberum against Samuel Ginsberg, owner; Rodgers & Andrews, contractors..... 84

121ST ST, n e corner of Washington Av, 225x100; Pfotenhauer & Nesbit against Charles H. Beer, owner and contractor.. 214

BUILDING LOAN CONTRACT UNDER CHAPTER 418, LAWS OF 1897.

WASHINGTON PLACE, 23 to 29; Joseph J. Asch, with Ole H. Olsen, nine payments..... 1,218

WASHINGTON PLACE, 23 to 29; Joseph J. Asch, with Ole H. Olsen, nine payments..... 225,000

Assignments of Mortgages.

ANDREWS, S. Frank, and others, executors, &c., to George O. Andrews.....$12,000

DAVIDSON, Alexander, to Francis M. Doolittle..... 1,000

DICKERSON, John S., and another trustees, to United States Trust Company..... Nom.

FLAGG, George W., to Robert W. Todd.... 650

HAMLIN, Fannie, to Herman Wronkow.. 17,000

GEBHARDT, Johanna, executrix, &c., to Louis Rohdenburg..... 2,000

MACY, Valentine E., to Edward A. Everit. Nom.

MORAN, Charles A., trustee, to James Goodwin..... Nom.

O'SHAUGHNESSY, Michael, Jr., to American Realty Company..... 7,500

POWELL, Sarah H., to Louisa M. Agostini, guardian, &c..... 5,000

RATZ, Philippine, to Edward M. Burghard..... 1,250

TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY to Newburg Savings Bank..... 30,000

TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY to Brooklyn Savings Bank..... 100,000

WERTHHEIMER, Joseph, administrator, &c., to Albert Stieglitz..... 15,000

WYLLIE, Alexandre, individually and as trustee, to Louisa D. Simpson and another, trustees, (assigns nine mortgages.) Nom.

Lis Pendens.

PARK AV, n w corner of 98th St, 100.4x100; Simon Adler and others against Peyser Bookstaver and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorney, I. Rothschild.

3D AV, e s, 76.8 ft s of 86th St, 25.6x100; Mary A. Bozen against Jacob Sommer, (action to impress lien, &c.;) attorney M. A. Quithian.

72D ST, w s, corner of 9th St, 25.9x6; the Greenwich Savings Bank against Thomas F. Wallace and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorney, G. G. De Witt.

8TH AV, 517 and 519; Thomas B. Hidden against Michael L. Fane and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorney F. P. Bellamy.

29TH ST, n s, 66 ft w of 4th Av, 22x74.1; also 35th St, n s, 332.1 ft e of 6th Av, 21.5x98.9, and 2d Av, w s, 80. ft n of 50th St, 20x10; John Davenport against James B. Davenport, (notice of attachment, &c.;) attorneys, Strong & Cadwalader.

101ST ST, n s, 200 ft e of Columbus Av, 50x 100.11; also 101st St, n s, 99.11 ft w of Manhattan Av, 0.1x100.11; John Dougherty and others against Susan R. Dougherty, (action to recover 2-3 part of rents, &c.;) attorneys, Nicholas & Porter.

THE COMMERCIAL WORLD

CASH PRICES FOR STAPLES.

Wheat, No. 2 red	74⅞
Corn, No. 2 mixed	40⅛
Oats, No. 2 mixed	.29
Flour, Minnesota patents	$3.95
Cotton, middling	.07 0-16
Coffee, No. 7 Rio	.06⅜
Sugar, granulated	5.18
Molasses, O. K., prime	.36
Beef, family	12.75
Beef hams	22.75
Tallow, prime	.05
Pork, mess	10.25
Hogs, dressed, 160 lb	.05⅞
Lard, prime	5.90
Iron, Northern No. 1 foundry	23.00
Butter, Western creamery	.27½

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—No. 3 Spring wheat, 61½@64c; No. 2 red, 67¼@69c; No. 2 corn, 30⅝@31c; No. 2 yellow corn, 31@31¼c; No. 2 oats, 22¾c; No. 3 white, 25@25¼c; No. 3 white, 24¼@24⅝c; No. 2 rye, 53@55c; No. 2 barley, 38@45c; No. 1 flaxseed, $1.41½; No. 1 Northwestern, $1.41½; prime timothy seed, $2.35; mess pork, per barrel, $8.80@$10.20; lard, per 100 lb, $5.30@$5.62½; short ribs, sides, (loose,) $5.20@$5.45; dry-salted shoulders, (boxed,) 5¾@5¾c; short clear sides, (boxed,) $5.50@$5.80; whisky, basis high wines, $1.23¾; sugars, cutloaf, unchanged; clover, contract grade, $8@$10.

COTTON.—Conditions at the Cotton Exchange were decidedly better. Cables were firmer than looked for. No one expected to see the English holiday followed by a 6-64d advance for future and a 3-32d advance for spot cotton, which was at one time apparent. Although the market eased off a little and closed but 5-64d higher, the net improvement was a decided stimulant, and out of it grew one of the most active markets of recent times. In addition to the cable accounts from the Southern spot markets were generally strong, six out of ten of them advanced quotations 1-16@⅛c. Letters from buyers in the South complained of small spot offerings, and a general difficulty in coming to terms with holders in the remote interior. These were backed up by strong private telegrams to-day to the same effect. Southern spot markets, middling, were offic

NO. 1,886.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of MARIA BERGMAN, Bankrupt.—In bankruptcy.

To the creditors of Maria Bergman of the County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that on the 18th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Maria Bergman was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of John J. Townsend, Referee, No. 45 Cedar Street, in New York City, on the 11th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

JOHN J. TOWNSEND,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

December 28, 1899.

NO. 1,912.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of KARMELL BROOKS, Bankrupt.—In bankruptcy.

To the creditors of Karmell Brooks of the County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 21st day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Karmell Brooks was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of John J. Townsend, referee, No. 45 Cedar Street, in New York City, on the 8th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

JOHN J. TOWNSEND,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

December 27, 1899.

NO. 1,935.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of LEONARD S. BURDICK, Bankrupt

To the creditors of Leonard S. Burdick, of the City and County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 23d day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Leonard S. Burdick was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Theodor Aub, referee, No. 149 Broadway, in the City and County of New York, on the 19th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

THEODOR AUB,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, December 27, 1899.

NO. 1,936.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of LEONARD S. BURDICK, Jr., Bankrupt.

To the creditors of Leonard S. Burdick, Jr., of the City and County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 23d day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Leonard S. Burdick, Jr., was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Theodor Aub, referee, No. 149 Broadway, in the City and County of New York, on the 19th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

THEODOR AUB,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, December 27th, 1899.

NO. 1,763.—UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT for the Southern District of New York.—WINFIELD S. CHAMBERLIN, bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that Winfield S. Chamberlin, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated December 27th, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 17th, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

JOHN J. TOWNSEND,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, Dec. 27, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of BENJAMIN D. CHANDLER, Bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.

To the creditors of Benjamin D. Chandler of the City and County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 13th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Benjamin D. Chandler was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of F. K. Pendleton, referee, No. 44 Broadway, in the City and County of New York, on the 8th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

F. K. PENDLETON,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, December 27th, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of EDWARD J. HAYDEN, Bankrupt.—In bankruptcy. No. 1,908.

To the creditors of Edward J. Hayden of the City and County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 20th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Edward J. Hayden was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, No. 68 Wall Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, N. Y., on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

MACGRANE COXE,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

December 27, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of SIEGFRIED COHN, bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.

To the creditors of Siegfried Cohn, of the City and County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 21st day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Siegfried Cohn was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Ernest Hall, referee, No. 64 William Street, in the City and County of New York, on the 9th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

ERNEST HALL,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, Dec. 26th, 1899.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT FOR THE SOUTHERN District of New York.—WILLIAM H. McCAFFREY and JOHN J. McCAFFREY, Bankrupts.

Notice is hereby given that William H. McCaffrey and John J. McCaffrey, bankrupts, have filed their petition, dated December 21, 1899, praying for a discharge from all their debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, U. S. District Judge, in the U. S. Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupts thereon.

ERNEST HALL,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated Dec. 27, 1899.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE Southern District of New York.—In the matter of ISAAC DAVEGA, individually and as a member of the firm of DAVEGA & COMPANY, Bankrupt. No. 1,767.

Notice is hereby given that Isaac Davega, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated December 27th, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January seventeenth, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

STANLEY W. DEXTER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, Dec. 27, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of EDWARD J. HAYDEN, Bankrupt.—In bankruptcy. No. 1,908.

To the creditors of Edward J. Hayden of the City and County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 20th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Edward J. Hayden was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, No. 68 Wall Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, N. Y., on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

MACGRANE COXE,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

December 27, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of LOUIS WEIMAN and DAVID WEIMAN, individually and as copartners in the firm of WEIMAN BROTHERS, Bankrupts.

To the creditors of Louis Weiman and David Weiman, individually and as copartners in the firm of Weiman Brothers, of the City and County of New York, and district aforesaid, bankrupts:

Notice is hereby given that on the 26th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Louis Weiman and David Weiman, individually and as copartners in the firm of Weiman Brothers, were duly adjudicated bankrupts; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Theodor Aub, referee, No. 149 Broadway, in the City and County of New York, on the 19th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupts, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

THEODOR AUB,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, December 27, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of WILLIAM J. LIELL, Bankrupt.—In bankruptcy, No. 1,900.

To the creditors of William J. Liell of the City and County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 19th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said William J. Liell was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of my office, No. 63 Wall Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, N. Y., on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

MACGRANE COXE,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

December 27, 1899.

NO. 1,653.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of ISAAC JOHNSON, Bankrupt.—In bankruptcy.

To the creditors of Isaac Johnson of the City and County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 31st day of October, A. D. 1899, the said Isaac Johnson was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Nathaniel S. Smith, No. 302 Broadway, in the City of New York, on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

NATHANIEL S. SMITH,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

December 27th, 1899.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT FOR THE SOUTHERN District of New York.—ISAAC S. McGIEHAN, Bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that Isaac S. McGiehan, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated December 23d, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, U. S. District Judge, in the U. S. Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

ERNEST HALL,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated Dec. 27, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of CHRISTIAN SCHUCK, bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.

To the creditors of Christian Schuck of the City and County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1899, the said Christian Schuck was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Ernest Hall, referee, No. 64 William Street, in the City and County of New York, on the 8th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

ERNEST HALL,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated Dec. 27, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of HAL SLEEPER TAYLOR, Bankrupt.—In bankruptcy.

To the creditors of Hal Sleeper Taylor of the County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 2nd day of November, A. D. 1899, the said Hal Sleeper Taylor was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Nathaniel A. Prentiss, Referee in bankruptcy, 120 Broadway, New York City, on the eleventh day of January, A. D. 1900, at three o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

NATHANIEL A. PRENTISS,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

December 27th, 1899.

NO. 1,835.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of WILLIAM E. SMITH, Bankrupt.—In bankruptcy.

To the creditors of William E. Smith of the City and County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 12th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said William E. Smith was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Nathaniel S. Smith, No. 302 Broadway, in the City of New York, on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 12 o'clock noon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

NATHANIEL S. SMITH,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

December 27, 1899.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT FOR THE SOUTHERN District of New York.—SOLOMON WILLINSKY, Bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that Solomon Willinsky, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated December 26th, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, U. S. District Judge, in the U. S. Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

ERNEST HALL,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated Dec. 27, 1899.

SUMMONSES.

SUPREME COURT, NEW YORK COUNTY.—EMMA J. BENT, plaintiff, against WILLIAM WAHLE, Anna Elizabeth Wahle, James Owen, Mary E. Bursiem, Godolphin F. Bursiem, Stephen G. Williams, and Priscilla Williams, defendants.—Summons.

To the above-named defendants: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear, or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default, for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated November 22, 1899.

MORNAY WILLIAMS,
Plaintiff's Attorney, Office and Post Office Address, No. 59 Wall St., N. Y. City.

To the defendant James Owen: The foregoing summons is served on you by publication pursuant to an order of the Honorable Miles Beach, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated the 5th day of December, 1899, and on the 6th day of December, 1899, filed with the complaint in the office of the Clerk of New York County, at the County Court House, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City, County, and State of New York, which said complaint was originally filed on the 25th day of November, 1899.

Dated December 6, 1899.

MORNAY WILLIAMS,
Plaintiff's Attorney. 59 Wall St., N. Y. City.
d7-law7wTh

SUPREME COURT, NEW YORK COUNTY.—PLAYA DE ORO MINING CO., plaintiff, against GEORGE B. NIXON and JOHN NICHOLS, (the Christian name John being fictitious, and his real name unknown to plaintiff,) as copartners, organized and doing business under the firm name and style of "Successores de George Chambers & Co.," defendants.—Summons.

To the above named defendants: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorneys within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated New York City, October 9th, 1899.

SEWARD, GUTHRIE & STEELE,
Attorneys for Plaintiff, Office and Post Office address, No. 40 Wall Street, New York City.

To the above named defendants: The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication, pursuant to an order of the Hon. Miles Beach, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated the 6th day of December, 1899, and filed with the complaint in the Office of the Clerk of the County of New York, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York.

Dated New York, December 6th, 1899.

SEWARD, GUTHRIE & STEELE,
Attorneys for Plaintiff, Office and Post Office address, 40 Wall Street, New York City, N. Y.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—ANDREW J. KENNEDY, plaintiff, against THOMAS J. DUNN, as sole surviving executor of Patrick H. Kennedy, deceased, Ellen Kennedy, and Margaret Kennedy, defendants.—Summons.—Trial desired in New York County.

To the above-named defendants: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.—Dated November 18, 1899.

JAMES C. BUSHBY,
Attorney for Plaintiff,
Office and P. O. Address, 120 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

To the above-named Ellen Kennedy: The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication, pursuant to an order of the Hon. Miles Beach, Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated the 8th day of December, 1899, and on December 13th, 1899, filed with the complaint in the office of the Clerk of New York County, at the County Court House, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, in said State.—Dated December 13th, 1899.

JAMES C. BUSHBY,
Attorney for Plaintiff,
Office and Post Office Address, 120 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.
d14-law6wTh&ja18.

SURROGATE NOTICES.

GRAFF, PETER A.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. John H. V. Arnold, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against PETER A. GRAFF, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at his place of transacting business, at Johnstown, Fulton County, State of New York, on or before the 10th day of January next.—Dated New York, June 28th, 1899. STEPHEN GRAFF, Executor. WILLIAM KING HALL, Attorney for Executor, 149 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, N. Y.
ja29-1aw6mTh

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—CHARLES A. MURPHEY, as executor of the last will and testament of John C. Benham, deceased, plaintiff, against ELIZABETH SORENSEN, Thomas W. Cauldwell, Minnie D. Geschkeidt, William J. Peck, and Henry McShane Manufacturing Company of Baltimore City, William Gunther, Thomas M. Belknap, Edward Shields, Thomas Sullivan, and James Hennings, Jacob C. Sorensen, and Prince Sorensen, his wife, defendants.—Summons.—Trial desired in the County of New York.

To the above-named defendants and each of them:

You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorneys within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service, and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default, for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated New York, November 17th, 1899.

MURPHEY & METCALF,
Plaintiff's Attorneys, Office and Post Office address, No. 15 Wall Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York.

To the defendant, Elizabeth Sorensen:

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication, pursuant to an order of Hon. Miles Beach, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated the 4th day of December, 1899, and filed with the complaint in the office of the Clerk of the County of New York, at the County Court House, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, State of New York, on the 18th day of December, 1899.

Dated December 18th, 1899.

MURPHEY & METCALF,
Plaintiff's Attorneys, Office and Post Office address, No. 15 Wall Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—ROSE C. NEWMAN, plaintiff, against ANNIE T. O'BRIEN and John F. O'Brien, her husband; Mary A. Maher, Katherine Maher, Helen Maher, Thomas Maher, Michael A. Lacy, Thomas St. J. Lacy, Arthur P. Lacy, Herbert Lacy, Gerald Lacy, defendants.—Trial desired in the County of New York.—Summons.

To the above-named defendants:

You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear, or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default, for the relief demanded in the complaint.—Dated Oct. 18th, 1899.

HORACE K. DOHERTY,
Plaintiff's Attorney.
Office and Post Office Address, No. 27 Pine Street, New York City.

To the defendants Mary Maher, Katherine Maher, Helen Maher, Thomas Maher, Michael A. Lacy, Thomas St. J. Lacy, Arthur P. Lacy, Herbert Lacy, Gerald Lacy.

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of Hon. Miles Beach, a Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated December 13, 1899, and on that day filed with the complaint in this action in the office of the Clerk of the City and County of New York, at the County Court House, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York.

HORACE K. DOHERTY,
Plaintiff's Attorney,
Office and Post Office Address, No. 27 Pine Street, New York City, N. Y. d28-1aw6wTh&f8

SURROGATE NOTICES.

BRUSSEL, JAMES.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against JAMES BRUSSEL, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscribers at their place of transacting business, No. 67 Murray Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on or before the first day of May next.—Dated New York, the 25th day of October, 1899. JOSEPH BRUSSEL, LEO BRUSSEL, Executors. WISE & LICHTENSTEIN, Attorneys for Executors, 50 and 52 Exchange Place, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York. o25-1aw6mTh au17-1aw6mTh&fi5.

SCHWAB, MICHEL, or MICHAEL.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against MICHEL, or MICHAEL SCHWAB, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at their place of transacting business, No. 320 Broadway, in the City of New York, Borough of Manhattan, on or before the 23d day of February, 1900.—Dated New York, the 8th day of August, 1899. SAMUEL M. SCHWAB, Jr., NOAH SCHWAB, LEO SCHWAB, Executors. JAY C. GUGGENHEIMER, Attorney for Executors, 320 Broadway, City of New York.

REFEREES' NOTICES.

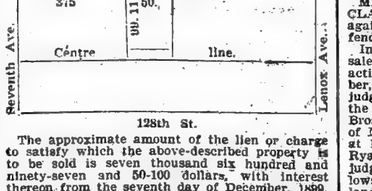
SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—GLOBE REALTY COMPANY, plaintiff, against CHARLES TANGE, Amelia B. Tange, et al., defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the eleventh day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the Exchange Sales Rooms, now located at No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the fifth day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon, on that day, by Peter F. Meyer & Co., auctioneers, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All those two certain lots of land, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, which when taken together are bounded and described as follows, to wit: Beginning at a point on the southerly side of One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street, distant three hundred and seventy-five feet easterly from the southeasterly corner of Seventh Avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street; running thence southerly parallel with Seventh Avenue, and part of the way through a party wall, ninety-nine feet and eleven inches; thence easterly along the centre line of the block; thence easterly along said centre line of the block, fifty feet; thence northerly again parallel with Seventh Avenue, ninety-nine feet and eleven inches to the southerly side of One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street, and thence westerly along said southerly side of One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street, fifty feet to the point or place of beginning.—Dated New York, December 13th, 1899.

EDWARD BROWNE, Referee.

DUDLEY S. HARDEE, Attorney for Plaintiff, 141 Broadway, New York City.



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is seven thousand six hundred and ninety-seven and 50-100 dollars, with interest thereon from the seventh day of December, 1899, together with costs and allowances amounting to three hundred and ten and 62-100 dollars, together with the expenses of the sale. The said premises shall be sold subject to a first mortgage of fourteen thousand five hundred dollars, with interest from the 29th day of June, 1899, at the rate of five per centum per annum, and subject to a second mortgage of fifteen hundred dollars, with interest from the 14th, 1899, at the rate of six per centum per annum, and also subject to all liens for taxes and assessments due, if any.—Dated New York, December 13th, 1899.

EDWARD BROWNE, Referee.
d19-2aw2wTu&Th&fa2

37 AND 39 ATTORNEY STREET.—Supreme Court, County of New York.—PINCUS LOWENFELD and another, plaintiffs, against REBECCA STERN and others, defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the 19th day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 19th day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon, on that day, by Peter F. Meyer & Co., auctioneers, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

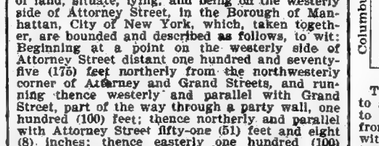
All those two certain lots, pieces, or parcels of land, situate, lying, and being on the westerly side of Attorney Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, which, taken together, are bounded and described as follows, to wit: Beginning at a point on the westerly side of Attorney Street distant one hundred and seventy-five (175) feet northerly from the northwesterly corner of Attorney and Grand Streets, and running thence westerly and parallel with Grand Street, part of the way through a party wall, one hundred (100) feet; thence northerly and parallel with Attorney Street fifty-one (51) feet and eight (8) inches; thence easterly one hundred (100) feet to the westerly side of Attorney Street, and thence southerly along the westerly side of Attorney Street fifty-one (51) feet six (6) inches to the point or place of beginning, be said several dimensions more or less.

Dated New York, December 27, 1899.

CHARLES W. CULVER, Referee.

SAMUEL LEVY, Attorney for Plaintiffs, 290 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold; its street numbers are 37 and 39 Attorney St.:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $6,084.33, with interest from the 7th day of December, 1899, together with costs and allowances amounting to $344.75, with interest from the 19th day of December, 1899, together with the expenses of the sale.

The approximate amount of taxes, assessments, or other liens which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the referee is $982.88 and interest.

The premises will be sold subject to a prior mortgage for $36,000, with interest thereon from January 9th, 1899, at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum.

Dated New York, December 27, 1899.

CHARLES W. CULVER, Referee.
d28-2aw3wTh&Sa&ja19

THE NEW YORK TIMES.
"All the News That's Fit to Print."

NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF New York.—BENJAMIN W. WINANS, as Trustee for Hugh M. Gregory under the last will and testament of William W. Winans, late of the City, County, and State of New York, deceased, Plaintiff, against OLGA NAGLER, John A. Knox, Hettie Knox, and Robert B. Currier, as Trustee for Hugh M. Gregory, under the last will and testament of William W. Winans, late of the City, County, and State of New York, deceased, defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the 13th day of July, 1899, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 3d day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Peter F. Meyer, Auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described.

The following is a description and the particular boundaries of the premises adjudged to be sold, and a designation of the boundaries and description of the premises adjudged to be covered by the mortgage herein, as follows:

All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying, and being in the Twenty-fourth Ward of the Borough of the Bronx, City, County, and State of New York, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Decatur Avenue, distant one hundred and fifty-five feet and two hundred and thirty-five one-thousandths of a foot (155 235-1,000) southerly from the corner formed by the intersection of the said easterly side of Decatur Avenue with the southerly side of Travers Street, as the same are laid down on a map of part of the Department of Public Parks, and running thence easterly parallel with the boundary line between lands formerly of the Twenty-fourth Ward Real Estate Association and the lands formerly of J. Coles, one hundred feet and sixty one-hundredths of a foot, (100 60-100;) thence southerly parallel with said Decatur Avenue thirty-seven feet; thence westerly and parallel with said first-described boundary line one hundred feet and sixty one-hundredths of a foot (100 60-100) to said easterly side of Decatur Avenue, and thence northerly, along the same, thirty-seven feet to the point or place of beginning, containing all the land within said bounds.

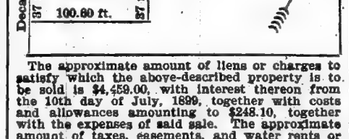
The premises above described are situated in Section 12, Block 2,278, upon the land map of the City of New York.

Dated New York, December 7th, 1899.

W. BENTON CRISP, Referee.

JOHN HERBERT WINANS, Plff's. Atty., No. 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold:



The approximate amount of liens or charges to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $4,459.00, with interest thereon from the 10th day of July, 1899, together with costs and allowances amounting to $248.10, together with the expenses of said sale. The approximate amount of taxes, easements, and water rents or other liens to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the Referee is $741.88, and interest.

W. BENTON CRISP, Referee.

NOS. 1 AND 3 AVENUE C, BOROUGH OF THE Bronx.—New York Supreme Court, County of New York.—AMERICAN MORTGAGE COMPANY, plaintiff, against FREDERICK J. BEYERS et al., defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the 12th day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 28th day of December, 1899, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Peter F. Meyer & Co., Auctioneers, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, situate in the Borough of the Bronx, City of New York, bounded and described as follows:

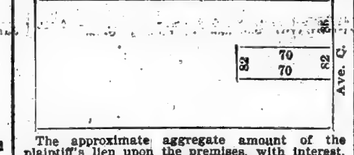
Beginning at a point in the easterly line of Cauldwell Avenue, distant eighty-five feet southerly from the southeasterly corner of One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Street and Cauldwell Avenue; running thence easterly and parallel with One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Street eighty-five feet; thence southerly and parallel with Cauldwell Avenue eighty-two feet to land now or late of Ebling; thence westerly, parallel with One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Street, and along land of said Ebling eighty-five feet to the easterly line of Cauldwell Avenue; thence northerly along the easterly line of Cauldwell Avenue, eighty-two feet, to the point or place of beginning.—Dated New York, December 13, 1899.

DAVID THOMSON, Referee.

BOWERS & SANDS, Attorneys for Plaintiff, 31 Nassau Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, N. Y.

The following is a diagram of the property referred to in the foregoing notice of sale:

158th Street.



The approximate aggregate amount of the plaintiff's lien upon the premises, with interest, costs, and disbursements, is $7,744.02, and of taxes, assessments, and water rates, $161.20.

DAVID THOMSON, Referee.

BOWERS & SANDS, Plaintiff's Attorneys.
d14-2aw3wTh&Tu&ja4

TRAVELERS' GUIDE—RAILROADS.

NEW YORK CENTRAL.

Trains arrive and depart from Grand Central Station, 42d Street, New York, as follows:

Leave New York.	Arrive New York.
*8:00 a. m. ..... Syracuse Local	†6:25 p. m.
†8:30 a. m. ..... Empire State Express...	†10:00 p. m.
†8:45 a. m. ..... Fast Mail.....	*10:00 a. m.
†10:30 a. m. ..... Day Express.....	*7:00 p. m.
†11:30 a. m. ..... Rutland Express.....	†7:00 p. m.
*1:00 p. m. ..... N. Y. & Chicago Special..	*1:30 p. m.
*2:00 p. m. ..... Southwestern Limited...	*6:00 p. m.
†3:30 p. m. ..... Albany and Troy Flyer..	†11:10 a. m.
*3:35 p. m. ..... Atlantic Express.....	*10:30 a. m.
*4:00 p. m. ..... Detroit Special.....	*10:00 a. m.
*5:30 p. m. ..... The Lake Shore Limited.	*6:30 p. m.
*6:00 p. m. ..... Western Express.....	*8:45 p. m.
*6:25 p. m. ..... Northern Express.....	*7:20 a. m.
*7:30 p. m. ..... Adirondack & Montreal Ex.	*8:56 a. m.
*8:00 p. m. ..... Pan-American Express..	*7:27 a. m.
*9:20 p. m. ..... Buffalo & S. W. Special.	*8:00 a. m.
*9:30 p. m. ..... Pacific Express.....	*5:30 p. m.
§12:10 a. m. ..... Midnight Express.....	*7:00 a. m.

*Daily. †Daily, except Sunday. ‡Daily, except Monday. ||Saturdays only. ¶Daily, except Saturdays and Sundays.

HARLEM DIVISION.

9:12 A. M. and 3:55 P. M. Daily, except Sunday, to Pittsfield. Sundays only at 9:20 A. M.

Wagner Palace Cars on all through lines.

Trains illuminated with Pintsch Light.

Ticket offices at 113, 261, 413, and 1,216 Broadway, 25 Union Sq. West, 226 Columbus Av., 125 West 125th St., 125th St. Station, and 138th St. Station, New York; 338 and 726 Fulton St. and 106 Broadway, E. D., Brooklyn.

Telephone "4950 Cortlandt" for New York Central Cab Service. Baggage checked from hotel or residence by Westcott Express Company.

GEORGE H. DANIELS, Gen. Passenger Agent.

WEST SHORE R. R.

Trains leave Franklin St. Station, N. Y., as follows, and 15 m. later from foot W. 42d St.:

†12:45 P. M. CONTINENTAL LIMITED. For Detroit, Chicago, and St. Louis. Dining Car.

*6:15 P. M. Chicago and St. Louis Limited.

†8:00 P. M. Buffalo and Niagara Falls Express.

*9:15 P. M. Detroit and Chicago Express.

*Daily. †Daily, except Sunday.

Time table at principal hotels and offices. Baggage checked from hotel or residence by Westcott's Express.

C. E. LAMBERT, General Passenger Agent, N. Y.

SPECIAL HALF RATE EXCURSION TO CUBA

BY MUNSON LINE

Steamers stopping at Nuevitas.

Good

BRITAIN'S FLOUR SEIZURES

Exporters Regard the Question Raised as of Great Importance.

THE INTERNATIONAL ASPECT

Shippers Seek Advice on Neutrals' Rights Based on the Lorenzo Marques Incident.

Exporters throughout the city yesterday were discussing with much interest the recent acts of the British Government in virtually seizing three vessels bound from this port for Lorenzo Marques, in Delagoa Bay, Portuguese East Africa. The cargoes affected by Great Britain's action, consisting entirely of American products bound for a neutral port, are considered as having raised a question of momentous importance to American merchants, especially in view of the worldwide expansion of American influence and commerce.

The three vessels whose cargoes have been interfered with—the Beatrice, the Mashona, and the Maria, the two first named being English and the third German—carried among other American products about 20,000 barrels of flour shipped by the Pennsylvania Export and Milling Company, and it is believed, in the absence of more definite information from the seat of the trouble, that it was this shipment principally that caused the English warships to take action. Therefore the advice and opinions of specialists in international law was being sought by shippers yesterday regarding flour as a contraband of war.

The New York agents of the milling company yesterday admitted that their entire shipment on the three steamers for Delagoa Bay was consigned to merchants in Johannesburg, although they disclaimed any knowledge of its being intended for use by the Boer Government. A. J. Toomey, one of the milling company's agents, said that they were not certain whether their shipment had been seized or that the vessels had simply been warned away from Lorenzo Marques. In either case, he said, his company was left in a peculiar predicament owing to the fact that the various papers dealing with the shipment had gone by mail to Johannesburg houses and could not be recovered immediately.

"We have no other shipments in transit to Delagoa, fortunately," said Mr. Toomey, "and under the circumstances it is not likely that we will have."

Ulysses D. Edye of Flint, Edye & Co., who had shipments on the detained vessels, when seen yesterday, made light of the whole question.

"The value of our entire shipment," he said, "does not exceed $5,000. It consisted of ordinary merchandise, mostly canned goods, and was of not much importance. We are perfectly confident that the British Government, whatever disposition it makes of the goods, will pay well for them, as I don't think it will put needless obstacles in the way of American merchants. The chief importance of this matter, of course, lies in its relation to international law. International law is not established by a union of nations, but rather in precedents established by one nation and acquiesced in by others. England may be establishing a precedent in this case, and the attitude of other nations may be watched with interest, for this case, in its international legal aspect presents several new and important features. All we can do is to watch and wait our Government's action."

Edward K. Jones of 45 Cedar Street, who acted as special counsel for the American Government in the cases of vessels seized during the Spanish-American war, said that in the case of the Delagoa Bay seizures there were several questions to be considered.

"The first question arising," he said, "is whether flour is a contraband of war. For many years England, owing to her supremacy on the seas, has largely assumed the task of deciding as to what are contraband. The list of articles constituting contraband of war, however, is yet far from complete, and precedents are being constantly established. If England proves that she is conducting a campaign of reduction and ultimately contemplates the investment of Johannesburg or Pretoria, for instance, she can, I think, rightly claim that large shipments of flour and other food stuffs destined for Transvaal cities are for the aid and comfort of the enemy.

"As war is now officially recognized between the two countries, England might claim that though the investment of the Boer capital is remote, the enemy might still be laying in stores for that contingency. If these contentions were all proven it would make no difference whether the vessels carrying such cargoes were neutral or were bound for neutral ports. The proceedings would be considered as being directed toward the cargoes and not toward the vessels."

Inquiry at the various steamship offices developed the fact that none of the vessels now en route from this port to South Africa have any shipments for Delagoa Bay. Edward N. Norton of Norton & Son, agents for the three vessels detained on the Africa coast, yesterday said: "We will receive goods for delivery on Delagoa Bay, but with the express provision that we will not be responsible for their delivery. Shippers are naturally unwilling to take this risk, and at present Lorenzo Marques is practically eliminated from our list of ports."

Herbert Barber of Barber & Co. spoke in a similar strain regarding Delagoa Bay shipments.

MR. HAY INVESTIGATES SEIZURES.

Instructs Consul at Lorenzo Marques to Report to Mr. Choate.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Secretary of State Hay said to-day:

"The United States Government has not protested to the Government of Great Britain against certain reported seizures, with the expectation that its protest would immediately remove all embarrassment to shippers of goods to Delagoa Bay. It certainly cannot be expected that, upon a telegraphic statement, from any source except that of an agent of the United States, this Government should proceed as if its function was to promptly cure all difficulties, including those incidental to a state of war.

"Upon the receipt of information that certain vessels with American products, owned by American shippers, had been interfered with at Lorenzo Marques, steps were taken to ascertain the facts, and our Consul at Lorenzo Marques was directed to make a report to Ambassador Choate, possibly to form the basis of a remonstrance."

"Doesn't the Department of State hold that flour can be regarded as contraband of war?"

"That is a question. If report is true, it is apparent that the British Government has assumed a risk in detaining the flour reported to have been shipped to Delagoa Bay, and which seems to have been seized in order to prevent it from reaching the enemies of Great Britain. The men who shipped flour to that point, no matter to whom it was shipped, ran some risk. They probably took that into consideration when they sent their ships out to the coast of Africa. I do not know whether the flour was intended for British or Boer use. If Great Britain has taken it, I would assume that it was taken with the expectation of paying for it if it is decided not to be contraband of war. We should not have thought well of any nation, during our war with Spain, if every arrest of a neutral vessel off the Cuban coast had been made the subject of a serious remonstration. If I mistake not, several British vessels were subjected to such arrest and more than one of them to condemnation."

RIGOROUS SEARCH IS URGED.

German Steamers Suspected of Carrying Contraband of War.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—A dispatch to The Times from Pietermaritzburg, dated Dec. 21, says:

"A strong suspicion exists here that the ostensibly innocent bills of lading furnished by German steamers arriving in Delagoa Bay really conceal contraband, and the local newspapers are urging a more rigid examination of cargoes."

Lonely Widow Found Dead.

Mrs. Julia Shea, sixty years old, was found dead yesterday in her room, 283 Second Street, Jersey City. She was sitting in a chair with her hand resting upon a table on which was a dish filled with apples. She was wealthy. Mrs. Shea had been dead two days. She had lived alone since her husband's death.

To Call on Dr. Purves To-day.

Silas B. Brownell, one of the Elders of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, said last night the special committee appointed several days ago to visit Princeton and officially present to the Rev. Dr. George T. Purves the call to the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, would perform its duty this afternoon.

LEGAL NOTES.

SURETY ON BOND OF SAVINGS BANK OFFICER.—A bond given by Matthew T. Trumpbour, assistant treasurer of the Ulster County Savings Institution of Kingston, N. Y., on his original appointment in July, 1867, contained this provision: "And if the said Matthew T. Trumpbour shall well and truly, honestly and faithfully in all things serve the said institution in the capacity of assistant treasurer, as aforesaid, during his continuance in office, then the above obligation should be void, otherwise to remain in full force and virtue. It being understood that this bond is to be binding for all the time that the said M. T. T. shall hold said office of assistant treasurer, even though he holds under successive appointments, but nothing herein shall prevent the sureties terminating their liability by giving at least two weeks' written notice of an intention so to do." Mr. Trumpbour was re-elected in 1868 and 1869, but not afterward, although he continued to act as such assistant treasurer with the consent of the board until 1891. In a suit brought by the savings bank, after Trumpbour had defaulted, against him and Horace G. Young as executor of Thomas Corneil, who was surety upon Trumpbour's bond, the Court of Appeals has affirmed the Appellate Division of the Third Department, which sustained judgment on a verdict directed by the trial court in favor of the plaintiff. The Court of Appeals held, Judge Martin giving the opinion, that the bond was intended by the parties as a continuing security during all the time the principal should hold the office of assistant treasurer; and, hence, that the surety was liable for the principal's acts in that office when holding over, with the consent of the Board of Trustees and by virtue of his prior appointments, after the termination of the period for which he had been appointed and reappointed. To set running the six months' limitation provided by Section 1,822 of the Code of Civil Procedure, against the action, it was held that there must have been a written claim to the executor or administrator and absolutely rejected by him.

***

DEPRESSION IN ELEVATED RAILROAD STAIRWAY.—Mary L. Rusk, on the trial of her suit against the Manhattan Railway Company for damages, thus described the manner in which she was injured, on the 26th of February, 1896, in leaving a southbound Sixth Avenue elevated train, at the Rector Street station: "We got off the train and went down the platform, and I noticed that it had snowed a little and that there was some snow on the upper platform; so I thought, 'Well; I better be careful;' so we started down the steps, and I waited a little until I got hold of the rail. I took hold with my right hand, gathered my dress in my left hand, and started down the steps, and just as I stepped off the last step, at the bottom of the first flight of stairs, my left foot slipped, and it turned right under, and broke one bone near the ankle joint and the outside bone a little further up from the ankle joint." While Miss Rusk waited for her brother to get a carriage to take her home, she noticed that the place where she fell "was covered with ice and was slippery," and that "just as you step off the place, there was a worn-off place, a little kind of scooped out place, I should judge about half an inch below the normal level." A verdict given in plaintiff's favor for $2,500, has been reversed by the First Appellate Division, in an opinion by Justice McLaughlin, who said it was apparent that not the depression but the ice and snow was the cause of her slipping and the proximate cause of the injury, and that the presence of the ice and the snow was due to the storm which was then progressing. The railroad company had a reasonable time after the snow fell and the ice formed, to remove it. It was not liable because it did not sprinkle "sand, ashes, or sawdust" upon the ice and snow. The plaintiff had therefore failed to show that the depression in the platform was a concurring cause of her injuries, without which it would not have happened.

***

THE CONTRACT WAS UNAUTHORIZED.—The Broadway Theatre Company by a written contract with the Dessau Company was to furnish the theatre and its accessories for the production of a play, while the latter company was to furnish the play and the performers. The Dessau Company was organized, as specified in its articles of incorporation, for mining, smelting, and manufacturing ores, metals, and minerals and selling or dealing in steel products. In the Broadway Company's suit for breach of the contract, the Dessau Company denied having entered into it, claimed it was ultra vires, and that Simon Dessau, who, as its Secretary and Treasurer, signed the contract, did so without authority. Dessau's signature to the contract having been proved on the trial, it was offered in evidence, but was excluded. That ruling has been held by the First Appellate Division, on appeal from judgment for the defendant to have been correct. Justice Barrett, giving the opinion, says that as the contract had no relation to the business of the corporation, its burden was on the plaintiff to have shown special authority to execute it or have given proof of ratification, and proof of declarations and acts of the Secretary and President was not sufficient.

COL. HOFFMAN ACCEPTS.

Officers Congratulate Him on His Appointment as Adjutant General.

Col. Edward M. Hoffman of Gen. Roe's staff, to whom was tendered the office of Adjutant General, to succeed Gen. Andrews, resigned, telegraphed his acceptance of the position to Gov. Roosevelt yesterday.

Gen. Hoffman, when seen, stated that he had no idea who would succeed him as Inspector on the division staff.

"I wish to say through THE TIMES, however," said the General, "that the expressions used in the Albany dispatches that I had been granted leave for one year and that my old position was to be held open for me for a year are unfortunate and seem to put the matter in a false light.

"I have made no suggestion of this character, and I know nothing whatever concerning it."

Many officers called at division headquarters to congratulate Gen. Hoffman on his appointment, which is very popular throughout National Guard circles.

It was rumored in high military circles yesterday that among the names under consideration for appointment to Inspector on the division staff was that of Lieut. Col. Harry Hayden Treadwell of the Twenty-second Regiment, who is also military aide on the staff of Gov. Roosevelt.

Col. Treadwell, when seen, asked to be excused from speaking on the matter, and would not deny or affirm that his name had been mentioned for the place.

Gen. Roe was reported out of town.

PRICE OF MILK REDUCED.

Still Slightly Higher Than at This Time a Year Ago.

The Consolidated Milk Exchange held its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in its office, in the Mercantile Exchange Building. The price of milk was reduced from $1.62 to $1.52 per can of forty quarts. This is the price which the New York dealer has to pay at the railroad terminals in New Jersey, and to that must be added the cost of carting to the city, which will average 5 cents per can.

The cost to the New York dealer will, therefore, be nearly 4 cents per quart. The price paid to the producer is 3 cents per quart. The present price is one-fourth of a cent higher than it was a year ago.

Testimonials to Mr. Tarbell.

Gage E. Tarbell, Second Vice President of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, has received a gold watch, a jeweled fob, and a ring as a mark of esteem from the agents of the society throughout the United States and Canada, representatives of every State and Territory in the Union being included in the list of donors. The Presentation Committee consisted on F. P. Chaplin of Toledo, Edward A. Woods of Pittsburg, and A. M. Shields of San Francisco. Mr. Tarbell became a general agent of the Equitable in 1884, and in 1889 he was appointed General Manager of the Northwestern department, with headquarters at Chicago. In September, 1893, he was elected Third Vice President, and became Second Vice President last Spring upon the elevation of James W. Alexander to the Presidency of the society.

St. Johnland Society Meeting.

The annual meeting of the St. Johnland Society was held yesterday at the rectory of the Church of the Holy Communion. At the home, Kings Park, L. I., 181 persons were cared for during the year, as against 141 the year before. Of this number, two-thirds were cared for free. The Rev. Henry Mottet was re-elected President. William Alexander Smith was elected Vice President, in place of Cornelius Vanderbilt, deceased; Francis E. Hyde Secretary, and Francis M. Bacon Treasurer. The Right Rev. A. N. Littlejohn, Bishop of Long Island, was chosen an additional Trustee, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt was elected a Trustee in place of his father.

MR. ROSSITER A WITNESS

Brooklyn Rapid Transit's President Before the Grand Jury.

J. S. BACHE FORCED TO ANSWER

Objects to Questions as to Whether or Not a Well-Known Wall Street Man Is One of His Customers.

A special three hours' session of the Grand Jury was held yesterday to investigate the complaints made by William F. Sheehan, counsel for the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, concerning rumors circulated in Wall Street regarding a receiver for the company. Three witnesses testified before the Grand Jury last Friday and ten more were present yesterday.

Clinton L. Rossiter, the President of the Rapid Transit Company, was the first witness. He was followed by J. S. Bache of the firm of J. S. Bache & Co., bankers and brokers of 66 Exchange Place. He was asked whether a certain man, well known on Wall Street, was one of his customers. Mr. Bache was unwilling to answer and appealed to the Grand Jury to be excused from doing so on the ground that it would be a violation of confidence. Mr. Bache went into another room while a vote was taken as to whether he should be ordered to answer it or not. It was voted that he must answer, and when Mr. Bache was called back and informed of the decision he answered the question and was permitted to leave the stand.

E. S. Hooley, a broker of 16 Broad Street, went on the stand next, and Talbot J. Taylor, son-in-law of James Keene, followed him. Mr. Taylor had not presented himself as early as the other witnesses, and it was rumored about the Criminal Court Building that he had refused to obey the subpoena. He put in an appearance at about 4 o'clock, however, and went before the Grand Jury immediately. He was followed by E. D. Jones, manager of the office of Talbot J. Taylor, who remained on the stand for a short time.

While Mr. Jones was testifying Joseph O'Leary, the stenographer for J. S. Bache & Co., for whom a subpoena had been sent out after Mr. Taylor, went on the stand, appeared at the Grand Jury room. Herbert Falk, the manager of the firm, was with him and demanded admittance to the Grand Jury room It was at first refused, but when he declared he was in the possession of valuable evidence he was immediately subpoenaed and taken inside. O'Leary was on the stand for a considerable time, and when he left the room, was evidently laboring under great excitement. Elijah Smith of 27 Broadway and Lawyer John D. Lindsay were examined after Mr. Falk. Sidney S. Schuyler, a broker of 32 Broadway, was the last witness.

After the adjournment Assistant District Attorney McIntyre made this statement: "All I can say is that it looks very suspicious for people who were short on Brooklyn Rapid Transit stock on the day when the rumors were circulated."

Assistant District Attorneys Unger and O'Reilly on the other hand said: "Absolutely no information of any value has been obtained. Not one of the witnesses seems to know anything about the case.

The Grand Jury will continue the investigation this morning. Herbert Falk will be one of the first witnesses. He has been ordered to bring the books of J. S. Bache & Co. with him.

OBJECTS TO SPENDING $25,000.

Rapid Transit Stockholder Seeks to Enjoin Company from Paying the Reward.

Before his appearance at the District Attorney's office, yesterday, W. F. Sheehan had been representing the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company before Justice Beekman in the Supreme Court, where an application had been made for an injunction prohibiting the company from paying the $25,000 reward it had offered for information in regard to the rumors circulated on Wall Street on the day of the panic. Warren E. Allen, a stockholder of the Rapid Transit Company, made the application, and Justice Gildersleeve issued an order commanding the Directors to show cause why the injunction should not be granted, as Mr. Allen's counsel, Byron P. Stratton, had stated that the payment of the reward would be a direct violation of the by-laws of the company, and that the Directors of the company had exceeded their authority in offering it.

When Mr. Sheehan said he was ready to give the company's reasons at once, the case was transferred to Justice Beekman. Mr. Stratton objected to an immediate argument of the case. Mr. Sheehan said he could prove that the application of Mr. Allen had been made for stock jobbing purposes, and had been expected on the Stock Exchange an hour before it was made.

"I can show," he said, "that this man Allen only became a stockholder in the company to-day. My clients seek to protect the credit of the company and its life. It was reported that we were about to go into the hands of a receiver. That rumor affected our stock, and we should not be debarred from paying a reward for the detection of this crime.

"With all due respect to the Court, I say that no power in Christendom can prevent us from putting our hands in our pockets and paying this reward of $25,000 to the persons who earn it. We will pay it out of our own private pockets if necessary."

Mr. Stratton replied that his client had owned shares in Rapid Transit stock before the offer of the reward, but admitted that 100 shares had been transferred to him yesterday morning. At Mr. Stratton's request the case was adjourned for a hearing to-day.

WOULD LET STOCKHOLDERS SEE.

G. A. Lamb Suggests that Rapid Transit Books Be Opened.

George A. Lamb of the law firm of Lamb & Voss sent a letter to Sheehan & Collin, counsel of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, yesterday, which read in part:

"Replying to the appeal of the Directors of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company to the public to aid them in the preservation of honest business methods, permit me to make the following suggestions:

"If the Directors will permit the stockholders of the company, to whom they are responsible for the conduct of the company's business, to examine its books and accounts, the stockholders can readily ascertain for themselves the truth or the falsity of the rumors that have been circulated concerning its financial condition.

"You will remember that the Directors denied a request by a client of my firm, F. F. Marquand, who had held stock of the company since its organization, to be allowed to examine the books. Mr. Marquand pointed out certain gross inaccuracies in the annual report discernible upon its face, and desired an opportunity to verify or disprove the report. The technical plea availed of in court that Mr. Marquand was merely the holder of beneficial certificates left my client, his friends, and myself, with the impression that the Directors were afraid to allow him to examine the books.

"Your clients have permitted the stock of their company to be used by unscrupulous speculators to rob the public. By means of false representations as to the earnings of the road, representations uncontradicted by the Directors, the stock has been sold to the public at unwarranted prices, and the market history of the stock is one of the most shameful swindles ever perpetrated in Wall Street. The Directors have sat by in silence and permitted the wholesale robbery of the people of this community, when they were charged with the duty as honest citizens of contradicting these false statements, publicly made."

Mr. Sheehan when asked if he had any statement to make concerning the letter, said: "I have nothing to say in answer to this man Lamb. His letter is not worth answering. If there is any answer purporting to have come to me about it you can put it down as false. I won't notice it."

The Credit Men's Association.

A committee of the New York Credit Men's Association, consisting of Richard P. Messiter, Charles Biggs, and Edward E. Huber, announce that T. H. Bartindale, President of the association, has resigned, and that his resignation has been accepted with an expression of appreciation for his services. A corrected list of the officers of the association given by the committee is as follows: President—A. H. Watson; Vice President—Charles E. Meek; Treasurer—E. E. Huber; Secretary—H. J. Sayers; Executive Committee (two years)—T. H. Bartindale, Charles Biggs, F. R. Boocock, F. A. Brainard, E. E. Huber; one year—M. E. Bannin, F. E. Lally, R. P. Messiter, R. B. Minis, G. Waldo Smith.

You may get hot over Christmas bills, but it won't keep off the chills of zero weather.

For the very-much-billed man, here's a good kersey; or a choice from a number of reduced-in-price rough overcoats—at $15; young men's $10.

For the man who wants the best, never mind what, kerseys that have sold at $30 to $40—now $22 for sizes 32 to 34; $25, sizes 34 to 46.

Everything in overcoats from the very short to the very long.

ROGERS, PEET & Co.

350 Broadway, cor. Leonard.
569 Broadway, cor. Prince.
Thirty-second and Broadway.

REPLY ON ASTORIA GRANT.

Mr. Whalen Takes Exception to Statements of Gov. Roosevelt About His Office.

Corporation Counsel Whalen yesterday took exception to some of the language used by Gov. Roosevelt in his message to the State Land Board accompanying his approval of the grant to the Astoria Light, Heat, and Power Company.

Mr. Whalen said in part:

"After having read the Governor's message I think there is only one paragraph to which I ought to reply. This is what the Governor says:

> The Attorney General's office has shown its willingness to aid the Corporation Counsel in bringing the matter before the courts for their prompt consideration and determination, but the inactivity of the Corporation Counsel's office has been such that the test has never been made.

"This extract from a letter sent by me to the Attorney General on Oct. 18; through one of my assistants, disproves the Governor's assertion. It is from the letter to which the Attorney General made no reply:

> You will recall the fact that Mr. Freedman and I, representing the Dock Department, were before the Land Board on the 22d of June, at the hearing in the matter of the applications of the Astoria Light, Heat, and Power Company and others for the grants of land under water in the City of New York.
>
> I am now in position to proceed to test the question we are all so anxious to have settled, but do not wish to be called upon to print more than one case, which, I assume, will be agreeable to you. Of course, I have no objection to all the attorneys interested joining in the brief or in the argument, and I am anxious to agree with you as to how the questions can best be brought up. It occurs to me to suggest that certiorari would be the best way. I prefer it to an injunction suit, and I think you will. If it is agreeable to you that the matter should be tested by certiorari I will obtain one returnable in your county and that will bring the matter into the Appellate Division in the first instance, and from there we can go to the Court of Appeals.
>
> Kindly inform me if this is agreeable to you, and if so, designate some person here with whom I can arrange details—some one of the several counsel representing the respective claimants—Mr. Burr, for instance, will be entirely agreeable, or Mr. Boardman.

"If the Attorney General had acted on the suggestions contained in that leter the matter of differences between the city and the State regarding the giving away of valuable land, under water to private individuals and corporations would be in court, and in all probability an expression of opinion would be had that might guide us in the future or at least determine whether these valuable grants shall be taken from the City of New York without its consent and against its protest.

"The city has been consistent and persistent in its protest against the giving away of valuable land that will be required for its own use in the near future. I hope to be able to maintain our contention that if is not in the power of the State Land Board to practically give it away as they had heretofore done against the protest of our City Government."

VAN NOSTRAND'S PLEA IN VAIN.

Justice Beekman Intimates His Opinion of Contumacious Councilmen.

Councilman David L. Van Nostrand of Little Neck, L. I., may, as the result of a motion made before Justice Beekman, in the Supreme Court, yesterday, be sent to jail, and will, it is believed, certainly have the fine of $100 inflicted on him for contempt of court by Justice Fitzgerald increased.

Mr. Van Nostrand is one of the Councilmen who declined to vote for the bond issue for the new Hall of Records. A mandamus was issued by Justice Fitzgerald, directing him and his brother Councilmen to pass the bond issue. When the matter came up in the Council, a resolution was brought forward passing an issue of bonds for $34,000, being the amount claimed by John Pierce, the contractor for the new building, for the work done by him up to the time when the mandamus proceedings were instituted. Another resolution spoke contemptuously of the Supreme Court. The Council then passed the bond issue for the full amount.

An appeal was taken by the Councilmen from Justice Fitzgerald's ruling, but the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court not only affirmed Justice Fitzgerald's decision, but stated that the fine was altogether too light for the offense committed.

Councilman Van Nostrand's lawyer, Harrison L. Moore, told Justice Beekman yesterday that his client had not had his "day in court," as an adjournment was taken the first day the mandamus application came on and he had never received notice to attend on any other day. He therefore asked that the fine be remitted and that the case be dealt with on its merits, as his client, he said, had committed no contempt of court.

L. Laflin Kellogg, counsel for Pierce, said that Mr. Van Nostrand was one of the men who declined to vote for the full amount of the bond issue, and had voted for the resolution which was contemptuously worded regarding the Supreme Court. The question of remitting the fines of the Councilmen had been, he said, argued three times, and he thought the motion of Mr. Van Nostrand should not have been made.

"I do not wish," Mr. Kellogg said, "to be hard on these Councilmen, but if Councilman Van Nostrand persists in his motion, I shall deem it my duty to refer to the action of the Appellate Division in saying the fines inflicted were too light."

Mr. Moore said the reason Mr. Van Nostrand had not voted for the full issue was because he did not know which was the correct sum to vote for.

"If I rehear this matter," said Justice Beekman, "I shall certainly take the fact that it has been made as a reason for increasing this man's punishment and inflicting a larger fine on him, and perhaps I shall send him to prison. I do not desire to see contumacy of this kind carried to such an extent as appears in this case."

Mr. Moore said that in face of the Justice's remarks he thought he would not go on with the motion.

Justice Beekman said he would allow him to withdraw his motion, and Mr. Kellogg advised him to have the fine paid at once, but he insisted on handing in his papers to the Justice.

"Very well. I'll dispose of the case on its merits," Justice Beekman said.

Councilman Van Nostrand does not know what he may expect now.

MUSIC FOR EXPIRING BOARD.

How Aldermen Purpose to Mark the New Year's Approach.

The Board of Aldermen which expires on Sunday next intends to go out of office to the music of a brass band, according to a resolution adopted by that body yesterday. The Aldermanic resolution follows:

> Whereas, The last days of the year 1899 are drawing to a close, and in the past one hundred years no country upon earth has developed greater enterprise, made more rapid advancement, nor showed more vigorous progress in all that tends to make a nation great, prosperous, and happy; and
>
> Whereas, From the inception of this century the City of New York, the metropolis of the Western Hemisphere, has been the great centre of financial, commercial, and intellectual development; therefore, be it
>
> Resolved, That we, the Municipal Assembly of the City of New York, desirous of fittingly observing the close of the year 1899 and the dawn of the year 1900, the year that will round out the closing period of the nineteenth century, direct that the City Hall of Greater New York be appropriately decorated, as was the case on Jan. 1, 1898, upon the occasion of the birth of Greater New York, under the present charter.
>
> Resolved, further, That music be provided, as upon that occasion, and that a joint committee of three from the Board of Aldermen and three from the Council, with the President of the Board of Aldermen and the President of the Council, members, ex officio, be appointed with instructions to carry the purpose before mentioned into effect.

BRIDGE ORDINANCE DEFEATED.

Vote on the Manhattan-Queens Project in Aldermanic Board.

The Board of Aldermen, by a vote of 32 to 16, yesterday refused to pass the ordinance providing for the construction of the proposed Blackwell's Island bridge. The Committee on Bridges and Tunnels had reported the measure favorably.

Aldermen McCall, Tammany leader, and Schneider spoke in support of the ordinance, and then Alderman James (Rep., Queens,) made a long speech in which he quoted reports of engineers on tunnels in Europe tending to show that Controller Coler had underestimated the cost of a tunnel between Manhattan and Queens. Mr. James's deduction from these reports was that the Manhattan-Queens tunnel would cost in the neighborhood of $89,000,000. "Tunnels are obsolete," said Mr. James."

Another attempt will be made this afternoon to pass the ordinance. Alderman McCall said after the meeting that too much time had been wasted in talk, and that to-day he would move the previous question in order to shut off debate.

BIG NEW STORAGE RESERVOIR.

Public Improvements Board Adopts Mr. Dalton's Proposition.

A proposition for the building of a new storage reservoir in Westchester County of the capacity of 9,000,000,000 gallons, made by Commissioner Dalton of the Department of Water Supply some time ago, was adopted by the Board of Public Improvements yesterday.

The Hotel Men's Association of New York sent a communication to the board asking for an increase of water supply and pressure. The communication was placed on file.

Want the City to Buy Jumel Mansion.

The Board of Public Improvements yesterday received communications from Brig. Gen. Thomas Wilson, United States Army; J. C. Pumpelly, Col. Ralph E. Prime, President of the American Flag Association, and others, asking that the city take steps to purchase the Jumel Mansion, on Washington Heights, to make of it a museum of historical relics. They were filed without reading.

No Money for New Station Sites.

Another attempt to pass the resolution to appropriate $475,000 for additional sites for police stations was beaten in the Board of Aldermen yesterday, only thirty-three members voting for it. Forty-five votes were necessary.

STORY OF A "HOODOO" CLOCK.

Mrs. Chatfield's Purchase Struck "de Debbil's" Gig and Caused a Baby to Die of Measles.

Mrs. Martha Chatfield, a little old colored woman, dressed in raiment of the style of the last decade, appeared before Magistrate Mott, in the Yorkville Police Court, yesterday morning and asked for a warrant for the arrest of a Third Avenue auctioneer for selling her a "hoodoo" clock, which she had presented to her husband, Joshua. She wandered into the place Saturday, and at the time the auctioneer was trying to sell a bronze clock. He represented the clock to be an eight-day affair, and warranted to strike the hours and half hours during the day.

Mrs. Chatfield said the clock was started at 25 cents by a man with ear laps on. A woman with a red nose bid 30 cents. She was followed by a man with a cob pipe at 35 cents, and finally it reached a dollar, which Mrs. Chatfield said she bid. A fat woman bid $1.06, and then the race for the clock was between Mrs. Chatfield and the fat woman to the finish, which was $1.25.

Mrs. Chatfield wound it up and put it in a closet and covered it with some old clothes. She did not intend to present the clock until Sunday. At midnight she and Joshua were awakened by an infernal noise. The clock began striking. It struck thirteen times, stopped a little while, struck thirteen, and then repeated the performance.

"Three thirteens," she said Joshua shouted; "dat's de debbil's gig."

Mrs. Chatfield added that her husband was "superstishsome," and he ducked under the covers, believing his time had come. Nothing more was thought of the matter, and the next day she presented the clock, trying to allay his fears by saying he dreamed of the gig. Sunday night at midnight they were awakened by the clock striking forty-four. Then Joshua declared the clock was a "hoodoo" and wanted it thrown out of the window.

Mrs. Chatfield said she tried to give the clock away, but the report that it was "hoodooed" had gone throughout the neighborhood, and no one would take it. A baby died of the measles in the block and the clock was blamed for it. She wanted the auctioneer arrested and her $1.25 returned.

Magistrate Mott advised her to take the matter to the civil court. Mrs. Chatfield left court muttering:

"Dere ain't justice eben agin' a hoodoo."

Held for a Watchman's Death.

James O'Brien, living at 627 Columbus Avenue, and James Barnes, living at 273 West Eighty-seventh Street, were held yesterday in $2,500 by the Coroner and committed to the Tombs in default, pending an investigation into the death of James B. O'Sullivan, a night watchman, living at 1,559 Lexington avenue. O'Sullivan died in the Manhattan Hospital yesterday morning of a fractured skull received, it is alleged, in a fight Christmas night in a saloon at Eighty-eighth Street and Broadway.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Balance of our

Jackets, Ulsters Driving Coats and Evening Wraps, at 1/2 former prices.

Jackets

in rough and smooth cloths. Black, tan, and Oxford mixtures,

$5.50, $7.50, $10.50, $12.50 & $18.50.

Lord & Taylor

Broadway & 20th St.

MEN'S UNDERWEAR.

Heavy weight,—Wool underwear. Colors:—pale blue, tan and camel's hair.

Shirts, self-faced. Drawers, re-inforced. Odd sizes, $1.10 Each; Formerly $1.50.

JAMES McCREERY & CO., Broadway and 11th St.

FLINT'S FINE FURNITURE

REDUCED ORIENTAL CARPETS

Specially Selected for Dining-rooms.

OSMANIA & DEMEDICS
Averaging 8.2 x 5.9 ft.
$25.00
To 14.6 x 11.2 ft.
$97.50
(former prices $35.00 to $140.00.)

Gems of their kind, with centres of bright, but artistically mingled reds, blues, greens, and yellows.

Many of our finest dining-room furniture designs in old English, Flemish, and Sheraton, were delayed on account of our factory being so rushed with early orders for the Christmas trade, so they are now marked below cost.

"BUY OF THE MAKER"

GEO. C. FLINT CO.

43 45 AND 47 WEST 23RD ST NEAR BROADWAY.

FACTORY 154 AND 156 WEST 19TH STREET

Nervous Exhaustion.
Horsford's Acid Phosphate
Acts as a tonic and nerve food, imparting vigor and strength to the entire system. Induces refreshing sleep.
Genuine bears name HORSFORD'S on wrapper.

OUR WOMENS DEPARTMENT.
BARGAINS.
Special Sale of Jackets-
Fine Kersey Cloth Jackets-
$15.00
Reduced from $28.—$30.
Fine Kersey Cloth Jackets-
$12.50
Reduced from $25.
Fine Kersey Cloth Jackets-
$10.00
Reduced from $20.00—$22.50
All finely tailored and lined throughout with Satin or Silk.

Hackett Carhart & Co.

THREE BROADWAY STORES. Cor. 13TH St. Cor. Canal St. Near Chambers.

AMUSEMENTS.

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE.
GRAND OPERA SEASON 1899-1900.
Under the Direction of Mr. MAURICE GRAU.
To-morrow Evg. at 8, FAUST. Mmes. Calvé and Mantelli; MM. Alvarez, Scotti, and Edouard de Reszke. Conductor, Sig. Mancinelli.
Sat. Mat., Dec. 30, only matinée of ROMEO ET JULIETTE. Mmes. Eames, Olitzka; MM. Saleza, Plançon, and Ed. de Reszke. Conductor, Sig. Mancinelli.
Sat. Evg., Dec. 30, at Popular Prices, IL TROVATORE. Mmes. Nordica and Mantelli; MM. Campanari, Pringle, and Dippel. Conductor, Sig. Bevignani.
Sun. Evg., Dec. 31, Grand Sunday Night Concert. Soloists: Mmes. Sembrich and Olitzka; MM. Campanari and Saligna, together with Met. Opera House Orchestra. Conductor, Mr. Paur.
Mon. Evg., Jan. 1, at 8, CARMEN. Mmes. Calvé and Suzanne Adams; MM. Saleza and Plançon. Conductor, Sig. Mancinelli.
Wed Evg., Jan. 3, at 8, AIDA. Mmes. Eames and Mantelli; MM. Alvarez, Scotti, and Plançon. Conductor, Sig. Mancinelli.
Fri. Evg., Jan. 5, at 7:45, DIE WALKURE. Mmes. Nordica, Schumann-Heink, and Eames; MM. Van Dyck, Pringle, and Van Rooy. Conductor, Paur.
WEBER PIANOS USED.

CARNEGIE HALL—NEXT SUNDAY EVG.
Sunday Ev'g, 31st Dec., at 8:30 o'Clock,
PADEREWSKI
His only appearance with orchestra this season.
WALTER DAMROSCH.....Conductor
Programme. Beethoven's E Flat Concerto.
Soli, by Chopin.
PADEREWSKI'S Fantasie Polonaise
Seats, $2.50, $2.00, $1.50, and $1.00 AT SCHUBERTH'S, 23 UNION SQ.; ALSO AT THE HALL.
STEINWAY PIANO USED.

DALY'S B'way & 30th.....at 8:20 Matinées Wednesday & Sat., 2. Special Matinée New Year's. 2D MONTH. Permanent Home of Daniel Frohman's Co. THE MANEUVERS OF JANE Comedy, 4 acts, by Henry Arthur Jones.

LYCEUM 4th Av. & 23d.....at 8:30 Daniel Frohman.....Manager Matinées To-day & Sat., 2. Extra Matinée New Year's Day. FOURTH MONTH. CHARLES FROHMAN PRESENTS ANNIE RUSSELL in MISS HOBBS MISS HOBBS

EMPIRE THEATRE. Broadway and 40th St. Evgs. 8:20. Matinées Wed. & Saturday at 2. EMPIRE THEATRE COMPANY. MY LADY'S LORD. XTRA MAT. NEW YEAR'S.

GARRICK THEATRE. 25th St. & B'way. Evenings, 8 o'clock. Mats., 2:15. Matinées Saturday and New Year's Day. Wm. Gillette in His New Play. Sherlock Holmes

MADISON SQ. THEATRE. 24th St., nr. B'way. EVGS., 8:30. MATINEES, 2:15. Matinées Wednesday, Saturday, and New Year's. WHEELS WITHIN WHEELS. This Season.

Charles Frohman's Criterion Theatre B'way & 44th St. Ev'gs, 8:30. LAST 2 WEEKS. Matinées Sat. & New Year's. JULIA MARLOWE | Barbara Frietchie. Tuesday, January 9—MAUDE ADAMS.

GARDEN THEATRE 27th St. and Madison Ave. Charles Frohman.....Manager FOR TWO WEEKS ONLY. Evenings 8:30. Matinée Saturday. MR. RICHARD MANSFIELD in THE FIRST VIOLIN: From the Romance written by Jessie Fothergill. Jan. 8th, Last and Farewell Week. Monday, (only time,) Arms and The Man; Tuesday, Cyrano de Bergerac; Wednesday, Prince Karl; Thursday, A Parisian Romance; Friday, Beau Brummell; Saturday, (only matinée,) The Devil's Disciple; Sat. Evg., Farewell Night, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Seats may now be secured for the balance of

DAILY, ONE CENT. SUNDAY, THREE CENTS.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

The New York Times.

THE WEATHER. Fair and cold, winds northerly.

COPYRIGHT, 1899, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

VOL. XLIX...NO. 15,592. NEW YORK, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1899.—TWELVE PAGES. ONE CENT in Greater New York; Elsewhere, and Jersey City. TWO CENTS.

THE NEWS CONDENSED.

Stocks irregular.

Cash wheat, No. 2 red, 74½c.; cash corn, No. 2 mixed, 40⅝c.; cash cotton, 7 11-16c.

FOREIGN.—The Boer positions at Colenso are said to be practically impregnable, and the whole character of the campaign has changed. The British cannot carry the forts by assault. A British deserter, recently captured, says he instructed the Boers in intrenching. The terms of peace said to be under discussion at Pretoria include the payment to the Transvaal of $100,000,000 and the cession of territory. Charles H. Cramp of the well-known shipbuilding firm says that the present war is Germany's great opportunity to extend her shipping interests, and that she is taking advantage of it. A German military critic says that the Boers have proved themselves superior to the British in every way. Gen. Methuen has opened a market to trade with the farmers near his camp. Prominent native rulers in India have offered assistance to Great Britain. The reported treaty between Great Britain, Germany, and Portugal for the partition of the colonial possessions of the last-named country is generally discredited in Europe and in this country. It is asserted that the Boers are in communication with their European representative through an agent at Lorenzo Marques. The flour seized at Delagoa Bay by the British belonged principally to an English firm, which has an agent in this city. Severe storms are raging in Ireland. Harry Escombe, ex-Premier of Natal, dropped dead in a street of Durban yesterday. Memorial services in honor of the late Duke of Westminster were held in Westminster Abbey yesterday, and the Duke's ashes were buried at Eaton Hall. The defense has opened its argument in the French conspiracy cases. A prehistoric fossil resembling an alligator and lizard and almost twenty-nine feet long has been found in Chile. Brazil looks for serious trouble in the disputed territory of Guiana, and has sent a warship to Amapa. Fighting in Colombia has begun anew, and the people are demanding foreign intervention. Russia will issue a new series of notes. Another German Army officer was killed in a duel yesterday. Queen Victoria arrived at Osborne yesterday afternoon. There are now 30,000 people on strike at St. Etienne, France.—Pages 3 and 7.

Page 1.

Ex-President Cleveland has been confined to his bed at his home in Princeton, N. J., by rheumatism, but is improving.

Collector Stone of Baltimore yesterday fined an Italian steamship Captain $5,000 for coming into port without a bill of health.

Harry S. Cornish took the stand toward the close of yesterday's session of the Molineux trial, and began his story of the death of Mrs. Adams. Drs. Phillips and Coffin testified regarding the fatal illness of Barnet.

Truman A. Taylor, a stockholder in the Pullman Palace Car Company, yesterday filed a bill in the Circuit Court at Chicago asking for an order to enjoin the merging of that company with the Wagner Palace Car Company.

Page 2.

Senator Kyle of South Dakota, formerly classed as a Populist, has come out strong for the gold standard and expansion.

Corporation Attorney Minturn of Hoboken has received a letter from William J. Bryan congratulating him upon his activity in the silver cause.

The will of the late John I. Blair has been probated. De Witt C. Blair, the testator's only surviving child, gets the bulk of the estate. There are few charitable bequests.

Page 3.

An inmate of the New Jersey Industrial School for Girls, at Trenton, is said to have attempted to murder Mrs. Eyler, the matron.

Page 4.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission yesterday sent the evidence on the contemplated classification of freight to Attorney General Griggs for investigation.

Creditors of Stahl & Straub, the Philadelphia brokers, cannot hope to realize more than a fraction of the sums due. A warrant has been issued for Stahl's arrest.

The Grand Jury yesterday returned a presentment in the matter of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company investigation stating that the time at its disposal was too short for full examination of the charges and asking that they be referred to the succeeding Grand Jury. Five members of the Grand Jury presented a protest to the Court against this decision.

Page 5.

Columbia drew her chess games with Harvard in the intercollegiate tournament yesterday, and is still in the lead.

Frank J. Ferrell, the colored politician, filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $150,470 and nominal assets of $92,078.

Page 6.

One hundred and fifty of the Maine dead were buried with military honors yesterday in Arlington Cemetery.

Secretary Gage yesterday designated several additional National banks as depositories for internal revenue receipts.

Page 7.

Gen. Wood's office in Havana is overrun by hundreds of office seekers, who want everything from Cabinet Secretaryships to janitorships.

Horatio Rubens, formerly counsel for the Cuban Junta, said yesterday that all elements in the island are delighted at the programme of reforms of Gov. Gen. Wood.

Page 12.

New York, Boston, and Philadelphia capitalists, it is reported, will build a hotel on the site of the old Brunswick, facing on Madison Square.

Frederick Leyland & Co., Limited, of Liverpool, are to start a new weekly transatlantic service between that port and New York.

At the instance of creditors a committee of five, of which Alexander E. Orr is Chairman, has undertaken to prepare a plan of reorganization for Harper & Brothers.

Richard Croker Warren, nephew of Richard Croker, was secretly married at Greenwich, Conn. Wednesday night. His wife is a trained nurse many years his senior.

Mrs. Lucy S. Scribner has made a full denial of charges advanced by Mrs. Ida M. Fraser of Pasadena, Cal., who is seeking divorce from her husband, Dr. J. C. Fraser.

For the second time within the space of two days the Board of Aldermen yesterday defeated the resolution authorizing the construction of the bridge connecting Manhattan and Queens.

A movement is on foot in Dublin to place a bust and portrait of Richard Croker in public buildings in that city in recognition of his work in raising funds for the preservation of the Parnell home.

There were rumors of an impending war among the large life insurance companies, based partly upon a report of the cancellation of an agreement as to the employment of agents between the New York Life and the Equitable. President Alexander of the Equitable admitted the correctness of the latter report, but said he anticipated no war.

Amusements.—Page 7.
Arrivals at Hotels and Out-of-Town Buyers.—Page 2.
Business Troubles.—Page 5.
Court Calendars.—Page 10.
Insurance Notes.—Page 12.
Legal Notes.—Page 12.
Losses by Fire.—Page 2.
Markets.—Page 10.
Marine Intelligence and Foreign Mails.—Page 3.
New Corporations.—Page 5.
Real Estate.—Page 10.
Society.—Page 7.
Weather Report.—Page 2
Yesterday's Fires.—Page 2.

Loan Association Assets Sold.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—The assets of the International Loan and Building Association were offered for sale to the highest bidder by Judge Brentano to-day. He opened the bids which had been received, and announced as the successful bidder the real estate firm of Cobe & McKennan, whose bid is understood to be $100,000 in cash and the assumption of debts amounting to about $20,000 more. The stockholders, it is said, will soon receive a 25 per cent. dividend.

Now It's Evans' Stout
as well as Evans' Ale—Here and Everywhere.—Adv.

Poland! Poland! Poland! Poland!
Is the purest natural spring water in the world.—Adv.

DISTURBED TAMMANY HALL

Enemies of John C. Sheehan Made Noise in the Gallery.

ORGANIZATION RULES ADOPTED

George M. Van Hoesen, Elected Head of the New General Committee, Talked Against Alliances.

The General Committee of Tammany Hall met in the Wigwam, in Fourteenth Street, last night, for the purpose of reorganization, in conformity with the new primary law. New officers were chosen, and for the first time the organization adopted rules and regulations, which, under the law, must be filed in the Bureau of Elections, and thus become the law of the party, by which all contests arising from dissensions in the organization must be adjudicated in the courts. The meeting was marked by disturbances caused by a crowd of men who sat in the gallery, and who alternately cheered for Councilman Frank J. Goodwin and hissed and yelled at the mention of the name of John C. Sheehan. After this demonstration of feeling regarding the situation in the Ninth Assembly District had gone on for nearly an hour, the Chairman, ex-Judge George M. Van Hoesen, threatened to have the disturbers ejected, and then the clamor was silenced.

The first outbreak occurred when the Ninth District was reached in the call of the members of the General Committee for votes for the temporary officers, Maurice F. Holahan as Chairman, and John T. Oakley as Secretary. Mr Sheehan's name led the list of the delegates from the Ninth, and as Assistant Corporation Counsel Rollin M. Morgan, who called the roll, pronounced the name, a wild tumult arose in the gallery. Hisses and cries of "scab" and "traitor" were intermingled with groans and cat calls, and finally a red-faced man, who had been violently declaiming, proposed "Three cheers for Frank J. Goodwin." The hisses and scornful cries died away, and the cheers were given with a will. While this demonstration was taking place, Mr. Sheehan, surrounded by a number of his friends, sat in the southwest corner of the council room, and if the derisive cries occasioned him any humiliation, he carefully disguised it beneath a calm face and quiet demeanor.

The roll call progressed rapidly and quietly after that. Richard Croker's name, the first on the roll from the Twentieth Assembly District, was passed without any demonstration, but a moment later, when that of Mayor Van Wyck, heading the Twenty-second District delegation, was reached, there was some applause. Mr. Croker's name also headed the list from the Twenty-ninth—his home district—but no one heeded it. Loud applause followed the calling of the name of Isaac A. Hopper, the new leader of the Thirty-first District, and there was some cheering when the name of Deputy City Clerk Nicholas J. Hayes, the leader of the Thirty-third District, was reached. In no case did any one respond to the roll call. Judge Van Hoesen, interpreting the silence to mean assent, declared the nominees for temporary officers duly elected.

Mr. Holahan, on taking the chair, asked the pleasure of the meeting, and a resolution was handed up nominating Judge Van Hoesen for permanent Chairman and Patrick A. Whitney for Secretary. Both were elected by acclamation. In the meantime Judge Van Hoesen remained upon the rostrum, and when James J. Martin and John F. Carroll, who were appointed as a committee to escort the new officers to their places, started to do their duty they found both on the platform ahead of them.

Judge Van Horsen, after thanking the committee for electing him to preside over it for the coming year, said that he hoped the year 1900 would be a year filled with triumph for the Democratic Party. "There never was a time," he said, "when the country needd the Democratic Party more than it does to-day. There never was an hour when the country needed to return to the prestine purity of its principles than the present. There never was an era when the advice of the immortal Washington 'beware of all entangling alliances,' was more necessary, or when we should be more on our guard against the insidious gulles of foreign influence. It is no time now, when we have 75,000,000 inhabitants for America to become a British province and take her place with Australia and India and Canada. It is because I believe that the year 1900 will be a year of return to old policies and principles that I feel so deeply the honor you have conferred upon me in choosing me as Chairman of this committee."

Senator Thomas F. Grady presented the report of the Committee on Rules for 1900. Among the rules were two creating two new offices—a reading clerk of the General Committee and a clerk to the Executive Committee. Neither of these officers need be members of the committees they serve. Both of these places were made necessary by the result of the fight in the Ninth District, in which Thomas F. Smith, Mr. Croker's secretary, and one of the Secretaries of Tammany Hall, was defeated for member of the General Committee, and thus became ineligible, under the law, for re-election. The law permits the General Committee to create such offices as it deems necessary, and in order to give Mr. Smith a place the two offices were made. Subsequently, Chairman Van Hoesen named Mr. Smith as reading clerk, and it was announced that when the Executive Committee should reorganize, he would be elected as clerk. The rules, as reported, were adopted.

Councilman Martin Engel, the leader of the Eighth Assembly District, then presented a resolution naming the following as officers of the General Committee under the new rules: George M. Van Hoesen, President; Thaddeus Moriarty, First Vice President; William F. Grell, Second Vice President; Patrick A. Whitney, Recording Secretary; Frank W. Smith, Corresponding Secretary, Jacob Marks, J. Fairfax McLaughlin, Jr., and James F. Delaney, additional Secretaries; John McQuade, Treasurer, and John V. McCloskey, Sergeant-at-Arms. All were unanimously elected.

Another anti-Sheehan demonstration occurred when, on motion of Corporation Counsel Whalen, the roll of districts was called for the names of members of the Executive Committee. As a man from the Ninth named John C. Sheehan a tumult of catcalls and jeering cries began again. The red-faced man who acted as leader of the crowd in the gallery became evident again by starting the cry "And we'll hunt the Buffalo"—an allusion to Mr. Sheehan's former residence in that city. Prolonged cheers by the gallery clique greeted this sally, and the ringleader, becoming excited, rose to his feet and yelled, in stentorian tones, "That man hasn't got no business here. He's a traitor, and I can prove it." Several of the man's friends dragged him into his seat, but ever and anon during the progress of the rollcall he manifested his hatred of Mr. Sheehan by denouncing him as a "scab" and "traitor."

The last of these outbreaks came during the call of districts for district Vice Presidents and Secretaries. This time the tumult interfered with the work of the committee, and finally Senator Grady, addressing the Chair, but speaking to the gallery, shouted, "I would suggest that those who are simply spectators be notified that, unless they be orderly, they will be ejected from the hall by the Sergeant at Arms."

Chairman Van Hoesen, taking the cue from Senator Grady, warned the gallery to keep quiet. He did not object to cheers for honored leaders, he said. In fact, he encouraged them. "But," he added, "if there is any further repetition of these disorderly proceedings, I'll see if there is a law in New York for the perservation of order." The threat had an immediate effect, and from that time on until the committee, five minutes later, adjourned, there was no more noise.

Poland! Poland! Poland! Poland!
Recommended by eminent physicians for purity.—Adv.

Pennsylvania Railroad Wins.
28 hours 48 minutes to St. Louis; 21½ hours to Cincinnati via "Pennsylvania Limited," without extra fare.—Adv.

LAWTON FUND SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Bankers' Trust Company Hopes to Collect $5,000 by Jan. 5—Gen. Corbin Now Has $26,972.

President Ely of the Bankers' Trust Company received the following dispatch yesterday from Adjt. Gen. Corbin, in charge of the Lawton fund:

"I thank you very much for your telegram of yesterday. It is now determined to keep the subscription list for the fund open until the evening of Jan. 5, at which time it is confidently expected that your splendid subscription will be considerably enlarged. Of course, it is desired that the names of all who make donations be retained, in order that Mrs. Lawtor may know just who has rendered this signal service."

The Trust Company received $236 more in subscriptions for the fund yesterday, swelling the total received to $3,521. The subscribers and subscriptions were:

Leopold Weil Brothers & Co., $10; Cash, $10; Cash, A. H., $1; W. A. Lane, $10; Dwight A. Jones, $10; Walter C. Stokes & Co., $20; W. L. Stow & Co., $50; W. H. Goadby & Co., $50; Hollister & Babcock, $50; R. J. Kimball & Co., $25; H. W. Bull, $25; Cash, $10; Charles A. Frank & Co., $25.

It is confidently expected that the amount collected will reach $5,000 before the closing of the lists.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The subscriptions to the Lawton home fund received up to noon by Gen. Corbin, and excluding the subscriptions collected in other cities, aggregate $26,792.

Educators Contribute to the Fund.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 28.—At to-night's session of the Southern Educational Association, a resolution was unanimously adopted, eulogistic of the services to the country of the late Major Gen. Henry W. Lawton, and a contribution was made by the delegates to the Lawton fund. Contributions were turned over to The Commercial-Appeal, and will be forwarded to Adjt. Gen. Corbin at Washington.

Kansas City Contributes $1,000.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 28.—The Star to-day forwarded to Gen. Corbin at Washington $1,000, the net result of a week's soliciting for the general fund for the widow and children of the late Major Gen. Lawton.

CHARGED BY A MAD BULL.

Prof. Curtis Tossed in the Air and His Wagon Attacked.

Special to The New York Times.

DANBURY, Conn., Dec. 28.—Prof. Ferdinand Curtis, who conducts a private school at Brookfield, near this city, his son, and a driver had a narrow escape from being gored to death by a bull which a farmer was leading to Danbury to be butchered. The sight of the wagon maddened the bull, which suddenly broke from the man who was leading it and charged at the vehicle. Prof. Curtis was thrown from the wagon by the violence of the collision, and the horse started at breakneck speed down the road. The bull tossed the man of learning in the air and then stood as if undecided whether to finish the job of killing him or go in pursuit of the wagon. It decided on the latter course, and, after a long chase, overtook the runaway.

There is a cut, through which a railroad track runs, at the point where the bull overtook the vehicle, and the road skirts the top of the embankment on one side of the cut. The road is very narrow at that point, and, in attempting to pass the wagon, evidently with the intention of attacking the horse, the bull was forced against a barbed wire fence, the strength of which was not sufficient to withstand his weight. The animal attempted to save itself, but in vain, and rolled, struggling, down the steep embankment for a distance of nearly fifty feet to the railroad track. Its neck was broken and it died instantly.

A block and tackle were hastily secured from a neighboring farm house, and the carcass of the bull was pulled from the cut only a few minutes before an express train passed.

NEGRO EDUCATION A FAILURE?

Report of Virginia Superintendent of Public Instruction Says It Is.

Special to The New York Times.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 28.—The biennial report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction of Virginia, which is to be submitted on Jan. 1, will probably attract more attention than any that has yet emanated from that department.

The report declares that, with an experience of thirty years, the Superintendent of Education finds the education of the negro race a failure. The State of Virginia spends annually nearly $500,000 on sustaining the colored public schools. The report discusses the subject at length, and includes expressions of opinion of a number of leading educators on the problem. Booker T. Washington's views are quoted, and finally the Superintendent declares that education of the negro in Virginia has proved ineffective. The fault, it is pointed out, lies in the fact that the heads alone of the negroes are trained, and such training has not resulted in the improvement of the race in the manner that might have been hoped for.

The Superintendent recommends that manual training be added as a part of the education of negroes. Such instruction, it is declared, would greatly add to the efficiency of both white and colored schools.

ILL EFFECTS OF "NOBLE DEEDS."

Not Influenced by Good Examples, a Young Man Kicks His Brother.

Special to The New York Times.

GENEVA, N. Y., Dec. 28.—As a result of kicking his eight-year-old brother, Louis Young, who lives here, is nursing a toe out of joint. Young was busy reading a book entitled "Noble Deeds of Noble Men and Women" and his little brother began interrupting and teasing him. This exasperated Young and he told his little brother to stop under threat of punishment. The boy did not stop, but on the sly went up to the reader, who was in his stocking feet, his mind absorbed by the "noble deeds" about which he was reading, and began tickling his feet.

The young man jumped to the floor and gave vent to his wrath by giving his brother a terrible kick with his right foot. The force of the kick dislocated the great toe and a physician had to be called to dress the injury. The boy was unharmed and roared with laughter at his brother's misfortune.

BRAZIL EXPECTS TROUBLE.

Sends a Warship to Disputed Territory of Guiana.

RIO JANEIRO, Dec. 28.—The Brazilian warship Tiradentes has sailed for Amapa, in the territory of Guiana, in dispute between France and Brazil, where serious trouble is expected to occur.

Guiana is a region of South America, in its narrowest sense including the colonies of British, Dutch, and French Guiana, but, in a wider sense, including also a large section of Venezuela and that part of Brazil which lies north of the Amazon and the Rio Negro. Guiana may be regarded as a great forest-clad peninsula lying between the Orinoco and the Amazon. Much of its interior is unexplored.

FRENCH STRIKERS DEMONSTRATE

Six Thousand March Through the Streets of St. Etienne.

ST. ETIENNE, France, Dec. 28.—A combined demonstration of striking coal miners and lace workers, to the number of 6,000, occurred here to-day. The strikers paraded through the principal streets singing defiant songs.

Elaborate precautions have been taken to suppress disturbances, a strong force of military and police having been ordered out. It is estimated that the strikers now number 30,000.

In this country Pommery Champagne is sold at wholesale by the trade for $32.50 per case. Other champagnes are sold from $26.25 to $30.75 per case. Notwithstanding this, Pommery is generally sold at retail at the same price per bottle as cheaper priced wines.—Adv.

MR. BOUTELLE'S CONDITION.

It Is Said the Congressman Has Reached a Critical Point in His Illness.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Dec. 28.—It is asserted here to-night that Congressman Boutelle's condition is very critical. He is at the McLean Asylum, but the physicians there decline to say how serious is his illness. He is attended in the asylum by his family physician, Dr. Daniel A. Robinson. To-day Mr. Boutelle's brother is quoted as saying:

"I saw him at the asylum yesterday, and there was nothing in his condition to occasion alarm. I left word with the asylum authorities to notify me at once if anything happened, and they will do so. I have heard nothing from the asylum to-day, so I know there is no change in his condition. There is really nothing in my brother's condition which would indicate that his illness is fatal. We had him removed to the McLean Asylum because we wanted him to have the very best medical care."

It is asserted that the ailment from which Mr. Boutelle is suffering is Bright's disease in its last stages.

OBJECTS TO CONSOLIDATION.

A Stockholder Seeks to Enjoin the Merging of the Pullman and Wagner Palace Car Companies.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Objection to the proposed merging of the Wagner Palace Car Company into the Pullman Palace Car Company, on the ground that it will create a trust in and a monopoly of the sleeping and parlor car business, is made in a bill filed to-day in the Circuit Court of Cook County by Truman A. Taylor of Alton, Ill., one of the shareholders of the Pullman Company.

The complaint, after reciting in detail the acts of the Directors and the stockholders of both companies leading up to the proposed sale of the Wagner Company to the Pullman Company, asks that the injunction of the court issue to restrain the consummation of the proposed purchase until the hearing of the suit, and upon final hearing that a perpetual order be entered restraining the carrying out of the contemplated purchase or from issuing or delivering any of its stock to the Wagner Company or any of its agents.

The bill of complaint states that the value of the property of the Wagner Company for which it is asserted stock of the Pullman Company of a face value of $20,000,000 and a market value of $39,000,000 is to be exchanged, does not exceed the sum of $10,000,000, and the difference between the actual value of the property and the amount which is to be paid represents what is to be paid by the Pullman Company for the good will and the control of the business of the Wagner Company.

The clauses of the bill of complaint relating to the basis of the suit that the proposed act which it is declared has not yet been completed will tend to create a trust are:

"That the proposed purchase from the said Wagner Palace Car Company of all its property and good-will is for the purpose of enabling said Pullman Palace Car Company to control the sleeping and parlor car business done upon the various railroads, and that said purchase, if consummated, will create a trust in and monopoly of the sleeping car and parlor car business; that said purchase is in direct violation of the laws of the State of Illinois, and that the purpose of said purchase is to enable said Pullman Palace Car Company to swallow up and absorb its only substantial competitor; that the said purchase will enable the said Pullman Palace Car Company to limit and reduce the operation and number of sleeping cars and parlor cars operated on the various railroads and enable it to regulate at its will the price for the use of the same, and to prevent competition in the manufacture, operation, and use of sleeping and parlor cars, so as to prevent a free and unrestricted competition in violation of the statutes of the State of Illinois."

An application for the issuance of the injunction will be made in the near future.

FORTUNE FOR A CONVICT.

Frank Mason, Confined at Matteawan, Comes Into Minnesota Property.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Word was received at the Matteawan State Hospital for Criminal Insane, on Christmas night, that Frank Mason, an inmate, had fallen heir to considerable property through the death of a relative in Minnesota.

Mason was a member of the famous bridge gang of this city. His mind gave way during his confinement at Auburn, and about a year and a half ago he was transferred to the insane asylum. His time expires the latter part of this month, and he was afraid that he would not be liberated. He had again regained his reason and was allowed to work about the place. The latter part of November he made his escape. He was captured at Poughkeepsie the next morning, and was brought back to the asylum Nov. 27. He took no part in the Christmas festivities, and was very despondent, but in the evening a letter came, stating that Mason's stepfather had died, and the property had passed to the man in the asylum. He will be released in a few days.

MARINE LIFE SAVING DEVICES.

Rules of Jury in the Anthony Pollok $20,000 Contest Issued.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—John H. McGibbons, Director of Exploitation for the United States at the Paris Exposition, received to-day the printed rules of the international jury which is to pass on the twenty-thousand-dollar prize offered by the heirs of Anthony Pollok of Washington for the best life-saving device in case of disaster at sea.

The competition will be open to the world, and the donors of the prize have decided to put it before the public at the Paris Exposition. For this reason the consent of the State Department had to be obtained, and the matter has also been brought before the Commerce and Industry, Post Office, and Telegraph Departments of the French Republic. An international jury has been appointed, of which Lieut. William S. Sims, Naval Attaché of the United States Embassy at Paris, will be the member representing this Government. The award of the jury will be made after it has been approved by Commissioner General Peck and Alfred Picard, the Commissioner General of the Paris Exposition.

CHICAGO MAN OWES $768,891.

Eastern Banks and People Are Creditors of Henry L. Millis.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Henry L. Millis of this city, who was formerly connected with several large firms in Boston, filed in the United States District Court to-day a petition in bankruptcy, in which he schedules liabilities aggregating $768,891. His assets are placed at $10,000. Of the scheduled indebtedness, all but $540,032 is said to be due on notes for which other parties are liable. All the debts were contracted before 1893, at which time the petitioner made an assignment of his property, and many creditors were paid.

The largest creditors are: Blackstone National Bank, Boston, $25,000; I. N. Keith, Sagamore, Mass., $57,000; J. P. Moore & Co., Boston, $37,000; Manchester National Bank, New Hampshire, $83,000; Greenleaf Simpson, Boston, $73,000; Chicago Furniture Company, $20,000; Faneuil Hall National Bank, Boston, $89,000; Market National Bank, Boston, $161,000; W. M. Parker, Manchester, N. H., $22,850.

You will like it, so will all your friends; it will add greatly to your Holiday cheer. "OLD SARATOGA"—Rosskam, Gerstley & Co.'s unsurpassed whiskey. Sold by Acker, Merrall & Condit.—Adv.

Poland! Poland! Poland! Poland!
Try it. Poland Water Depot, 3 Park Pl., N. Y.—Adv.

GOV. ROOSEVELT AND PAYN

Reported that the Executive Has Modified His Policy.

WILL SEND IN A NOMINATION

After That, May Let the Insurance Superintendent Hold Over—A Final Legislative Conference.

Final plans for the legislative campaign at Albany during the session which will begin next Wednesday were discussed yesterday morning over breakfast at the Fifth Avenue Hotel between Gov. Roosevelt, Senator Platt, and Chairman Odell. The talk lasted over three hours, and then the Governor hurried away to catch a train for Albany.

It was said around headquarters last night that one of the principal topics discussed was the much-talked-of question of a successor to Louis F. Payn as State Superintendent of Insurance, whose term of office will expire in February. The Governor announced ten days ago that he had several names under consideration for this place, and according to some of his friends he was fully determined to supplant Payn even if he had to name a Democrat. It was said that the Governor would send a name to the Senate, and in case it was not confirmed he would send in another, and in the event of a second failure of confirmation, would send a message to the Senate.

According to the reports in circulation last night, a change in this programme is not thought to be improbable. Well-informed politicians declared that the Governor was as anxious as ever to supplant Payn, and would send to the Senate a nomination of a successor to him, and would then leave the matter in the hands of the Senators. Then, it is said, an attempt will be made to refer the nomination to the Senate Committee on Insurance, of which Senator Cornelius R. Parsons of Rochester is Chairman. Senator Parsons is associated politically with George W. Aldridge, who is a close personal friend of the Superintendent of Insurance.

Payn has told his friends in this city within the last day or two that he was absolutely certain that no nomination, other than his own, would be confirmed by the Senate, and that he would hold over under the law. It was said last night that the Governor had not settled upon the man whose name will be sent to the Senate as Payn's successor. The position of the Republican organization in the Payn matter, it is said, has been one of neutrality. While Senator Platt and Chairman Odell are both friendly toward the head of the Insurance Department, it is said that they decided to make it an issue between the organization and the Governor.

The Governor talked over his message with Senator Platt. He has devoted much time to the preparation of this document, and has consulted specialists in the various matters which he has discussed. It is said that he will deal fully with the many State questions, and the prediction has been made that it will be a most interesting document. The message is completed, and ready to be sent to the Legislature next week.

Chairman Odell said that one of the matters talked over at yesterday's conference was the proposed Educational bill, but that no decision had been reached in regard to the matter. Considerable opposition has developed within the organization to this measure, which has the warm support of the Governor. There is much speculation as to how strong this opposition will prove when it comes to a vote on the measure.

Other questions which it is understood were discussed yesterday were the proposed amendments to the city charter, taxation legislation, and the report of the Mazet committee. It was reported last night that, while the general scheme of charter revision would be left to the commission to be appointed by the Governor, several amendments of a political character would be disposed of at the coming session.

Mr. Odell went to his home in Newburg on an afternoon train, and does not expect to return to this city until after the meeting of the Legislature.

LONG ISLAND RAILROAD WRECK.

Engineer in His Engine and Another Under His Are Injured.

BELLMORE, L. I., Dec. 28.—A freight train ran into an empty passenger train of the Long Island Railroad near the station here this afternoon, and both tracks will probably be blocked until morning. The passenger train had just been made up and was about to pull out when the freight crashed into its rear coach, several freight cars piled upon the freight engine, and cars and engine were wrecked. The fireman of the freight train jumped, but the engineer, Edward Murphy, stuck to his post and was injured.

The engineer of the passenger engine was under his engine at the time of the collision, and knowing that he had not time to get out after he heard the whistle of the freight engine grabbed an axle of his engine, and was dragged some distance with hot coals falling on his head and hands. He was taken out when his train stopped, seriously injured.

ICE STOPS EXPRESS BUSINESS.

Albany Office of United States Company Closes for the Winter.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Dec. 28.—The local office of the United States Express Company was forced to close for the Winter to-day. The reason for this is that the river is closed by ice, and the company had no means of getting its goods out of Albany. The American and National Express Companies have contracts with all the lines of railroad leaving Albany, and consequently the United States could not get service on any of them.

For several months past, in fact shortly after the office was opened last Spring, the United States people have been trying to have the courts declare that the American and National Companies are the same concern, and therefore the express business out of Albany is a monopoly.

TELEPHONE MAKERS TO UNITE.

Independent Manufacturers Purpose to Form a Combination.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—It was learned to-day that representatives of all the principal independent telephone manufacturers in Chicago, except the Western Telephone Company, are to meet in New York City next week with the avowed purpose of entering a combination that is to embrace all the independent telephone manufacturing concerns in the country. The Chicago concerns that are said to be interested in the deal include the American Electric Telephone Company, Kellogg Switchboard Company, Stromberg-Carlson Telephone Manufacturing Company, Victor Telephone Manufacturing Company, and several of minor importance.

The plan as outlined by the promoters is to pay for the independent plants in money and preferred stock, leaving the individual management undisturbed. S. M. Bailey of Chicago has been active in securing options on the local plants for the proposed combination, but it is said that most of these options have expired and that an entirely new deal is on foot.

Vice President Hamburger of the Western Telephone Company admitted to-day that such a deal was on, but said his company declined to yield. From other sources it is learned that the promoters have the utmost confidence in embracing all the independent Chicago plants in the new combination shortly after Jan. 1.

Save Time and Money.
The New York Central's Empire State Express between New York and Buffalo, 440 miles in 405 minutes. A two-cent mileage ticket ($8.80) is good on this train.—Adv.

MR. CLEVELAND'S ILLNESS.

Rheumatism Has Kept ex-President in Bed—Is Doing Nicely, Says His Physician.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 28.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland has been confined to his home on Bayard Avenue here for almost a month with rheumatism in his left foot, but seemed to be steadily recovering from the illness until a few days ago, when he decided to remain in bed by the advice of his physician, Dr. James H. Wikoff. The fact that Mr. Cleveland had grown worse suddenly did not become known here except among his most intimate friends until to-day.

No information as to Mr. Cleveland's condition could be obtained at his residence this evening. Dr. Wikoff when seen to-night said: "I have been attending Mr. Cleveland since his illness and was there again to-day. He is now able to sit up and also to walk around his room a little. He is doing very nicely and is not dangerously ill and will probably be able to go out again within a few days or a week."

Despite this statement from Dr. Wikoff the people of Princeton think Mr. Cleveland's condition is critical, especially since he has not been out of the house in a month, and because Mrs. Cleveland has seldom been seen away from their residence during the last three weeks.

SUES INSURANCE COMPANIES.

Attorney General of Mississippi Charges that Many Concerns Have Violated the State Laws.

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 28.—Attorney General Wiley N. Nash, whose term of office expires in January, has created consternation in insurance circles by filing a bill of information in the Hinds County Circuit Court declaring that all insurance companies doing business in the State and acknowledging allegiance to the Southeastern Tariff Association have violated the State law regarding trusts and combines. He asks that their franchises and charters be canceled and the companies prevented from transacting further business in Mississippi.

Local agents are wiring their managers to come to the scene as soon as possible. The proceedings will be called at the sitting of the Hinds County Circuit Court, which meets two weeks hence. The new Attorney General, Monroe E. McClurg, promises to carry the fight on. It is estimated that fully $25,000,000 worth of policies are carried by the companies named in the bill of information.

The companies named by the Attorney General are as follows: Aetna of Hartford, American Fire, Philadelphia; Caledonian of New York, Columbus Insurance and Banking Company of Mississippi, Commercial Union of New York, Delaware Insurance Company, Fire Association of Philadelphia, Georgia Home, German-American, Greenwich, Hanover, Helvetia, Home, Imperial, Lancashire, Manchester, North British and Mercantile, Northern Assurance, Norwich Union, Palatine, Phoenix of London, Queen, Hartford Fire of Connecticut, Insurance Company of North America, Liverpool and London and Globe, Mechanics and Traders', Mississippi Home, National of Connecticut, Pennsylvania Fire, Royal Kentucky, Scottish Union and National, Southern of Louisiana, Springfield Fire and Marine, Sun of Louisiana, Teutonia, Western of Canada, and Royal Exchange of London.

SHIP CAPTAIN FINED $5,000.

Italian Master Came Into Baltimore Without a Bill of Health.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 28.—Capt. Russo of the Italian steamship Etna, from Poti by way of Malta, was fined $5,000 by Collector Stone to-day for being without a bill of health from the latter port. Capt. Russo explained that he had not been in a United States port since 1887, and was not aware that a bill of health from a port of call was necessary. Under orders from the Treasury Department, the extreme penalty was inflicted.

SEVERE STORMS IN IRELAND.

Barges Founder in Queenstown Harbor—Probably Fatal Landslide.

QUEENSTOWN, Dec. 28.—There is no abatement in the force of the gale, which has been raging for hours. The Dominion Line steamer, New England, from Boston for Liverpool, was unable to land her mails. Several barges have foundered in Queenstown Harbor, and the clubhouse of the Royal Cork Yacht Club is half wrecked.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Severe gales, rains, and snowstorms are reported in the mountains of Ireland. At Nenagh, near the Nenagh River, a landslide, followed by a rush of water, swept away two farmhouses with their occupants. Much damage has been done to other property.

A FIFTY PER CENT. DIVIDEND.

New York State National Bank to Divide Accumulated Profits.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Dec. 28.—The Directors of the New York State National Bank to-day declared a dividend of 50 per cent., free of tax, payable Jan. 2.

This action was taken in accordance with the policy established seven years ago, when a similar dividend was declared, to make a division of accumulated profits from time to time by increased dividends. The capital is $250,000, and the surplus fund is of equal amount. There is a residue, after payment of this extra dividend, of undivided profits sufficient for every emergency. The institution is one of the oldest banks in the State.

EXCISE YIELDS $12,582,248.

ALBANY, Dec. 28.—The annual report of State Excise Commissioner Lyman shows that the collections of the fiscal year, after payment of County Treasurers' fees, was $12,582,248.71, being a few thousand dollars more than last year. The rebates exceeded those of last year and have gradually increased each year since the law went into effect.

More criminal convictions have been secured under the law than in any previous year. Many "law and order" societies have been organized by citizens, who have given the District Attorneys much assistance in suppression of illegal sales and other violations of the law.

The suppression of the use of slot machines has had special attention and the efforts of the department to rid the State of these nuisances, so far as the saloons and hotels are concerned, have been uniformly successful and satisfactory.

Beginning Jan. 1 the excise tax of the Borough of Queens will be collected by a special Deputy Commissioner instead of County Treasurer.

PLAGUE SCARES SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—The news of the breaking out of the plague in Honolulu brought here by the transport Centennial has created some alarm among the State and city health officials and every precaution is being taken to prevent a possible admission of the disease into this city. The transports Centennial and Newport, which arrived last night, and the Tartar, which arrived from Manila to-day, are now at the Quarantine Station undergoing fumigation, and will be detained at Angel Island for some time. The steamer Gaelic is due here to-morrow from the Orient via Honolulu and will be sent to Quarantine and held there until all possible danger is past.

News from reliable sources in the Orient is to the effect that the disease is prevalent in China and Japan to an unusual extent and that the officers at Manila have taken precautions to prevent the plague from getting a foothold there. Advices from Bombay are to the effect that the plague is rampant in India, and in view of these conditions the authorities in this city and every port on the Pacific coast will take strenuous precautions know any one to write the word 'dulce' as the defendant does?"

"I never did."

"Then he has a copyright, to use your own word, on that peculiarity, has he not?"

"It might be stated in that way," said Mr. Tyrrell.

THE ILLNESS OF BARNET.

Dr. Wendell C. Phillips was then called to the stand, and Mr. Osborne's intention to give prominence to the Barnet side of the case at once became apparent.

"Doctor," began Mr. Osborne, "have you any experience in poison cases?"

"Very little," was the reply.

"State all your experiences to the jury," said Mr. Osborne.

Mr. Weeks made a vigorous objection. He said the witness had admitted having very little experience, and from that he could not see how his testimony about cases could be specially luminous. The Recorder overruled Mr. Weeks's objection in spite of the assertion by Mr. Weeks that the testimony of the witness would bring in matter not relevant to the case at issue.

Dr. Phillips began by describing how, in October, 1898, he had been called into the Knickerbocker Athletic Club to attend Henry C. Barnet, whom he said he found suffering from the effects of some form of irritant poison. Mr. Weeks fought again to keep out this testimony, and Mr. Osborne said that he desired to show that the only experience the witness had had was in two cases, one of these being the case of Henry C. Barnet, who, the witness knew, died of cyanide of mercury poisoning, and the other the case of Harry S. Cornish, whom the witness had attended in a similar way.

Another legal wrangle had the result of making Mr. Osborne confine himself for the time being to Dr. Phillips's treatment of Cornish. He said he found Cornish sick at the Knickerbocker Athletic Club, and that Dr. Coffin was present when he was called in. He said that Cornish was in bed when he arrived, and that his appearance seemed to indicate that he had been through a long spell of illness. He said from the symptoms he concluded that Cornish was suffering from some form of irritant poisoning. His pulse was weak and intermittent. The witness and Dr. Coffin washed out the patient's stomach.

"Could you have told from that alone what kind of poison Cornish was suffering from?" asked Mr. Osborne.

"No, but I knew it was a severe one."

"Did you ever attend patients suffering from a similar poison?"

"Once," replied Dr. Phillips, but before he could go into any details Mr. Weeks objected on the ground of incompetency and irrelevancy. The Recorder sustained him, and Dr. Phillips went on to tell what was done for Cornish.

"Were you able from your knowledge of the previous case to form an opinion regarding Cornish's illness?" asked Mr. Osborne, jumping into the breach again.

"I was," said the witness.

THE TWO CASES SIMILAR.

An objection from Mr. Weeks brought out the ruling from the Recorder that the history of the case was not essential but that Dr. Phillips might state the general symptoms. Mr. Osborne said that he intended to prove to a certainty that the first case had been one of cyanide of mercury poisoning, and that Cornish's case was similar to it in every particular. When the Recorder ruled that no names were to be allowed in the first case (Barnet's) it was decided to use the letters A. B. to typify the patient in that case. Mr. Osborne made a long speech, in which he said that he would prove by a chemist that the same kind of poison that killed A. B. had also killed Mrs. Adams.

The Recorder finally allowed Dr. Phillips to tell to a certain extent of the first poison case. The witness said he had found the patient very ill following the taking of a medicine. Mr. Weeks objected again on the ground that the doctor had not seen the patient take the medicine, and Mr. Osborne continued:

"Did you see the substance?"

"Yes, I saw a box on the table."

"Did the patient say anything about that box, and if so, what did he say?"

"He told me he had taken a dose from the box. His exact words were: 'I believe it was that damned powder that caused all my trouble.'"

"Do you know if the substance in the box was analyzed?"

"Yes."

"Who analyzed it?"

"I believe it was Van Horne & Co."

Dr. Phillips said he had tried to find out about the powder from the chemists employed by the makers of it in order to facilitate his treatment of the patient. He described the patient's symptoms and said they resembled Cornish's. After much wrangling Dr. Phillips said that he believed "A. B." and Cornish had suffered from poisoning of the same kind.

"What kind of poisoning was that?" asked Mr. Osborne.

"Cyanide of mercury," replied Dr. Phillips. He also testified that he had examined the patient's throat, and had found it in a normal condition. (It was alleged at first that Barnet had died of diphtheria.)

SOME POINTS OF DIFFERENCE.

Mr. Weeks's cross-examination was very short. He obtained an admission from the witness that there were some points of difference between the symptoms in the case of "A. B." and Cornish. Mr. Weeks asked the witness if he had any doubt whatever as to what the patients were suffering from, and he replied that the doubt was small if one existed at all. The witness said that he could not remember what kind of a box was on the table in "A. B.'s" room.

Dr. Lewis A. Coffin, who also attended Barnet and Cornish, took the stand shortly after the opening of the afternoon session. He corroborated Dr. Phillips in his description of Cornish's symptoms, and said he had formed an opinion that Cornish had been poisoned.

"What was Cornish suffering from on Dec. 28, 1898?" asked Mr. Osborne.

"Cyanide of mercury poisoning," replied Dr. Coffin.

The witness was asked but little regarding Barnet's illness. On cross-examination, Mr. Weeks questioned him at some length on his experience in poisoning cases, and finally drew from him the admission that the irritated condition of Cornish's stomach might have been caused by drinking when the stomach was empty. Dr. Hamilton seemed to be much pleased over this admission of the witness.

John D. Adams was then called to the stand. He said that he knew Harry S. Cornish and had seen him on Dec. 28, 1898, in his room at the Knickerbocker Athletic Club. He said Mr. Weatherbee was also in the room at that time. Cornish remained in bed all the time he was in the room, excepting once, when he was helped to get up. He said Cornish looked pale and very sick.

He was then asked to tell what he knew as to any trouble between Cornish and Molineux. He answered that the first troubles came up in the Spring of 1897, following the amateur circus. There was trouble over a horizontal bar, which led to a dispute between the two and much talk.

He also spoke of a letter written by Cornish to Bernard Wefers, which was read to the jury. The letter mentioned one "Weeks" and was signed "Harry." Mr. Adams, being asked to tell all he knew about this letter, said that the "Harry" signed to the letter was Harry S. Cornish, and the "Weeks" referred to was the counsel for the defense. The letter said that the writer had "it in for Weeks," and would "get even with him," if it took years.

MOLINEUX'S COMPLAINT IGNORED.

Mr. Adams told then of Molineux having complained against Cornish because of having written this letter, he having said that a man who used such language should not be retained as an employe of the club. It was considered at the time, however, Adams said, that Cornish had been punished severely enough, inasmuch as some of his powers had been taken away from him, and the demand of Molineux that Cornish be no longer retained was not heeded. Molineux then told the witness, he said, that if Cornish remained he would resign. Cornish was not discharged, and Molineux sent in his resignation.

Several exhibits of the handwriting of the defendant were identified by Mr. Adams. They included letters that Molineux had sent the witness relative to club matters.

Mr. Weeks said he considered it very unfair for the State to so interrupt the usual order of proceedings and asked permission to postpone the cross-examination of the witness until some future time. This was not permitted.

Mr. Weeks then asked the witness how long it was after Molineux spoke about resigning before he resigned. It was not long, Mr. Adams said.

A letter was shown him, dated March 11, 1898, addressed to Molineux and written by Adams, informing the former that the Board of Governors had accepted his resignation. The letter was identified by the witness and placed in evidence by the defense.

The question of the horizontal bar came up again, and the witness said that just before the amateur circus, Molineux, who was to perform on the bar, said that as he was the man whose life was in danger in case this bar broke, he considered he had a right to say what sort of bar should be used, and offered to pay the difference in price. He did not know, he said, that three bars had broken but a short time before.

Mr. Adams said that the letter of Cornish attacking Mr. Weeks first came out in the Fall of 1897. Mr. Weeks asked him if he knew that the Mr. Weeks referred to was Bartow S. Weeks, one time President of the club, and at that time Captain of the club team. The witness said he did. Mr. Weeks had the witness repeat the story of the trouble between Cornish and Molineux. Up to the time the latter resigned, he said, he did not make any attempt to dissuade him from leaving the club.

CORNISH BEGINS HIS STORY.

Mr. Weeks here asked that he be allowed to suspend the cross-examination of the witness until this morning. This request was granted by the Court, and Mr. Weeks asked the witness to bring with him to-day the minutes of the House Committee of the club. He was then excused, and Harry S. Cornish took the stand at 3:40 o'clock.

Cornish said he was thirty-nine years old. After receiving a common school education and a business schooling, he said he attended the Physical Training School at Harvard for a term or two, and later studied anatomy at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in this city. He said he was connected with the Chicago Athletic Club for two years, and with the Western Athletic Club for five years.

Several letters were shown him, all of which he identified as having been written by his own hand. These letters were offered in evidence by Mr. Osborne as standards of comparison. Mr. Weeks objected to each one, but they were admitted.

"Did you ever have a letter box at 1,620 Broadway?" asked Mr. Osborne.

"I did not," replied Cornish.

Mr. Osborne then showed the witness the Harpster letter and several others signed "Cornish," alleged by the prosecution to have been written by Molineux. Cornish denied that he had written any of them. He also denied that he wrote the poison package address.

Cornish said that in December, 1898, he lived at 61 West Eighty-sixth Street. Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Rogers, and Mrs. Hawords, all related to Cornish by marriage, lived there also. He had known them in Hartford, where he formerly lived. He came to New York in 1896, and in April of that year went to live with these people at 61 West Eighty-sixth Street. Mr. Yocum lived with Cornish when they lived at Sixty-sixth Street and Park Avenue.

On the 24th of December, 1898, Cornish said he received a package through the mails. He got it in his mail box at the Knickerbocker Athletic Club and opened it in his office at the club between 10 and 11 o'clock. He identified Exhibit A (the piece of paper bearing the poison package address) as a portion of the outside wrapper. When he tore off the wrapper, he said, he found a small holder, which he took at the time to be a silver toothpick holder. In another part of the box he found what appeared to be a bottle of bromo-seltzer. He had previously thrown the wrapper in the waste basket. He found an envelope in the box, and supposed it to contain a card, but there was none. He placed the envelope, the bottle holder, and the bottle, which bore a revenue stamp, in his desk.

TOOK HIS PRESENT HOME.

He said he had a conversation with Mr. Finneran about the package, and the latter suggested that the address be cut out. They speculated as to who sent it, and wondered why the sender did not inclose a card. Later H. A. King came in and took the bottle of bromo-seltzer and started to take some of it, but did not. Others were in the office during the day and saw the bottle, bottle-holder, and portion of the wrapper. His desk was open the greater part of the day, and in the evening he took the bottle, bottle-holder, and address home with him to the Adams flat, at 61 West Eighty-sixth Street.

The poison bottle and the holder were then shown to Cornish, and after a casual glance he identified them both. In answer to questions he again told of taking them to his home the day he received them. Shortly after reaching his home that evening, he said, Mrs. Adams came in. He showed the things to her, and they both commented on the similarity between the bottle holder and some small toilet trinkets she had on her dressing table. He said he told Mrs. Adams that he had no use for the holder and gave it to her, and that he was now positive that she put it on her dressing table. He put the supposed bromo seltzer and the wrapper in his own desk in his room and left them there.

The next morning when he arose, he said, he went out to the kitchen to get his morning paper. He saw Mrs. Adams as he went out with a bandage around her forehead. He took his paper and returned to his room and began to read. A few minutes later Mrs. Rogers came to his room, he said, and told him that her mother had a headache, and asked him to give her some bromo seltzer. He said he gave the bottle to Mrs. Rogers, who took it out of the room. A moment later Mrs. Adams returned with the bottle and said she could not open it. Mr. Osborne here interposed:

"Oh, yes, Cornish; I forgot to ask you if the bottle was sealed."

"It was," replied the witness; "sealed with paraffine wax."

GAVE "A GOOD, BIG DOSE."

Continuing his narrative, Cornish told of opening the bottle while Mrs. Adams brought a glass in which to pour out a dose of the bromo seltzer. He said he turned the bottle up, but the contents would not run out, and he had to knock it against the palm of his hand to loosen the stuff. He poured out what he termed "a good big dose" and Mrs. Adams drank it, remarking at the time, Cornish testified, that it tasted "sour and queer."

"I told her," said Cornish, "that the stuff was all right and took a dose of it myself, though maybe not so large a one as she did. She then went out and I sat down and commenced reading my paper. It was not long afterward—not more than two or three minutes—that she cried out to me to come and help her. I jumped up and ran to where she stood in the dining-room. At that time I had felt no effects of the stuff, but as soon as I got up my knees failed me—they seemed to weaken all at once. When I got to Mrs. Adams, or just as I got to her, she fell to the floor. I stooped over and tried to lift her, but could not do it. I asked her what was the matter and she said she didn't know. She could hardly talk and her face was drawn and ashy.

"I left her lying on the floor and ran to the hall and called to the hallboy to run for a doctor, as some one was sick, and to be quick. Mrs. Rogers and I then laid Mrs. Adams on the lounge, and I went out to hurry the boy, but found he had gone already. Then I went over to a drug store at the corner of Eighty-sixth Street and Columbus Avenue. There I told the druggist that somebody was sick, and that I thought it was poison. He asked me what she had taken, and I picked up a bromo seltzer bottle and said it was like that. He said: 'Why, that's not poison. That's bromo seltzer.' Then I asked him what to give Mrs. Adams, and he said he didn't know, as he didn't know what she had taken. Then I went back to the house."

"Had the doctor come then?" asked Mr. Osborne.

"No. The doctor had not. The boy had gotten back, and said he had asked Dr. Hitchcock to come, and that he said he would."

At this stage of the examination the Recorder announced an adjournment until this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Parents Offer to Pay a Janitor.

The big public school building at Whitestone, which has been ready for occupancy for some time, but which remained unoccupied because the city had no money to pay a janitor, will probably be opened next Wednesday. The building is fully equipped, and Clinton T. Roe, a lawyer whose home is in the neighborhood of the school building, recently set about obtaining funds to pay a janitor. He easily raised the amount of a year's salary among the parents whose children are in need of the use of the new school, and the money is ready if the school authorities will accept it.

Twelfth Regiment Reviewed.

The parade and drill of the Twelfth Regiment took place at the armory last night. The regiment, 480 strong, under Col. George R. Dyer, was reviewed by Brig. Gen. McCoskry Butt and staff. Gen. Daniel Butterfield, who was to have reviewed it, has been confined to his home, 616 Fifth Avenue, for the last week by illness.

Gen. Butterfield's Illness.

Gen. Daniel Butterfield is ill in his home at 616 Fifth Avenue. The General became ill on Dec. 18. His malady is of the stomach. A servant said late last night that the General is much improved, and his attending physician, Dr. Kessler, said there is no danger of the patient's death.

Company E of the Seventh Dines.

Company E, Seventh Regiment, celebrated the seventy-fifth, or diamond, anniversary of its organization last night with a dinner at the New York Athletic Club at which 100 covers were laid. Capt. John A. Davidson, recently elected, presided. Col. Daniel Appleton, Lieut. Col. William H. Kip, and ex-Adjt. Morgan, eighty years old, who joined Company E in 1839, fifteen years after it was recruited, were among those present.

Second Lieut. W. B. Baker of the regular army, formerly a Seventh Regiment man, who distinguished himself at Manila, was a guest of honor. Col. Appleton presented him with a handsome gold-mounted sword, with a speech in which he said the Seventh had always done its duty and had nothing to be ashamed of.

KYLE NOW A REPUBLICAN

Senator from South Dakota Abandons Populist Party.

IS STRONG FOR GOLD STANDARD

Does Not Know What Democrats Will Do for an Issue—Little Anti-Expansion Sentiment Left.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Senator Kyle of South Dakota, who has been classed in the Congressional Directory, presumably upon his own authority, as an independent in politics, but who repeatedly has voted with the Republicans, has come out in a declaration that will justify the makers of the Directory hereafter in classifying him as a Republican in name as well as in fact. He is out of line with his former Populist associates, and says so.

"Though I am a bimetallist and have been so from conscientious convictions for twenty-five years," he said, "I would rather take the most undiluted gold standardism than to accept bimetallism with the ingredients of radical socialism that are now associated with it."

He does not favor that part of suggested legislation which gives the Secretary of the Treasury authority to issue bonds at his own discretion, believing that when the people of the United States find it necessary to increase their public debt Congress should be consulted.

On the general question of voting for the gold standard he does not believe that the enactment into law of a principle which is now generally recognized will affect the country disadvantageously. "We have been practically operating under the gold standard," he said, "for thirty years. We have brought ourselves into harmony with the money systems of the world. It is a doubtful proposition whether it is right to disturb values again when by such action we do injustice to the creditor class and at the same time put ourselves out of joint with the rest of the world. In thirty years we have adjusted ourselves to new conditions, and in going to bimetallism now we might be committing a second wrong, the demonetization of silver being the first, in order to make a right."

Senator Kyle says that the third-party movement has degenerated into an indorsement of all that is radical and socialistic.

The Chairman of the Populist Party in South Dakota, he says, is a Socialist of the most pronounced type, whose newspaper advocates an entirely new form of Government. The Republicans and conservative Democrats who were associated in the independent movement in the past have returned to their former political allegiance, not caring to follow Altgeld, Debs, and other agitators. "Because of these radical meetings," he says, "the American flag was twice torn down and the red flag of Socialism raised in its place. I am in favor of American institutions," added Mr. Kyle, "and I would rather take the Republican Party, with all in it that is distasteful to me, than be allied with those who have no respect for our flag and who want to tear down our Government."

"Is the independent movement in South Dakota at an end?"

"It is probable that the Socialists, the radical Populists, and the radical Democrats will get together and operate under the name of the Reform Party. In the election last Fall there was no organized Democratic Party and no Democratic ticket. The name was completely obliterated, and yet it was not so very long ago that the Democrats cast 27,000 votes in my State. This conglomerated party never can win. The present Populist Governor was elected by a bare majority of 300, although previously the Populists had several thousand majority. In the last election the Republicans, without money and without a struggle, won by nearly 7,000. In the Presidential campaign next year South Dakota will go for McKinley by from 10,000 to 15,000. The Socialistic tendencies of the Third Party people and the prosperity which is being enjoyed by the South Dakota farmers have sounded the deathknell of the old movement.

"I do not see," continued Senator Kyle, "how the Democrats are going to find a campaign issue for next year. The tariff is no longer debatable, and it will not be long before we find the South as ardently for protection as Pennsylvania. The silver question is doomed, and I do not see how trusts can be made a party issue. There is nothing left for the Democrats but anti-expansion, and if they do not hurry up the bottom will fall out of that issue before they hold their nominating convention."

"Senator Morgan, than whom there is no wiser or more far seeing statesman in the Senate, is for expansion; so are Clark Howell and Gen. Gordon of Georgia, while Senator Sullivan beat his opponent in Mississippi by taking the expansion side. Gov. Jones of Arkansas is making the fight against Senator Berry on the same ground, holding that the possession of the Philippines means a wonderful stimulus to Southern trade, and Gov. Smythe of South Carolina, a member of the Industrial Commission, and a large manufacturer, told me the other day that he looked to the Orient for the great future market of the South.

"In view of all these things I do not see where the Democrats can find an issue for 1900, much less do I see how they can expect to win."

SARATOGA COUNTY JUDGESHIP.

Republican Convention to Decide as to the Succession.

Gov. Roosevelt has been spared a lot of trouble in the matter of filling the vacant County Judgeship in Saratoga County. The candidates for the position are Theodore F. Hamilton, Nash Rockwood, and C. C. Lester of Saratoga Springs, and Irving W. Wiswall and James W. Verbeck, of Ballston Spa. The belief was entertained that Senator Brackett would name a man for the vacancy who would be appointed, but as there is so much strife for the position, a way was found out of the difficulty.

Before being sworn in as a Justice of the Supreme Court to succeed the late John R. Putnam, Judge Houghton yesterday designated Judge A. P. Strong of Schenectady and Judge Wendell of Montgomery to hold, respectively, the March and May terms of the Saratoga County Court and Court of Sessions. The Republican County Convention will be held in August, and the gentleman receiving the nomination for County Judge will be appointed by the Governor to fill the vacancy caused by County Judge Houghton's elevation to the Supreme Court bench.

TO FIGHT FOR DEMOCRATS.

Commercial Travelers' Association Has Headquarters and Legal Adviser.

The Commercial Travelers' Association has secured quarters on the tenth floor of the St. James Building, Twenty-sixth Street and Broadway, where campaign work in the interest of the Democratic Party will be forthwith commenced. J. H. Spaulding of Buffalo, the President; P. E. Dow, Vice President, and William Hoge, Secretary and Treasurer, will be in charge. Joseph J. Willett of Anniston, Ala., has been chosen legal adviser.

It is reported that many of the hotel men of the country will affiliate with the commercial travelers.

Mr. Willett is not especially in favor of the renomination of William Jennings Bryan for the Presidency.

MR. BRYAN TO A SILVER MAN.

Congratulates Hoboken Corporation Attorney on His Activity.

Corporation Attorney Minturn of Hoboken, who recently wrote to William J. Bryan inviting him to make one or more speeches in New Jersey, received yesterday the following reply from Mr. Bryan:

"Your favor has just come to my attention, as I was too busy before election to attend to my mail, and since the election have been resting.

"I thank you for the article sent and for the suggestions made. Am glad that you are so well able to defend the silver question and that you are interesting yourself in the campaign of 1900. Have written Congressman Daly that I will make one speech in New Jersey, but do not know at what place. Shall be East in January and shall be glad to see you."

Six Sing Sing Keepers Dismissed.

SING SING, Dec. 28.—Six keepers were discharged from the State prison here to-night. They are T. M. Cronin, John Durkin, E. T. Smith, John Corcoran, George Kirch, and Martin Croak. They are all Democrats. The reduction in the number of keepers is said to be necessary to keep within the appropriation. The number of convicts in the prison has been reduced to about 1,200 recently by transfers from this prison to others. The discharges will reduce the payroll by about $5,400 a year.

Places for Brooklyn Democrats.

It was announced yesterday by the Kings County Democratic leaders that the following appointments would be made, to take effect Jan. 1: James J. Kirwin, as Deputy Commissioner of Public Buildings, Lighting, and Supplies, to succeed William Walton, elected Sheriff; John Morrissey Gray, as Deputy Commissioner of Corrections, to succeed James J. Kirwin; Howard J. Forker, as Justice of Special Sessions. Gray is the defeated Democratic candidate for Register.

ROLAND REED'S CONDITION.

Not Expected to Live—Real Facts Kept from Him.

Roland Reed, the actor, who was operated on on Tuesday last at St. Luke's Hospital, was reported to be resting quietly last night, with little change in his condition for better or worse. In some way Mr. Reed learned that his illness was considered serious, and it worried him so that since then every effort has been made to keep his real condition not only from him, but also from the public.

There is some doubt as to whether or not he was operated upon for cancer, as reported yesterday. His trouble was originally announced as appendicitis, and later as cancer of the stomach, and it was said that half of his stomach was removed and that he would not be able to survive the operation very long.

His daughter has arrived, and is constantly at his bedside with her mother. Many flowers and messages of sympathy arrive daily, but all but a few of the flowers are kept away from the sick room. It is feared that if the messages were read to him they might alarm him. While he is not expected to live, everything possible is being done for him by Dr. Markoe, who has charge of his case.

TERRIER HOLDS INTRUDER.

Dog Warns His Master and Captures an Alleged Thief.

A small fox terrier, owned by Louis Brochfeld, a butcher, at 520 Fifth Street, is declared to be the chief agent in the capture of an alleged thief and the return of $25 to Brochfeld.

The butcher lives in a room at the rear of his shop. Last evening he left the dog in the shop while he went into the rear room to eat his supper, depending upon the animal to warn him when a customer came.

Brochfeld had been seated but a few minutes when he heard the dog barking loudly, and loking around saw a man trying to run out of the store with the dog hanging to his garments. The butcher jumped to his feet, and running to the store, captured the man. He saw that his prisoner held a roll of bills in his hand, and leading him to the money drawer, Brochfeld saw that the till had been emptied.

Brochfeld turned the man over to Detective Popp of the East Fifth Street Station, who passed at the moment. The prisoner was taken to the East Fifth Street Station, where he told Sergt. Schulum that he was Samuel Greenberg, eighteen years old, a clerk, living at 146 Bowery. He will be arraigned in court this morning to answer the charge of burglary.

MR. GODKIN MAKES CHARGES.

Policemen Accused by Him Not Identified—Capt. Chapman's Defense.

E. L. Godkin, formerly editor of The Evening Post, was the complainant against Policemen V. M. Kinsman and George Becker of the Sixteenth Precinct before Commissioner Hess, at the police trials yesterday.

Mr. Godkin had reported to Chief Devery that on Dec. 15 he had observed two policemen conversing for at least ten minutes while on duty, at Sixth Avenue and Eighth Street. The charges were referred to the Inspector of the district, who in turn referred the matter to Capt. Chapman of the Sixteenth Precinct. The Captain returned the names of Kinsman and Becker as the men on duty at the place and time designated in Mr. Godkin's complaint. He expressed his belief in the men's innocence, however, and was on hand to testify to their previous good records yesterday. At the trial Mr. Godkin was unable to identify Kinsman and Becker as the policemen whose alleged dereliction he had witnessed, and decision was reserved by the Commissioner.

"There is no doubt that Mr. Godkin saw two policemen conversing as he charged," said Capt. Chapman yesterday afternoon, "but I do not believe that the men were Kinsman and Baker. Dozens of policemen from the Jefferson Market Court pass the corner of Sixth Avenue and Eighth Street, or wait there for the Eighth Street or Sixth Avenue cars. They are men, not only from my precinct, but also from the Ninth, Tenth, Fifteenth, and even Nineteenth Precincts. Between 2 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon a particularly large number gather at that corner to get the street cars or elevated train on the way to their various stations.

"Becker has been on the force for twenty-five years and has only twelve and a half days' fines against him. Kinsman has been on the force nine years, and his fines have aggregated a half day's wages in all that time."

Mr. Godkin when seen last night at his home, 36 West Tenth Street, said that he would push his charges no further.

City May Take a Brooklyn Hospital.

There is talk of making the Brooklyn Homeopathic Hospital and Training School for Nurses, in Cumberland Street, a city institution. The property is estimated to be worth $150,000. On it are obligations amounting to $60,000. It is said that Controller Coler and Charities Commissioner Simis both regard with favor the proposition to turn the property over to the city on condition of its maintenance as a homeopathic hospital. The hospital was organized in 1852.

The New York Herald Incorporated.

TRENTON, Dec. 28.—The New York Herald Company was incorporated here to-day with a capital of $100,000. The incorporators are James Gordon Bennett, G. G. Howland, William Jay, William C. Reick, Eaton S. Drone, Thomas H. Hamilton, all of New York, and R. W. Candler of Short Hills, N. J. Mr. Bennett owns 994 shares of the stock and the other six incorporators one share each.

Chief Croker Wins a High Mark.

Chief Croker of the Fire Department passed with a high rating the civil service examination held Dec. 22 to determine his fitness for continuance in his present office. His mark was 97.39. No other candidate tried the examination.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
The Kind You Have Always Bought

OUR OFFER UNTIL JANUARY 1ST.

"The Standard of Highest Merit."

FISCHER PIANOS.

"The embodiment of tone and art."

In addition to our usual fine display of Pianos, we offer several odd styles of new Fischer Pianos at REDUCED PRICES.

Especial attention is called to our new small Grand Pianos.

All are cased in rare and choice woods and artistically finished.

You are respectfully invited to call.

33 Union Square—West,
Between 16th and 17th Streets, New York.

WILL OF JOHN I. BLAIR

De W. C. Blair, Surviving Child, Gets Bulk of the Estate.

ITS VALUE IS NOT KNOWN

Surrogate of Warren County Admits It Readily to Probate—Few Charitable Bequests.

The will of the late John I. Blair, who died at his home, in Blairstown, N. J., on Dec. 2, was probated yesterday at Belvidere, the county seat of Warren County, N. J. Surrogate Sharp, out of courtesy, went to the home of De Witt C. Blair, and there had the will proved.

The document, which was written by the late Judge Shipman in 1878, when Mr. Blair was seventy-six years old, contains no codicils. So far as known it is the only will which he ever executed. It is a document of over 9,000 words.

De Witt C. Blair, the only surviving child of the testator, is named as the residuary legatee, and as sole executor and trustee is vested with the fullest powers. No estimate of the estate is given, and the will provides that no accounting is to be filed with the Surrogate. To his wife, who was living when the will was made, Mr. Blair gave an annuity and the use of the homestead in which she has always lived. He also bequeathed to her his horses and carriages, and provided for their maintenance.

A large number of small bequests and trusts of $1,000 and $2,000 is made to various friends and connections, many of which have lapsed by death. The following is a list of the persons thus remembered: Eliza B. Easton, Georgiana B. Holmes, Mrs. Dr. Decker, John R. Blair, John H. Blair, Mrs. James Linen, Mrs. Loretta Corsen, Miss Emma Vail, John D. Vail, Charles E. Vail, Sarah E. Blair, Elizabeth Titman, Mrs. Johanna Winters, and Mrs. Elizabeth Boyer.

There are no public bequests of any kind to institutions of learning, save one to the Blair Presbyterial Academy at Blairstown. To this institution, which Mr. Blair founded and maintained for many years, is given the sum of $115,000. The Presbyterian Church at Blairstown, which he attended, is to receive $10,000. The church at Oxford, where his parents are buried, gets $15,000, and the Methodist Episcopal Church of Blairstown $1,000.

Both of Mr. Blair's daughters died many years ago, but in his will he makes liberal provision for their children. The daughter who married Charles Scribner, the publisher, left five children at her death, to each of whom is left the income of $500,000 in bonds and stocks for life, their children ultimately to receive the principal in each case. Similar provision is made for Clarence B. Mitchell, son of Clarence G. Mitchell, who married Mr. Blair's youngest daughter. All of the securities are enumerated in detail in the text of the will.

De Witt C. Blair, the testator's son, trustee for all the grandchildren, is to have 5 per cent. of all moneys handled by him. The State of New Jersey will get an inheritance tax from the estate amounting to several thousand dollars. The bulk of the property goes to De Witt C. Blair, whose town house is at 6 East Sixty-first Street.

The witnesses to the will are the late T. G. Shipman, his life-long attorney and neighbor in Warren County; his wife, Mary Louisa Shipman, and his son, George M. Shipman, who is at present Judge of the County Court.

It is thought that it was Mr. Blair's intention that the exact amount of his wealth should not be known. The provision releasing his executor from filing an accounting would not only attain this, but would avoid the trouble and expense of appraising the varied portions of the estate. The appraisal will have to be verified, it is claimed, under the laws of New Jersey and of the United States, as they may exist. These have been changed since the will was made in 1878. The absence of large bequests to charity and educational institutions is not unexpected, as Mr. Blair was known to prefer outright gifts to legacies for charitable purposes.

A member of the family said last night that the extent of the estate or of the amount which falls to the residuary legatee would not be made public. It consists of both real and personal property, including securities the value of which has been estimated, but will not become a matter of official record.

COLLISION ON THE ELEVATED.

Piece of Coupling Falls to the Street in Eighth Avenue.

A rear-end collision occurred last night about 6:30 on the elevated road at Eighth Avenue and One Hundred and Thirtieth Street. A north-bound train stopped near One Hundred and Thirtieth Street and another north-bound train ran into it, breaking off a large piece of coupling iron on the rear car of the first train and breaking several of the car's windows.

The piece of coupling iron fell to the street below and drove a large dent in the concrete. A trolley car was just moving away from the spot where the iron struck, having stopped to put off some passengers.

Before a policeman could arrive, a man from the road took the piece of iron away, and when inquiry was made about the accident at the company's offices, the officials refused to acknowledge that it had occurred, and were amazed to learn that a piece of iron had fallen to the street.

STRAIGHT'S LUCKY NUMBER.

Court Gossips Note Its Recurrence in Acquitted Man's Fortunes.

The number 6 appears to cut a figure in the life and fortunes of Freeman Straight. He was arrested Oct. 6 at his real estate office, 176 Broadway, charged with washing cancelled internal revenue stamps. At his office and his residence in Seventy-sixth Street the authorities recovered washing materials and 4,626 washed and unwashed stamps.

He was placed on trial before Judge Thomas and a jury in the Criminal Branch of the United States Circuit Court. A boy testified that he sold Straight unwashed stamps, and that Straight asked him to sell them after he had washed them. Straight claimed that he was a victim of the boy's duplicity, and yesterday at 6 o'clock in the evening he was acquitted by the jury. His fiancee was in court, and when he was liberated she threw her arms around him, and a man in the room remarked to the bailiff that he saw six little tears, three on each cheek, of the bride-to-be.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL FORECAST—Fair and cold, northerly winds.

High pressures were general last night, except in New England and the North Pacific States, and low temperatures consequently prevail, except in the middle plateau and Eastern Florida. With these exceptions the temperatures are three to twenty-two degrees below the seasonal average, the greatest fall in the past twenty-four hours having occurred in the west Gulf States and the District of Columbia. There have been rains in the Gulf and South Atlantic States and snow in North Carolina and the Middle Atlantic States, followed generally by clearing weather, except on the South Atlantic and Gulf Coast, and also light local snows in the lake regions, the central Rocky Mountain region, and extreme northwest. In the Pacific Coast and plateau regions the weather has been fair with little change in temperature. The prevailing high pressure will dominate weather and temperature conditions for the next three days east of the Mississippi, and continued cold and generally fair weather may therefore be expected during this time. In the West fair and cold weather will prevail to-day, but to-morrow the eastward movement of the low area now in the extreme North Pacific States will probably cause a rise in temperature with some snow in the extreme Northwest, commencing to-day in Montana. On the Atlantic Coast the winds will be fresh west to north.

The record of temperature for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from THE NEW YORK TIMES's thermometer and from the thermometer of the Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	—Weather Bureau.— 1898.	1899.	TIMES. 1899.
3 A. M.	31	24	29
6 A. M.	26	23	26
9 A. M.	22	24	29
12 M.	23	24	34
4 P. M.	22	27	32
6 P. M.	21	26	29
9 P. M.	19	24	27
12 P. M.	19	24	25

THE TIMES's thermometer is 6 feet above the street level; that of the Weather Bureau is 285 feet above the street level.

Average temperatures yesterday were as follows:

Printing House Square	28¾
Weather Bureau	26
Corresponding date 1898	24
Corresponding date for last twenty-five years	31

The maximum temperature yesterday was 28 degrees at 4:30 P. M. and the minimum 23 degrees at 6 A. M. The humidity at 8 A. M. was 87 per cent. and at 8 P. M. 78 per cent. The barometer at 8 A. M. read 30.16 and at 8 P. M. 30.10.

POMMERY

THE STANDARD OF CHAMPAGNE QUALITY IS POMMERY.

In clubs, hotels, and restaurants, if you order POMMERY, you get, at the same price per bottle, a champagne which is sold at wholesale at a considerably higher figure.

CHAMPAGNE

DUBLIN DISTILLERS' CO., LTD.,
OFFER THEIR
"D. W. D." brand—1 and 3 Shamrocks.
Geo. Roe & Co.'s "G.R" brand—1 and 3 Stars.
W. Jameson & Co.'s 1 and 3 "Harps"

The LONDON DAILY TELEGRAPH says:

The consumption of Irish Whisky in England is larger than ever before, the opinion growing that Dublin Whisky is more palatable and easier of digestion.

Sole Agents: UNITED AGENCY CO., 503-5th Ave., N. Y. Agents for Apollinaris, Johannis-Lithia and Apenta Waters.

AT THE HOTELS.

ALBEMARLE—Bishop William A. Lawrence, Massachusetts.

ASTOR—Dr. Browne Terne, Philadelphia; Prof. W. D. Doremus, Washington.

BUCKINGHAM—Charles N. Nelson, Tuxedo.

EMPIRE—Dr. Immerheiser, Berlin.

FIFTH AVENUE—Judge Stevenson Burke, Cleveland; Judge Charles L. Long, Springfield; Prof. A. Harkness, Providence.

GRAND—Major J. B. Guthrie, United States Army.

HOFFMAN—Prof. F. M. Creedie, University of Mississippi; J. W. Bowrne, London.

HOLLAND—A. S. Worthington, Washington; Congressman Francis G. Newlands, Nevada; William L. Elkins, Jr., Philadelphia.

MANHATTAN—Col. H. C. Hasbrouck, United States Army; Col. O. L. Hein, United States Army; J. B. Ingalls, Boston; T. L. Bennett, New Haven; C. P. Alvord, Buffalo.

MURRAY HILL—Prof. W. B. Greene, Jr., Princeton.

PLAZA—Charles F. Cutler, President of the New York Telephone Company, Morristown.

ARRIVAL OF BUYERS.

Representatives of Out-of-Town Firms Now in the City.

Horne, Joseph, & Co., Pittsburg, Penn.; J. C. Wasson, fancy goods, 45 Lispenard Street; St. Denis Hotel.

Reeves-Yeeder Company, Schenectady, N. Y.; A. J. McGee, domestics and white goods, 452 Broadway; Continental Hotel.

Howard & Conklin, Columbus, Ohio; A. L. Conklin, carpets; Continental Hotel.

Fisk, D. B., & Co., Chicago, Ill.; J. S. Frasher, silks, 621 Broadway.

Watt & Shand, Lancaster, Penn.; A. Baer, cloaks, 57 White Street.

Ambach Brothers & Co., Baltimore, Md.; M. Ambach, woolens, 676 Broadway.

Gimbel Brothers, Milwaukee, Wis.; B. Gimbel, dress goods and silks, 377 Broadway; Hoffman House.

Frear, William H., & Co., Troy, N. Y.; J. K. Hoyt, carpets; Sinclair House.

Stearns, R. H., & Co., Boston, Mass.; A. Clark, white goods, linens, and upholstery goods; Hotel Rivers.

Field,

BOER FORTS IMPREGNABLE

Character of the Campaign Has Entirely Changed.

BRITISH MUST NOW LAY SIEGE

No Hope of Carrying Boer Positions at Colenso by Assault—Their Up-to-Date Methods.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Pietermaritzburg dated Dec. 23 says:

"Every day reveals some new fact regarding the strength of the Boer position at Colenso. Thanks to the services of Continental officers, the character of the campaign has changed. We are no longer fighting a foe who relies upon guerrilla tactics; but we have to deal with what is rapidly becoming a disciplined army, enjoying the advantages of knowing the country and of selecting the scene of contest without the burdens of a cumbersome commissariat.

"The Boers have converted the hills near Colenso into fortresses of immense strength. Everywhere they have splendid trenches, many of them bomb proof. Tramway lines permit the shifting of guns with astonishing rapidity. The main positions are connected with the outlying positions by underground passages, and the forts proper bristle with machine guns that command the approaches. Probably mines are laid.

"One hears less nowadays about Boer shells not bursting. Observers of the Colenso fight say the Boer shell fire was very effective. This is due largely to the fact that the distances are marked off with white paint.

"The enemy's discipline is improving. The trenches represent great manual labor, for which the Boers have a keen dislike, and the way in which they restrained their fire when our troops were advancing is another proof of improved soldiering."

The Modder River correspondent of The Daily Chronicle gives an explanation of a sudden rifle fire inexplicably opened from the Boer trenches. He says:

"The Boers have wires stretched along the ground in front of the trenches and connected with lamps. If a wire be touched a lamp is extinguished, thus giving warning. One night a high wind extinguished a lamp, which resulted in a false warning. The fire ceased when the Boers discovered that the alarm was false."

A correspondent of The Daily News at Frere Camp announces that a tramway is being constructed from the railway to a hill commanding the Boer position, and that along this the British will convey heavy guns.

Henry Spenser Wilkinson, The Morning Post's military expert, in his review of the situation to-day, says:

"The time has apparently arrived for the nation to insist, if not upon a military dictatorship, at least upon the admission into the Cabinet of a Military Minister, empowered to veto any proposals detrimental to the successful prosecution of the war, and also that the administration of the army should be placed wholly in the hands of a tried military administrator."

In view of the apparent supineness of the British commanders in preventing the daily strengthening and extending of the Boer positions along the Tugela and Modder Rivers, which are now considered to be practically impregnable, many experts here are coming to the conclusion that the British have given up the idea of carrying these positions by assault, and will await the transport and cavalry required to give their forces necessary mobility, when they hope to be in a position to besiege the Boers in their respective forts, while Gen. Roberts carries out the original plan of campaign, that of advancing straight north on Bloemfontein, the other Generals detaching sufficient mobile troops to reach their goals by circuitous routes.

The Times complains of "needless censorship and concealment." It cites the fact that nothing has yet transpired to show how Gen. Gatacre came to lose 600 men at Stormberg.

There is nothing in the official or best independent reports to indicate that the beleaguered garrisons are in any special straits calling for immediate relief. The latest advices from Kimberley, where a shortage is most feared, report plenty of food.

According to a dispatch from Ladysmith, dated Dec. 20, the heat then was intense, being 104 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade. There were many cases of enteric fever in town at that time, but not enough to cause alarm. On the other hand, reports from Boer sources on the Continent assert that typhoid fever is epidemic in Ladysmith.

The latest independent news from Ladysmith says:

"The field fortifications would now withstand any organized attack the enemy is likely to deliver. There are sufficient foodstuffs for two months. The question of forage might be troublesome, but since the rains there has been some grazing within the British lines. There is no horse sickness.

"The casualties caused by our shell-fire are increasing, and the Boers are reported to be becoming nervous. They fear night sorties, and constantly open a heavy fusillade on an imaginary attack."

CHIEVELEY CAMP, Dec. 27.—A heavy Boer gun on Bulwhana Hill fired steadily upon Ladysmith throughout the morning. Ladysmith did not respond.

The enemy, having been again detected attempting to improve their trenches facing Gen. Buller, the British heavy guns opened upon them, and the Boers scampered back into the hills.

The British patrols sighted the enemy in force on our extreme left. Nine Boers were killed in a skirmish that followed and six Boer wagons were captured.

INSTRUCTED BOERS IN TRENCHING.

Captured British Deserter Says He Taught Them.

CAPE TOWN, Dec. 23.—A man named Green, a former Sergeant Major of the British Balloon Department, is among the Boer prisoners captured at Magersfontein. Green, who deserted from Aldershot in 1893, admitted he had been some time in the service of the Boers and had instructed them in trenching.

He says there were 23,000 Boers at Magersfontein, 21,000 of whom were engaged the day of the battle. The Boer losses, he asserts, were very heavy, the trenches being full of dead.

Green further declares that if the attack had been pressed the Boers would have yielded, and says the Boer horses have to be taken to the Modder River, as water is scarce at Magersfontein.

TRANSVAAL'S TERMS OF PEACE.

Great Britain to Cede Territory Now Occupied, Pay £20,000,000, and Acknowledge Independence.

DURBAN, Natal, Dec. 23.—Winston Churchill, on arriving here, after his escape from the Boers, was enthusiastically received. He says that from conversations with members of the Transvaal Government at Pretoria he learned that the Boers began the war with trepidation, but that President Krüger is now confident Great Britain will soon sue for peace.

In the highest Transvaal circles, Mr. Churchill asserts, there is serious talk of a compromise, by which Great Britain would cede the territory now occupied by the armies of the two republics, pay an indemnity of £20,000,000, and acknowledge the complete independence of the Transvaal.

CRITICISM OF THE BRITISH.

German Officer Finds Boers Superior in Every Way—Independent State Touching the Sea Suggested.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—The German press continues to comment upon the war in South Africa. The Militair-Wochenblatt, the military organ, contains a severe criticism by a high officer, in which the writer claims that hitherto the Boers, both leaders and men, have proved far more efficient in every way than the British. The National Zeitung publishes a similarly severe article.

The Kreuz Zeitung says editorially: "The best solution for Germany would be a peace guaranteeing the Boers their independence and securing the future, that is, creating a State whose frontier touches the sea, in order to enable it to adapt itself to the new times upon which Africa is entering.

"That must be the policy of the Boers. We do not desire the British to be wholly expelled from Africa, but we do not see the necessity for making the entire African continent British. The ideas of Cecil Rhodes will split upon the rock of Boer courage."

Proofs accumulate that not all the Germans sympathize with the Boers. Herr Gottfried Hagen, in Kalk, a suburb of Deutz, Prussia, has accepted an order from England for the immediate manufacture of forty tons of lead bullets. At the British Embassy, large numbers of Germans apply daily for enlistment in the British Army. The applicants, when desirable, are told that they may go to London, where they are sure of enlistment.

BOSTON CONGRATULATES KRUEGER.

Common Council Adopts Resolutions Hoping for Boer Victory.

BOSTON, Dec. 28.—The Common Council of Boston wound up its business for 1899 to-night, and one of its parting acts was the adoption of resolutions of sympathy for the Boers, carried after much spirited debate, as opposition was developed. The resolution follows:

Whereas, The Common Council of the City of Boston has heard of the magnificent struggle for independence and freedom from British tyranny which has been made by the Boer nation recently, and,

Whereas, This representative branch of our city government believes that the Boers ought to be a free nation; be it

Resolved, That this council congratulate President Kreuger and his people on their many successes already achieved, and that we fervently hope the war will end with a complete victory for the Boer arms.

Resolved, That the Clerk of the Common Council be instructed to forward a copy of these resolutions to President Krueger.

THE COST OF THE WAR.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—It is now estimated that the war will cost at least £60,000,000, ($300,000,000,) and it is suggested that the sinking fund of the national debt should be suspended for five or six years in order to defray the cost.

GERMANY'S GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

British Shipping Interests, Mr. Cramp Says, Must Suffer for Years.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., Dec. 28.—Charles H. Cramp, in speaking of the extensive shipping facilities which Great Britain is employing in the conduct of the South African war, said:

"No war in the history of Europe has ever used so much of the great transportation facilities of the ocean. To-day practically every fast transatlantic liner in the merchant marine service of England has been impressed into the transport service, and the effect will be most marked in the carrying trade of that country.

"Germany is already securing a profitable foothold in transatlantic navigation, and she will maintain it for years to come. A sudden termination of the war would not result in the immediate return of those vessels to their former vocations. Some of them may be lost, others will be used for different purposes, and still others will have become obsolete.

"Germany's merchant marine is assuming large proportions, and her ocean-carrying trade is increasing rapidly. She will leave no stone unturned to take advantage of the present situation, which will prove beneficial to her interests."

METHUEN TRADES WITH FARMERS.

Sets Up a Market—Boers Continue Firing on His Camp.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The War Office has received the following from Cape Town, dated Dec. 27:

"Methuen reports as follows:

"'At 9:30 yesterday evening the Boers on the south side of Magersfontein opened a very heavy fire for some time. This morning the Naval Brigade fired at the enemy at the west part of Magersfontein. The Cavalry Brigade is reconnoitring in a northeasterly direction.

"'Lieut. Masters has made an extended reconnoisance westward and northward of Enslin, and reports all well. The farmers were glad to see our men. They were suffering from want of food.

"'I have established a market here, where I can purchase fresh milk and vegetables, selling to the farmers tea and other articles, which they cannot otherwise purchase. Heavy rain fell last night.'

"Gatacre and French report no change in the situation.

"Baden-Powell reports all well Dec. 12."

BRITISH WILL ACCEPT AID.

10,000 Yeomanry Will Be Enlisted—Offers of Assistance.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—The British Government now evinces a marked change from its attitude in the early stages of the war, and shows a disposition to accept assistance from any quarter. The Imperial Yeomanry Committee has issued a statement to the effect that the Government considers the formation and dispatch of yeomanry as one of the most pressing needs of the situation, and has intimated that it is now prepared to accept from 8,000 to 10,000 yeomanry, instead of the 3,000 originally asked for. It is expected that the first contingent of 1,000 will sail about the middle of January.

The Government has announced that it will accept the services of a battery from the Honorable Artillery Corps. When these services were first offered they were declined on the ground that the corps was not a regiment of regulars. It will now be attached to the City Imperial Corps. Lady Chesham and Lady Georgiana Curzon have issued an appeal for public funds to establish a field hospital for the yeomanry.

Cape Town dispatches complain of the inadequacy of the hospital arrangements.

ANXIOUS TO AID GREAT BRITAIN.

Troops, Horses, &c., Offered from India—Cretans Volunteer.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The Nizam of Hyderabad, replying to a toast proposed by Lord Curzon, the Viceroy, at a banquet in Calcutta yesterday evening, said the proudest title he possessed was that of being the Queen's faithful ally, adding that his purse, his army, and his own sword were ever at her disposal.

The Maharajah of Gwalior has asked permission to serve on Gen. Roberts's staff and has offered to send troops, horses, and a transport to South Africa.

Many Cretans in Athens are offering their services to the British Consul for the war in South Africa.

Germans Arrested for Aiding Boers.

DURBAN, Natal, Dec. 27.—A German farmer named Stucke, and the Rev. Mr. Hartes, Director of the Hanoverian Missions in Natal, have been arrested and imprisoned at Estcourt on the charge of aiding the Boers. They both claim the protection of Germany.

Recruiting in Damaraland Stopped.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The German officials have promptly stopped the Boers from recruiting in Damaraland. Neither men nor horses are permitted to cross the border.

French Military Attache Appointed.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The Government of France has appointed Capt. Demange Military Attaché at the Boer headquarters.

Canadian Parliament to Meet Feb. 1.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Dec. 28.—It was officially announced to-night that Parliament had been called for Feb. 1. The principal business to be brought up will be the voting of money for the military contingents sent to South Africa, and the adoption of motions indorsing the action of the Government.

THE STATUS OF DELAGOA BAY.

Reports of Anglo-German-Portuguese Treaty Discredited—An Understanding as to Africa.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—Regarding the statement by the Lokal Anzeiger that a secret Anglo-German-Portuguese treaty exists for the division of the Portuguese colonies in South Africa, it is asserted on the highest authority that the story is a pure fiction and is in all its claims without foundation in fact.

The high official who authorizes this denial made the following declaration:

"There is no objection to stating that the understanding had between Great Britain, Germany, and Portugal refers only to Africa, and leaves Asia wholly out of the account. It is quite certain, however, that Germany under no consideration would conclude such a bargain with Portugal as the Lokal Anzeiger sets forth. Any one with the slightest political sense ought to see that these tiny enclaves in the midst of British India are the last colonial possessions Germany would dream of."

PARIS, Dec. 28.—The publication by the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin of an alleged secret treaty between Germany, Portugal, and Great Britain, providing for the partition of the Portuguese colonies, meets with no credence in official circles here. A Foreign Office official said their advices from Portugal and Germany left no doubt that the publication was largely invention. They could not believe Portugal would sign a treaty "stripping herself of her colonies and so far-reaching and harmful to Portugal."

Notwithstanding the denial of the French Foreign Office, it is believed in other quarters that an agreement between Great Britain and Germany may exist, outside of the understanding arrived at between them this year as an outcome of the negotiations to build a telegraph line connecting Cape Town with Cairo.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The St. James's Gazette, in an editorial to-day on the Lokal Anzeiger's reported treaty, says it is "a mere patchwork of previous reports, some partly true and some entirely false."

The probable truth is that, as previously reported, the Portuguese possessions in Africa, north and south of the Zambesi, will ultimately be leased to Great Britain and Germany, respectively.

So many alleged disclosures of secret Delagoa Bay agreements have recently been submitted to the British Foreign Office that the officials have made it a rule neither to deny nor affirm them, and when questioned to-day regarding the statements of the Lokal Anzeiger the officials adhered to this rule. But it was intimated that the alleged disclosures were quite inaccurate.

A dispatch to The Times from Berlin comments on the Lokal Anzeiger treaty statements as follows:

"When it is remembered that two of Portugal's Asiatic possessions, Goa and Daman, form enclaves in the Province of Bombay, the statements of the Lokal Anzeiger border on the fantastic."

The Standard says that no credit should be given to the rumor from Berlin of a secret Anglo-German-Portuguese treaty for the partition of the colonies of Portugal.

The paper adds:

"Lord Salisbury would be reluctant to bring pressure to bear upon Portugal except in a case of urgent necessity. Great Britain would prefer not to place herself in the invidious position of using force toward another petty country; and there is no temptation to raise any further international questions."

The Transvaal Government, according to information supplied by Boer sympathizers, threatens to "reduce the rations of British prisoners if Great Britain stops the entry of food by Delagoa Bay."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Nothing is known here of the reported intention of Great Britain and Germany to partition Portuguese East Africa between them, Great Britain taking the country around Delagoa Bay and southward and Germany the northern half of the territory, which adjoins the German East African possessions. The officials here attach no credence to the story, because, as they point out, a movement of this kind, disturbing the balance of power in Africa, almost certainly would lead to serious complications between the principals and the other powers of Europe.

Moreover, the old rumor of a secret treaty between England and Portugal, whereby the former might for a proper consideration possess itself of Delagoa Bay whenever the place is needed for military purposes, has always been credited to some extent here, and if such treaty really exists there would be no need for Germany's participation, as reported.

PORTUGUESE OFFICIALS' OPINIONS.

Charge d'Affaires Does Not Believe Such a Treaty Has Been Made.

Luis A. M. P. A. Taveira, the Portuguese Consul General, when seen in his office, in the Produce Exchange Building, said that he had no knowledge of any agreement regarding the sale of Delagoa Bay. "But," added Senhor Taveira, "this does not mean that such an agreement may not have been made. I would not be likely to hear of it before the general public. It would not be surprising if a treaty had been made or is going to be made."

The Portuguese Chargé d'Affaires in the United States, Ignacio de Costa Duarte, is at present in this city. He declared in an interview that, in his opinion, it would be well for Portugal to dispose of Delagoa Bay and the East African possessions. They had always been a source of trouble, and were likely to remain so.

"But it is not credible," said Senhor Duarte, "that any treaty has been made by which Portugal has parted with all her colonial possesions. Any Ministry that agreed to such a treaty would not remain in power a minute. If a treaty such as described in the German newspapers had been consumated, there would have been some hints of it published in Portugal to prepare the public mind."

THE BOERS' PRIVATE WIRE.

Intelligence Sent to Dr. Leyds Through Agent at Delagoa Bay.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—A correspondent of The Standard at Lorenzo Marques says:

"Delagoa Bay is the residence of Herr Pott, a Hollander, who is Consul General for the Transvaal and Consul for The Netherlands. Pott is the principal medium between Pretoria and Dr. Leyds, in Europe. He controls The Netherlands Railway through the Transvaal, and is the head of the Transvaal customs. He is also head of the Dutch East Africa Company, and has the ear of the Portuguese Governor, as well as the chief of each department.

"It is openly asserted that Pott has a private wire to the frontier, and knows twenty-four hours before others what is happening. About him gather all the other Consuls, the Portuguese officials and the German forwarding agents.

"If Delagoa Bay is closed, the Boers will retaliate by raiding Portuguese territory."

HISTORY OF DELAGOA BAY.

Once Claimed by Great Britain—American Railway Interests.

Much has recently been written about the "right of pre-emption" over Delagoa Bay, which belongs to Great Britain. As a matter of fact, Great Britain long ago claimed that the territory belonged to her, and it was only when an adverse decision was rendered against her by an arbitrator that she resigned her claim—and even then with a reservation.

In 1869 the Portuguese Government concluded a commercial treaty with the South African Republic, under which it seemed probable that considerable trade might spring up between the Portuguese coast on the Indian Ocean and the interior. This called attention to the Port of Lorenzo Marques, which stands on the east side of a land-locked inlet at the north end of Delagoa Bay. The bay itself is protected from the ocean by Inyack Island, and stretches about twenty miles. It is the finest harbor on the east coast of Africa.

Great Britain claimed Delagoa Bay under a concession which had been obtained from a native chief by a British naval exploring expedition in 1822. Portugal resisted the claim, and in 1875 it was referred to the arbitration of Marshal MacMahon, then President of the French Republic. Three years later he awarded the territory in dispute to Portugal. "Both cases," says James Bryce, "were weak, and it is not easy to say which was the weaker, for, although the Portuguese had undoubtedly been first on the ground, their occupation, often disturbed by native tribes, had been extremely precarious."

The decision was modified by a provision, which was contained in the agreement for arbitration, that the power against which the decision might be rendered should have thereafter from the successful power a right of pre-emption as against any other State desiring to purchase the territory. Since the arbitration decision there have frequently been reports that Great Britain was about to acquire Delagoa Bay, but the sensitive pride of the Portuguese people always prevented the sale. At one time, however, it is stated on good authority that Great Britain could have bought the colony for as little as $60,000.

The United States is also interested in the disposition of Delagoa Bay. The railway from that port to Pretoria, which makes the former such a desirable acquisition at present to Great Britain, was opened in 1894. A large part of it was built by a citizen of this country. In 1883 Col. McMurdo, an American citizen, obtained from the Portuguese Government a concession to build a line of railway from Lorenzo Marques to Komatipoort, on the Transvaal border. Four years later he formed a company to build the line and commenced the work. This was pushed forward rapidly, but before it was finished Col. McMurdo died. Thereupon the Portuguese Government, taking advantage of a technical breach of contract, because of the non-completion of the line, canceled the concession and confiscated the railway. This was on June 24, 1889. The shareholders protested, and after vigorous representations on the part of the British and United States Governments, Portugal consented, after long delays, to refer the matter to arbitration. The Swiss Court was appointed for this purpose, and is now considering the evidence. It is expected that it will announce its decision in the course of a few weeks, and that it will be in favor of the shareholders.

The principal claimants are Mrs. Haywood, widow of Col. McMurdo; George S. Sedgwick, and other citizens of the United States, together with some British capitalists.

OWNERSHIP OF SEIZED FLOUR.

It now appears that the firm that had the largest shipments of flour consigned to Delagoa Bay on the three vessels of which the cargoes were recently seized by the British authorities is an English concern—Arthur May & Co. of Bristol. A large branch office in this city is located at 19 Whitehall Street, John Y. Sherwood being the agent. The firm had on board the three ships which were seized—the Maria, the Mashona, and the Beatrice—about 26,000 bags of flour consigned to Lorenzo Marques. The agent here will not say whether the flour was intended for ultimate shipment from Lorenzo Marques to the Transvaal, but he has not at present made any representations to the State Department, as have most of the other firms which had goods seized.

The manifests of the three vessels show that they carried the usual class of goods shipped to South African ports, although the proportion of flour was much larger than usual. It is tacitly admitted by the American firms whose goods have been seized that a large proportion was intended for the Boers. A member of one firm declared that there was very large local trade in Lorenzo Marques.

The consignments to Delagoa Bay were all shipped at the consignees' risk, and they cannot, therefore, claim damages from the American firms for non-delivery. The steamship owners are also protected from similar damage suits, as a clause in the shipping agreements provides that they are not responsible for "unforeseen events." In spite of this, it is stated that a large proportion of the goods shipped to firms in Lorenzo Marques was paid for before it left this country. The uncertainty in every direction consequent on the war made shipping concerns in America careful, and most of them refused to transact business except on "cash before delivery" terms. The people in Delagoa Bay are, therefore, the real sufferers, particularly as that city is now full of refugees from the Transvaal, and prices for everything have gone up.

COMMENDS AMERICAN ATTITUDE.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—"It is satisfactory," says The Times editorially this morning, "to learn that the Washington Government is acting with regard to the American cargoes seized in Delagoa Bay as we should have wished and expected.

"It is a matter, of course that we shall make full reparation, if reparation is proved to be due. In the meantime it may be noted, as the Americans themselves admit, that the facts are in considerable doubt, and that some of them seem to be rather compromising to the vessels seized. There will be time enough to talk of the law and the policy of the step when the facts have been authoritatively ascertained."

CONSUL MACRUM'S RETURN.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The case of Consul Charles E. Macrum, the United States representative at Pretoria, who insisted on being relieved at the time the South African crisis became most acute, is assuming additional importance as Mr. Macrum nears home. The understanding at the State Department is that he is not coming by way of the English ports, but is on a German ship which comes through the Mediterranean and thence direct to this country, the trip taking about six weeks from Dec. 18 last, the date of his sailing from Lorenzo Marques.

In the present aspect of the case there is little doubt that unless the Consul presents ample explanation for his course he will not continue in the Consular Service.

It has been reported that the mystery surrounding his departure had been cleared up by a letter from him to Representative Tayler of Ohio, who represents the district from which Macrum comes and who secured his appointment as Consul. But Mr. Tayler said to-day that he had heard nothing from Macrum except indirectly through his letters to relatives. These give no intimation of the cause of his return, but speak of the excitement incident to the war and the hurried preparations on both sides. There is nothing, however, to show a pro-Boer or an anti-British inclination, nor is there any discussion of the political aspect of the war.

WILL OF D. S. FORD FILED.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 28.—The will of Daniel Sharp Ford, publisher of The Youth's Companion, filed for probate in the Middlesex County Probate Court to-day, disposes of an estate of about $2,500,000.

The will, which is dated Oct. 21, 1898, gives $77,000 direct to public charitable and religious institutions, and provides that the income from several hundred thousand dollars shall be available for similar use. The Museum of Fine Arts, the Boston Public Library, and the City Hospital receive $6,000 each; the Young Men's Christian Association, the Young Women's Christian Association, and Massachusetts General Hospital get $7,000 each; the Boston Children's Aid Society and the Children's Hospital of Boston, $5,000 each, and the Ruggles Street Baptist Church, $20,000 a year for two years, for religious, educational, and benevolent work.

Article XI. bequeaths $350,000 to the Baptist Social Union, subject to conditions, among which is that it shall become a corporation within two years after the testator's death. This sum is to be used for the erection of a building for the use of the union.

The entire Youth's Companion plant, with certain real estate, is left to the executors, to be administered for the benefit of the Baptist Social Union.

Of the residue, one-sixth goes to the American Baptist Home Mission Society, one-sixth to the American Baptist Missionary Union, and one-ninth each to the Massachusetts Baptist Convention for Feeble Baptist Churches, the Massachusetts Charitable Baptist Society, the Conference of Baptist Ministers in Massachusetts, the Maine Baptist Missionary Convention, the New Hampshire Baptist Convention, and the Vermont Baptist Convention.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
The Kind You Have Always Bought

WEBER PIANOS

In addition to the regular styles of Grands and Uprights in the choicest woods, we are displaying some special designs in LOUIS XIV., RENAISSANCE, and COLONIAL cases, and will give estimates on other designs conforming to any architectural requirements.

Inspection Invited. Correspondence Solicited.
Old instruments taken in exchange.

WEBER WAREROOMS,
Corner Fifth Ave. and 16th St., N. Y.
605 Fulton Street, Brooklyn.

B. Altman & Co.

This Day, Friday,

FUR TRIMMED

HATS AND TOQUES,

MOST DESIRABLE SHAPES.

$14.50

(THIRD FLOOR.)

TWO HOURS IN AN ICEBOX.

As though it were not cold enough in the open air yesterday, Mrs. Sisrel Rischmond was locked in the icebox in her husband's butcher shop at 204 Madison Avenue in the forenoon and allowed to remain there for over two hours. The woman accuses her husband's business partner, Joseph Epstein, of having treated her with this coldness. He pushed her into the icebox, she declares, and while she sat helplessly on a big cake of ice he coolly took all the money in the cash drawer and disappeared. The woman finally broke the glass window in the icebox, and her cries attracted the attention of a neighbor. When liberated she fell in a faint from the effects of the cold.

According to the story of Mr. and Mrs. Rischmond, they established the butcher's store three weeks ago and took in Epstein as a partner. The latter invested $38 capital in the business. Yesterday the Rischmonds deposited $50 in the money drawer, preparatory to settling the monthly account with the wholesale butcher. Then Rischmond went to the chicken market in Gouverneur Street, leaving Mrs. Rischmond and Epstein in the store. Epstein remarked to Mrs. Rischmond that the water pan in the icebox was leaking, and she went over to the door to see. The icebox is by far the most important thing in the shop, and takes up most of the room. While the woman was examining the pan Epstein pushed her in and slammed the door after her, and, after withdrawing all the available cash capital from the business, dissolved partnership and withdrew.

Mrs. Rischmond was not dressed for such weather as she experienced in the icebox, and suffered keenly in the biting cold. She pounded wildly on the door and sides of the box until almost exhausted. As she realized her desperate position her blood almost froze in her veins, assisted by several hundred pounds of ice. Her blows on the icebox grew weaker. At last she thought of the little square glass window or peephole in the side of the icebox, and broke it with her fists. Then she stuck her head through the little aperture and inhaled the fresh and comparatively warm air that came through the shop from the street. She shouted as hard as she could, and then stuck her hands outside the icebox to warm them.

Mrs. Myerson, who keeps a store next door, heard the cries in the butcher store, and ran in. She saw Mrs. Rischmond regarding her with desperation in her face through the aperture in the icebox. She rushed forward to open the door, and finding herself unable to do so, went for her brother-in-law, who ran in and lifted the big cleats that hold the door. The woman inside fell out and fainted on the floor. A nearby doctor resuscitated her, and she rushed to the money drawer. It was empty.

"Its all gone," she shrieked. "Fifty dollars!"

Mr. Rischmond arrived with the chickens at this juncture, and he and his wife ran to the Madison Street Police Station, where the woman complained of the cold treatment accorded her by her husband's partner. Detectives Sheehan and McCarthy went out to look for Epstein. The latter came back to the butcher's store at 6 o'clock last night and the detectives captured him. At the station house he refused to make a statement, except to say that he did not take any money from the drawer. He intimated that the firm never had $50 in its money drawer during its existence. He was locked up.

TO TEST A CORKSCREW BOAT.

James Gresham of Brooklyn has found capital to demonstrate the qualities of his corkscrew boat, for which he anticipates a speed of fifty miles an hour. W. J. Arkell organized yesterday a private syndicate of New York capitalists which has agreed to furnish $50,000 with which to build a small boat on the corkscrew plan, with the further understanding that if it demonstrates its ability to approximate on a commercial scale the speed the models have reached, the syndicate will furnish sufficient capital to build a mail boat.

The inventor promises that his craft will cross the Atlantic in less than three days. The vessel, the construction of which is being arranged for at the Newport News shipyards, is not intended for passenger service, but only for the convenience of mails and fast freight, and for use at life-saving stations. The boat is cylindrical in shape, with a serpentine flange like a corkscrew extending from bow to stern, and the outer shell revolves through the water, while the inner compartment maintains its equipoise.

PAY OF BROOKLYN TEACHERS.

The Brooklyn School Board held a meeting yesterday afternoon, at which it was decided to make the salary of each of the High School and Training School Principals $4,500 a year. It was also decided to close the evening schools for the present term on Jan. 26 next.

A special meeting will be held this afternoon at which a schedule will be adopted regulating the salaries of all the teachers so as to keep within the appropriation for 1900. All the mandatory provisions of the Ahearn law will have to be complied with, but in the cases of 3,500 teachers not affected by that law there will be reductions.

Under the new schedule the salaries for women teachers will range from $600 to $1,200, and those of men teachers from $700 to $2,150. The heads of departments will receive $1,400, and the Principals of other than High Schools from $2,400 to $3,500. The teachers of special branches will be paid according to the schedule in force in April, 1899. The pay of the Board of Superintendents will not be changed.

SUICIDE IN WIFE'S HOME.

While alone in his home, at 221 West Twenty-first Street, yesterday afternoon, William Snyder, a young man who was at least in part supported by his wife's work in a Sixth Avenue massage establishment, shot himself through the head. The bullet entered at the left temple and emerged at the right ear, causing a wound that probably produced instant death.

Mrs. Snyder and her mother, Mrs. J. W. Green, a physician, found the body lying on a bed when they came in, later in the day. It was then cold, and an ambulance surgeon who was called said that the man had been dead for several hours. Mrs. Green, who conducts another massage room for a Sixth Avenue department store, said that her daughter Jessie had first met Snyder about a year ago, he being then twenty-seven years old. They fell in love at once. He left the city and went to Albany to work for about six months. Then he returned to this city and secured employment with a publishing firm in the American Tract Society Building.

He eloped with her daughter two months ago, Mrs. Green said, and had been married to her by the Rev. Dr. Houghton, at the Church of the Transfiguration, in East Twenty-ninth Street, "The Little Church Around the Corner." As he was not earning enough to support his wife, she continued at her work, and he lived with her in her mother's flat at the address given. Snyder recently lost his place, and was disappointed in a promise of another on the Stock Exchange that had been held out to him, and it is thought, too, that he lost what little money he had in bucket shops. He was always very secretive, but the family heard him speak of having a widowed mother and two sisters. Sometimes he said they lived in Illinois and at other times in the South.

SINGS, BUT WILL NOT SPEAK.

If anybody has lost a little girl, four years old, with dark curls, big gray eyes, and a dimple in her chin, she can be found in the room for lost children at Police Headquarters. This particular little girl sings like a bird, but although Matron Travers and many others have essayed to make her talk, none has been successful. She was found at 11 o'clock on Wednesday night at Forty-fourth Street and Eighth Avenue by Policeman William Brown of the West Thirty-seventh Street Station. It was snowing hard when the big policeman and the little girl met.

"Hello, where might you be going?" said the officer cheerily, stooping down until his snow-covered helmet was almost on a level with the red and black toboggan cap of the little wanderer. The child only tossed her head and refused to answer. She did not cry. The policeman took her tenderly in his arms and carried her to the station house, and thence to Police Headquarters.

She will not tell anything about herself, but she seems not to be a daughter of the very poor. She wears a brown plaid dress, black buttoned shoes and black stockings. Her underclothing is heavy and of good quality. Over her dress she wears a blue coat trimmed with fur, a fur collarette, and a muff with a little pocket book in it. In the pocket book is thirty-five cents which the little girl guards with an argus eye. She sings little songs to while away the time, but she won't tell anything about herself. When asked if she is four years old, she smiles and nods her head. When asked if she is six years old she shakes it negatively. The matron thinks the little one has an impediment in her speech, but is not sure of it. The matron and the policemen about the building think it strange that no one has called for such a pretty child who sings to herself so sweetly.

THE BIG STORE A CITY IN ITSELF
SIEGEL COOPER Co
SIXTH AVE. 18TH & 19TH STS.
NEXT DOOR TO THE FOUNTAIN

Girls' and Misses' Outergarments.

We beg to announce for to-day and Saturday a very special sale of Girls' and Misses' stylish outergarments, comprising the entire stock of one of New York's foremost specialists—bought at 60c. on the dollar and retailed on the same basis of saving.

GIRLS' REEFERS, sizes 6 to 14, of heavy boucle, with large sailor collar, nicely trimmed, worth $5.00; here at . . . 2.90

GIRLS' CAPES of heavy military blue covert cloth, with large hood and deep collar, entire garment lined with all-wool red flannel; really worth $5.50, on sale to-day at . . . 2.90

GIRLS' REEFERS, sizes 6 to 14, of two-toned Persian cloth, with deep shoulder cape, braided and combined with plain contrasting colors, worth $5.90; here at . . . 3.75

GIRLS' REEFERS AND JACKETS, sizes 6 to 14, in a large variety of materials, some with plain coats, others with deep cape or silk lined hood, worth $7.90; here at . . . 4.75

GIRLS' REEFERS, sizes 6 to 14, of finest kersey or rough cloths, exquisitely made with hoods or braiding; worth $10.00 and $12.50 each; here at . . . 5.90

250 GIRLS' GRETCHENS, sizes 6 to 14, of plain or rough materials, with hoods or capes, also in box effects, worth $10.00 and $12.50; here, your choice at . . . 5.90

GIRLS' THREE-QUARTER BOX COATS, of fine kersey; silk lined throughout and interlined to waist with flannel, with coat or high rolling collar, come also in misses' sizes, in tan, castor, brown and royal; really worth $12.50, here at . . . 7.90

GIRLS' PALETOTS, sizes 8 to 14, full length, of fine plain Kersey, silk lined throughout and interlined to waist with flannel, loose box back, with or without top cape, the swellest garment of the season; worth $15.00, at . . . 8.90

GIRL'S ATTACK ON MRS. EYLER.

Alleged Attempt at Murder at the New Jersey Industrial School.

TRENTON, Dec. 28.—A girl whose name is either Mamie Barnes or Mamie Burns, seventeen years old, who is an inmate of the State Industrial School, is now confined in a dungeon at the school, upon the charge, it is said, of attempting to murder Mrs. Myrtle B. Eyler, the matron, on Christmas Day. According to the story told by one of the employes at the school, Mrs. Eyler was only saved from the fury of the girl by the prompt answering of her screams for help by Special Officer Bamford, one of the guards at the school. Mrs. Eyler has been prostrated and under a physician's care since the encounter, though she was not harmed by the girl.

Information is refused at the school, but the story, as told by the employes, is that Mrs. Eyler had been particularly severe in her treatment of the girl, who, it is said, declared to her friends that she intended to "find out if Mrs. Eyler had a heart." On Christmas Day Mrs. Eyler and the cooking class were in the kitchen, when, it is alleged, the girl grabbed a big meat knife and rushed at the matron. There was a stampede among the inmates and teachers, none of whom, it is said, offered to aid Mrs. Eyler. Officer Bamford was in a room close by, and, hearing Mrs. Eyler's screams for help, rushed in and caught the girl in time to prevent her injuring the matron. The girl was sent to the dungeon, and is still confined there. She is to be held, it is said, until the matter can be laid before the Grand Jury.

When asked to-day concerning the affair, Howard C. Stull, one of the Board of Managers, would not deny the story, but simply remarked: "Well, what can you expect from such girls as we have at the school?"

Mrs. Eyler's conduct of the school was recently the subject of an investigation.

Presentations to Judge Blanchard.

Judge James A. Blanchard, who was appointed to fill an unexpired term in the Court of General Sessions a year ago, sat in that court for the last time yesterday. The Judges who sit in the Criminal Court Building, the District Attorney's staff, jurors, and court attendants crowded the courtroom after Judge Blanchard had disposed of his last case and witnessed his reception of the various gifts and testimonials presented to him. A letter was read from District Attorney Gardiner and a set of resolutions from the jurors. The Judge received a silver inkwell from the District Attorney and his staff, a silver loving cup from De Lancey Nicoll, who spoke in behalf of many lawyers, and many other presents.

Negro Kills a Florida Sheriff.

MONTICELLO, Fla., Dec. 28.—Will Gorman, a negro, shot and killed Sheriff T. B. Simpkins to-day at the Scurry place, six miles north of here. Gorman was wanted for murder, and Simkins and a posse went to arrest him. They closed in on the cabin in which the negro was concealed. As Simkins pushed open the door, Gorman shot him twice in the breast. The murderer escaped from the rear door, but was shot down and killed.

American Linseed Company's Plans.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 28.—The American Linseed Company of New York has purchased a tract of land on Sussex Street, between First Street and the Passaic River, in Harrison. The property is 100 by 123 feet in dimensions, and has a wharf frontage on the Passaic of 100 feet. It was formerly occupied as a stone yard. The company will construct buildings and tanks for its business in this section.

YOURS TRULY

Our compliments and thanks are extended to the patrons of

TRADE MARK
REGISTERED RYE
HUNTER
TRADE MARK
BALTIMORE RYE
BOTTLED BY
WM. L

The Wanamaker Store.

This Store is a Double Team

REGULAR goods—advance styles or exclusive ones. That's the one horse.

Exceptional goods as to value—or bargains. That's the other horse.

Some days we drive one horse; then the other. As a rule, we drive them double, and they pull together in a way that makes this merchandise team the sight and delight of New York.

As a rule, dollars buy more than dollars' worth at this season. We do not juggle with figures or prices. But, excessive stocks (ours and those of other folks) and broken stocks where they crop up in the store, are sold at a loss from the expectation-prices. It turns ventures back into cash; with a shrinkage, of course, but back into usable form.

The iron maker melts his mistakes—loses the scum and maybe more. But he makes by it. So does the store. Don't pity us for our losses—we expect such. The store is the better for such selling; so are the markets—and you who buy are richer for buying.

As to the new things—it's pleasant to get first pick, isn't it?

New Cotton Fabrics for Spring

We've been reading how, because of the open winter, country folks who live close to Nature, have been finding a stray violet here and there. The buds had been bundled up for next spring's flowers. Genial suns have kissed them to an early awakening.

There are early blooms here, as well. Will you enjoy them to-day—share of them if they please you?

Mousseline de Soie. You know how dainty it is? The basis is cotton in cob-web-like threads; that's the strength. The beauty is silk.

Well, the new ones are all the old ones ever were, and besides have embroidered stripes—self colored. 50c a yard.

Dimities with satin stripes of pure silk; then over-printed with designs like those on Foulard silks. Some in floral designs—as though the blooms peeped through the silk lattice-work. 50c a yard.

Hosts of styles of each of these fabrics. In the Rotunda.

Along Fourth Avenue these—

American-made Dimities, very dainty, at 15c a yard.

American-printed Swiss Muslins, 12½c a yard.

American Piques—solid colors and printed. 15c a yard.

American-printed Welt-cord Muslins. 18c a yard.

Cheap as equal quality sold last year, despite higher market values. And we never had such beautiful effects.

Walking Hats We've a hundred and twenty-five Walking Hats left—you know them—felt, mostly; with quill or feather or bunch of ribbon; maybe velvet band; some of cloth that hints of golf. Well, to-day they go—

25c to $4

Yesterday they were $1 to $12.

Women who are rightly careful of their dress will buy these to save their fine hats on stormy days.

Second floor, Broadway.

Pretty Fans White gauze fans—some spangled; some painted daintily but in simple designs—all with carved bone sticks, very white and perfect. 75c and $1.

Gauze Fans with insertions of lace—some painted, $1.

Japanese Fans for decorative use—5c and 10c.

Toward Broadway and Tenth street side.

Women's Eiderdown Robes These have the needed warmth for this sort of weather. They're soft and thick, yet light. The new arrivals are perfect-fitting robes, finely finished, mostly in solid colors. And they're moderately priced. A very good sort for $3. Another for $4—and up to $13.50.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

LOW PRICES FOR WOMEN'S

Jackets, Ulsters and Newmarkets

Some of the handsomest gowns we've shown this season are liberally reduced in price this morning. Various stylish jackets in all the usual materials, good colorings and black, either satin or silk lined, are $5 to $15, though $6.50 to $25 were prices reasonable enough.

In the Newmarkets and Ulsters, offerings equally attractive. Mostly in light colors—some blacks—of Frieze, Kersey and Venetian cloth; elegantly lined. $10 to $75. Were $16 to $100.

Second floor, Broadway.

Men's Clothing at New Prices

Rounding up small lots has begun. That there are only limited quantities is their best recommendation—they represent what have been the season's best sellers. To-day we part company with certain lines by reducing former moderate prices in this manner:

At $10—About 150 men's fancy cheviot suits, that were $12 to $15.

At $8.50—A few strictly all-wool kersey overcoats; fast color; Italian cloth lined; velvet collars. They were good values at $10 and $12.

At $5—Striped worsted trousers; many excellent patterns; our usual $6.50 kinds.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Men's Mackintoshes The new box coats, in neat brown checks; velvet collars; seams all sewed and cemented. Durable and water-proof as well as stylish. Price, $6.50. And we've never seen a better mackintosh at the price.

Men's Furnishing Goods Store, Ninth street.

Fire-Place Fixtures Bigger the chimney, more cheerful the room. But, big or little, the fire-place can be made attractive.

Brass Andirons, $3 to $65.

Brass Fenders, $5.50 to $20.25.

Brass Fire Sets, with stand, $4.50 to $16.50.

Folding Screens, brass, $7.50 to $50.

Brass Coal Hods, $6 to $7.25.

Iron Andirons, 90c to $110—there is large demand for these black ones.

Black Iron Fenders, $6.75 to $18.

Black Fire-Sets, with stand, $6.50 to $30.

Iron Coal-Grates, $2 to $23.

Basement.

Clothing for Boys

Double-breasted Jacket Suits—

$5 values at $3.50 $7 values at $5 $12 and $14 values at $9

Sailor Suits—for ages 3 to 12, but broken sizes—$7 and $8 kinds at $5.

Knee Trousers, cheviot, 65c.

Could facts be stated more bluntly? Could you get better news in a few lines? For Wanamaker clothing is tailored clothing and the fabrics are all-wool in every case.

Your choice from the season's strong styles of Overcoats. How much? Some are not much—as little as $5.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Children's Fine Coats at Little Prices Many elegant garments, and for the most part only one of a kind. There's been a full third lifted from the price of each. Some of the prettiest coats you ever saw. 2 to 4-year sizes.

There are cloth coats at $2.50 to $22.50, that were $3.50 to $33.

And some of fine velvet at $16 to $39, instead of $24 to $56.

In cream and other light colored materials, all silk lined and beautifully trimmed, at $11 to $25; yesterday $16 to $38.

Silk coats, in light colors, trimmed with ermine, otter and feathers, at $14 to $37; were $20.50 to $52.50.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

A Sale of Toilet Table Silverware This is a grouping of odd pieces remaining from the holiday selling. The reductions of 25 to 50 per cent. on the prices reflect no discredit on the goods. They're perfect. Only fault is that they're so few. Hence—

Mirrors, $5 each, were from $7 to $10.75.

Military Brushes, $2 each, were from $2.50 to $3.75.

Velvet Brushes, $1.50 each, were from $2 to $3.

Cut Glass Puff Boxes, sterling tops, $1.25, were $1.65.

Cut Glass Salve Jars, sterling gilt tops, 75c, were $1.

Large size Lavender Salt Jars, $3 each, were from $5 to $6.

Large size Silver Deposit Cologne Bottles, $8 each, were $11 and $12.

Broadway and Tenth street.

Cotton Comfortables Choice, clean cotton. The coverings of various good qualities of silkoline—all good patterns. Some for $1, for $1.25, for $1.50. And at $2.25, some that have filling of fine white cotton that closely approaches down in its softness; art silkoline covering.

Third floor, Ninth street.

Walking Skirts We civilize slowly. Within a few miles of railroad terminals that may be classed as world wonders, you can find dingy stations with kerosene lamps, gloom and dirt.

Women found emancipation in dress when cycling came to be a fad, when golf and other out-of-door games demanded freedom. Of course they abused their privileges—at least, some did. But the net gain is to the credit of good sense.

Then we came to allow the use of rainy-day skirts. That was well and good, except for the women who bought badly made skirts and made frights of themselves.

Now we call discreetly short skirts "walking skirts," and woman is free indeed. They are popular garments—and it is only by chance that we can sell these lots at reduced prices—chance and the necessity to clear out little lots. We compare prices with the full values—for some of these lots are left from a recent "sale."

$6.75 kinds at $4.50.

$9 and $10 kinds at $6.50.

Values up to $15 at $8.

Second floor, Broadway.

Applique Muslins A new something to make into waists, guimpes and fronts. White muslin, sheer and pretty, with appliqued designs—leaves and what-not—and then cut out between, to give the designs prominence.

Very new; very pretty.

First showing to-day. $2 to $3.50 a yard.

In the Lace Store.

Tissot's Life of Christ No pictorial Bible takes the place of this famous art-work.

This isn't a pictorial Bible, but the life of The Christ told in pictures painted by as devout a disciple as any of old. The paintings are reproduced with the utmost fidelity—the work being under the scrutinizing care of M. Tissot.

Think of an artist who, leaving earned fame and affluence, gave ten years of his fuller life to study and travel in Bible lands to picture the Master to whom he has given such allegiance!

Dore painted horrors, Tissot painted the life of the Man of Love. Bunyan filled an involuntary bondage with the work of The Pilgrim's Progress. Tissot was held only by the bonds of willing service.

We congratulate every one who is fortunate enough to enter the

Wanamaker-Tissot Club

Initial fee, $1. When we accept your membership and your references we deliver the full set of books—you obligating to make a stated number of monthly payments of $3 each. Choice of three elegant bindings—else we could tell exactly how many payments you would decide to make.

Edition available for our club is limited, while apparently large. Judging by our other book clubs, we will not have more than half enough.

We answer inquiries fully and send all the facts you could ask for. Book Store, Ninth street.

Pianos---An Important Word

Do you know that manufacturers conceive new designs to tempt storekeepers as well as you? A beautiful pattern of silverware is discontinued. Why? Because the maker thinks his new style will of necessity be taken by competing stores—and he don't care how much they lose on the stock they own or how much he loses on the little lot he still has. Fashion is the friend of Waste.

Well, the maker of the worthy Royal Piano produced a little beauty—a seven-and-one-third octave upright piano that fitted little parlors and boudoirs—in size and volume—to perfection. Now it is displaced by a new model not a whit better. We have eight to sell at the old price—

Full action Pianos at $150.

Fifth floor.

Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co.,

JOHN WANAMAKER

Broadway, Fourth Ave., Ninth and Tenth Streets.

FAILS TO INDICT BROKERS

Grand Jury's Presentment in Brooklyn Rapid Transit Inquiry.

FIVE JURORS OFFER PROTEST

Demand to be Placed on Record as Against Delay—Judge Says Their Action Is Strange.

The December Grand Jury was discharged yesterday by Judge Cowing after returning a presentment in the matter of the investigation of Wall Street rumors regarding the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. No indictment was found. The Grand Jury declared that the time at its disposal was too short for a proper examination of the charges before it, and recommended that they be taken up by the January Grand Jury. Five members openly expressed their opposition to this decision, and desired that they should be placed on record as being opposed to the presentment. According to the opinion of several lawyers their action might lead to their prosecution as having disclosed secrets of the Grand Jury.

Ex-District Attorney De Lancey Nicoll and Lawyer John D. Lindsay, who are both interested in the Brooklyn Rapid Transit investigation, put in an appearance at the Criminal Court Building early yesterday morning. They held a short conference with William F. Sheehan, the counsel for the Rapid Transit Company; Acting District Attorney Unger, and Assistant District Attorney O'Reilly. Then Mr. Unger announced that he had received a telephone message from Cyrus Clark of 327 West Seventy-sixth Street, the foreman of the Grand Jury, informing him that Mr. Clark was too ill to attend the session. Mr. Unger added that a new foreman must be selected. The Grand Jury left its room and went before Judge Cowing, in Part I. of General Sessions. Assistant District Attorney O'Reilly explained the situation to the Judge and asked him to designate a new foreman. James J. Higginson, a broker at 7 Nassau Street, was chosen, and the jury returned to its room.

OFFERING THE PRESENTMENT.

A session was then held until 1 o'clock. No witnesses were called. At 1 o'clock Mr. Unger appeared and announced that the Grand Jury had arrived at a decision, and it was conducted back again into Judge Cowing's court. There the foreman informed the Judge that the work of the Grand Jury had been completed, and that a presentment had been prepared. The presentment, which had the appearance of having been scribbled hastily on a scrap of paper, was read by the Secretary, Thomas J. Stead. It is as follows:

"The Grand Jury have conducted an inquiry into certain false rumors, recently circulated, affecting the values of stock and the financial condition of certain corporations.

"The matter of these reports coming to us at the close of our term, we have been unable to make such a complete inquiry into the subject as we believe its importance warrants; and, therefore, recommend and request that the Court call the attention of the succeeding Grand Jury to the case, to the end that the law may be vindicated and such crimes prevented.

"New York, Dec. 28, 1899.

"Approved by the Grand Jury,

"JAMES J. HIGGINSON, Foreman."

The condition of the presentment was commented upon by counsel, as such papers are, it was pointed out, usually prepared formally by the District Attorney. The appearance of the scrap of paper indicates that it was an original draft, for it was marked with erasures and rewritten in several places.

After the presentment was read and turned over to the Clerk Mr. Higginson informed the court that five of the members of the Grand Jury were opposed to the presentment and were anxious to be placed on record to that effect. He handed the names of the protestants, also written on a scrap of paper, to the Clerk of the court, and they were read. They were Lawrence Wells, Louis P. Sondheim, C. O'Donnell Iselin, Lawrence G. O'Brien, and Gabriel A. Chevalier.

Judge Cowing informed the Foreman that he would refer the protest of the minority of the Grand Jury to his successor in Part I. of the Court of General Sessions, Judge McMahon, who would lay it before the January Grand Jury or not, as he saw fit. He then thanked the Grand Jurors for their services to the State and dismissed them. They filed slowly out of the courtroom.

MINORITY'S ACTION CRITICISED.

The action of the Grand Jurors who announced their opposition to the presentment is regarded in legal circles as remarkable, and it excited considerable comment in the District Attorney's office. An Assistant District Attorney, who refused to permit his name to be used, said that he considered that the members of the Grand Jury who had made their opinions public had violated Section 265 of the Code of Criminal Procedure and were guilty of a misdemeanor.

The section referred to reads as follows:

"Every member of the Grand Jury must keep secret whatever he himself or any other Grand Juror may have said or in what manner he or any other member of the Grand Jury may have voted on a matter before them."

Lawyers who allege that the five Grand Jurors are guilty of a violation of this section argue that their publicly signified opposition to the presentment was a palpable disclosure of the fact that they had voted against it. Several members of the District Attorney's office expressed astonishment that Judge Cowing should have allowed the action taken by the jurors to go unquestioned. No one connected with the District Attorney's office or the criminal courts could recall an occurrence similar to that of yesterday.

JUDGE COWING'S OPINION.

Judge Cowing, when interviewed at his home last night in regard to the presentment, said that at the time it was made he had not regarded the public protest of the five dissenting jurors as a disclosure of any of the Grand Jury secrets.

"A presentment is not like an indictment," said he, "and may be arrived at without the casting of a ballot. I did not regard the reading of the names of the five jurors opposed to it as a statement of the way they voted. I took it to mean that the majority of the jury had decided on a presentment and that several of the minority wished to have their names read.

"When the scrap of paper with the names of the five jurors was read, I paid little attention to it. I thought at first that the protest was made against the whole investigation, and not against the presentment. The fact that it was against the presentment makes it a more serious matter, however, but not of sufficient importance, in my mind, to warrant any action being taken in regard to it. The whole case will go to my successor, Judge McMahon. Of course, I am unable to say what he will do with it.

"When I come to think over it, I must admit that the proceedings of to-day have been very strange indeed. I have been connected with the bar for twenty-eight years, but never in all that time have I ever heard of such a statement as was made by those five jurors this morning. So far as I know, it is unprecedented."

Their oath forbids the Grand Jurors just dismissed to talk about the proceedings of yesterday.

Acting District Attorney Unger will take the Rapid Transit Company investigation before the next Grand Jury, if Judge McMahon will permit it. Counsel for both the Rapid Transit Company and the brokers, who allege that they have lost money by the circulation of false rumors in Wall Street, say that they are determined to secure indictments if it is possible. Further than this they refuse to discuss the matter.

Gagged and Thrown Into the Water.

WATERLOO, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Reynold Seybold was sandbagged and robbed last evening. He was then bound, gagged, and thrown into the old White millrace. When he did not return home his wife became alarmed and a searching party set out. Seybold was found lying in about a foot of water. In some manner he had worked his hands round in front of his face, and his head was held above water. The physicians worked over him until late this morning, when he became conscious, but he was still in such a dazed condition that he could give no account of the hold-up. At noon Seybold had lapsed into unconsciousness, and it is thought he will die.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

WALL STREET DENOUNCED.

Mr. Sheehan, in Opposing Injunction Against Reward, Says Nests of Criminals Exist There.

Argument upon Warner E. Allen's application for an injunction restraining the officials of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company from offering, advertising, or paying a reward of $25,000 for the detection of the person who started the rumor which led up to the raid on the company's stock a few days ago, was heard by Justice Beekman in the Supreme Court yesterday.

Mr. Allen asks for the injunction on the ground that the Directors of the company exceeded their authority when they proposed the reward of $25,000.

William F. Sheehan, who appears as counsel for the company, alleges, however, that Mr. Allen's application is only for stock-jobbing purposes, and that Wall Street was aware that the application was to be made an hour before it was really brought into court.

It is further alleged that Mr. Allen only became possessed of the stock he holds in the company a few hours before the application was made.

Byron P. Stratton, counsel for Allen, in asking that the injunction be granted, denied that the suit was not brought in good faith. He further denied the assertion that Allen had become a stockholder in the corporation for the purpose of bringing this action, and said that Allen, on Dec. 16, became the owner by purchase of 100 shares of Brooklyn Rapid Transit stock; on Dec. 22, of 700 shares, and on Dec. 18, of 7 shares, which were placed in his name, which made him a stockholder of record. He may have kept these shares for the bringing of this action, counsel said. He continued:

"This stock is a non-dividend-paying stock, and therefore he need not have all the stock in his own name. There can be no question as to the bona fides of this action, and we ask that this company and its Board of Directors be restrained from issuing a reward of $25,000 for information of the persons who are alleged to have circulated rumors which depressed the stock in the market."

Mr. Stratton also said that the offer of the reward was illegal, and a waste of the funds of the company, and that the company should expend its money in endeavoring to pay a dividend to its stockholders instead of offering a reward for the detection of those who, it was claimed, started rumors which affected the price of its stock.

Ex-Lieut. Gov. William F. Sheehan, counsel for the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, opposed the issuance of the injunction. He said that the corporation was justified in offering the reward and in endeavoring to bring the persons who were guilty of a felony to justice.

MR. SHEEHAN'S DENUNCIATION.

"In Wall Street," Mr. Sheehan said, "there is a regular nest of criminals, for they are nothing else. They have entry into large brokers' firms, I am sorry to say, and they are constantly employed for the circulation of these false rumors.

"They have got there with us, and by and by they are going to come at some other corporations, and if the court decides that we cannot pay this reward it will bring joy and satisfaction to the heart of every criminal and bank robber in this land.

"If a corporation cannot protect itself against malefactors, if corporations cannot protect the market value of their securities, and incidentally protect the market value of their securities by preserving their credit, for the credit of a corporation necessarily depends on the value of its securities; if corporations are to be hampered to prevent or offer rewards to bring to justice men who seek to destroy the credit of these large corporations, they might as well go out of business."

Mr. Sheehan, in further opposing the motion, read the answer of the defendants, which denied all the material allegations of the plaintiff.

He said that for several months prior to Dec. 22, when the publication of these "false statements and rumors" had been made about Wall Street concerning the company, false rumors appeared in the public press and in the Wall Street journals. These rumors were spread broadcast through the country and represented that the corporation was insolvent, and was about to go into the hands of a receiver. Counsel presented affidavits from the Secretary of the Central Trust Company to show when the shares of the company had been transferred to the plaintiff, and alleged that it was very peculiar that he only transferred the 100 shares purchased by him on Dec. 16 last, as well as the seven shares bought by him two days afterward.

He read an affidavit by Col. Williams, the Secretary and Treasurer of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, as to the offer of the reward of the $25,000 for the detection of the persons who circulated the rumors in order, as alleged, to destroy the market value of the company's stock. The affidavit stated that the rumors were part of a concerted plan to depreciate the value of the stock. Ten days before the reward was advertised the stock had fallen from 75 to 61 on the Stock Exchange as the result.

WALL STREET INFORMED, HE SAID.

"In reply to Mr. Stratton's allegations that this action was brought in good faith, I desire to say," said Mr. Sheehan, "that before I came before your Honor yesterday Wall Street was flooded with information that this action had been commenced, and that the Court would be asked to grant the injunction preventing the payment of the reward."

Counsel then read extracts from different Wall Street journals published on Wednesday saying that the order to show cause had been obtained from Justice Gildersleeve, and that it had been secured by Storey & Stratton, the plaintiff's counsel.

Mr. Sheehan then continued:

"In addition to this a notice was served on Mr. Flower yesterday morning, and it was published in one of the Wall Street sheets. It came from Mr. Stratton."

"Not that I know of," said Mr. Stratton.

"Well, it came from your office," retorted Mr. Sheehan. "Yesterday became a record day, as far as our shares on the Stock Exchange were concerned. Seventy thousand shares were sold, and the result of these statements was that they fell from 70 to 68. Afterward they rallied.

"There are here honest reporters on reputable newspapers who were informed an hour before this application came up that there was an order to show cause why an injunction should not be granted. This shows how the value of our stock was to be destroyed.

"I do not know when these malicious attacks are going to end. I do know that certain gentlemen are very anxious to prevent the company from paying this reward. I do know that certain people are very anxious to have it go throughout the world that this company cannot pay this reward for any information which may lead to the conviction of these malefactors.

"I observed yesterday that these rumors and slanders were circulated, not only against this company, but other corporations were affected, some of the best financial corporations in this community. These rumors were started to strike terror into the hearts of the people who had money. They were started to induce persons to liquidate their holdings, and they succeeded."

Counsel referred to the territory operated by the defendant's lines in Brooklyn, and said that, not only for the purpose of preserving its own standing, but for the purpose of protecting other individuals and corporations, was the reward offered for the detection of the circulation of rumors which the law declared to be a crime and a felony.

"Who," Mr. Sheehan asked, "ever heard of a court of justice being asked to prevent the issuance of a reward for the detection of a felony? Who ever heard of an injunction to restrain the detection of a crime? The plaintiff never expected that this application would be granted, but these people did expect that it would have the effect on the Stock Exchange of depreciating the market value of our stock.

SAYS ALLEN DENIED IDENTITY.

"This man Allen turns out to be a member of the Consolidated Stock Exchange. He was visited last night, and immediately denied his identity, and said he was not the man who made this application; but, when he found that his visitor was merely an honest reporter, who had not a subpoena for him and who could do him no harm, he changed his mind and acknowledged he was the man."

Mr. Sheehan, having cited authorities on the question, called on Justice Beekman to deny the motion.

Mr. Stratton, in replying, said that no news given to any reporter on Wednesday emanated from his office, but might have come from somebody else. It was shown in any case that anything reported did not affect the market value of the stock, because it was higher at the close of the day than it had been at the time the rumor was circulated. He maintained that the reward would be legal if it were to detect persons who injured the defendant's railroad property, but that the company had no right to offer a reward because the value of its stocks was affected.

Justice Beekman then took the papers, reserving his decision.

Cut His Throat When Dared to Do So.

BLACKSTONE, Mass., Dec. 28.—Dared by his younger brother to show that he was not afraid to cut his throat, Patrick Murphy, twenty-four years of age, cut a deep gash in his throat to-day while in a state of intoxication. Prompt medical attendance prevented his immediate death, and there is a possibility that he may recover.

GRIGGS WILL INVESTIGATE

Attorney General Receives Evidence on Freight Rates.

TO ACT ON SHIPPERS' PROTEST

Inter-State Commerce Commission Says a Wrong Is About to be Committed by the Railways.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—To-day the Inter-State Commerce Commission, in compliance with the request of the freight shippers and representatives of the commercial interests, transmitted to Attorney General Griggs a transcript of the evidence taken at the hearing last week respecting the new classification of freight made by the official Classification Committee. The evidence and arguments are transmitted to the Attorney General, but without recommendation.

The letter of transmittal is long, the commission desiring to place the case fully before the Attorney General. After reviewing the proceedings which led up to the hearing, the letter, which is signed for the commission by Martin A. Knapp, as Chairman, reads:

"In the course of this hearing the commission took the testimony of C. E. Gill, member of the official Classification Committee; Nathan Guilford, Traffic Manager of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, and Frank Harriett, a member of the Official Classification Committee, who is also the General Freight Traffic Manager of the Erie Railroad.

"At the conclusion of the testimony given by these witnesses, an application was made in writing by many of the shippers present that such testimony be transmitted to the Attorney General of the United States, the claim being made by them that the evidence showed a violation of the act of Congress, commonly known as the Sherman anti-trust law. In compliance with this request, the commission herewith transmits to you a copy of the entire proceedings had at the hearing on the 21st and 22d insts. There is also sent with this a copy of the proposed new classification received from Mr. Gill, together with a copy of the official classification heretofore and now in use.

"While it is not the province of this commission to determine whether the testimony above referred to shows a violation of the anti-trust law, and no opinion is expressed upon that point, there are certain features of the case to which we deem it proper to call your attention. With some unimportant exceptions, the general facts appear to be that the class rates at present in force, and which will presumably be applied to the new classification, are now the same or higher than they were in 1887, when the act to regulate commerce was passed.

"Almost all the changes shown in the new classification are from lower to higher classes. The result will be, if the present class rates are continued, that charges on any article advanced to a higher class will be increased by the difference between the rates applied to the class in which the article was formerly placed and the higher rates of the class to which it has been advanced. This increase is considerable in all cases and very great in many cases, amounting in some instances to 100 per cent. or more.

"The protesting shippers assert that increases in rates, to the extent affected by these changes in classification, are without justification and will result in excessive charges upon most if not all of the articles in question. They also allege that hardship and injustice will further result from the changes which will be made in the relation of rates, and especially from the increases in the difference between carload and less than carload charges. If their contention in these respects is well founded, as to which we express no opinion, a wrong is about to be accomplished which the commission is powerless to prevent, and for which the act to regulate commerce affords no adequate redress."

Attorney General Griggs, who is ill to-day, has given no intimation as to what action, if any, he may take in the premises. Necessarily, he will have to review the testimony before he can reach an intelligent conclusion. In any event, it is said, it will be several days before the matter can be determined.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS.

BOSTON AND ALBANY LEASE.

The New York Central Stockholders Vote to Ratify the Agreement.

ALBANY, Dec. 28.—The New York Central stockholders at a meeting at noon to-day voted on $68,500,000 worth of stock unanimously in favor of ratification of the lease of the Boston and Albany Railroad.

Senator Depew cast the vote for the American stockholders, and George S. Bowdoin of J. P. Morgan & Co. for the English stockholders.

Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Railroad Company, held yesterday, the following were elected Directors of that company and ex officio Directors of the Utica and Black River Railroad Company and Oswego and Rome Railroad Company for the ensuing year: Charles Parsons, Clarence S. Day, William Lummis, George Parsons, Edwin Parsons, Walton Ferguson, Chauncey M. Depew, Samuel R. Callaway, and Jefferson Hogan of New York City, and J. F. Maynard, John M. Crouse, I. N. Maynard, and William Pierrepont White of Utica. At a subsequent meeting of the board the following officers of the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Railroad Company were elected: President—Charles Parsons; Vice President and Treasurer—Edwin Parsons; Vice President—Clarence S. Day; Secretary—J. A. Lawyer; Assistant Secretary—W. H. Platt.

Southern Railway Changes.

J. H. Barrett, General Superintendent of the Southern Railway Company, announced yesterday that C. L. Ewing had been appointed to succeed F. K Huger, after Jan. 1, as Superintendent of the Knoxville Division. Mr. Ewing's old place as Superintendent of the Anniston Division will be filled by C. S. Hayden. Mr. Hayden's position as Trainmaster at Birmingham, Ala., will fall to H. G. Farrar. After Jan. 1 H. E. Hutchens, now Superintendent of the Danville Division, will represent the company on matters pertaining to station and train service between Selma, N. C., and Pinners Point, Va. The line between Spartanburg Junction, S. C., and Biltmore, N. C., will be operated as a part of the Asheville Division.

Object to Bynum's Confirmation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The Post to-morrow will say: "In a few days charges will be filed before the Finance Committee of the Senate against the confirmation of ex-Representative William D. Bynum of Indiana as Democratic appointee for the New York Board of Appraisers. The minority of that committee is determined to resist the installment of Mr. Bynum in that position. Objection will be made on the ground that he is not a Democrat, but had openly affiliated with the Republican Party."

Trimble

"When you do drink, Drink Trimble."

Green Label.

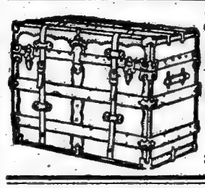
The Green Label Bottling is 10 years old.

At all First-Class Dealers.

WHITE, HENTZ & CO., Phila. and N. Y. Sole Proprietors.

Established 1793

Whiskey



"Greatest Trunk Corner in America."

HAMILTON'S

Where Trunks Are Made.

3 ST. & 6TH A.

STAHL & STRAUB'S FAILURE.

Creditors Will Not Realize More Than a Fraction of Sums Due—Warrant Issued for Stahl's Arrest.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—The committee appointed by creditors to investigate the accounts of Stahl & Straub, brokers, who failed Nov. 29, report that the total liabilities amount to $1,221,308, and assets $927,478, leaving a deficiency of $293,830.

These figures mean that creditors, the banks only excepted, can never hope to realize more than a fraction on the amounts due to them. The statement shows that there is $833,944 due to banks, and that the amount is secured to the loaners by stocks and bonds estimated at the value of $801,457. The result will be that every dollar of these securities, though there is a surplus of $27,513, will be wiped out in settling the accounts due to banks.

There is $387,364 due to depositors and customers, and $68,021 left to pay this amount, which makes the losses to be sustained by individual customers and depositors, $321,343.

John H. Straub, the junior member of the firm, is under bail on the charge of embezzlement. His partner, Stahl, is missing, and a warrant has been issued for his arrest. In an interview Mr. Straub said:

"One month ago I believed myself a wealthy man. I thought I was one of the partners in a remarkably successful and highly respected firm. To-day I am worse than a pauper. Instead of owning a fortune, I am in debt beyond any apparent possibility of ever getting out. My firm is worse than bankrupt, and my partner has fled. The curses of scores of people are being heaped upon my head."

Judge McPherson, in the United States District Court, to-day appointed Frank M. Crawford receiver for Stahl & Straub, fixing the security at $5,000. Counsel for the creditors asked for a restraining order to prevent the transfer of securities, and to have the firm adjudicated involuntary bankrupts.

Charles H. Vollum, the expert accountant in charge of the brokers' books, said at a meeting of the creditors to-day: "This is the cleanest case of looting I have met with in thirty years."

The heaviest creditor is Frank M. Crawford in the sum of $68,000.

DOG LOOKS FOR MINERS' BODIES.

Animal Assists the Workmen in the Wrecked Brasnell Mine.

BROWNSVILLE, Penn., Dec. 28.—No bodies were discovered at Brasnell Mine to-day, but the chances of adding a few more dead to the present number are so strong that the inquest will not be begun until next Wednesday. Five or six feet of débris remain to be removed from the bottom of the shaft, and it is expected that two or three bodies will be discovered.

To-day a small dog was taken down to assist the workmen. He has been in other wrecked mines in this district, and was of great service in finding bodies. He trots along until he catches a scent; then he stops and digs until his master arrives. It may be another day or two before all débris is turned over and removed.

MRS. J. C. WOODBURY FINED.

Adjudged Guilty of Contempt of Court in Her Case Against Mrs. Eddy.

BOSTON, Dec. 28.—Mrs. Josephine C. Woodbury was adjudged guilty of contempt of court by Judge Bralev in the Superior Court here this morning in connection with the case brought by her against Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, head of the Christian Science Church, for alleged criminal libel. Mrs. Woodbury was fined $50 by the Court. She paid the fine.

The alleged contempt consisted in making public through a Boston newspaper the substance of Mrs. Woodbury's declaration in the suit against Mrs. Eddy, and in causing to be published in a New York paper certain statements about the case, or in submitting to interviews wherein she made certain statements, knowing they would be published.

It also was charged that Frederick W. Peabody, counsel for Mrs. Woodbury, with her knowledge and consent, caused to be published certain comments upon the issues to be tried in the case.

Collector Shoots Woman and Children

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 28.—This afternoon Samuel Mills, a collector for an installment house, attempted to seize furniture in the house of Mary Venable for a small debt. The woman attempted to prevent the seizure, and in the struggle that ensued Mills shot the woman, her little son, and daughter, all seriously.

AN HONEST DRUGGIST

WILL ALWAYS GIVE YOU

Hunyadi János

If you Ask for the Best Natural Laxative Water.

Others will give you a cheap substitute on which they make a few cents more profit.

For Constipation or Stomach Disorders

Hunyadi Janos Has No Equal.

COLUMBIA STILL LEADS

Her Chess Games with Harvard Yesterday Were Draws.

YALE GAINS ON PRINCETON

The Colleges Keep Their Several Places in the Tournament—Scores of the Games.

The fourth round of the annual intercollegiate chess tournament between Columbia, Harvard, Yale, and Princeton at the Columbia Grammar School yesterday was a battle royal between the representatives of Columbia and Harvard, who are rivals, as they have always been, for the honors of supremacy. Interest, therefore, centred in the two games in which they were represented, and both of which were drawn.

Both Perry and Rice, the Cambridge men, had the advantage of the first move. Both, too, had a tendency toward the close form of development, Perry selecting a Queen's Gambit, which Sewall declined, and Rice the stonewall variation of the Queen's pawn game. These games were in a blocked state for a long time, Columbia's defense proving too sound for the Crimson to overcome. Finally Rice and Falk declared a truce. This left Perry and Sewall still struggling for an opening. At last Perry tired of his endeavors to break through and began a wholesale exchange of pieces, and there was nothing left in the position to fight for. Without more ado these players likewise agreed to a draw. Columbia continues, therefore, in the lead, pending the adjudication of the unfinished game between Rice (Harvard) and Hunt (Princeton) from the third round.

In the meantime Cook of Yale had disposed of Hunt, Princeton, after a long fight, the moves of which, however, were quickly made. Hunt played courageously enough, but his manoeuvres in the end proved unsound. The game between Herby, Princeton, and Morgan, Yale, was not particularly exciting, and both were content to draw after fifty-one moves. Yale and Princeton remain third and fourth, respectively.

The records up to date are as follows:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Columbia	3½	2½	Yale	3½	4½
Harvard	4½	2½	Princeton	1½	5½

The individual scores are:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Falk	2	2	Cook	2½	1½
Sewall	3½	½	Morgan	1	3
Perry	3	1	Henley	½	3½
Rice	1½	1½	Hunt	½	3½

The pairing for the fifth round, to be played today, reads as follows: Morgan (Yale) vs. Falk (Columbia;) Perry (Harvard) vs. Hunt (Princeton;) Cook (Yale) vs. Sewall (Columbia,) and Rice (Harvard) vs. Henley (Princeton.)

The scores of yesterday's games are:

FIRST TABLE—QUEEN'S PAWN OPENING.

RICE. Harvard. White.	FALK. Columbia. Black.	RICE. Harvard. White.	FALK. Columbia. Black.
1. P—Q4	P—Q4	20. P—KKt4	R—B2
2. P—K3	Kt—KB3	21. P—Kt5	P—B4
3. B—Q3	P—B4	22. Q—Kt3	B—B3
4. P—QB3	P—K3	23. K—Kt2	B—K5
5. Kt—K2	B—K2	24. Kt—Kt	Kt—Kt3
6. Kt—Q2	Castles	25. P—KR4	Kt—B
7. Castles	QKt—Q2	26. R—B2	Q—Q2
8. P—KB4	R—K	27. B—K2	R(Q)—B
9. Kt—B3	Kt—B	28. K—R	B—B2
10. Q—K	P—QKt3	29. P—R5	B—K
11. Kt—Kt3	Q—B2	30. R—R2	Q—Q
12. B—Q2	B—Kt2	31. Kt—B3	Kt—Q2
13. R—Q	KR—Q	32. K—Kt2	B—K2
14. B—B	QR—B	33. QR—KR	B—Q3
15. K—R	B—Q3	34. B—R6	R—Kt
16. Kt—K5	KKt—Q2	35. B—B	Kt—B
17. Kt—Kt2	P—B3	36. B—K2	Q—Q2
18. KtxKt	QxKt	37. P—R3	Q—Q
19. Q—R4	Q—KB2	38. K—B2	Drawn.

Two hours and twelve minutes.

SECOND TABLE—Queen's Gambit Declined.

PERRY. Harvard. White.	SEWALL. Columbia. Black.	PERRY. Harvard. White.	SEWALL. Columbia. Black.
1. P—Q4	P—Q4	26. R(Kt)—R	K—Kt
2. P—QB4	P—K3	27. Q—Kt4	K—Kt2
3. Kt—QB3	Kt—KB3	28. R(R2)—R2	K—Kt
4. B—Kt5	B—K2	29. P—R3	B—K3
5. P—K3	QKt—Q2	30. BxKt	KPxB
6. Kt—B3	Castles.	31. Q—R4	Q—K3
7. R—B	P—B3	32. PxP	BPxP
8. B—B4	R—K	33. Kt—K2	R—K2
9. B—Q3	Kt—B	34. B—Kt3	R—Kt2
10. P—R5	B—Q2	35. Q—R5	P—Kt3
11. Q—Kt3	Q—B	36. Kt—KB4	Q—K
12. P—KB3	Kt—R4	37. Kt(B4)—Q3	B—Q2
13. B—R2	B—Q	38. K—Q2	P—Kt4
14. Q—B2	Kt—B3	39. Q—R4	P—QR4
15. Kt—K5	B—B2	40. R—R	Q—K3
16. P—KKt4	P—KKt3	41. R(Q)—R	K—K
17. K—K2	K—Kt2	42. Q—R2	Q—B
18. QR—KKt	Kt—Kt	43. KtxB	RxKt
19. P—Kt5	Kt—K2	44. BxB	QxB
20. P—KR4	Kt—B4	45. QxQ	RxQ
21. B—KB4	Q—Q	46. P—QKt4	P—R5
22. K—K	B—B	47. Kt—K5	R—QB2
23. P—R5	Q—K2	Drawn.
24. R—R5	K—Kt	2 H. 42 M.
25. Q—K2	K—Kt2

THIRD TABLE—FOUR KNIGHTS' GAME.

HUNT. Princeton. White.	COOK, Yale. Black.	HUNT. Princeton. White.	COOK, Yale. Black.
1. P—K4	P—K4	33. K—Q2	R—K7ch
2. Kt—KB3	Kt—KB3	34. K—B	R—K6
3. Kt—QB3	Kt—QB3	35. K—Q2	R(K6)xKtP
4. B—B4	B—B4	36. RxR	RxR
5. P—Q3	P—Q3	37. R—R	K—Q2
6. Castles	B—KKt5	38. P—B4	P—R3
7. B—KKt5	BxKt	39. P—K	R—Q6ch
8. QxB	Kt—Q5	40. K—B	R—R6
9. Q—Q	Q—Q2	41. K—Q2	P—KB4
10. K—R	P—KR3	42. P—Kt3	P—B5
11. B—R4	P—KKt4	43. R—KKt	P—K6ch
12. B—KKt3	Castles.QR	44. K—K	P—B6
13. P—QR3	Kt—Kt5	45. K—B	P—R7ch
14. KBxP	KtxRP	46. RxP	PxRch
15. BxKt	QxB	47. KxP	P—Q5
16. P—QKt4	B—Kt3	48. P—B5	B—B2
17. P—R4	P—QR4	49. K—K2	K—K2
18. PxP	BxP	50. Kt—Kt	B—Kt3
19. Kt—Kt5	P—B3	51. K—Q2	R—R7ch
20. Q—Kt4ch	Q—K3	52. K—K	P—Q6
21. QxQch	KtxQ	53. Kt—B3	R—K7ch
22. KtxPch	RxKt	54. K—Q	R—R4
23. BxP	KR—Q	55. Kt—K	RxPch
24. BxR	RxB	56. K—B	P—Q7ch
25. R—R3	Kt—B4	57. K—Kt	PxKt(Q)
26. KR—QKt	R—Q5	58. RxR	QxP
27. KR—R	B—B2	59. K—R3	P—R4
		60. P—Kt4	QxPch
		61. K—R2	P—R5
		62. K—R	P—R6
		63. K—R2	Q—Kt7Mate
		2h. 43m.

FOURTH TABLE—FOUR KNIGHTS' GAME.

HENLEY. Princeton. White.	MORGAN. Yale. Black.	HENLEY. Princeton. White.	MORGAN. Yale. Black.
1. P—K4	P—K4	28. P—R5	B—K4
2. Kt—KB3	Kt—KB3	29. R—Q	Kt—KP
3. Kt—QB3	Kt—QB3	30. K—Kt	R—Q2
4. B—B4	B—B4	31. P—R6	PxP
5. P—Q3	P—Q3	32. RxP	K—Kt2
6. Castles	B—KKt5	33. R—R3	Kt—B6
7. B—KKt5	BxKt	34. R—K	R—Q4
8. QxB	Kt—Q5	35. RxB	RxR
9. Q—Q	Q—Q2	36. RxKt	R—K8ch
10. K—R	P—KR3	37. P—Kt5	P—K7
11. B—R4	P—KKt4	38. R—B5	R—K7
12. B—KKt3	Castles.QR	39. K—Kt3	P—R4
13. P—QR3	Kt—Kt5	40. RxRP	RxQBP
14. KBxP	KtxRP	41. R—R7ch	K—B
15. BxKt	QxB	42. R—Kt7	R—Q7
16. P—QKt4	B—Kt3	43. R—K3	K—Q2
17. P—R4	P—QR4	44. P—B4	PxP,e.p
18. PxP	BxP	45. PxP	R—QR7
19. Kt—Kt5	P—B3	46. P—B4	R—R6
20. Q—Kt4ch	Q—K3	47. P—B5	P—B4
21. QxQch	KtxQ	48. P—B6	R—R
22. KtxPch	RxKt	49. K—Kt4	K—Q3
23. BxP	KR—Q	50. P—B7	R—KB
24. BxR	RxB	51. K—B5	RxPch
25. R—R3	Kt—B4	Drawn.
26. KR—QKt	R—Q5	2 h. 20 m.
27. KR—R	B—B2

PENNSYLVANIA PLAYERS AHEAD.

Now Lead Cornell and Brown in Their Chess Tournament.

The students from Brown, Cornell, and Pennsylvania continued play in their tournament at the Manhattan Chess Club yesterday, the pairing being as follows: Karpinski (Cornell) versus Lester, (Brown;) Davis (Brown) versus Francis, (Pennsylvania,) and Riedel (Cornell) versus Griffith, (Pennsylvania.)

Karpinski beat Lester after a hard struggle lasting for sixty-three moves. Francis beat Davis easily after twenty-nine moves, and Griffith beat Riedel after twenty-three moves.

The record up to date is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Brown	0	4	Pennsylvania	3½	½
Cornell	2½	1½

The individual scores read:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Francis	1½	½	Riedel	1	1
Griffith	1	0	Davis	0	2
Karpinski	1½	½	Lester	0	2

The third round will be played to-day.

KENTUCKY HORSES SOLD.

Kriss Kringle and Five Young Hunters Bought by New Yorkers.

Special to The New York Times.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 28.—Kriss Kringle, the noted race horse, arrived here to-day from Milldale. Dr. R. L. Bird, his late owner, has sold him to J. W. Colt of New York, the owner of Ben Eder and other good race horses. The price is said to be $3,000. Kriss Kringle is four years old, and was sired by Springbok, dam Brune, by Iroquois. He sold at auction here in November for $2,700.

G. D. Wilson has shipped to E. D. Morgan of New York five head of three-year-old horses for hunting purposes, and to Theodore Schleissenger, Vienna, Austria, five head of trotting-bred mares for breeding purposes. These mares were bought by Schleissenger on his recent visit to this country.

Mrs. E. O. Pepper has shipped to Elkton, Md., ten head of thoroughbred yearlings, to be trained and raced on The Jockey Club tracks by W. M. Rogers. They are the get of imported Kantaka and out of the best mares at Meadowthorpe Farm.

Oakland Racing Results.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Oakland results:

FIRST RACE.—Three-quarters of a mile; maiden two-year-olds; purse. Billy Moore, 110 pounds, (E. Jones,) 8 to 1, won; Coming Event, 107, (Riley,) 100 to 1, second; Red Wald, 118, (Spencer,) 4 to 1, third. Time—1:16. Artilleryman, Tom Sharkey, Hipponax, Caesar Young, Beautiful Bill, Firelight, Spike, Calcum, Favorita, and Hattie Fox also ran.

SECOND RACE.—Futurity course; selling. Rosalabra, 112 pounds, (Conley,) 20 to 1, won; San Mateo, 113, (L. Turner,) 4 to 1, second; Jingle Jingle, 104, (Jenkins,) 6 to 1, third. Time—1:10½. Braw Lass, Homestake, Monrovia, Shellac, Sallie Goodwin, Panamint, Major Cook, Monda, St. Apollinaris, and Katie Gibbons also ran.

THIRD RACE.—Five-eighths of a mile; two-year-olds; selling. Southern Girl, 109 pounds, (Thorpe,) 2 to 5, won; Bambouilla, 108, (Jenkins,) 4 to 1, second; Gussie Fay, 105, (Vittatoe,) 7 to 1, third. Time—1:00. Gusto, Zizka, and The Scot also ran.

FOURTH RACE.—Mile and an eighth; selling. Potente, 97, (T. Walsh,) 4 to 1, won; Topmast, 110, (Spencer,) 3 to 1, second; Rosinante, 101, (Jenkins,) even, third. Time—1:52½. Morinel also ran.

FIFTH RACE.—One mile; purse. Lothian, 98 pounds, (T. Walsh,) 6 to 1, won; Rosormonde, 107, (Jenkins,) 7 to 10, second; Time Maker, 110, (T. Burns,) 8 to 5, third. Time—1:39¾. Poor Lands also ran.

SIXTH RACE.—Seven-eighths of a mile; free handicap. Yellow Tail, 105 pounds, (Ross,) 8 to 5, won; Marcato, 109, (Thorpe,) 3 to 1, second; Olinthus, 101, (Jenkins,) 5 to 1, third. Time—1:26. The Fretter, San Venado, Grand Sachem, and Ringmaster also ran.

IN THE BOWLING ALLEYS.

The Park National Bank team made the best showing in the Bank Clerks' League at Reid's Alleys last night, defeating the Chemical and the Chase National Bank teams. The Chemical team rolled the best score of the night in the second game, defeating the Hanovers by nearly 200 pins. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Park—Wiseman, 124; Schultz, 98; Block, 200; Davison, 202; Wylie, 159. Total, 783.
Chemical—G. Whitehead, 142; Wray, 141; E. Whitehead, 106; Hoyt, 137; Smith, 148. Total, 674.

SECOND GAME.

Chemical—G. Whitehead, 200; Wray, 130; E. Whitehead, 161; Hoyt, 170; Smith, 178. Total, 839.
Hanover—Wright, 129; Neumann, 123; Duncan, 116; Nelson, 113; Spence, 167. Total, 648.

THIRD GAME.

Park—Wiseman, 166; Schultz, 111; Block, 155; Davison, 164; Wylie, 163. Total, 749.
Hanover—Wright, 157; Neumann, 155; Duncan, 159; Nelson, 123; Spence, 140. Total, 734.

The Germania, Norwich Union, and American Companies competed in the Fire Insurance League at Reid's alleys last night, the former winning two games. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Germania—Palmedo, 200; Schmidt, 101; Michel, 127; Hahnel, 142; Barber, 175. Total, 745.
Norwich Union—Porter, 137; Gant, 123; Morris, 115; Smith, 152; Ohl, 119. Total, 646.

SECOND GAME.

Germania—Palmedo, 181; Schmidt, 123 Michel, 178; Hahnel, 161; Barber, 165. Total, 808.
American—Stuart, 151; Williams, 148; Bint, 152; Froggart, 155; Brown, 154. Total, 760.

THIRD GAME.

Norwich Union—Porter, 141; Gant, 143; Morris, 134; Smith, 165; Ohl, 178. Total, 761.
American—Stuart, 151; Williams, 153; Bint, 122; Froggart, 155; Brown, 157. Total, 738.

At the Germania alleys yesterday afternoon the Newburg Wheelmen were beaten by the Spartan team of New York in two games. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Spartan—Howell, 165; Cammann, 167; Keppler, 189; Schilling, 170; Lehrbach, 167. Total, 838.
Newburg Wheelmen—Sterling, 186; Blake, 150; Galloway, 137; Kohl, 176; Westburg, 160. Total, 809.

SECOND GAME.

Spartan—Howell, 169; Cammann, 212; Keppler, 147; Schilling, 180; Lehrbach, 219. Total, 907.
Newburg Wheelmen—Sterling, 172; Blake, 177; Drew, 142; Kohl, 173; Westburg, 181. Total, 845.

The interest in the series decided in the American National tournament last night centred in the game between the Spartans and Empires. The latter led until the fifth frame, when good strike bowling enabled the Spartans to secure the lead, which they retained to the end, winning by 60 pins. The Empires won the second game from the Glendales after a close contest. The Glendales were easily downed by the Spartans in the final game. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Spartan—Wingenfeld, 142; Matzen, 209; Westberg, 203; Coulon, 180; Maier, 156. Total, 890.
Empire—Linden, 172; Howell, 147; Williamson, 169; Diedrick, 188; Voorhees, 109. Total, 836.

SECOND GAME.

Empire—Howell, 170; Linden, 156; Williamson, 182; Diedrick, 130; Voorhees, 182. Total, 820.
Glendale—Schwager, 148; Schneider, 130; Grovelling, 193; R. Fuchs, 162; A. Fuchs, 168. Total, 801.

THIRD GAME.

Spartan—Wingenfeld, 145; Matzen, 179; Westberg, 177; Coulon, 176; Maier, 167. Total, 844.
Glendale—Schwager, 151; Schneider, 131; Grovelling, 194; R. Fuchs, 182; A. Fuchs, 141. Total, 799.

The Amphion, Carroll Park, and Pierce Wheelmen each won a game last evening in the tournament of the Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island at the Elephant Club Alleys. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Amphion Wheelmen—L. Kofler, 171; Bohl, 85; Viel, 143; Wandell, 160; G. Kofler, 131. Total, 690.
Carroll Park Wheelmen—Bee, 180; Keiser, 108; Egelhoff, 135; Nash, 144; Stillman, 139. Total, 715.

SECOND GAME.

Amphion Wheelmen—L. Kofler, 211; Bohl, 104; Viel, 127; Wandell, 144; G. Kofler, 126. Total, 712.
Pierce Wheelmen—Mullin, 108; Sack, 134; Ritten, 101; Clark, 144; Wilkinson, 99. Total, 586.

THIRD GAME.

Pierce Wheelmen—Mullin, 113; Sack, 123; Ritten, 125; Clark, 157; Wilkinson, 130. Total, 648.
Carroll Park Wheelmen—Bee, 158; Keiser, 132; Egelhoff, 107; Nash, 125; Stillman, 111. Total, 633.

The Homestead and Holschen teams furnished the best game decided thus far in the Arlington National League last night. The teams were almost on even terms throughout. The Homesteads did the best pinning in the final frame, and won by one pin. The scores of the three games decided follow:

FIRST GAME.

Homestead—Duncan, 128; Landry, 95; Leask, 108; Cotte, 173; Moore, 149. Total, 653.
Holschen—Luhrs, 113; Martin, 132; Sieber, 142; Jantzen, 133; Schnackenberg, 132. Total, 652.

SECOND GAME.

Edison—Fisher, 151; Wenzel, 162; Roth, 136; Holme, 149; Reese, 152. Total, 750.
Holschen—Luhrs, 127; Martin, 125; Sieber, 145; Jantzen, 86; Schnackenberg, 167. Total, 660.

THIRD GAME.

Edison—Fisher, 165; Wenzel, 158; Roth, 154; Holme, 149; Reese, 182. Total, 808.
Homestead—Duncan, 100; Landry, 125; Leask, 125; Cotte, 150; Moore, 158. Total, 718.

The Orientals showed up in good form in the Columbia League last night, defeating the Hamilton and Owl teams. The Orientals are still tied with the Corinthians for first place. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Oriental—Mitchell, 158; Lehnert, 175; Vogel, 201; Rothermel, 189; Gilhaus, 193. Total, 916.
Hamilton—Church, 148; Reynolds, 173; Hunt, 154; King, 144; Moynahan, 187. Total, 806.

SECOND GAME.

Owl—Kramer, 163; Sauer, 155; Meyer, 169; Bellmer, 132; Stern, 162. Total, 801.
Hamilton—Church, 155; Reynolds, 141; Hunt, 141, King, 132; Moynahan, 190. Total, 759.

THIRD GAME.

Oriental—Mitchell, 176; Lehnert, 144; Vogel, 169; Rothermel, 175; Gilhaus, 142. Total, 806.
Owl—Kramer, 132; Sauer, 171; Meyer, 139; Bellmer, 114; Stern, 134. Total, 692.

The Brevoort Council won two games last evening in the Brooklyn Royal Arcanum tournament at Trainor's alleys. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Ridgewood Council—Van Wyck, 169; Lister, 129; Brown, 123; Murphy, 68; Mayer, 158. Total, 645.
Oxford Council—Phillipson, 105; Conroy, 195; Zinsser, 131; Thompson, 112; Carman, 176. Total, 719.

SECOND GAME.

Ridgewood Council—Van Wyck, 156; Lister, 139; Brown, 112; Murphy, 140; Mayer, 141. Total, 691.
Brevoort Council—Whitbeck, 157; Walker, 126; Reynolds, 164; Dalton, 150; Meht, 167. Total, 764.

THIRD GAME.

Oxford Council—Phillipson, 126; Conroy, 95; Zinsser, 129; Thompson, 96; Carman, 173. Total, 619.
Brevoort Council—Whitbeck, 201; Walker, 158; Reynolds, 187; Dalton, 147; Meht, 169. Total, 812.

Tournament Games To-night.

American National—Orchard, Golden Rod, Doolittle.
Columbia League—Enterprise, Corinthian, Belvidere.
Royal Arcanum—New York No. 1, Empire City, Colonial.
Harlem League—Standard, Harlem Wheelmen, Central.
Arlington National—Straggler, Glendale, Linwood.
National League—America, Imperial, Lotus.
Athletic League—Knickerbocker Athletic Club at Columbia Club.
Brooklyn Royal Arcanum League—Long Island, Iolanthe, Philadelphos.
Brooklyn Royal Arcanum Sub-Tournament—Fern, De Long, Fraternity.

PRODUCE EXCHANGE TRUST.

Edwin Gould and Gen. Samuel Thomas Take Charge of the Company—John S. Williams's Offer.

Actual charge of the affairs of the Produce Exchange Trust Company was assumed yesterday by Edwin Gould and Gen. Samuel Thomas, the new President and Vice President, respectively, of the reorganized company. They were at the offices of the company all day examining the books and looking into everything appertaining to the administration of the company up to the time of its suspension.

It is said that ex-President T. A. Beall still retains a block of the company's stock, but there is reason to believe that if this be true he will be induced to dispose of his holdings to the new interests. Mr. Beall will play absolutely no part in the reorganized company.

There will probably be a meeting of the stockholders to-day, and the new Executive Committee may be named. It was said on good authority yesterday that some of the committeemen who resigned to facilitate the reorganization may be reappointed. Messrs. Gould and Thomas are credited with having received assurances that fully 95 per cent. of the old depositors will remain on the new company's books.

In view of the fact that no definite statement had been made by the management of the company, or by the Managing Committee as to what loss, if any, the stockholders of the company were likely to sustain, there was made public yesterday the following extract from a letter which was submitted to the Board of Trustees by John Skelton Williams, who is a member of the board and one of the largest stockholders of the company:

"I feel that it is our duty as Trustees to give to the creditors and stockholders of this company some more definite assurance as to the condition of affairs, and as one of the four largest stockholders of the Produce Exchange Trust Company, I beg leave to respectfully submit in behalf of myself and my associates the following proposition:

"We are prepared to furnish all the funds necessary to enable this company to pay every depositor in full by the 15th of January, 1900, and pay every stockholder of the company $100 per share (or say $2,500,000) by the 1st of February, 1900, provided the resignation of a majority of the Board of Trustees shall be placed at the disposal of myself and the other stockholders with whom I am in co-operation, and that the holders of a majority of the capital stock of this company shall accept these terms, the acceptance of this offer to be dependent upon the nomination by the interests which I represent of a new management, which shall be made up of New York men of experience and ability who shall possess the highest confidence of the banking interests of this city.

"It is also proper for me to add that, in my judgment, it is practicable, with the proper co-operation of the present Trustees of this company, to arrange an immediate resumption of business, without outside assistance, and that if its affairs are wisely managed its stockholders should receive nearly, if not quite, the amount of their original investments.

"In view, however, of the fact, as above stated, that no positive assurance has been given to them as to the condition of their investments, I have thought this offer would not be inopportune."

The proposition which was submitted at the same time by Messrs. Gould and Thomas, provided for the rehabilitation of the company under its present management, while Mr. Williams's proposition provided that the control of the company should go to himself and his associates. The action of the board in accepting the proposition of Messrs. Gould and Thomas was unanimous. Mr. Williams expressed himself as being now in full harmony with their plan. Mr. Williams arranged to make his offer without knowing that the satisfactory plan proposed by Messrs. Gould and Thomas would be submitted to the meeting. The Produce Exchange Trust Company will open its doors for business on Jan. 10, 1900.

PINGREE'S MEASURE KILLED.

Michigan Senate Defeats Constitutional Amendment Proposal.

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 28.—The Senate late this afternoon killed the Pingree joint resolution for the submission of a Constitutional amendment permitting the amending of the State tax laws. It had been passed by the House, but was defeated in the Senate by a vote of 16 to 13. The large number of votes against the proposition was a surprise.

Despite a resolution passed by the Senate fixing to-morrow for adjournment, it is improbable that this will be done, as the House will probably refuse to adjourn.

Gov. Pingree is to-night preparing a long message to send to the House to-morrow, asking for the passage of a joint resolution providing for submission to the people of a Constitutional amendment permitting the municipal ownership of street railways and other public utilities.

ERASTUS WIMAN'S ASSETS.

$6,658.70 Realized So Far to Pay Claims Aggregating $913,000.

Justice Gaynor, in Supreme Court, Special Term, Brooklyn, yesterday signed a decree authorizing David Bennett King, as assignee, to make a settlement with the assets in his possession with the creditors of Erastus Wiman. The decree states that the assignee has reduced the assigned estate to available funds and realized therefrom $8,380.70. From this $845.75 was deducted for expenses, $419.03 for the assignee's commission, and $357.22 for fees and other expenses, leaving $6,658.70. This is to be divided among sixty-three creditors, whose claims aggregate $913,000. R. G. Dun is the largest creditor, with a claim of $313,404.36.

This settlement will be only a partial one. A short time before his assignment, in 1893, Mr. Wiman transferred all his Staten Island property to Mr. King, as trustee, for the benefit of his creditors. The present settlement has nothing to do with these assets, which remain to be accounted for and disbursed later on.

National Tin Plate Company Meeting.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 28.—Stockholders of the National Tin Plate Company, chartered under the laws of West Virginia for the purpose of developing an improved tin-plate manufacturing process invented by William Rogers, met to-day and elected the following officers: President—J. C. McDowell; Secretary—G. S. Lewis; Treasurer—A. B. Dally; Directors—J. C. McDowell, N. E. Whitaker, W. H. Rogers, (son of the inventor,) and A. B. Dally. The plans of the company are not definitely settled, but a committee was appointed to inspect the several sites offered to the company for a plant. The capital stock will be increased from the present nominal amount to $5,000,000.

NEW CORPORATIONS.

J. & M. Haffen Brewing Company of New York City; capital, $200,000. Directors—John Haffen, Mathias Haffen, and John M. Haffen, New York City.

John Osborne Company of South Nyack, to deal in goods, wares, and merchandise of all kinds; capital, $100,000. Directors—John Osborne, Robert Osborne, and Edith H. Osborne, Nyack.

H. B. Kirk & Co. of New York City, wholesale and retail dealers in whisky; capital, $10,000. Directors—Paul M. Herzog and Samuel H. Crawford, New York City; George W. Mark and Edward B. Hawkins, Jersey City.

New Jersey Corporations.

TRENTON, Dec. 28.—The following companies were incorporated here to-day:

H. B. Kirk & Co. of New York, to conduct a wine and liquor business; capital, $200,000. Incorporators—Paul M. Herzog, S. H. Crawford, G. W. Mark, E. B. Hawkins.

Champion Iron and Separating Company, to mine and manufacture iron; capital, $1,000,000. Incorporators—Joseph A. Baker, F. H. Lamb, George H. V. Martin, all of Camden.

Tredysfin Water Company, to sell mineral water; capital, $250,000. Incorporators—M. F. Dallett, William E. Maxfield, George H. Kinsler, Eugene Lammot, William F. Eldell, all of Camden.

Farmer Killed by His Father-in-Law.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Dec. 28.—A. J. Bayless, a farmer near McKinley, was shot and killed to-day by Charles Thomas, aged fifty years. Bayless, who was about sixty-five years old, married Thomas's twelve-year-old daughter last Summer, against the father's wishes. Family quarrels have been frequent since. Thomas escaped to Guthrie, where he was arrested.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

New York City.

FLORENCE PUBLISHING COMPANY.—The Sheriff has received an execution against the Florence Publishing Company, 15 to 21 Park Row, for $3,302, from Ludvigh & Rytenberg, in favor of the Martin B. Brown Company for printing. The company was incorporated in January last with a capital stock of $50,000.

Out of Town.

E. C. HODGES & Co.—Deputy Sheriff Murray has received two attachments against E. C. Hodges & Co., stock brokers of Boston, one for $33,436, in favor of McIntyre & Wardwell of this city for balance due on stock transactions from Nov. 30 to Dec. 28, and the other for $4,312 in favor of Otis, Wilcox & Co. of Chicago, also on a claim for a stock transaction. The attachments were served on Post & Flagg, stock brokers.

PETITIONS IN BANKRUPTCY.

MORRIS PISMENITZER.—Morris Pismenitzer, upholsterer at 573 Second Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $499 and no assets.

JOHN H. ERLING, JR.—John H. Erling, Jr., physician, of 255 Edgecombe Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $1,889 and no assets.

LOUIS GOLDBERG.—Louis Goldberg, clothing cutter, of 1,719 Lexington Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $4,581 and no assets.

MAX MUSCHEL.—Max Muschel, manufacturer, at 24 Attorney Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $16,132 and no assets. He was formerly a cloak manufacturer.

ISIDOR MARTY.—Isidor Marty, cook, of 49 West Twenty-fourth Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $510 and no assets. He formerly had restaurants at various places.

JACOB W. SEGALL.—Jacob W. Segall, store manager, at 280 Bleecker Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $2,000 and no assets. The debts were contracted in Brooklyn, where he was a dealer in furnishing goods.

EDWIN HOTZ.—Edwin Hotz of 1,000 Tinton Avenue, Bronx, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $13,493, of which $7,613 is to George Ehret, and assets of $17 in bank. He has been in the saloon business for the last twenty years.

FRANK PULVER.—Frank Pulver, salesman, residing at 2,249 Seventh Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $19,493 and no assets. The debts were contracted in 1890, when he was in the tobacco business at 158 Water Street.

DAVID DAVIDSON.—David Davidson, salesman, residing at 1,024 Cauldwell Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $10,059 and no assets. All the debts were contracted in 1887 by Davidson Brothers of Birmingham, Ala.

COHEN & SMITH.—At a meeting of the creditors of Cohen & Smith, skirt manufacturers, at 73 West Houston Street, held yesterday before Referee in Bankruptcy Peter B. Olney at 31 Nassau Street, Leo Frank was chosen trustee. The liabilities are $52,000.

W. SCOTT GILLESPIE.—W. Scott Gillespie, manager of a grocery store at Kingston, has filed a petition in bankruptcy here, with liabilities of $14,487 and no assets. He was formerly of De Witt & Gillespie of Kingston, who made an assignment on Dec. 3, 1894, and whose assets realized $8,858.

CHARLES S. KENDALL.—Charles S. Kendall, residing at 886 Lexington Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $385,875, of which $204,000 are secured by fourteen bonds and mortgages, $181,225 unsecured, and $650 accommodation paper. The liabilities were contracted from 1892 to 1899. He was formerly a manufacturer of sash, doors, and blinds. The largest creditors are Lee, Holland & Co. of Buffalo, $100,000, for merchandise, and Franklin Lee of Buffalo, $42,506, for money advanced. He has no assets.

RUSSEL DART, JR.—Russel Dart, Jr., clerk, residing at 124 West Ninety-third Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $830,033 and no assets. He was formerly a partner in the firm of Clarke, Radcliff & Co., hosiery commission merchants at 84 West Broadway, who made an assignment on April 25, 1888, to Frederic B. Bard. The assignment was set aside on May 29, 1888, and Mr. Bard was appointed receiver. Subsequently all the property of the firm which came into the hands of the receiver was turned over to the First National Bank of Jersey City in part payment of judgments recovered. The bank appears in the schedules as a creditor for $85,900.

Decision in Bankruptcy.

In the Lewensohn bankruptcy matter, the referee recently, on complaint of the bankrupt, removed Francis M. Bacon, Jr., appointed as trustee by the creditors, and appointed Peter Alexander in his place. The question as to whether or not under the law the referee had power to make the change was argued before Judge Brown in the United States District Court. In deciding it yesterday the Court held that the choice of the trustee by creditors could not be overthrown by the referee except for cause, and that the referee could not appoint a trustee in any case where there had been an election by the creditors. He could, however, appoint a trustee when the creditors failed to make a choice. As to the objections raised by the bankrupt against Bacon, Judge Brown held that they were entirely insufficient, and the choice of the creditors should not be interfered with on slight grounds.

FRANK J. FERRELL BANKRUPT.

Colored Politician Files a Petition—Liable on Bail Bonds.

Frank J. Ferrell, gas and steam fitter and contractor, at 148 West Twenty-seventh Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $150,479 and nominal assets of $52,078, consisting of real estate, $50,000; debts due, $1,953, and stock and fixtures, $120. Of the liabilities, $112,679 are unsecured, principally for materials, money loaned, and labor; $34,600 secured by mortgages on real estate; $2,700 for wages, and $500 for taxes.

Ferrell is a well-known colored politician, and was formerly chief engineer of the Post Office. After leaving that position Ferrell, in 1892, organized the Ferrell Manufacturing Company, which he carried on for a few years. He has 130 creditors, among whom are the following for borrowed money: Frank Ferrell, Sr., $9,000; Peter G. Ferrell, $6,800; Hattie Ferrell, $2,600; Ferrell Manufacturing Company, $37,000, and T. M. Nelson, $22,000. There are five judgments against Ferrell, aggregating $1,500, on bail bonds, and he is also liable on five other bail bonds to the amount of $2,000, in this city. His real estate consists of 148 West Twenty-seventh Street, valued at $24,000, and mortgaged for $18,600, and 225 West Twenty-ninth Street, valued at $26,000, and mortgaged for $16,000.

Judgments.

The following judgments were filed yesterday, the first name being that of the debtor:

ABSORBENT FIBRE COMPANY—City of New York	$50
AMABILES, Felix, and Henry S. Bergman —P. Fraser, cost	97
BIRNEY, Edward N.—T. H. Worrell	82
BRENAN, John, and Erastus H. Barnes—Merchants' National Bank of Plattsburg	3,997
BRENNAN, Patrick J.—J. Reid	252
BEITLER, Jesse J.—William H. Parsons & Co

The New York Times.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, DEC. 29, 1899.

OFFICES:

NEW YORK:
Publication Office.....41 Park Row
All American District Telegraph Offices.
WASHINGTON.....515 Fourteenth St.
LONDON: Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Sq., W.C.
SWITZERLAND, Geneva: P. Drehmann, Librairie Nouvelle, Rue du Mont Blanc.
GERMANY, Mainz: Saarbach's News Agency, Agency for Germany and Austria.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY, per Month	$0.50
DAILY, per Year	6.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Year	7.50
SUNDAY, per Year	1.50
SATURDAY, with Review of Books and Art, per Year	1.00
MONDAY, with Financial Supplement, per Year	1.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Month	0.65

For postage to foreign countries add 80 cents per month.

TWELVE PAGES.

WHAT WILL THE SENATE DO?

It is generally assumed that the Senate Finance bill does not differ materially from the bill passed by the House, except in its provision for funding. This is a mistake. A careful comparison of the two bills snows that they vary not only in some considerable details, but in the treatment of the radical purpose of both, the firm establishment of the gold standard. In this the House bill is much the better.

Both bills declare "the standard unit of value" in substantially the same terms to be "the dollar," consisting of "twenty-five and eight-tenths grains of gold nine-tenths fine." But the statement of the effect and authority of the standard thus declared is much stronger in the House bill than in the Senate bill. The former says: "That all interest-bearing obligations of the United States for the payment of money, now existing or hereafter to be entered into, and all United States notes and Treasury notes issued under the law of July 14, 1890, shall be deemed and held to be payable in the gold coin of the United States as defined in Section 1 of this act; and all other obligations, public and private, for the payment of money shall be performed in conformity with the standard established in said section."

The Senate bill, on the other hand, after declaring the standard, simply adds: "All forms of money issued or coined by the United States shall be maintained at a parity of value with this standard, and United States notes and Treasury notes issued under the act of July 14, 1890, when presented to the Treasury for redemption, shall be redeemed in gold coin of such standard." It will be seen that the House bill includes the interest-bearing obligations of the United States and all others, present or future, and that it declares the gold standard for all private as well as public obligations. Obviously, the policy of the House is far more clear, comprehensive, and conclusive.

The means provided for the constant maintenance of the standard is substantially the same in both bills, but what difference there is is in favor of the House bill. This creates a distinct bureau of issue and redemption, to have charge of all matters connected with the issue, redemption, and exchange of money. It requires a gold reserve equal to 25 per cent. of all the outstanding United States notes and Treasury notes issued under the act of 1890, and authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury "to issue and sell, whenever in his judgment it is necessary to the maintenance of said reserve fund," 3 per cent. gold bonds, payable in twenty years, and redeemable at the option of the United States after one year. The Senate bill requires a gold reserve of $150,000,000, and gives the Secretary authority to sell bonds to maintain the reserve whenever it shall fall below $100,000,000. But the House bill contains this additional clause: "The Secretary is authorized and required to use said reserve fund in maintaining at all times the parity and equal value of every dollar issued or coined by the Government; and if at any time the Secretary of the Treasury deems it necessary in order to maintain the parity and equal value of all the money of the United States he may at his discretion exchange gold coin for any other money issued or coined by the United States."

We have pointed out the chief differences between the two bills. They are not fundamental, but they are important. What will be the course of the Senate regarding them? We omit all reference at present to the differences regarding the National banks, and the refunding plan of the Senate, which we regard as of no consequence compared with the essential purpose of the bills, the perfectly clear establishment of the gold standard, and the maintenance of it at all times and beyond all question. We think that as to this the House bill is distinctly the better. It has been passed by the unanimous vote of all the Republicans in that body, and must be accepted as the most completely attested policy of the party. It has also received the votes of a number of the conservative Democrats, and this fact adds to its authority as an expression of the opinion of the great majority of the people. In these circumstances surely it is the duty as well as the right of the House to insist on its acceptance by the Senate, and it is the clear duty of the Senate to respect the will of the people thus plainly declared.

QUESTIONS OF CONTRABAND.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I think your editorial of this morning, entitled "Delagoa Bay and Contraband of War," is based upon a misapprehension. The first ten articles in Jay's treaty were permanent; the rest, including that which regulates the treatment of provisions, expired by their own limitation in 1806.

Thus we have no treaty list of contraband articles to-day which Great Britain is bound to regard.

Of course, it does not follow that her search officers can call anything contraband which suits their book. Contraband articles must (1) relate directly to the carrying on of war; (2) they must have a hostile destination. The American flour loaded on a German ship, you will notice, complies with neither requirement. It is true that under exceptional circumstances provisions may be "occasionally" contraband. It is also true that if contraband were sent to Delagoa Bay, with the ultimate destination of the Transvaal clinging to it through any form of sale, the doctrine of continuous voyages might be applied by a prize court. But to apply both doctrines, of occasional contraband and continuous voyages, to a single cargo is simple absurdity.

The control of the British Government over the other two ships detained, which you say were English, and which had a partial cargo of American flour, is another matter, upon which one must reserve opinion until the facts are made clearer. But in no case can either our own Government or the British Government afford to have flour bound to a neutral port held contraband.

THEODORE S. WOOLSEY.

Dec. 27, 1899.

Prof. WOOLSEY is right. We had overlooked the fact that the last article of the treaty contained the agreement that "the first ten articles of this treaty shall be permanent, and that the subsequent articles, except the twelfth, shall be limited in their duration to twelve years, to be computed from the day when the ratifications of this treaty shall be exchanged." The agreement in respect to contraband was contained in the eighteenth article; and that article ceased to be of binding force, not in 1806, but in 1807, twelve years after ratifications were exchanged, in London, Oct. 28, 1795.

We cannot agree with Prof. WOOLSEY, however, in the statement that it is "simple absurdity" to apply the doctrine of occasional contraband and the doctrine of continuous voyage to the same cargo. It seems to us that the two doctrines may often be complementary one to the other and logically inseparable parts of the justification of an act of seizure.

The doctrine of occasional contraband treats a large number of articles of merchandise "as contraband under some circumstances and non-contraband under others." Evidence that tends to create a presumption that they will be used to aid the enemy in making war tells against them. If it be clearly established that they are for peaceful consumption, that is a very strong point in their favor and would be likely to secure their immunity from seizure. Food articles, such as flour, of which the cargo seized at Delagoa Bay consisted, are naturally covered by the doctrine of occasional contraband, as their consignment to points in the enemy's country would create the presumption that they were intended for the use of his armed forces. LAWRENCE says: "Great Britain contends that they may lawfully suffer capture and condemnation when surrounding circumstances make it reasonably clear that they will be used for purposes of warfare. The immediate destination of the goods is held to be the best, though not the only, test of their final use. In the case of the Yonge Margharetha, Lord STOWELL condemned a cargo of cheeses bound for Brest, a port of naval equipment, the cheeses being such as were used in the French Navy. Should the voyage be intended to terminate at the enemy's fleets or a place where his army is encamped, there can be no doubt that condemnation would follow capture." It appears, therefore, that the question of destination is not alien to the doctrine of occasional contraband.

The doctrine of continuous voyage involves the question of destination—that is, of ultimate destination. The American flour shipped to the neutral port of Delagoa Bay, which belongs to Portugal, would never have been seized by Great Britain had she not believed its real destination to be, not Lorenzo Marques, but the Transvaal Republic. The port of Lorenzo Marques is only 50 miles from the frontier of the Boer republic, and 290 miles from Pretoria, with which it is connected by rail. This is the only route to the country of the Boers that is not under British control. It is natural that Great Britain should watch it closely. It is a fact of some interest and pertinent to the present discussion that the agents of the company which shipped the flour have admitted that all three cargoes were, in fact, consigned to merchants in Johannesburg.

It is obvious that if the officers of British cruisers were instructed to regard provisions as occasional contraband the question of the ultimate destination of this flour was all-important. If they had satisfied themselves that it was intended for consumption in the households of Lorenzo Marques, there can be no doubt that they would have permitted it to be discharged as an innocent cargo. But what if it seemed reasonably certain that it was intended for the enemy's country? Then, under the instructions that provisions are upon the occasion of this war to be treated as contraband, it was plainly their duty to seize it. Their Government would be answerable if they made a mistake. The flour was occasional contraband by its nature. It was actual contraband and must be seized if its real destination was determined with reasonable certainty to be the enemy's country. How is it possible to separate the two questions?

On the other hand, suppose that Pretoria or Johannesburg had been the admitted destination of the cargo, although it was to be landed at the neutral port of Lorenzo Marques. That admission would make the doctrine of continuous voyage at once applicable. The next point would be to ascertain the nature of the cargo. Was it contraband, occasional contraband, or absolutely non-contraband? The British would at once have seized a cargo of arms. They did seize a cargo of flour. They would not have seized a cargo of Bibles and ladies' bonnets. There can be no question that the two doctrines of occasional contraband and of continuous voyage were applied in this case, and that they must be applied in every similar case. So far from being simply absurd to apply them to the same case it is necessary and inevitable.

THE BOERS AND DELAGOA BAY.

By all means the silliest of the rumors which have gained more or less currency about the war in South Africa is that which was yesterday published in New York. Probably it was not published in London, for its silliness would there have been at once apparent. It was a rumor that the South African Republic was preparing to seize Delagoa Bay, or to acquire it for its own uses.

Doubtless Delagoa Bay is the natural port of the Transvaal. Doubtless, also, Portugal would part with it to the South African Republic on easier terms than to Great Britain. The national pride which has prevented Portugal from parting with it thus far would be much less susceptible to an offer from a little power like the Transvaal than from a big power like Great Britain or Germany. In fact, it is the assumption that would be involved in a transfer to a big power that it would make more or better use of a Portuguese possession than Portugal would make that would make the sting of the transaction. As a matter of fact, the South African Republic is more of a power than Portugal in every respect. But that does not sentimentally matter, so long as Portugal does not think so. No Portuguese supposes the Boer republic to be in the same class with his country. And yet there must be Portuguese who are aware that Portugal cannot go on forever playing the dog in the manger with her possessions, and keeping people out of them who could make better use of them. If the Boers were at peace and likely to remain so, they would want Delagoa Bay, and they might get it.

But they are not such fools as to want it now. Because they know what everybody else knows, excepting evidently the rumor-mongers, and that is that it would be of less than no use to them if they owned it. It is simply because it is owned by a neutral power that it gives the British any trouble, and does the Transvaal any good. If it were nominally a Boer possession, the British would weeks ago have proclaimed and made effective a blockade through which no cargo of anything destined for the Transvaal could have penetrated. There would then have been no necessity for Great Britain to invoke the doctrine of "continuous voyage," or the doctrine of "occasional contraband." She could and would simply have corked the harbor against all comers. To suppose that the Boers now want to acquire the harbor is to suppose that they are foolish persons, who desire a barren title of which they can make no use. It is not to them that this description applies in the case of Delagoa Bay.

THE SAFETY OF NATIONAL BANK NOTES.

Prejudice dies hard, and hardest of all when it is inspired by envy and covetousness and based on ignorance. During the late debate in the House of Representatives on the Currency bill several members of the opposition denounced the National banks for their possession of a monopoly of note issues, and declared that these notes were a source of great profit to the banks and of real peril to the note holders.

The first statement is grossly erroneous, the second is palpably false. That there is not much profit in issuing notes at present is shown by the fact that the issues do not increase. That every note issued by a National bank is absolutely safe, as safe as the notes of the United States or the bonds of the United States, and even a little surer to be instantly redeemed, is a matter of law, and every Congressman ought to know it.

In the first place, the notes are secured by the deposit of United States bonds with the Treasury to the amount of $100 bonds at par for $90 of notes, and these bonds at present are worth from $110 to $113. In the second place, the moment a bank fails to redeem its notes on presentation, and the fact is made known in due form to the Controller of the Currency, he proceeds to declare the bonds deposited for the security of the notes forfeit. "Thereupon," in the language of the law, "he shall immediately give notice to the holders of the notes of such association to present them for payment at the Treasury of the United States and the same shall be paid as presented in lawful money of the United States." For the reimbursement of the United States for such redemption the United States is given "a first and paramount lien on all the assets of such association," and this lien covers not only the property of the bank, but the personal liability of all the shareholders for an amount equal to the par value of their shares.

In brief, if the bank does not redeem its notes on demand, the Treasury will, and to enable it to do so, it has security worth more than the face of the notes and a first lien on all assets, including the property of shareholders up to the par of the capital of the bank. For security there is nothing better in the country, and cannot be.

MOSS AND MAZET.

The discreet indiscretion of Mr. Moss in a premature publication of what the Mazet committee had found out is likely to have some very amusing consequences. The apprehension and alarm with which the procedures of the counsel have been viewed by the committee and the committee's boss are readily explicable. We have already expressed our opinion that Mr. Moss's report does not do its author unmixed credit. It is not, however, the discreditable parts of it, but the creditable parts, which Mr. PLATT, and consequently Mr. MAZET, views with apprehension and alarm. It was creditable for Mr. Moss to recognize and proclaim how very bad and shameful was the rule of CROKER. What was not creditable was his acquiescence and co-operation in the suppression of evidence to show that the rule of PLATT was just as bad and just as shameful, and that, indeed, some of the worst of the mischief he charged upon CROKER was mischief that involved the complicity of PLATT. To put DALTON and HOLAHAN forward as the sole culprits in the Ramapo job, for one instance, was far from an honest dealing with the matter.

But that is not what troubles Mr. PLATT, and therefore Mr. MAZET. What troubles them is that, having prepared evidence as a basis for a threat to tinker the charter so as to diminish the power of the other boss, their counsel has gone and blurted it out. The evidence was a trustworthy foundation for a "deal." In a business conference with Mr. CROKER Mr. PLATT would have had no trouble in showing how inconvenient to Mr. CROKER would be the shearing of his powers by alterations of the charter. From this showing would have been a short step to a demand that, if Mr. PLATT refrained from using his power over his Legislature to the detriment of Mr. CROKER, he should receive what the diplomatists call "compensations elsewhere." But evidently he could not urge this argument with much force after his counsel had given to the public his whole case against Tammany. Mr. Moss, in fact, openly assaulted Tammany with the very weapon the usefulness of which to Mr. PLATT depended upon his keeping it up his sleeve. Hence these tears.

Now that Mr. Moss has made the real report of the committee, it will be amusing to see what sort of report Mr. MAZET will make. The logical result of the interviews in which Mr. PLATT has been giving vent to his disgust would be a report that Mr. Moss's statement of the case against Tammany was, like the report of Mark Twain's death, "grossly exaggerated," that Mr. CROKER was by no means so black as Mr. Moss had painted him, that, in fact, the committee had not found out much that was amiss in the Tammany government, and that it had really been engaged in a waste of its own time and the public money. Of course this logical conclusion will not be reached. But nevertheless Mr. MAZET's predicament is not enviable. Mr. Moss has made the real report which it had been intended to hold over the Tammany boss in order to induce him to accede to the demands of the Republican boss. The consideration for such an agreement on Mr. CROKER's part has failed, now that the indiscreet counsel has done the committee's worst. Lovers of cruel sports will watch with interest the efforts of Mr. MAZET to extricate himself from his distressing situation.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

—As remarkable as any of the many remarkable pronouncements that have come from our Police Courts is one made this week by the eminent Magistrate POOL. Having noticed that all of some twenty unfortunates arraigned before him had been bailed out of the station house the night before by the same bondsman, and he a professional liberator with a name unpleasantly familiar to students of the city's seamy side, the Magistrate uttered the following solemn declaration: "Hereafter I shall deal heavily with all women who furnish a station house bond for which they have paid. I will be lenient with those who have not furnished bonds." In other words, Mr. POOL intends to penalize the exercise of a constitutional right, and incidentally to express his disapproval of the fact that Police Captains and Sergeants do not exercise a discretion not allowed to them by law. The Magistrate is evidently a man of great courage, but it is hardly certain that he has taken the best possible way to reform abuses the existence of which he is not alone among good citizens in recognizing. Perhaps he would best perform his duty by enforcing the law as it is for the present, meanwhile contenting himself with suggesting in the proper quarters any improvements in it that may occur to him. He apparently has personal knowledge of abuses which it is his duty, no less as a good citizen than as an official, to make public, for he is quoted as saying: "The professional bondsmen and others see to it that as many of these women are arrested as possible." There is in this a thinly veiled and very grave accusation against the New York police, and it would be highly disrespectful to the Magistrate not to assume that he bases it on something else than mere rumor and deduction. Definite results in the way either of conviction or acquittal can be expected only from definite charges against designated individuals.

—According to reports from Havana, much indignant excitement of an utterly wrong sort has followed the discovery that the Cuban officials in the Custom House have been copying with lamentable fidelity the corrupt practices with which the centuries of Spanish rule had made them familiar. So far as has yet appeared, the Appraisers arrested for conspiring with merchants as dishonest as themselves to continue the régime of bribery and peculation are objects, not of universal abhorrence and contempt, as they certainly deserve to be, but of general and demonstrative sympathy. Yet these men, against whom Col. BLISS, the American at the head of the Cuban customs service, has collected evidence which he says leaves no possible doubt of their guilt, have committed acts vastly worse, in the circumstances, than ordinary burglary, for, so far as they go, and so far as they do not receive the denunciation of the men claiming to be Cuban patriots, these acts lend support to the old charge of Cuba's critics that the only objection of the native population to the methods of Spanish rule was the fact that despotic injustice was exercised on and not by themselves, and that they were not allowed to take as well as give bribes. We are told that there is little or no popular realization of the situation thus created. On the contrary, there are fierce and frequent demonstrations of resentment and hostility against the faithful officials who revealed the existence of the miserable conspiracy, and Cubans of social and commercial eminence have not hesitated to condemn the arrests as a brutal and unnecessary exercise of power by alien tyrants. This is terribly discouraging to those of us who have tried to see in the long and determined fight for independence made by the Cubans a proof of their ability, or, in other words, their right, to govern themselves.

—As this is a time when stories about remarkable cures are received with a credulity which the general skepticism of the age renders the more mysterious, it is not particularly surprising that not a few newspapers here and elsewhere are devoting a good deal of their more or less valuable space to exploiting a weird yarn recently set afloat in Philadelphia. It runs something to this effect: A young woman suffering from the form of insanity known as melancholia was sent to an asylum, where she received the care and treatment considered best for such cases by educated and experienced alienists. At the end of two months she was visited by a friend, described as a young medical student, and as this wise person was not satisfied with the rate at which the young woman was recovering her mental equilibrium, he persuaded her parents to take her home and try the effect upon her of starvation, a therapeutic system at once simple and inexpensive, which he had heard—or dreamed—often produced good results in cases like that of his interesting and amiable friend. For forty-five days, unless somebody is voluntarily or involuntarily mistaken, the patient ate no food of any kind and at the end of that period she was completely recovered! As embroidery for the tale, it is gravely stated that the young woman took long walks daily while the "hunger cure" was in progress, and that at its close she weighed only ten pounds less than when the joys and utilities of the table were forsworn. The essential parts of this narrative are manifestly—well, call them improbable. The rest of it proves nothing one way or another, being either irrelevant or immaterial. The physician who first treated the young woman has deemed it worth while to announce in print that while under his care she received diverse and energetic ministrations, and, as usual, the maximum effects appeared later. As for the fasting, he contents himself with the gentle remark that "Miss K.'s statements regarding the discontinuance of food for so long a period were by no means convincing, and her physical condition did not bear them out." Yet it is by no means impossible that the case, or, rather, the story, will be the foundation of a new school or religion of universal healing.

—After their recent investigation of the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy, our naval authorities expressed dissatisfaction with the results attained and decided to wait a while before securing any instruments at all for this sort of communication. Their position as stated was in effect that MARCONI had not yet developed his invention to the highest possible degree, and that, as American inventors were working on the same problem, a little delay might enable the Government to get something better than was now offered to it. There is, of course, obvious wisdom in this sort of reasoning, but balance against it the news since received from South Africa, which is that Marconi instruments in the hands of British officers have proved of great utility, sending easily intelligible messages as far as seventy miles. Recall, in connection with this, our experience of a year ago in the matter of smokeless powder. The wise men at Washington had tried dozens of kinds, and, having found real faults in every one, deemed it judicious to reject them all. A war came before that something better did, and the consequence was that the admittedly imperfect powder used by our enemy was vastly superior to the old-fashioned powder supplied to our own soldiers. That lesson was heeded, in a way, for the cautious waiting for perfection has been abandoned—as regards powder. That the lesson was not thoroughly learned, however, is shown plainly enough by the failure to secure for both army and navy the best available, though imperfect, system of wireless telegraphy—action which would in no degree have prevented the electricians of this and other countries from continuing to exercise their ingenuity, and which would not have precluded the subsequent adoption by the Government of some better system. As it is, another sudden emergency would again find us less well equipped than our antagonists.

SHORT AFTER-DINNER SPEECHES.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I see frequent communications in your paper on the "Boer" and "Boers." That there will continue to be a diversity of opinion on the "Boer" question I don't doubt, but there is a kind of "Bore" that there can be no doubt about. I have in my mind the gentlemen who are invited to respond to toasts at the New England dinners.

Some of them, in their desire for ventilation, become "Bores on Toast," thrashing old straw until it becomes so dusty that their would-be interested audience, tired and weary, get up and get, or what is the same thing, move on. They seem to have no idea of the hereafter, that is to say, of the speakers to come after, and who are left to talk to empty chairs.

I attended the St. Andrew's Society dinner and heard the best half dozen speeches I ever heard at a society dinner—and all of a reasonable length.

A gentleman who attended the last New England dinner writes me: "I cannot help feeling that upon such occasions all speakers should be allowed just fifteen minutes and then be called down. One club in this city allows five minutes to each speaker, and the Chairman has a pistol for a gavel. How charming!" DON CARLOS.

New York, Dec. 27, 1899.

Appeals to Thinking Men.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your editorial in the issue of the 19th inst. on England's condition in South Africa should, as it doubtless will, receive the hearty approval of every right-thinking man. The press of the country should follow your lead in this matter.

ALFRED E. ROGERS.

Great Falls, Mon., Dec. 23, 1899.

NUGGETS.

Shouldn't Have Said It.

She—I'm one of her oldest friends.
He—You look it.—Yonkers Statesman.

Turn About.

Mrs. Weeds—Oh! you remind me so much of my first husband.
Mr. Weeds—I'm glad to hear it. You've been reminding me of him so often.—Philadelphia Press.

Not That Kind.

Clerk—What do you wish ma'am?
Mrs. O'Toole—Oi want to sae some mirrors.
Clerk—Hand mirrors?
Mrs. O'Toole—No; some thot ye kin sae ye'er face in.—Chicago News.

The Comic Opera.

Librettist—I don't like that new prima donna.
Manager—Why not?
Librettist—Her enunciation is so perfect that everybody will be able to understand what I have written.—Syracuse Herald.

Bears Them in Mind.

Wiggs—He's very charitable, isn't he?
Waggs—Who, Pincher?
Wiggs—Yes. He says he always remembers the poor.
Waggs—Well, that's all. It's a matter of memory.—Philadelphia Catholic Standard.

HIS HEART.

S. E. Kiser in Chicago Times-Herald.

"I bear no costly gifts," he said,
"I bring no wealth to thee,
As others might, but still I pray
That you will smile on me."

"There is one gem," the maiden said,
"One gift that I demand
From him who comes to win my love
Ere he shall claim my hand.

"I do not ask for worldly wealth
From him that I would wed,
But he must have a heart that's good,"
The gentle maiden said.

He clasped her in a fond embrace;
"My heart's all right," said he;
"A life insurance firm has just Assumed a risk on me."

THE MAINE DEAD INTERRED.

With Full Military Honors 150 Victims of the Havana Horror Are Laid to Rest in Arlington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Upon the windy heights of Arlington Cemetery the Maine dead, brought from Havana by the battleship Texas, to-day were laid away in their final resting place with simple religious services and the impressive honors of war in the presence of the President, members of his Cabinet, officers of the army and navy, and other representatives of the Government. A Cabinet officer surveying the flag-draped coffins before the ceremonies began said:

"The lives of those men cost Spain her colonies."

There was no note of triumph in the grim scene to-day. With a touch of sadness and solemn gravity the Nation performed its duty to the dead and gave its defenders a Christian burial at home.

The caskets interred to-day were ranged row on row. Over each was spread an American ensign, upon which lay a wreath of galax leaves. Around the inclosure, shoulder to shoulder, the yellow of their coat linings forming a band of color, were drawn up the cavalry of Fort Meyer; to the right was a battalion of marines from the navy yard, with their spiked helmets, and their scarlet capes turned back; to the left a detachment of jackies from the Texas in navy blue; in the flag-draped stand in the rear were the President and his Cabinet, Admiral Dewey, Gen. Miles, and a distinguished group of officers of the army and navy in their showy dress uniforms; while all around pressed the throng of people who had braved the snow and biting cold to pay their last tribute of respect to the dead. Among these were many relatives and friends of those who had been lost in the disaster.

There was an appropriateness in the fact that Capt. Sigsbee, who was in command of the Maine when she was blown up, had charge of the ceremonies in honor of his men, and that Father Chidwick, who was Chaplain of the Maine, was there to perform the last rites. Three others who lived through that awful night in Havana Harbor were at the side of the graves of their comrades, Lieut. Commander Wainwright, who was Executive Officer of the Maine; Lieut. F. C. Bowers, who was Assistant Engineer of the Maine, and Jeremiah Shea, a fireman on the Maine who was blown out of the stoke hole of the ship through the débris, escaping uninjured.

The Protestant services were held first, and were very simple. Chaplain Clark of the Naval Academy read the burial service of the Episcopal Church, and then gave way to Father Chidwick, who was assisted by the Revs. Holaind and Brown and two purple-robed acolytes. With head bared to the wintry blast the Maine's Chaplain read a memorial service according to the rites of the Catholic Church, consigned the dead, blessed the ground, repeated the Lord's Prayer, and concluded with a fervent appeal for the repose of the souls of the departed.

A detachment of marines then marched to the right of the graves and fired three volleys over the dead, and in the deep stillness that followed the crash the clear, silvery note of a bugle rang out the soldiers' and sailors' last good-night. With the sounding of taps the ceremonies ended. The President and his party and the other distinguished guests, the military and the crowds then withdrew.

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS.

Secretary Gage Designates Several Additional National Banks as Government Depositories.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The Secretary of the Treasury to-day designated several additional National banks as Government depositories to receive internal revenue receipts. It is said he will continue to do so until the total sum so deposited amounts to $30,000,000 or $40,000,000.

Deposits, however, will not be made with these additional banks until the banks comprising the first group, designated several days ago, have received deposits equal to the amount of bonds turned into the Treasury by them as security, which approximates $17,600,000.

It is expected that deposits will begin to be made under the new designations about Jan. 10. Any National bank owning or controlling United States bonds willing to deposit the same in the Treasury as security, including those now receiving deposits, is entitled to participate in this distribution of internal revenue receipts.

WOOL GROWERS NOT INJURED.

Officials Say Tariff Treaty with Argentina Will Work No Harm.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—In answer to objections made by United States wool growers to the tariff convention between this country and Argentina it is officially stated here that the object of the United States was to obtain reductions on as many commodities as possible without the periodical revaluation or "aforo" required by the Argentine tariff regulations or at a materially lower valuation. This has been accomplished.

Regarding the concession made to Argentina on wool, it is asserted that but a small percentage of the foreign wool entering the United States comes from Argentina, and that this wool is of an inferior quality not raised by American growers. As a matter of fact, officials say, by far the greater part of the Argentine wool product seeks the free ports of Europe, and for these reasons American growers can in no way be injured.

Reading Matter for Guam Garrison.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—In answer to its appeal for contributions of books and papers for the garrison at Guam, the Navy Department has received 928 books, 3,217 magazines, 2,148 illustrated weekly papers, 72 sets of dominoes, 72 sets of checkers, and 72 sets of alphabet blocks, the last to be used to teach the native children.

Movements of Naval Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The transport Lennox arrived at Manila Dec. 20, and the transport Siam Dec. 22. These vessels took out a cargo of horses and mules, the Lennox from San Francisco and the Siam from Honolulu.

The transport Burford left San Juan, Puerto Rico, this morning for Santiago, en route for New York.

The transport Sedgwick sailed from Cienfuegos yesterday for New York.

The Machias has arrived at Macoris.

The Strange has arrived at Pensacola.

DROPPED DEAD IN THE STREET.

Heart Disease Kills Capt. Van de Water Near His Office.

Capt. John W. Van de Water, seventy-five years old, living at 144 Taylor Street, Brooklyn, dropped dead yesterday morning while on the way to his office at 43 Liberty Street. He was passing the Lawyers' Title Insurance Company Building, 37 Liberty Street, when he was stricken with heart disease and fell upon the pavement. He was removed into the hall of the building and died within a few moments.

Capt. Van de Water was born at North Hempstead, and settled many years ago in Williamsburg. When the Civil War began he joined the Seventh Regiment. He afterwards joined the Forty-seventh Regiment and became Captain of its Company H. He was an elder of the First Reformed Church, Bedford Avenue and Clymer Street, a member of the Forty-seventh and Seventh Regiments' Veterans' Associations, a member of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, and a trustee of the Eastern District Hospital.

Mr. Van de Water was a furniture manufacturer. His son Frederick married the youngest daughter of the Rev. Dr. Edward P. Terhune. Her mother is the novelist whose pen-name is Marion Harland. A daughter of Mr. Van de Water was the first wife of County Judge William B. Hurd, who married Mrs. Mary A. Barrett last week and is now on his wedding tour.

GEN. ROE REVIEWS VETERANS.

The annual reunion of the Civil and Spanish-American veterans of the Eighth Regiment was held in the armory, Park Avenue and Ninety-fourth Street, last night. The regiment was reviewed by Major Gen. C. F. Roe.

After the regiment had passed in review, the State decoration for long and faithful service was presented to the following: For twenty-five years' service, Col. and Brevet Brig. Gen. George D. Scott and Capt. George L. Wentworth; for fifteen years' service, Col. James M. Jarvis, Lieut. A. Jacobson, Private Robert B. Breen, Jr.; for ten years' service, Lieut. Col. Henry G. Ridabock, Major Isaac Freeman, Major John E. Kerby, Capt. Frank R. Curtis, First Sergt. Marshall G. Hatfield, Quartermaster Sergt. C. E. Wheeler, Sergt. T. M. McLaughlin, Private Victor La Point, Private James J. Tracy.

ANNUAL ACADEMY DISPLAY.

The Seventy-fifth Annual Exhibition to Open on New Year's Day—The Prizes Awarded.

Yesterday was press day for the seventy-fifth annual exhibition of the National Academy of Design. The exhibition for the first time in the Academy's history is this year held in mid-Winter instead of in the Spring, and the time-honored phrase of the "Spring Academy" ceases to be. The Academy also makes its annual display this year in the galleries of the American Fine Arts Society, 215 West Fifty-seventh Street—for some years past the home of its once fierce rival, the Society of American Artists, and which last organization will hold its annual display there, as usual, in March next. To-day will be varnishing day. The annual reception will be given in the galleries this evening. To-morrow will be buyers' day, and the public will be admitted to the exhibition on New Year's morning. The exhibition will remain open until Jan. 27, 1900.

Some 317 oils, with about a dozen sculptures and a few miniatures, make up the exhibition, which, it may be said briefly, this morning is the best as seen at a first view that the old organization has yet made, and certainly makes a better appearance from its examples being hung in large, well-lighted, modern galleries.

The five prizes have been awarded as follows:

The Thomas B. Clarke Prize, for the best figure painting by an American artist, to Charles Schreyvogel for his canvas "My Bunkie," a painting of three troopers riding broncos on a Western desert, and which may best be called an etherialized Frederic Remington.

The N. W. Dodge Prize, for the best painting by a woman, to Miss P. A. Bunker, for "October at Cedar Brook," a soft and dreamy little gray-toned landscape.

The first Hallgarten Prize to Louis Paul Dessar, for his "Landscape with Sheep," a good canvas suggesting Dupré and Jacque, rich in color and harmonious in tone.

The second Hallgarten Prize to E. Irving Couse's "Along the Quay," a simple, soft-colored moonlight French town scene with two figures, having much poetic sentiment.

The third Hallgarten Prize to W. Granville Smith for "The Light of the House," an interior with figures, two women, a mother and grandmother, playing with a child, with well-managed lights and pleasing color, but somewhat stiff in drawing.

Detailed and longer notice of the exhibition will be found in the art columns of to-morrow's REVIEW OF BOOKS AND ART.

HOLD AMERICA RESPONSIBLE.

Directors of Manila Railroad Say the United States Must Pay Interest—Company Claims £34,000.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The Directors of the Manila Railway Company, Limited, announce the suspension of interest on the prior lien bonds. They point out that no revenue is available, as the line has been in the possession of the insurgents or the Americans since February last.

They also aver that the United States Government is liable for the guaranteed interest, having assumed sovereignty over the Philippines.

The company has claims aggregating £34,000 against the United States.

HEMP FROM THE PHILIPPINES.

Mr. Meiklejohn Says More Came In in 1899 than in Any Other Year.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn has written a letter to Representative Long of Kansas, defining the policy of the department regarding the commerce of the Philippines with especial reference to the opening of ports for the exportation of hemp.

Mr. Long had transmitted a letter of a constituent alleging that there was so little Manila hemp in the country now that the price was 14 to 15 cents a pound as against a normal price of 5 to 6 cents, while only 2,000 bales a week have been shipped to this country since the war began, instead of 25,000 bales per week as formerly.

Premising his explanation with the statement that Gen. Otis has already been instructed to open the hemp ports as soon as he had proper garrisons, which should be early in January, Mr. Meiklejohn goes on to show that the correspondent has an erroneous idea as to the effect of the war on the hemp shipments. He states that the largest hemp exportations from the islands in any year were in 1897, when they averaged 17,300 bales per month. During the ten months of 1899 the imports of hemp into the United States amounted to 46,475 tons, so that there has never been a year when so much entered the United States as in this war year, while its value has been $41 per ton less than in 1889 or 1891.

Mr. Meiklejohn declares that the communications received by the department from manufacturers and brokers indicate that there is no trust or combine controlling the hemp market, as feared by the farmers, and he concludes his letter as follows:

"The War Department is doing everything compatible with the requirements of the military situation to develop the trade of the Philippine Islands, and is confident that the so-called hemp ports will be open to trade in ample time for any accumulations of hemp therein contained to reach this country and be manufactured before the next wheat harvest."

Capt. Merriam's Son Not Dead.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—A dispatch from Faribault, Minn., announced that Henry C. Merriam of Company G, Sixth Infantry, who was reported by Gen. Otis as dead from typhoid fever, was a son of Capt. Merriam, a retired army officer of this city, and engaged to be married to Miss Bessie Ray of Faribault. It appears from the War Department records that there were two men of the same name in the Philippines. The Henry C. Merriam who died of typhoid at Manila was a private in Company G, Twenty-first United States Infantry. He was not a son of Capt. Merriam of this city.

BOSTON IMITATES NEW YORK.

Banks Will Make a Charge for Out-of-Town Check Collections.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 28.—The Boston Clearing House Association has adopted amendments to its Constitution providing for rules to regulate the collection of checks in New England outside of Boston. The rules provide that for all checks and drafts drawn upon any New England bank or banking institution which does not pay checks and drafts drawn upon itself, and sent through the Boston Clearing House, the collecting banks shall charge not less than one-tenth of 1 per cent. of the amount of such checks and drafts, respectively.

In case the charge upon any check does not equal 10 cents, the collecting bank shall charge not less than that sum; but all checks received from any one depositor or correspondent on the same day, and payable by the same institution, may be added together and treated as one item for the purpose of fixing the amount to be charged.

The charges are in all cases to be collected at the time of deposit, or not later than the tenth day of the following calendar month. No collecting bank shall directly or indirectly allow any abatement, rebate, or return, for or on account of such charges; or make in any form any compensation therefor. A $1,000 penalty is provided for violation of the rules, it being made incumbent upon members to report any infraction to the manager or person acting for the manager. Exclusion from privileges or expulsion of the guilty member is left to the discretion of the Clearing House Committee.

Every collecting bank is directed to adopt a resolution to the effect that it in all respects assents to and agrees to be bound by and to comply with all rules and regulations regarding collections outside of the City of Boston, and to file a certified copy of the resolution with the Clearing House Association forthwith.

The cashier of one of the most prominent and influential banks of this city said yesterday in regard to the report that the Boston Clearing House had decided to charge for collecting out-of-town checks:

"They have simply decided to follow New York's lead in recognizing that they ought not to do something for nothing. I think that their action will be an inducement for other cities to do likewise. They will see the justice and common sense of it. When every city makes the same charge for collecting out-of-town checks that we do, there will no longer be a diverting of business from this city in favor of other places. But it is a fact that a good deal of the business which New York banks have lost by making these charges has been unprofitable business."

OFFICE SEEKERS IN CUBA

Gen. Wood's Office Besieged by Hundreds of Them.

CANDIDATES FOR THE CABINET

Gen. Brooke's Appointments Criticised —No Municipal Contracts to be Made at the Present Time.

HAVANA, Dec. 28.—Gen. Wood's office is besieged from early morn until after dark by a crowd of office seekers from all parts of the island. The applicants want everything or anything—from Cabinet Secretaryships to janitorships. Despite the fact that the Governor General receives on the average 200 people every twenty-four hours, he manages to find time to pay unexpected early morning visits to the asylums and jails. Gen. Wood prefers to take the managers of such institutions unprepared. Tomorrow he intends to inspect the leper hospital. To-day he visited the Beneficencia.

He does not intend to interfere in matters of public policy before the New Year, when the new Cabinet will be installed. It is generally reported by his friends that Señor Villalon has been offered a Cabinet position. A similar statement is made concerning Señores Varona, Estevez, and Tamayo. Señor Villalon is the present Chief of Public Works at Santa Clara. Señor Varona was formerly editor of the Patria. Señor Estevez is President of the National Party. Señor Tamayo is a Judge of the Supreme Court Most of these appointments, if made, would meet with public approval, but Gen. Wood declines to confirm or to deny the reports in any case, asserting that he will not give out information on the subject until the entire Cabinet has been decided upon.

Cubans have been agreeably surprised by Gen. Wood's refusal to allow the municipality of Cardenas to grant private contracts. In a communication embodying his refusal, he said:

"No such contract will be recognized until after the municipalities have been elected, an event which is only a few months off. Then the will of the people will be known, and, provided there is no interference with the prerogatives of the General Government, municipalities will be allowed to use all rightful means of improving the country without interference from Havana or anywhere else."

The Neuvo Pais, reviewing the year that is closing, says:

"Although only two out of the four members of Gen. Brooke's Advisory Cabinet were themselves revolutionists, they nevertheless succeeded in filling all public offices with revolutionists. The National Party does not represent the island. It is divided and struggling hard to make headway. The healthy element in Cuban society should come out of its shell and find a practical solution of the problem."

RUBENS TALKS ON CUBA.

All Elements Gratified at the New Governor General's Programme—The Meeting of Wood and Gomez.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Horatio Rubens, prominently identified with the Cuban cause, who was counsel for the Cuban Junta during the revolution, and is now associated with Señor Quesada in the Cuban representation here, returned this morning from a visit to Cuba. Speaking of the situation in the island, he said:

"No country on earth is more at peace than is Cuba. The President's message, the declarations of the Secretary of War, followed by the appointment of Gen. Wood, have been received with universal favor. The veterans of the revolution and all elements, even those supposed to be most at unrest, are deeply gratified by the programme enunciated by Gen. Wood—the reform of the courts so as to give speedy trials, the clearing of the prisons of those who have been languishing under the slow procedure, the establishment of a system of free public schools, and the construction of roads, all with a view to local necessities. These purposes have met with universal applause.

"So long as there was any doubt as to the purpose of the United States, the revolutionary element stood aloof and expectant. Now, however, they feel that they must constitute the conservative party in Cuba; that is, the party which supports the political programme of the President. I have further found in conversation with many of the Cuban leaders that the day is very rapidly approaching when all the elements of Cuba, even those who were opposed to the revolution, will be called upon to aid in the political reconstruction of the island and to form a Government in which all the inhabitants of Cuba may take part. So long as the Cubans are satisfied of the intentions of the United States, and see that practical steps are being taken toward the realization of their hopes, they can be relied upon to co-operate with the American authorities to the fullest extent. They themselves will see to it that there is no breach of peace, because they desire to inspire confidence abroad, so that capital may be invested and the prosperity of the island assured.

"The Cubans are grateful to the American people for their intervention and for the assistance they are now getting in the definite solution of the political future of the island. They recognize that the United States must see that the Government of Cuba should be such as to guarantee all interests, but as this is also the object of the Cubans, as expressed to me through their leaders and in conversations with a great number of persons, they stand ready to aid the United States in every possible manner.

"I find that those Cubans who fought in the revolution are ready to forget the past and to welcome their former opponents when they desire to take part in the political affairs of the island. This spirit on the part of the leaders of the late insurrection will undoubtedly cause surprise, but it is the one fact which has impressed me in my conversation with these men more than any other."

Mr. Rubens relates many interesting incidents connected with the inauguration of Gen. Wood. When the latter arrived, Gen. Rodriguez, next to Gomez in command, was at the wharf to meet him. The old soldier was nearly shot to pieces in the war, and hobbles along from the effect of a bullet wound in the knee. Gen. Wood at once invited the old Cuban leader to enter his carriage, and there was a cheer from the assembled crowd at this thoughtful attention from the new Governor General. Later Gen. Wood asked to see Gen. Gomez, and Mr. Rubens accompanied the former Commander in Chief to the American headquarters. It was a notable meeting, the Governor General inviting the co-operation of Gen. Gomez, and the latter giving earnest assurance that the Cubans had every confidence in Gen. Wood. "General, I want you to come to me as one soldier comes to another," said Gen. Wood, and the veteran Cuban was visibly affected at this expression of confidence from the American commander.

TROOPS RETURNING FROM CUBA.

Part of Tenth Cavalry and Fifteenth Infantry Coming Home.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Word was received at the War Department that the transport Kilpatrick, which is now discharging her cargo at Cienfuegos, will proceed in a day or two to Manzanillo and Gibara for the purpose of taking a squadron of the Tenth Cavalry from those places to Galveston, Texas.

The transport Sedgwick is now on her way to Cienfuegos to take a squadron of the Fifteenth Infantry to New York City.

April Fool's Day in Havana.

HAVANA, Dec. 28.—Several correspondents of American newspapers who have recently arrived here were much stirred up by wonderful stories published to-day in the local papers regarding appointments, resignations, assassinations, and other strange happenings. As matter of fact, this is a sort of Cuban April Fool's Day. It is the Day of the Innocents, when lying is considered legitimate.

Barracks to be an Orphans' Home.

HAVANA, Dec. 28.—The barracks at Cienfuegos are to be converted into an orphans' home, and plans and estimates are to be submitted for fitting up workshops for the training of boys. A model cattle farm will be attached to the institution.

Baseball Players Sail for Cuba.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28.—Abner Powell sailed by the Morgan Line steamer to-day for Cuba with a team of baseball players. They will spend a month in Havana and Matanzas. Among the players were Gonding, Kansas City; Childs, Philadelphia; Steinfeld, Cincinnati, and McAllister, St. Louis.

ENGLISH ACTRESS DIES.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Miss Dorothy Dene, the actress, died here yesterday. She sat to the late Lord Leighton, the painter, as a model for some of his best pictures.

Miss Dene appeared here in one of the plays produced by the ill-fated Theatre of Arts and Letters, and took part in some other performances. She was one of a large family of girls, several of whom sought to earn their living on the stage.

DEATH FOR PUERTO RICANS.

SAN JUAN DE PUERTO RICO, Dec. 28.—The Supreme Court of Puerto Rico, at Ponce, has sentenced five men to be garroted. In October, 1898, twenty men, heavily armed with guns and machetes, robbed a house at Yauco, Province of Ponce, and murdered a man named Prudencio Mendez. They also danced around the body with his daughters, who were under compulsion. Seven of the men were caught, but subsequently one of these escaped and one died in jail.

MORE FIGHTING IN COLOMBIA.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Dec. 28.—Colombian advices say the endeavors to effect a compromise between the Government and the insurgents have failed, resulting in a renewal of hostilities on the Pacific side, and both parties are marking time. On the Atlantic side severe fighting has occurred.

The Government troops, it appears, broke the truce and attacked the insurgents, near Baranquilla, who retreated, after a stubborn battle. But the Government forces subsequently fell into a trap and suffered severe losses. Gen. Casablanca was wounded. Both sides are apparently powerless to hold the advantages gained, occasioning popular disgust and clamor for foreign intervention in behalf of commercial and concessioned industrial interests, which are threatened with ruin.

A PEER'S ASHES BURIED.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The ashes of the Duke of Westminster, whose remains were cremated at Woking Cemetery Dec. 24, were to-day privately interred in the churchyard of Eaton Hall, Cheshire, in the presence of his relatives and the Marquis of Lorne, representing Queen Victoria.

Impressive memorial services in honor of the late Duke were held in Westminster Abbey to-day. Representatives of Emperor William and most of the English royalties were present. Mme. Albani sang a solo. A. J. Balfour, the Diplomatic Corps, and many other notables also attended.

There was a similiar service in Chester Cathedral. The Queen's representative and all the municipal and county bodies were present. Henry White, Secretary of the United States Embassy, was among those who attended.

PREHISTORIC FOSSIL FOUND.

VALPARAISO, Chile, Nov. 28.—A fossil, evidently prehistoric, and a cross between an aligator and a lizard, was found lying on a sunken rock near the north beach at Caldera, a seaport of Chile, by Archie Mackenzie, on Aug. 26 last. He reported the find to the authorities, and, by order of the Intendente, Señor Carlos Sayago, it was lifted out of the water in sections and brought ashore, where it was photographed. It is now being boxed preparatory to removing it to Valparaiso.

Evidently an uncommonly low tide at the time of the discovery had washed back the sand which perhaps had covered the fossil for many years and left it exposed to view. It is believed to weigh about six tons and measures in length approximately 28 feet 11 inches. The head is 9 feet long and the tail 14 feet 11 inches in length. Across the back it measures 9 feet 9 inches. The fossil is well petrified and has considerable stone or "loza" hanging to it.

FRENCH ROYALIST CASES.

PARIS, Dec. 28.—The speeches for the defense in the conspiracy case began in the Senate High Court to-day. M. Déroulède's counsel announced that his client had written instructing him to be silent, as the trial was a "legal masquerade and an inquitous stratagem." However, counsel continued, had M. Déroulède left him free to speak he would not have discussed the charges upon which M. Déroulède was acquitted May 31, nor insulted the High Court by supposing it wished to give the Government the condemnation which a jury had refused them.

M. Buffet defended himself, denying that he had been engaged in a conspiracy, and concluded his plea with declaring that he was a Royalist, and no more in sympathy with M. Déroulède than with the Republicans now in power.

M. Jules Guérin then applied to the court for an order providing that the prosecutor's dossier against him be submitted to his counsel. The court refused this application and adjourned.

Russia Will Issue New Notes.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 28.—An imperial decree just made public directs the issue of two new series of notes, bearing 3 per cent. interest and dated Jan. 2, 1900, in substitution for notes of the Imperial Bank amounting to 55,516,000 rubles, which are subject to redemption. While the Treasury and State Bank will receive the new notes for all payments, the public will not be bound to accept them.

Newfoundland Lobster Fisheries.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Dec. 28.—The modus vivendi respecting the Newfoundland French Shore lobster fishery will expire Dec. 31. Serious trouble will arise on the coast if this agreement is not renewed. The British Government is now anxious regarding the action the colonial authorities propose to take. It is likely that the colony will agree to compromise the question, in view of the British difficulties in South Africa.

To Change German Wine Law.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—A bill greatly modifying the present German wine law has been prepared by the Government and will be introduced in the Reichstag soon after that body reassembles. Strong opposition will be made to the measure. It absolutely prohibits gallization, and the small German vintners claim that this prohibition during poor vintages would ruin them, as rendering all low-grade wines unsalable.

Plague Quarantine in Australia.

MELBOURNE, Victoria, Dec. 28.—A passenger who arrived here from Noumea, New Caledonia, where the plague is raging, on board the steamer Australian, has been quarantined, and eight others have been placed under surveillance.

German Army Duel Results Fatally.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—Lieut. Rau and Lieut. Stielow, both of the One Hundred and Fiftieth Regiment, fought a duel to-day near Allenstein, East Prussia. The latter officer was killed.

Queen Victoria at Osborne.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Queen Victoria arrived at Osborne, Isle of Wight, this afternoon The water was very rough while her Majesty was crossing the Solent.

Fire in the Krupp Works at Essen.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—A fire broke out today in the Krupp Cast Steel Works at Essen, doing damage to the amount of $75,000. Many valuable models and designs were destroyed.

To Issue Edison Stock in Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—President Samuel Insull of the Chicago Edison Company has issued an announcement to stockholders to the effect that the Directors have decided to put out the new stock authorized at the annual meeting last June. The entire authorized issue, amounting to $1,000,000, will be offered to stockholders at par. The proceeds of the sale of this stock have practically all been expended on improvements and extensions, to provide for which the issue was authorized.

HERR SCHWEIGHOFER'S ACTING

The German Comedian Seen in Morre's Play, "'S Nullerl," at the Irving Place House.

The fame of Schweighofer has spread and a full house was ready for his appearance in a new cast at the Irving Place Theatre last evening. Instead of flitting from one part to another, as in "Ein Blitzmädel," he has a consistent character to portray, that of the old, useless fellow on a Styrian farm, Anneri the "nullity," or nobody, in the well-known rustic drama by Carl Morré. This gives him an opportunity to put more modeling in his stagework and range from the farcical to the comic and the pathetic. From the moment that old Anneri is heard picking on his home-made zither till the reconciliation scene between father and daughter in the last act, Schweighofer never forgets the infirmities which age brings, remains always the Styrian peasant whose shoulders are bowed with labor and legs bent with rheumatism, but whose mind is keen and temper kindly notwithstanding the hard knocks of the world and the hopelessness of his lot.

The salient quality of Schweighofer's stage work is its realism, and in such a play as "'S Nullerl" all he has at command is needed in order to counteract the silliness and defiance of probabilities in its plot. For those who have not seen this rustic piece, enough to say the Paternal Curse is the mainspring of action, the fine, old, musty, crusty Paternal Curse that haunts the regions less frequented by ordinary men and is warranted to thrill the simple German citizen with a pleasant thrill. Schweighofer's movement, gait, elbow motions, way of eating, sitting down, making his bed of straw, reproduce the Bavarian hilliman of the lowly sort to the life; his speech and action are so true that one often forgives the idiocy of the play. Yet it must strike the most indulgent as a pity that high talents like Schweighofer's are not put to work in a better cause. Fräulein Ada Merito, also, who has the Injured Maiden's part, that maiden whom the Paternal Curse lies in wait for at every turn and whose virtue, patent to the most hostile eye, has a way of disappearing from time to time from the sight of her Cruel Parent—who loves her all along—Fräulein Merito deserves commiseration when the playwright forces her to heroics in which no one believes. When given a chance, as in the scene of cajolement of the Libertine Nobleman, who makes love to her sister, the fat wife of the innkeeper, she is sprightly and charming.

But plays of this sort are constructed to afford a star performer the opportunity to be almost constantly on the scene. Why, then, should they be so long? Why not mercifully slash the scenes where the star cannot appear and bring the play into reasonable limits? The pretty genre picture of the Spinnte, or spinning room, full of girls is worth while; but what a lot of running on and off the stage of wearisome side figures who add nothing to the plot! Two hours is the utmost limit to a play in this sort; in that time we can see all Schweighofer's excellent imitation of an old, broken mountaineer, listen to the trembling fingers on the zither, enjoy the topical song, which he gives with perfect finish and a rare originality of voice and gesture and facial play, and become thoroughly penetrated with the sweetness and lovableness of the village charge Without reaching the highest plane possible to a character of this sort, Schweighofer scored a distinctly higher note than he did in any of the rôles assumed in "Ein Blitzmädel." It would be interesting to see him in a really good and impressive play which does not introduce scenes of absurdity that interfere with the real charm and finish of his performance.

YARMOUTH LEAVES FROHMAN.

He May Now Quit the Stage for the English Army.

Charles Frohman has engaged Brandon Hurst, who was last seen in leading parts during Roland Reed's recent tour. Mr. Hurst has been secured to take the place of the Earl of Yarmouth, who has been appearing in the part of Gibaulet in the farce, "Make Way for the Ladies," ever since it was first produced in New Haven the latter part of November

It was said yesterday that the Earl has suddenly determined to abandon the professional stage and return to England to enlist in the army, where he considers his services are more required. When the actor was asked to confirm this report last night he absolutely refused to discuss the subject, but stated that he would be prepared to give out a statement regarding his future plans in a few days.

SOUSA'S BAND FOR PARIS.

Will Represent the American Commission at the Exposition.

Commissioner General Ferdinand W. Peck of the United States Commission to the Paris Exposition of 1900 has appointed Sousa's Band as the official band of the American Commission to play at the exposition. The formal appointment was signed in Chicago last Tuesday and received at Mr. Sousa's general offices yesterday.

Mr. Sousa had made all arrangements for a European tour in the Summer of 1898, but the Spanish-American war caused him to cancel all his Continental engagements and postpone the tour until 1900. In conjunction with the engagement at the Paris Exposition, he intends to take his band on a European tour, including the principal cities in Germany, Holland, Belgium, France, and England. The regular Winter tour in this country will begin Jan. 31, extending as far West as Omaha, and closing in this city on April 1, and immediately after that date the organization will sail for Paris and will play at the opening of the exposition on April 14.

This engagexment will cover from eight to twelve weeks, during which time the band will play on all the great fête days, including "American Day," July 4, and the French national holiday, July 14. The band will furnish the musical part of the programme at the unveiling of the Lafayette Monument, on July 4. This is the monument presented to Paris by the school children of the United States, and in their honor Mr. Sousa will write a new march to be played for the first time on that occasion.

Col. George Frederic Hinton, Assistant General Manager of the band, and Henry Wolfsohn will sail for Europe at the end of January to arrange the details of the European tour.

CHARLES FROHMAN SUED.

Milwaukee People Claim Copyright of the Name "The Only Way."

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 28.—Henry Miller, now playing "The Only Way" at the Davidson Theatre; Charles Frohman, and the others who are presenting the play here, were made defendants to-day in a twenty-five-thousand-dollar damage suit instituted by Col. Tate Baker, a Milwaukee newspaper man and playwright, and May Weinhold, on the ground that the Miller production is an infringement on the plaintiff's copyright of the name "The Only Way." Manager John Federis was served as the representative of Mr. Frohman. Mr. Frohman wires from New York that in his opinion the claim is untenable, and has placed his defense in the hands of attorneys.

DECISION AGAINST MRS. BEERE.

Actress Loses Her Action Against Her Manager's Former Bondsmen.

A decision in favor of C. B. Jefferson and Klaw & Erlanger was handed down in the General Term of the Supreme Court yesterday, reversing the judgment of the City Court in the case of Mrs. Bernard Beere.

The action grew out of Mrs. Beere's appearance here in 1892, when Marcus Mayer was her manager, and Mr. Jefferson and Klaw & Erlanger his bondsmen. Mrs. Beere was suing to recover royalties paid Charles Wyndham for "The Fringe of Society," a play which she did not produce in this country, and which the defendants claimed she would not consent to play, although she had a contract to produce it. The amount involved was about $1,500.

Changes in Opera Prospects.

It was announced yesterday that Mme. Calvé's illness had been completely vanquished, and that she would positively make her appearance to-night in the rôle of Marguerite in "Faust," but a change in the cast will be necessary through the continued indisposition of M. Saleza, who will be unable to sing the title rôle. M. Salignac will be substituted. The Maurice Grau forces were increased yesterday by the arrival on the North German Lloyd liner H. H. Meier of Herr Hans Brener, the German baritone, who is under engagement to sing in the Wagnerian operas. He will probably make his first appearance in the performance of "Siegfried," in the rôle of Mime.

Benefits Are Well Attended.

The result of the benefit performance given in aid of the New York Exchange for Women's Work at Wallack's Theatre yesterday afternoon was most satisfactory. The receipts for the performance were in the neighborhood of $1,500. A large audience was also present at the Christmas recital given for the benefit of the International Tribune Sunshine Society at the Fifth Avenue Theatre yesterday afternoon. The entertainment consisted of Oriental representations and illustrations of life in Bethlehem and Jerusalem.

A Compliment for Gen. Wallace.

In honor of Gen. Lew Wallace, who is President of the society known as Phi Gamma Delta, in this city, its members have decided to witness a performance of his play "Ben-Hur," at the Broadway Theatre, in a body, on Friday evening, March 16. The entire orchestra of the theatre has been reserved for that night, a programme specially designed to commemorate the event will be distributed, and the theatre will be decorated with the colors of the society.

Mr. Pruette's New Engagement.

William Pruette, the baritone who has heretofore been identified with the American operatic stage, has been added to the forces of the Castle Square Opera Company. Mr. Pruette will be heard in one of the prominent operas later in the season. He is at present singing with the St. Louis contingent of the organization.

Miss Kathrine Grey Ill.

A change in the cast of Richard Mansfield's performance last night at the Garden Theatre of "The First Violin" was made necessary through the sudden illness of Miss Kathrine Grey, who was unable to leave her apartments at the San Remo owing to a severe attack of chills and fever, which seized her after she had left the theatre in the afternoon following a rehearsal of "Arms and the Man." Miss Grey's rôle of Miss May Wadderburn was played by her understudy, Miss Ethel Knight Mollison, who went through the part in a creditable manner.

WHAT IS DOING IN SOCIETY.

Yesterday was neither gay nor dull. There were a number of small affairs, two large dinners, a dance, and the Parsons cotillion for young people. In the morning there was quite a large audience assembled at the musicale, the one hundredth in the series given by Mr. Albert Morris Bagby at the Astoria. Already people are beginning to leave for the country for the New Year's house parties, and a number will go this afternoon to Tuxedo, to remain until Tuesday. All the rooms at the club there have been taken, and the three days' holiday promises to be unusually gay. To-morrow evening at Lakewood will take place the second dinner dance at the Country Club, and on Monday the annual ball at the Laurel-in-the-Pines. Mr. and Mrs. George Gould are still entertaining a large house party, remaining over New Year's.

***

Speaking of Lakewood, a performance will be given there by the Columbia University boys of the sophomore class at the Lakewood Hotel. The play will be "The Gay Mr. Vane," which was performed recently by them in this city. There are a number of patronesses, some of whom have promised to go down to Lakewood and attend the performance. Among those whose names are on this list are Mrs. Stuyvesant Le Roy, Jr., Mrs. J. Hooker Hamersley, Mrs. Robert J. Hoguet, Mrs. F. de Peyster Ricketts, Mrs. Daniel Lamont, Mrs. Philip J. Sands, Mrs. Gouverneur Morris, Mrs. George B. De Forest, and Mrs. William R. Grace.

***

Last evening ex-Gov. Morton and Mrs. Morton gave a dinner at their home, 681 Fifth Avenue, in honor of Miss Mary Gardiner, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Terry Gardiner of this city and granddaughter of Bishop Doane and Mrs. Doane of Albany. Miss Gardiner is one of the season's débutantes. She made her début at a reception given in her honor by Bishop Doane and Mrs. Doane several weeks ago in Albany. Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Beadleston of 32 West Thirty-sixth Street also gave last evening a dinner for Miss Ethel Post, Mrs. Beadleston's sister and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Post of Flushing. Miss Post is one of the débutantes of the Winter. Mrs. George R. Sheldon of 24 East Thirty-eighth Street gives a dinner party for young people to-night, and Mrs. Stevenson of 7 Madison Square North gives a card party for juniors this evening.

***

The young people who are being so generally entertained these holiday times met yesterday afternoon at a pretty cotillion given at the residence of Mrs. William Barclay Parsons, 505 Fifth Avenue. The cotillion was for Miss Sylvia Parsons, her granddaughter. The favors were silver trinkets and other articles.

***

In the evening there was another young people's cotillion given by Mrs. J. Harry Alexandre at her residence, 10 West Thirty-second Street, for her young son, J. Harry Alexandre, Jr. The decorations were of holly and other Christmas greens. The cotillion, which consisted of four-figure favors, was led by Mr. J. Harry Alexandre, Jr. The favors consisted of books filled with bonbons, tennis racquets and balls, the latter filled with candies; pictures and picture frames, and small gold disks on ribbons. These disks bore French mottoes. The supper was served by Maresi, and the affair ended, at midnight. Among the young guests, of whom very few are yet out, were the Misses Lilian Stokes Holmes, Constance Guthrie, Adaline Havemeyer, Elsie Waterbury, Cynthia Roche, Elsie Howland, Ella Guthrie, Lilian Barker, Kathleen Neilson, Louise N. Peters, Effie Waddington, Gwendolin Burden, Madeline Johnson, the Misses de Neufville, the Misses Harriman, and the Misses Lane, Georgette Collier, Sybil Douglas, Jessie Sloane, Sarah H. Clark, Marion Clarke, L. M. Jones, Marguerite Loew, and Julia L. Edgar; and the young boys and men were W. Halsted Vanderpoel, Edward H. Clark, Charles A. Fowler, Albert J. Akin, H. L. Hitchcock, Seney Plummer, Leighton Fanshawe, H. L. Burnett, Oscar Stevens, L. S. Morris, James T. Soutter, Jr., Douglass Dodge, Thomas Blagden, Earl Dodge, H. R. Sedgewick, Buell Hollister, R. H. Williams, Theodore P. Dixon, Anson W. Hard, Alfred Wagstaff, Lloyd M. Hitchcock, Anton Schefer, John H. Auerbach, Alexander Bayard Clark, George F. Vietor, Artemas Holmes, J. E. Schermerhorn, David Wagstaff, Jr., Louis S. Morrison, and F. H. Markoe.

***

The wedding of Miss Minnie Drexel Fell and Mr. Robert Kelso Cassatt will take place in Philadelphia on Jan. 22. Mr. Cassatt will give his farewell dinner on Saturday evening, Jan. 20. Murray Forbes of Boston will be best man, and the ushers will be Sidney Lawton and R. T. W. Moss of this city, Robert D. Wrenn of Chicago, Thomas Ridgway, George L. Harrison, Jr., Charles Randolph Wood, Samuel K. Reeves, George McFadden, Francis W. Rawle, and Livingstone Biddle of Philadelphia. The bridesmaids are to be the Misses Hutchinson, Ellen Drexel Paul, Rhoda Howe, Elsie F. Cassatt, and Katherine Cassatt of Philadelphia, and Miss Grey of this city.

***

The guest of honor at the cotillion to be given by Mrs. John R. Drexel at Sherry's, on the evening of Jan. 8, will be Miss Ellen Drexel Paul of Philadelphia, a daughter of Mr. James W. Paul, Jr., of that city, and who is the leading débutante of the year in the Quaker City. Miss Paul will dance with Mr. William Hude Neilson, who is to lead the cotillion from one end of the room, and Mrs. Drexel, the hostess, will dance with the other leader.

***

Mrs. Robert Hoe gave a reception and musicale yesterday afternoon at her residence, 11 West Thirty-sixth Street. Miss Morgan played on the violin, Miss McDougall sang, and Miss Katherine Linn rendered selections on the piano. Mrs. Hoe received in a handsome costume of black velvet.

***

A set of young people who make up what are known as the Cinderella Cotillions had their Christmas dance at Dodworth's last evening. Among the patronesses of these dances are Mrs. Charles Welsh, Mrs. Arthur L. Root, Mrs. Horace Ely, Mrs. George Pryor Johnson, Mrs. William A. Parke, Mrs. James Sherwood, and Mrs. Charles Van Brunt.

***

There is one dance this evening, that of Mrs. Daniel J. O'Conor's class at Delmonico's. Mrs. O'Conor and Miss O'Conor have sent out cards for Wednesdays in January. Miss O'Conor will come out at a tea given by her mother on Jan. 6.

***

On the Werra, which sails to-morrow for Genoa, are booked the Rev. Dr. J. Tuttle-Smith and Mrs. J. Tuttle-Smith, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Torrance, and Miss Jane Whittaker of this city; Mrs. C. L. Cadwalader, Mrs. Samuel Clements of Philadelphia; Mrs. Agnes Minot and Miss Frances Minot and Mr. Winthrop H. Chenery of Boston.

***

It is announced that the wedding of Mr. Herbert Barnum Seeley and Miss Lucy Mitchell will be celebrated at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. P. Mitchell, 33 West Seventy-first Street, at noon on New Year's Day. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Father Taylor of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. Mr. Seeley is a grandson of the late P. T. Barnum and a son of Mr. Nathan Seeley.

***

Mrs. Frederic E. Ballard of 21 West Seventy-third Street gave last night at Sherry's a cotillion for her daughter, Miss Grace Ballard, who has just made her début, and whose birthday is to-day. The cotillion, which followed the supper at 12 o'clock, was led by Miss Ballard and Mr. Dodworth. The débutante's gown was of white chiffon and lace. The favors were tambourines, mandolins, flowers, flags, reins, and other articles. These were handed from the Christmas tree, which was illuminated with electric lights, by Mrs. Ballard, Mrs. Sylvester, and Mrs. de Cordova. Among the guests were the Misses Muriel and Ethel Miller, Marion de W Tracy, Edna Loew, Grace Powers, Ray Russell, May Rogers, Grace Quimby, Constance Guthrie, Pansy Roosevelt, Miss Watson and Miss Welsh, and the Messrs. Tappin, Harold Talbot, Walter Poers, Robert and J. R. Coffin, Augustus Frazer, Herbert Lawrence, and Gardner Brown.

***

For the celebration of the one hundredth musical morning given by Mr. A. M. Bagby, there assembled yesterday morning in the Astoria ballroom a large number of representative New York women, and more men than are usually present on these occasions. Mr. Bagby had invited for his centenary celebration a number of old friends and early patrons. The ballroom was appropriately decorated with Christmas greens and holly, and Mme. Emma Eames was the star of the occasion. It is difficult to realize that these musicales, which are such a feature of the recurring winter season are now in their sixth year, having been first started in December, 1893. Franz Kaltenborn and his orchestra played Wagner's "Tannhäuser" overture, "Les Préludes" by Liszt, and the Bridal Procession from "Lohengrin." Mme. Emma Eames received a most enthusiastic welcome. She sang "Where Blooms the Rose," by Clayton Johns; "Spring," by Henschel; "Le Secret," by Deprét, and "Hai Luli!" by Coquard, and as an encore, Tosti's "Good-Bye, Summer." Signor Campanari gave "Come Raggio Di Sol," by Caldari; "Illusione," by De Never; "Lasciali Dir," by Quarenta, and "Inno Sacro," by Buzzi Peccia, and the "Figaro Song," by Rossini, and as an encore the Toreador Song from "Carmen." Among those present were Mrs. James Speyer, Mrs. Widener, Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Van Rensselaer, Miss Callender, Miss De Forest, Mrs. Toussé, Mrs. Hattie E. Bucki, Mrs. Osborn, Mrs. Hamersley, and Miss Ward McAllister. The next musical morning will take place Jan. 8.

A DAY'S WEDDINGS.

Fink—Seidenberg.

Miss Teresa E. Bryce Seidenberg, daughter of the late Joseph Seidenberg of this city and granddaughter of Mr. John Dooley of St. John, N. B., and Mr. James Austen Fink were married yesterday morning at the Church of St. Ignatius Loyola, at Park Avenue and Eighty-fourth Street. The ceremony was performed by Bishop McDonnell of Brooklyn. There was a nuptial mass, and the celebrant was the Rev. F. X. Fink of the Society of Jesus, President of Gonzaga College, Washington, and brother of the bridegroom. The altar and sanctuary of the church were illuminated and beautifully decorated with flowers and plants. The bride wore a gown of gray cloth, trimmed with white panne velvet and embroidered in silver, and a white hat with white ostrich plumes. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and wore a diamond brooch, a present from her mother. The maid of honor was Miss Teresa Gunn Schwab, who wore pink silk poplin and lace, with a Directoire bonnet of pink panne velvet. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. The best man was Mr. John Lowe of Baltimore and the ushers were Mr. John Francis Vernon, Mr. Alexis Anketell Durrie, Mr. George Henry Durrie, and Mr. Joseph Culver Wolfe. After the ceremony there was a breakfast and reception at the residence of the bride's mother, 59 East Seventy-second Street. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Livingston, Miss Schuchardt, Miss Nita Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Berry, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Marcey Leon, Mr. and Mrs. McL. Nichols, and Mr. and Mrs. Giles Whiting.

Swan—Gould.

Miss Eleanor Frances Gould and Mr. Walter Dana Swan of Cambridge, Mass., were married yesterday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Judson Gould, 150 West Fifty-ninth Street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Selden Spencer of Christ Church, Tarrytown, and the Rev. Franklin Babbitt of Nyack. The ceremony was witnessed by relatives only, but there was a general reception. The bride was in white satin, trimmed with point lace and chiffon. The bridesmaids were Miss Edith L. Gould, Miss Ethel A. Gould, and Miss Muriel Gould, sisters of the bride, and Miss Swan, sister of the bridegroom. John A. Gade was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Philip Mason of Boston, William A. Comfort of Philadelphia, Carl F. Gould, and Henry Whitfield. Mr. and Mrs. Swan, after a Southern trip, will reside in Cambridge.

Gatti—Cosenza.

Miss Carmela Cosenza, daughter of the Chevalier Joseph Cosenza, an artist of 574 Lexington Avenue, was married yesterday morning in St. Agnes's Roman Catholic Church to Joseph Gatti, a manufacturer. The ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Henry A. Brann. Ralph Cosenza and Miss Cosenza, respectively brother and sister of the bride, acted as best man and bridesmaid. After the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast at the Manhattan. Among those present were Prof. S. P. Duggan of the College of the City of New York; Prof. Rogers of Vassar, and the Chevalier Del Papa.

White—Faulkner.

MARTINSBURG, West Va., Dec. 28.—Boydville, the ancestral home of the Faulkners, was this evening the scene of a brilliant wedding, when Miss Jane Winn Faulkner, eldest daughter of ex-United States Senator Charles J. Faulkner, became the bride of Dr. William White of Nashville, Tenn. The ceremony was performed in the south parlor, under a canopy of smilax and pink and white roses, by the Rev. F. M. Woods, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of this city, assisted by the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage of Washington.

Miss Sallie Winn Faulkner, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and John S. Burnes of Nashville, Tenn., best man. Miss Amelia Pearson of Harrodsburg, Ky.; Miss Maude Talmage and Miss Mary Wells of Washington, Miss Katharine Reed and Miss Mary Paxton of New York, Miss Elsie Love of Winchester, Va.; Miss May B. Faulkner, Miss Mary Belle Stewart, and Miss Eliza Beth M. Colston of this city were the bridesmaids, and Messrs. W. T. Bryan, J. W. Gaines, J. D. B. De Bow, Guilford Dudley, Charles B. Currey, Johnson Fransford, Charles B. Cullom, Walter Cain, J. W. Cantrell, and Park Marshall, all of Nashville, Tenn., were the groomsmen. Robert L. Snodgrass of this city and Charles J. Faulkner, Jr., of Chicago, were ushers.

The bride wore a duchesse satin skirt, draped with point lace veiling; waist of chiffon, with a fichu of duchesse and point lace, and tulle veil, caught with point lace butterflies. She carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. Mr. and Mrs. White will reside in Nashville.

Oxer—Russell.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., Dec. 28.—A hundred guests were present at the marriage of Miss Sarah Emma Russell and William Oxer, which was performed by the Rev. W. L. Pray at the home of the bride's uncle, William M. Ritch, Byram Shore, Cherry Hill, last evening at 8 o'clock. It was a pink and white affair, carnations of the latter color being the principal floral decorations. The bride wore a white satin costume, and a veil which her great-grandmother used on a similar occasion. It was fastened with orange blossoms. She carried white orchids. Miss Lillian Cook of Asbury Park was bridesmaid, and the bride's sister, Miss Bessie Russell, was maid of honor. Walter Turnbull of Port Chester was groomsman, and Stephen Radford of Greenwich, usher. The ceremony took place under a bower of evergreens. After a wedding supper, Mr. and Mrs. Oxer started on a two months' trip to Florida.

Weston—Dodd.

Special to The New York Times.

ORANGE, N. J., Dec. 28.—A fashionable wedding, which was attended by 500 society people from the Oranges, Newark, and New York, took place this evening in Bethel Presbyterian Church, East Orange, when Miss Mary Irene Dodd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Condit Dodd of East Orange, was married to Walter Coleman Weston of Newark, a son of Edward Weston, the well-known inventor of that city. The pastor, the Rev. David O. Irving, officiated. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, 94 Dodd Street, East Orange.

MONTANA MINING DECISION.

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 28.—The first of the big cases between F. A. Heinze and the Montana Ore Purchasing Company on one side, and the Boston and Montana and other companies of the Amalgamated Copper Company on the other, was to-day decided in favor of Heinze and the Montana Company by Judge Clancy of the District Court. The ground and ore bodies involved are valued at $1,000,000, and the ore already taken by Heinze is valued at as much more. The decision gives him the right to follow the ore bodies through the entire northern half of the Pennsylvania claim, which adjoins the Johnstown, owned by him.

Several other suits are pending in the court, in which the Boston and Montana Company is plaintiff, and sues for about $600,000 as damages for ore taken out of the ground by Heinze.

FORMAL CALL TO DR. PURVES.

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 28.—A committee of

FINANCIAL DIRECTORY.

Chemical National Bank
270 Broadway.

National Bank of Commerce
CAP. AND SUR. $5,500,000
31 Nassau St.

Hanover National Bank
Capital $1,000,000. Surplus and profits, $2,500,000.
9 and 11 Nassau St.

The Nassau Bank
Corner Beekman and Nassau Streets.

Central National Bank
320 Broadway.

Continental Trust Company
30 Broad St.

Colonial Trust Company
CAPITAL & SURPLUS, $1,500,000.
ST. PAUL B'LD'G.
222 B'way.

Washington Trust Company
Stewart Building, 280 Broadway.

PHILADELPHIA.
Fourth Street National Bank
Capital, $1,500,000. Surplus, $1,500,000.

BANKERS' CARDS.

The Domestic Exchange National Bank
OF NEW YORK.
CAPITAL $300,000.
DIRECTORS:

Robert D. Kent,	Ethan Allen Doty,
William P. Aldrich,	Horace W. Fish,
Samuel S. Bradley,	William Kent,
Thomas H. Cullen,	Edward S. Peck.

C. D. Spencer.
ROBERT D. KENT, President.
CHARLES H. SPENCER, Cashier.
Specialty { COLLECTION OF OUT-OF-TOWN CHECKS.
TEMPORARY OFFICES 11-13 MAIDEN LANE.
TELEPHONE, 2285 BROAD.

Holmes & Co.,
EMPIRE BUILDING,
71 Broadway, New York.
Members { N. Y. Stock Exchange. N. Y. Cotton Exchange. Chicago Board of Trade.
Branch Office:
Lakewood Hotel, Lakewood, N.J.

Redmond, Kerr & Co.
BANKERS,
41 WALL ST., N. Y.
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
Transact a general banking business. Receive deposits subject to draft. Dividends and interest collected and remitted. Act as Fiscal Agent for and negotiate and issue loans of railroads, street railways, gas companies, etc. Securities bought and sold on commission.
DEAL IN
High-Grade Investment Securities.
Lists of current offerings sent on application.
PHILADELPHIA CORRESPONDENTS,
GRAHAM, KERR & CO.

HENRY CLEWS & CO.,
BANKERS.
11, 13, 15, & 17 Broad St.
MEMBERS N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE.
Orders executed for investment or on margin. Interest allowed on deposits subject to check at sight. Railroads reorganized and trade combinations effected. Act as Financial Agents for Corporations and Investors.
U. S. Bonds, all issues, bought and sold.
Branch Offices: 202 FIFTH AV., cor. 25th St. 487 BROADWAY. Silk Ex'ge Bldg. 59 WORTH ST. & 39 Thomas St. 87 HUDSON ST., Mercantile Ex. 16 COURT ST., Brooklyn.

The Corn Exchange Bank,
William and Beaver Sts., New York.
WILLIAM A. NASH, President.
Capital and Surplus . . . $3,000,000.00
Deposits 20,000,000.00
BRANCHES:
Broadway Branch, Broadway & Spring St. Hudson River Bank, 72d St. & Columbus Ave. Astor Place Bank, Astor Place. Queens County Bank, Borough of Queens.
36 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK.

Fisk & Robinson
BANKERS
Investment Securities
HARVEY EDWARD FISK,
GEORGE H. ROBINSON.
Member New York Stock Exchange.

Sutro Bros. & Co.,
BANKERS,
Members New York and Philadelphia Stock Exchanges.
56 Broadway, N. Y. 121 S. 5th St., Phila.
Investment Securities
PRIVATE WIRE CONNECTION TO
Phila., Baltimore, Washington, Atlantic City.
New York Telephone, 4914 Cortlandt. Brooklyn Telephone, 391 Brooklyn.

Geo. H. PRENTISS & Co.
DEALERS IN
LOCAL SECURITIES.
37 William St., New York. 298 Montague St., Brooklyn.
MEMBERS OF N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE.

HAVEN & STOUT
Bankers and Brokers.
1 Nassau Street. Cor. Wall St.
Members of
N. Y. Stock Exchange, N. Y. Cotton Exchange, N. Y. Produce Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade.
Branch Offices:
102 Broadway, cor. Duane St., New York.
84 Broadway, cor. Berry St., Brooklyn.

SIMON BORG & CO.,
BANKERS,
No. 20 Nassau St., New York,
INVESTMENT SECURITIES.

A. J. DE KANTSTEIN & CO.
Members Consolidated Stock Exchange.
30 West 23d St.
STOCKS and BONDS bought and sold for cash and carried on margin.
SPECIAL LADIES' DEPARTMENT.
DAILY MARKET LETTER ON APPLICATION.
CORRESPONDENCE INVITED.

Chester B. Lawrence, Jr.,
Member Consolidated Stock Exchange.
STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.
Branch Offices:
1,300 BROADWAY, CORNER 34TH ST.
621 BROADWAY, CORNER HOUSTON ST.
MAIN OFFICES, 32 & 34 BROADWAY.

BROWN BROTHERS & CO.,
NO. 59 WALL ST.,
ISSUE COMMERCIAL AND TRAVELERS' CREDITS, AVAILABLE IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

FINANCIAL.

REDEMPTION
OF
General First Mortgage Bonds
OF THE
NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY.
TRUSTEE'S (FINAL) CALL NO. 25,
Maturing January 1, 1900.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Eight Hundred and Ninety-eight (898) of the General First Mortgage $5,000 REGISTERED BONDS of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, or a total par value of $4,490,000, were this day drawn for the Sinking Fund in accordance with the requirements of Articles 11 and 12 of the Trust Mortgage, numbered as follows, viz.:

$5,000 REGISTERED BONDS.

1034	1628	1883	3778	4541	5324	6875
1035	1629	1884	3779	4542	5325	6876
1036	1630	2024	3798	4543	5368	6877
1037	1631	2100	3804	4544	5369	6878
1143	1632	2136	3805	4545	5371	6906
1219	1633	2137	3806	4546	5372	6907
1220	1634	2138	3808	4547	5373	6908
1222	1718	2139	3826	4548	5374	6915
1252	1724	2140	3827	4549	5375	6933
1253	1744	2141	3828	4551	5376	6934
1301	1745	2148	3829	4552	5377	6936
1344	1746	2240	3830	4553	5378	6937
1345	1747	2241	3831	4554	5379	6938
1346	1748	2242	3832	4555	5380	6939
1347	1749	2243	3837	4556	5382	6948
1355	1750	2244	3838	4557	5383	6951
1409	1751	2303	3876	4558	5384	6981
1485	1752	2322	3932	4559	5385	6982
1486	1753	2324	3995	4560	5386	6991
1487	1754	2486	4037	4561	5387	6992
1488	1755	2535	4067	4562	5388	6998
1489	1756	2536	4085	4563	5390	6999
1490	1757	2859	4090	4564	5391	7163
1491	1758	2860	4091	4565	5406	7164
1492	1759	2872	4107	4566	5407	7165
1493	1760	2873	4112	4567	5416	7166
1494	1761	2874	4113	4568	5417	8009
1495	1762	2875	4114	4569	5448	8018
1496	1763	2876	4115	4570	5449	8019
1497	1764	2877	4116	4571	5450	8724
1498	1765	2878	4117	4572	5464	8725
1499	1766	2879	4118	4573	5468	8726
1500	1767	2880	4119	4574	5505	8965
1501	1768	2881	4120	4615	5513	9815
1502	1769	2882	4121	4617	5518	9923
1503	1770	2883	4122	4631	5519	9924
1504	1771	2884	4123	4632	5534	9925
1505	1772	2885	4124	4634	5538	12327
1506	1773	2886	4125	4634	5539	12329
1507	1774	2887	4126	4647	5540	12334
1508	1775	2888	4127	4719	5541	12335
1509	1776	2889	4128	4720	5542	12365
1510	1777	2890	4129	4728	5583	12394
1511	1778	2891	4130	4805	5614	12407
1512	1779	2892	4131	4806	5615	12408
1513	1780	2893	4132	4807	5638	12409
1514	1781	2895	4133	4808	5651	12410
1515	1782	2896	4134	4809	5670	12411
1516	1783	2897	4135	4810	5671	12412
1517	1784	2898	4136	4811	5687	12413
1518	1785	2899	4137	4812	5688	12414
1519	1786	2900	4138	4813	5689	12415
1520	1787	2901	4139	4814	5747	12416
1521	1788	2902	4140	4815	5749	12417
1522	1789	2903	4141	4816	5761	12418
1523	1790	2904	4142	4817	5762	12419
1524	1791	2905	4143	4818	5907	12423
1525	1792	2906	4144	4819	6204	12424
1526	1793	2907	4145	4820	6213	18063
1527	1794	2908	4146	4821	6218	18064
1528	1795	2909	4147	4822	6280	18080
1530	1796	2910	4148	4823	6281	18081
1531	1797	2911	4149	4824	6282	18082
1532	1798	2912	4150	4875	6292	18095
1533	1799	2913	4151	4905	6315	18096
1563	1800	2914	4152	4927	6316	18099
1564	1801	2915	4153	4928	6408	18174
1565	1802	2916	4154	4935	6441	18208
1566	1803	2917	4155	4938	6485	20463
1567	1819	2918	4156	4939	6466	20464
1568	1820	2919	4157	4940	6470	20495
1569	1825	2920	4158	4941	6472	20496
1570	1826	2921	4159	4955	6474	20502
1571	1827	2922	4160	4964	6479	20503
1572	1828	2923	4161	4965	6574	20509
1573	1829	2924	4162	4990	6575	20510
1574	1830	2925	4163	4991	6576	20517
1575	1831	2926	4164	4992	6577	20518
1576	1832	2927	4165	4993	6620	20519
1577	1833	2928	4166	4994	6621	20520
1578	1834	2929	4218	4995	6626	20521
1579	1835	2930	4219	4996	6627	20532
1580	1836	2931	4249	4997	6628	20534
1581	1837	2953	4260	4998	6629	20535
1582	1838	3000	4261	4999	6668	20536
1583	1839	3001	4322	5010	6669	20537
1584	1840	3002	4436	5029	6673	20538
1585	1841	3003	4442	5030	6707	20539
1586	1842	3004	4443	5031	6708	20540
1587	1843	3005	4446	5032	6710	20541
1588	1844	3006	4447	5033	6711	20683
1589	1845	3038	4448	5034	6712	20684
1590	1846	3046	4449	5035	6713	20859
1591	1847	3059	4450	5036	6723	20870
1592	1848	3060	4451	5037	6724	20871
1593	1849	3098	4452	5048	6725	20872
1594	1850	3099	4453	5049	6759	20873
1595	1851	3100	4454	5050	6774	20874
1596	1852	3106	4455	5051	6775	20881
1597	1853	3107	4456	5074	6781	20882
1598	1854	3108	4457	5078	6782	20883
1599	1855	3109	4458	5114	6783	20884
1600	1856	3110	4459	5127	6784	20900
1601	1857	3111	4460	5150	6799	20901
1602	1858	3112	4461	5151	6800	20902
1603	1859	3113	4462	5152	6802	20903
1604	1860	3114	4463	5153	6803	20904
1605	1861	3115	4464	5184	6804	20905
1606	1862	3116	4465	5190	6805	20906
1607	1863	3117	4487	5242	6806	20907
1609	1864	3306	4521	5250	6809	20908
1610	1865	3392	4522	5251	6810	20909
1611	1866	3397	4523	5252	6816	20914
1612	1867	3398	4526	5253	6817	20915
1613	1868	3500	4527	5297	6825	20917
1614	1869	3575	4528	5298	6826	20918
1615	1870	3579	4529	5299	6827	20919
1616	1871	3590	4530	5300	6834	20936
1617	1872	3591	4531	5301	6835	20937
1618	1873	3595	4532	5502	6836	20939
1619	1874	3616	4533	5303	6840	20941
1620	1875	3617	4534	5304	6841	20942
1621	1876	3680	4535	5305	6842	20943
1622	1877	3681	4536	5306	6843	20944
1623	1878	3685	4537	5312	6844	20945
1624	1879	3755	4538	5313	6845	20946
1625	1880	3776	4539	5320	6871	20947
1626	1881	3777	4540	5321	6872	20948
1627	1882

All the outstanding bonds (both coupon and registered) issued under said mortgage have now been called for redemption.

The bonds above designated will be paid at 110 and accrued interest on presentation at the office of the CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, No. 54 Wall Street, New York, and should be assigned to "CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE, FOR REDEMPTION."

The interest on the above bonds will cease on and after January 1, 1900.

Any holder of any of the bonds above designated, upon presentation and surrender thereof, may receive payment at any time prior to January 1, 1900, at the rate of 110 and interest accrued to date of presentation.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.
By G. SHERMAN, Vice President.

New York, November 13, 1899.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that the 898 Registered Bonds were designated by lot in our presence as above stated.
FRED C. RANDALL,
With Central Trust Company of New York.
A. H. KENT,
Of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company.
FRANK B. SMIDT,
Notary Public, New York County.

NOTICE TO HOLDERS
OF
CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF N. Y.
Certificates for Stock of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company.

The Voting Trust under which the Central Trust Company of New York have issued Certificates of deposit on behalf of the Voting Trustees for stock of the BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT COMPANY terminates on January 1st, 1900.

After that date, on surrender of the certificates of deposit, endorsed in blank, regular Certificates of Stock of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company will be issued therefor.

Revenue stamps will be required when stock is desired in a different name from those in which the certificates of deposit stand.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK

KNICKERBOCKER TRUST CO
234 FIFTH AVE., COR. 27TH ST.
BRANCH OFFICE, 66 BROADWAY.
CAPITAL $1,000,000.00
Legal Depository for State, City and Court Moneys.
INTEREST ALLOWED ON TIME DEPOSITS.
Separate Department with special facilities for Ladies.
Checks Drawn may be cashed at either office.
Takes entire charge of Real Estate, Mortgages, etc.
CHARLES T. BARNEY, President.
FRED'K L. ELDRIDGE, 1st Vice-President.
JOSEPH T. BROWN, 2d Vice-President.
ALFRED B. MACLAY, Sec. and Treas.
FRED'K GORE KING, Ass't Sec. & Ass't. Treas.
WILLIAM B. RANDALL, Trust Officer.

N. Y. SECURITY & TRUST CO.
46 WALL STREET, NEW YORK.
Capital and Surplus . . . $3,000,000
CHARLES S. FAIRCHILD, President.
Wm. L. Strong, 1st V.P.; Abram M. Hyatt, 2d V.P.; Osborn W. Bright, Sec.; Zelah Van Loan, Asst. Sec.

FINANCIAL.

Financial Summary for 1899

THE EVENING POST will publish on Saturday, December 30, a special summary of the financial movements of 1899.

The tables in this edition will be the most complete and comprehensive ever compiled. They will comprise, beside the highest, lowest, and closing prices, and net changes of the year, in all securities dealt in on the Stock Exchange, the similar statistics of important securities government and corporation, dealt in on the foreign Stock Exchanges.

It will also contain the year's record in the commercial markets, with the highest, lowest, and closing prices, and net changes, in iron, cotton, wheat, corn, and other commodities; the date of the high and low prices in such markets, and, for comparison, the "record prices" of the present generation. The high and low prices of the last twenty-five years in American and European Government bonds, and in the principal home and foreign railway securities, with the accompanying dates, will be appended. Similar tables will be included for the money market; the sterling exchange market; the reserves, deposits, and loans of the New York City banks and of the principal European banks; the holdings of the United States Treasury; the export and import trade in merchandise, gold, and silver of the United States and of Great Britain. These tables will specifically cover the year 1899, and generally the past twenty-five years. They will be compactly and conveniently arranged so as to make a table of reference complete both as to the extraordinary financial year now closing and the checkered financial generation of which it is a part.

These tables, never hitherto brought together, will be invaluable to any well-equipped banking or economic library.

The edition containing these special features will be published in New York promptly at the close of the financial markets on the last business day of the year, and will be mailed to out-of-town subscribers at that time.

The Evening Post
Cor. B'way & Fulton St., N. Y.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company.
OFFICE OF THE TREASURER.
GENERAL OFFICE, PHILADELPHIA,
DECEMBER 13, 1899.

To the Stockholders of the Pennsylvania R. R. Co.

At a meeting of the board held this day the following resolution was, on motion, adopted:

"Resolved, That, for the purpose of providing a portion of the necessary capital for construction and equipment expenditures, during the year 1900, on the main and leased lines and branches, and for other corporate purposes, the privilege be given to stockholders of the Company to subscribe, at par, between December 27th, 1899, and January 20th, 1900, ON WHICH LATTER DATE THE PRIVILEGE WILL CEASE, for ten per cent. of their respective holdings as they stand registered at three o'clock P. M. on December 26, 1899. The privilege of subscribing may be sold by any stockholder. Payment in full for such stock may be made after January 14th, and must be made not later than January 20th, 1900. Receipts, which will also be negotiable, will be given bearing interest at the rate of five per cent. from January 20th to May 1st, 1900, (being 70 cents per share,) at which time said receipts will cease to bear interest.

"Certificates for the new Stock will be delivered on and after May 1st, 1900, on surrender of the receipts. Receipts covering fractions of shares will be converted into Stock when presented in multiples of Fifty dollars. All receipts must be presented for conversion before January 1st, 1901, on and after which date they will only be redeemed, at par, in cash."

Blank forms, giving the particulars of the payments as above recited, forms of subscription, and allotment of privilege, etc., can be obtained on application at this office after December 20, 1899.

Stockholders desiring their new Certificates for full shares by May 1st must deposit their receipts with the Transfer Department of the Company on or before March 15th, 1900. For all receipts for full shares deposited after that date, and for all fractional receipts, Certificates will be ready for delivery as soon after May 1st as practicable, of which notice will be given.

ROBT. W. SMITH, Treasurer.

REDEMPTION NOTICE NO. 7
GEORGIA PACIFIC RAILWAY CO.
EQUIPMENT MORTGAGE BONDS, DATED JULY 17, 1889.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that fifty (50) of the Equipment Mortgage Bonds of the Georgia Pacific Railway Company were this day drawn for the Sinking Fund in accordance with the requirements of Article Three of the Trust Mortgage, numbered as follows, viz.:

63	266	365	531	680	811	920
84	295	368	549	714	812	923
103	296	383	552	716	819	931
153	305	406	553	721	857	932
164	327	463	607	725	874	937
221	350	516	668	779	917	993
252	351	522	675	787	913	995
239

All future interest of any of the bonds so designated ceases with the coupons due February 1st, 1900, in accordance with the terms of the Mortgage.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK,
By E. F. Hyde, 2d Vice President.

New York, November 1, 1899.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that the fifty bonds were designated by lot in our presence as above stated.
FRED C. RANDALL,
With Central Trust Co. of N. Y.
R. D. LANKFORD,
Of Georgia Pacific Railway Co.
FRANK B. SMIDT,
Notary Public, N. Y. Co.

In accordance with the foregoing certificate, said mentioned bonds, and the coupons therefrom maturing February 1st, 1900, will be paid at this office on or after the first day of February, 1900, at par.
Central Trust Company of New York, Trustee,
By E. F. Hyde, Second Vice President.

The Trust Co. of America,
149 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Capital and Surplus, $5,000,000.
ASHBEL P. FITCH.....President.
WILLIAM H. LEUPP, Vice-President. WILLIAM BARNUM, Vice-President.
RAYMOND J. CHATRY, Secretary. HENRY S. MANNING, Vice-President.
ALBERT L. BANISTER, Treasurer. LAWRENCE O. MURRAY, Trust Officer.

FINANCIAL.

Flint & Pere Marquette R. R. Co.
Detroit, Grand Rapids & West'n R.R. Co.
Chicago & West Michigan R'way Co.

NOTICE OF CONSUMMATION OF PLAN.

The Plan for the union and readjustment of the capitalization of the railroad companies above named has been consummated in accordance with the Agreement of May 20, 1899, by the acquisition of the railroads, properties, and franchises of the three companies by the Pere Marquette Railroad Company, a corporation organized for the purpose under the laws of Michigan, with a capital stock of $28,000,000, consisting of $12,000,000 of four per cent. non-cumulative preferred shares and $16,000,000 of common shares.

The stockholders of the Flint & Pere Marquette Railroad Company who assented to the plan will receive engraved certificates for the new stock to which they are entitled under the plan and also a cash dividend of two per cent. upon their old preferred stock, upon the presentation and surrender of their certificates of deposit to The State Trust Company, in New York, or to the International Trust Company of Boston on or after Wednesday, December 27, 1899.

The assenting stockholders of the Detroit, Grand Rapids & Western Railroad Company and of the Chicago & West Michigan Railway Company will receive engraved certificates for the new stock to which they are entitled, and in the case of the preferred stock of the Detroit, Grand Rapids & Western Railroad Company, a cash dividend of three per cent., upon the presentation and surrender of their certificates of deposit, on or after the date above mentioned, to the Old Colony Trust Company in Boston, or to Messrs. Robert Winthrop & Co., No. 40 Wall Street, New York.

Dated December 22, 1899.

WILLIAM W. CRAPO, Chairman;
MARK T. COX,
JOHN M. GRAHAM,
CHARLES M. HEALD,
CHARLES MERRIAM,
OLIVER W. MINK,
THOMAS F. RYAN,
NATHANIEL THAYER,
} Committee.

FLINT & PERE MARQUETTE R. R. CO.
DIVIDEND NOTICE.

The Board of Directors of Flint and Pere Marquette Railroad Company have declared a dividend of two per cent. upon the preferred stock of the Company, payable to the stockholders of record as of this date.

Dated December 22, 1899.
HENRY C. POTTER, Jr., Treasurer.

DETROIT, GRAND RAPIDS & WESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.
DIVIDEND NOTICE.

The Board of Directors of Detroit, Grand Rapids & Western Railroad Company have declared a dividend of three per cent. upon the preferred stock of the Company, payable to the stockholders of record as of this date.

Dated December 22, 1899.
CHARLES MERRIAM, Treasurer.

COMMERCIAL TRUST COMPANY
OF NEW JERSEY,
55 Montgomery Street, Jersey City.
Capital, $500,000.
Surplus, 500,000.
Transacts a General Banking and Trust Business.
Allows interest on deposits subject to check and on certificates of deposit.
Loans money on Bond and Mortgage.
Acts as Trustee under Corporate Mortgages, and as Registrar and Transfer Agent for Corporations.

Special attention and facilities offered to all corporations organized under the laws of New Jersey.

OFFICERS.
JOHN W. HARDENBERGH ..President
GEORGE W. YOUNG, ROBERT S. ROSS, } ..Vice-Presidents
OSCAR L. GUBELMAN ..Sec. and Treas.

DIRECTORS.

Walter E. Ammon,	Luther Kountze,
Joseph S. Auerbach,	Henry Lembeck,
Charles T. Barney,	James A. Macdonald,
Marcus Beach,	Frank J. Mathews,
August Belmont,	Allan L. McDermott,
C. Ledyard Blair,	James G. Morgan,
Frederick G. Bourne,	N. Thayer Robb,
William Brinkerhoff,	Robert S. Ross,
John D. Carscallen,	Edwin A. Stevens,
C. C. Cuyler,	Benjamin L. Stowe,
Jacob J. Detwiller,	Eben B. Thomas,
John W. Hardenbergh	Myles Tierney,
J. H. Hyde,	Augustus H. Vanderpool
Robert M. Jarvis,	John J. Voorhees,
Gustav E. Kissel,	George W. Young,
Augustus Zabriskie.

TO THE HOLDERS OF THE
Preferred and Common Stock
OF THE
Distilling Company of America

At the request of holders of shares of the Preferred and Common Stock of the Distilling Company of America to a large amount, the undersigned have consented to act as a Committee to institute an inquiry into the affairs of the Company, to recommend such action as may seem advisable, and generally to protect the interests of the depositors.

An appropriate agreement has been lodged with The Mercantile Trust Company, 120 Broadway, New York City; and stockholders desiring to be represented by the Committee are invited to deposit their certificates of stock, on or before January 6th, 1900, with said Company, which will issue its negotiable receipts therefor. The Committee will, as soon as possible, submit to the depositors an agreement embodying a further plan of action, and to afford opportunity to the depositors either to participate therein or to withdraw the shares deposited without expense.

Dated New York, December 26th, 1899.

WILLIAM L. BULL,
WILLIAM F. HARRITY,
RUDOLPH KEPPLER,
ALVIN W. KRECH,
RICHARD SUTRO,
Committee.

GUY RICHARDS, Sec'y, 120 Broadway, N. Y.

TO THE HOLDERS OF Interim Certificates
FOR FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
OF THE
Consolidated Water Company OF UTICA.

The above-described interim certificates may be exchanged for bonds on and after January 3d, 1900, upon presentation at our office, No. 30 Broad Street.
CONTINENTAL TRUST COMPANY OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
WILLARD V. KING, Secretary.

LIQUID AIR.
THE MARVEL OF THE CENTURY.
It will take the place of ice. It will be used as a motive power, as an anaesthetic, and for many other purposes.
NATIONAL LIQUID AIR COMPANY
is now offering stock at
$2.50 A SHARE.
(Par value $10; full paid and non-assessable.)
Subscription by mail or in person. Make checks or money orders payable to
NATIONAL LIQUID AIR CO.,
124 World Building, New York.
Send for circular.

"OUTSIDE" SECURITIES
DEALT IN.
DAVID PFEIFFER, 18 Wall St.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

New York, Dec. 16, 1899.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKholders of the Henry Elias Brewing Company for the election of five Directors for the year 1900, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting, will be held at the office of the Company at 403 East 54th Street, in the City of New York, on the 15th day of January, 1900, at 3 o'clock P. M. The transfer books will be closed on the 16th day of December, 1899, at six o'clock P. M., and will remain closed until the 16th day of January, 1900.
JOSEPH F. LIPPE, Sec'y.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKholders of the Astoria Light, Heat and Power Company for the election of Directors to serve during the ensuing year, and for such other business as may come before the stockholders, will be held at No. 32 Liberty Street, on Monday, January 8th, 1900. Polls open from 12 M. to 1 P. M. Transfer books will close on Saturday, December 23d, 1899, at 12 M. and reopen on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900.
FRANCIS R. FORAKER, Secretary.

The Western National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
9th December, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the stockholders of this Bank for the election of Directors and such other business as may come before it will be held at the Banking House, No. 15 Nassau Street, on TUESDAY, January 9th, 1900. The Polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M.
H. A. SMITH, Cashier.

The Greenwich Bank of the City of New York,
New York, Dec. 27, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank and Inspectors of the next election will be held at the banking house, No. 402 Hudson St., on Monday, January 8, 1900. The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M. The transfer books will be closed until after the election.
WILLIAM A. HAWES, Cashier.

THE BANK OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK.
New York, Dec. 4, 1899.
The annual meeting of the Stockholders of this bank for the election of Directors and Inspectors of Election for the ensuing year will be held at the Banking House, 33 William Street, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 11 o'clock A. M. and noon.
R. L. EDWARDS, President.

Lincoln National Bank,
32-42 EAST 42D ST.,
New York, December 23d, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the shareholders of this bank, for the election of Directors for the ensuing year, will be held at the banking house, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
W. T. CORNELL, Cashier.

The Bank of New York,
National Banking Association.
New York, Dec. 8th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 48 Wall Street, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900.
The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
CHAS. OLNEY, Cashier.

National Broadway Bank of the City of New York,
New York, Dec. 11th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the banking house, No. 237 Broadway, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
CHAS. J. DAY, Cashier.

The Mechanics' National Bank of the City of New York,
Dec. 9th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 33 Wall Street, on TUESDAY, Jan. 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
G. W. GARTH, Cashier.

Garfield National Bank.
New York, December 28, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of this Bank, for the election of Directors and such other business as may come before said meeting, will be held at the Banking House, 23d Street and Sixth Av., on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of eleven A. M. and 12 M.
R. W. POOR, Cashier.

The Bowery Bank of New York.
New York, December 28, 1899.
The annual meeting of the shareholders of this Bank, for the election of DIRECTORS for the ensuing year will be held at the Banking House, Number 62 Bowery, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of three (3) and four (4) P. M.
CHARLES ESSIG, Cashier.

The Hanover National Bank of the City of New York,
NEW YORK, December 8th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the banking house, 9 and 11 Nassau Street, on TUESDAY, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 o'clock A. M. and 1 o'clock P. M.
WILLIAM HALLS, Jr., Cashier.

The Merchants' National Bank of the City of New York,
December 7th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking room, No. 42 Wall Street, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
JOSEPH W. HARRIMAN, Cashier.

Nineteenth Ward Bank,
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of this Bank, for the election of Officers and Directors, and Inspectors of Election, will be held at the banking house on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock A. M.
L. H. HOLLOWAY, Cashier.

The Importers' and Traders' National Bank of New York,
New York, December 22d, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at its banking rooms, corner of Broadway and Murray Street, Tuesday, January 9th, 1900. The poll will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M.
EDWARD TOWNSEND, Cashier.

Mount Morris Bank.
The annual election for Directors of this Bank for the ensuing year will be held at the Banking House, No. 85 East 125th Street, on Thursday, January 4th, 1900, between the hours of three and four o'clock P. M.
FRED'K W. LIVERMORE, Cashier.

Fourteenth Street Bank,
3 East 14th Street.
New York, Dec. 26, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house on Tuesday, January 9, 1900, between the hours of 9:30 and 10:30 A. M.
IRVING C. GAYLORD, Cashier.

West Side Bank,
New York, Dec. 25th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking room, Nos. 485 and 487 Eighth Avenue, on Tuesday, the 9th day of January, 1900, between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M.
THEO. M. BERTINE, Cashier.

THE NATIONAL BANK OF THE REPUBLIC.
New York, December 7th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the Banking House on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
C. H. STOUT, Cashier.

DIVIDENDS.

Havana Commercial

THE FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks irregular.

STOCK TRANSACTIONS.

	Shares.
Dec. 28	664,800
To date this year	171,819,782
Corresponding date last year	114,659,892

BOND TRANSACTIONS.

Dec. 28	$2,255,020
To date this year	$833,017,130
Corresponding date last year	$916,235,710

Money rate: Collateral loans on call, 4½@5½ per cent.; at three months, 6 per cent.; at six months, 6 per cent. Commercial paper, sixty to ninety days, 6 per cent.

***

Net changes in stocks of one-half of 1 per cent. or more were:

Stocks Advanced.

Am. C. & F. pf	½	H. B. Claflin	1½
Am. Ice	2½	Hocking Valley	¾
Am. Malting	⅝	Illinois Centeral	1¼
Am. Malt. pf	2	Int. Paper pf	½
Am. S. & R. pf	1¼	Iowa Cent. pf	1½
Am. S. & W. pf	1	Kanawha & Mich	1
Am. S. Hoop pf	1	Laclede Gas	4
Am. Tin Plate pf	2	Manhattan Con	1
Am. Tobacco	2¾	Met. Street Railway	4½
Am. Tob. pf	2	Mt. W. S. El., C.	2
Balt. & Ohio	⅝	Minn. & St. L.	¾
B'klyn Rapid Trans.	3⅛	Nat. Steel	1
B'klyn Un. Gas	3½	Nat. Steel pf	6½
Chi. Cons. Tract	1½	N. Y. Central	½
Chi. & East. Ill	2½	N. Y., N. H. & H.	2
Chi. G. W. pf., B.	⅝	N. Y., C. & St. L.	2d
Chi. G. W. deb	1¼	pf	2
Chi. M. & St. P. pf.	2½	Pacific Coast	4½
Chi. & N. W.	2	Pacific Mail	¾
Chi., R. I. & Pac.	⅝	P., C., C. & St. L.	4⅝
C., C., C. & St. L.	⅞	Pressed Steel Car	1
C., C., C. & St. L. pf	2¼	Presed S. C. pf	2
Cleve., L. & W. pf	½	Pullman Car	1
Col. Fuel & Iron	2¼	Reading	½
Col. So. 1st pf	1	St. Paul & Om	½
Cent. Tobacco pf	1	Tenn. Coal & Iron	1
Delaware & Hudson	1⅜	Twin City R. T.	7
Del., L. & W.	1	Union Bag & Paper	1
Den. & Rio Grande	⅝	U. S. Rubber pf	1½
Dul., S. S. & A. pf	1¼	W. & L. E. 1st pf	⅝
Evans. & T. H. pf	1	W. & L. E. 2d pf	2
General Electric	1	Wis. Central	1⅜
Great North. pf	1⅛	Wis. Central pf	1⅞

Stocks Declined.

Am. Steel & Wire	½	Louis. & Nash	½
Am. Sugar Ref	2½	M. & St. L. 2d pf	⅝
Am. Steel Hoop	½	Nat. Lead pf	¾
Balt. & Ohio pf	¾	N. J. Central	⅝
Chi. G. W. pf., A	½	N. Y. Air Brake	¾
Chi., M. & St. P	⅞	Rep. Steel pf	⅞
Chi. Term. Tr. pf	¾	Third Avenue	2⅛
Glucose Sugar	1	West. Union Tel	½

***

Net changes in bonds of 1 per cent. or more were:

Bonds Advanced.

Ann Arbor 4s	1	Green Bay. Deb. A.	1
At., T. & S. F. gen.	1	Iowa Cent. 1st	2
Balt. & O. prior lien	1	L., Ev. & St. L. con. 5s, I. T.	2¾
B'klyn R. T. 5s	1	Manhattan 4s	2¾
B'klyn Un. El. 1st	1½	Missouri Pacific con.	2
Cent. of Ga. con. 5s	1	Mo. Pac. coll. g. 5s	1
Cent. of Ga. 1st pf. inc	2	Mobile & Ohio gen.	1
Cent. of N. J. gen	2	Norf. & West. con.	1
C., B. & B., Neb. 4s	1	San A. & A. P. 4s	3½
C., M. & St. P., I. D. & D. Ext. 7s	3	So. Pac., Cal., 5s, sta.	1¼
C., C., C. & St. L. gen. 4s	2⅞	Stand. R. & T. inc.	1
		Stand. R. & T. 6s	1
		Wabash, Deb. A.	1

Bonds Declined.

C., B. & Q. deb. 5s	1	Col. South. 1st	1¼
Chi. & Ind. Coal Ry. 1st	2	Scioto V. & N. E. 4s	4

MARKET CONDITIONS.

Stock market quotations yesterday were buoyant up to the last hour of business; then they receded sharply. Covering for the short account was the conspicuous feature in early transactions. Many interesting and cheering reports were current, not all of which were confirmable, but there was a receptiveness for every manner of optimism, and market values advanced easily.

Purchases by investors, and notable purchases in small amounts of stocks to be paid for and taken wholly out of the Street, figured conspicuously. Quite apart from what professional views may be, there is small doubt of the confidence of the general public in the strength of the current business situation.

***

Money market conditions—and this involves every feature pertaining to gold exportation—change not at all toward any discouraging status. Gold shipments may reach larger figures than have yet been forecast, but even that development would not change the fact—well understood now in every quarter—that the United States has the yellow metal in such volume that it can meet every draft without embarrassment. Ours is the only nation of the world that can spare gold with readiness—in sparing it show financial strength.

It may be, of course, that gold shipments can be used against the security market here as a bear influence, but the ultimate bearing must be on the helpful side.

***

To-morrow, the last business day of the year, will be preliminary to opinions and plans and movements that have to do with Congressional action. With the opening of the new year Wall Street will probably plunge enthusiastically into forecasts of the Senate's adoption of a currency bill which will benefit every investment and business interest—and there will incidentally be attending prospects for shipping subsidies and other business helps.

BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit had another sensational day of it yesterday. The trading in it was so enormous that over 100,000 shares changed hands, while the range of prices marked a difference of over 6 full points, with the low figure at 68¾ and the high at 74¾. The close was at 71¾, a net gain for the day, however, of 3⅛ points.

This late decline was probably due to the distinctly disappointing feeling, following the negative action of the Grand Jury in respect to the investigation before it. Conservative and non-sensational interests on the Street had hoped that some action would be taken which might more or less effectually stop rumor-mongering.

As on recent days there were many stories concerning the property, but like the many other reports which from time to time have been circulated nothing substantial upon which to found these stories could be obtained.

It was said, apropos of the coming annual meeting of the company, not only that the talked-of new interests in control of the company would then appear beyond doubt, but that the strength of these interests would be disclosed by the placing on the Board of Directors of a personal representative of Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt. This, however, is an old story revived—though that does not necessarily signify that there may not be something in it. The certainty is, however, that nothing official on the subject can be learned.

Another story had it that Mr. James R. Keene had been enlisted on the bull side of the stock. The Street gave scant attention to such a fanciful story.

It does appear that there still is a large short interest in the stock, and that every effort on the part of these shorts to cover is being vigorously resisted. Standard Oil buying of the stock continues.

EXTRAORDINARY EARNINGS.

The strength of Colorado Fuel and Iron yesterday was due directly to the excellent showing made by the company in November, its net earnings in that month increasing $114,168. The complete figures were $220,200, as compared with $115,031 in 1898. For the five months ending Nov. 30 the earnings were $803,380, an increase of $447,350, the increase alone being greater than the entire earnings of the same five months in 1898, the total of which was $356,025.

Inasmuch as the fixed charges of the company, including bond interest, taxes, and preferred stock dividend, are $400,000 for the twelve months ending June 30, 1900, this means that in the first five months of its fiscal year the company has not only earned all these charges but has a surplus left of over $200,000.

CONTINUING ITS ADVANCE.

Metropolitan Street Railway, which on Wednesday gained over 9 points, continued its wonderful advance yesterday, at one time being nearly 10 points higher than Wednesday's best figure, allowing for the fact that the stock yesterday was selling ex-dividend of 1¾ per cent. Profit-taking toward the end of the day forced the price down several points lower, to 173½, though this of itself was a net gain for the day of 4⅝ points with the dividend off.

Factors contributing to this rise were good commission house buying, the return as purchasers of what may be termed the inside element, and the apparently small supply of floating stock when the shorts undertook to cover.

DISAPPOINTING STATEMENT.

St. Paul, which has a habit of disappointing the Street at most unexpected moments, yesterday put out its statement of earnings for the month of November, showing a decrease in net earnings for the month of over $70,000. At once—as, indeed, has always been the case when a disappointing St. Paul statement has been published—the Street jumped to the conclusion that the business of the road was falling off, and a mild rush to sell was made, with the result that it looked for a time as if the entire market might be depressed.

Later, a better feeling manifested itself, when it appeared that the decrease was due not to any less business, but rather to extra "operating expenses," in which are included moneys for betterments, &c. In fact, the gross earnings for the month increased $322,230, with a total of $4,022,690; but to offset this there was an increase of more than $593,000 in "operating expenses," thus explaining the decline in net earnings.

As a result of the statement the common stock at the close marked a loss of seven-eighths of a point from the previous day, though before the statement it had shown a gain.

TWO LOCAL TRACTION STOCKS.

At one time yesterday Manhattan had appreciated fully 3 points beyond the high figure of the day previous, but in the afternoon a decline set in, and the quotation fell off several points, closing at 96, a net gain for the day of 1 point. It is said that leading houses which recently have been bearish on the stock have turned bullish.

Third Avenue, which lately has advanced with the other local traction stocks, did not share in yesterday's rise, but instead declined 2¼ points on sales of less than 1,500 shares. There was no news concerning the property, and the cause for the depression does not appear.

SUGAR'S DECLINE.

For the first time in several days American Sugar yesterday scored a decline for the day, the loss being 2½ points on sales of about 71,000 shares. Throughout the day the stock was erratic, at one time showing evidences of strength, at another of weakness. Toward the close of the trading, however, the element bearing the stock seemed to have gotten control and forced the price down to 127½, though a rally of a half point came later, at which quotation the market closed.

It is said there is still a large short interest in the stock at 120, composed chiefly of consolidated houses, and that that interest is working for a further decline.

There is more or less speculation as to probable developments at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the company to be held Jan. 10. It is believed that at that meeting a definite plan of action in respect to the sugar war, whether looking to its continuance or cessation, will be formulated.

TALK OF EXTRA PRIVILEGES.

The advance of 1 point in the common stock of Pressed Steel Car was on reports that the common stockholders are shortly to receive a full year's dividend, half for the past half year and half for the first six months of the present year. The preferred stock rose 2 points on the belief that the preferred shareholders would in some way or other share in the rumored extra privileges to be distributed.

AN OLD STORY REVIVED.

Louisville and Nashville yesterday declined a half point in the face of a revival of the story that an increased dividend was not improbable. The report was not officially confirmed. Earnings of the company, it is pointed out, continue steadily to improve.

LARGE LOANS ON TOBACCO.

The knowledge that a number of large time loans of money have within the past few days been made on American Tobacco stocks, indicating that the purchasing interests are in to stay, gave additional strength to the stocks yesterday, the common gaining 2⅜ points and the preferred 2.

NEW CO-TRUSTEE NAMED.

At a meeting of the holders of the third mortgage bonds of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company yesterday afternoon John S. Kennedy was appointed a co-trustee in the place of the late John N. Hutchinson.

SURPLUS FOR DIVIDENDS.

The statement of earnings of the Wheeling and Lake Erie from July 1 to Nov. 30, shows that after payment of $272,330 for taxes, interest, and dividend on the first preferred stock, there is left a surplus of $104,970 applicable to the second preferred.

BANK OF ENGLAND'S STATEMENT.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes: Total reserve increased £511,000, circulation decreased £465,000, bullion increased £46,750, other securities increased £425,000, other deposits increased £830,000, public deposits increased £1,102,000, notes reserve increased £533,000, Government securities increased £1,000,000. The proportion of the Bank of England's reserve to liability is 36.57 per cent. Last week it was 36.08 per cent.

Rate of discount unchanged at 6 per cent.

WALL STREET TOPICS.

Report of the Secretary of State of South Carolina showing that there were twenty-six cotton mills chartered and commissioned in that State during the present year.

Election of H. P. Wertheim and W. A. C. Bostwick to membership in the Stock Exchange.

Increase of 99 per cent. Colorado Fuel and Iron's net earnings for November.

Sale on the Stock Exchange of 25 shares of Corn Exchange Bank stock at 370.

No change in the Bank of England rate of discount.

Approval of the stockholders of the Florida Central and Peninsular for a consolidation with the Seaboard Air Line.

American Sugar Refining Company to elect three Directors at the annual meeting on Jan. 10.

Officials of the larger anthracite coal companies quoted as saying that that industry is at present in better condition than at any time since 1892.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call was 4½@5½ per cent., closing at 5 per cent.

Time money, 6 per cent. for all periods. Mercantile paper, 6 per cent. for sixty to ninety days' indorsements, 6 per cent. for choice four to six months' single names, and 7@8 per cent. for others.

Clearing House statement: Exchanges, $193,049,188; balances, $9,185,321; Sub-Treasury debit balance, $1,930,507.

Money on call in London at 4½ per cent. Rate of discount in open market, 6¾@7 per cent. for short and 6¾@6¾ per cent. for three months' bills.

Foreign exchange dull and steady. Nominal rates were $4.82 for sixty days and $4.88½ for demand. Rates for actual business closed as follows: Sixty days, $4.81⅝@$4.81½; demand, $4.87½; cables, $4.88⅛; commercial bills, $4.86¼@$4.82.

Continental exchange was quoted as follows: Francs, 5.23⅜ and 5.19⅜ less 1-16@5.20; reichsmarks, 93⅝ and 94 11-16; guilders at 39⅞ and 40 3-16.

Exchange on New York at domestic centres: Boston—par. Chicago—20c premium. New Orleans—Commercial, $1.25 discount; bank, par. San Francisco—Sight, 12½c premium; telegraphic, 15c premium. Charleston—Buying, par; selling, ⅛ premium. Savannah—Buying, ⅛ off; selling, par. St. Louis—$1 discount. Cincinnati—Between banks, par; over counter, 50c premium.

THE LONDON MARKET.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—American securities opened good, with prices for the most part above parity. Afterward they were below the best, with a disposition to wait and see what Wall Street would do. The final tone was steady.

Consols for money and the account, 98⅞; Canadian, 98¼; Erie, 11⅝; Erie first preferred, 33; Illinois Central, 112½; Union Pacific preferred, 75½; St. Paul, 120⅝; New York Central, 133⅜; Pennsylvania, 67¼; Reading, 9; Northern Pacific preferred, 74⅜; Atchison, 20; Louisville, 79⅝; Grand Trunk, 6⅝; Anaconda, 7⅞.

Money, 4½ per cent. Rate of discount in the open market for short bills, 6⅜@7 per cent., and for three months' bills, 6⅝@6¾ per cent.

Spanish 4s, 64½.

The amount of bullion taken into the Bank of England on balance to-day was £356,000, including £293,000 in American eagles. Gold premiums: Buenos Ayres, 129.10; Madrid, 27.50; Lisbon, 43.50; Rome, 7.22½.

Bar silver closed firm at 27⅛d per ounce.

In Continental Centres.

PARIS, Dec. 28.—Prices were firm throughout on the Bourse to-day, especially in the case of international securities. Yesterday's influx of American gold into the Bank of England and the improvement in the New York stock market caused many repurchases. Spanish 4s recovered sharply. Portuguese securities occasioned great attention, owing to the reports of the occupation of Delagoa Bay, Portuguese East Africa, by Great Britain. Kafirs were weak, in consequence of continued forced sales in London. On the Street, after the close of regular business on the Bourse, there was a slight recovery in Kafirs, which was followed, however, by a fresh decline. Three per cent. rentes, 99f 7½c for the account. Exchange on London, 25f 33c for checks. Spanish 4s, 65.35.

The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows the following changes: Notes in circulation increased 89,320,000f, Treasury accounts current increased 8,800,000f, gold in hand decreased 5,425,000f, bills discounted increased 150,000,000f, and silver in hand decreased 5,900,000f.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—Prices on the Boerse to-day were firm, being encouraged by foreign advices and cheaper money. Exchange on London, 20 marks 58½ pfennigs for checks. Private rate of discount, 6⅛ per cent.

FRANKFORT, Dec. 28.—On the Boerse to-day prices were strong. International securities improved. Americans were higher, particularly Northern Pacifics.

MADRID, Dec. 28.—Spanish fours closed at 75.95.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Dec. 28.—The stock market developed little of an interesting character to-day. In the coppers, Utah, by virtue of a sharp advance from 27 to 30, was the feature. To-day's high price was 7 points above the low figure within a week. Arcadian was up to 23¼. Montana to 200½. Old Dominion to 19½. Calumet and Hecla sold at 715 and 720. Osceola at from 68 to 69. Winona lost 1, to 4. Butte sold at 44. Tamarack was up 5, to 170, and Parrot dropped from 37 to 36, but rallied to 38½.

In the general list New England Gas and Coke touched 21¼. Dominion Coal was quoted at 45. Cochiti at 12½. Bell Telephone gained 2, to 344. United States Oil sold in a small way at 23¼ and 23½. New Haven advanced to 212. Zinc broke to 14½, but rallied later. The list as a whole closed quiet but moderately firm.

At the Clearing House the rate between banks was 6 per cent., and New York funds sold at par. On call money ruled from 6@7 per cent. There were few collateral loans, and business was largely in the shape of renewals. The best names and collateral passed at 6 per cent. for four to six months. Brokers say that business in commercial paper is practically at a standstill. Quotations for best names range from 6@7 per cent.

Closing bid and asked:

Mining Stocks.

	Bid.	Asked.		Bid.	Asked.
Adventure	6½	7	Old Colony	4	5
Allouez	2¾	3¼	Old Domin.	19	20
Arcadian	23	24½	Osceola	68	69
Arnold	5	5½	Parrot	38	38½
Ash Bed		1	Pioneer	2	2⅛
Atlantic	22½	25	Quincy	137½	140
Baltic	16½	17½	Rhode Isla'd		5¼
Bost. & C. C.	25	30	Santa Fe	4¾	5
Bost. & Mon.	258	260	Santa Ysabel	7½	8
Butte & Bos.	42	45	Shoe	30
Cal. & Hec.	718	725	Tamarack	170
Centennial	16	17	Utah Cons.	29	29½
Franklin	13	13½	Washington	1¼	1½
Humboldt	1	2	White Knob	10½	12
Isle Royale	23	25	Winona	5	5½
Mohawk	14½	15½	Wolverine	37	38

Railroad Stocks.

Bost. & Alb.	246	250	Bost. Gas 5s.	77½	80
Bost. & Low.	241	..	Cent. Mass.	9	..
Bost. & Me.	199	200	Fitchburg pf.	115	120
Bost. & Prov.		300	West End	92	92¾
Bost. Elev.	97½	98

Miscellaneous Stocks.

Am. Bell Tel.	341	344	Mex. Tel.	3	3½
Chi. Sk. Yds.	130	..	N. Eng. Tel.	135	140
Dom. Coal	42½	..	U. S. Oil	22¾	23
D. Coal pf.	114	..	West. Elec.		39½
Erie Tel.	101½	102	West. El. pf.	..	63

CHICAGO QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—There was some improvement in local traction stocks to-day. Union Traction preferred opened at 76 and advanced to 77¾, closing at 77. The common closed at 30, a point advance over the start. Metropolitan Elevated preferred dropped a point from the opening at 77½, but closed at 79. The certificates sold at 26@26½ and the bonds at 93¾. Linseed preferred ranged from 53 to 54, opening at 53¼ and closing at 53⅝. Biscuit common advanced from 35¾ to 36¼, closing, however, at 35½. The preferred went from 89⅜ to 90¼, opening and closing at 90. Match closed at 121, a point below the opening.

		High.	Low.	Close.
601	American Linseed	13	12¼	12¾
1,502	American Linseed pf	54	53	53⅝
250	American Strawboard	29	29	29
222	American Tin Plate	28	27	27
200	Chicago Union Trac	30	29	30
242	Chic. Union Trac. pf	77¾	76	77
221	Diamond Match	122	121	121
50	Metropolitan Elevated	23½	23	23
490	Met. Elevated pf	79	76½	79
40	Milwaukee Brewing pf	15	15	15
2,812	National Biscuit	36¼	35¼	35½
386	National Biscuit pf	90¼	89⅜	90
90	National Carbon pf	80	80	81
1	National Steel pf	90	90	90
4	South Side Elevated	100	100	100
512	West Chicago	111	110½	110¼

BONDS.

		High.	Low.	Close.
$28,000	Met. Elevated gold 4s	95¾	95	95¾

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Stock market conditions continued to improve to-day. Prices moved upward steadily until the afternoon, when, in sympathy with New York's reaction and some realizing, there was a slight recession. In a few cases the earlier gains were wiped out, but in other instances net gains were reflected at the close. United Gas, which closed at 148 Wednesday, rose to 156, and then receded a point. Philadelphia Electric moved up to 6, and held there. Electric Storage Battery moved up from 75 to 83; the preferred from 80 to 86½. Cambria Steel advanced ⅝, to 20½; Tidewater Steel from 12⅜ to 14. Union Traction was active between 37¾ and 37⅝. All other changes were small fractions.

The close was steady, at these bid and asked prices:

	Bid.	Asked.		Bid.	Asked.
Cambria	20½	20¾	Union Trac.	37½	37⅝
Choctaw	34	35	U. Gas Imp.	154	155
El. Co. of A.	12¾	13	Welsbach L.	40	40½
Lehigh Val.	24¾	24⅞	W. N. Y. & Penn.	5	5⅛
Marsden	11	11¾
Phila. Trac.	94⅞	95¼

TREASURY BALANCES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—To-day's statement of the condition of the Treasury shows:

Available cash balance	$296,093,720
Gold reserve	238,092,108
Net silver	9,910,161
United States notes in the Treasury	16,602,013
Treasury notes of 1890	982,279
Total receipts this day	1,983,695
Total receipts this month	43,390,372
Total receipts this year	261,424,702
Total expenditures this day	2,080,000
Total expenditures this month	36,650,000
Total expenditures this year	261,271,000
Deposits in National banks	84,902,572
Silver bullion	103,884
National bank notes received for redemption	294,760
Government receipts:
From customs	1,242,242
Internal revenue	717,861
Miscellaneous	23,592

OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

Conditions directly the opposite of those recorded last week prevailed in the market for outside securities yesterday, and to the previous day's improvement were added a number of substantial advances. Selling pressure has almost entirely disappeared, and though the demand for stocks has not yet become as large as it was before the serious declines of last week, it is nevertheless sufficiently large to bring about important advances and to give a much better tone to the market. No stock was active to a larger extent than a few hundred shares, and, though the market was fairly broad, the total transactions for the day were small. Among the stocks which showed considerable improvement over Wednesday's figures were several of the electrical stocks, two or three of the important industrials, and one or two copper stocks.

NEW AMSTERDAM GAS recovered nearly its entire loss of the previous day, and bids for both issues of stocks, as well as for the bonds, closed with net gains of about 2 points. These advances were made practically without sales, as the bids were improved without meeting any stock. It seems to be the general opinion that the local gas situation has very much improved within the last two weeks, and that there is now considerable probability of a settlement being reached soon after the opening of the year. The fact pointed to with the greatest insistence is that identical bids were made by the several companies for supplying the city with gas, and this is taken as more than a mere coincidence.

HAVANA COMMERCIAL was offered for sale, and in both issues a decline resulted. In the preferred stock sales were made as low as 57, and the common stock was offered down to 14. Later, however, the bid for the preferred stock rallied a full point, and it closed unchanged for the day at 58 bid.

ELECTRICAL VEHICLE was in demand, with little stock offered. Early in the day common stock sold up to 65, and it closed with a fractional net gain at 62½ bid. No sales in the preferred stock were reported.

NEW YORK TRANSPORTATION shared the strength of Electrical Vehicle, advancing to 11¼. It reacted at the close, but the final figure showed a fractional net gain.

NEW ENGLAND TRANSPORTATION was offered down, and some of the stock changed hands as low as 5, but the price rallied almost immediately to 5⅝, and it closed at this figure with a net loss of an eighth of a point.

ELECTRIC BOAT enjoyed a very sharp advance on the report of a favorable test of the company's submarine boat. On Wednesday the common stock closed at 23 bid, and yesterday sales were effected as high as 28. At the close no stock was offered under 29¾, showing a net gain of about 4 points.

Among the industrial stocks in which considerable improvement showed yesterday were National Salt common, which advanced from 46½ to 48; American Woolen Goods preferred, which went from 75½ to 76½; International Pump common, from 14 to 15; Sloss-Sheffield common, from 26 to 29, and Standard Oil, which made a net gain of 7 points, closing at 458 bid.

AMERICAN BICYCLE preferred sold at 51½. This was a substantial decline from the last previous sale. Demand for the bonds was much better than that for the stocks, and the bid for this issue was advanced a full point, to 93½. No sales of the bonds were made.

GENERAL CARRIAGE was offered down from 45 to 20 without finding a bid. In view of the course of this stock during the past few days, it would seem that manipulation was the only explanation of the remarkable price which this stock reached a few weeks ago, when bids as high as 200 were made for it.

BRITISH COLUMBIA COPPER was the most active of the copper stocks. It sold to the extent of 500 shares at 10, and closed at 10 bid, a net gain of 1 point.

AMALGAMATED COPPER was traded in to the extent of only 300 shares, at figures fractionally higher than Wednesday's last sale. It sold ex dividend, and closed at 78¾ bid.

Closing quotations were as follows:

ACTIVE SECURITIES.

Gas Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Bay State Gas	1⅛	1¼
New Amsterdam	22½	23½
New Amsterdam pf	43	45
New Amsterdam 5s, with interest	95	98

Industrials.

American Agricultural Chemical	..	31
American Agricultural Chemical pf	77	78
American Bicycle	16	20
American Bicycle pf	50	60
American Bicycle bonds	93½	..
American Hide & Leather	..	35
American Hide & Leather pf	..	80
American Woolen Goods	20	20½
American Woolen Goods pf	76½	78
American Writing Paper 5s	85	88
Beet Sugar	17	25
Beet Sugar pf	70	77
Distilling Company of America	7⅝	7⅞
Distilling Company of America pf	22½	23
Electric Axle, Light & Power	5½	6½
Electric Boat	27	29¼
Electric Boat pf	38	41
Havana Commercial	13	14
Havana Commercial pf	58	59½
International Pump	15	16
International Pump pf	62	62½
National Cramophone	68	73
National Salt	48	49
National Salt pf	78	80
National Tube	41	43
National Tube pf	92	94
Otis Elevator	21	22
Otis Elevator pf	86	88
Royal Baking Powder	90	92
Rubber Goods Mfg.	25	27
Rubber Goods Mfg. pf	76	78
Sloss-Sheffield	29	..
Sloss-Sheffield pf	67	69
Standard Oil of New Jersey	458	465
Union Steel & Chain	15	..
Union Steel & Chain pf	..	65
U. S. Pneumatic Horse Collar	⅝	½

Miscellaneous.

Amalgamated Copper, ex div	78¾	79¼
American Air Power	30	40
American Cotton	..	50
Arizona Lead	10	10½
Asphalt Company of America	11½	12¾
British Columbia Copper	10	10½
Chicago & Alton sub	102	..
Chicago & Alton 3s, (new)	93	96
Electric Vehicle	62½	65
Electric Vehicle pf	..	100
*Electro-Pneumatic, assessment paid	1⅜	1⅝
Flemington Coal & Coke	19½	22
Illinois Transportation	2½	2⅝
*Markeen Copper	6½	7¾
Mexican 5s	97	98¼
New England Transportation	5⅜	5⅝
New York Gas & Electric 4s	88	89
New York Gas & Electric 5s	99	102
New York Transportation	10⅞	11
Pittsburg, Bessemer & Lake Erie	21	22
St. Louis subs	125	..
St. Louis common, when issued	..	28
St. Louis preferred, when issued	..	93
St. Louis 4s, when issued	..	94¾
Storage Power	13¼	14¼
Tennessee Copper	11¼	12
Trust Company of America	200	205
Virginia Coal, Iron & Coke	..	28
Whipsaw Copper	12⅜	13½

*Selling dollars per share. Par value, $10.

LESS ACTIVE SECURITIES.

Street Railways.

	Bid.	Asked.
Broadway & Seventh Avenue	235	240
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 1st	104	105
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 2d	110	112
Broadway Surface 1st 5s	115	117
Broadway Surface 2d	104	105
Brooklyn City Railroad	235	237
Brooklyn, Bath & West End 5s	102	103
Central Park, N. & E. River	198	..
Central Park, N. & E. River 7s	106	108
Chicago Union Traction	28	28¾
Chicago Union Traction, pf	79	79½
Columbus Railway	20	24
Columbus Railway pf	82	86
Con. Traction of N. J.	58	60
Con. Traction of N. J. 5s	106	108
Eighth Avenue Railroad	400	410
Kings County Elevated 4s, (new)	82	84
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av.	70	74
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av. 1st	115	117
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av. 2d	82	88
Nassau Electric 4s	90	94
Nassau Electric 5s	100	112
New Orleans Traction	28	30
New Orleans Traction pf	102	104
Ninth Avenue Railroad	190	205
North Jersey Street Railway	30½	32
North Jersey Street Railway 5s	98	100
Orange & Passaic Valley bonds	103	104
Steinway Railway Co. 6 p. c. 1st	117	118
Second Avenue Railroad consols	115½	117
Sixth Avenue Railroad	205	210
Syracuse Rapid Transit	12	18
Syracuse Rapid Transit pf	25	35
Union Railway 1st 5s	115	117
Union Railway stock	190	200
United Traction, Providence	110	113
Worcester (Mass.) Traction	..	30
Worcester (Mass.) Traction pf	104	107

Gas Companies.

Buffalo (N. Y.) stock	7	9
Buffalo (N. Y.) 1st with interest	..	74
Central Union 5s, guaranteed	103½	106
Consolidated Gas of Newark	..	55
Consolidated Gas of Newark bonds	..	103
Consolidated Gas bonds of N. J.	87½	89½
Consolidated Gas of N. J.	21⅝	23½
Consumers' Gas (Jersey City) bonds	102	105
Denver Gas	40	43
Denver Gas 5s	80	81
Essex & Hudson Gas	35	40
Fort Wayne Gas	35	39
Fort Wayne Gas 6s	60	64
Indianapolis Gas	100	105
Indianapolis Gas bonds	101	103
Lafayette Gas Co	40	45
Lafayette Gas Co. 1st 6s	60	65
Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas	35	40
Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas 6s	60	65
Mutual Gas of New York	300	..
Madison (Wis.) stock	81	83
New England Gas & Coke	..	22
New England Gas & Coke bonds	71	73
N. Y. & E. R. Gas Co. 1st	107	110
N. Y. & E. R. Gas Co. con	109	112
N. Y. Suburban Gas Co. con	102½	103½
North Hudson L., H. & P. Co.	55	58
North Hud L., H. & P. Co. bonds	107	109
Ohio & Indiana	35	38
Ohio & Indiana 1st 6s	60	65
St. Joseph (Mo.)	40	46
St. Joseph (Mo.) 6s	96	98
St. Paul Gas stock	89	91
St. Paul Gas bonds	89	91
Standard Gas, New York	190	..
Standard Gas, New York, pf	110	125
Standard Gas 1st	116	118
Syracuse Gas stock	14	16
Syracuse Gas 1st 5 per cent. bonds	85	90
Western Gas	103	105
Western Gas 1st 5s, with interest	105	106½

Ferry Companies.

Brooklyn Ferry	..	32
Brooklyn Ferry 5s	90	94
Hoboken Ferry, (new)	65	68
Hoboken Ferry con. 5s	91	93
Metropolitan Ferry 6s	108	110
Union Ferry	40	41
Union Ferry bonds	100	102

Industrials.

American Ginning	20	22
American Typefounders	51	53
Anderson Tobacco Company	10	12
Barney & Smith	15	20
Barney & Smith pf	..	100
Barney & Smith bonds	105	107
Consolidated Rubber Tire	7	..
Consolidated Rubber Tire pf	30	35
Cramps' Shipyard	30	33
General Chemical	89	..
General Chemical pf	97¾	100
Hudson River Telephone	115	118
Lorillard Company

course of perhaps 400,000 or 500,000 bales' trading. Good Liverpool prices and rumors of coming shortage combined to strengthen the market.

There were 18,000 sacks of coffee traded in on the Coffee Exchange. Although the market was not active, a considerable degree of strength was noticeable. The failure of the Santos firm of Gotz, Hayne & Co., which had a stimulating effect on the market on Wednesday, because of the belief that they owed coffee here, and that the goods they could not deliver would have to be bought elsewhere by those who had contracted for them, seemed to continue its bullish influence yesterday. The influence was largely a sentimental one, because it was learned that the firm did not owe coffee in this country at all.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE SALES

STOCKS.

Sales.		Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
3,483	Am. Steel & W...	46¼	47¼	45⅞	46¼
23,510	Am. Sugar Ref.	129¾	131½	127⅝	128⅝
890	Am. Tobacco ...	97¼	98⅛	96¼	98⅛
50	Am. T. & S. F...	19½	19½	19⅝	19⅜
2,430	Am. T. & S. F. pf.	59⅜	60⅜	59⅜	60
44,660	Brook. Rapid T.	68½	74⅜	67⅝	72
110	Ches. & Ohio...	29⅜	29½	29	29
6,570	C., B. & Q....	121⅜	122⅜	121	121⅜
4,890	C., M. & St. P.	118⅛	118⅞	117⅜	117⅝
390	C., R. I. & P.	107¼	107¼	106	106½
30	Col. Fuel & I.	40	40	40	40
830	Cont. Tobacco...	31⅜	32½	31¼	31⅜
5,820	Federal Steel ..	50⅝	51⅞	50	50¼
110	Fed. Steel pf....	72½	73	72¼	73
210	Louis. & Nash...	77½	78	77¼	77¼
4,890	Manhattan ...	94⅞	98⅜	94⅜	96¼
910	Mo. Pacific ...	39¼	40	39⅛	39⅜
20	N. Y. C. rights.	4	4	4	4
30	N. Y. O. & W....	22	22	22	22
10	Norfolk & W....	23⅜	23⅜	23⅜	23⅜
510	No. Pacific	53	53⅜	52⅜	52⅜
1,620	People's Gas ...	102	103½	101	102½
40	Reading ...	18	18	17⅜	17⅜
560	Reading 1st pf.	49⅜	50	49	49
50	Rep. Steel	20	20	20	20
3,020	Southern Pac ..	36½	37¼	36⅜	36⅝
60	Southern Ry. ..	11¾	11¾	11⅜	11⅜
50	Southern pf	53½	53½	53⅛	53⅛
120	Stand. R. & T.	9½	9½	e9	9½
160	Tenn. C. & I...	82⅝	84	82⅜	84
2,090	Union Pacific ..	47	47⅝	46½	46⅝
190	Union Pac. pf..	74	74	73⅝	74
2,020	U. S. Leather...	14⅛	14⅜	13⅝	13⅝
130	U. S. Leath. pf.	72	72¾	71½	72¼
112,320

BONDS.

Sales.		Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
$5,000	Am. Gas 5s....	94	94	94	94

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

	1899.	1898.	1897.
CHESAPEAKE & OHIO—
Mileage	1,445	1,445	1,360
3d week Dec....	$295,035	$269,636	$261,839
From July 1....	6,302,523	5,936,621	.....
CHICAGO, INDIANAPOLIS & LOUISVILLE—
Mileage	547	537	535
3d week Dec....	72,309	60,778	53,991
From July 1....	2,029,881	1,689,209	.....
C., C., C. & ST. LOUIS—
Mileage	1,838	1,838	1,838
3d week Dec....	328,778	312,092	294,449
From July 1....	8,150,186	7,367,122	.....
HOCKING VALLEY—
Mileage	346	346	346
3d week Dec....	95,243	66,430	.....
From July 1....	2,047,548	1,382,211	.....
KANAWHA & MICHIGAN—
Mileage	172	172	172
3d week Dec....	14,733	12,786	11,817
From July 1....	341,194	280,707	.....
NORFOLK & WESTERN—
Mileage	1,561	1,561	1,570
3d week Dec....	265,372	224,654	251,899
From July 1....	6,501,146	5,524,692	.....
OHIO RIVER—
Mileage	224	224	224
3d week Dec....	26,689	19,665	20,525
From Jan. 1....	1,156,332	923,784	944,042
ST. LOUIS & SAN FRANCISCO—
Mileage	1,385	1,282	1,162
3d week Dec....	165,633	158,785	119,636
From July 1....	3,835,071	3,473,615	.....
ST. LOUIS SOUTHWESTERN—
Mileage	1,223	1,223	1,223
3d week Dec....	144,066	158,183	103,630
From July 1....	3,025,316	3,053,596	.....
CHICAGO, MIL. & ST. PAUL for November:
Gross	4,022,680	3,500,448	3,328,446
Op. expenses	2,495,715	1,905,149	1,858,033
Net	1,523,971	1,595,299	1,470,413
Gross, 5 months..	18,780,340	16,520,070	15,613,196
Net, 5 months...	6,740,782	6,915,935	6,278,571
Prop. op. ex. to gr.	62¾	54 7-16	56¼
ST. LAWRENCE & ADIRONDACK for the quarter ended Sept. 30—
	1900.	1899.	Increase
Gross	57,678	42,473	15,205
Op. expenses	22,240	2,168	81
Net	35,428	20,305	15,124
Other income	105	335	*220
Total income	35,534	20,640	14,894
Charges	18,993	18,856	137
Surplus	16,381	1,334	14,757
*Decrease.
ST. LOUIS & SAN FRANCISCO for November—
	1899.	1898.	1897.
Gross	680,868	660,679	612,503
Op. expenses	407,836	317,162	342,734
Net	282,032	283,517	269,834
Prop. op. ex. to gr.	59⅞	57⅝	56
Gross, 5 months.	3,478,127	3,098,682	3,066,083
Net, 5 months...	1,523,456	1,305,476	1,399,354

MINING STOCK QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—The official closing quotations for mining stocks to-day and yesterday were as follows:

	Thursday.	Wednesday.
Alta	.04	.06
Alpha Con....	.03	.03
Andes	.11	.10
Belcher	.14	.14
Best & Belcher..	.26	.26
Bullion	.03	.03
Caledonia	.49	.49
Challenge Con....	.11	.10
Chollar	.21	.21
Confidence	.70	.65
Con. Cal. & Va....	1.45	1.35
Con. Imperial	.01	.01
Crown Point	.13	.13
Gould & Curry....	.25	.22
Hale & Norcross ..	.33	.33
Julia	.02	.02
Justice	.04	.03
Kentucky Con.....	.02	.02
Lady Washington Con.....	.02	.02
Mexican	.29	.28
Occidental Con....	.11	.11
Ophir	.71	.68
Overman	.10	.10
Potosi	.22	.22
Savage	.09	.08
Sep Belcher	.03	.03
Sierra Nevada	.42	.41
Standard	2.40	2.00
Syndicate	.05	.05
St. Louis	.07	.07
Union Con.....	.27	.26
Utah Con.....	.04	.04
Yellow Jacket	.24	.24
Silver bars	58¾	58⅝
Mexican dollars	47½@48¼	47¼@48¼
Drafts, sight	12½	12½
Telegraph	.15	.15

Special to The New York Times.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Dec. 28.—Gardner & Co. report closing quotations as follows:

	Thursday. Bid.	Asked.	Wednesday. Bid.	Asked.
Acacia	40	40¾	38¾	39
Alamo	16	17	16	17
Anaconda	44	45	44	47
Anchoria	70	80	70	80
Argentum	18½	19	18½	19
Bankers'	12¾	13	12¾	13½
Battle	33¼	34½	32	33
Blue Bell	12	12½	12	12½
Coin	235	250	235	250
Columbine	19⅜	20½	19¼	20
Consolidated	15½	15⅞	15½	16
Damon	27⅜	28	28	28¼
Elkton	119½	120½	118	120
El Paso	32½	33	30	31
Findlay	13	13½	12¾	13½
Fleece	25	31	25	31
Garfield	17	18¾	16½	18¾
Gibson	25	28	20	25
Gould	32⅜	34	32	33½
Isabella	143½	144	141	142
Independence	47½	49	47	49
Jackpot	59½	60½	56	57½
King	93⅛	99	93½	97
Moon Anchor.....	71¾	73	72	73
Matoa	29¾	30½	29⅝	30½
National	10⅞	11⅜	10⅞	11
Ophir	52	59	52½	58
Pharmacist Con....	14	14½	13¼	14
Pinnacle	27⅜	28¼	27	28
Portland	222	225	224	224½
Raven	76	77	74	75
Rawlings	30¼	32	30	32
Rosa	50	60	50	60
Sovereign	14¾	15	14¾	15
Tornado	46	50	46	50
Union	37⅛	37⅝	36¼	36½
Vindicator	150	170	150	170
Work	29⅜	29⅝	28¼	29
Zenobia	18½	22	19	21

RAILWAY STATEMENTS.

The following railways reporting yesterday gross earnings for the third week in December showed increases:

Chesapeake and Ohio.....	$25,399
Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville..	11,531
Cleve., Cin., Chi. and St. Louis.....	16,086
Hocking Valley.....	28,813
Kanawha and Michigan.....	1,947
Norfolk and Western.....	40,718
Ohio River.....	6,424
St. Louis and San Francisco.....	7,563
Total increase, 8 roads.....	$130,081
Increase previously reported.....	514,297
Total increase, 38 roads.....	$653,378
Decrease:
St. Louis Southwestern.....	$13,517
Decrease previously reported.....	78,711
Total decrease, 9 roads.....	$92,228
Net increase.....	$561,150

FINANCIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Dividends are announced by the St. Joseph and Grand Island Railway Company and the Philadelphia Company.

The New York Savings Bank announces the payment of interest, details of which will be found in another column.

Coupons are to be paid by the Southern Pacific Company and the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville Railway Company.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Simpson Tract in the Bronx Sold for About $375,000—Other Dealings by Brokers and at Auction.

One of the largest deals ever closed, involving vacant property in the Borough of the Bronx, has just been concluded through Broker William M. Ryan. For the Simpson estate he has sold the large tract lying west of the Southern Boulevard, and south of Westchester Avenue at a price reported to be about $375,000. The transaction is all cash. Mr. Ryan says that the buyer is an investor, and that definite plans as to the future of the property are not yet in shape for announcement.

More accurately described, the tract involved in the deal begins at the southwest corner of the Southern Boulevard and Westchester Avenue, and runs southerly along the former about 1,200 feet, to a point opposite the Hunt's Point Road, thence westerly, following an old farm line 1,400 feet, thence northerly to the south side of Westchester Avenue 700 feet, and along the latter to the point of beginning about 2,000 feet. A rough computation shows that the tract contains about 700 lots. The property is intersected, from north to south, by Intervale Avenue, Kelly, Tiffany, Barretto, and Fox Streets, and from east to west by Dongan Street.

This tract has been held by the Simpson family since 1844, when it was purchased by William and John Simpson, who were among the earlier representatives of the family, which has become well known throughout the city in connection with the pawnbroking establishments conducted under that name. The property is practically without improvements, having on it at present only a few scattered frame buildings.

Congressman Jefferson M. Levy has sold the old dwelling, 139 West Nineteenth Street, 40 by 92.

R. L. Julian has sold the five-story double flat, 2,534 Broadway, 24.8 by 85 by 100.

The five-story-brick flat at the northeast corner of Second Avenue and Tenth Street, 25 by 105, has been sold.

Harry Fishel has sold, for improvement, 283 to 287 Grand Street, old buildings, on a plot 50 by 100.

Frederick Plumb has sold the five-story tenement, 202 West Sixty-seventh Street, 25 by 65 by 100.

Emily Thorburn transferred yesterday the lot, 15 John Street, 25.6 by 120.6 by 25 by 124.6, to Sarah H. Witthaus, who mortgaged the property for three years to Mary A. Dalrymple for $92,500.

The Lenox Hill apartment house, at the southeast corner of Madison Avenue and Seventy-seventh Street, was conveyed yesterday by Rosella Corn to Jacob Lippmann.

Results at Auction.

Yesterday's offerings in the Trinity Building Salesroom resulted as follows:

By D. Phoenix Ingraham & Co.

77 East One Hundred and Fourteenth Street, 25 by 100.11, six-story brick flat; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiff, the Twelfth Ward Bank.....$12,100

By Peter F. Meyer & Co.

269 East One Hundred and Sixteenth Street, 30 by 100.10, five-story brick tenement; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiffs, Joseph Guidet and others, executors 26,500

411 to 417 West One Hundred and Forty-fourth Street, 20, 19, 18, and 18, respectively, by 99.11, four-story brick dwelling; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiff, the Germania Life Insurance Company 63,250

49 West Ninety-sixth Street, 20.8 by 100.11, four-story brick dwelling; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiff, Mary H. Meyer, as trustee 10,000

By Richard V. Harnett & Co.

Farrell Street, northwest corner of Cherry Street, Rahway, N. J., 101 by 110, vacant; public auction sale, to B. A. Vall 2,100

To-day's Auction Sales.

The following sales at auction are down for to-day at 111 Broadway:

By Adrian H. Muller & Son, foreclosure sale, George L. Rives, referee, 4 West One Hundred and Third Street, south side, 117.9 feet west of Fifth Avenue, 21.3 by 100.11, three-story stone-front dwelling. Due on judgment, $13,064.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., partition sale, Algernon S. Norton, referee, 710 Washington Street, west side, 87 feet north of Perry Street, 23 by 81 by 24 by 75.6, three-story brick tenement, with two-story frame dwelling at the rear.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Louis Hanneman, referee, Southern Boulevard, east side, 143.8 feet north of Jennings Street, 18.8 by 100, two-story frame flat. Due on judgment, $3,977.

THE BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

List of Plans Filed for New Structures and Alterations.

Clinton Street, east side, 282.4 feet south of Jefferson Place, for a five-story brick flat, 26 by 90.1 by 93.1; Graham & Kirk of 1,192 Hoe Avenue, owners; H. T. Howell, architect; cost, $22,000.

One Hundred and Forty-ninth Street, north side, 200 feet east of Eighth Avenue, for a one-story frame storage house, 14 by 28; Astor estate of 21 West Twenty-sixth Street, owner and architect; cost, $50.

Van Beuren Street, east side, 225 feet south of Columbus Avenue, for a one-story frame office building, 18 by 17; Angelo Rezzano, Van Nest, owner and architect; cost, $350.

Belmont Avenue, north side, 64 feet west of Arthur Avenue, for two two-story frame dwellings, 64.3 by 52 and 56; Angelo Rezzano, owner and architect; cost, $800.

No. 28 West Twenty-sixth Street, for a seven-story brick flat, 25 by 81.4; Henry Miller of 150 West Thirty-fifth Street, owner; Neville & Bagge, architects; cost, $80,000.

Alterations.

Pine Street, northeast corner of William Street, to a seven-story brick office building; Commercial Union Assurance Company of 38 William Street, owner; Harney & Purdy, architects; cost, $600.

No. 788 Courtlandt Avenue, to a two-story frame dwelling and store; Charles Baenisch, owner; C. F. Lohse, architect; cost, $250.

Nos. 48 and 50 Washington Street, to a two-story brick storage house; William Carey, owner; Westervelt & McIntyre, architects; cost, $835.

Randall's Island, opposite One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street, to a three-story brick hospital; city, owner; Horgan & Slattery, architects; cost, $2,000.

First Plans Under the New Code.

The first plan filed at the Department of Buildings under the new Building Code was that submitted by Louis Harris for three three-story frame tenements, to be built on the west side of Bristow Street, 235 feet south of Jennings Street. E. O. Smith has the distinction of having filed the last set of plans under the old law, being those for a frame barn on the east side of Summit Avenue, 120 feet north of One Hundred and Sixty-first Street.

Street Openings and Improvements.

NOTICE OF HEARING.—Opening of White Plains Road, from northerly boundary of city to Morris Park Avenue, Supreme Court, Kings County, Jan. 3, 1900.

ASSESSMENT COMPLETED.—Opening of Bathgate Avenue, from Wendover Avenue to East One Hundred and Eighty-eighth Street, Bronx. Report to be made in Part I., Supreme Court, New York County, Jan. 3, 1900.

Recorded Real Estate Transfers.

Thursday, Dec. 28.

AVENUE D, n e corner of 6th St, 22.9x 100; New York Life Insurance and Trust Company, executors, &c., to Moses Strauss $20,000

AVENUE D, n e corner of 6th St, 22.9x 100; Moses Strauss to Harris and Abraham Cohen 22,000

BLEECKER ST, 238 to 244, s w corner of Barrow St, 80x81; Alfred L. White to Harris Mandelbaum and another..... 1

CHRYSTIE ST, 78, e s, 25x100; Max Cohen and another to Solomon Rosenberg. 1

COURTLANDT AV, s e corner of 160th St, 73.6x12; John Van Doisen to Martha Brogan 100

CROTONA PARK SOUTH, s s, 151.1 ft w of Clinton Av, 23.8x101.5x irregular; Henry White to Sarah J. Murgatroyd.... 1

ELTON AV, w s, 100 ft n of 160th St, 25x100; Sylvester L. H. Ward to Clinton H. Leggett 2,000

ELTON AV, w s, 125 ft n of 160th St, 25x100; Sylvester L. H. Ward to E. Howard Leggett 2,000

FORDHAM TO WEST FARMS ROAD, s w s, Lots 95 and 96, map of South Belmont, 115.8x55x100x116.5; William T. Hookey to Thomas O'Rorke..... 1

GOERCK ST, 58, 25x99; Emil Riebstein to Adolphus Ottenberg..... 1

GRAND ST, 48, n s, 20x60; Hannah Abraham to Esther Rawak..... 1

GREENWICH ST, 74, w s, 23.5x99.11x 23.5x99.10, with 10 ft strip on rear; George M. Miller, trustee, to Mercantile Trust and Deposit Company..... 1

HESTER ST, 205, n s, 25x—; Mary Cosiello, widow and devisee, to Augustus Sbarbore 1

JAY ST, 44, 26.8x58.4x26.8x58.9; Christian Karlen to Samuel Galle, ½ part... 1

JAY ST, 44, 26.8x58.4x26.8x58.8; Lena Leibly to Samuel Galle, all title..... 1

JAY ST, 44, 26.8x58.4x26.8x58.8; Sophia Adler to Samuel Galle, all title..... 1

JAY ST, 44, 26.8x58.4x26.8x58.8; Christian Galle to Samuel Galle, all title..... 1

JAY ST, 44, 26.8x58.4x26.8x58.8; John Galle to Samuel Galle, all title..... 1

JAY ST, 44, 26.8x58.4x26.8x58.8; Nicholas Gerber to Samuel Galle, all title..... 1

JAY ST, 44, 26.8x58.4x26.8x58.8; Frederick Gerber to Samuel Galle..... 1

JAY ST, 44, 26.8x58.4x26.8x58.8; Charles Gerber to Samuel Galle..... 1

JAY ST, 44, 26.8x58.4x26.8x58.8; John Gerber to Samuel Galle..... 1

JAY ST, 44, 26.8x58.4x26.8x58.8; Jacob Karlen to Samuel Galle..... 1

JAY ST, 44, 26.8x58.4x26.8x58.8; Gottfried Karlen to Samuel Galle..... 1

JAY ST, 44, 26.8x58.4x26.8x58.8; David Karlen to Samuel Galle..... 1

JOHN ST, 15, n s, 25.6x120.6x25x124.6; Emily Thorburn to Sarah H. Witthaus.. 1

LOT 534, map of Van Nest Park; E. B. Levy to Edward F. Boyle..... 100

LOT 25, s of 138th St, at e line of Lot 223, map of Central Mott Haven, amended, 7.11x74.6; Catherine A. Sexton to Olin J. Stephens, quit claim..... 1

LOTS 230, 516, 517, 329, 338, and 349, map of the Arden property; Sarah A. Vaden to Rachel A. Conner..... 1

MADISON AV, s e corner of 77th St, 45x102.2; Rosella Corn to Jacob Lippmann 100

MADISON AV, w s, 20.5 ft s of 68th St, 20x70; Lyman C. Josephs to Robert C. Myles 15,000

MARMION AV, n w s, Lot 166, map of East Tremont, 66.1x150.2; Mary F. Keegan and another, by guardian, to Frank J. Patterson..... 100

MONROE ST, 152, n s, 18.4x100; Benjamin Light to Meyer Vesell 29,500

MORTON ST, 21, n s, Lot 11, on map by C. Loss, 25x111x25x114; Leopold Kaufmann to Jonas Weil and another..... 1

MOTT HAVEN CANAL, w s, 100.1 ft s of 138th St, 60x100; Albert F. and wife to Thomas T. Knapp to Olin J. Stephens..... 15,000

ORCHARD ST, 28, 25.3x87.6; Isidore Jackson to Aaron Kommel..... 30,500

ORCHARD ST, 28, 25.3x87.6; Charles Neumann to Isidore Jackson, re-recorded.

BECK ST, n w corner of Prospect Av, 45x90x—x100; Mount Morris Real Estate Association to Alexander Leicht and wife 100

PERRY AV, e s, 225 ft s of Gun Hill Road, 34x100; George M. Miller, as trustee, to Mercantile Trust and Deposit Company 1,000

PLOT, 75 ft s of 138th St, at east line of Lot 223, amended map of Central Mott Haven, runs s 74.6x w 7.11x n 74.6x e 7.11; August Belmont and another to Catharine A. Sexton..... 1

RIVERDALE AV, widened, w s, 245 ft s from s line of the land of Thomas Cuthbert, 50x100; James Clark to Alice Clark 1

RIVINGTON ST, n e corner of Sheriff St, 25x81.9; Abraham Solomon and another to Marion F. Rice, quit claim..... 1

RIVINGTON ST, n e corner of Sheriff St, 25x81.9; Christian H. Ducker to Abraham Solomon and another, quit claim..... 1

ROBBINS AV, w s, 237 ft n of Port Morris Branch Railroad, 20x120.3x20.11x 114.2; John M. Haffen to J. & M. Haffen.

SIXTH ST, n s, 80.6 ft w of 4th Av, 19x98.9 x irregular; Paul Wilcox to Joseph S. Richards..... 1

30TH ST, n s, 86.6 ft w of 4th Av, 19x 98.9x irregular; Huntington Richards to Joseph S. Richards..... 1

34TH ST, s s, 32.1x98.9; Kate M. Belsey to Maurice Sichel..... 1

45TH ST, s e corner of Lexington Av, 18.9, 70; Margaret A. Pearsall to Ludwig Fromm 1

49TH ST, 126 West, 25x100.5; Albert Delevie to Mary C. Browne..... 50,000

50TH ST, 438 and 436 West, 50x100.5; 51st St, 458 and 460 West, 41.8x100.5; Elsworth L. Striker to James M. More, executor, &c. quit claim..... 1

50TH ST, 438 and 435 West, 50x100.5; 51st St, 458 and 460 West, 41.8x100.5; Elsworth L. Striker, executor, &c., to James M. More, executor, &c. 1

52D ST, n s, 375 ft e of 11th Av, 50x100.5; James Murray and others to Frederick Aldhous 49,000

56TH ST, n s, 175 ft w of Lexington Av, 20x100.5; Frederick Frischen and wife to William B. Parsons 1

63D ST, n s, 289.7 ft w of Columbus Av, 18.9x100.5; Frank W. Thomas, referee, to Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church..... 15,000

70TH ST, s s, 82 ft e of West End Av, 18x100.5; George A. Stimpson to Marie Obry 31,000

77TH ST, 77 East, 25x102.8; Thomas M. Hall to George T. Bliss 34,500

77TH ST, 125 West, 20x107.2; John L. Miller to Clara J. McDonald 100

86TH ST, n s, 375 ft w of Avenue B, 25x 189.8x25x140.1; Charles L. Ritzmann to Johanna L. Ritzmann 1

90TH ST, n s, 175 ft e of 2d Av, 25x100.8; John Riesinger to Charles A. Nafz..... 100

110TH ST, n s, 275 ft e of 7th Av, 75x 100.11; John H. Screvan to Harry L. Topliz 100

112TH ST, s s, 150 ft e of 7th Av, 50x 100.11; George H. Beyer to James J. Donovan, Jr. 1

115TH ST, s s, 450 ft w of Lenox Av, 25x 100.11; George C. Engel and wife to Katie Roys 100

123D ST, s s, 118 ft e of 6th Av, widened, 16.3x100.11; Edwin F. Raynor and others, executors, &c., to Richard C. Allez..... 13,500

126TH ST, 56 West, 16.8x99.11; Carrie A. and Emanuel M. Gattle to Lucy A. Campady 100

127TH ST, 219 East, 23x99.11; Charles Brogan to John Van Dolsen..... 100

127TH ST, s s, 250 ft e Columbus Av, 25x99.11; John and Richard Feehan to Emma Feehan 25,000

138TH ST, s s, 250 ft e of 12th Av, 25x 99.11; William Langdon and wife to Matthew Hawe..... 1

143D ST, s s, 616.8 ft w of Broadway, 29.3 x99.11x irregular; Solomon Emanuel, as executor, and Amanda C., wife, to William R. O'Brien 2,750

151ST ST, s s, 200 ft w of Morris Av, 25x 118.3; Raphael Danziger to Nicola Finelli 4,100

154TH ST, s s, 175 ft w of 8th Av, 102.5x 101.11x82.5x99.11; Frederick Aldhous and wife to James Murray and another.... 30,000

160TH ST, n s, 125 ft w of Amsterdam Av, 25.1x99.11; William W. Strouse to J. Romaine Brown 1

177TH ST, s s, old line, s e corner of Division St, runs s 160.2 to Boston Road, x e 104.7 to Locust Av, x w 86.10; Charles H. Dugliss to August Uihlein 18,000

208TH ST, n s, 100 ft s e of Columbus Av, runs s e 330.10 to Harlem River x n e and n w to 207th St x n w 259x s w 199.10, with all land under water; 208th St, s w s, at s e of 9th Av, runs s w 99.11x s e 100x s w 90.11x s e 264 to Harlem River x n — to 208th St x n w 120, with all land under water; Charlton W. Crane to J. Romaine Brown..... 100

Recorded Leases.

FALK, Benjamin J., to Edward Cupl; 24th St, 13 and 15 West, 4 4-12 years.....$10,000

PELL, Orleana R. E., and others, to Adams & Co., 8th Av, 345, w s, 73.5 ft n of 21st St, 21x85x irregular, 26 years, $8,000 8,400

SEABOARD REALTY COMPANY to Palmer & Embury Manufacturing Company; 20th St, 42 to 48 East, 3 years... 3,500

Recorded Mortgages.

ALDHOUS, Frederick, to Hamilton Bank; 52d St, n s 375 ft w of 8th Av, due.... $2,500

ALDHOUS, Frederick, to Hamilton Bank; 52d St, n s, 37 ft e of 11th Av, due.... 3,500

ALLEZ, Richard C., to Mutual Life Insurance Company; 24 West 123d St, 3 years 7,000

ANDERSON, Henry, and Jeremiah Flanagan to the Irving Savings Institution; 129th St, s s, 358 ft e of 8th Av, 2 years. 58,000

ARTHUR, George W., to Charles A. Moran and others, trustees; 100th St, s s, 98.3 ft w of Park Av, 3 years..... 20,000

ARTHUR, George W., to Charles A. Moran and another, trustees, &c.; 100th St, s s, 73.3 ft w of Park Av, 3 years..... 20,000

BELLOWS, Marietta B., to Abraham Salomon and another; 28 Orchard St, installments 7,500

BOYLE, Edward F., to Ephraim B. Levy; Lot 556, map of Van Nest Park, 24th Ward, 3 years..... 195

BROOKMAN, John U., to Home Life Insurance Company; Avenue A, n e corner of 19th St; Avenue B, Tompkins St, 18th and 19th Sts, the block; Avenue B, e corner of 19th St, to 20th St x e to Tompkins St, with land under water, &c., 2½ years 175,000

BROWN, Rosie, and others to Ella W. Mills, executrix, and another, executors, &c.; 2,787 8th Av, 5 years..... 30,000

BROWN, Rosie, and others to St. Luke's Hospital; 2,789 8th Av, 5 years..... 20,000

BROWN, Rosie, and others to St. Luke's Hospital; 2,793 8th Av, 5 years..... 20,000

BROWN, Rosie, and others to George M. Miller, executor, &c.; 2,791 8th Av, 5 years 20,000

COHEN, Abraham, to Lena E. Vallens; 7th St, s s, 120 ft w of 2d Av, and 7th St, s s, 144.5 ft w of 2d Av, 5 years.... 40,000

COLLINS, Richard, and another to Mary A. Tatum; 113th St, n s, 100 ft w of 7th Av, 2½ years 18,000

COLLINS, Richard, and another to Home for Incurables; 7th Av, w s, 26 ft s of 118th St, 5 years 25,000

COLLINS, Richard, and another to W. Emlen and John E. Roosevelt, trustees, &c.; 7th Av, w s, 76.11 ft n of 118th St, 5 years 20,000

CORN, Henry, to William T. Sabine; 107 and 109 Water St, 1 year..... 15,000

DEL DONNO, Marty, to the North New York Co-operative Building and Loan Association; Simpson St, e s, 172.11 ft n of Home St, installments 5,500

ENNIS, Emma L., to Lillian L. Wiswall; 129 West 20th St, 3 years..... 2,000

FINELLI, Nicola, to Raphael Danziger; 151st St, s s, 200 ft w of Morris Av, 2 years 600

FLITNER, William H., to Ida M. Merritt; 152 West 130th St, 5 years..... 1,500

FLITNER, William H., to Ida M. Merritt; 150 West 130th St, 5 years..... 1,500

FLITNER, William H., to Ida M. Merritt; 148 West 130th St, 5 years..... 1,500

FROMM, Ludwig, to Emilie Schloss; Lexington Av, s e corner of 45th St, 3 years. 3,000

FROMM, Ludwig, to Martin L. Strauss; Lexington Av, s e corner of 45th St, 3 years 7,000

FROMM, Ludwig, to John A. Brown, Jr.; Lexington Av, s e corner of 45th St, 5 years 25,000

FURIATI, Biagio, to Kate Johnsen; 419 East 13th St, 1 year..... 3,000

HOLLAND, Edward, to Charles G. Spencer; 2d Av, e s, 60.10 ft s of 115th St, 3 years 10,000

JAMMES, Albert F., and wife to Metropolitan Trust Company, guardian, &c.; 37th St, s s, 114.6 ft w of 5th Av, 3 years 35,000

KEE, Frank T., to Frances V. Nash; Audubon Av, e s, 63 ft n of 174th St, ½ year..... 12,000

KORN, Louis, to Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank; 22d St, n s, 258 ft w of 5th Av, 1 year 45,000

LEICHT, Alexander, and wife to Laura F. Van Riper; Prospect Av, n w corner of 163d St, 3 years..... 1,000

LEVERICH, Annie F., to Mary Lakoy King; 10 East 75th St, 3¼ years..... 35,000

LEVY, Lillie, to Morris Goldberg and Harry Moses; 17 Ludlow St, 1 year..... 2,500

LOMONTE, Fortunato C., to Frank H. Platt and another, trustees; 118th St, s s, 175 ft w of 5th Av, secures claims..... 4,287

LOMONTE, Fortunato C., to Thomas F. McGaul; 118th St, s s, 175 ft w of 5th Av, 1 year 1,000

LUDIN, Susan A., John E., and Eugene C., to Franklin Savings Bank; 213 West 40th St, 5½ years 20,000

MANDELBAUM, Harris, and Fisher Lewine to Alfred L. White; 288 to 294 Bleecker St, 1 year 10,000

MANDELBAUM, Harris, and Fisher Lewine to Union Dime Savings Institution; 288 to 294 Bleecker St, 2½ years..... 47,500

MARKS, Hyman, to Samuel Hahn; Bond St, s w s, Lot 11, map of property of William Israel, 1 year..... 18,000

MOHR, William F., to the Port Morris Land and Improvement Company; 134th St, n e corner of Willow Av, 1 year.... 15,000

MONAGHAN, John, to Robert H. Neely; Nelson Av, w s, 170.6 ft n of 165th St, 3 years..... 500

MOORE, Thomas L., to American Mortgage Company; 10th Av, n w corner of 20th St, 2 years 35,000

MURGATROYD, Sarah J., to Henry White; Crotona Park South, s s, 151.1 ft w of Clinton Av, 2 years..... 1,000

MYLES, Robert C., to Lyman C. Josephs; Madison Av, w s, 20.5 ft s of 63d St, 5 years 9,500

O'BRIEN, William R., to Solomon Emanuel, executor, &c.; 143d St, s s, 615.8 ft w of Broadway, 2 years..... 2,000

O'RORKE, Thomas, to the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank; King's Bridge Road, s w s, part of Lot 95, map of South Belmont, 1 year..... 1,000

O'RORKE, Thomas, to the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank; King's Bridge Road, s w s, another part of Lot 95, map of South Belmont, 1 year..... 1,000

O'RORKE, Thom

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE Southern District of New York.—MORRIS ABRAMS, bankrupt.—No. 1,758.

Notice is hereby given that Morris Abrams, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated December 28, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 10, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

GEORGE C. HOLT, Referee.

Dated New York, December 28, 1899.

NO. 974.—UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT for the Southern District of New York.—MALCOLM C. ANDERSON, bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that Malcolm C. Anderson, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated December 26th, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 17th, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon. JOHN J. TOWNSEND,

Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, Dec. 28, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of SAMUEL BAER, Bankrupt. No. 1,919.

To the creditors of Samuel Baer, of the City and County of New York, and district aforesaid, bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 21st day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Samuel Baer was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, Number 71 Broadway, in the City of New York, on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting. STANLEY W. DEXTER,

Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated New York, December 28, 1899.

NO. 1,931.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of JOSEPH CAPUTA, Bankrupt.—In bankruptcy.

To the creditors of Joseph Caputa of the County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 22d day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Joseph Caputa was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of John J. Townsend, referee, No. 45 Cedar Street, in New York City, on the 10th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting. JOHN J. TOWNSEND,

Referee in Bankruptcy.

December 26th, 1899.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE Southern District of New York.—PHILIP DAVIDSON and AARON DAVIDSON, Bankrupts.

Notice is hereby given that Philip Davidson and Aaron Davidson, bankrupts, have filed their petition, dated December 20th, 1899, praying for a discharge from all their debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupts thereon.

E. K. PENDLETON, Referee.

Dated New York, December 28, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of SIMON FINE, Bankrupt.—In bankruptcy. No. 1,921.

To the creditors of Simon Fine of the City of New York, in the County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 21st day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Simon Fine was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, No. 34 Pine Street, New York City, on the 9th day of January A. D. 1900, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting. GEORGE C. HOLT,

Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated New York, December 28, 1899.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE Southern District of New York.—GEORGE HUBENER, bankrupt.—No. 1,769.

Notice is hereby given that George Hubener, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated December 26, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 10, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon. GEORGE C. HOLT,

Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated New York, December 28, 1899.

NO. 1,839.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of JACOB B. MARKS, Bankrupt.—In bankruptcy.

To the creditors of Jacob B. Marks of the City and County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 9th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Jacob B. Marks was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Nathaniel S. Smith, No. 302 Broadway, in the City of New York, on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting. NATHANIEL S. SMITH,

Referee in Bankruptcy.

December 28th, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of WILLIAM A. PHILLIPS, Bankrupt.—In bankruptcy. No. 1,939.

To the creditors of William A. Phillips, of the City of New York, in the County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 26th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said William A. Phillips was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, No. 34 Pine Street, New York City, on the 9th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting. GEORGE C. HOLT,

Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated New York, December 28, 1899.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE Southern District of New York.—GARRET D. QUACKENBUSH, bankrupt.—No. 1,744.

Notice is hereby given that Garret D. Quackenbush, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated December 27, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 10, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

GEORGE C. HOLT, Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated New York, December 28, 1899.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT OF THE Southern District of New York.—SAMUEL W. RICHARDS, bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that Samuel W. Richards, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated December 27, 1899, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

F. K. PENDLETON, Referee.

Dated New York, December 28, 1899.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of GEORGE J. TRAGIDIS, Bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.—No. 1,903.

To the creditors of George J. Tragidis, of the City of New York, in the County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 19th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said George J. Tragidis was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, No. 34 Pine Street, New York City, on the 17th day of January, A. D. 1900, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting. GEORGE C. HOLT,

Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated New York, December 28, 1899.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT FOR THE SOUTHERN District of New York.—In the matter of JULIA MAYS, Bankrupt.—No. 1,624.

Notice is hereby given that Julia Mays, bankrupt, has filed her petition, dated December 11th, 1899, praying for a discharge from all her debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, U. S. District Judge, in the U. S. Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, January tenth, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

STANLEY W. DEXTER, Referee in Bankruptcy.

December 28, 1899.

LEGAL NOTICES.

TO THE CREDITORS OF HARPER & BROTHERS:

The undersigned, representing nearly fifty per cent. of the claims against HARPER & BROTHERS, have consented to act as a committee to reorganize the affairs of the company.

A preliminary agreement has been filed with the State Trust Company, and creditors are requested to become parties thereto. When, in the judgment of the committee, a sufficient number of creditors shall have deposited their claims under the agreement, a plan of reorganization will be prepared and submitted.

Copies of the agreement may be obtained from the State Trust Company, 100 Broadway, or from any member of the committee.

Dated New York, December 27, 1899.

ALEXANDER E. ORR, Chairman.
WILLIAM A. NASH,
STEPHEN BAKER,
WM. M. LAFFAN,
AUGUSTINE J. SMITH, Committee.

H. B. BERRY, Secretary, 100 Broadway.
ADRIAN H. JOLINE, Counsel

IN THE MATTER OF THE ASSIGNMENT OF JOSEPH AGOSTINI to AUGUSTUS T. GILLENDER for the benefit of his creditors.

In pursuance of an order made by Hon. Miles Beach, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, in and for the County of New York, on the 7th day of December, 1899, notice is hereby given to all the creditors and persons having claims against Joseph Agostini, lately doing business in the City of New York, that they are required to present their claims, with the vouchers therefor duly verified, to the subscriber, the assignee of said Joseph Agostini, for the benefit of his creditors, at his place of transacting business, the office of Arnold & Greene, No. 3 Broad Street, New York City, Borough of Manhattan, on or before the 19th day of February, 1900.

Dated New York, December 7th, 1899.

AUGUSTUS T. GILLENDER, Assignee.
ARNOLD & GREENE, Attorneys for Assignee, 3 Broad St., New York City.

SURROGATE NOTICES.

BAILEY, ELLENE A.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. James M. Varnum, a Surrogate of the County of New York, dated September 25, 1899, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against ELLENE A. BAILEY, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at his place of transacting business, No. 256-257 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan in the City of New York, on or before the first day of April next.—Dated New York, the 27th day of September, 1899.—OSCAR F. GUNZ, Executor. ANDERSON PRICE, Attorney for Executor, 80 Broadway, New York City. s29-1aw6mF

CONLON, JOHN P.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. James M. Varnum, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against JOHN P. CONLON, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at his place of transacting business, at the office of Lewis S. Goebel, his attorney, No. 41 Park Row, in the City of New York, Borough of Manhattan, on or before the 16th day of February next.—Dated New York the 26th day of July, 1899. MICHAEL J. DWYER, Temporary Administrator of the estate of John P. Conlon, deceased. LEWIS S. GOEBEL, Esq., Atty. for Temporary Administrator, No. 41 Park Row, New York City Borough of Manhattan. a4-1aw6MF

HARDENBERGH, EMILY IRENE.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against the estate of EMILY IRENE HARDENBERGH, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at their place of transacting business, viz., the office of Vernon M. Davis, No. 220 Broadway, in the City of New York, on or before the tenth day of January next.—Dated New York, the first day of July, 1899. HENRY HARDENBERGH, FRANK M. BARNUM, Executors. VERNON M. DAVIS, Attorney for Executors, 220 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York. je30-1aw6mF

HILTON, HENRY.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against HENRY HILTON, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscribers at their place of transacting business, the office of the estate of Henry Hilton, No. 281 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the 30th day of June, 1900.—Dated New York, the 21st day of December, 1899. HORACE RUSSELL, EDWARD D. HARRIS, Executors. RUSSELL & HOLMES, Attorneys for Executors, 280 Broadway, New York City. 623-1aw6mF

LINLEY, HARRIETT.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against HARRIETT LINLEY, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at his place of transacting business, the office of Arthur A. Mitchell, No. 220 Broadway, in the City of New York, on or before the twelfth day of May, 1900, next.—Dated New York, the 2d day of November, 1899. WILLIAM J. LAWRENCE, Administrator. ARTHUR A. MITCHELL, Attorney for Administrator, 220 Broadway, New York City. n3-1aw6mF

LYMAN, THOMAS C.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against THOMAS C. LYMAN, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscribing his place of transacting business, No. 420 West Thirty-eighth Street, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the 5th day of May next.—Dated New York, the 27th day of October 1899. ROBERT M. LYMAN, Administrator. ROBERT W. TODD, Attorney for Administrator, 329 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City. n3-1aw6mF

MARTIN, HENRIETTA.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. James M. Varnum, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against HENRIETTA MARTIN, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at his place of transacting business, Room 101, No. 22 William Street, Borough of Manhatton in the City of New York, on or before the 2d day of June next.—Dated New York, the 22d day of November, 1899. THOMAS M. MARTIN, Executor. MURRAY, BENNETT & INGERSOLL, Attorneys for Executor, 22 William Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York, N. Y.

PONVERT, LOUIS J.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against LOUIS J. PONVERT, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at her place of transacting business, at the office of Lawrence & Hughes, No. 120 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on or before the 26th day of February next.—Dated New York, the 12th day of August, 1899. AMY K. PONVERT, Executrix. LAWRENCE & HUGHES Attys. for Executrix, 120 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City. au25-1aw6mF

RHOADS, GEORGE B.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against GEORGE B. RHOADS, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at her place of transacting business, at the office of Benjamin Wright, No. 38 Park Row, in the City of New York, on or before the 18th day of April next.—Dated New York, the 2nd day of October, 1899. ELIZABETH RHOADS, Administratrix. BENJAMIN WRIGHT, Attorney for Administratrix, 38 Park Row, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, N. Y. oct6-1aw6mF

SMITH, MARGARET J.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to Lucy Ann Ordway, James H. Mullen, Charles W. Hanks, Axel Hanks, Estelle Faulkner, Susan Buckley, Alonzo Buckley, Edward H. Peck, Jennie Weed, Estella Clark, Thurlow Weed, Lucille Demarest, Ella Bradshaw, Jennie Charles, Samuel Hanks, Ruth Curry, Mr. Reynolds, C. E. Kibbey, Wallace Weed, Vetruvius Buckley, Nellie Hanks, Susan Hanks, Mary Hanks, Chas. L. Hanks, Effie Hanks, Elise Tomlins, and to all persons interested in the estate of MARGARET J. SMITH, late of the County of New York, deceased, as creditors, legatees, next of kin, or otherwise, send greeting:

You and each of you are hereby cited and required personally to be and appear before our Surrogate of the County of New York, at the Surrogate's Court, of said county, held at the County Court House, in the County of New York, on the 5th day of January, 1900, at half past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend a judicial settlement of the account of proceedings of Charles W. Hanks, as executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, and such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof we have caused the seal of the Surrogates' Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto [L. S.] affixed. Witness, Hon. James M. Varnum, a Surrogate of our said county, at the County of New York, the 16th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN, Clerk of the Surrogates' Court.

OTTO H. DROEGE, Attorney for Executor, World Bldg., New York. n24-1aw6wF

REFEREES' NOTICES.

NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF New York.—GEORGE V. N. BALDWIN, plaintiff, against MARY E. ROBINSON and others, defendants:

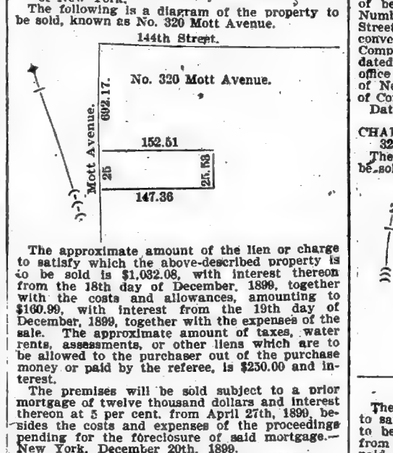
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, made and entered in the above-entitled action, dated the nineteenth day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 12th day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by James L. Wells, auctioneer, the premises in said judgment mentioned and therein described as follows:

All that lot of land in the City and County of New York, with the building erected thereon, beginning at a point on the easterly side of Mott Avenue as vested in the City of New York, twenty-five feet northerly from the point where said easterly side of Mott Avenue is intersected by the division line between Lots 17 and 18 on the map of villa sites belonging to Colonel Lewis Morris, Morrisania, in the Town of West Farms, in the County of Westchester, and State of New York, made by Andrew Findlay, surveyor, dated June 20th, 1848, the said point of beginning being distant as measured along the said easterly side of Mott Avenue seven hundred and seventeen feet and seventeen one-hundredths of a foot southerly from the intersection of said easterly side of Mott Avenue with the southerly side of East One Hundred and Forty-fourth Street as legally opened, and running thence easterly, part of the way through a party wall and at right angles to said easterly side of Mott Avenue, one hundred and forty-seven feet and thirty-six one-hundredths of a foot to land of the New York and Harlem Railroad; thence northeasterly along said land twenty-five feet and fifty-three one-hundredths of a foot to a point distant twenty-five feet northerly from the last course measured along a line parallel with said easterly side of Mott Avenue, and thence westerly at right angles to said easterly side of Mott Avenue, and part of the way through a party wall one hundred and fifty-two feet and fifty-one one-hundredths of a foot to said easterly side of Mott Avenue, and thence southerly along the same twenty-five feet to the point of beginning.

Subject, however, to a mortgage for twelve thousand dollars, bearing date the 27th day of April, 1899, made by the said Mary E. Robinson to Mary C. de Terrouenne.—Dated New York, December 20th, 1899. EDWIN C. HOYT, Referee.

GEORGE V. N. BALDWIN, Plaintiff in Person, 32 Nassau Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold, known as No. 320 Mott Avenue.



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $1,032.08, with interest thereon from the 18th day of December, 1899, together with the costs and allowances, amounting to $160.99, with interest from the 19th day of December, 1899, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of taxes, water rents, assessments, or other liens which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the referee, is $250.00 and interest.

The premises will be sold subject to a prior mortgage of twelve thousand dollars and interest thereon at 5 per cent. from April 27th, 1899, besides the costs and expenses of the proceedings pending for the foreclosure of said mortgage.—New York, December 20th, 1899.

EDWIN C. HOYT, Referee.

d22,26,29,ja2,5,9,12

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—GEORGE MACCULLOCH MILLER and another as trustees, etc., plaintiffs, against FRANKLIN NOBLE and others, defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the 16th day of November, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 4th of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by McVickar and Company, auctioneers, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

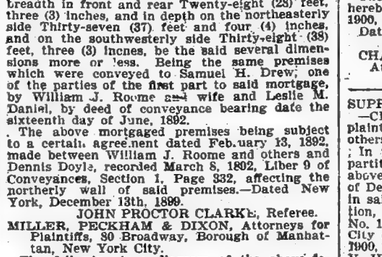
All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, situate, lying, and being in the Second Ward of the City of New York, designated as a Map filed in the Comptroller's Office as lot Number Seven, which lot with the building thereon is known as Number Two Hundred and Thirty-three (233) Front Street, bounded northwesterly in front by Front Street, southeasterly in the rear by lot marked Number Six upon the above-mentioned Map, northeasterly by a lot of ground formerly leased by the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty of the City of New York to David Lydig, and by the said Corporation leased to the executrix and executors of the last will and testament of Philip M. Lydig, deceased, by indenture of lease bearing date the first day of July, in the year 1874; southwesterly by a lot of ground formerly belonging to Thomas Ellison and containing in breadth in front and rear Twenty-eight (28) feet, three (3) inches, and in depth on the northeasterly side Thirty-seven (37) feet and four (4) inches, and on the southwesterly side Thirty-eight (38) feet, three (3) inches, be the said several dimensions more or less. Being the same premises which were conveyed to Samuel H. Drew, one of the parties of the first part to said mortgage, by William J. Roome and wife and Leslie M. Daniel, by deed of conveyance bearing date the sixteenth day of June, 1892.

The above mortgaged premises being subject to a certain agreement dated February 13, 1892, made between William J. Roome and others and Dennis Doyle, recorded March 8, 1892, Liber 1 of Conveyances, Section 1, Page 332, affecting the northerly wall of said premises.—Dated New York, December 13th, 1899.

JOHN PROCTOR CLARKE, Referee.

MILLER, PECKHAM & DIXON, Attorneys for Plaintiffs, 80 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the above-described premises, known by the street number 233 Front Street:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $13,931.31, with interest thereon from the 2nd day of November, 1899, together with costs and allowances amounting to $353.36, with interest from November 10th, 1899, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of taxes, water rents, assessments, or other liens which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the referee is $615.04 and interest.—Dated New York, December 13, 1899.

JOHN PROCTOR CLARKE.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—JAMES EVERARD, plaintiff, against MICHAEL J. CALLAHAN and others, defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, and bearing date the 26th day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 19th day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by William Kennelly, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

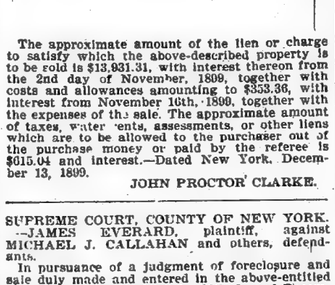
All those certain lots, pieces, or parcels of land situate, lying, and being in the 24th Ward of the City of New York and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the southwesterly corner of Decatur Avenue and the Mosholu Parkway, running thence southwardly along the westerly side of Decatur Avenue fifty (50) feet, thence westwardly parallel with Suburban Street one hundred and fifty-nine and 33-100 feet to an angle, thence westwardly at right angles to Hull Avenue sixty-five and forty one-hundredths (65 40-100) feet to the easterly side of Hull Avenue; thence northwardly along the easterly side of Hull Avenue one hundred and twenty-two and fifty-nine one-hundredths (122 59-100) feet to the southerly side of the Mosholu Parkway; thence southeastwardly along the southerly side of said Mosholu Parkway two hundred and forty-six and eighty-one one-hundredths (246 81-100) feet to the point of beginning.—Dated New York, December 28th, 1899.

GEORGE H. HART, Referee.

DAVID M. NEUBERGER, Attorney for Plaintiff, 256 Broadway, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold:



The approximate amounts of the liens or charges to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold, is $8,413.24, with interest thereon from the 26th day of December, 1899, together with costs and allowance amounting to $300.35, with interest from December 26th, 1899, together with the expenses of the sale.

The approximate amount of taxes, assessments, or other liens which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the referee is $945.40-100, and interest.—Dated New York City, December 28th, 1899.

GEORGE H. HART, Referee.

d29-2aw8w&ja10

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

REFEREES' NOTICES.

SUPREME COURT, NEW YORK COUNTY.—THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK, plaintiff, against THE NEW YORK STEAM POWER COMPANY and others, defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, and bearing date the 6th day of October, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on Tuesday, the 16th day of January, 1900, at twelve o'clock noon on that day, by McVickar and Company, auctioneers, the premises described in said judgment as follows:

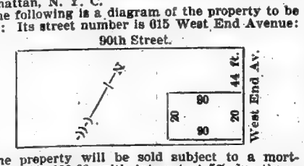
All those certain lots, pieces, or parcels of land, with the buildings thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of the Bronx, in the City of New York, bounded and described as follows, viz.:

Beginning at a point on the southerly side of One Hundred and Sixtieth (160th) Street, distant ninety-eight (98) feet westerly from the corner formed by the intersection of the southerly side of Nineteenth with the westerly side of West End Avenue; running thence westerly over the said Nineteenth Street, and part of the distance through a party wall, ninety feet; thence southerly and parallel with West End Avenue, twenty feet; thence easterly again parallel with said Nineteenth Street, and part of the distance through another party wall, ninety feet to the said westerly side of West End Avenue; and thence northerly along the same twenty feet to the point or place of beginning. Said premises being now known by the street number 615 West End Avenue.—Dated New York, December 26th, 1899.

THOMAS F DONNELLY, Referee.

MORRIS PUTNAM STEVENS, Attorney for Plaintiff, 34 Pine Street, Borough of Manhattan, N. Y. C.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold: Its street number is 615 West End Avenue:



The property will be sold subject to a mortgage of $25,000.00, with interest at 5% due thereon from February 25th, 1899, which mortgage will be due February 25th, 1902. The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments, and water rates, or other liens to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the sale of the said premises is to be made free and clear. $538.23, and interest.—Dated New York, 26th day of December, 1899.

THOMAS F. DONNELLY, Referee.

d29-2aw3wF&Tu&ja10

TRAVELERS' GUIDE—STEAMBOATS.

BOSTON $2.50 VIA THE NEW ROUTE

TO NEW HAVEN, PROVIDENCE, AND BOSTON.

NEW HAVEN LINE
NARRAGANSETT BAY LINE.

Steamers daily, Sunday excepted, from Pier 25 East River, for New Haven, Providence, and Boston at 5 P. M.

TRAVELERS' GUIDE—SHIPPING.

WHITE STAR LINE.

NEW YORK—QUEENSTOWN—LIVERPOOL.

Germanic	Sat. Jan. 6, Noon	Germanic	Feb. 7, Noon
Oceanic	Jan. 24, 11 AM	Oceanic	Feb. 21, 9:30 AM
Teutonic	Jan. 31, Noon	Teutonic	Feb. 28, Noon

For passage, freight, and general information apply to WHITE STAR LINE, Pier 48 North River. Office, 9 Broadway, N. Y.

JAPAN-CHINA

Hawaii and Philippine Islands

PACIFIC MAIL S. S. CO.
OCCIDENTAL AND ORIENTAL S. S. CO.
TOYOKISEN KAISHA.

Between San Francisco, Honolulu, Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki, Shanghai, Hong Kong.

Steamers leave San Francisco at 1 P. M.

GAELIC	Jan. 6	CHINA	Jan. 24
H. K. MARU	Jan. 16	DORIC	Feb. 1

For freight, passage, and general information apply at 349 Broadway, or 1 Battery Place. Wash. Bldg., and 287 Broadway, N. Y. City.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Intended steamship sailings from Vancouver.

JAPAN, CHINA, and PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

EMPRESS OF JAPAN.....Jan. 29, April 16
EMPRESS OF CHINA.....Feb. 28, May 7
EMPRESS OF INDIA.....March 26

HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

and AUSTRALIA.

AORANGI.....Jan. 5 MIOWERA.....Feb. 9
For rates apply 358 Broadway and 65 Wall St.

OLD DOMINION LINE.

DAILY SERVICE.

For Old Point Comfort, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Pinner's Point, Newport News, and Richmond, Va., connecting for Petersburg, Richmond, Virginia Beach, Washington, D. C., and entire South and West.

Freight and passenger steamers sail from Pier 26, North River, foot of Beach St., every week day, except Saturday, at 3 P. M., and Saturday, at 4 P. M.

H. B. WALKER, Traffic Manager.

REFEREES' NOTICES.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—ELIZABETH MESSMANN, plaintiff, against ELIZABETH EGENBERGER and others, defendants.

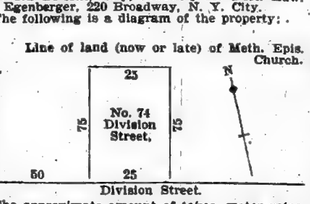
In pursuance of an interlocutory judgment of partition duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, and bearing date the 6th day of September, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said interlocutory judgment named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on Tuesday, the 16th day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by John N. Golding, auctioneer, the lands and premises directed by said interlocutory judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows, to wit: All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situate, lying, and being in the Tenth Ward of the City of New York, in the County and State of New York, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the northerly side of Division Street, distant fifty (50) feet easterly from the northeasterly corner of Division and Forsyth Streets; running thence northerly parallel with Forsyth Street and partly through the centre of a party wall seventy-five (75) feet to the line of the land now, or late, belonging to the Methodist Episcopal Church; thence easterly along said line twenty-five (25) feet; thence southerly, parallel with Forsyth Street, seventy-five (75) feet to the northerly side of Division Street; and thence westerly along the northerly side of Division Street twenty-five (25) feet to the point or place of beginning, said premises being known as No. 74 Division Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City and County of New York.—Dated New York, December 22d, 1899.

JOSEPH FETTRETCH, Referee.

CHARLES H. MACHIN, Esq., Attorney for Plaintiff, 206 Broadway, N. Y. City.

HENRY LORILLARD, Attorney for Deft. Edw. Egenberger, 220 Broadway, N. Y. City.

The following is a diagram of the property:



The approximate amount of taxes, water rates, assessments, or other liens upon the said premises is about eight thousand seven hundred dollars, ($8,700,) which will be allowed out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee.—Dated New York, December 22d, 1899.

JOSEPH FETTRETCH, Referee.

d26-2aw3wTu&F&ja17

NOS. ..... EAST 160TH ST., BOROUGH OF the Bronx.—New York Supreme Court, County of New York.—HENRY W. GILBERT, plaintiff, against MARGARET REDICAN et al., defendants.

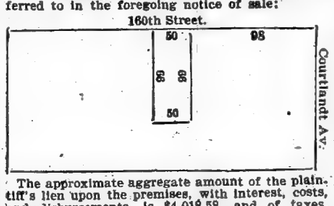
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the 19th day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 4th of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by McVickar and Company, auctioneers, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land, with the building and improvements thereon erected, situate in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, County of New York, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the westerly side of West End Ave., distant southerly thereon forty-four feet from the corner formed by the intersection of the southerly side of Ninetieth with the westerly side of West End Avenue; running thence westerly over the said Ninetieth Street, and part of the distance through a party wall, ninety feet; thence southerly and parallel with West End Avenue, twenty feet; thence easterly again parallel with said Ninetieth Street, and part of the distance through another party wall, ninety feet to the said westerly side of West End Avenue; and thence northerly along the same twenty feet to the point or place of beginning. Said premises being now known by the street number 615 West End Avenue.—Dated New York, December 26th, 1899.

THOMAS F DONNELLY, Referee.

MORRIS PUTNAM STEVENS, Attorney for Plaintiff, 34 Pine Street, Borough of Manhattan, N. Y. C.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold: Its street number is 615 West End Avenue:



The approximate aggregate amount of the plaintiff's lien upon the premises, with interest, costs, and disbursements, is $4,018.58, and of taxes, assessments, and water rates, $85.29. The approximate aggregate amount of prior liens upon the premises, with interest, is $10,984.83. The sale of the said premises is to be made free and clear. ABR. A. JOSEPH, Referee.

BOWERS & SANDS, Plaintiff's Attorneys.

d26-2aw3wTu&F&ja10

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—E. CAROLINE KOPPER, plaintiff, against MARGARET G. KOPPER, Jr., and others, defendants.

In pursuance of an interlocutory judgment of partition and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the 22d day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 19th day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by McVickar &

AFFAIRS OF THE HARPERS

Creditors' Committee Recommends Continuance of the Business.

SAVING OF $20,000 MONTHLY

A Plan for the Financial Readjustment of the Corporation Under Single-Handed Control.

At the instance of creditors whose claims aggregate nearly half the entire indebtedness of Harper & Brothers, a committee of five men, of which Alexander E. Orr is Chairman, has undertaken to prepare and submit to creditors a plan of reorganization. Preliminary to this task the committee has prepared a statement, in which it is set up that the total liabilities of Harper & Brothers on Dec. 4, 1899, were $3,083,000, diminished since the date named by the turning over of $150,000 of bonds, which leaves the total indebtedness $2,993,000.

The secured indebtedness is $1,001,000, consisting of notes, an open account, and a mortgage of $6,000, secured by bonds and real estate. The unsecured indebtedness comprises commercial paper and open accounts.

The corporation in 1893 mortgaged its property to secure $3,000,000 5 per cent. 100-year gold bonds. Of this amount, $2,645,000 stands as collateral, as referred to. The remainder of the issued bonds, $355,000, is outstanding, and controlled by the committee for the purposes of reorganization. The mortgage represented by the bonds covers all property of the corporation, except stock on hand, bills receivable, supplies, and cash on hand. Omitting the asset of good-will and plates, estimated at $900,000 value, and deducting the bond and mortgage, $894,000 remains against the outstanding bonded indebtedness of $2,645,000, or 26 per cent. of their par value.

The estimated net available assets, not covered by mortgage, to meet unsecured claims, are substantially $442,607. In this connection real estate and improvements are set down at $650,000, good will and plates at $900,000, machinery, merchandise, manuscripts, drawings, &c., at $157,500, and cash and bills receivable and miscellaneous securities, $412,913.

The amount of the assets of $442,607, as stated, is arrived at by deducting from the gross estimated assets as here itemized, and amounting to $2,120,413, the assets covered by first mortgage and bond and mortgage, in the sum of $1,600,000, and amounts due preferred creditors to the amount of $77,806.

The net liabilities in excess of bonded indebtedness are placed at $962,612, and comprise bills payable, general creditors, manuscripts, advertising, and unexpired subscriptions, leaving net available assets equal to 22.5 per cent. of net available liabilities, exclusive of cost of receivership and liquidation.

The committee regards the above estimate of value of assets, except as a going concern, to be very excessive. All of the assets covered by the mortgage are deducted in computing the probable excess of unsecured creditors, because in the committee's judgment the property covered by the mortgage would not realize, under foreclosure sale, more than enough to satisfy the secured claims.

Wherefore, the committee concludes, if the corporation is not continued as a going concern, unsecured creditors would receive a very small percentage of par value of their claims. Little, if any, relief is anticipated for creditors from indorsements of commercial paper sold by the corporation and held now as unsecured claims.

Statement is made by the committee that, under direction of G. B. M. Harvey, agent of the Trustees and receiver now in charge of the property, operating expenses have been reduced $20,000 per month, equivalent to a saving of interest on $5,000,000. Mr. Harvey has reported to the committee that the total loss from the business during the first eight months of the present year was nearly $400,000, but that, owing to retrenchments referred to, he is certain that the corporation is now earning its operating expenses.

Mr. Harvey believes that with proper management, free of custody of the courts, the business can earn, in 1900, about $100,000 above operating expenses.

The committee, therefore, recommends to the creditors that the business be continued under strong, single-handed control. The committee has assurances from the holders of practically all the bonds, that with the concurrence of unsecured creditors continuance may be had upon a sound financial basis. The plan for the financial readjustment of the corporation's affairs is now in preparation, and will be duly submitted to the creditors.

MRS. COOK'S CHRISTMAS TREE.

Bedridden Woman Makes Many Children Happy.

Groups of happy children could be seen yesterday afternoon entering the building at 492 Second Avenue, whence they passed through the hallway to a little, old-fashioned house in the rear. There in a quaint, four-posted bed on the second floor lay Mrs. Bella Cook, an invalid who has been unable to rise for forty-four years. Near her bed stood a Christmas tree, about which were heaped trumpets, drums, balls, dolls, and numerous knicknacks, which were distributed among the little ones.

Each year Mrs. Cook arranges a Christmas festival for the children of the neighborhood at her home. When she was a patient at the Woman's Hospital, which then stood on Madison Avenue, near Thirtieth Street, she made the acquaintance of many of its wealthy patrons. Among these were Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. Anson G. Phelps, and a number of others, who have since contributed to the various charities she carries on. Yesterday she gave presents to over 100 children. When it was over she said: "It's the happiest day I've had for a year."

LIABILITY OF RESTAURANTS.

Justice Freedman States Rule Affecting Safety of Customers' Apparel.

A recovery in a municipal court by Marcus W. Montgomery of a judgment against John Ladjing, a restaurant keeper, for the value of an overcoat which disappeared from a hook affixed to a post, where it had been hung, while Mr. Montgomery was seated, near by, at a table with a party of friends, was yesterday set aside by the Appellate Term of the Supreme Court. Presiding Justice Freedman, giving the opinion, thus states the rule of legal liability in such cases:

"Before a restaurant keeper will be held liable for the loss of an overcoat of a customer while such customer takes a meal, it must appear either that the overcoat was placed in the physical custody of the keeper of the restaurant or his servants, or that the overcoat was necessarily laid aside under circumstances showing at least notice of the fact and of such necessity to the keeper of the restaurant or his servants, or that the loss occurred by reason of the insufficiency of the general supervision exercised by the keeper of the restaurant for the protection of the property of customers temporarily laid aside.

"There are all kinds of restaurants. In some of them good taste and etiquette require that a customer should take his hat and overcoat off while taking a meal or refreshments, while in others, especially the so-called quick-lunch establishments, customers frequently remove neither hat nor overcoat."

Father Malone's Relatives' Side.

The relatives of Father Malone have issued a statement denying allegations which have been made concerning their actions and motives, and asking the friends of Father Malone, before making up their minds in the premises, to wait until the proper time has come for full investigation as Father Malone himself desires. They have remained at Father Malone's bedside, they say, because Father Malone has demanded that they do so, which desire Father Malone, they assert, caused to be communicated to Father McNamara, Vicar General of the Diocese.

The Clipper to Move Up Town.

Carrying out a plan announced some time ago, to get nearer to the theatrical centre, The New York Clipper has leased the building 47 West Twenty-eighth Street for a term of ten years, and will vacate its present quarters at 88 Centre Street on May 1. The Twenty-eighth Street property is a four-story dwelling, remodeled for business purposes.

HONORS FOR MR. CROKER.

Bust and Portrait in Dublin to Mark His Work for Parnell Mansion Fund.

In letters recently received from persons in Dublin by friends in New York it is stated that in recognition of Richard Croker's aid in raising funds in this city for the preservation of the Parnell estate at Avondale, County Wicklow, Ireland, the Lord Mayor of Dublin has suggested to the Municipal Council of that city the propriety of placing a bust of Mr. Croker in a prominent place in the Council Chamber.

The proposition, which is indorsed by the press and people of Dublin, will be discussed by the Council at the first session of that body when it assembles early in the approaching new year.

Through the suggestion of Mr. John E. Redmond, M. P., it is the intention of Irish Nationalists of all parties to unite and solicit subscriptions to defray the expense of painting a portrait of Mr. Croker, to be hung on the walls of the ancient concert room in Dublin, as a token of national gratitude.

The members of the Parnell family, who at present occupy the Parnell mansion, intend to extend to Mr. Croker a special invitation to make the mansion his home whenever he visits Ireland, and a special guest room to be called "The Tammany Chamber" will always be in readiness to receive him.

MR. CROKER'S NEPHEW WEDS.

Richard Croker Warren Takes a Trained Nurse for His Second Wife —His Relatives Annoyed.

Much interest was aroused in Flushing yesterday, when it was reported that Richard Croker Warren of that place, a nephew of Richard Croker, and Mrs. Sadie L. Corse, a trained nurse, who is about ten years his senior, had been secretly married Wednesday night by Judge Burnes, at Greenwich, Conn. This is Mr. Warren's second marriage, and his wife's third.

The first Mrs. Warren secured an absolute divorce from her husband a little more than a year ago, after a stormy married life which had extended over a period of about three years. This decree carried with it the right to the custody of their infant son, with whom she is living at the home of her father, Justice of the Peace Clinton Morrell, at Manhasset.

Mr. Warren is a clerk for the New York Life Insurance Company in this city. Many see in him a strong personal resemblance to his distinguished uncle. Mr. Warren spends his Summers at the comfortable old family homestead at Great Neck, but this year, when his parents moved to their Winter home in Adelphi Street, Brooklyn, he elected to remain in Flushing, and took up his abode with his brother-in-law, Benjamin Hewlett, chief Clerk of the City Magistrate's Court in that place.

The second Mrs. Warren is a daughter of Dennis Carli, a former Captain of the Whitestone police force. Her first husband was George Shrader, a brakeman on the Long Island Railroad, who was killed in an accident in 1883. She then married Frederic Corse, a ticket agent for the Long Island Railroad at Long Island City. He died about four years ago. She has two children.

When seen at her home, 45 Monroe Street, Flushing, yesterday, Mrs. Warren was in a very happy frame of mind. Beyond admitting the marriage, however, she would make no statement concerning it.

Mr. Warren is the only son of Samuel E. Warren, a Deputy United States Appraiser, who holds the position of chief clerk of the order department at the Appraiser's Stores, Greenwich and Christopher Streets. He seemed very much annoyed when seen yesterday. He said he did not know his son's new wife. "He is twenty-eight years old and can do as he pleases," he said. "He's a fool to get out of one fire and jump into another. This is all news to me. Well, he was married in another State, it seems, so I don't suppose they can touch him."

Mr. Hewlett said that the marriage would be a severe blow to the young man's mother. She is traveling in Europe, and an effort will be made to keep the news from her at least until her return.

Mr. Warren, who is employed in the file department of the New York Life Insurance Company, reported for duty as usual yesterday, and was at work when he was seen in the afternoon in regard to his marriage. He seemed annoyed that the matter should have found its way into print, but he admitted that the marriage had taken place.

"It was a quiet affair," he said. "I don't care to say anything more about it than that we are married. In fact there is nothing more to be said about it."

LEGAL NOTES.

LOST WEARING APPAREL.—Millicent V. Willson has a suit pending in the Supreme Court against the Metropolitan Street Railway Company and the Electric Vehicle Company for damages for personal injuries resulting from a collision and for loss of wearing apparel, worth $900. An application was made at Special Term yesterday on behalf of the defendants that plaintiff be required to give the names and addresses of the persons from whom the articles of personal apparel were purchased, and if any of them were gifts, the names of the givers. The plaintiff expressed a willingness to give the particulars desired, except as to divulging from whom presents were received. She would, however, state where these presents were purchased. Justice Gildersleeve yesterday granted the application to that extent, saying it seemed to him this would give all the information to which the defendants were entitled.

***

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—It was held yesterday by the Appellate Term of the Supreme Court, on appeal from judgment given for the defendant in a suit brought by William L. McCotter to recover rent of certain premises from Joseph A. Flinn for the four months ending with September, 1897, that a judgment taken by default in summary proceedings by McCotter as landlord, in September, 1897, for Flinn's dispossession for non-payment of rent, was conclusive between the parties as to the existence and validity of the lease, the occupation by the tenant, and that the rent was due, notwithstanding there had been no personal service of the precept. The court therefore decided, Justice Leventritt giving the opinion, that the defendant was precluded from invoking an alleged surrender by him and acceptance by the plaintiff of the premises on the 20th of June preceding. A constructive service of the precept, as provided in Section 2,240 of the code, was held not to have been violative of the tenant's rights. Being a resident and in possession of the premises the recovery of which was sought, it seemed reasonable and probable, the Court said, that affixing a copy of the precept upon a conspicuous part of the property advised the tenant of the proceeding and afforded him an opportunity to defend. Judgment given in a Municipal Court for the defendant was therefore reversed.

***

CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.—The Appellate Term of the Supreme Court decided yesterday that it is contributory negligence for the driver of a wagon to attempt to cross a street railroad track forty-five or fifty feet in front of an oncoming car, precluding recovery of damages resulting from a collision, where it is not shown that the car could have been stopped within that distance. Otis F. Mason, who was driving a loaded covered truck owned by Thomas L. Cornell down the west side of Sixth Avenue, between the line of elevated pillars and the sidewalk, had with him on the back of the truck a helper, one of whose duties was to notify motormen of following cars when he desired to cross their path. When midway between Fourteenth and Fifteenth Streets, Mason, because other wagons were in his path, started in upon the west roadway of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company. In his suit against the company for injuries he received from a collision Mason testified that his horse was straight on the track, going south, when the car struck the left rear wheel of his wagon. The helper who sat on the back of the truck, facing the approaching car, testified that when the wagon turned on the track, the car was about seventy-five feet away, going at full speed, and that he then waved his hand to the motorman; that the horse and wagon continued going south on a walk for the distance of ten feet before the driver started to turn east across the track, and that then the car was forty-five to fifty feet away. Justice MacLean, in giving the decision of the Appellate Term, reversing judgment given in favor of the plaintiff in a Municipal Court, said no evidence was offered to show that the car could have been stopped within that distance, but rather the contrary appeared, and added: "'Cutting in' under the circumstances of this case clearly evinced negligence and shows fault on the part of the plaintiff sufficient to hinder recovery for defendant's negligence, if any there was." A recovery in Mr. Cornell's suit for damages to the truck, tried at the same time, was also reversed.

NEW TRANSATLANTIC LINE

Leyland & Co. to Start a Liverpool-New York Service.

VESSELS WILL SAIL WEEKLY

Six Ships to be Taken from Boston Service and Later Replaced by a New Fleet.

The announcement was made yesterday that arrangements had been completed by Frederick Leyland & Co., Limited, of Liverpool, for the establishment of a weekly passenger steamship service between New York and Liverpool. This new line, which will constitute the most important addition to transatlantic service in recent years, will have in operation within two months six big vessels, and will conduct a weekly service similar in methods to those of the Atlantic Transport Line, now running between this port and London.

It was in fact just a year and a half ago this month that the Wilson-Furness-Leyland Line, running between New York and London, and the majority interest in which was held by Frederick Leyland & Co., Limited, sold its entire fleet of vessels to the Atlantic Transport Line and made an agreement not to operate any vessels between New York and London for a period of seven years. The Leyland Line, from Liverpool to Boston, still remained in operation, and it was generally believed by shipping men that the Leylands would very soon extend their operations to New York. It is in fact with vessels drawn from this Boston service that the new service will be inaugurated, but in course of time, it is announced, these vessels will all be in turn supplanted by a fleet of powerful steamships now building.

The vessels to be placed in the new service at once are the Winifredian, Armenian, Cestrian, Victorian, Columbian, and Georgian. These vessels average some 9,000 tons each, and can make the voyage in about ten days. Their places in the Boston service will be taken for the time being by smaller vessels.

The inauguration of the new service has been delayed owing to the chartering of several of the available vessels by Great Britain as transports. The Winifredian left Boston yesterday for Liverpool, there to be taken in hand by the British army for a trip to Cape Town. The Cestrian and Victorian are now on the way to Cape Town, but will be released in a few weeks. The Armenian was due in Boston yesterday, having already made a trip to South Africa and been released. This last-named vessel will probably make the first trip from this port in the new service. Sailings will begin in about five weeks, from pier 50, North River, foot of Bethune Street.

The company has secured offices in the new Battery Park Building on State Street. The passenger department will be under the general management of P. W. Gibson, who was for a quarter of a century general passengen agent of the old Guion Line, and is one of the best known steamship men in the country. The steamers will be fitted for about 250 saloon passengers each and will carry no other class. The class of vessels now building for the new service will be something on the order of the White Star steamer Cymric, of immense size and tonnage, and with an enormous capacity for high-class freight. Particular attention, however, will be paid to the passenger traffic, and it is believed that the new company will prove a formidable rival to the Cunard and White Star lines.

ON THE PANAMA CANAL.

William Nelson Cromwell Explains the New Company's Purpose—No Fight Against Nicaragua Project.

William Nelson Cromwell, who organized the Panama Canal Company, which has been incorporated at Trenton, N. J., to take over the rights and interests of the new Panama Canal Company of France, of which J. Bonnardel was President, said yesterday that a few months would intervene before the absorption of the French company's rights.

"The French concern," said he, "will be paid out and out in stock of the new company and will have no other interest in it. All the Directors will be Americans, but I am not at liberty to announce the board yet. Some 4,000 men are at work on the Panama Canal now, as they have been continuously for five years. It has been cut through about two-fifths of its length, $270,000,000 having been spent in the process. However, we shall only need about $100,000,000 more to finish it. That sum will probably be raised by a bond issue. We shall also increase our capital stock from $30,000,000 to $120,000,000."

The attention of Mr. Cromwell was called to the fact that a syndicate, in which ex-Mayor Grace is a leader, holds certain concessions in Nicaragua and would, it was reported, appeal to Congress for Government aid to put through a canal there.

"We have no fight on with anybody," said he. "We shall not carry the matter to Congress, for Congress has nothing to do with it. We shall have all the money necessary and do not need aid from the United States or any one else to build the canal. Of course, I presume that when the people of this country see that a company is ready and able to put one canal through they will not want to make appropriations to build another. We have all the necessary concessions. They are good till 1910, and we expect to have the canal built, under American management, in seven or eight years. It was in view of our representations that Congress threw out the Nicaragua appropriation bills last year. I appeared for the American Canal Company commission last Summer at their request, and we let them know just what we had."

WOMAN'S HOTEL PLANS.

Good Site Obtainable If Money Can Be Promptly Raised.

Those in charge of stock subscriptions to the Woman's Hotel Company believe it entirely possible to raise before Jan. 1 the three-quarters of the capital, which it has been agreed must be subscribed before incorporation. If the total subscriptions do not amount to $300,000 by Jan. 1 the project will be abandoned.

Charles D. Kellogg, the preliminary committee's secretary, said yesterday: "We have an option upon an extremely desirable building site between Madison Square and Thirty-ninth Street, which we can get for $250,000, if we can raise the money at once. We allowed $300,000 for land. We already have a number of applications for quarters from women employed by business houses."

FOR A NEW EAST SIDE PARK.

Project to Get $1,000,000 from the Legislature for the Purpose.

There is a project on foot to get the Legislature to appropriate $1,000,000 for the establishment of a park on the east side, using the block bounded by Delancey, Rivington, Eldridge, and Allen Streets. James B. Reynolds, head worker of the University Settlement, at Rivington and Eldridge Streets, is at the head of the movement. Petitions asking the Legislature for the appropriation have been printed and are being circulated by a committee appointed from the Social Education and Improvement Club.

The district for which the park is desired is the largest in the city unprovided with a breathing space, and is densely settled. The newly elected member of the Assembly from the Eighth District, Isidor Cohn, has promised his support to the movement, and it is hoped that the municipal authorities will be interested in it.

Packard to Go to Sing Sing.

Eugene L. Packard, the head of the Robinson Investment and Security Company of 32 Broadway, convicted of having used the mails to swindle clients in different parts of the United States, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Thomas in the Criminal Branch of the United States Circuit Court and was sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment in Sing Sing Prison and to pay a fine of $500. At the request of counsel Judge Thomas granted a stay of thirty days, from Jan. 1 next, and fixed bail at $12,500.

MRS. SCRIBNER DENIES ALL.

The Charges of Mrs. Fraser Answered and Relations with Dr. Fraser Explained.

Mrs. Lucy S. Scribner, widow of J. Blair Scribner, who resides at 763 Fifth Avenue, yesterday made a sweeping denial of the charge brought against her by Mrs. Ida M. Fraser in her application for a divorce from Dr. J. C. Fraser of Pasadena, Cal. The news that Mrs. Scribner has been made the co-respondent in the Fraser divorce case reached this city yesterday through a dispatch from Los Angeles, Cal., which was printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Mrs. Scribner prior to the death of her husband, ten years ago, was a prominent figure in New York society. Since Mr. Scribner's death she has lived a retired life, and at times has journeyed to California for her health. While she was ill in Pasadena, in 1891, she was treated by Dr. Fraser, she says. Dr. Fraser was at that time one of the leading physicians of the place. Her mother was with her, and it was decided to bring Mrs. Scribner East. Dr. Fraser accompanied the mother and daughter, Mrs. Scribner claims, purely and simply as a physician, and she declares that her relations with him were only those of a patient to a physician.

Mrs. Scribner admits paying Dr. Fraser's expenses, but refused yesterday to say whether or not she paid the bills of his tailor and gave him $4,000, as stated in the California dispatch. The allegation that Dr. Fraser told his wife that he wished to secure a divorce that he might marry Mrs. Scribner, the latter declares to be ridiculous.

Mrs. Fraser came East with her husband a little over a year ago, but, Mrs. Scribner says, the physician's wife did not call upon her.

Mrs. Scribner late yesterday afternoon consulted her lawyers, Evarts, Van Cott & Erskine, 52 Wall Street, and Mr. Van Cott gave out a statement making a general denial of the charges of Mrs. Fraser in her application for a divorce. He alleged that the affair involves blackmail, and said he would act in the future for Mrs. Scribner. When asked if Mrs. Scribner would go to California to testify in the Fraser divorce case, Mr. Van Cott said that she certainly would not. In such cases depositions are taken at the residence of the co-respondents, and if Mrs. Scribner's testimony is taken at all, it would be, Mr. Van Cott said, by such means.

VOTE AGAIN AGAINST BRIDGE.

Manhattan-Queens Project Discussed in the Board of Aldermen—Resolution to Come Up Again.

For the second time in two days the Board of Aldermen yesterday refused to authorize the construction of the Blackwell's Island Bridge connecting the Boroughs of Manhattan and Queens. Thirty-four votes were recorded in favor of the resolution and twelve against it, forty-five affirmative votes being necessary to its adoption. Among the fourteen absentees there were several who have declared their hostility to the bridge resolution. The matter was made a special order for 10:30 o'clock to-morrow morning, when every possible effort will be made to attract a large attendance of members, so that a definite result may be attained.

When Alderman McCall called the resolution up, Mr. Stewart of Brooklyn took the floor to reply to the charge made at Wednesday's meeting, that a tunnel, if built, would be used exclusively by railroad companies. "I deny that any railroad could grab a tunnel any more than it would a bridge," said Mr. Stewart. "Can any one state as a matter of personal knowledge that railroads will not use this bridge if we authorize its construction? The only bridge we have over the East River is controlled by railroad corporations, thanks to this administration."

Alderman Goodman declared that he did not believe the State would interfere and force the construction of trans-East River bridges if the city did not do so.

"If this matter is not acted upon by us before Saturday at midnight," Alderman McCall replied, "I am convinced, as sure as Alderman Goodman is in the land of the living, we will see a bridge started by June 15, under orders from the Legislature."

Alderman Bennett, who was elected by the board as successor to the late Alderman Ackerman, and who was selected for the place by Bridge Commissioner Shea, voted in favor of the resolution, which he opposed at Wednesday's meeting. The negative votes were cast by Aldermen Byrne, Diemer, Goodman, Hennessey, McInnes, McNeil, Oatman, Sherman, Stewart, Welton, Wafer, and Wentz.

ALDERMANIC SYNTAX DECRIED.

Mr. Sherman Offers a Check to Hasty, Irrelevant Resolutions.

Alderman Sherman, in the Board of Aldermen, yesterday offered the following resolution:

Whereas, There has been introduced from time to time in this board resolutions expressing sympathies or opinions in matters lying far beyond our province or jurisdiction, and

Whereas, Such resolutions are generally hastily prepared and expressed in doubtful idiom and with disregard both to rules of grammar and unquestioned facts of history, and

Whereas, Such resolutions coming on in the course of busy sessions, it has become the custom of this board to adopt the same, however absurd and ridiculous, in order to avoid the delay of debate and dilatory motions, and

Whereas, Such conditions tend to bring this board into public contempt and to reduce its legitimate influence and to injure the reputation of its members for education and intelligence, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we recommend to the succeeding board that it adopt a rule that all such resolutions relating to matters political or otherwise without the City and State of New York, be, unless unanimous consent to the contrary be given, referred as of course to an appropriate committee, and be it further

Resolved, That the clerk of this board be requested to transmit or deliver a copy of this resolution to the Chairman of the Committee on Rules of the next board.

Alderman McCall, the Tammany leader, defended the grammar used in the resolutions which the board has adopted, and on his suggestion Mr. Sherman's resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. Sherman's term of office expires on Sunday.

Court to Occupy Its New Home.

The Sinking Fund Commission, at its meeting yesterday, accepted the suggestion made by the Judges of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, that an arrangement be entered into with C. T. Wills, the contractor for the new Appellate Division Court House, whereby the latter will provide light and heat for the building and postpone the acceptance of his work to May 1 next. The arrangement makes it possible for the court to occupy the building next week. Mr. Wills will receive $1,234 a month for light and heat. The contract will not expire until May 1. Nearly all the work has been completed.

Funds for Park, Schools, and Supplies.

The Board of Estimate met yesterday and made the following appropriations: For the Hester Street park site, $20,000; for the purchase of supplies in the Fire Department, $10,000; for two school sites and schoolhouses in Brooklyn, $369,750; for a new school at Whitestone, Queens, $126,000; for the Brooklyn Hospital Fund, $6,662.90; for the expenses of the primary election, $75,000; for the maintenance of the Kings County Jail, $6,000; for reindexing the records in the County Clerk's office, $36,000, to be paid out of the proceeds of revenue bonds.

For New Plants in Brooklyn Borough.

The Board of Aldermen yesterday authorized bond issues of $100,000 for the purchase of a street-cleaning plant and $125,000 for the construction of a filter plant. Both are for the Borough of Brooklyn.

Mausoleum for a Newark Brewer.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 28.—Thousands of people visited Fairmount Cemetery to-day to inspect the handsome granite and marble mausoleum which has just been completed for Gottfried Krueger, the millionaire brewer. The mausoleum is 25 by 26 feet, and the symbol of Eternal Life on the apex of the dome is 46 feet above the ground. The material is white marble. At the entrance is a Grecian portico supported by eight marble columns. The interior is finished in white marble and Vermont and Georgia granite. There are thirty-six crypts in the vault and two large sarcophagi hewn out of Carrara marble. The mausoleum cost nearly $250,000.

Evening dress clothes are worn at times when one's principal study is his fellow man; in no other suit does a lack in cut or cloth stand out so boldly.

Evening dress suits, $46 and $40—as low as $27.
Dinner coats, $15, $18, $25.
Opera hats, $7.
Silk hats, $6.
Evening dress shields, $1.50 to $2.
Shirts, $2.
Dress ties, .15 and .25.
Gloves, $1.50 and $2.
Shoes, Model, button, patent leather, $5.
Pumps, $2.

ROGERS, PEET & Co.
350 Broadway, cor. Leonard.
569 Broadway, cor. Prince.
Thirty-second and Broadway.

NEW MADISON SQUARE HOTEL.

Project of Capitalists to Build on the Site of the Old Brunswick.

The probabilities are that a hotel on the site of the old Brunswick, and facing on Madison Square, will soon be in process of construction. New York, Boston, and Philadelphia capitalists have the matter in hand.

One of these capitalists, who refused to permit the use of his name, said to a TIMES reporter yesterday:

"There is no better locality in New York for a hotel than in the immediate vicinity of Madison Square. Options have been obtained on property in Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Streets, but all that is desired has not been secured. To show how property in that section has increased in value, I can say that we are ready to pay $75,000 for one parcel that was sold in 1873 for $14,000.

"It is proposed to erect a twenty-story structure, and those in the undertaking are satisfied their investment will prove remunerative.

"The lease of the Fifth Avenue Hotel property will expire in August, 1903. There has been talk that John Wanamaker wants the property, but I can say that Mr. Wanamaker told me he was perfectly satisfied with his present location. It is my belief that the Fifth Avenue Hotel will remain a hotel for many years to come, but that will not prevent the building of our proposed hotel."

TALK OF AN INSURANCE WAR.

Equitable's President Admits that the New York Life Has Ended an Agreement as to Agents.

The resignations of several life insurance companies from the "anti-rebate" compact, rendering the agreement practically inoperative, have given rise to reports of a possible war among the large companies. These reports were partly based upon a statement that the Equitable Life Assurance Society and the New York Life Insurance Company had also terminated all agreements in regard to mutual agencies. James W. Alexander, the President of the Equitable, made the following statement yesterday in regard to these reports:

"In reply to your inquiry, I would say that I know of no warfare between the Equitable and another large company. We have enough to do in handling our own extensive affairs without concerning ourselves about others. We are engaged in strictly minding our own business. It is not a new thing that a compact between the companies throughout the country, entered into in 1895, had been dissolved. That occurred some time ago. The understanding was entered into with the hope of eradicating certain inequalities in the business, but when put in operation it failed to accomplish desired results, and produced fresh and serious difficulties. As a natural consequence, it went to pieces. The Equitable was not the first company to withdraw, and the sense of the majority of the large companies was against its continuance. The Equitable has started reforms on its own account, and without combination, far more effective.

"The allegation that the company to which you refer has terminated an understanding that it had with this company in reference to the employment of agents is in a measure correct, they having written us to that effect. It takes two, however, to make a quarrel, and the Equitable is not quarrelsome. I should as soon think of bank Presidents making war on one another, and for this reason we do not believe that anything will be done that will be detrimental to the best interests of the respective companies. We certainly shall at all times defend the interests of our policyholders and conduct our business in a way becoming its magnitude and importance."

INSURANCE COMPANIES UNITE.

Northwestern Life of Chicago Absorbs the Covenant Mutual.

GALESBURG, Ill., Dec. 28.—By a vote of 17,097 to 76 the Covenant Mutual Life Association of this city to-day decided to amalgamate with the Northwestern Life Assurance Company of Chicago. The 28,000 members of the Covenant Mutual Life Assurance Association, whose policies aggregate $45,000,000, will go over to the Northwestern Company in a body.

There was much opposition to the transfer among some members of the Covenant Association, and for a time it looked as if the deal would not be carried through. The matter is likely to get into the courts, however, as some of the minority are determined to stop the transfer, if possible. An attempt was made to-day to invalidate the proxies held by the officers of the Covenant Association, but it failed.

NOTES OF INSURANCE INTERESTS.

The retiring member of the Rate Committee of the New York Fire Insurance Exchange on Jan. 1 is George M. Colt, who will be succeeded by William Ellsworth. The new Chairman of the committee will be Charles G. Smith and the Vice Chairman B. G. Ackerman.

The Equitable Fire and Accident Office, Limited, of Manchester, England, has applied for admission to this State. Its last statement showed a subscribed capital of £405,545 and a fire fund (exclusive of paid-up capital) of £96,196. Its funds are liable for accident as well as fire claims.

A complimentary dinner was given to Henry E. Bowers by a number of prominent fire underwriters at Delmonico's last evening. Mr. Bowers will retire on Jan. 1 from the management of the United States branch of the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company of London and Edinburgh.

A meeting of the New York Fire Insurance Exchange will be held Jan. 3, at which time several unfinished matters will come up for consideration, including a recommendation that all minimum and card rates on tugs, ferryboats, and dredges be withdrawn, it being the intention to leave unrated all floating craft within the jurisdiction of the Exchange.

George F. Vietor & Co. and the H. B. Carlin Company, the assignees of Louis Gordon, have asked the fire insurance companies whose policies covered the Walker Street property, which was burned on July 24, 1894, to settle the loss claim for 12 per cent. of the insurance. Gordon was convicted of arson and later was pardoned by Gov. Black. The assignment of the policies was effected by Gordon previous to his conviction. In 1895 an auditing committee consisting of Samuel R. Weed, Lindley Murray, Jr., and W. O. Bigelow audited what the companies thought would be the final disbursements in the case. The cost of defending the suits brought by the assignees has so far amounted to 24 per cent. The insurance was distributed as follows: Mutual of New York, $10,000; Mutual Lloyds, $10,000; Western of Toronto, $4,000; Stuyvesant, $3,500; Hartford, $2,500; Empire City, $2,500; Home, $2,500; Agricultural, $2,500; Bowery, $2,500; Hamilton, $2,500; Imperial, $2,000; County of Philadelphia, $1,500; Phoenix of Hartford, $1,500; Lion, $1,500; Farragut, $1,500; Mechanics', $1,250; Union of Philadelphia, $1,250.

Men's Furnishing Dep't.
SHIRTS.

Made of fine white muslin for evening dress or fancy percale and madras for day wear.
Attached or detached cuffs.
Colored fabrics represent incomplete lines.
Dress Shirts are odd sizes, and some slightly soiled.
Sale to clear remainder of this stock,
55 cents each;
Formerly $1.00 and $1.50.

JAMES McCREERY & CO.,
Broadway and 11th St.

FLINT'S FINE FURNITURE

THE FLOTSAM AND JETSAM

which collects in an old house can be weeded out, and during bargain season a few modern pieces can be judiciously added, thus making an artistic and modern transformation.

A graceful cabinet, an easy chair, a luxurious deep-seated couch, or a most convenient desk or table. Just examine your old-fashioned rooms thoroughly, and then a walk through our showrooms, now filled with reduced luxuries, will convince you that it is economy to

"BUY OF THE MAKER"

GEO. C. FLINT CO.
43 45 AND 47 WEST 23RD ST
NEAR BROADWAY.
FACTORY 154 AND 156 WEST 19TH STREET.

AMUSEMENTS.

EMPIRE THEATRE. Broadway and 40th St. Evgs. 8:20. Matinées Wed. & Saturday at 2:15.
EMPIRE THEATRE COMPANY. MY LADY'S LORD. XTRA MAT. NEW YEAR'S.

GARRICK THEATRE. 35th St. & B'way. Evenings, 8 o'clock. Mats., 2:15. Matinées Saturday and New Year's Day.
Wm. Gillette in His New Play. Sherlock Holmes

MADISON SQ. THEATRE. 24th St., nr. B'way. EVGS., 8:30. MATINEES, 2:15. Matinées Wednesday, Saturday, and New Year's.
WHEELS WITHIN WHEELS. Greatest Hit This Season.

Charles Frohman's Criterion Theatre, B'way & 44th St. Evgs. 8:30.
LAST 2 WEEKS. Matinées Sat. & New Year's.
JULIA MARLOWE | Barbara Frietchie.
Tuesday, January 9—MAUDE ADAMS.

GARDEN THEATRE 27th St. and Madison Ave.
Charles Frohman.....Manager
FOR TWO WEEKS ONLY.
Evenings 8:30. Matinée Saturday.
MR. RICHARD MANSFIELD
In THE FIRST VIOLIN:
From the Romance written by Jessie Fothergill.
Jan. 8th, Last and Farewell Week.
Monday, (only time,) Arms and The Man; Tuesday, Cyrano de Bergerac; Wednesday, Prince Karl; Thursday, A Parisian Romance; Friday, Beau Brummell; Saturday, (only matinée,) The Devil's Disciple; Sat. Evg., Farewell Night, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Seats may now be secured for the balance of the engagement.

DALY'S B'way & 30th.....at 8:20
Matinées Wednesday & Sat., 2.
SPECIAL MAT. NEW YEAR'S.
Permanent Home of Daniel Frohman's Co.
2D MONTH.
THE MANEUVERS OF JANE.
Comedy, 4 acts, by Henry Arthur Jones.

LYCEUM 4th Av. & 23d.....at 8:30
Daniel Frohman.....Manager
Matinées Thurs. & Sat., 2.
Extra Matinée New Year's Day.
FOURTH MONTH.
CHARLES FROHMAN PRESENTS
ANNIE RUSSELL in MISS HOBBS MISS HOBBS

ST. NICHOLAS SKATING RINK
69 West 66th St.
Open to the Public New Year's.
INTERNATIONAL HOCKEY MATCHES.
To-night at 8:15 o'clock,
McGILL UNIV. of Montreal vs. NEW YORK A.C.
Saturday, Dec. 30, 8:15 P. M.,
McGILL UNIVERSITY VS. ALL-YORK.
Reserved seats, 50 cents extra.

5th Ave Theatre. B'way & 28th St. Evs. 8:15 Mats. Wed., Sat. & New Year's.
POSITIVE SUCCESS.
The Latest Musical Comedy.
THREE LITTLE LAMBS
Company of 70, including the Misses Adele Ritchie, Nellie Braggins, Marie Cahill, the Messrs. W. E. Philp, Raymond Hitchcock, W. T. Carleton.

PROCTOR'S 23d ST. Cont. Perf. 15,25,50c. Marshall Wilder, Jennie Yeamans, Anna Teresa Berger
MOVING PICTURES, (XMAS VIEWS.) 30 other.

PALACE 58th St. & 3d Av. Cont. Perf. 15, 25, 50c. HUNGARIAN BOYS' BAND, 40 Midget Musicians!
PRESS ELDRIDGE, Conway & Leland, others.

14TH ST. THEATRE, nr. 6th Av. Mats. Wed. & Sat.
Special Matinée NEW YEAR'S DAY.
THE VILLAGE POSTMASTER.
"Another Old Homestead."—N. Y. World.
A GLIMPSE OF QUAINT COUNTRY LIFE.
NEXT SUNDAY Dec. 31.—Afternoon at 3; Eve. at 8:15. Biograph Moving Pictures of POPE LEO XIII. ORIGINAL VIEWS taken in the Vatican at Rome.

CASINO! Last 8 Ngts! Last Mat. Tmrw. BUT TWO!
Mat. Nw Yrs Day! Alice Nielsen OPERA COMPANY
Adieu Ngt, Jan. 6. in The Singing Girl
Jan. 8.—Rice's "Little Red Riding Hood."

BROADWAY Theatre. 41st St. & B'way. Evgs. at 8. Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2
THE GREAT SUCCESS. BEN-HUR
SPECIAL MATINEE NEW YEAR'S.

KNICKERBOC

DAILY, ONE CENT. SUNDAY, THREE CENTS.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

The New York Times.

THE WEATHER. Fair; cold; fresh west to north winds.

COPYRIGHT, 1899, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

VOL. XLIX...NO. 15,593. NEW YORK, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1899.—14 Pages and Supplement. ONE CENT In Greater New York; Elsewhere, and Jersey City. TWO CENTS.

TO-DAY, FOURTEEN PAGES, With REVIEW OF BOOKS AND ART.

THE NEWS CONDENSED.

Stocks strong.

Cash wheat, No. 2 red, 75¼c.; cash corn, No. 2 mixed, 40⅝c.; cash cotton, 7 11-16c.

FOREIGN.—It is reported from Ladysmith that Gen. White's position is becoming uncomfortable at Ladysmith owing to the increased effectiveness of the Boer force. Gen. Buller's water supply, it is said, is being menaced. Hard fighting is reported from Mafeking. A battle has taken place between the Kafirs and the Boers. The reported treaty ceding Delagoa Bay to Great Britain is denounced in Berlin as a clumsy invention. Early in January the French Government will introduce a bill providing for an increased fleet and coast and colonial defenses. Americans in Paris will observe New Year's Day in American fashion. A German steamer supposed to be a Hamburg-American liner ran aground off the Kent coast yesterday. It is reported that Hernandez, the Venezuelan rebel leader, is in flight. Milloecker, the composer, yesterday suffered a paralytic stroke at Vienna. Ambassador and Mrs. White yesterday returned to Berlin from a vacation in Italy. Two French physicians claim they have discovered a serum which will cure the liquor habit.—Pages 3 and 7.

Page 1.

John D. Adams, Secretary of the Knickerbocker Athletic Club directly accused Molineux of writing the address on the poison package which killed Mrs. Adams. Cornish completed his story of the death of Mrs. Adams, and his cross-examination was begun.

Page 2.

What is regarded as the first move in the fight to be waged for the extinction of Senator Coffey as the leader of the Ninth Assembly District, Kings, by the Democratic machine, was begun last night by the organization of a sub-committee to investigate the charges brought against the Senator.

The Merchants' Association has taken up the question of the charges of importers here against Appraiser Wilbur F. Wakeman, and it is declared that if alleged abuses are not remedied a petition for his removal will be formulated and presented to the Government at Washington.

Page 4.

Prof. Alfred Morrison shot his wife, thinking her a burglar, and she is likely to die.

Olaf Sundstrom, formerly in the musical instrument trade, committed suicide at the Grand Union Hotel.

Coast Inspector Myron C. Hait of Patchogue became insane from worry over the prospect of losing his office.

The official reception programme given out yesterday at the White House is similar to that of former years in placing the army ahead of the navy.

Page 5.

Louis Trouveau, butler for William F. Sheehan, cut his throat, but will recover.

Two men were injured by an explosion on a locomotive of the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad.

State Engineer Bond yesterday made public his report on the improvement of the State highways.

Two more attempts at burglary have been reported in Brooklyn, and one arrest has been made.

The State Treasurer's report shows a balance on hand, after all payments are made, of $4,504,814.74.

William Neufeld was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Annie Kronman and sentenced to die in the week commencing Feb. 12.

Mr. Whalen has begun anew the fight against the Astoria land grant, securing a writ of certorari against the State Land Commissioners.

The committee representing creditors of Harper & Brothers has asked creditors to deposit shares, and give it absolute power to act in the interest of all.

The State Board of Canvassers met and canvassed the vote in the last election for the Constitutional amendment, Supreme Court Judges, and a Congressman.

A new requirement of the Controller affecting the preparation of rolls for the current month will, it is reported, cause fresh delay in the payment of teachers' salaries.

Page 8.

Father Sylvester Malone, the aged rector of the Church of Sts. Peter and Paul, died yesterday morning at the rectory of the church.

Page 9.

In intercollegiate chess yesterday Harvard again pulled ahead of Columbia.

Page 12.

Justice Wilmot M. Smith, in Brooklyn, dismissed two proceedings to review assessments.

Page 14.

W. Butler Duncan, Jr., has resigned as Commander of the First Naval Battalion.

The Seventy-first Regiment will elect a Lieutenant Colonel and a Junior Major next Friday evening.

Major David Banks, Jr., has been assigned as Inspector on the staff of Major Gen. Roe to succeed Col. Edward M. Hoffman, appointed Adjutant General.

The members of the New York Stock Exchange held their annual holiday festivities yesterday. A knock-out glove fight was the chief event.

Louis E. Goldsmith, cashier of the Port Jervis (N. Y.) National Bank, which he is accused of robbing to the extent of $54,700, surrendered to the Federal authorities in this city yesterday.

Amusements.—Page 7.
Arrivals at Hotels and Out-of-Town Buyers.—Page 2.
Business Troubles.—Page 9.
Court Calendars.—Page 12.
Insurance Notes.—Page 9.
Legal Notes.—Page 14.
Losses by Fire.—Page 2.
Markets.—Page 9.
Marine Intelligence and Foreign Mails.—Page 3.
New Corporations.—Page 12.
Real Estate.—Page 12.
Society.—Page 7.
Weather Report.—Page 2.
Yesterday's Fires.—Page 2.

HORSE WEARS RUBBER SHOES.

Chicago Women at Work to Protect Animals from Injury.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—One carette horse now traverses the down-town district and the North Side, clad in rubber shoes to prevent it from slipping. The animal was shod in this manner as the result of the efforts of the Anti-Cruelty Society, the mothers of which are endeavoring to have all of the carette horses in the city provided for in this manner.

"Our efforts in this direction are beginning to prove successful," said Mrs. Theodore Thomas, President of the society, today. "The carette company has promised to provide its horses with rubber shoes, but the work of thus protecting the animals is going on slowly, and we are endeavoring to have it hastened before the streets become icy."

Staten Island Hotel Burned.

The Stephens House, a hotel in the Amboy Road, in Pleasant Plains, S. I., was destroyed by fire last night. The loss of the building and contents is estimated at $20,000, with $10,000 insurance. The occupants of the hotel, principally men employed at the Mount Loretta Mission, escaped but lost all their effects.

If I Had Your Teeth,

I would use Bensolyptus Tooth Powder to clean them. It is perfection. At all druggists.—Adv.

IN OFFERING POMMERY CHAMPAGNE to your friends you are presenting them with the highest quality and highest priced Champagnes which come to this country.—Adv.

Remember

To-morrow is "Hospital Sunday!"—Adv.

THE MONTGOMERY'S CRUISE

Navy Department Fails to Explain Her Mission to Liberia.

MANY THEORIES ADVANCED

One Is She Sought a Coaling Station, Another that She Went to Check European Aggression.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The Navy Department appears to be disconcerted by the publicity given the fact that the cruiser Montgomery of Rear Admiral Schley's South Atlantic Squadron has been in African waters. As long as it was possible the Navy Department denied that the cruiser was there or had been there, and now that concealment is no longer possible, all sorts of reasons are being suggested, while Secretary Long gives no other explanation than that the places visited are on the Montgomery's station.

When Admiral Schley was assigned to the command of the South Atlantic Squadron, it was intimated by the President and Secretary Long that he would visit South Africa in case war broke out there. A few days before he took command it was said at the Navy Department that he would receive the usual orders given to commanders of that squadron, and would use his judgment about visiting South Africa. When he took command of the squadron his orders explicitly forbade him to go there. At that very time one of the vessels attached to his station was cruising in African waters. At least it seems to have been at that time, for the Navy Department's reticence about the whole affair extends to the date at which the Montgomery went there, and no definite information was obtainable.

A week or so ago it was rumored that the Montgomery was in African waters. This was denied at the Navy Department, and the station chart, showing the Montgomery to be at Montevideo was triumphantly produced. At this time Senator Mason of Illinois heard about a letter, written by a petty officer of the Montgomery to his brother, and dated at Freetown. Senator Mason's curiosity was aroused, and he hunted up the brother and got hold of the letter. It was brief, and informed the recipient that the Montgomery had been doing patrol duty at Sierra Leone to protect the interests of the British, there being no English fleet there, and an uprising being threatened.

Senator Mason visited the department and inquired about it, but got little satisfaction. He then announced in a Washington newspaper his belief that the Montgomery was doing police duty for England and his purpose to inquire into it. Even after the publication, it was denied at the Navy Department that the Montgomery had been at Sierre Leone at all. Afterward the department refused to discuss the matter, and now it is freely admitted that the Montgomery has been in those waters, but it is asserted that she is now at Montevideo.

Officially no explanation is given, but investigators have been started off on all sorts of scents. The explanation yesterday was that the Montgomery went to Liberia to find out if that country was going to be seized by a European power, and found out that it was not. To-day that explanation is discarded, and it is hinted that the Montgomery went to Africa to see about locating a coaling station, but unsuccessfully.

Before and during the civil war the United States had no less than three coaling stations on that coast. They were practically abandoned when the West African station was dropped from the list, but the Chief of the Equipment Bureau, Admiral Bradford, has strongly urged that they be re-established, so as to insure our naval vessels a source of coal supply when passing from the Eastern Atlantic States around to the Philippines and China, in the event that the Suez Canal should be closed against them.

The Liberian Government always has been willing and even anxious that the station on its coast should be kept up, if only as a manifestation of the interest of the United States in the colony it created, and to protect it by our moral influence against European aggression.

It is evident that the department is taken by surprise by the sudden discovery of the Montgomery's mysterious cruise and has no explanation ready at hand.

On one point it is explicit, however, and that is that the Montgomery did not go East to do patrol duty for any European nation. The department will not say when the cruiser started on her mysterious journey, but it is quite certain that she did so before Admiral Schley took command of the squadron, it being asserted that she was at her station about Nov. 1.

WHAT IS SAID IN LONDON.

The Same Theories Prevail There as in Washington.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—It is stated here that the United States cruiser Montgomery's recent visit to Liberia was the result of overtures made to Washington by that republic. Though the British Government is in complete ignorance of the purpose of the Montgomery's mission, the establishment of a coaling station in Liberia by the United States is regarded as scarcely probable, as, it is asserted, no Liberian port has any facilities for coaling, all of them being open and surf-bound.

But it is declared that a far more important step is under consideration. It consists in a joint request of the United States and Great Britain upon France to define the boundary between the territory she claims and that claimed by Liberia. This step is not yet decided upon, but Great Britain only awaits the assent of the United States to become a party to such a request.

It is alleged that France, for many years, has been encroaching on Liberia, and it was only by the strenuous protest of the United States that she was prevented from appropriating a large slice of Liberia in 1892.

According to the Hon. Arthur Ponsonby, Managing Director of the Liberia Rubber Syndicate, which recently guaranteed the interest of Liberia's public debt, the Montgomery's visit is probably prompted by a desire to ascertain the extent of French activity. Mr. Ponsonby said:

"Bishop Hartzell, while in Monrovia this year, strongly urged the Government to interest the United States in preserving the boundaries, with the result that Liberia appointed a mission to Washington. I believe it has already made representations and presume the commander of the Montgomery investigated both this and the possibility of a coaling station. The latter Liberia would gladly lease to the United States, but, beyond hoisting her flag upon it, it would be of little service.

"The feeling among British subjects commercially interested in Liberia is that the republic's progress had better be under the protection of either Great Britain or the United States. But both the British Government and those having interests there believe that so long as Liberia can continue to struggle on in her present condition everything possible should be done to support her."

Liberia decorated Mr. Ponsonby this week with the Order of African Redemption, in recognition of his services against encroachments.

Lake Shore Limited,

Every day leaves New York 5:30 P. M., arrives Cleveland next morning for breakfast and Chicago at 4:30 P. M., via New York Central and Lake Shore.—Adv.

Beautiful, Swift, and Sure.

The "Royal Limited," exquisite in all appointments, leaves New York, South Ferry, and foot of Liberty St., Daily, 3 P. M.; arrives Washington, 8 P. M. Unexcelled Dining and Cafe Car Service.—Adv.

CUBAN CUSTOMS RECEIPTS.

Total Amount for the Year Is $11,000,000, Exceeding War Department Estimate by $2,000,000.

HAVANA, Dec. 29.—The Custom House receipts yesterday were exceptionally large, amounting to more than $100,000. In view of the fact that no more ships than usual have arrived during the last few days, this notable increase is significant as showing the good effect of the recent arrest of Custom House Appraisers.

The total receipts for the year, including yesterday, exceed $11,000,000, whereas the highest estimate made by the War Department for the year's returns was $9,000,000.

THE BIG RAILWAY DEAL.

Movement of Baltimore and Ohio Stocks Suggests that Combination with Pennsylvania Is Near.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29.—Sharp advances in Baltimore and Ohio Railroad stocks today caused men in financial circles to say that the expected deal between the Baltimore and Ohio and the Pennsylvania was about to be consummated. When Mr. Saloman, the financial head of the Baltimore and Ohio, was here about a week ago he intimated that something important would happen in January, although both Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania officials denied the statement that the Pennsylvania would absorb the Baltimore and Ohio.

Credence, however, has been given this report of late in financial circles of this city because of the frequent delays in the date of holding the annual stockholders' meeting of the Baltimore and Ohio, which was due in November. This meeting has been postponed from time to time, and is now set for Jan. 17. At the time of the last postponement it was given out that the officials of the company were preparing to lay before the stockholders certain important plans relating to the management of the road. These plans, it is understood in financial circles, relate to the proposed sale of the road to the Pennsylvania.

Inquiry at the central offices of the Baltimore and Ohio to-day disclosed only complete ignorance. None of the officials of the road would talk concerning the activity of the company's securities, professing to be in the dark as to the cause of it.

NEW ROAD FOR CHICAGO.

Northwestern Elevated Will Be in Operation Jan. 1.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—The Northwestern Elevated Road will be in operation Jan. 1. This was formally announced by the company last night. Only a single block is to be connected by rail before the road will be ready to begin operations.

The stockholders of the road met in special session and formally approved the issue of $5,000,000 5 per cent. forty-year gold bonds, which will replace those issued under the mortgage of August, 1894, now pledged to secure the four-and-a-half-million-dollar loan advanced by the Blair syndicate. The payment of this loan will release the share capital of the Northwestern and make it available for distribution among Columbia Construction Company stockholders.

THE LAWTON RELIEF FUND.

Gen. Corbin Reports $30,252.10 Received—W. K. Vanderbilt and Lieut. Gov. Woodruff Contribute.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Adjt. Gen. Corbin reports to-day that contributions to the Lawton fund amount to $30,252.10, being an increase of about $4,000 since the last previous report. Following is a list of the subscriptions of $100 or more received since yesterday:

Previously acknowledged, Dec. 28, 1899, $26,793.10; "Cash," Philadelphia, Penn., $100; Chicago subscriptions, through Alexander H. Revell, $1,122; William K. Vanderbilt, $1,000; John E. Parsons, New York, $100; E. C. Converse, New York, $100; James McMillen, $100; W. L. Elkins, Philadelphia, $500; daughter of Mr. Einstein of The New York Press, $100; Mrs. Eleanor Martin, New York, $100; Timothy L. Woodruff, New York, $100. Many smaller subscriptions have been received.

New York Contributions.

The Bankers' Trust Company had received for the Lawton fund up to last night $4,585.44, the amount received on the previous day being $3,521. The difference was made up by the following amounts:

George J. Gould.	$500.00	"H. M. R."	2.00
A. P Livingston.	5.00	"W. P. W."	10.00
Wilson, Adams & Co.	50.00	"C. D."	10.00
Henry W. Langdor	100.00	"W. H. L."	10.00
		"H. A. F."	5.00
Forwarded by the American News Company	1.44	"Cash"	1.00
		J. D. Smith & Co.	50.00
Stock Exchange, through the purchase at auction of the "bull" and "bear"	255.00	L. E. Hacker	10.00
		T. Hellman	25.00
		F. St. Gear	25.00
		Frank Wetzlar	5.00

GUSTAV H. SCHWAB ILL.

He Was Threatened with Pneumonia, but Expects to be Out Shortly.

Gustav H. Schwab of the North German Lloyd Steamship Line has been confined to his home, 31 West Forty-seventh Street, for a week with a severe cold, which it was feared at one time would develop into pneumonia.

He was much better last night, and it is now expected that he will be out next week.

STRUCK BY A WATERSPOUT?

Ship Eclipse Damaged in Midocean in Calm Weather.

HONOLULU, Dec. 23.—With a broken mainmast and piles of torn rigging on her decks, the ship Eclipse, fifty-two days from Newcastle, arrived in the harbor Dec. 21. She was struck by a squall or waterspout, on Dec. 2, and in five seconds her mast had gone, thirteen sails were split, and one seaman, who was aloft, was carried away so far from the ship that he was never again seen.

The disaster to the Eclipse came from a clear sky and in the midst of a calm. Capt. Peterson thinks that a waterspout must have done the damage. The breaking of iron bars showed most remarkable force. The bars were four or five inches thick, and were twisted like thin wire. Thick pieces of iron were cut in two as if they had been soft wood. The Captain immediately headed for the Mariniquasas Islands, where repairs were made.

The Eclipse is an American ship. She left Newcastle in the 27th of October with 1,897 tons of coal for this place.

The Automobile in the Mail Service.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—The first test of automobiles for Post Office service in Chicago was made yesterday, and the work accomplished by the horseless carriage proved satisfactory. Two routes, for which it requires an hour each for two wagons to cover, were covered in two minutes less than the schedule time for double the service. The test was made under the supervision of H. G. Seger, who holds the contract for mail collection for the South Side.

Killed by Fall Into the River.

William Limar, forty-nine years of age, a resident of Newark, N. J., whose address was not known to his train-mates, lost his life in Hoboken last night. He was employed by the Lackawanna Road as a brakeman, and while on the rear car of a train on one of the piers, fell into the river. He was rescued by the crew of the Annie Laurie, but died soon afterward.

Through Sleeping Car to Cleveland Via Pennsylvania Railroad.

Leaves West 23d St. Station 7:55 P. M. daily. Connects for Akron.—Adv.

GERMAN STEAMER AGROUND

Supposed Hamburg-American Liner Lies Off the Kent Coast.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—A large German mail steamer, whose name has not yet been ascertained, but which is believed to be one of the Hamburg-American liners, has gone aground during a terrific gale in East Bay, about a quarter of a mile off Dungeness, the southern extremity of Kent.

It is reported that the position of the liner is very serious. Tugs and lifeboats were urgently requisitioned from Dover and Folkestone, but they had the utmost difficulty in getting off, owing to the gale.

The signals of distress were observed from the Sand Head Lightship.

Heavy seas are breaking over the vessel, and the lifeboats are unable to reach her.

Fears are entertained for the safety of her passengers.

Emil L. Boas, agent of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company in this city, said early this morning that he did not think the stranded vessel was a steamer of that line. The steamer Pretoria, he said, arrived at Hamburg Dec. 22. The steamer Batavia left Hamburg Dec. 24 and passed Dungeness on Dec. 26.

"The steamer Patricia, which left New York on Dec. 23," Mr. Boas added, "is a slow boat, and it takes her about eleven days to reach the Lizard. I do not see how it could be one of our boats that ply between New York and Hamburg. We have some seventy-six steamers going to all parts of the world, and they all pass by Dungeness and the wrecked steamer might possibly be one of them or some other German steamer. I have not received any cable message yet, and I would not get one at my home."

Gustav Schwab of the North German Lloyd Line said last night that he had heard nothing of the wreck.

The steamship Stuttgart of the North German Lloyd Line sailed from this port Dec. 20 for Bremen.

The steamships Standard and Deutschland, belonging to Herr Ruprecht, sailed for Flushing, Dec. 22.

The steamship Patricia of the Hamburg-American Line sailed for Hamburg Dec. 23.

The steamship Belgravia of the Hamburg-American Line sailed from Bremen for New York Dec. 27.

THE SEA CLAIMS MORE LIVES.

Ten Men, in Addition to Those Reported, Were Lost Off Hatteras.

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 29.—The loss of about ten other men can be added to the already long list sacrificed in Saturday night's big hurricane, in which twenty-one met death at Hatteras and fifteen on an unknown bark in mid ocean, for they undoubtedly went down in the wreck that was discovered to-day off Hatteras, the most dangerous point on the Atlantic Coast.

The first news was brought by the British steamship Ashlands, Capt. Lewis, which arrived several days overdue from Galveston to Marseilles, via Norfolk, for coal. Capt. Lewis stated yesterday, when about twenty-five miles north, one-quarter east of Diamond Shoals Lightship, off Cape Hatteras, he passed the wreck of a large three-masted schooner, and the only things visible above the water were the topmasts. There were no signs of life about the vessel or wreckage floating, and the sea was too rough to permit his ship to go near the wreck. The size of the masts indicated a large sailing vessel, whose crew was not less than ten men.

The schooner undoubtedly sunk in Saturday night's storm, and being twenty-five miles from Diamond Shoals, which are eighteen miles from shore, no distress signals were seen, if shown. No shipwrecked sailors have been landed, and the men must have gone down with their ship.

DERBY'S CENTENARIAN DEAD.

George Blakeman Passes Away at the Age of One Hundred Years and Two Months.

Special to The New York Times.

ANSONIA, Conn., Dec. 29.—George Blakeman, the oldest man in Connecticut, died at his home in Derby this morning. He was 100 years and 2 months of age. Death was caused by exhaustion. Three weeks ago he was seized with a severe cold, and a complete collapse followed.

On Oct. 10 last Mr. Blakeman reached the one hundredth anniversary of his birth, and the entire City of Derby celebrated the event. At noon factory, locomotive, and steamboat whistles were blown continuously for five minutes and flags and bunting were displayed. In the evening a public mass meeting was held in the Sterling Opera House. Enormous birthday cakes were sent the centenarian by business houses, and the local lodges of Masons paraded the streets. Factories in which Mr. Blakeman formerly had been interested closed for the day.

Mr. Blakeman's life had been temperate. He ascribed his longevity to frugal living, and especially to abstinence from all medicine. At the age of twenty-one years he was sickly and completely disheartened after years of medical treatment. It was then that he resolved to eschew all medicine from that time forth. He did so, and his health became robust. For the eighty years following until three days before his death he allowed no doctor to attend him.

When his illness became so severe Tuesday Dr. R. W. Pinney was summoned, but even then he motioned the physician away with a feeble movement of the hand. It was seen that nothing could be done for him, and the doctor left.

Until his ninetieth year Mr. Blakeman was one of the leading business men of the city. He commenced as a shoemaker, and later became proprietor of the shoe-manufacturing firm of Blakeman & Co. He was also a stockholder in the Shelton Company, tackmakers; the Derby Savings Bank, the Birmingham National Bank, and the Ansonia Boot and Shoe Company.

Mr. Blakeman was twice married, his second wedding taking place in his eighty-first year.

Fatally Injured by Falling Tree.

Special to The New York Times.

NORWALK, Conn., Dec. 29.—Arthur Putnam, a resident of New Fairfield, died in the Danbury Hospital this morning after suffering amputation of his right leg half way between the knee and hip yesterday afternoon. Mr. Putnam was engaged in cutting down a tree yesterday morning. When the trunk fell it struck him, knocking him down and breaking his right leg in several places. The bones were crushed and the lower part of the limb hung only by the flesh

Horse Thieves in Connecticut.

Special to The New York Times.

NORWALK, Conn., Dec. 29.—A valuable turnout was stolen last night from the stables of Eben J. Church, a wealthy farmer and stock raiser. The theft was discovered this morning and the police of nearby towns were notified. Later in the day the buggy was found at Stamford near a stable from which a rubber-tired vehicle had been taken. In the buggy was a cash register, stolen last night, with a quantity of plunder, from Joseph Abrams's grocery store on the outskirts of South Norwalk.

Gen. Butterfield's Condition.

Gen. Daniel Butterfield, who has been ill for ten days, was resting comfortably at his home, 616 Fifth Avenue, last night. His recovery is expected.

Remember

To-morrow is "Hospital Sunday!"—Adv.

$750,000 LOSS IN WALL PAPER FIRE

William Campbell & Co.'s Factory in East 24th Street Burned.

LIVES OF FIREMEN IN PERIL

Men in Extreme Danger Saved by the Bravery of Comrades.

The seven-story wallpaper factory of William Campbell & Co., 425 to 435 East Twenty-fourth Street, was completely destroyed by fire late last night. Fire Chief Croker at 2 o'clock this morning estimated the loss at $750,000. Half a dozen firemen were more or less seriously burned or otherwise injured in fighting the flames, which were particularly fierce on account of the strong southwest wind that was blowing. Five of the firemen were rescued from the upper part of the burning building through the great courage and skill of their comrades, who ran imminent risk of losing their own lives in saving those of their fellows.

The building was 200 by 300 feet, and extended clear through from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-fifth Street, forming a square. It had been occupied by William Campbell & Co. for the last five years, and about 300 persons were employed there. None of these was in the building at the time the fire started.

The first and second floors of the building on the west side were occupied by the Manhattan Electric Light Company and the New York Hygeia Ice Company. All the rest of the big building was used by the wall-paper concern, which was one of the largest in the country. In the building there was a lot of costly machinery and a great quantity of wall paper, as well as expensive designs.

FIVE ALARMS IN ALL.

The flames were discovered at 10:15 P. M. by Patrick Gannon, the night watchman. He sent in an alarm, and as soon as Fire Chief Croker arrived he saw that the big building seemed doomed and that there was great danger of the flames spreading to the buildings to the north, south, and west, which are tenements with a great number of tenants.

He accordingly sent in one alarm after another until five in all had been rung, and this brought to the scene twenty-five engines, thirteen trucks, and two water towers. They were distributed by order of Chief Croker in Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Streets, and soon a great many streams were playing on the flames, which were now soaring high into the air, accompanied by dense clouds of black smoke. Firemen climbed to the roofs of adjoining buildings, and from every point of vantage played additional heavy streams of water upon the burning factory. The fireboats Van Wyck and Zophar Mills were also promptly on hand, and as the fire was near the water they rendered great assistance to the firemen on land.

The firemen fought the flames under the most adverse circumstances. The air was so cold that the water from the engines turned to ice as it fell upon the uniforms of the men. The wind was so high that the flames every little while shot forth in great volume from the many windows of the big factory.

FIREMEN IN GREAT PERIL.

Four men belonging to Truck 11 fought their way through the flames and gained the top floor of the factory. The flames were raging fiercely below them, but for a time they seemed to be comparatively free from danger. The men were Joseph Bessinger, William Degman, Leland Potter, and James F. Shaughnessy. The part of the building where they were was the annex to the main factory, and their object was to try to prevent the flames from spreading to it. But the fire was so intense that the flames soon spread to the annex and the four men seemed caught in a death trap.

Their plight was quickly seen from the street, and their comrades at once set to work to save them. The immense crowds which gathered at the different points along Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Streets, gave a cry of horror for the four men seemed doomed. Several scaling ladders were run up, but they did not come within many feet of the imperiled firemen. On one of these scaling ladders was Edward Gray of Truck 7. The strong wind swung the ladder to and fro, and Gray seemed in danger every moment of being thrown to the pavement and dashed to death. But he pluckily held on to the ladder, although his clothes, mustache, and hair were covered with ice and his hands were benumbed with the cold.

Finally Foreman John R. Howe of Truck 7 ran up the long extension ladder and darted up it, quickly followed by William Clark. In the meanwhile the four imperiled firemen had crowded to the windows, climbed out of them, and were hanging to the window sills, while the flame shot out in forks all about them.

RESCUERS WERE IN TIME.

Howe and Clark shouted to them to keep their hold, as aid was at hand. Howe climbed to the very top of the ladder, and in a few moments Clark was by his side. The ladder top reached to the windows, where the firemen were hanging. Howe and Clark first helped Bessinger to the ladder, and he was able to descend to the ground without further aid. He was burned about the face and hands and was also badly frost bitten.

The next man rescued was James Degman. He also reached the street without further assistance. He, too, was badly burned about the face and hands. Leland Potter was next rescued, and he also managed to get down the ladder by himself. His eyelashes were burned, and so were his hands.

The last man rescued was Shaughnessy. He is a large, heavily built man, and he was the worst burned of the lot. It took a great deal of trouble to get him on the ladder, and even after that he had to be assisted all the way down to the street. He was so badly burned about the face and hands that he had to be taken in an ambulance to Bellevue Hospital. The other sufferers were able to walk there. The rescues were made amid great cheering from the admiring crowds.

There were numerous other instances of bravery. Several men from Engine Company No. 29 were on the top floor of the Twenty-fifth Street side of the building when they found their escape apparently cut off by the fire. It looked serious for them for a few minutes, but they managed to get out by sliding down the banisters. Some of them lost part of their hair and mustaches.

The men of Engines Nos. 30 and 8 were in Twenty-fourth Street working what they called a "double-header" line when Chief Croker called to them that they were in danger.

"To hell with danger!" they replied, and kept on with their work. The next moment the west wall of the building swayed and fell. The crash was thunderous. The mass of débris came within a few feet of the men. They did not heed it, but kept on with their work. This was at 11:50 P. M.

A MAGNIFICENT SPECTACLE.

The spectacle at this time was magnificent. The flames were pouring forth in tremendous volume from the burning pit, and the fact that the electric light in all the surrounding territory had been extinguished, owing to the destruction of the Manhattan Electric Light Company's connections, added to the weirdness of the scene. All the stoops and windows of the tenements on both Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Streets were crowded with frightened men, women, and children. The majority of them had moved all their belongings into the middle of the street and seemed to prefer camping out to venturing to remain in doors while the danger to their homes was so imminent.

A few minutes after midnight the three top stories of the wall facing on Twenty-fifth Street fell to the ground. Water Tower No. 3 had been stationed in front of it up to the time the wall on Twenty-fourth Street fell, when it was moved further west and out of danger. The bricks from the falling wall landed in a heap all the way across Twenty-fifth Street, but nobody was struck by them.

At about 1 o'clock the west wall of the factory fell out and crushed in the roof of Bishop's gutta percha factory, directly in the rear of the engine room of the wall paper factory. Although at first it looked as if the gutta percha factory would take fire from the heap of red-hot bricks and burning embers thrown on it, the streams of water played on it by the water tower on Twenty-fifth Street and two fire engines kept it from destruction. Two smokestacks fell at 1:30 A. M. on the Twenty-fourth Street side.

Fireman George E. Burns of Engine 23 fell while running from a falling wall and broke his leg. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital.

There was a rumor that the buildings destroyed had been condemned only last week by the Building Department for insecure walls.

THE FIRE UNDER CONTROL.

At 2 o'clock the fire was pronounced under control.

The fire burned almost as quickly as the one that destroyed the Windsor Hotel. The firemen were thankful that the fire did not occur during the day, when the building would have been thronged with employes, many of whom are women. Great loss of life would have been inevitable under such circumstances.

The individual losses of the New York Hygeia Ice Company and the Manhattan Electric Light Company, as apart from that of William Campbell & Co., could not be learned. The properties of all three concerns are destroyed beyond hope of saving a dollar's worth.

Dock Commissioner Murphy and several of his subordinates with gangs of men were on hand early to look after their department's property in the neighborhood, of which there are several parcels.

Commissioner Murphy supplied several cans of coffee for the firemen, and in the bitter cold that almost benumbed them it was gratefully received.

Fire Commissioner Scannell reached the fire within half an hour after it started and assisted Commissioner Murphy to hand out the coffee to his "boys," as he called the firemen. Commissioner Scannell complimented Chief Croker on the firemen's work. He said he had never seen it surpassed.

Chaplains Johnson and Smith were among the first arrivals. Chaplain Smith was assisting two of the injured men in the Campbell concern's office, when all were driven out by the flames. Chaplain Smith lost his gloves, which he had placed on the desk.

MR. CAMPBELL'S PREVIOUS LOSS.

William Campbell, the wallpaper manufacturer, whose factory was destroyed, experienced a misfortune very similar to his present one six years ago.

On Oct. 18, 1893, his factory at Tenth Avenue and Forty-second Street was burned to the ground. He had refused $1,000,000 for his property on the morning of the fire, and, in addition to this, other property estimated at about $3,000,000 in value was destroyed before the flames were extinguished.

The fire, which was discovered at 8 o'clock in the evening, and lasted until the next morning, was one of the largest ever seen in New York, and its blaze was visible for miles in the surrounding country.

One water tower and thirty-five engines were called, and the greater part of the New York Fire Department labored all night before they could get it under control. The fire was singularly free from casualties, no one receiving any serious injuries as a result of it.

Across Twenty-fourth Street from the Campbell plant is the old City Almshouse, later used as the House of Refuge. It is one of the old-time buildings of the city, and is not now used for the purposes for which it was built. It did not catch fire last night, although it seemed at several times as if it would be destroyed.

DEATH CLAIMS E. V. SMALLEY.

National Sound Money League Secretary Dies at St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 29.—E. V. Smalley, the editor of The Northwestern Magazine and Secretary of the National Sound Money League, who has been suffering with nervous dyspepsia and nervous prostration for some time, died here to-night.

MANHATTAN ROADMASTER OUT

Robert Black, as Reported, Resigns After Twenty Years' Service.

Robert Black, for more than twenty years roadmaster of the Manhattan Elevated system, has resigned, it is reported, owing to differences with the management of the road.

It is understood that Mr. Black will embark in other business.

MR. BOUTELLE'S MIND IMPAIRED?

Physician Reports Grave Danger to the Congressman.

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—To all those who inquired after the condition of Congressman Charles A. Boutelle at the McLean Asylum to-day, the only reply given was that he was getting along nicely and was improving in strength.

Dr. Daniel A. Robinson, the physician who came up from Bangor to attend him after he was stricken with sickness at Young's Hotel, says that, while the Congressman may recover his physical health and vigor, it is possible that he may never be the same again mentally.

ORANGES SCARCE IN CHICAGO.

Heavy Holiday Demand Cleans Out Commission Men's Stock.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—A scarcity of oranges exists in South Water Street, and commission men said to-day that not a carload of the fruit could be bought. It is the custom of California packers to stop packing and shipping a week before Christmas, and not to resume for a week or two thereafter, but the sales during the holidays were twice as heavy as last year, cleaning out the stock almost entirely.

Prices after Christmas have risen 10 cents a case, whereas they fell from 15 to 25 cents a year ago. It is said that the normal shipments of 100 cars a day from California East will be reached again in a week.

CREDITORS GET 850 PER CENT.

After Paying That Profit Debtor's Lands Are Still Unsold.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Harlow N. Higinbotham has brought suit in the Circuit Court against the successors of Field, Leiter & Co., and against the J. V. Farwell Company, C. M. Henderson & Co., and White Brothers & Co., for permission to sell and divide the proceeds of 5,000 acres of land in Oconto, Wis., given in trust for the firms on the failure of J. E. Stevens in 1883. The bill says the profits on the land in thirty years have aggregated 850 per cent. of the original debt, without the disposal of any of the property.

Stevens was a merchant in St. Joseph, Mich. At the time of his failure he owed $12,749.23. He made a settlement, and to protect the firms to whom he was indebted he conveyed to Edwin Judson 4,938 acres of land in Oconto County. In 1872 Mr. Judson conveyed the land to Mr. Higinbotham to administer as trustee for the creditors. It soon became valuable, and in 1896 Mr. Higinbotham had divided in profits among the four firms the sum of $108,925.67.

Still at the Front.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has ever led the railroads of America in perfection of roadbed, elegance of equipment, and excellence of service.—Adv.

Remember

To-morrow is "Hospital Sunday!"—Adv.

ADAMS ACCUSES MOLINEUX

Athletic Club Secretary Says He Addressed the Poison Package.

CORNISH RESUMES HIS STORY

Tells of His Movements Before and After Mrs. Adams's Death and Is Cross-Examined by Mr. Weeks.

Roland Burnham Molineux will look out upon the new year through the grated window of a cell in the Tombs Prison. The seventh week of his trial for the murder of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams by poison was concluded yesterday at the time usually set for the noon adjournment, and the young clubman went back to his cell after having received the greetings of his lawyers and his father, and wishes from them that the new year might be for him a happier one than the one of which he has spent the greater part in prison.

Although the session yesterday was but a short one, it was full of interest, and there was at least one sensation furnished when John D. Adams, the Secretary of the Knickerbocker Athletic Club, who was the first person to call attention to Molineux's enmity for Cornish and the probable motive that he might have in attempting the latter's life, swore that he had no doubt whatever that Molineux had written the address on the poison package. Assistant District Attorney Osborne brought out this statement on Mr. Adams's redirect examination.

The Secretary of the club had been considerably nettled by his cross-examination, which elicited a statement from him that some one had stolen certain letters from the files in his office. His usually pale face was flushed with excitement when Mr. Osborne took him in hand again. When he expressed the opinion that Molineux was the writer of the poison package address one of the jurors asked him if he was a handwriting expert. The laug certain minutes of the proceedings of committees of the club.

CLUB MINUTES IN COURT.

When he took the stand Mr. Adams handed to Mr. Weeks a bundle of papers, which he said contained all the references to matters connected with Molineux's resignation. He asked that the court protect the private minutes of the club from becoming public except in so far as they were connected with the case. After examining the documents Mr. Weeks took from them a paper which he said showed that a man named Race had been discharged on March 21. He wanted to know why Race was discharged, but Mr. Osborne objected and the Recorder sustained him.

"Do you remember who prepared the new programme for the amateur circus in the Spring of 1897?" asked Mr. Weeks.

"I think Molineux did," was the reply.

"Was it edited before it went to the printer?"

"I don't remember."

Mr. Weeks handed him a paper and asked if it was a part of the original programme. The witness said it was. He also identified some words written on it as being in his handwriting, and the paper was marked for identification. Mr. Osborne was not allowed to see it. Mr. Weeks then handed the witness a letter and asked him who wrote it.

"It is in my handwriting," snapped Mr. Adams, turning very red. Then, turning to the Recorder, he said in a loud voice: "I call the attention of the Court to the fact that this letter has been stolen from me. These are private letters, addressed to a college fraternity on college fraternity matters."

The Court ruled that the method by which the papers were obtained was not material, and sided with Mr. Weeks in saying that the witness must answer questions put to him and not act as an attorney. Mr. Weeks then handed the letter to the clerk, and Mr. Osborne tried to get it. Clerk Brophy held the letter high in the air, as if afraid some one would snatch it.

THE LETTER KEPT SECRET.

"From whose possession did this letter come?" asked the Recorder.

"From mine," said Mr. Weeks, "and I ask that it be marked for identification."

"And I ask that it remain in the possession of the Clerk," said Mr. Osborne.

The letter was marked for identification and filed away by the Clerk, who was instructed to allow nobody to see it. Mr. Weeks then offered further letters, Mr. Osborne making objection to every one and being promptly overruled by the Court.

"When did you first see the address on the poison package?" asked Mr. Weeks.

"When I was before the May Grand Jury," answered Mr. Adams.

Mr. Weeks produced a newspaper cut of what purported to be a fac simile of the poison address and asked Mr. Adams if he had not on Dec. 31, 1898, taken it, together with specimens of Molineux's writing, and given them to Cornish.

"I did," replied Mr. Adams.

"How much study did you give the defendant's handwriting before you gave samples of it to Cornish?"

"After I had seen the newspaper cut and had examined some specimens of Molineux's handwriting the resemblance struck me."

"Now," said Mr. Weeks, "tell us what peculiarity there was in the writing as shown in the newspaper cut that made you think it looked like Molineux's."

Mr. Osborne objected vigorously, and Mr. Weeks contended that he had a right to ask the question.

FIRST SUSPECTED MOLINEUX.

"This witness was the first person," said Mr. Weeks, "to suggest a similarity between the writing on the poison package and the writing of Molineux. He says that the resemblance struck him on account of a newspaper cut which it had been acknowledged was not at all like the original of the address." The Recorder allowed the question, and Mr. Adams said that he noticed a similiarity in Molineux's writing and the address in the words "Knickerbocker Athletic Club" and the word "Cornish."

"You were the first person, were you not, to mention the name of Molineux in connection with this case?" asked Mr. Weeks.

"I don't see how I can answer that question," was the reply, and Mr. Weeks abandoned the cross-examination.

"When you took that slip which you thought resembled Molineux's writing, did you have Barnet's death in your mind?" asked Mr. Osborne on redirect examination.

Mr. Weeks made a vigorous objection and was sustained. Mr. Osborne pleaded that he be allowed to put the question. He said that Mr. Adams's state of mind at that time was of material consequence. Mr. Weeks objected this time to the remarks of the Assistant District Attorney, and the Recorder warned the latter that he must not make speeches after an opinion had been given from the bench.

In answer to further questions from Mr. Osborne, Mr. Adams said that while he had never made a profession of it, he had nevertheless made a study of handwriting, and was familiar to a greater or less extent with the handwriting of many members of the Knickerbocker Athletic Club. He also said that he had made a special study of Molineux's handwriting.

"And you have become especially familiar with it since Dec. 28, 1898?" asked Mr. Osborne.

"I have," said Mr. Adams, "and know it well."

IN MOLINEUX'S HANDWRITING.

"Have you made a careful study of the address on the poison package?"

"I have."

"In whose handwriting is it?"

"It is in the defendant's handwriting," said Mr. Adams, looking straight at Molineux.

"Have you any doubt about it?"

"I have no doubt whatever he wrote the address."

"Are you an expert, too?" asked Juror Foster, amid laughter.

"I am not except to the extent that I have stated," said Mr. Adams, showing signs of anger.

Mr. Osborne then tried to go into the matter of the stolen letter again, but the Recorder would not permit it, and Mr. Adams left the stand.

Harry S. Cornish was then called to the stand to resume his story of the events following the poisoning of Mrs. Adams. He had reached in his recital on Thursday the point where, after he had given the dose to the woman, she became ill, and he started for the doctor after he had himself taken a small portion of the supposed bromo seltzer. Cornish told his story slowly and deliberately, and every word of his recital could be heard all over the courtroom. Mr. Osborne insisted on every detail being given.

Cornish told how Dr. Hitchcock finally arrived at the house and made efforts to revive Mrs. Adams. Dr. Hitchcock asked him to go for Dr. Potter, which he did. He ran all of the way. He said he was very ill when Dr. Potter arrived and didn't remember what he did. Almost immediately after his arrival Dr. Hitchcock brought up the question as to what had caused Mrs. Adams's illness. Cornish said he showed the doctors the bottle and told them he had given some of the contents to Mrs. Adams. He also told them how he had come into possession of the bottle.

THE CORONER NOTIFIED.

He said that Dr. Hitchcock remarked after Mrs. Adams's death that he would notify the Coroner. Cornish mentioned his acquaintance with Assistant District Attorney McIntyre and Dr. Hitchcock thought that through this acquaintance the Coroner might be brought at once to the house. Cornish said he then telephoned at once to the Coroner.

Cornish recited in great detail his movements for the remainder of the day. He said he called at Mr. McIntyre's office and had a talk with him. He got sicker as the day advanced, and at night went to bed in his room at the club and sent for physicians. The next day, Capt. McClusky called on him and he made a statement. On Friday Mr. Adams came and showed him some letters.

"As a result of looking at those letters I came to a conclusion," said Cornish, "and I communicated that conclusion to Capt. McClusky."

"Did you know Helles, Harpster, and Gallagher?"

"Yes, I did."

"And were you and Harpster good friends?"

"We were."

Mr. Weeks then began his cross-examination. He held up a package and asked Cornish whether it was the size of the one he received, and over this there ensued such a wordy wrangle between counsel that the Recorder intervened and warned Mr. Osborne. In answer to further questions by Mr. Weeks, Cornish said he had never seen a bottle of bromo-seltzer before. He said he had once taken a drink of the drug at the club. He told Mr. Weeks that the bottle he received in the package was sealed.

"And you say that the silver holder matched the silverware on Mrs. Rogers's dressing table?" asked Mr. Weeks.

"It was of the same beaded design," replied Cornish.

QUESTIONED ABOUT HIS DESK.

Cornish then said, in answer to questions, that he had shown the bottle and the holder to several men at the club. He said he could not distinctly remember whether he showed the address on the poison package to the same persons but he believed that he did. He kept the poison address on one side of his desk and the silver holder and bottle on the other side. He said he never left his desk open while he was out of the room. He said he first spoke at home about receiving the package on Christmas night, when he was taking dinner with Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Rogers.

Mr. Weeks questioned Cornish very closely about his desk. Cornish said he did not think the desk had been opened on Monday, because he had lost the key. He said the key had been lost in the Adams flat on Sunday night, and that it had been returned to him when he went back to the place on Friday. On Tuesday, Dec. 27, he said he had the desk broken open by the chief engineer of the club, a man named Carpenter.

"Were you there at the time?" Mr. Weeks asked.

"I was."

"How did you close the desk again?"

"I took off the plate of the lock and put it back with the same screws."

"Do you know where Carpenter is?"

"I have heard in the last few days that he was in Princeton, but I do not know by whom he is employed."

"How did you come to take the bottle holder and bottle home on the 27th?"

"I happened to think of it when I was leaving, about 11:30. I was taking home some laundry. I went back to the desk, which I had closed, and I had to pry it open again with a screwdriver."

DESK BROKEN OPEN TWICE.

"Then the desk was broken open twice?"

"It was."

"How did you repair it the second time?"

"I just put the screws back."

"Did you fill up the holes?"

"I don't remember."

"Did you ever testify to that before?"

"He was never asked about it before," said Mr. Osborne.

"I was never asked about it before," echoed Cornish.

Cornish then showed by a diagram the locations of the rooms occupied by the various persons in the Adams flat. He said that he remembered making a statement to the press in which he said that he had gone into Mrs. Rogers's room to get the bottle of bromo-seltzer on the morning of the 28th, but that since that time, from conversations with Mrs. Rogers, he had remembered that in that particular he had made a mistake, and that only the bottle holder and not the bottle was in Mrs. Rogers's room. The bottle, he said, was in his room all the time, and he remembered distinctly taking it from there and opening it with a fork when Mrs. Rogers came to his room and said her mother would like to have a dose of the medicine.

Cornish was then asked to sit down at the table and show exactly how he mixed the poison dose for Mrs. Adams. He went through the motions, and Mr. Weeks told him to drink about the same quantity from the glass of water he held as he had taken on the day of the poisoning.

"Oh, no," interposed the Recorder, "I think we have gone far enough in this matter."

"He doesn't like the taste of water," said Mr. Osborne, "but he'll swallow it nevertheless."

"That will do, Mr. Osborne," said the Recorder, sternly. "A place where a man is on trial for his life is not a place for facetiousness."

At the conclusion of Cornish's dumb show with the bottle, the spoon, and the two glasses the court adjourned until Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

DR. PURVES NOT TO PREACH.

Gives Color to Report of His Declination of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church's Call.

The Rev. Dr. George T. Purves of Princeton, who has been called to the pastorate of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, was in the city yesterday, and called upon H. Edwards Rowland, Chairman of the Pulpit Supply Committee of the church. When asked if Dr. Purves had announced his acceptance of the call Mr. Rowland replied that nothing would be given out concerning Dr. Purves's decision until to-morrow morning, when an announcement will be made from the pulpit.

Other members of the committee professed ignorance of Dr. Purves's decision, which, as had been arranged, was to be reported to Mr. Rowland.

It was learned yesterday that Dr. Purves would preach in Princeton to-morrow. This, in view of Mr. Rowland's statement upon his return from Princeton Thursday, which was to the effect that if Dr. Purves occupied the pulpit of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church Sunday the public would know that he had accepted the call, gave some color in the minds of some church members to a rumor that Dr. Purves had declined the call.

A PAGE ROBS TWO CONGRESSMEN.

Julius H. McAfee of Kentucky Admits Taking Money.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Julius H. McAfee, a page in the House of Representatives, is held at the police station here, charged with the larceny of $500 from Congressman Stevens and another member of Congress. The young man admitted the theft, but said he had taken but $260 in money, and would be able to return $247 of that amount.

McAfee is from Kentucky, and has been employed by the House for about four years.

WOULD MOVE THE CAPITAL WEST

Indiana Candidate for Congress Wants It in Kansas.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 29.—Judge Thomas W. Dillon of Petersburg announced to-day he would be a candidate for the nomination for Congress before the next Democratic Convention. In his appeal, which he issued to the voters, he advocates the removal of the National capital to Kansas, saying the people of the West and South are denied their rights in Washington because of the influence of wealth.

His address has caused considerable comment in political circles in Southern Indiana.

CHICAGO'S BIRD EXHIBITION.

Canaries Will Sing for Prizes at the Annual Competition.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Canary birds from Chicago, New York, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, and other cities will meet in a song competition on Sunday. The annual exhibition of the Chicago Canary Breeding and Protective Association opens then, and will last three days.

The canary exhibition is an annual event of considerable importance among bird fanciers, not only of Chicago, but of the whole country. Owners of rare birds send their best songsters to it, and the hall is filled during the exhibition with a medley of song. Prizes are offered by the association for the best songsters, and each bird sings before a regularly constituted committee, receiving from each member markings on the sweetness of his song. The bird receiving the highest total marking is given a medal.

BLIZZARD IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Four Feet of Snow at Cory and a Temperature of Zero.

CORY, Penn., Dec. 29.—A terrific blizzard, the worst in years, has been raging in Northwestern Pennsylvania for the past twenty-four hours, and still continues. About eighteen inches of snow have fallen, and with that already on the ground makes the depth on the level four feet. Many villages are cut off from the outside world. All the roads leading into this city are blocked, the stages which carry the mails from Kating and Findlay Lake being snowed in.

All the railroads are suffering. The Western New York and Pennsylvania through trains between Pittsburg and Buffalo were several hours behind time. The Erie and the Pennsylvania are faring a little bet although all the trains are late. On all roads huge snowplows, such as are used in the West, are running but fail to keep the tracks clear.

No loss of life is reported. The thermometer registers about zero.

Cold Weather in Michigan.

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 29.—Disptaches from Northern Michigan report extreme cold weather, with heavy gales from the West and snow. At East Tawas the thermometer registered 18 below zero to-day. Ten degrees below is reported from Sault Ste. Marie and other upper peninsular points.

Electrical Fanmakers May Combine.

The manufacturers of electrical fans and supplies are in session at the Hotel Imperial. Among them are Prof. John Phillips of Cleveland, H. B. Castle, and D. H. Kulp of Marietta, Penn. The purpose is to form a combination, but enough has not been accomplished to indicate the probable outcome.

THE WAR AGAINST COFFEY

Brooklyn Machine Begins a Move Upon the Ninth's Leader.

SUB-COMMITTEE ORGANIZES

If Charges Against the Senator Are Sustained, the Fight May Reach Tammany.

What is regarded as the first move in a war to be waged upon Senator Michael J. Coffey, the Democratic leader of the Ninth Assembly District, Brooklyn, by the Willoughby Street machine, was made last night, when the sub-committee of the County Executive Committee appointed to consider the charges made against Coffey by his opponents in the Ninth District met in the Jefferson Building and organized.

It had been the general belief in local political circles that the anti-Coffey petition would be allowed to die in the hands of the sub-committee, but the formal organization of the committee last night and the preparations made to investigate the charges have changed the prevailing opinion as to Willoughby Street's intentions with regard to Senator Coffey. The belief is now that Mr. McLaughlin and those associated with him in the control of the county organization are determined to have it out once and for all with the troublesome Red Hook leader.

The auction room, it was said last night, desires and will exercise all its power and influence to effect the complete extinction of Coffey as a factor in county politics. The Senator is no easy foe to conquer, and it is felt that if the local machine is really bent upon his overthrow it has a long, hard fight ahead of it, with possible failure at the end.

The committee organized with John Maguire of the Twenty-first Assembly District as Chairman. The other members of the committee are Senator E. McCarren, John J. Clancy, James Regan, and George Lindsay. The meeting was held behind closed doors. At its close Mr. Maguire said that the committee had simply organized and put the charges of the anti-Coffeyites into shape. These charges, he said, were briefly that the Ninth Assembly District organization had failed to act in concert with the county organization in the last election; that it does not represent the Democratic Party, and that it should be disbanded.

Mr. Maguire said that if the charges are proved the committee will, under the by-laws of the County Committee, and under the provisions of the election law, recommend the disbandment of the present organization in the district and the ordering of a special primary for the election of a new district committee.

The committee will meet again in a few days and will then meet continuously, it is said, until the matter is cleared up. The meetings, it is also said, will be public and each side will be permitted to have counsel.

Senator Coffey is not without friends in the Executive Committee, and if the report of the sub-committee is adverse to him it is expected that there will be an interesting fight over its adoption. Final action on the matter will have to be taken by the County Committee, and in this body Senator Coffey's real strength as a leader will be put to the test.

If it is finally decided to disband the Ninth District organization and order a special primary, Coffey will then have a chance to meet the foe on his own ground, and a bitter fight for control it is believed will ensue.

It is even hinted that if Coffey shows the strength he is believed to possess Tammany may lend him aid and comfort in his fight.

Fight Against Mr. Gruber.

The followers of George C. Austin, who is at the head of the movement to depose Abraham Gruber as the Republican leader in the Twenty-first Assembly District, held a meeting last night to formulate a plan of campaign. Mr. Austin said that a fight would be made to prevent Mr. Gruber from going to either the National or State Convention as a delegate, and that a contest would be inaugurated to retire him as leader in next Fall's primaries. Mr. Gruber is opposed to Senator Platt and the Republican organization.

Mr. Payn Sees Senator Platt.

Louis F. Payn, State Superintendent of insurance, who has declared that Gov. Roosevelt will be unable to supplant him, had a long talk yesterday with Senator T. C. Platt. Neither would say anything about the matter. Mr. Payn's friends were jubilant last night, and declared that his retention in office, through the refusal of the Senate to confirm any other nomination, was assured.

TROLLEY LEASE IN COURT.

Application to Set Aside the Consolidated-North Jersey Deal.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 29.—United States Circuit Court Judge Gray to-day granted a rule for cause to be shown on Jan. 11 why the lease of the trolley system of the Consolidated Traction Company to the North Jersey Street Railway Company should not be set aside as fraudulent. An order was also made temporarily restraining the payment of $150,000 on account of the lease, which was to have been paid on Jan. 1.

The application was made for the executors of the estate of Samuel T. Dickinson of New York, which owned 100 shares of the Consolidated Company. The bill of complaint sets out that in March, 1898, the lease was perfected by E. S. C. Young, P. A. B. Widener, A. J. Cassatt, Jeremiah O'Rourke, Thomas F. Ryan, William L. Elkins, Elisha B. Graddis, Thomas A. Dolan, C. A. Griscom, and others controlling the Consolidated Company, and Bernard M. Shanley, Halsey M. Barrett, James E. Hulshizer, Jr., Henry M. Doremus, and others, controlling the North Jersey Company.

The lease was for a term of 999 years, and provided for a payment of $1,000,000 upon the execution of the lease and yearly sums in semi-annual payments of $300,000, increasing gradually until 1905, from which time the amount should be $600,000 a year. It also provided that $10,000 a year should be paid as the President's salary as long as the two companies had the same President. The bill charges that this was a gratuity to Shanley, the President of the two companies.

The application for the setting aside of the lease is based on the ground that the money to be paid as rental was entirely inadequate and that the law under which the lease was made is unconstitutional.

RETRENCHMENT IN BALTIMORE.

New Mayor Disgusts Politicians by Saving the City Money.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29.—Thomas G. Hayes, the reform Mayor, let another bombshell of economy fall in the City Hall to-day. It struck the Water Department. Mayor Hayes informed the Water Commission that if it refused to comply with provisions of the new city charter he would remove every member and appoint a new commission. As a result, the commission appeared before the Mayor's retrenchment board and reported estimates that will save the city over $27,000 a year.

A number of offices are abolished. The Water Registrar asked for a salary account of $32,000. This was reduced to $22,800 by the abolition of two clerical positions at $1,200 each, a Chief Inspector at $1,600, a Special Inspectorship at $1,200, and four District Inspectorship at $1,000 each.

The mechanical department asked for salaries $114,064.76, which was reduced $18,600 by abolishing the positions of superintending engineer at $2,500; one draughtsman, $1,200; one draughtsman at $900; three clerks at $900 each, and laborers amounting to $10,700.

The politicians are thoroughly disgusted with the new Mayor's policy. Even the heads of some of the departments say that he is cutting beyond all reason. The City Commissioner has had the salaries in his department cut from a total of $3,400 to $2,500 a year.

Alabama Bishop-Coadjutor Resigns.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 29.—Information has reached here that the Right Rev. Dr. H. M. Jackson, Bishop-Coadjutor of the Diocese of Alabama, (Episcopal,) has forwarded his resignation to the Presiding Bishop, the Rev. Dr. Clark of Rhode Island. Bishop Doane of Albany, however, is the Acting Presiding Bishop, owing to the feeble health of Bishop Clark.

KENTUCKY'S ELECTION TANGLE.

Movement Against Blackburn for Senator Appears to be Weak—Republicans Reply to Goebelites.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 29.—Although three days will elapse before the assembling of the Legislature, the State capital is already filled with executive and political leaders, approximating the crowd usually here on the opening day. Though some of the anti-Goebel leaders are toiling hard to bring their forces against Blackburn as well as Goebel, the anti-Blackburn movement does not appear to be strong, and unless it can gather strength as a result of the tangle over the State contests, Blackburn will win for United States Senator with the ease his managers have been claiming for him.

So far only two anti-Goebel Democrats have declared themselves positively as anti-Blackburn. The anti-Goebel leaders are not doing much talking regarding their plans of procedure, but they are making some strong claims regarding their strength on the matter of the contests. They assert with confidence that they have a majority of one in the Senate on the contests, and that in both houses there are several members who, though they may vote to seat Goebel and Beckham, will not vote to unseat any of the Republican legislators elected, against whom contests are pending. This probably refers to several Populist members elected as Democrats, and who are claimed by both sides.

The address of the Republican leaders in reply to the recent address of the Goebel leaders, indorsing the contesting candidates on the Democratic State ticket, was given out to-night. It replies specifically to the Democratic charges of fraud and makes sensational counter charges. It is signed by Gov. Taylor, Chairman Barnett, Senator Deboe, Congressman Pugh, and others, including all members of the State Central Committee.

Referring to the Goebel Democrats, the address says:

"These conspirators have deliberately invaded the liberty of the people, and every fraud has been committed which political ingenuity could devise. Not even a semblance of fairness was shown in the selection of election officers in a large majority of the localities in the State, and yet the people have triumphed. We now appeal to the patriotic citizens of the commonwealth, irrespective of party, to frown down this attempt to commit an awful crime, and to assist in removing from the statutes the odious measure, conceived in corruption, and brought forth in iniquity, which has been the fruitful source of so much disturbance, anxiety, and excitement to the people of Kentucky."

SPEAKER NIXON FOR THE SENATE

To Leave the Assembly Next Year—Kelsey's Chance to Succeed Him.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Dec. 29.—It is the intention of Speaker Nixon of the Assembly to close his career in the lower house with the coming session. He has represented Chautauqua County in the Assembly for nine years, and will have served two terms as Speaker when he becomes a candidate for the Senatorial toga of the Fiftieth District, which, it is understood, Senator Frank Higgins will lay down at the expiration of his present term.

With Speaker Nixon in the Senate, the coast will be measurably clear for Assemblyman Otto Kelsey of Livingston in 1901 as a candidate for Speaker in the Assembly of that year if he yields to Platt and consents to take the Chairmanship of the Cities Committee for the session of 1900 and to act as sponsor and advocate for all the partisan attacks on New York City, its government, and its people, which the Fifth Avenue Hotel coterie are planning.

THURSTON SEES VICTORY AHEAD.

Nebraska Senator Says Republicans Everywhere Are Confident.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 29.—United States Senator John M. Thurston, speaking to-day of National politics, said:

"The feeling everywhere among Republicans as to the coming National campaign is one of absolute confidence. Nowhere does one hear an expression of the slightest doubt as to the result. The fact that two Senators are to be elected in Nebraska will direct hither interest of Republicans of all sections of the country. But whatever may be the result in this State, Republican supremacy in National affairs is bound to be continued.

"I shall not be a candidate for re-election. I want to get out of official life, and have long ago declared that I will not be a candidate again, but I expect to take as active an interest in the campaign in this State and work as hard for the return of two Republican Senators from Nebraska as if I were myself expecting to be one of them."

RIVAL FOR THE "GOLD CURE."

Two Paris Doctors Extract from a Horse Serum Which They Claim Will Conquer the Drink Habit.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—Scarcely had Paris recovered from the sensation caused by the announcement that Prof. Metchnikoff, at the Pasteur Institute, had discovered a sovereign remedy against anaemia, and was engaged in seeking doses of a series of lymphs to rejuvenate particular organs of the human body, when it was announced that Drs. Rappelier and Thiebault had found a "drink cure" in a serum extracted from the veins of a horse, which had been previously alcoholized artificially.

It is claimed that their experiments have proved that the serum will produce in a patient an unconquerable distaste for alcoholic liquors.

The Academy of Medicine has appointed a committee to investigate the alleged discovery.

IN MR. HOBART'S MEMORY.

Memorial Committee Will Erect a Bronze Statue at Paterson.

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 29.—The Hobart Memorial Committee met last night and accepted the report of the sub-committee which was appointed to recommend a suitable memorial to the late Vice President Hobart. It was decided to collect a fund by popular subscription and erect a bronze statue of Mr. Hobart upon a granite base on the Market Street side of the City Hall.

The statue will represent Mr. Hobart in a characteristic attitude, addressing the United States Senate.

WANTS TO PAROLE PRISONERS.

Superintendent Collins Will Recommend System in His Report.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Dec. 29.—Superintendent of Prisons Collins believes that the parole or ticket-of-leave system would work well in the State penal institutions if engrafted on the State's penal statutes and carefully managed. He will recommend such a measure in his coming report.

The outlines of the plan call for a parole board composed of the President of the Prison Commission, the Superintendent of State Prisons, and the Warden of the prison wherein the convict is to be paroled. The board is to have the power to parole a convict who has been sentenced for eight or ten years after he has served two years or some other term prescribed by law; the parole is to operate only so long as the convict continues to earn an honest living.

But should he lapse into criminal acts, he shall not only be sentenced for the term his second crime warrants, but shall have added to it the six or eight years remaining of his first sentence. To make this more effective all commutation power to reduce the term of imprisonment shall be denied in express phrase by law.

There are many men in prison for first offenses capable of earning an honest living who Supt. Collins believes would be benefited and would benefit society while reducing the prison population if paroled. It would cost something to watch the ticket-of-leave men, but with the Bertillon system of identification, the recapture of a convict would not be difficult. He believes that the two basic principles of penal legislation would be preserved.

Complete quotations for 1899—for stocks and bonds of every kind—with elaborate tables showing transactions and range of prices, will be given in the annual financial supplement of THE NEW YORK TIMES to be issued on Monday, Jan. 1. Order of your newsdealer in advance. Price, with complete newspaper, one cent.—Adv.

ATTACK ON MR. WAKEMAN

Injures New York Interests, Mr. King Tells President McKinley.

The discontent among importers at the manner in which Appraiser Wilbur F. Wakeman has conducted his office has now taken form in the active hostility to the Appraiser of the Merchants' Association of New York. While it is as yet premature to state that it is the intention of the association to circulate a petition among New York merchants requesting the immediate removal of Mr. Wakeman, it is stated that the question of a petition is now being seriously discussed, and that if the alleged abuses are not soon remedied there is every probability that a petition will be prepared and sent to Washington.

Meanwhile, the importers have already approached the Treasury Department in another way, and last week a committee of merchants of this city and Chicago visited Washington in order to make a protest against an alleged ruling of the Appraiser on cotton fabrics. Moreover, President William F. King of the Merchants' Association has written to President McKinley, alleging that the interests of the Port of New York are suffering through Mr. Wakeman's manner of conducting his office.

RULING WHICH IS CRITICISED.

The ruling as to which a protest was made to Secretary Gage is in reference to Section 313 of the Dingley tariff, which provides that an additional duty of 2 cents a square yard shall be placed upon "cotton cloth containing other than the ordinary warp and filling threads introduced in the process of weaving to fill a figure." Up to last November ordinary Madras shirtings, commonly known as striped plaids and checks, had passed with the regular duty. On and since that date, however, Mr. Wakeman has returned them as subject to the additional 2 cents a yard duty. The merchants claim that the fabrics in question contain only ordinary warp and filling, and that Appraiser Wakeman himself had uniformly ruled that they did not come under Section 313. It is also said that the importers, relying on the Appraiser's own precedent, had entered into contracts for future delivery upon the basis of the usual ruling, and had lost about $500,000 by the unexpected action of Mr. Wakeman.

When seen by a reporter of THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday, Mr. King made the following statement:

"The Joint Committee on Customs of the Merchants' Association has been working energetically in behalf of justice to the members of the association who are connected with the importing trade. Mr. Wakeman's rulings have been arbitrary and unjust.

"A committee, composed of John Gibb of Mills & Gibb, Chairman; James McCreery of James McCreery & Co., Horace J. Fairchild of the H. B. Claflin Company, J. N. Wright of Arnold, Constable & Co., J. T. Pirie of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. of Chicago, and Kenneth Barnhart of Marshall Field & Co. of Chicago, asked for a hearing before the Treasury Department at Washington on the ruling which had been made by Appraiser Wakeman on cotton fabrics. This hearing was granted, and it took place on Dec. 18 at Washington. There were present at the hearing, besides these gentlemen, Secretary Gage and Assistant Secretary Spaulding. On the Saturday previous, Dec. 16, Mr. Wakeman had visited Washington, and had said there that the importers were satisfied with the ruling he had made and only wanted a little more time to get used to it. This was absolutely false.

INDIGNANT AT APPRAISER.

"The committee protested against the ruling, and returned to New York very indignant over the Appraiser's action. The majority of the committee stated that in their judgment the time had come when the Appraiser of this port should cease to ride two horses and should show some evidence of a desire to be just; and that the arbitrary rulings, the holding-up of merchandise, and the dealings of the office generally in the past had been detrimental to this port and its commercial interests.

"Some of them thought that the proper thing to do was to start a petition at once asking for Mr. Wakeman's removal. The matter was brought to my notice, and I felt that it could be settled in a pleasanter way than by creating undue agitation.

"This appointment of Appraiser Wakeman has been a bone of contention ever since it was made. It has created considerable discontent and dissatisfaction. I wrote to the President and called his attention to these facts, stating that a feeling of unrest was being created among reputable merchants, and asking that the commercial interests be satisfied by the removal of Mr. Wakeman. His office has already been investigated, and the recommendations made were detrimental to him, but he has been retained in office on the ground that he might have been overzealous in his rulings, and that, as he had had no experience, to break in a new Appraiser would take a long time, and might create just as much trouble as Mr. Wakeman had given.

"There has also been a political controversy over this question, which has been injurious to the entire subject. A petition was circulated some time ago, asking that Mr. Wakeman be retained in office, and a number of prominent importers, while they would not sign the same, agreed that they would not oppose his retention. The matter now rests with the officials at Washington.

MERCHANTS DEMAND JUSTICE.

"I do not believe in unnecessary agitation, but we want to see the Appraiser's Stores handled on a strict commercial basis. We do not want a man at the head who is constantly trying to harass the merchants doing business here. The Appraiser should be just to the Government, just to the domestic manufacturer, and just to the importer. That is all that is wanted."

Mr. King added that the foregoing statement was approved by all the members of the committee which made the protest to the Secretary of the Treasury, with the exception of Mr. Barnhart, who is in Chicago, and could not, therefore, be reached in time.

The fact that one of the committee which called on Secretary Gage was Mr. Barnhart of Marshall Field & Co. is regarded as worthy of note by importers. Some months ago a number of those who were agitating for the removal of Appraiser Wakeman alleged that he was kept in his office through the influence of Marshall Field & Co., and that his appraisements were made in the interests of the Chicago firm.

Although it was neither admitted nor denied at the offices of the Merchants' Association, it is alleged that the Joint Committee on Customs has on several occasions sent a deputation to talk things over with Appraiser Wakeman, and that they obtained very little satisfaction from him.

It is alleged that Mr. Wakeman has so congested the business of this port by his rulings that many New York importers now receive their goods through Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Chicago, and Newport News, and that the commerce of New York will in consequence suffer greatly unless a new Appraiser be appointed.

MR. WAKEMAN'S STATEMENT.

Appraiser Wakeman was seen at his residence, 111 East Twenty-fourth Street, last evening. He said that the additional duty under Section 313 of the Dingley tariff on Madras shirtings was not, as the statements of members of the Merchants' Association seemed to imply, an arbitrary ruling of his own. The charging of the duty on this class of goods was determined upon, he said, at a conference of Appraisers, held in this city, and that decision was the result of a decision to the same effect by Gen. Tichenor of the Board of General Appraisers. It was not 2 cents additional that was charged in every case, Mr. Wakeman said. On some classes of goods only 1 cent more than had been the case before Nov. 15 was now charged. The same charges were made in every port in the United States, the Appraiser asserted.

"If," said Mr. Wakeman, "the importers feel that the additional duty is unjust, why do they not appeal to the proper authorities, instead of blaming me? My decision is not final. I am simply here to carry out the law. If there is injustice anywhere, or illegality, it can be remedied by appeal to Washington.

"With reference to the complaint that trade is being diverted from New York to other ports, I can only say that it is not surprising, considering the fact that absolutely nothing has been done by this city to expedite shipping. Go to even a comparatively small port, such as Newport News, and see what has been done there. What is needed here is an elevated railroad around the Island of Manhattan, so that shipping can be handled easily and quickly. The merchants would be a great deal better employed in working for something like that than in blaming me for a state of things which I cannot help.

"It is absolutely false to say that there is congestion in the Public Stores. And with reference to the statement that I was guilty of misrepresenting the attitude of the importers to the Secretary of the Treasury, I will only say that some one is mistaken. I could, perhaps, say a great deal more.

"Among all the severe, acrimonious, and cruel attacks that have been directed at me there is one kind of attack that has never been made. There has never been a suggestion that I have not given an honest administration.

"With reference to the question as to whether or not I am likely to resign, I have received no intimation that my resignation is likely to be asked for."

Mr. Wakeman would not, on being questioned further, say definitely whether he intended to give his office up or not, but he let it be inferred that he had no intention of resigning.

CHARITY CHILDREN'S NEW HOME

Separate Department Established for Them by Commissioner Keller.

Commissioner J. W. Keller of the Charities Department caused the removal of the children's department in the Charities Building, at the foot of East Twenty-sixth Street, to the old Charities Department Building at Eleventh Street and Third Avenue, yesterday.

The move has been in contemplation for some time. It has been considered desirable to get the children away from the men and women who call in large numbers for help at the outdoor poor department.

Commissioner Keller said that this city should have a regular Magistrate's court for committing children, as other cities have. He hopes the removal of the children to a separate department will be the initial move toward securing a court wherein they may be committed.

Georgia Republicans to Meet March 7.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 29.—The Republican State Committee to-day decided to hold the next State Convention in this city, March 7, 1900, to choose delegates to the National Republican Convention. A resolution indorsing the Administration of President McKinley was adopted, and also one regretting the death of Vice President Hobart.

AT THE HOTELS.

ASTOR—H. C. Campbell, Pittsburg; Caryl D. Haskins, Boston.

ALBEMARLE—Mr. Justice Street, Toronto; Capt. F. Winslow, United States Army.

FIFTH AVENUE—Edward C. Fowler, Montgomery, Ala.; E. B. Craig, State Treasurer of Tennessee; George Harris, President of Amherst College.

GRAND—William M. Roach, Chester, Penn.

HERALD SQUARE—Terence V. Powderly, Washington.

HOLLAND—Andrew W. Edwards, Antwerp; F. E. Meredith, Detroit; W. O. Alexander, Chicago; Roland H. Boutwell, Boston; J. Hampton Barnes, Philadelphia.

HOFFMAN—Ex-Senator Daniel H. McMillan, Buffalo; Col. Robert Hanna, United States Army; ex-Gov. J. E. Campbell, Ohio.

MANHATTAN—C. J. Buchanan, Albany; William A. Thompson, Troy; E. Coykendall, Rondout; ex-Congressman Belden, Syracuse; T. D. Bates, San Francisco.

MURRAY HILL—H. W. Blackstone, Los Angeles; Dr. F. H. Adamson, Edinburgh; Gen. Amasa J. Parker, Albany.

PARK AVENUE—A. A. Aspinwall, Washington; E. W. Parker, United States Geological Survey.

SAVOY—B. Cosio, Tampa, Fla.

STURTEVANT—Ex-Speaker Titus Sheard, Little Falls; P. H. McAndrew, San Juan, P. R.

WALDORF—George S. MacKay, Boston; Dr. T. G. Roddick, Montreal; L. Linden, Paris; Henry Watterson, Louisville; D. B. Stedman, Sr., Boston.

ARRIVAL OF BUYERS.

Representatives of Out-of-Town Firms Now in the City.

Bright, C. E., Columbus, Ohio; millinery and ribbons; 626 Broadway; Broadway Central Hotel.

Butler, W. S., & Co., Boston, Mass.; S. Lissner, silks and laces; Hotel Vendome.

California Toy and Notion Company, San Francisco, Cal.; J. Feigenbaum, notions and fancy goods; Herald Square Hotel.

Cohen, G., & Sons, Boston, Mass.; L. Cohen, dry goods and notions; Hotel Marlborough.

Field, Marshall, & Co., Chicago, Ill.; C. A. MacLean, laces, embroideries, and ladies' underwear; 104 Worth Street; Hotel Imperial.

Goulding, J. W., Port Huron, Mich.; notions and furnishing goods; Broadway Central Hotel.

Greif, L., & Brother, Baltimore, Md.; S. Greif, woolens and tailors' trimmings; 757 Broadway; Broadway Central Hotel.

Harris, C., & Brother, Cleveland, Ohio; C. Harris, clothing; Hotel Empire.

Howard, F., Manufacturing Company, Atchison, Kan.; J. C. Fox, Jr., woolens; Park Avenue Hotel.

Howe & Stetson, New Haven, Conn.; E. L. Howe, ribbons; 52 Franklin Street; Holland House.

Hutzler Brothers, Baltimore, Md.; E. B. Hutzler, notions and fancy goods; Herald Square Hotel.

Isenberg &

GEN. WHITE HARD PRESSED

Boer Shell Fire Becomes Damaging at Ladysmith.

CASUALTIES MORE NUMEROUS

Gen. Buller's Water Supply Said to be Threatened Owing to the Activity of the Enemy Near Chieveley.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—A dispatch from Ladysmith, via Pietermaritzburg, Dec. 24, says:

"Gen. White has had a slight attack of fever, but he is now convalescent.

"The Boer shell fire has been very damaging recently. On Friday one shell killed six men and wounded nine. The same missile killed fourteen horses. Another just missed the Fifth Lancers' lines, slightly wounding six officers. Several shells have fallen close to Gen. White's house, compelling the removal of headquarters to another point.

It is reported that Gen. Joubert is again in command of the Boers here. The military authorities appear confident, but they are very reticent

Boers have been observed moving northward and westward in large numbers.

A dispatch from Ladysmith, dated Dec. 22, says:

"The total casualties since the siege are 70 men killed and 236 wounded.

"The Boers have mounted another howitzer on Surprise Hill, replacing the gun captured in the sortie of the Rifle Brigade, while they watch us nightly with a searchlight and bombard the place daily. They show no signs of assaulting the town. They probably think they can starve us out, but we have plenty of provisions."

The Times publishes the following dispatch from Chieveley Camp, dated Dec. 24:

"Parties of Boers approached to-day within three miles of Chieveley Camp, threatening our watering parties, who are compelled to go some two miles owing to the scarcity of water.

"It is reported that the Ladysmith garrison made a sortie on Thursday and captured a hill."

The latest special dispatches from Chieveley Camp hint at some important movement as imminent. This is interpreted, with some misgivings, to mean that Gen. Buller contemplates a renewal of his attempt to relieve Ladysmith.

It is reported by the same dispatches that the Boers have now retired to the north bank of the Tugela, being afraid that the swollen river may bar their retreat. They are also moving their laagers nearer Ladysmith, probably with the intention of putting further pressure on the garrison.

It is difficult, however, to conceive that Gen. Buller would make another frontal attack, especially now that the river is rising and an additional indication that this is not his purpose is the fact that he has removed his headquarters back to Frere.

The Boer movements northward from the Tugela are quite in keeping with the enemy's usual plan of securing a safe line of retreat.

It is known that further artillery is due to arrive for Gen. Buller, but the belief here is that his forces even then will be too weak. He may, however, be animated by a desire to accomplish something before the arrival of Lord Roberts and to satisfy the keenness of his men to retrieve their defeat.

The Modder River correspondent of The Times, referring to the scare-firing of the Boers, says:

"Their nervousness causes much amusement among the British. It is quite certain that half the Boer force is employed watching by day and the other half by night. Probably the consequent weariness, with the scarcity of water and the presence of typhoid, will render the Boer position intolerable. Their present action is due either to a scare or to a wish to cover a retirement to Sovtfontein."

The Marseilles correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing the substance of an interview with the Russian General, Gourko, eldest son of the famous Gourko, who is now about starting for Pretoria, says that the Russian officer made the following statement:

"I have been offered the command of a Boer army corps. In my own mind I am absolutely confident of the success of the Boers. You may take my word for it that thousands of Russians are now fighting under Gen. Joubert."

FLOUR SEIZURES CRITICISED.

Lord Rosebery and Sir Charles Dilke Maintain that It Is an Error in Policy.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Lord Rosebery writes as follows this morning to The Times:

"There are disquieting intimations which appear to point to our Government having treated foodstuffs as contraband of war. As this is a matter of supreme importance, I venture to address this line to you in the hope that it may elicit an authoritative statement on the subject."

The Times, commenting editorially upon Lord Rosebery's letter, says:

"Too little is known of the seizures for any valid inference safely to be drawn. An occasion might arise when certain foodstuffs would be regarded as contraband, while others would not, especially if the latter were intended for non-combatants. There might, for instance, be reasonable grounds for treating canned goods as contraband and flour as legitimate."

After admitting that it "would be inadvisable to create a precedent which might some day be invoked against us," the article concludes as follows:

"While we fully share the view that no serious change of policy should occur without cogent reasons and ample consideration, we cannot but ask ourselves whether in the event of Great Britain being engaged in a war, the action, either of the enemy or even of neutral powers, in a matter upon which such great divergence of opinion still exists, is likely to be governed by any precedent we or any one else may have set in the past, rather than by the immediate interests of the moment."

Sir Charles Dilke, in The Daily Chronicle this morning, discusses Great Britain's relation to Delagoa Bay with regard to the food question. He says:

"It would be one of the greatest follies the country could commit to disregard the possibility of a war some day against a powerful naval coalition, in which event it would be to the interests of the United States to feed Great Britain.

"As the British press, and the German official press, has pointed out, there is reason to suppose that the secret agreement several times referred to in Parliament between Great Britain and Germany concerns an hypothetical state of things which has not yet arisen.

"Great Britain must endure the present conditions, possibly doing something by pressure on the Portuguese officials, and strengthening the British Consular staff at Delagoa Bay."

The Daily Chronicle, in an editorial dealing with the dependence of Great Britain upon the United States for food in time of war, expresses the opinion that many British ships be transferred to the United States flag.

The Times has the following, dated Dec. 27, from Lorenzo Marques:

"Cargoes for the Transvaal have dwindled to one-fifth of the average, but large shipments are expected from Europe. In the meantime there are persistent rumors here and in Durban that guns and ammunition are smuggled through for the Boers. A French liner, now in the harbor, is said to have brought two large guns from Madagascar.

"The head of the customs assures me that there is absolutely no ground, however, for such rumors. All goods, he says, are discharged, examined, and dispatched by daylight. So great is the stringency, according to this official, that even saddles and horseshoes are not delivered to local importers, except in small lots and under written guarantees. The same precautions are taken with reference to all contraband articles. Of course, much depends upon the competence and incorruptibility of subordinates."

A later dispatch to The Times from Lorenzo Marques says:

"With reference to the rumors of smuggling contraband it is significant that Major Erasmus of the Free State artillery is here, his arrival being coincident with that of the French liner. Considering the freedom with which the Transvaal Secret Service Fund is spent, considerable mischief may be done unless cargoes are inspected by British searchers, who understand foreign bills of lading."

DELAGOA BAY STORY DENIED.

Report of a Treaty Ceding It to Great Britain Denounced as a Clumsy Invention.

BERLIN, Dec. 29.—The Reichsanzeiger this afternoon publishes the following:

"The Lokal Anzeiger continues, in spite of the contradiction of the Wolff Bureau, to advertise itself with communications regarding the alleged contents of the Anglo-German treaty. We are authorized to declare that the statements in question are founded on impudent and clumsy invention."

SEIZURE OF GOLD QUESTIONED.

German Newspaper Raises a Point Against England's Policy.

BERLIN, Dec. 29.—The Neueste-Nachrichten questions the right of Great Britain to confiscate gold ingots which are being transported from the Transvaal to Europe. It says it regards the discussion in the English press concerning Delagoa Bay as purely tentative, as Great Britain has given no signs that she will infringe on neutral territory.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—The Transvaal Government has promulgated a new gold tax law, by which individuals and companies working their own mines are taxed 30 per cent. of the output, while mines worked by the Government will pay 50 per cent. Suspended mines will pay 30 per cent. on their probable output, calculated on three months' workings. Reducing works will pay 30 per cent. of their net profits. The law is retroactive to Oct. 11.

DELAGOA BAY WORRIES FRANCE.

Story of Secret Treaty Causes Fear of Complications.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—The virtual seizure by British officials of vessels laden with American flour consigned to the Boers, and the statement of the Lokal Anzeiger regarding an alleged Anglo-German-Portuguese treaty for the division of Portugal's colonies between Great Britain and Germany, have aroused renewed interest in Paris. While there is a desire to discredit the Lokal Anzeiger's statement, its publication has occasioned undoubted uneasiness, because the consummation of such a plan would be a diplomatic stroke unfavorable to France and Russia.

The possession of Delagoa Bay is believed to be as essential to British success in South Africa as a victory over the Boers is essential to Great Britain's international prestige. Therefore it is felt that if necessary Great Britain will take extreme measures.

An official of the French Foreign Office said to-day, with respect to the seizure of breadstuffs:

"Such a seizure is absolutely outside of international rights and as foolish as though Great Britain, supposing her to be at war with Switzerland, should declare a blockade of Hamburg for fear certain goods should reach the Swiss from that source.

"A decision to consider breadstuffs contraband would be regarded in diplomatic circles as a suicidal policy for Great Britain, as she would be most dependent for food supplies upon other nations in case a war arose involving her."

The official then proceeded to point out a number of precedents against the action of Great Britain in this matter. He cited her own refusal, during the Franco-Prussian war, to recognize as contraband coal consigned to France, although it was known to be intended for warships. A still more pertinent instance arose during the Franco-Chinese war, when Great Britain declined to accept a declaration of France making rice contraband.

Obviously, however, the chief ground for apprehension is the belief that if Great Britain should establish a cordon of vessels across Delagoa Bay it would be necessary for all nations to send naval vessels there to protect individual rights. In such an event the presence of a large number of warships might create friction that would bring on grave results.

HAS GATACRE FOUGHT A BATTLE?

Cape Town Hears of Heavy Firing Near Stormberg.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—A dispatch from Cape Town, dated Dec. 28, says that Cradock reports heavy firing in the direction of Stormberg. It is supposed this is connected with Gen. Gatacre's attempt to reopen communication with the Indwe collieries.

The War Office has received the following dispatch:

"CAPE TOWN, Dec. 28.—The Indwe colliery line is now working again."

Another dispatch to the War Office, dated Cape Town, Dec. 28, says there is no change in the situation, so far as Gen. Gatacre and French are concerned.

ARTILLERY DUEL AT KIMBERLEY.

Burghers Received Reinforcements and the British Retired.

KIMBERLEY, Friday, Dec. 22.—Before dawn to-day a detachment of the mounted forces, with artillery and light infantry, moved out in a westerly direction. Boer artillery from Kamper Dam opened fire at Otto's Kopje, Kimberley Fort replying with twenty shells.

The British force reconnoitred outposts along Lazaretto Ridge, the Boer patrols retreating.

Having accomplished this and having discovered Boer reinforcements approaching from Wimbledon Ridge, Col. Chamier, with the Royal Artillery, exchanged a dozen shells as soon as the guns could be limbered up. Some 500 Boers poured in a heavy fire from their earthworks, the British finally retiring, with the loss of one horse.

The movement showed that the Boers were still keeping three guns in the vicinity of Kimberley, and are able to summon reinforcements rapidly. It also showed their proneness to vacate a position immediately when weaker than the opposing force.

KAFIRS AND BOERS AT WAR.

After Heavy Fighting the Burghers Claim to Have Whipped the Natives Near Derdorpoort.

PRETORIA, Dec. 26.—Commandant Swart reports from the laager at Alowyn's Kop, near Zeerust, that he had an engagement on Friday, Dec. 22, with Kafirs in the neighborhood of Derdorport. The Kafirs occupied a strongly fortified ridge and were well prepared for emergencies.

After heavy fighting, the burghers captured the Kafir position, losing three killed and five wounded.

Zeerust is in the South African Republic, about 125 miles west of Pretoria, and a short distance northeast of Mafeking. There is therefore little doubt that the natives who attacked the Boers belong to the tribe of Barolongs, of which the famous Montsioa was Chief until his death three years ago. This tribe lives near Mafeking, and has always been hostile to the Boers and friendly to the British. Montsioa and his people took part in many of the wars and raids that went on between the Boers and natives between 1840 and 1885.

In the latter year the British Government delivered him out of the hands of the Boers, for which he was grateful to the day of his death. One day, on being told that there was a new Government in England, the old chief remarked, "They have made a mistake; they could not have had a better Government than the old one."

The fact that the Boers have been attacked by a portion of the Barolongs would seem to indicate that the whole tribe, and possibly other tribes, have determined to take the opportunity offered by the war to be revenged for past abuses on the part of the burghers. The Basutos are allied to the Barolongs, and they also would welcome the opportunity of attacking the Boers. A spasmodic raid by a single tribe is hardly likely, as all the Kafir tribes are well organized, and would not take such a step as attacking any of the whites without deliberation.

The natives, despite all attempts to prevent them from obtaining arms, are nearly all equipped with rifles, and outnumber Boers and British combined by at least half a dozen to one.

HARD FIGHTING AT MAFEKING.

Pretoria Reports a Severe Repulse for the Men Under Colonel Baden-Powell.

PRETORIA, Dec. 26.—Commandant Snyman reports as follows from Molopo:

"On Monday morning the enemy from Mafeking attacked one of our forts in force, with cannon, Maxims, and an armored train, and so persistently that there was fighting right on the walls of the fort. But we have retained our fort. The British loss is reported at 55."

The other commandoes report "all quiet," with the exception of the usual bombardment of Ladysmith.

Gen. Lucas Meyer has returned to the front.

COL. BADEN-POWELL'S SURPRISE.

He Issues a Peculiar Proclamation to the Boers.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—The text of Col. Baden-Powell's proclamation to the burghers besieging Mafeking, the gist of which has already been cabled, comes from Lorenzo Marques to-day. His remarkably bombastic utterances and unfounded assertions are calculated to surprise others besides the Boer General, Snyman, who has already voiced the anger of the recipients.

After asserting that the republics cannot hope for foreign intervention and pretending to relate the exact attitude of all the European powers, including Emperor William, who, the Colonel said, "fully sympathizes with England," Baden-Powell makes the extraordinary statement that "the American Government has warned the others of her intention to side with England should any of them interfere."

A War Office dispatch from Col. Baden-Powell, dated Dec. 12, says that the bombardment and musketry fire continue daily on all sides and that the health and spirits of the garrison are very satisfactory.

LADY WILSON DODGES SHELLS.

Enjoys Life at Mafeking in Spite of the Bombardment.

MAFEKING, Dec. 20.—Lady Sarah Wilson is living in a bombproof shelter of her own construction under the private residence of Mr. Weil. There she is enabled to exist with some degree of comfort, and if she chooses to spend a part of the time in the house, her shelter is close enough to enable her to take cover between the ring of the warning bell and the arrival of a projectile.

The correspondent in Mafeking, to whom she granted an interview, was struck with the fact on entering her bombproof refuge that she is unquestionably an old campaigner. Even in this noisome, dark hole, dug under the ground, she manages to make herself comfortable. She has whisky and soda, as well as cigarettes, to offer visitors.

Lady Sarah's adventures were exciting, sometimes amusing, and often spiced with considerable danger. It was on a Thursday that she left Mafeking. She arrived at the Setlagoli Hotel that night. Before morning she was aroused by the rattle of musketry and the boom of guns. It was Capt. Nesbitt of the Mashonaland Mounted Police, now a prisoner in the hands of the Boers, who was fighting desperately, unable to get back or to go forward, but holding the wrecked armored train until the last. As soon as daylight would allow Lady Sarah pluckily rode to the scene of action and photographed the wreck.

Finding that her presence at Setlagoli exposed her to insults the Boers moved her to Mosuti, where she enjoyed the hospitality of a colonial farmer. By means of heavy bribes she persuaded natives to carry information to and fro.

Extraordinary stories regarding her were circulated among the Boers. One was that she was the wife of an English General, another that she was a granddaughter of the Queen, who had come to spy upon the doings of the Boers, and a third that she was the only male survivor of Mafeking, having escaped in the guise of a woman.

Lady Sarah visited Vryburg. She was driven there by a young Boer who passed her off as his sister. She found loyalists, who gave her official dispatches and news. She staid in the hotel all day and stole out by night to do shopping. On visiting the hospital she found that orders had been issued that no one should leave the town. The gallant Boer had to answer some curious questions put by the Landrost before he could get permission for himself and his "sister" to leave. They set out at 4 o'clock in the morning, in fear of being recognized, and got away safely.

After the Boers discovered that she had been mixed up in dispatch running she went to Commandant Snyman's camp with a view of getting back to Mafeking, but Snyman refused to let her go to Mafeking or even to Setlagoli. He proposed sending her to Zeerust as a prisoner of war or, as an alternative, to release her, if Viljoen were given up by the British.

At first she refused to ask Col. Baden-Powell to do this, but finally she changed her mind. Lady Sarah gathered, from her varied experiences among the Boers, that they are heartily sick of the war.

BOERS AIDED BY A CONSUL.

Great Britain Suspects a Foreign Official at Pretoria.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The Times has a dispatch from Lorenzo Marques, dated Dec. 28, which says:

"The suspicion that the Boer Intelligence Department is in close touch with a foreign consulate in Pretoria is confirmed by the fact that the news of the appointment of Lord Roberts as Commander in Chief in South Africa was generally known in Pretoria on Dec. 20, indirectly reaching Delagoa Bay from the Transvaal two days later. Suspicion rests upon a Consul who is notorious for his Boer sympathies. There is reason to believe that Pretoria is kept well informed with regard to British military movements."

GERMANS SNEER AT GEN. BULLER.

Comments Caused by Failure to Send Experts to Accompany the Boers.

BERLIN, Dec. 29.—The news that Germany will not send military experts to the Boers is received by the German press unfavorably. The Deutsche Tages Zeitung says:

"It is hard to conceive why not. From the Boers one may learn how to win victories, but from Gen. Buller only how to lose battles and cannon."

Red Cross subscriptions for the Transvaal in Berlin already total 100,000 marks.

BOERS TREAT PRISONERS WELL.

Consul Hollis at Pretoria Describes Conditions There.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The reports that the Boer authorities have threatened to reduce the rations of the British prisoners at Pretoria in case Great Britain stops the entry of food supplies at Delagoa Bay, is not borne out by the official communications of United States Consul Hollis at Pretoria. By direction of the State Department, Mr. Hollis is looking after the British interests, and in particular is seeing that the British prisoners are afforded every proper facility and personal attention.

His reports have been very full concerning the care of the prisoners, and such attending circumstances as were warranted. These, however, give no intimation that the rations of prisoners are to be reduced, but on the contrary, the entire tenor of the official report goes to show that there need be no apprehension that such a threat will be put into effect.

DUTCH FARMERS FEAR REPRISALS.

Unwilling to Risk Losing Their Farms by Rising.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Advices from Cape Town, dated Dec. 24, say an investigation shows that the reported disaffection among the Dutch in the Victoria West district has been overdrawn. The farmers, it is pointed out, are mostly landowners, and will not risk the loss of their farms by rising.

A dispatch from Lorenzo Marques, dated Dec. 23, says a curious story is current, emanating from Boer sources, that Matt Steyn, brother of the President of the Orange Free State, and eight hundred Free Staters have definitely refused to continue the war. Matt Steyn, acting as spokesman of the party, is reported to have told the President that he was only authorized to intervene in the interest of peace, and that the burghers did not feel they were bound by his "unwarrantable conduct," especially as they ran the risk of confiscation of their property, and they simply desired to be permitted to farm in peace, and proposed to immediately return to their farms.

The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily News says:

"A leading resident of Vryburg, who was released by the Boers, saw 2,000 colonials from Griqualand West. He says colonial faces are to be seen everywhere in the Boer ranks."

Mr. Astor Subscribes £1,000.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—William Waldorf Astor has subscribed £1,000 to the Buckinghamshire fund to equip the county's contingent of yeomanry.

Lord Salisbury at a Meeting.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Lord Salisbury presided at a meeting of the National Defense Committee this afternoon.

Colonelcy for the Prince of Wales.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—The Prince of Wales has accepted the chief Colonelcy of the Imperial Yeomanry and has contributed £105 for the use of the organization.

SIR CHARLES VINCENT HONORED.

Appointed to the Infantry of the London Regiment.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Sir Charles Howard Vincent, Member of Parliament for the Central Division of Sheffield and Colonel of the Queen's Westminster Volunteers, has been appointed to command the infantry division of the City of London Imperial Regiment.

Sir Charles Vincent was born in 1849. He is the second surviving son of a Sussex Baronet, his own knighthood having been given to him in 1896. He was educated at Westminster School and at the Royal Military College at Sandhurst, and afterward entered the Royal Welsh Fusileers. He retired from the regular army after reaching the rank of Lieutenant, and in 1876 became a barrister. In 1878 he was appointed Director of Criminal Investigations of the Metropolitan Police, and since 1885 has been the Conoservative Member of Parliament for Central Sheffield. For several years he was an active member of the London County Council. In 1891 he founded the United Empire Trade League.

MAKE-UP OF CANADA'S RECRUITS.

Second Contingent to Go Differs Greatly from the First.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, Dec. 29.—Within the course of another two weeks the second contingent of 1,000 troops which Canada is sending to South Africa will sail from Halifax for Cape Town. It will be composed of cavalry, or mounted infantry, and field artillery.

The first Canadian contingent, which sailed about eight weeks ago and now forms a part of Gen. Lord Methuen's column, consisted entirely of infantry, and was made up of volunteers.

The second contingent will be different. The mounted rifles will be composed of four detachments. Two will be recruited from the Northwest Mounted Police and from the cowboys of the West.

These will be genuine "Rough Riders," and Lieut. Col. Lessard, who will be the superior officer in command, has seen long and active service in the West and in Africa. The second officer will be Lieut. Col. T. D. B. Evans, R. C. D., who has a reputation as a fighter

The other two detachments will be made up from the various cavalry corps, the recruits not being necessarily required to be members of any regular corps, if they can qualify otherwise in accordance with the imperial army regulations.

The artillery arm of the contingent will be recruited from the several batteries of artillery in the Dominion, regular and militia. "A" and "B" Batteries, stationed, respectively, at Kingston and Quebec, which constitute virtually the only regular artillery service in Canada, will contribute largely to this branch of the contingent. Lieut. Col. Drury, R. C. A., will have command of the brigade division.

In addition to the cavalry and field artillery, with their complements of horses, guns, and other accoutrements, Capt. Howard of Gatling gun fame will accompany the contingent in charge of a machine gun of the Maxim pattern used by the cavalry, and known as the galloping gun. It takes .303 ammunition, and a great deal is being said about its being the most deadly weapon invented yet.

MUST STOP BOER RECRUITING.

Alleged Transvaal Agent in Cincinnati Arraigned in Court.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 29.—M. Pierot was arraigned before United States Attorney W. E. Bundy to-day on a charge of violating the laws of neutrality. M. Pierot has been known as a recruiting officer here for the Boers for some time, and through him many men have been transported East.

He claimed to-day that he was engaging these men for the Hospital Corps and not for enlistment in the army. Still, he was advised by the United States District Attorney that he must stop engaging men even for the Hospital Corps, or he would at once be arraigned for contempt of the United States court that issued the order through Attorney Bundy.

M. Pierot said he did not enlist the men. He simply looked at them and sent them to Oom Paul's nephew, Von Altow, who is in Cincinnati. Col. Bundy, however, warned M. Pierot, and read to him the law, which reads as follows:

"Every person in or within the jurisdiction of the United States who enlists or enters himself to go beyond the limits or jurisdiction of the United States with intent to be enlisted or entered in the service of any foreign province, State, colony, district, or people as a soldier, marine, or seaman on board any vessel of war, letter of marque, or privateer shall be deemed guilty of high misdemeanor, and shall be fined not more than $1,000 and imprisoned not more than three years."

American Would Fight the Boers.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Dec. 29.—Col. Hutcheson of Nashville, Tenn., has offered the Militia Department to send 200 horsement, with himself in command, with the second Canadian contingent for South Africa. It is not likely that the offer can be accepted, as there are more volunteering in Canada than can be accommodated.

Rush Order for Cartridge Belts.

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 29.—Thomas C. Orndorff, manufacturer of cartridge belts in this city, received an order from the British Government to-day for 45,000 double bandolier cartridge belts. It is said that the order is a rush one, and the cartridge belts will be shipped to the Transvaal as soon as manufactured.

IRISH MEET TO AID THE BOERS.

Hibernians Assemble in Philadelphia and Take Action.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29.—Over 400 delegates, representing ninety divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Philadelphia, with a total membership of 20,000, held a secret meeting in Industrial Hall tonight for the purpose of taking some action with a view to helping the Boers in their war with Great Britain. Alexander McKernan, President of the Philadelphia Union, presided.

After the meeting had adjourned it was announced that the delegates of all divisions had pledged every member of their respective divisions to contribute $2.50 toward a fund of $100,000 to be raised for the purpose of sending a hospital ship to the Boers. It was also announced that strong resolutions of sympathy for the Boers had been adopted, and that the members of the order heartily indorse and will participate in the pro-Boer mass meeting to be held in this city on Jan. 13, under the auspices of the Irish-American Club.

PATROL WAGON RUNAWAY.

The Policemen Badly Injured—Intoxicated Woman Prisoner Unhurt.

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 29.—The horses attached to the police patrol wagon ran away to-night. Three policemen were injured. An intoxicated woman, under arrest, escaped unharmed. The horses became unmanageable while the wagon was returning to the station house with Theresa Cook, the prisoner. The animals dashed straight for the millrace at Van Houghten Street. All would have gone into the race had not the horses tried to pass on either side of a telegraph pole. This upset the wagon. The horses were injured and the wagon wrecked.

Patrolman Miller is internally injured, and may die. Policeman Perry had an ear torn off, Thomas Cortright, the driver, had his head cut and his legs torn, and also suffered internal injuries. The prisoner, who was dragged out without apparently a scratch, was unconscious from liquor.

An Extraordinary Number.

All interested in the condition and prospects of finance, trade, and commerce should procure a copy of THE NEW YORK TIMES of Monday, Jan. 1, which will include a thirty-two-page supplement, containing special articles from men of recognized authority on the various phases of the prevailing prosperity in all lines of business. The writers also show by a convincing array of facts and figures why prosperity has come to stay. The newspaper with the supplement will be sold at the usual price—one cent per copy. Order it in advance of your newsdealer.—Adv.

CAPITAL STOCK IS INCREASED.

Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company Adds $21,250,000.

SCRANTON, Penn., Dec. 29.—The stockholders of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company to-day voted in favor of increasing the capital stock from $3,750,000 to $25,000,000. No statement of the purpose of the increase was given out further than that it was to put the company in a position to take advantage of any opportunity that might present itself for bettering its condition.

The general impression here is that the company is getting in shape to become a part of the big fifty-million-dollar steel concern that is now organizing in Buffalo.

CUT OFF HIS LEG WITH A KNIFE.

Brakeman Pinioned in Railroad Wreck Releases Himself.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 29.—The Cheyenne Flier on the Union Pacific crashed into the Boulder Valley train at Brighton, Col., today. A baggageman was killed and fourteen persons were injured. Among the injured is S. G. Hurst, a banker of Brighton, Col.

Remarkable fortitude was shown by Fred Laws, brakeman on the Boulder Valley train. He was making a coupling near the head of the train when the collision occurred. He was thrown down, and a wheel ran upon his leg, pinning him down. His cries for help were not heard, and he drew a knife from his pocket, cut off his leg, and crawled from under the car. His recovery is doubtful.

BANKER COLE WILL RETURN.

Globe Bank's Fugitive Official Starts To-day for Boston.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 29.—The warrant for the arrest of Charles H. Cole, formerly of the Globe Bank of Boston, on a charge of embezzling $900,000, arrived to-day. The United States Marshal also received a telegram from the Attorney General of the United States, directing him to conduct Cole to Boston under guard. Cole waived a preliminary examination and the start for Boston will be made to-morrow.

The warrant contains four counts. The first charges Cole with receiving $600,000 on Aug. 7 last, and embezzling it, and the second accuses him of embezzling $300,000 on Aug. 17. The other two counts simply refer to these transactions.

STOVE POKER CAUSES A DEATH.

Falls Into a Bucket of Dynamite and an Explosion Follows.

LOCKHAVEN, Penn., Dec. 29.—Grant Bathurst, Assistant Postmaster at Rote, this county, was killed and two other persons were injured to-day by an explosion of dynamite in the weighmaster's office of the Bellefonte Limestone Company, at Salona, eight miles from this city.

One of the men in the office raked the fire in the stove with a poker, and while it was still hot, hung the poker on a nail. It slipped from the nail and fell into a bucket filled with dynamite and fuses and a terrific explosion followed. The building was blown to pieces.

Bathurst had an arm and a leg torn from his body, and the two other men were injured by flying debris. Bathurst was thirty-five years of age, and leaves a wife and one child.

Quebec Lottery Barred from Mails.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Postmaster General Smith has issued an order forbidding the use of the mails to the National Society of Sculpture and Thimothe Archimbault of Quebec, Canada. The order recites that these concerns are conducting a lottery for the distribution of prizes. Postmasters are forbidden to forward any money order drawn to the order of the concerns, and directed to inform the remitter that he can have his money back. All letters, whether registered or not, intended for them are to be returned to the sender or to the Dead Letter Office marked "Fraudulent."

Volunteer Surgeon Killed by Train.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 29.—Dr. Wickliffe Smith, Surgeon of the One Hundred and Sixty-first Indiana Regiment, was killed this afternoon, together with his Cuban boy, Francisco Sousa, three miles from Delphi by a Wabash train. On account of the cold weather they were bundled up so they did not hear the train. Both were instantly killed.

Dr. Smith was one of the best-known men in the State. James Whitcomb Riley, the poet, said of him to-night: "Wickliffe Smith was brave almost to rashness and generous to a fault. His death will bring sadness to many hearts, but no one will lament him more sincerely than I."

Another Montana Mining Suit.

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 29.—The Boston and Montana Mining Company to-day brought suit in the District Court against the Montana Ore Purchasing Company, to recover $600,000 value of ore alleged to have been taken from veins of the Pennsylvania claim by the defendant concern in the last four years. This is looked upon as another phase of the big controversy between the two companies which was decided by the District Court yesterday in favor of the Montana Ore Purchasing Company.

Illinois Republicans in Conference.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 29.—Prominent Republicans from all parts of the State attended the annual love feast, held here today under the auspices of the State Central Committee. For Governor the names of Elbridge G. Hanecy of Chicago, Walter Reeves of Streator, and Richard Yates of Jacksonville were presented. Congressman Lorimer pledged the support of the entire Cook County delegation to Judge Hanecy.

Ex-Congressman Griffin Dead.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Dec. 29.—Ex-Congressman Michael Griffin, head of the State Tax Commission, died suddenly this evening of apoplexy in his office. Mr. Griffin had been mentioned frequently of late as a candidate for Governor. He served in the last Congress.

SHIPPING AND FOREIGN MAILS.

Miniature Almanac—This Day.

A. M.		P. M.		A. M.
Sun rises	7:24	Sun sets	4:42	Moon rises 5:27

High Water This Day.

A. M.		A. M.		A. M.
S. Hook	5:25	Gov. Isl'd	5:44	H. Gate 7:40
P. M.		P. M.		P. M.
S. Hook	5:54	Gov. Isl'd	6:06	H. Gate 8:02

Outgoing Steamships.

TO-DAY, (SATURDAY,) DEC. 30.

	Mails Close.	Vessels Sail.
Adirondack, Jamaica	10:00 A. M.	12:00 M.
	*10:30 A. M.
Anchoria, Glasgow	10:00 A. M.	12:00 M.
Andes, Haiti	10:00 A. M.	12:00 M.
	*10:30 A. M.
Campania, Liverpool	10:30 A. M.	2:00 P. M.
	*12:00 M.
Maasdam, Rotterdam	8:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
Menominee, London	9:00 A. M.	9:00 A. M.
Mexico, Havana	11:00 A. M.	1:00 P. M.
Miramar, La Plata	10:00 A. M.	12:00 M.
	*10:30 A. M.
New York, San Domingo	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
	*1:30 P. M.
Werra, Naples	9:00 A. M.	11:00 A. M.
Yarmouth, Nuevitas	12:30 P. M.	3:00 P. M.

SUNDAY, DEC. 31.

Cearance, Barbados and Para	5:00 A. M.	9:00 A. M.

TUESDAY, JAN. 2.

Algonquin, Jacksonville		3:00 P. M.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 3.

Alamo, Galveston		3:00 P. M.
Finance, Colon	9:30 A. M.	1:00 P. M.
	*10:30 A. M.
Furst Bismarck, Naples	9:00 A. M.	12:00 M.
Kensington, Antwerp	10:30 A. M.	12:00 M.
New York, Southampton	7:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
	*9:00 A. M.
Orizaba, Havana	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
Spartan Prince, Naples	11:00 A. M.	.....
U. S. transport, San Juan	10:30 A. M.	.....

THURSDAY, JAN. 4.

Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, Bremen	6:30 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
La Normandie, Havre	6:30 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
Madiana, Bermuda	12:30 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
Pomeranian, Glasgow	.....	.....

*SUPPLEMENTARY MAILS.—Additional supplementary mails are opened on the piers of the American, English, French, and German steamers and remain open until within ten minutes of the hour of sailing.

TRANSPACIFIC MAILS.

Mails for China, Japan, and the Philippine Islands, via Tacoma, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Dec. 30, inclusive, for dispatch per steamship City of London. Mails for Australia, (except West Australia, which goes via Europe, and New Zealand, which goes via San Francisco,) Hawaii, and Fiji Islands, via Vancouver, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Dec. 30, inclusive, for dispatch per steamship Aorangi. Mails for Hawaii, China, Japan, and the Philippine Islands, via San Francisco, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Jan. 1, inclusive, for dispatch per steamship Gaelic.

Registered mail closes at 6 P. M. previous day.

Incoming Steamships.

TO-DAY, (SATURDAY,) DEC. 30.

Arkansas, Copenhagen, Dec. 9.
Caribbee, St. Kitts, Dec. 23.
Hubert, Barbados, Dec. 16.
La Grande Duchesse, Savannah, Dec. 21.
Matanzas, Havana, Dec. 25.
Othello, Hull, Dec. 17.
Pennsylvania, Hamburg, Dec. 18.
Phoenicia, Hamburg, Dec. 17.
St. Louis, Southampton, Dec. 23.
San Marcos, Galveston, Dec. 20.
Thingvalla, Christiansand, Dec. 16.
Tropea, Shields, Dec. 15.
Wineland, Shields, Dec. 10.

SUNDAY, DEC. 31.

Algonquin, Jacksonville, Dec. 28.
Cufic, Liverpool, Dec. 21.
Drummond, Gibraltar, Dec. 15.
Kansas City, Savannah, Dec. 28.
La Normandie, Havre, Dec. 23.
Nicolai II., Stettin, Dec. 16.
Orizaba, Havana, Dec. 27.

MONDAY, JAN. 1.

Caracas, La Guayra, Dec. 24.
El Sud, New Orleans, Dec. 27.
Exeter City, Bristol, Dec. 17.
Massapequa, Leith, Dec. 18.
Victoria, Gibraltar, Dec. 18.

TUESDAY, JAN. 2.

Hindoo, Hull, Dec. 20.
Noordland, Antwerp, Dec. 28.
Tauric, Liverpool, Dec. 23.
Werkendam, Rotterdam, Dec. 21.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 3.

Algiers, New Orleans, Dec. 28.
A. R. Thorpe, Curacao, Dec. 25.
Athos, Colon, Dec. 27.
Barcelona, Hamburg, Dec. 20.
Burgundia, Gibraltar, Dec. 20.
Concho, Galveston, Dec. 28.
Ems, Gibraltar, Dec. 25.
Hortensius, Liverpool, Dec. 19.
Hudson, New Orleans, Dec. 28.
Powdernam, La Lucia, Dec. 26.
Wells City, Swansea, Dec. 19.

THURSDAY, JAN. 4.

European, London, Dec. 21.
Europa, Shields, Dec. 21.
Massapequa, Dundee, Dec. 21.
Thomas Turnbull, Gibraltar, Dec. 21.
Winifred, Hamburg, Dec. 21.

Arrived.

SS Marengo, (Br.,) Bingham, Newcastle Dec. 9, with mdse. to Sanderson & Son. Arrived at the Bar at 4:30 P. M.

SS (supposed) Bristol City, (Br.,) from Bristol Dec. 14 and Swansea 17th, with mdse. to James Arkell & Co. South of Fire Island at 12:52 A. M., 30th.

SS Lackawanna, (Br.,) Whyte, Barrow Dec. 16, in ballast to Philip Ruprecht. Arrived at the Bar at 9:17 P. M.

SS Hugin, (Nor.,) Tornebo, Progreso Dec. 20, with mdse. to W. D. Munson. Arrived at the Bar at 6 A. M.

SS Ardanrose, (Br.,) Smith, Havana Dec. 24, in ballast to W. D. Munson. Arrived at the Bar at 11:30

The Wanamaker Store.

More of the Club Vellum Writing Paper is here. More selling space—Fifth floor now. Paper, 10c a pound; envelopes, 15c a hundred.

Brooklyn Bridge Would Fall

were it not for the anchorage that holds it to the shores. Deep down—the something back of it that makes for strength and endurance.

Foundations are necessary for structures, and for businesses, if they are to depend on the support of sensible people and not on the hope that the crop of passers-by shall be large and made up of thoughtless folks.

The modern store—the Wanamaker store—belongs to Its Public. Its profits are practically a fair brokerage for the service rendered. It is anchored to your regard by the four-strand cable of right, fixed prices — right qualities careful service — freedom of exchange

And this cable shall not be weakened by the abrasion of deception or cut by betrayal of your confidence.

In this year of 1899 you have given us a larger volume of business than ever—the store's fiscal New Year comes on February first, so we do not talk of closed books. But the bigger business has been carried on more comfortably than was the smaller—the store has gathered business muscle. It can hold more; can accomplish more.

The promise for the New Year is for still better service. It is based on the performance of the years that are gone. And now—

A Happy, Prosperous New Year

Men's Overcoats As lots lessen now we shall not renew them. Would you? We'd rather close out the lessened piles at a loss. Hence

$8.50 for $10 and $12 Overcoats of blue or black kersey.
$12 for the $15 ones.

Then we've full, fine lines of Overcoats—made of the scarce and favored Oxford-gray cheviots—at $20, $25 and up to $38.

And Sedan Montagnac Overcoats, sumptuously finished, at $55.

Second floor, Fourth avenue

Men's Shirts Half price! How do we know it? Because we have shirts exactly like them at one dollar while we shall sell this two thousand at fifty cents

No, we shall not mark down those we owned before these came. You'll pay the fair price if you don't catch some of this fugitive lot.

The shirts are made of figured percale—nine styles and each style in three different colors. That makes twenty-seven styles in reality.

All have detachable link cuffs.

This is very clearly store news: we've regular stock to-day—will have regular stock in the days ahead. You buy when you please at $1. You may buy to-day at 50c.

Maker's loss.

Ninth street side.

Umbrellas—High-Grade Low-Priced Men's and women's umbrellas. All sorts of elegant handles, and all of fine, dependable silks. There's been almost phenomenal selling here this month, and some incomplete lines are the result. We don't want that condition. Reduced prices to close—and to help you to a New Year's gift at a much-less-than-usual outlay.

At $3—A lot of 26 and 28-in. umbrellas of fine quality—values up to $5.
At $3.75—None in this group can be duplicated at the price.
And at $5—Many exceptionally fine umbrellas that were moderately marked at $7.

Broadway.

Two Attractive Glove Offerings for Women First—Women's Evening Gloves at 75c a pair. They're the usual $2 to $3.25 kinds. 12, 16 and 20-button lengths; pearl, mode, yellow, straw, pink and tan.

Second—Two-clasp Russian lamb gloves—look like an excellent quality of kid. Mode, tan, gray, browns, red and white. A good $1 value. Price, 75c.

Tenth street.

Walking Sticks How about a fine Congo stick, with sterling silver cap, at 50c?

Or this walking stick at $2. Vienna sends us this new style. It has a sterling silver crook. The vogue among military officers abroad.

Broadway.

A Special Shoe Sale

Eighteen hundred and seventy-three pairs of Men's $3.50 Shoes (and better) are to be sold at $2.30. Here is the list—

1,106 pairs of Box-calf—calfskin finished grain side out under a patented process. Much liked.
358 pairs of Enameled Leather Shoes.
233 pairs of Patent Leather Shoes.
176 pairs of black Kidskin Shoes.

Add them up—1,873 pairs—and by the standard of material, work and style they are worth fully half as much again as we ask. This shoe store annex, on fifth floor, is constantly springing pleasant surprises.

Further: Two hundred and eighty-six pairs of $3.50 and $4 Russet Shoes for Men at $1.75—because Fashion is less kind to the color.

Boys' $2 Russet Shoes at $1—sizes 12 to 5½.

Women's Shoes at $1—but just to close out lots we shall not replace. Broken sizes, but not all sizes in the lot.

Fifth floor.

Boys' Clothing Two hundred boys can slip into cute and warm little Overcoats to-day—and you'll have only $5 to pay for the garment. All-wool Frieze—navy blue or Oxford-gray. The nearest to them—in style and goodness—are a dollar and a half more. But we shall not raise prices while these hold out. $5. For ages 4 to 16.

Boys' Middy Suits, neatly trimmed—reduced to hurry out lots—$5. They were $7 to $8.50.
3-piece Suits for boys of 9 to 16—suits of fancy cheviot, $5 instead of $6.50.

Second floor, Fourth avenue

Men's Garters Of fancy web or in plain colors—three pairs in a box. That's the way we bought them. We shall sell three pairs (a boxful) for 25c, which is cheap. Now, isn't it?

Men's Goods—Ninth street side.

Candy News The steamship "St. Paul" has brought us the last winter shipment of Conserved Fruits from France. In the original wooden boxes, the five pounds are sold for $1.50. We have seen little as fine as ours, though higher prices have been quite general—the first crop was almost a failure.

Vanilla Marshmallows, 18c a pound.
Nougat or Mints or Caramels or Almonds or Eclairs—coated with chocolate—20c lb.

Basement.

Quadruple Plate Candelabra This is an especially well chosen line — the best shapes and designs, from the best known makers. Three, four or five lights; $3 to $5.25 for the plain; $5. to $7.50 for the chased candelabra. In the octagonal shape, with beaded decoration, plain, $4.75 to $6.75; in octagonal shape, fluted, $6.75 to $9.

All the needed fittings, of course.
Many pretty paper shades at 50c and upward.
The patented candle lamp, 75c.

Basement.

Cardigan Jackets Imported! To-day less than half price. Why? Too warm for too many people—but they are the ideal between-garment for men who must be out doors a great deal.

Been $5 and $6—and worth those prices.

Reduced to $2

Men's Goods, Ninth street side.

Chafing Dishes A bachelor friend, New Year's day, a chafing dish! See the relation? There's a new collection here to-day. Quadruple plate. Some handsome plain ones at $10—with beaded and rococo designs, at $12 and upward.

Basement.

Toys, Sleds, Music Boxes, Smoking Tables

Reduced prices throughout the stocks—reduced in such manner that will make coming for them to-day well worth while. Mechanical toys, for instance. Just a dozen pieces that were $25 to $50—choose quickly at $10.

Many other toys are half-priced—Dolls' Houses, Toy Stables, Desks, Bureaus, Drums and so on.
Strong, pretty Sleds that sold at 75c to $2 are now 49c to $1.40.
Novelty Music Boxes at 50c instead of $1.
Swiss Music Boxes at $18 instead of $50, and up to $300 instead of $400.
A few Smoking Tables, conveniently arranged, and ornamental, too—they're $1 to $7, though regularly $2 to $15.

Basement.

JOHN WANAMAKER

Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co., Broadway, 4th ave., 9th and 10th Sts., N. Y.

GOVERNMENT OF COLONIES

The Economic Association Committee Makes Suggestions.

CHINESE SHOULD BE ADMITTED

Administration of Finances Should Be for Dependency's Benefit—No Uniform System Possible.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, Dec. 29.—The Committee on Colonies of the American Economic Association submitted a preliminary report at to-day's meeting of the association. The committee as constituted a year ago consisted of Jeremiah W. Jenks, Charles S. Hamlin, Prof. E. R. A. Seligman, Dr. Albert Shaw, and Prof. E. H. Strobel. Prof. Strobel withdrew from the committee last Summer on account of a European trip.

The committee, upon the basis of its preliminary studies of the experiences of other countries, offers the following general suggestions:

First. The finances of each colony should be managed exclusively for the sake of the colony and for its development, and not for the advantage of the mother country.

Second. No uniform system of detailed fiscal management for a number of colonies in different parts of the world can be established. Each colony must be considered by itself and its system must be adapted to its conditions.

Third. Each colony should, as far as possible, be made self-supporting; but the mother country may well sustain the colony's credit or make advances to be repaid at a later date.

Fourth. In undeveloped colonies whose inhabitants are not capable of managing important public works such as railways, canals, telegraph systems, &c., these improvements may well be owned by the Government and managed by Government officials rather than by private companies.

Fifth. The selection of sources of revenue must in each case be determined in accordance with the economic and social conditions of the colony.

Sixth. Where the colony is so situated that the development of trade with foreign countries is the chief economic consideration, import duties should be very low or practically non-existent.

Seventh. In colonies of undeveloped economic resources the chief reliance for general Government income should be on a system of internal revenue taxes. Excise duties should be levied primarily on a few articles of general consumption, like alcoholic drinks, opium, and rice. When any colony has decided advantages in the production of some specially favored commodities like sugar, tobacco, hemp, &c., it may be desirable to impose business licenses or similar duties on them. It is even a question whether low export duties on such commodities may not advantageously be employed in exceptional cases.

Eighth. It is undesirable to utilize an octroi or a system of taxes on consumption for local purposes. Local revenue should, in most cases, be derived in a large measure from real estate, business licenses, and graded specific taxes.

Ninth. In the administration of fiscal affairs natives, wherever possible, should be utilized as officials. It should be fully understood, however, that in the last resort the desires of the United States Government, expressed by the proper authority, are to be paramount and its decisions final.

Tenth. As long as any of the colonies have not attained modern industrial conditions, it may be advisable to continue as far as may be possible native customs during the period of transition. For example: It is quite possible that for some time to come the system of farming out the revenue to contractors, especially to native chiefs, should be retained.

Eleventh. For the proper administration of the fiscal system in any of the dependencies of the United States it is absolutely essential to establish a civil service which is beyond question as respects the ability and honesty of its personnel.

Twelfth. In those dependencies where it is difficult to secure an adequate supply of efficient native labor, the question of the admission of foreign laborers should be seriously considered. While there may be sufficient justification for the exclusion of Chinese workmen from the United States, it by no means follows that they should be excluded from the Philippines.

At the closing session to-day the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Richard T. Ely, University of Wisconsin, to succeed Arthur T. Hadley of Yale; Vice Presidents—Stuart Wood, W. Z. Ripley, and David Kinley; Secretary and Treasurer—Charles H. Hull of Cornell.

The next meeting of the association will be held at Detroit, in December, 1900, in conjunction with the meeting of the American Historical Association.

PULLMAN INJUNCTION CASE.

Chicago Court Enters an Order To-day, but It Is Said Transfer Will Have Been Made.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Judicial ruling on the petition for an injunction to restrain the merging of the Wagner Palace Car Company and the Pullman Palace Car Company will be had to-morrow, when Judge Tuthill will pass on the motion for the issuance of a temporary injunction. Before that time the transfer of the stock of the Pullman Palace Car Company in payment for the assets of the Wagner Palace Car Company may be effected, as the court refused to enter any order in the case.

Attorneys for both sides made extended arguments this afternoon, but the court refused to issue any order before 10 o'clock in the morning, and before that time, it is understood, the transfer will have been made and the matter will be beyond the reach of a restraining order.

SHREVEPORT STEAMER BURNED.

Crew Swam for Shore—Five Negroes Burned or Drowned.

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 29.—The steamer Linda of Shreveport burned to the water's edge and sank off Vanceville, on the Red River, to-day.

The officers and crew were compelled to take to the water and swim for shore, as it was impossible to run the boat ashore when the fire was discovered. Five negro rousters from Shreveport were either burned or drowned.

HOUGH GUILTY OF MURDER.

Slayer of Harry Chadwick Sentenced to Prison for Life.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Dec. 29.—The jury in the case of Joseph A. Hough, who has been on trial for the past two weeks here on a charge alleging the murder of Harry Chadwick, returned a verdict soon after 4 o'clock this afternoon, after deliberations lasting four and a half hours.

Hough is found guilty of murder in the second degree.

Judge Wheeler then sentenced the prisoner to State prison for life. Attorney Culver, the senior counsel for Hough, gave notice that he would file a motion for arrest of judgment, and Judge Wheeler will hold a special session of court Jan. 6 to hear Attorney Culver's argument.

WORRY DROVE HIM INSANE.

Coast Inspector Hait of Patchogue Feared Loss of His Office.

PATCHOGUE, L. I., Dec. 29.—Coast Inspector Myron C. Hait has become insane. It is said that worrying over reports that efforts were being made to have him removed from his position caused him to lose his mind. On Sunday afternoon he attempted suicide by taking paris green. Drs. Bennett and Terry examined Mr. Hait, and ordered his removal to an asylum. He was taken there last evening.

Hait was appointed by President McKinley. It had been his ambition to obtain the place for many years. He was a leading merchant of Patchogue, and a prominent Republican. He has a wife and five children. His friends say there is no truth in the report that efforts were being made to get him out of the office.

New Name for Thompson Street Block.

The Board of Aldermen yesterday adopted an ordinance changing the name of Thompson Street between West Third Street and Washington Square South to Judson Place. The name is derived from the fact that the Judson Memorial Church stands at the corner of Washington Square South and Thompson Street.

Erie County Not to be Divided.

BUFFALO, Dec. 29.—The proposition to divide Erie County is dead, so far as the present Board of Supervisors is concerned. John W. Fisher, to whom the matter was referred under the terms of the resolution, says that there is not enough time left during the life of the present board to carry the matter through.

Convicted of Murder in Camden.

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 29.—Francesco Abbatto, whose trial for the murder of Garrano de Feo has been in progress here since Wednesday, was to-day found guilty of murder in the first degree. The crime was committed on the night of April 22.

CONFESSES TO SAVE OTHERS.

Reilly Swears He Committed an Assault for Which Three Men Awaited Sentence.

The opportune appearance and confession of Charles Reilly, a waiter, yesterday morning, in Part II. of the Court of General Sessions, saved three men from a possible term of three years' imprisonment. The men who escaped sentence for a crime they never committed are James Kiernan of 167 Seventh Avenue, John Gallagher of 313 Third Avenue, and John Toohill of the same address. They had all been waiters together with Reilly in O'Neill's restaurant, at Sixth Avenue and Twenty-second Street.

In September of 1897 there was a strike in O'Neill's restaurant, in which most of the waiters were concerned. Charles Cedarlof of 151 Madison Street, who was the head waiter, refused to strike, and became especially obnoxious to the strikers.

On Sept. 13, 1897, he was assaulted as he was leaving the restaurant, and was struck with some heavy object on the head. He was found, unconscious, on the sidewalk, with his head badly crused; and he subsequently lost the sight of one of his eyes. Kiernan, Toohill, and Gallagher were arrested on suspicion of having assaulted him with a large weight, which was found on the sidewalk beside him.

After a long delay, the accused men were arraigned before Judge Blanchard, in Part II. of General Sessions. Their defense was an alibi. They were convicted of assault and held for sentence yesterday.

Judge Blanchard, who had bade his official farewell to the Court of General Sessions on Thursday, and had returned to deliver this sentence, yesterday, was entering the courtroom when he was met by an excited man who told him that he was going to sentence three innocent men. The Judge paid little attention to the man—Reilly—until he said that he himself had assaulted Cedarlof with a stone.

After a conference with the Judge in his chamber, Reilly was led into court, placed upon the witness stand, and directed to tell his story.

He said that he had been a waiter in the restaurant in question, and had a grudge against Cedarlof because he had reported him to the proprietor for an alleged infringement of rules.

"I caught Cedarlof as he was leaving the restaurant," said he, "and struck him with a stone on the head. After that I went to Michigan, and did not hear anything about the case until I returned to New York, a week ago. When I heard that innocent men were being tried for the crime I had committed, I went to court and listened to the trial. When the men were convicted I tried to speak to the Judge, but was unable to get near him. When I called at his house he was out, so I waited for him in court this morning."

The three prisoners, who had been standing at the rail waiting for their sentence, were discharged in $2,000 bail each, and Reilly was placed under arrest.

MAGICIAN FOOLED THE POLICE.

Slipped His Hands and Feet Out of Handcuffs and Shackles.

Chief Devery has the utmost confidence in the detective force, and ordinarily would back them for any amount in a bout at cleverness with the best magicians. But he was considerably taken back yesterday, and so were Detective Sergeant Clark and some of the members of the detective force, by the performance of a man who paid him a visit.

It was the object of the magician to show the detectives how easily he could slip from shackles and handcuffs, and he accomplished his object before he left Police Headquarters. Sergt. Clark fastened on the magician's wrist a pair of the newest handcuffs, and over these he snapped another pair of wristlets. The man's ankles also were bound firmly with leg irons, and he was taken into a side room. To the astonishment of the detectives he opened the door of the room a few seconds later and walked out entirely free. The locks of the handcuffs and shackles were still fastened, so the man's hands and feet must have slipped through.

The magician would not give his name, but explained before leaving that the trick was accomplished through muscular expansion and contraction.

DEPOSITS IN NEW YORK BANKS.

Mr. Gage Thinks They Have Lost Over $10,000,000, Due to Check Charges.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Being a constant reader of your paper and somewhat interested in money matters in your city, I would like to ask through the columns of your paper for the views of some one competent to speak upon the subject. What has been the influence on close money, or tight money, of the action of the associated banks of New York last Spring in ordering a charge of 10 cents per hundred on all checks from outside banks passing through the Clearing House? Have not the deposits of the associated banks shrunk thus depriving them of money they should have had to accommodate borrowers? And have not deposits of the banks in Boston, Philadelphia, Albany, and other cities increased? I know of some country banks that have opened accounts in these cities and do the collecting and keep the balances there, or part of them, that they formerly kept with their New York correspondent.

W. H. FOX.

Mannsville, N. Y., Dec. 22, 1899.

When Secretary of the Treasury Gage was in the city on Saturday last he talked with a number of local bankers on this very subject, and as a result gave it as his opinion that the falling off in deposits in New York banks due to the check charge had since the adoption of the new rule amounted to between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000. In proportion, naturally, to the decrease here the deposits in other cities have increased.

CUT HIS THROAT IN A HOTEL.

Olaf Sundstrom, Lately in the Music Trade, a Suicide.

Olaf Sundstrom, thirty-five years old, who until a few months ago was connected with the A. Steinart & Sons Company, dealers in musical instruments at 162 Boylston Street, Boston, committed suicide yesterday by cutting his throat with a razor, in his room at the Grand Union Hotel. Sundstrom was for several years in the employ of the Aeolian Company in this city, later entering the employ of the Boston house as manager of the Aeolian department. He retired from business altogether six months ago, owing to an attack of nervous prostration, and went to Highlands, Ulster County, with his family. Since that time his business friends had seen little or nothing of him.

He registered at the Grand Union Hotel on Tuesday, and was assigned to Room 397, on the third floor. He had a small amount of baggage with him. His subsequent movements attracted no attention about the hotel. He was in the habit of sleeping rather late. At 8 o'clock yesterday morning a chambermaid knocked on his door, and he told her he was not ready to arise. At 3:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon it was noticed that his blinds were drawn, the transom was closed, and a light was burning. Andrew Monahan, a porter, and Dr. Billings, the hotel physician, forced the door and found Sundstrom lying on the floor dead. His throat had been cut, and beside him lay a bloody razor. The man was partially dressed. Dr. Billings decided that he had been dead two or three hours.

Besides his watch and chain and some jewelry, there was found in the man's pockets $375 in cash and a check for $50, payable to Olaf Sundstrom and indorsed by William H. Sundstrom. The check was drawn on the Mechanics' National Bank of Boston. There were also several letters addressed to Sundstrom at Highlands, in care of A. W. Williams. The Coroner took charge of the body and effects. It was later identified by a former business associate of the dead man, who said that Sundstrom had undoubtedly killed himself while temporarily insane.

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—When Olaf Sundstrom, who committed suicide in New York to-day, left this city last July it was understood that he was to enter the employ of the Aeolian Company of London. His former employers here say he was a man of excellent character. He leaves a wife and two children.

DOREMUS A MURDERER?

Wanderer from Montclair, N. J., Says He Killed a Man in New York.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 29.—Thoron A. Doremus, the elderly man who wandered away from Montclair, N. J., and was found in a lodging house in this city in a demented condition, was to-day taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital by members of the Royal Arcanum here.

His relatives have been heard from and are inquiring after him. To-day his dementia took a new turn, and he insists that he murdered a man in New York City and is trying to escape.

DEWEY IS NOT TO LEAD

White House Programme Places Miles Ahead of Him.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Secretary Porter to-day gave out the programme for the New Year's reception at the White House. It is as follows:

The President will receive:

11 A. M.—The members of the Cabinet, the Diplomatic Corps.

11:15 A. M.—The Chief Justice and the Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, the Judges of the United States Court of Claims, the Judges of the Court of Appeals, the Judges of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, ex-Cabinet members and ex-Ministers of the United States.

11:25 A. M.—Senators, Representatives, and Delegates in Congress, the Commissioners and judicial officers of the District of Columbia.

11:40 A. M.—Officers of the army, officers of the navy, officers of the Marine Corps, commanding General and general staff of the militia of the District of Columbia.

12 M.—The Regents and Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, the Commissioner of Fisheries, the Civil Service Commisson, the Inter-State Commerce Commission, the Commissioner of Labor, Assistant Secretaries of Departments, Assistant Postmaster General, the Solicitor General, Assistant Attorneys General, the Treasurer of the United States, Commissioner of Pensions, Commissioner of Patents, Controller of the Currency, the heads of bureaus in the several departments, the President of the Columbian Institute for the Deaf and Dumb.

12:15 P. M.—The Associated Veterans of the War of 1846-7, the Grand Army of the Republic, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, the Union Veteran Legion, Spanish war veterans, the members of the Oldest Inhabitants' Association of the District of Columbia.

12:35 P. M.—Reception of citizens, which will terminate at 1:30 P. M.

This programme is accepted as settling all questions of precedence at official receptions of the three branches of the military service—the army, the navy, and the Marine Corps.

According to the programme the departments rank in the order named, thus adhering to the custom established many years ago of placing them in line according to seniority of organization. Although the order in this year's programme is the same as it was in last year's programme and those of previous years, it differs from all its predecessors in that it specifies in order "officers of the army, officers of the navy, officers of the Marine Corps," &c., whereas in all previous programmes the same order was maintained under the general statement of "officers of the army, navy, and Marine Corps."

Therefore, if Major Gen. Miles, the head of the army, and Admiral Dewey, the head of the navy, pay their respects to the President as Commander in Chief of the army and navy, on New Year's Day, they will take their places in line in the order named—one at the head of the military branch and the other at the head of the naval. Inasmuch as women have no place in the line with the army, navy, or Marine Corps, no question will arise on that occasion as between Mrs. Miles and Mrs. Dewey.

Admiral Dewey's Popularity.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—A straw that shows the popular sentiment toward Dewey is that the rush of new Post Offices to secure his name is still going on, although there is no longer any demand for the names of the other war heroes. Deweys are still in fashion, and one was established only to-day in South Dakota on the heels of one yesterday in Wisconsin.

CHARGES AGAINST GALLINGER.

Senator Chandler Appears as a Witness Before Grand Jury.

CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 29.—Senator William E. Chandler appeared as a witness to-day in the Grand Jury hearing of charges of civil service law violation against Senator Jacob H. Gallinger. He went before the Grand Jury at noon and testified for an hour.

Secretary Hoyt of the Republican State Committee testified this afternoon. The missing witness, John H. Walker, Senator Gallinger's secretary, has not yet been located.

District Attorney Hamblett said to-day that the case would not be closed until Walker's testimony has been heard, and the hearing was adjourned this afternoon until next Monday.

TRIED TO ROB A STREET CAR.

Passengers Open Fire and Kill One of Two Masked Men.

SEATTLE, Washington, Dec. 29.—In an attempt to rob a Ballard street car late last night a highwayman was shot and killed. There were eight passengers aboard when two men wearing masks boarded the car, one at the front and the other at the rear. One of the passengers named Plimpton opened fire on the highwayman entering the car from the rear, and three shots were returned. One broke Plimpton's arm and the other entered his breast.

A passenger standing on the front platform also took a hand in the shooting and fired on the robber at the front end of the car. At the first shot the robber on the front reeled from the car and fled to the woods.

After the firing on the rear end ceased, the second robber took to the woods. Bullets passed through the clothing of two other passengers. The highwaymen secured nothing.

Shortly after midnight the police found near the scene the body of one of the robbers. He had been killed by a bullet from a passenger's pistol. The body is still unidentified.

GRAND JURY'S PRESENTMENT.

Criticism of Proceedings in the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Case.

An examination of the presentment handed in by the Grand Jury on Thursday after the Brooklyn Rapid Transit investigation shows that it had been the subject of several changes. Besides several erasures and interlineations, one whole paragraph was crossed out. This paragraph read:

"We are satisfied that the law relating to this subject has been violated."

The striking out of this paragraph was evidently done in haste and at the last moment, but none of those who were concerned in the presentment will tell why it was inserted or why it was stricken out. None of the members of the District Attorney's staff would talk for publication yesterday in regard to the action of the five jurors who put themselves on record as protesting against an indictment. One Assistant District Attorney said that, in his opinion, the matter would not warrant any official notice being taken of it, and that, while the protesting jurors had certainly violated the law, he thought that their action would pass unnoticed. Several other lawyers said that the whole proceeding was strange enough to warrant an investigation by the next Grand Jury.

Live Stock Men to Meet.

Special to The New York Times.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Dec. 29.—The commercial features of the live stock business will be one of the subjects to receive attention at the annual meeting of the National Live Stock Association, to be held here in January. An effort will be made to secure from the Department of Agriculture at Washington treatment similar to that now accorded to wheat, corn, and other agricultural staples, so that the supply and the conditions affecting it may be known at all times from reliable reports. It is likely that Senator Vest's bill to create a separate bureau of live stock in the department will be indorsed. Delegates from twenty-five States and prominent men from other countries will be present.

James Rock Found by His Father.

YONKERS, Dec. 29.—James Rock, the four-year-old boy, who was taken away from his home Christmas Day by Charles Fuller, a friend of the Rock family, was found in Harlem to-day by his father, quietly sleeping at the house of a Mrs. Molloy. Fuller called at the Rock house Christmas Day, and when he left for New York the boy accompanied him. Mrs. Molloy told Mr. Rock that Fuller brought the boy to her house, and as Fuller was intoxicated she took the child and cared for it.

San Francisco to Issue Bonds.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—A special election was held in this city to-day upon the question of issuing bonds in the sum of $6,750,000 for the purpose of building new schoolhouses, a new hospital, and a new sewer system. The bonds carried by a large majority. On Tuesday last it was voted to issue bonds for $4,500,000 for a new park system.

SHOT WIFE FOR A BURGLAR.

Prof. Alfred Morrison of Mount Vernon Fired Without Warning, and the Woman Is Likely to Die.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Dec. 29.—Alfred Morrison, a professor of languages, awakened suddenly early to-day and mistook his wife for a burglar. Without waiting to call out, he fired. The bullet took effect, and Mrs. Morrison is in a critical condition, and probably will die. Mrs. Morrison exonerates her husband from all blame, and he is almost insane from grief. He has not been arrested, and it is not likely that he will be.

Prof. and Mrs. Morrison live at 235 South Tenth Street. He has among his pupils the children of wealthy residents of this city, Larchmont, New Rochelle, and other places along the Sound. Mrs. Morrison is about thirty years of age. All accounts agree that their home life was happy.

The Morrisons retired early last night. Prof. Morrison awakened about 1 A. M. and heard some one walking about in a room adjoining his. As he started up he saw a figure pass across the open doorway. There was no light in either room. Without saying a word he took his revolver from beneath his pillow and fired. There was a scream, and then the heavy fall of a body to the floor. Prof. Morrison immediately recognized the voice as that of his wife. As she fell she exclaimed, "Oh, Alfred, you have shot me." Prof. Morrison leaped out of bed and ran to his wife's side, but before he reached her she had become unconscious.

Coroner Banning and Drs. Jones, Ferris, and Shipman were sent for. The doctors succeeded in stopping the flow of blood, and in restoring Mrs. Morrison to consciousness. She made a statement to the Coroner to the effect that the shooting was purely accidental. She said she had arisen to look after her little child, who was not well, and was approaching the door to enter the room where her husband was when he fired. She said that her husband had been worried about burglars.

The bullet entered Mrs. Morrison's right arm and passed through it and into the body just below the right lung, finally lodging in the abdomen. Mrs. Morrison is very weak, and has lost so much blood, that the attending physicians fear to resort to an operation that presents the only hope of saving her life.

A short time ago an overcoat was stolen from Prof. Morrison. He complained to Chief of Police Foley and purchased a 44-calibre revolver. This he kept under his pillow, and he often remarked to his wife that any burglar who entered the house would meet a warm reception. He became possessed of the idea that the man who stole the overcoat had taken a plan of the house, and would return to rob it.

MR. DAWES DISCUSSES TRUSTS.

Controller Says Republican Party Will Protect the People—Speaks of the Philippine Policy.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 29.—Charles G. Dawes, Controller of the Currency, made a speech at the Republican State love feast in the Assembly Hall to-day, which was regarded by many as outlining the policy of the Administration on two points, the Philippine policy and the attitude of the Republican Party toward trusts. Speaking on trusts, Mr. Dawes said it was the duty of the Republican Party to conserve public interests. Wherever trusts proved themselves inimical to the public welfare, they must be restrained and controlled, and if necessary laws passed that would so much encourage active competition as to bring about the disintegration of the trusts.

"Rather than have in the hands of any corporation the power to absolutely fix the price of a necessity of life at an arbitrary figure, the people of the United States will eventually and rightfully do one of two things," said Mr. Dawes. "They will enact legislation for the absolute protection of the people from extortion by Governmental regulation more or less extended as public necessities may require, or they will enact legislation for the enforced creation of competition by the disintegration of trusts. With nothing less than one of these two things will or should the people of this country be satisfied."

Mr. Dawes spoke at some length on the Philippine situation, asserting that encouragement received from anti-imperialists had much to do with the prolongation of the war. He said President McKinley would refuse to be turned from his course in regard to the Philippines by the protests of anti-imperialists.

WINDOW GLASS PLANTS START UP

Forty-four Factories, with 1,700 Pots, Go Into Operation in Indiana.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., Dec. 29.—To-night at 12 o'clock forty-four window-glass factories, representing 1,700 pots, of the American Window Glass Company go into operation. These plants, which have been idle since last June, will furnish employment to 15,000 glassworkers in this State and about 1,500 in this city, where the largest plant in Indiana is located.

The fire will be of six months' duration. While one of the shortest on record, the indications are that it will be a continuous one.

FURTHER RESPITE FOR BENHAM.

Gov. Roosevelt Made a Mistake in Naming Saturday, Feb. 10.

ALBANY, Dec. 29.—Gov. Roosevelt has extended the respite granted to Howard C. Benham to Feb. 12.

The law requires executions to be set for the week beginning on a certain day, and not on a set day, and the Governor, by naming Saturday, Feb. 10, had not complied with the law. Accordingly he changed it to the week beginning Monday, Feb. 12.

BLYTHE'S DAUGHTER MARRIED.

California Heiress Weds Deputy Attorney General of That State.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—Florence Blythe-Hinckley, heiress to several million dollars, left by her father, Thomas H. Blythe, which was awarded to her after protracted litigation, has been quietly married to A. A. Moore, Jr., Deputy Attorney General of this State.

The litigation which brought Florence Blythe into prominence came to a conclusion in her favor last April, after a fourteen years' fight in the courts. When Thomas H. Blythe died in San Francisco in 1883, his estate was valued at $5,000,000. Blythe was a name assumed when he had become naturalized in this country. He was a peddler in California in 1849 of unknown antecedents. With his small savings he purchased a piece of land in what has since become the heart of San Francisco. He subsequently became possessed of other valuable properties.

On his death many claimants appeared to prove their kinship or other right to be regarded as heirs. Several of them were English people. A number were women, who declared that he had married them.

One of the claimants was Florence Blythe, who later, in 1892, married Frederick Hinckley of Oakland, who has since died. Her mother, Mrs. Julia Ashcroft, whose maiden name was Perry, testified that she had met Blythe in London in 1873. He was at that time fifty years old. Florence was born in December of that year. He was the father. On leaving England he had settled £50 a year upon the child. He wrote to her as "My Own Little Girl" and "My Darling Child."

The United States Circuit Court in 1897 decided against her, but a stay of proceedings was secured, and her attorneys filed a petition asking that the decree be set aside. They were successful in this, and the decision by which she came into the property was reached only last April.

Buffalo Church Burned.

BUFFALO, Dec. 29.—The Church of the Annunciation, a frame structure, was burned this morning. Loss, $6,000. A new church adjoining the burned building will be completed in a few months.

An Extraordinary Number.

All interested in the condition and prospects of finance, trade, and commerce should procure a copy of THE NEW YORK TIMES of Monday, Jan. 1, which will include a thirty-two-page supplement, containing special articles from men of recognized authority on the various phases of the prevailing prosperity in all lines of business. The writers also show by a convincing array of facts and figures why prosperity has come to stay. The newspaper with the supplement will be sold at the usual price—one cent per copy. Order it in advance of your newsdealer.—Adv.

THE FOUNDATION OF HEALTH

Abbey's Salt Will Keep You Well.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt will keep your stomach, your bowels, your liver and your whole system in such perfect condition that you can practically defy disease. This is why it is called "The Foundation of Health."

Take a teaspoonful in a glass of water every morning before breakfast.

There are some people who never do anything until they have to. Don't be one of them. Take care of your health while you have it. Retain it by the daily use of Abbey's Effervescent Salt.

At druggists'. 25c., 50c. and $1 per bottle.

FREE Send two 2-ct. stamps, to pay postage and packing, and we will mail you one of the most dainty and beautiful colored calendar creations of the year.

The Abbey Effervescent Salt Co., 9–15 Murray St., New York.

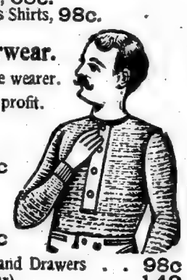
USED DAILY, GIVES HEALTH.

Kennedy

12 CORTLANDT ST.

MEN'S GLOVES.
Kid, Cape and Mocha, 98c. to $1.49.
Lined Gloves, 98c. to $3.75.
White Dress Shirts, 68c.
Percale and Madras Shirts, 98c.

Winter Underwear.
From the mill to the wearer.
No middleman's profit.



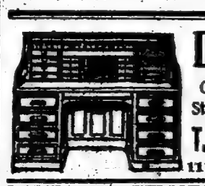
Fleece-lined Shirts and Drawers . . 49c
White Merino Shirts and Drawers . 49c
Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers . . 98c
Medicott (full regular) 1.49
Stuttgart (sanitary) 2.49

Health Food Co.'s
WHEATENA

The Best Health Food for Breakfast the Whole Year

ALL GROCERS.

BASTINE'S
Absolutely Pure and Full Weight.
FLAVORING EXTRACTS
Highest Grade Made. Ask Your Grocer.



DESKS.
Great Variety of Style and Price.
T. C. SELLEW
111 Fulton St., N.Y.

THREATENED HIS BRIDE'S LIFE.

Newark Man Drove Her from Home on Their Wedding Day.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 29.—Rocco Villanora and Lucia Reciglano were married yesterday at the City Hall by Mayor Seymour. To-day the bride wanted her husband arrested.

After the ceremony yesterday the couple went to live at 295 Morris Avenue. A wedding feast was held there. Within an hour after the guests departed the newly married pair quarreled, and the groom drove the bride from the house. This morning Mrs. Villanora called at the Prosecutor's office and complained that her husband had threatened to kill her. A little later her parents and brothers arrived and added their plaints. The young husband appeared next and gave his side. He claimed that his wife was to blame for all the trouble, but admitted that he had threatened to kill her with a knife.

The father of the bride wanted his son-in-law arrested because the latter refused to return a wedding present of $30 given by the bride's father and brother. No formal complaint was made by any one, and the bridegroom was not arrested.

More Troops Needed in Alaska.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—It may be decided to increase the number of troops in Alaska on the ground that the constantly increasing population demands additional protection. Reports reaching the departments indicate that the rush next year to Alaska, especially to Cape Nome, will be large. It is probable that one or more additional posts will be established at Cape Nome, but none of the details has yet been worked out.

Clark Fabric Company to Dissolve.

FONDA, N. Y., Dec. 29.—Papers were filed in the County Clerk's office to-day in friendly proceedings for the voluntary dissolution of the Clark Fabric Company of Sydney, N. Y. Joseph H. Clark has been appointed temporary receiver, and will conduct the business without interruption.

IMPROVING THE HIGHWAYS

State Engineer Bond Reports on the Work Already Done.

SOME PROGRESS BEING MADE

Recommendation Will Be Made to the Legislature for the Maintenance of Good Roads by Counties.

ALBANY, Dec. 29.—State Engineer and Surveyor Edward A. Bond, in his annual report to the Legislature, will touch on the improvement of highways at some length. He will say:

"The improvement of highways under the provisions of the Higbie-Armstrong act of 1898 constitutes an important part of the duties of the State Engineer, and is one which attracts much public interest. The State has appropriated $100,000 in all with which to pay for one-half the cost of such roads as are improved under the provisions of the law. This sum is small in proportion to the amounts appropriated by the States of Massachusetts and New Jersey, but with it contracts have been made for twenty-five miles of improved highways, of which seven miles on four roads have been finished and accepted during the year; six and a half miles on one road are about finished, but are not accepted, and eleven miles on six roads are in progress. These roads are situated in Erie, Monroe, Onondaga, Schenectady, Oneida, Rensselaer, and Columbia Counties. Surveys have also been made for 142 miles of roads in fourteen counties, which are expected to be improved when provision is made by the Legislature.

"Some of the roads have been built of six inches' thickness of crushed limestone, forming macadam twelve feet wide. The average cost per mile has been $7,074, not including two roads made nine inches thick instead of six inches, and costing proportionately more per mile.

"Experience, however, shows that sixteen feet is the least width of roadway for a road having much travel, and, as the roads first improved are naturally the main highways in the region, this width is the one generally adopted. It is also found to give best economy to use two inches of trap rock, which is most durable to form the surface of the macadam roadway. With these features the average cost throughout the State will be between $8,000 and $9,000 per mile, which is 20 per cent. below the cost of similar roads in Massachusetts.

"Recommendations will be made to the Legislature to add to the highway law provision for the maintenance of improved highways by the county officials, and to provide for a State quarry of trap rock where convicts from Sing Sing Prison can be employed in reducing crushed stone for highway improvement."

The report will further state that during the past year the Canal Board has considered in detail and has settled thirty-eight of the seventy-four contracts made in 1896-7 under the $9,000,000 appropriation act which aggregated $4,270,872.36, making a saving to the State of $25,999.

The Canal Board has taken action upon all current works of maintenance and repairs which have been done during the year, and which include twenty-eight contracts whose estimated amounts at contract prices aggregate $284,229.67.

SURPLUS IN STATE TREASURY.

After All Payments Are Made a Balance of $4,504,814.74 Is Shown.

ALBANY, Dec. 29.—The annual reports of the two financial officers of the State, the Controller and State Treasurer, show that on Oct. 1, 1898, there was a balance in the Treasury of $3,973,804.45. The total receipts from all scurces during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1899, were $25,837,136.92, making a total of receipts and balances of $29,810,941.37. The payments for all purposes amounted to $25,306,126.63, leaving a balance in the Treasury of $4,504,814.74. This amount is distributed among the canal, school, general, trust, and miscellaneous funds, the greater part of it being in the general and canal funds.

In the Corporation Tax Bureau of the Controller's office during the past fiscal year there was paid from the tax on corporations and the organization thereof the sum of $2,741,318.05, an increase over the preceding year of $244,971.

The amount of money received from the taxation of transfers of estates amounted to about $2,194,612.24, an increase over that of the previous year of $197,402, and being the largest amount received from this source, with one exception, since the existence of the statute creating this tax.

During the past fiscal year there was expended for educational purposes the sum of $5,002,694.28, and for the support of hospitals, asylums, reformatories, houses of refuge, soldiers' and sailors' homes, &c., the sum of $6,590,620.39.

The Legislature of 1899 fixed a tax rate of 2 49-100 mills, which was divided as follows: For schools, 31-100; for general purposes, 1 26-100, and for canals, 1 42-100. On the present valuation of taxable property of the State of $5,076,596,824, this tax, at the above rate, will yield $12,640,228.09, which represents the amount which will be levied by direct taxation against the assessable property of the State through the various local taxing agencies.

FIGHTING ASTORIA GRANT.

Mr. Whalen Obtains Writ Commanding Land Commissioners to Produce Papers for Review.

Corporation Counsel Whalen began yesterday another attack on the Astoria Light, Heat and Power Company. He obtained from Justice Gildersleeve a writ of certiorari to compel the Commissioners of the Land Office to produce for review everything in their possession concerning the grant of land under water to the Astoria Company. The writ is made returnable in Albany County within twenty days after service.

Copies of the writ were taken to Albany last night by one of Mr. Whalen's assistants, who will serve them on the Land Commissioners to-day.

Mr. Whalen has learned that although the Astoria Company, according to Gov. Roosevelt, valued its lands on Berrian's Island at $350,000, there was a mortgage on it for $500,000. This mortgage, it was said, was held by the City Trust Company, in which John D. Crimmins, who purchased the island originally, is interested.

BOARD OF CANVASSERS MEETS.

Declares the Vote for the Constitutional Amendments, Supreme Court Judges, and a Congressman.

ALBANY, Dec. 29.—The State Board of Canvassers met to-day and canvassed the vote cast at the late election for the four amendments to the Constitution, for the candidates for the seven vacancies on the Supreme Court bench, and for the candidates for Congressman in the Thirty-fourth District. The four amendments were adopted by majorities all exceeding 100,000. Nearly 150,000 voters did not vote for the amendments.

The vote for the four amendments was as follows:

First—Giving to the New York Municipal Assembly the powers of a Board of Supervisors: For the amendment, 325,182; against the amendment, 144,667; majority, 180,515; blank and scattering, 137,788.

Second—Relative to the increase of the bonded indebtedness of municipalities, (relating solely to New York City): For, 315,475; against, 143,450; majority, 170,025; blank, 142,818.

Third—Authorizing the Governor to appoint additional Justices on the Appellate Division benches: For, 283,380; against, 137,408; majority, 146,472; blank, 146,110.

Fourth—Authorizing the Governor to designate additional Justices of the Court of Appeals: For, 279,489; against, 132,064; majority, 147,405; blank, 147,111.

In the First Judicial District Justices George C. Barrett and James A. O'Gorman were declared elected Justices of the Supreme Court. Justice Barrett received 226,751 votes and Justice O'Gorman 144,185 votes. Joseph F. Daly, who ran against O'Gorman, received 92,385 votes.

In the Fifth District the vote to fill one vacancy was: William S. Andrews, 60,247; H. C. Wiggins, 46,740. Andrews was declared elected.

In the Sixth District Albert H. Sewell received 83,885, S. M. Wing 3,264, and E. C. Elston 604. Sewell was declared elected.

In the Eighth District three Justices of the Supreme Court were elected. The vote was as follows: Truman O. White, 76,389; Daniel J. Kenefick, 79,198; Warren B. Hooker, 76,855; John C. Cunneen, 56,534; Charles F. Tabor, 54,343; Louis Braunlein, 56,382. The three candidates first named were declared elected.

The vote for Representative in Congress from the Thirty-fourth District was canvassed as follows: Edward B. Vreeland, 21,773; Stillman E. Lewis, 12,406. The certificate of election was ordered issued to Edward B. Vreeland.

EXPLOSION INJURES TWO MEN.

Brooklyn Elevated Railroad Fireman Is Blown from the Cab.

Joseph Green, an engineer, and Henry Stiner, a fireman, employed on the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad, were injured yesterday by the blowing out of the crown sheet and staple bolts behind the flue of Engine 26, of which they were in charge. Both men were scalded by the steam, Stiner so badly that he was removed to St. Mary's Hospital.

The accident occurred just as Engineer Green was pulling the train out of the Manhattan Beach crossing station on its way to East New York. There was a loud report, and a cloud of steam enveloped both men. Some pieces of the engine were blown 100 feet, and Stiner was hurled from the cab to the roadway of the elevated structure. His head struck on a rail of the down track, cutting an ugly gash, besides fracturing his nose. Engineer Green ran his train to the Alabama Avenue station, where he alighted. Green was found to be suffering from burns about the face. After they were dressed he went home. Stiner, besides the injuries caused by being blown from the cab, was scalded about the face and arms.

ANNUAL HOSPITAL COLLECTION.

Saturday and Sunday Association's Work—Large Sum Needed.

The annual collection of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association will be taken in the synagogues and churches of this city to-day and to-morrow. The association includes thirty-eight hospitals, the general collection being divided among them on the basis of free work performed during the preceding year.

In addition to the contributions received from religious institutions, collections will also be taken among the trades, professions, and Exchanges through the medium of auxiliary associations and subscription lists sent to separate establishments. In return for the collection in the trades and professions, the association, through the hospitals it represents, takes care during sickness of any contributing employe or of any one requiring free hospital treatment who is recommended by a contributing employer, until the entire amount contributed by any trade is exhausted at the rate of $1 per day for each patient.

The collection in 1898 amounted to $95,125.83. During the last year the associated hospitals cared for 34,740 patients, of whom 21,052 were free. In addition to this, 300,995 dispensary patients were either operated upon or furnished with medical aid. The expenses of this work have exceeded the aggregate income of the hospitals by $786,448.57, which must be raised by private benevolence.

BRIDE FORGOT HER MARRIAGE.

Fainted on the Steps of the Church and Disowned Her Husband.

Edward Walsh, thirty-one years old, of 227 East Forty-fifth Street, and his bride, who was Elizabeth Hump, thirty-three years old, of the same address, were taken to the East Fifty-first Street Police Station last evening and detained there until a detective had confirmed Walsh's statement that he had just been married. The wedding took place in St. Agnes's Roman Catholic Church, Forty-third Street and Third Avenue, and was witnessed by several hundred friends of the couple. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Father Duffy.

As the bridal pair were leaving the church the woman fainted on the steps. A large crowd soon gathered, and Policeman Weinberg, attracted by the crowd, tried to force his way through the people to learn the trouble. Walsh talked with the policeman, and, it is alleged, became abusive. Weinberg asked the man if the woman was his wife. He replied that she was. About this time Mrs. Walsh revived, and in reply to a question from the policeman if she was Walsh's wife, she replied that she was not.

Weinberg did not know which to believe, and decided to take the couple to the station house. Weinberg wanted to make a complaint against Walsh for disorderly conduct and for abusing him. After hearing the story of Walsh the Sergeant concluded to investigate it and sent a detective to learn if the couple had just been married. While the detective was on his errand the woman revived completely from the faint and told the Sergeant that she had just been married to Walsh. When the detective returned to the station house the couple were permitted to go to their home.

Answers to Correspondents.

JOHN MITCHELL.—George Dixon, the colored pugilist, was born in Halifax, Nova Scotia, July 29, 1870.

SAMUEL COHN.—An eminent authority on Federal law says the United States Government is a sovereign, practically independent of all laws, and, like all other sovereigns, is only to be approached as a matter of grace. It can only be sued, in short, when it is willing to be, but, on the other hand, can institute legal proceedings wherever it pleases. As a sovereign, too, it can owe no money, and, if it pays money to individuals, it does it because it is willing to do so, and not through compulsion. As a matter of fact, however, there are certain statutory ways in which proceedings may be brought against the Government on contracts, but they must be commenced in a certain way in the United States Circuit Courts. The Government expects its rulings to be enforced. If an excessive duty, for instance, be charged, it must be paid, and the person paying may then seek to recover the excess.

Museum of Social Economy.

A number of citizens prominent in charitable and educational affairs are organizing a plan for the establishment in this city of a permanent Museum of Social Economy similar to one founded in Paris in 1894. Among the objects of this institution are the improvement of the condition of operatives, clerks, and employes generally; the facilitating of municipal improvement as a means of preventing strikes; the loan to other cities of data and photographs relating to improvements in the work of municipalities and of social, industrial, and educational institutions. Collections in the museum, it is claimed, will enable visitors to study the problems of city life. Another large field that the museum is expected to cover is the effect of various acts of legislation on city affairs.

May Stop Sunday Entertainments.

The Police Board passed a resolution at its meeting yesterday which, if carried out, may put a stop to several Sunday entertainments which have been given regularly of late. By the resolution the Chief of Police is required to notify all the commanding officers of precincts to see that the Sunday law is not violated in places of amusement. The Captains are instructed to report in duplicate each Monday morning to the Chief and to the board that they have caused these places to be visited on the preceding Sunday and to state whether or not the law was violated.

No Order Against Cigarettes.

A dispatch from Atlanta, Ga., published in THE NEW YORK TIMES Dec. 13 last, reported that the Southern Railway Company had issued an order applicable only to the South Carolina Division prohibiting the use of cigarettes by its employes. The dispatch was sent by The Associated Press, which obtained it from The Atlanta Journal. It was not correct in the form in which it was furnished. There is no special prohibition against cigarette smoking, this being unnecessary in view of the fact that there is a general rule forbidding smoking when on duty.

Christmas for Crippled Children.

The Christmas entertainment for the children of the Hospital for the Relief of the Ruptured and Crippled, Forty-second Street and Lexington Avenue, took place yesterday. All but two of the children, two little girls, who were too ill to attend, were wheeled in their chairs to the large playroom of the institution, where a Christmas tree awaited them. The matron had previously ascertained the Christmas wishes of all, so there were no disappointments.

The gratifying outlook for 1900.—See the Annual Financial Supplement of THE NEW YORK TIMES of Monday, Jan. 1. Special articles and reports from bankers, merchants, and men of affairs and from official sources here and abroad. Also, tables and charts showing fluctuations in prices of securities and staples. This supplement of 32 pages will be given with every copy of THE NEW YORK TIMES of Monday, Jan. 1. Price for both, one cent.—Adv.

WILL DELAY TEACHERS' PAY.

Controller's New Requirement Affecting the Preparation of the Rolls for the Current Month.

The December salaries of the public school teachers are payable on Jan. 15, but it is now said that there is danger of delay owing to a further muddle. The salaries are paid out of the general school fund and of the proceeds of the sale of revenue bonds under the provisions of the Ahearn law.

When this law went into effect, on April 25, 1899, the Board of Education conferred with the Corporation Counsel and the Controller. On May 17 the School Board adopted a schedule equalizing the salaries of teachers not affected by the Ahearn law. The salaries for June, July, August, and September, including the Ahearn increases from June 1 and the increases made by the May schedule, were paid out of the local salary fund, it being understood by the board that this local money and the Ahearn revenue money were to constitute a common salary fund for the payment of all salaries.

Controller Coler now insists, however, that the December rolls shall be made out so as to show separately the charges against the local money and the Ahearn revenue money. It is alleged that this will involve a great deal of extra work, each teacher's salary account having to be examined carefully to set down just how much was paid and is to be paid under the Ahearn law and the May schedule.

As a result of all this additional figuring, Auditor Cook of the Board of Education believes the work of his department will be so heavy that he and his force of employes will be unable to get all of the pay rolls satisfactorily made out until some time after the middle of next month.

Controller Coler says that he is not responsible for this new delay. A proper accounting is necessary, as the law requires that all payments have to be regular. He promises, if it should be necessary, to allow his clerks to help the school officials out of their difficulty. Members of the Board of Education declare that they see no necessity for having balances in the two funds, when a balance of the common salary fund would answer just as well.

UNPAID TEACHER RESIGNS.

Others in Queens Will Ask for Transfer to Manhattan.

Miss Emily C. Brown, a teacher in the Woodside (Queens Borough) High School, has tendered her resignation.

Miss Brown says she does not intend to work hard and then wait three months for her pay.

Other teachers in the high school will ask for transfer to Manhattan, and teachers in the grammar schools will ask to be transferred.

QUEENS SCHOOL MUDDLE.

Grand Jury May Investigate—Board Sees New District Attorney.

The School Board of the Borough of Queens is trying to set itself right in the minds of the authorities in Queens County in order to prevent any investigation by the Grand Jury. District Attorney-elect John B. Merrill, who takes office on Jan. 1, announced a few days ago that he would ask the January Grand Jury to investigate the school troubles in order to determine whether or not any of the school officers were criminally responsible.

A committee representing the borough School Board waited upon Mr. Merrill in his Long Island City office yesterday to explain the position of the board. The members assured the new county prosecutor that the School Board was in no wise responsible for the failure to pay teachers or for any of the trouble that has disturbed the workings of the school system in Queens. They explained the failure to appoint new janitors by stating that the money appropriated was not sufficient to properly equip and maintain the schools.

The committee will meet Mr. Merrill again this morning, and go into the subject thoroughly. Mr. Merrill said after yesterday's conference that the Grand Jury would, he thought, investigate the school question very thoroughly, as it was within its power so to do.

NEW RULES FOR TEACHERS.

Superintendent Skinner Formulates a Plan for Examinations.

ALBANY, Dec. 29.—State Superintendent of Public Instruction Skinner thinks teachers are examined too often, and has provided new rules leading to permanent certificates. Under the revised rules, all questions of the second and third grades are abolished, and all examinations are based on the standard now required for certificates of the first grade.

Under the rules which Superintendent Skinner will prescribe, to take effect Aug. 1 next, but one grade of questions will be used, and candidates may be examined in any subject required for a certificate of any grade at any of the examinations. Under these rules for certificates of the third grade, candidates will be required to attain 75 per cent. in all subjects in which they are now examined for that certificate. This certificate will be issued for a period of one year, and during the life of such certificate the candidate will be entitled to a certificate of the second grade by attaining 75 per cent. in the four additional subjects which are now required for second-grade certificates. A second-grade certificate will be valid for a period of three years, and the holder of such certificate, on attaining within such period of three years a standing of 75 per cent. in the additional first-grade subjects, will be entitled to a first-grade certificate. A first-grade certificate will be issued for a period of ten years, and on its expiration may be renewed without examination.

Brooklyn's Salary Schedule.

The School Board of the Borough of Brooklyn, at an adjourned meeting held yesterday, accepted the report of the committee appointed to make a new salary schedule. The motion made by Superintendent Maxwell to make an exception in the case of Dr. Calvin Patterson, Principal of the Girls' High School, was laid on the table. His salary will now be cut down to the uniform grade and he will receive $4,500 a year.

CAPT. SHUFELDT TO BE TRIED.

Retired Army Officer to be Court-Martialed Here.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The War Department has accepted the challenge of Capt. R. W. Shufeldt, United States Army, retired, and has transmitted all the papers referring to the case of the officer to Major Gen. Merritt, commanding the Department of the East, at New York, for court-martial proceedings.

Several days ago, the Adjutant General, by direction of the Secretary of War, ordered Capt. Shufeldt to place himself within the jurisdiction of the civil courts of Maryland, before which that officer was the defendant in divorce proceedings. This order was based on representations of the attorneys of the wife of the officer, that he had failed to comply with the orders of the court for the payment to his wife of a stated amount of alimony, and that he remained outside the jurisdiction of the State court in order to evade his legal obligations.

Subsequently the officer's counsel informed the War Department that, acting on his advice, Capt. Shufeldt would decline to comply with the orders to place himself within the jurisdiction of the court. The attorney said he based his advice on the fact that his client had recently been declared bankrupt by the courts of the District of Columbia, and was consequently relieved from the payment of the alimony decreed by the Maryland court, amounting to date to about $600. A compliance with the orders of the War Department would, the attorney stated, undoubtedly lead to Capt. Shufeldt's imprisonment without proper cause.

The attorney furthermore declared that the proceeding was a scheme on the part of the prosecution to put his client in prison, and he stated that Capt. Shufeldt would stand the consequences of court-martial proceedings rather than obey the order, which virtually meant his incarceration without legal support. Capt. Shufeldt also wrote a letter to the Secretary of War protesting against the action of the military authorities.

All the correspondence in the case has been referred to Gen. Merritt, with instructions to order a court-martial for the trial of Capt. Shufeldt on charges of scandalous conduct and of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

NEUFELD SENTENCED TO DIE.

Found Guilty of the Murder of Mrs. Kronman in the Shortest Trial on Record.

William Neufeld, whose trial for the murder of Mrs. Annie Kronman was completed yesterday, was sentenced to die in the electric chair in the week commencing Feb. 12 by Justice Fursman, in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court. A few hours later he started, with five other convicts, for Sing Sing, where he was placed in one of the cells assigned to condemned murderers.

When the trial was resumed yesterday morning, William F. Howe, Neufeld's counsel, said he would not introduce any witnesses for his client. He then moved that the evidence given by Capt. McClusky and Detectives McCafferty and Carey be stricken from the records. Their evidence related to the clothing which Prof. Witthaus had found to be bloodstained, and which Neufeld had acknowledged as his. This clothing was obtained by the detectives from Neufeld's mother. Mr. Howe's motion was denied. He then requested the Court to instruct the jury to bring in a verdict of guilty in the second degree, but this motion was also denied.

Justice Fursman, in his charge to the jury, dwelt at some length on the differences between murder in the first and second degrees. A juror asked him if a man was guilty of murder in the first degree who entered a house with the intention of robbing it, and in doing so killed a person.

"He would unquestionably be guilty of murder in the first degree," answered the Justice.

The jury went out at 11:55 o'clock, and returned after an absence of eleven minutes. The foreman announced that the jury had found Neufeld guilty of murder in the first degree. The Court then adjourned until 1 o'clock, when Neufeld was led in again to hear his sentence. He displayed great composure, and when asked if he desired to say anything as a reason why judgment according to law should not be pronounced against him, replied, "Nothing whatever," in a loud, clear voice. Justice Fursman then read the sentence, and the condemned man was led out.

Assistant District Attorney McIntyre said that the Neufeld trial was the quickest murder trial in which he had ever participated. A jury was obtained in two hours, the prosecution examination of witnesses included, occupied seventeen hours, while the defense only occupied one, and the jury brought in a verdict after eleven minutes' deliberation.

BURGLARS' WORK IN BROOKLYN.

Men Driven from Two Houses and One Arrest Made.

Burglars are continuing to contribute excitement to life in Brooklyn. Mrs. Caroline Shotwell of 398 State Street, who had a lively experience with burglars several weeks ago, reported yesterday that another attempt had been made to rob her house on Monday morning. She was awakened at an early hour by hearing some one trying to open the front door. Obtaining a revolver, she went to a window and saw a man on the front stoop. When the fellow saw Mrs. Shotwell he ran away, and she fired two shots after him, neither of which, apparently, took effect.

Two alleged burglars who were discovered in the house of George Scheuring, at 1,971 Broadway, on Thursday night, leaped from a third-story window in their efforts to escape. One of them was injured, and was caught by the police, while his companion made his escape. Mr. Scheuring is a wholesale confectioner, and has his house equipped with burglar alarms. He was at supper on Thursday evening when one of the alarms went off. Hurrying up stairs, Mr. Scheuring found two men in the hallway. Mr. Scheuring ran down to the street and called Policemen Evans and McLoughlin of the Ralph Avenue Station.

The alleged thieves in the meantime had jumped from a third-story window in the side of the house to the roof of a shed. One of them leaped to the sidewalk from the shed and escaped after a chase. The other man was slightly hurt, and was unable to get away. He was taken to the Ralph Avenue Station, where he was attended by an ambulance surgeon and then locked up. He described himself as John Ritter, thirty-two years old, of 707 Ray Street, Philadelphia. In the Gates Avenue Police Court yesterday Ritter was held in $500 bail for examination.

NEW HORACE MANN SCHOOL.

Plans Filed for a Building Which Will Cost $350,000.

Plans for the new Horace Mann School, which will occupy the easterly block front on Broadway, between One Hundred and Twentieth and One Hundred and Twenty-first Streets, were submitted to the Building Department yesterday by the Trustees of the Teachers College. The estimated cost of the building is $350,000.

The ground was conveyed to the Trustees last Spring by James H. Jones for $100,000, estimated to be about one-third its market value. John D. Rockefeller, some time ago, offered, conditionally, a fifty-thousand-dollar gift to the school if the necessary money to build was raised before Jan. 1, 1900.

The façades of the structure will be in brownstone and Holland brick. The roof will be of steel and slate, surmounted by an ornamental cupola over the Broadway entrance.

Across the entire Broadway front of the building, beneath the top row of windows, there will be carved panels, bearing the names of famous philosophers and men noted for their educational works. Two floors of the building will be devoted to an auditorium, with a balcony, having seats arranged on a horseshoe plan. The rest of the structure will be devoted to classrooms.

The entrance to the elementary school will be on One Hundred and Twentieth Street, while the high school will have one on One Hundred and Twenty-first Street. The plans were prepared by Josselyn, Howells & Stokes, who intend to make the school building one of the most complete of its kind in the country.

HARPER CONTINUANCE PLAN.

Committee Asks Creditors to Deposit Claims and Grant It Absolute Power to Act.

As a result of its investigation, the committee representing creditors of Harper & Brothers, whose claims aggregate about one-half the total indebtedness of the company, has sent to every creditor a blank form of an agreement providing for deposit with the committee of all claims against the corporation. This is desired for the purpose of securing a reorganization and continuance of the business in the interest of the creditors.

The decision that a continuance is essential to the liquidation of unsecured indebtedness was reached after a close examination into the liabilities and assets of the company, the details of which were published in THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday morning.

The requests sent out provide that the committee shall have absolute power to act for the creditors who deposit their claims with it. All other creditors must act for themselves.

The plan for the financial readjustment of the corporation's affairs will in the meantime be completed by the committee, and when formulated will be placed on file with the State Trust Company, which will issue certificates on the deposited claims. The holders of these claims will be notified immediately of the plan of reorganization, and any depositor may withdraw from the plan within ten days from the time of notification upon surrender of his trust certificate and paying his share of the committee's expenses. It is expected that the plan of reorganization will be completed by the middle of next week.

The decision of the committee is approved by G. B. M. Harvey, agent of the Trustees and receiver, who expressed his belief that the company would be able to regain its feet if the business is continued under the control of the creditors' committee.

"Although the secured creditors are protected even in the event of a forced sale," said a representative of Mr. Harvey yesterday, "the unsecured creditors would in that case get but little. The estimate of 22.5 per cent. assets against the unsecured liabilities was certainly too high except for a 'going' concern. Most of the creditors are banks, and they will see from the report of the committee, which is made up of business men with an established reputation for sound judgment and solidity, that the proposed plan is the only profitable one for all concerned."

Doctor a Morphine Victim.

Magistrate Olmstead, presiding in the Centre Street Court, yesterday, committed Dr. Edward M. Bangs, forty years old, a guest of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, to Bellevue Hospital to have his sanity determined. When he was received there last night he was found to be a victim of the morphine habit. He was placed in one of the wards for treatment. He had $50 in money and an expensive gold watch and chain. He is well dressed, and evidently a man of means and refinement. He declined to give his home address, but said he lived out of town.

MYSTERIOUS JOHN F. CARROLL.

Mr. Croker's Lieutenant and Others of the Name Deny Ownership of Mortgaged Property.

A valuable piece of property at 644 West One Hundred and Forty-ninth Street has a mortgage upon it of $8,500, which the hoders have been trying to foreclose, but a mysterious man of the name of John F. Carroll, who holds the title to the property, cannot be found. Process servers have held up every John F. Carroll they could find, from Mr. Croker's lieutenant to John F. Carroll of Avenue A, and they all deny ownership of the property. The agent for the property either cannot or will not throw any light upon the identity of the rightful John F. Carroll.

The law firm of Mitchell & Mitchell, representing the holders of the mortgage, have finally decided that they will never find the proper Carroll, so yesterday they went before Justice Beekman, in the Supreme Court, and obtained permission to serve the owner by publication. Justice Beekman also appointed Charles Decker referee to hear the foreclosure suit.

In July last Edward Mitchell of counsel for the plaintiff received the following letter, dated July 27, from S. B. Rogers, a real estate dealer of 26 Cortlandt Street:

The owner has said that he will pay the interest if you will discontinue suit in foreclosure. The city is about to take the property and pay the money inside of six months. Yours,
S. B. ROGERS.

In response to the letter, Mr. Mitchell says, he called upon Mr. Rogers. He said that he was willing to accede to the request of the defendant if John F. Carroll, the real owner, would place his personal indorsement upon the request. In answer to this, Mr. Mitchell says, Rogers told him that the name of the owner must remain a secret, and that under no circumstances would he give the desired indorsement. Mr. Rogers told Mr. Mitchell that all dealings in regard to the property must be had with him personally. The mortgage, it is understood, was made before John F. Carroll became the owner of the property.

BUTLER ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Louis Trouveau, thirty-six years old, butler for ex-Lieut. Gov. William F. Sheehan at 16 East Fifty-sixth Street, attempted to kill himself yesterday afternoon by cutting his throat. He was removed to Flower Hospital and will recover.

Trouveau was found lying across the bed in his room by another servant. Near by lay the razor which the man had used. Policeman McNamee of the East Fifty-first Street Station was called in, and he summoned an ambulance. No reason can be learned for the man's attempt to take his life.

A servant employed in the house said that Trouveau had also tried to kill himself while at work in the pantry. When the man was found, considerable excitement was occasioned by the announcement, and Mrs. Sheehan was greatly affected by the shock.

Trouveau is married, his wife living somewhere in East Fifty-fourth Street.

It is going to be known as "The MILLION-DOLLAR SALE of the CENTURY" at the Wanamaker Store"

The sales of The CENTURY Dictionary & Cyclopedia & Atlas through the Wanamaker Century Club have totally eclipsed, in amount of money, the record of any work that was ever sold before (at retail) in all the history of this country's book-selling.

These figures will make it easier for you to realize what such a statement means. Since the sale began, a few weeks ago, up to Christmas Eve, there have been

SOLD $611,556. worth of the sets [at regular retail prices]

SAVED $305,778. to members of the Wanamaker "Century" Club.

Time enough has elapsed since the great sale opened for many of our subscribers to have received their sets and to have acquired the "Century Habit." This one letter, of the hundreds sent us, speaks for itself and for the others:

Kellogg-Birge Company
WHOLESALE GROCERS
ESTABLISHED 1850
FIRE CITY

Keokuk, Ia. Dec. 12, 1899.

John Wanamaker,
New York.

Dear Sir:-

The set of The Century Dictionary and Cyclopedia I bought from you I have had but a short time, but I was quite familiar with the work before I bought it. I have turned its pages quite a good deal since I have owned it. It is a great thing to have at one's elbow so compact and concise a storehouse of knowledge as The Century Dictionary and Cyclopedia and Atlas - unquestionably the most comprehensive work human ingenuity has ever evolved. I possess a library which has cost me thousands of dollars, embracing many encyclopedias - the costly Britannica among others but I consider The Century of more practical value than all the books in my library combined, and if I had to decide upon abandoning The Century or all my other books, not being able to replace them at any price, I should tuck my Century volumes under my arm and carry them off. I am aware that this is pretty strong language, but it is my honest opinion.

Just at the present moment the Atlas volume is of great interest. Last summer I visited Alaska, and in tracing over my routes on your maps I find them in every instance absolutely satisfactory.

Yours very truly,
Chas. P. Birge

By contracting for an entire edition of The Century Dictionary & Cyclopedia & Atlas, the Wanamaker "Century" Club secures for its members this greatest of reference works at exactly half the regular subscription prices—and enables them to pay for it comfortably in little monthly instalments that only figure ten cents a day!

Call at the Store To-day if you can

That's the best way, for then you can see the books themselves, the marvellously fine engravings, the many-colored maps, and the bindings.

For those of you who cannot come in person

This Coupon

—with your name on it will bring you full information.

Cut This Corner off and fill in the blank and mail it to-day to

JOHN WANAMAKER
NEW YORK CITY.

You may send me illustrated booklet of specimen pages of The Century Dictionary and Cyclopedia and Atlas, including sample map, and terms of purchase and description of the bindings to aid me in my choice.

Name.....
Address.....
T 30 .....

This Coupon enables you to SAVE FROM $37 TO $89.

JOHN WANAMAKER

The New York Times.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NEW YORK, SATURDAY, DEC. 30, 1899.

OFFICES:

NEW YORK:
Publication Office.....41 Park Row
All American District Telegraph Offices.
WASHINGTON.....515 Fourteenth St.
LONDON: Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Sq., W.C.
SWITZERLAND, Geneva: P. Drehmann, Librairie Nouvelle, Rue du Mont Blanc.
GERMANY, Mainz: Saarbach's News Agency, Agency for Germany and Austria.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY, per Month.....$0.50
DAILY, per Year.....6.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Year.....7.50
SUNDAY, per Year.....1.50
SATURDAY, with Review of Books and Art, per Year.....1.00
MONDAY, with Financial Supplement, per Year.....1.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Month.....0.65

For postage to foreign countries add 80 cents per month.

FOURTEEN PAGES

AND REVIEW OF BOOKS AND ART.

DO THE GERMANS "HATE" ENGLAND?

Some astonishing statements as to the feeling of the German people toward England are made in the January North American Review by Prof. HANS DELBRUCK, lecturer on history in the University of Berlin. If the professor has not mistaken the sentiment of his countrymen they are inspired by a feeling of hatred toward the English. They do not merely dislike them, or look on them with coldness—they hate England and its people. There is only one exception, but it is a most important one, the Kaiser. He stands solitary and alone, the only German who does not hate the English.

Not only this, "a sentiment of hate for England unites the whole Continent." The Russians have "long seen their greatest enemy in England." For nearly thirty years "la revanche" and the recovery of their lost provinces has been the thought uppermost in the minds of Frenchmen, but France is now ready to forgive the old enemy in her deeper hatred of the new, for "ever since Fashoda, her desire for revenge for that humiliation has thrown her antagonism for Germany into the background." There they stand, then, these three great Continental powers, animated by a common sentiment of hatred of the English. "England must have no illusions on this point; if it were announced to-morrow that Russia, France, and Germany had concluded a Continental alliance against England, this news would be welcomed everywhere with joy by the people of the three nations."

We see no evidence in Prof. DELBRUCK'S article that he at all understood the magnitude of the topic he was treating. Of course, if this mighty passion of which he writes with a running pen is real, it will shortly burst all bonds of restraint and then the world will be remade. It is very important that we know whence comes this monster who may presently be uncaged. The underlying and inspiring motive, the first cause of this hatred of England, is what we want to get at. The Berlin Professor of History tells us with perfect candor what it is. England is getting on too well, she is colonizing the world too fast and too successfully, and she is becoming too powerful—that is the reason why the Germans and their neighbors hate her:

> England insists on being the only great commercial and colonial power in the world, and is only willing to allow other nations the favor of owning small fragments as enclaves wedged in helplessly between her possessions. This it is which we neither can nor intend to tolerate. Once England has overcome the Boers, she will take the German possessions in Africa as her next booty. At present there is still Portuguese territory intervening; but Portugal, pressed by financial necessities, will soon be forced to part with it. Perhaps Germany and England will share it between them; but in every case the benefit will only be an illusory one for Germany, should England at the same time endeavor to uphold the position of paramount power toward Germany which she is the reason why even the most peace-loving citizen, the best friend of England among the German people, looks upon the struggle of the Boers with England as though it were his own cause. We no longer feel inclined to accept the pretensions of England to Anglicize one continent of the world after another. The good things of this world belong to all civilized nations in common. As England is not expected to give way peaceably, and as her great naval power cannot be overwhelmed by any one single State, the best remedy would be the alliance against her of all her rivals together, especially of Russia, France, and Germany.

Let the reader note carefully the professor's "remedy" for the offensive growth of England's power. He would ally against her all her rivals, especially Russia, France, and Germany. Turn the page and you come upon this sentence:

> "A Continental alliance against England would undoubtedly mean a general war against her."

We feel impelled to inquire, with a most respectful feeling toward the governing body of the University of Berlin, whether history is taught in this spirit to the youth who sojourn at that university for purposes of study. Does Prof. DELBRUCK draw from his historical studies and impart to the students who attend his lectures the principle that when a nation discovers that another nation is doing well what it is unable to do itself, except badly, it must forcibly interfere, and provoke others to interfere, with the advancement of its "rival"? His present teaching unquestionably ranges him with those who sympathize with the barbarian and against the civilizer, with the Persian and against the Greek, whose light he sought to extinguish; with the Teuton and against the Roman, who taught him that there were better laws than his and better clothing than skins; against the Spaniards and the English and in favor of the red men, who were holding against a restless world a vast and rich continent, as the Boers are now holding the Transvaal with their sterile arts but excellent rifles.

Let civilization and progress and men of liberal minds everywhere be thankful for Kaiser WILLIAM II. He has been misunderstood, his character has not been appreciated. "Such is the state of public opinion in Germany," says Prof. DELBRUCK at the close of his exposition of the passionate hatred of England that inspires every German save one. "There is only one person in the whole country who thinks otherwise, and that is the Kaiser. And in Germany foreign politics are shaped not by public opinion but by the Kaiser." Long may he live and reign, this Emperor who is the veritable savior of his people, who restrains them from entering in a spirit of passion that would disgrace a street mob upon a policy of barbarism and awful bloodshed. And the thoughtful will go further. They will be much inclined to pray devoutly that the gigantic power which he alone controls, which but for him would as one man plunge into a career of bloody reaction, may not endure beyond his time. It would certainly be better for the world, better for humanity to-day and for posterity, that German unity should cease to be and Germany be resolved into its component States than that, like a locomotive without its master, it should go crashing on, subject to no influence but the blind propelling force of popular passion and envy.

That would be a desperate necessity, indeed, that should demand the destruction of the German Empire. It is a necessity, we think, of Prof. DELBRUCK'S creating. If he is wrong in his assertion that every German except the Kaiser "hates" England and would like to see a Continental alliance make war on her, then the necessity of doing away with the empire disappears. The conclusion of cool-headed readers of the professor's article will be that he is wrong, that he writes in a spirit for which every enlightened German ought to blush and which ought to impair or destroy altogether his reputation as a lecturer on history.

THE MILITARY SITUATION.

The British military censorship is evidently close and effective. But it is not close enough to conceal the fact that really there is nothing going on. The three divisions of the British army of invasion have not yet had an armed man in Boer territory. They are all on British territory, and they are all on the defensive. The explanation of their inertia is of course obvious. They do not feel strong enough to take the offensive. In fact, each of the three divisions has separately tried the offensive, and separately been repulsed.

It is commonly said that they are waiting to be strengthened by reinforcements. But this is not a wholly adequate explanation. The casualties, impressive as they have been in Great Britain, have not been numerous enough seriously to affect the strength of the forces. The three Generals have practically the forces with which they started, and which have been found insufficient. There was a very suggestive letter from a retired officer in The London Times the other day, in which he pointed out that the force now in South Africa was sufficient to employ to the utmost all the facilities of transport and subsistence the country afforded, and that an addition to the number of men would be an addition to the difficulty in these respects. The flower of the British Army is already in South Africa and at the front. More troops could be useful, according to this critic, only to make up the loss by casualties and disease and to assist in guarding the communications.

Meanwhile, and for the present, time is on the side of the Boers. They show no disposition to attempt offensive operations. Indeed, there is no reason why they should. Their immediate objectives are the capture of Kimberley and Ladysmith and their garrisons. It was for the relief of these that Lord METHUEN and Gen. BULLER fought their battles and were repulsed under conditions which forbid a renewal of the attempt. The Boers can now afford, at least for the present, to trust to the natural causes which are aiding them. Meanwhile they are strengthening their own defenses, so as apparently to make them impregnable against a direct attack. Apparently also they are maintaining a close investment of the two towns, with an occasional bombardment which is becoming progressively accurate and unpleasant. Whatever store of provisions is now in the beleaguered towns is all upon which their garrisons can rely. Add that this is the South African midsummer, and that the heat is very oppressive to Englishmen. Add, still further, that imported horses in South Africa suffer from a disabling disease from which native or acclimated horses are comparatively free, and that this disease has already broken out among the British horses. It becomes plain that the Boers can afford, for some weeks to come, to wait and rely upon their natural allies and that the British situation will in the meantime be daily becoming more serious.

THE VALUE OF OUR CANALS.

Twenty years ago Mr. WILLIAM H. VANDERBILT remarked to the writer that with a well-equipped four-track railroad freight could be carried from Buffalo to New York at less cost than on the Erie Canal. That remark has been more than verified by the experience of the road and the canal since then. But the problem of what the canal can do and what it ought to be made to do has greatly changed. It is no longer what the cost is of carrying freight from Buffalo to New York, but what the cost is of carriage from the head of the great lakes to Liverpool or European markets.

It is this problem that Mr. EDWARD P. NORTH, an able engineer of this city, discusses in The North American Review for January. He starts out with the broad statement that transportation is "the most successful of all applications of labor-saving machinery," "one which so reduces the cost of exchanging property as to give the largest reward to the producer and the maximum product to the consumer, with the result that both, having greater net gains, can increase the capital necessary for further labor-saving machinery." That is what the Erie Canal did in its early years. It caused the freight between Buffalo and Albany to fall from $100 a ton to $10 and then to $2. It made of the City of New York the largest exporting and importing port of the country, and by concentrating here the main lines of railroads made the bay of New York the cheapest point in the world for the assembling of raw materials for manufacture and distributing the finished product. And it built up along its banks many manufacturing centres and developed the richest and most intelligent rural population in the world.

But relatively to the needs of to-day the Erie Canal is as backward as was the wagon road when the canal was first built. It can float only 240 tons in a single boat, while the trainload has become 2,000 tons and is likely to reach 3,000 tons. Mr. NORTH thinks that the advice to close the canal might be justified unless "it can be restored to public service by so increasing its capacity that boats carrying at least twice as much as any probable railroad train can navigate it with speed and convenience." He declares:

> It is desirable not only for the City and State of New York, but for all countries consuming either raw or manufactured products, that we should have through the present centres of population, production, and consumption in New York a channel of distribution so ample and convenient that, as far as sound judgment can foresee, the minimum freight rates shall be charged, and generally the resistance to transportation shall be less on it than on any other conceivable route between the great lakes and the Atlantic.
>
> This can be done only by a canal of such cross section as to pass readily the largest boats navigating or likely to navigate the lakes. It would give every farmer in the West 2 or 3 cents more for his grain and increase his purchases from New York City. It would restore the central part of the State to the relative prosperity of fifty years ago, triple if not quadruple the traffic of the Port of New York, and perpetuate its supremacy as a manufacturing and commercial centre.

The effect of so radical a change as this is, in Mr. NORTH'S judgment, to be regarded favorably in the light of experience. In 1881 the St. Mary's Falls Canal, connecting the lower lakes with Lake Superior, was deepened from 11½ feet to 17 feet, and in three years the traffic increased from 1,750,000 tons to nearly 3,000,000 tons. By 1890 the traffic exceeded that through the Suez Canal, and since that time has been more than double the Suez traffic. In 1895 a further deepening was made of the Canadian lock to 20 feet and of the American lock to 21 feet. The result is not only an enormous increase in the traffic, but a great reduction in the cost of carriage due to the larger vessels that can be employed. Three years after the first deepening 89 per cent. of the traffic was carried in vessels too large for the old locks. Comparing the freight charges of the three years since the last deepening with the average charge of the preceding nine years, they are only .87 of a mill per ton per mile, as against 1.89 mills. And it is estimated that if this traffic had had to pay railroad charges at least three-quarters of the goods carried could not have been produced.

The foregoing is but an example of the facts cited by Mr. NORTH as to the effect of making a ship canal from the lakes to the sea. He is plainly convinced that nothing less is worth considering. He is particularly scornful of the idea that the depth of the canal shall be governed by discharge of boats at Buffalo and New York. Of this he says:

> The provision that boats shall receive and discharge their cargoes at Buffalo and New York shuts all but three out of the 40,000,000 tons passing Detroit from access to New York by water carriage; it decreases the value of all raw material produced west of Buffalo without increasing the value of that produced east of that point; it increases the cost of finished products to all who are reached by our commerce; it impedes the investment of capital and employment of labor in the State, thereby diminishing its resources, and does not help the railroads. The continued maintenance of two toll gates in this State, that the few may receive large gains from handling the minimum amount of merchandise, to the loss of the many, is a commercial outrage, and we have to go back to the revenue reforms of the Rhine barons for an analogue.

On this point, whatever may be the soundness of his views in other regards, Mr. NORTH is undoubtedly right. The theory that a place can be made prosperous by the obstacles it can present to trade is worse than mediaeval: it is barbarous.

HOSPITAL SUNDAY.

"Hospital Sunday," which is fixed for the last Sunday of the year, by an interesting coincidence occurs this year not only on the last Sunday, but on the last day of the year. The calls upon almost every one for gifts to one object or another are no doubt many; but no community can afford to neglect those particular objects of charitable giving that have come into existence because of a general demand for them, which by their conduct hold the confidence of the public, and which, above all, were instituted for the community's moral and physical well being.

Foremost in this class stands indisputably the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, the accredited representative of thirty-eight of our hospitals. Last year the collection under its auspices amounted to $70,000. This year it is hoped to make the sum to be collected for distribution at least $80,000, and it ought to be $100,000. Steady as has been the increase of this collection during the past twenty years, it has nevertheless failed to keep up with the percentage of increase in the hospital needs of the city, and the amount divided among the beneficiaries on the basis of free days is somewhat less per capita than it was ten years ago.

A very prosperous business year is just closing and other prosperous years are in the immediate future. It is common enough to hear of men and women giving hundreds of thousands and even millions of dollars for single objects; but it is difficult to get people to give large sums to a common fund. Many who give $25, $10, or even so little as $5 to help the associated hospitals, give readily $100 or $1,000 to a single institution because of a personal interest, or (and this quite frequently) because some friend brings the subject to their attention. Would it not be well for those who are both willing and able to give largely to any worthy cause to take into account that on the average the claims of thirty-eight hospitals are just thirty-eight times greater than those of any single institution, and make their "Hospital Sunday" offering somewhat in proportion to this mathematical relation?

The General Agent of the association reports that the outlook for large collections in the trades is most encouraging; that many contributions are also being received from the professions, and notably from lawyers, to whom a special appeal has been sent out by a committee composed of well-known members of the bar, and, finally, properly to round out the year's work, a special plea is made by the associated hospitals for a generous "Hospital Sunday" collection to-morrow in all places of worship.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

—A real cyclone of excitement is raging at Chelsea, Mass. The storm began on Tuesday, when Mayor SETH J. LITTLEFIELD summarily removed from office Chief of Police WILLIAM P. DRURY, and it reached its fiercest height Wednesday evening, when the Aldermen met to hear the Mayor's reasons for his action and to decide, as is their duty under the Chelsea charter, whether or not the removal was to stand. The Mayor spoke with vigor and directness. He asserted that the Chief is an active opponent of municipal reform, and that he is the friend, not the enemy, of gamblers. As proof of this friendship, the Mayor declared that whenever a raid on gambling places was planned, the curtains in the Chief's office are arranged in a way well known to sentries kept in front of the building by the lawbreakers, and that in consequence of warnings thus given the efforts of good citizens and honest officials always came to nothing. The Mayor presented twelve dates on which to his personal knowledge this peculiar arrangement of the Chief's curtains had been followed by the timely closing and dismantling of a threatened gambling place, and a policeman testified that he had noticed the same thing at least a hundred times. These revelations were made in the presence of a great throng of people, and the sensation they created is described as tremendous. In reply the Chief first entered a brief personal denial, and then called several of his subordinates and of the Headquarters employes. All of them said that he was a most faithful, amiable, and energetic guardian of Chelsea's peace and morals. As for the raising and lowering of the curtains in the Chief's office, the colored janitor took upon himself all responsibility for that, and declared that it had reference to the sun, and not to gambling house raids. After a session lasting till 4 o'clock in the morning, the Aldermen decided by a vote of 14 to 1 that the removal of the Chief was undeserved and that he could keep his office. This seemed to please the assembled multitude vastly.

—In a letter contributed to The Springfield Republican, Mrs. CAROLINE HEALEY DALL of Washington makes the surprising assertion that no drop of negro blood flowed in the veins of the late FREDERICK DOUGLASS. Her warrant for this statement is a conversation which she had with Mr. DOUGLASS at his home in Uniontown a short time before his death. Noticing a rude portrait on the wall, Mrs. DALL asked whom it represented. "Myself at the age of thirty," replied the host, whereupon the visitor exclaimed that it looked like the picture of a young Omaha. "Naturally enough," was the reply, and then Mr. DOUGLASS went on to say that his grandmother was a full-blooded Potomac Indian, his mother her child by a white master, and he himself, therefore, one-fourth Potomac and three-fourths Caucasian. Mrs. DALL, in some excitement, asked why nothing of this appeared in the biographies. Mr. DOUGLASS answered: "It would not please my people and is not of the least consequence. I was just as much a slave as any of them; that was the only important thing." Speaking further of his mother, Mr. DOUGLASS said: "I do not know what sort of woman she was. All I remember of her is a pair of big eyes swimming in tears. She was sold away before I could remember, to a plantation six miles off. I never saw her but once. She walked those six miles after dark one night and back again before morning just to look at me as I lay asleep. I opened my eyes and saw her. After the war I could not find her." Mrs. DALL'S declaration is enough, of course, to settle the fact that this conversation took place exactly as she has rehearsed it, but it is far from precluding the possibility that Mr. DOUGLASS was mistaken as to his own descent. His hair certainly did not suggest Indian origin, and the circumstance that he was occasionally taken for a South American Spaniard does not prove much one way or the other.

—One of the charges occasionally made against doctors is that familiarity with suffering—in others—renders them less cautious than they might be in inflicting pain. We have never taken much stock in this doctrine, but a particularly cruel bit of humor of a very professional kind that appears in one of the minor medical papers might be regarded by some as furnishing support for the theory mentioned. The inconsiderate joker starts by making the assertion that there is a good deal in hypnotism, faith cure, telepathy, "Christian Science," and all that sort of thing, and then proceeds to justify his admission in a way that will excite the severest reprehension from the Navy Department. "Did not Admiral SAMPSON," he asks, "annihilate the Spanish fleet by 'absent treatment?' And what made Gen. TORAL surrender Santiago but a 'suggestion' from the same powerful sensorium, passed along through Capt. CHADWICK to Gen. SHAFTER, and so on to the Spanish patient? The highest naval authorities at Washington—and what can be higher?—have vouched for these revolutionizing developments in modern war. And still, the antiquated Britishers can make suggestions to Gen. JOUBERT through no better medium than lyddite shells!" We fairly shudder to think of the number of people who will forget the angel and agony these remarks are calculated to cause in the eminent persons at whom they are aimed and who will join in a chorus of cynical laughter. As for ourselves, of course we do not find the jest at all amusing, and we rehearse it only for the sake of calling attention to its enormity.

—Among the eminent Englishmen who have contributed money for the equipment of the yeomanry soon to start for South Africa is Mr. WILLIAM WALDORF ASTOR. His gift is £1,000—by no means a small sum, from some points of view, but from others it is surprisingly minute, and, while it may not be exactly delicate to express curiosity in a matter of no personal concern to any American, still we cannot help wondering whether or not the average Briton thinks that £1,000 was all he could reasonably expect from a fellow-citizen at once so wealthy and, according to his own statements, so deeply indebted to the meteor flag as is Mr. ASTOR. Far greater contributions have recently been made by people who, having been born in the shadow of that flag, could not pay it the ultimate compliment of abandoning for its sake another flag, itself of no mean merit. And some, too, of station even more lofty than his, have offered personal as well as financial assistance to the imperiled empire. To entirely disinterested observers it seems as though Mr. ASTOR had lost the opportunity of a lifetime by not volunteering. A relative of his, by doing so in another cause not long ago, secured for himself treasures that no amount of money will buy, even in England.

—A word that hasn't made its appearance on the surface of the English language for years and years has suddenly been brought into view. It is the word "enclave," and thanks for its elevation from the verbal depths must be given to the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin. At any rate, the term has as yet been used only in the comments excited by that paper's article on a probable or possible division between England and Germany of Portugal's colonial possessions. With its convenience thus demonstrated anew, "enclave" is likely to put on all the airs and graces of youth and to win popularity in circles far wider than those of diplomacy. It is an admirable substitute for the elongated phrases by which territory owned by one nation and inclosed in territory owned by another can alone be designated. Of highly respectable lineage, "enclave" deserved resuscitation, and should not be allowed again to fall into disuse.

SETTLING SCHOOL QUESTIONS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

For the last year I have noticed with some interest and not a little mortification the newspaper reports of the difficulties that exist between Mr. Maxwell, Superintendent of the public schools of the Greater New York, and the School Commissioners of the different boroughs, and of the unrest and dissatisfaction of the teachers and the parents of the children with both.

For this unhappiness I, as a quiet citizen, have been seriously trying to discover the cause. We all must realize that sometimes a very insignificant cause makes a great deal of trouble, and then again a great cause but little disturbance. A small spark may occasion a great conflagration, and then again a great bursting flame may end where it begins. From a verbal report of a meeting of a committee from the Board of Education, which included Mr. Maxwell, that took place less than a month ago, at which thirty or forty lady teachers were present by notification, an inference may be drawn in no way in the light on much of the trouble and contribute indirectly perhaps as to how it may be pleasantly settled.

During the session referred to each one of the members of the committee is said to have been puffing a choice cigar. This was strange conduct for educated men to indulge in, especially when the spirit of discord was abroad among them and ladies were present to attest. They were utterly disregarding tradition and history. We have all heard and read of smoking pipes of peace, but never cigars of peace. Our Dutch predecessors, if history is to be believed, settled many perplexing political and other questions amid clouds of smoke from pipes, and so did Lo, the poor Indian; wild brother of our native land. This, to say the least we can of these well-informed gentlemen, was a grave mistake.

Cigars are all right in their places, but we have no account of their being used in peacemaking. Gen. U. S. Grant, the great American Captain, smoked cigars not for peace sake, but in order that he might be more determined in battle. Now, the people do not want in this matter the victories of war, but of peace. If these gentlemen of the Board of Education must smoke at their meetings and are desirous of accomplishing in a peaceful and reasonable manner, especially when ladies are present in force, the work they are expected to do, let them call upon the city to provide them pipes, with tobacco to match, and the effect will be magical no doubt. This is but a small allowance for the boon of peace.

> "O germ, O fount, O word of love, O thought > at random cast,
> Ye were but little at the first, but mighty at > the last."

Dr. Benjamin Franklin, when a delegate in the convention that was framing the Constitution of the United States, while an angry debate was going on concerning some articles of the instrument, moved an adjournment for rest and a season of prayer to the Almighty God who had led these States out of bondage and was willing and able to help now in this all-important counsel. The motion was carried and the prayer meeting was held.

On reassembling thereafter the articles were passed without hardly any discussion by a large vote. Dr. Franklin, if alive at the present time, would be looked upon as an agnostic. He, however, understood the subduing power of prayer on the human mind and the effect of such communion with a spirit, ideal though it might be, so divinely pure and sublime, that selfishness would be broadened to include all who defended a common principle on equal terms. May these educated gentlemen take a lesson from the past and these departed worthies, and broaden their selfishness, and settle down by a becoming demeanor to the work that they are expected to do by a confiding public.

A READER.

New York, Dec. 27, 1899.

ANSWERS MR. SHEARMAN.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

My esteemed friend, Thomas G. Shearman, is by far the most zealous and exaggerated anti-Boer whom the present South African trouble has developed. It is a pity that one who is usually so careful in his statements should be misled by the partisans of "Joe" Chamberlain into such limitless use of adjectives and a surrender of some of the principles for which he has hitherto stood.

My answer to his terrific tirades against President Krüger and all things connected with the Transvaal Government is that, even if we go to the extreme of admitting them to be founded on fact, Britain and the Uitlander are not justified. The Boer established himself in the Transvaal precisely as the Pilgrim and Puritan established themselves on the Continent of America. He won his freedom and his right to establish his Government, just as effectively as our forefathers won the right to establish the Government of the United States. Having so established it, they had a right to enact such laws for the government of foreigners as they saw fit. They had the right to exclude them altogether if they chose—just as we exclude the Chinese and many other foreigners whom we choose to call undesirable. If the foreigner does not like it, he may stay away and plant himself in some more liberal and hospitable community.

Mr. Shearman evidently appreciates this fact, for, like many of his fellow-Anglomaniacs, he lays great stress upon the assertion that the Outlanders were "invited" by President Krüger to come into the Transvaal territory and develop it. No one who knows President Krüger can believe for a moment that he ever extended such an invitation to an Englishman, and I am quite sure that Mr. Sydney Brooks, who speaks for the English side of this controversy in a forcible though temperate article in The North American Review of July last, explains the status of the Uitlander in the Transvaal much more accurately than Mr. Shearman does.

Mr. Brooks says: "The Uitlanders had come into the country uninvited and undesired, seeking only gold—and with full warning that it was a Boer Republic they were entering."

Now the distorted and exaggerated claims concerning this alleged invitation are based upon the discussions which preceded the settlement of the convention of 1884, and the most that was said or done by President Krüger or any one representing the Transvaal concerning the entry of foreigners to the Boer Republic is expressed in the terms of that convention as follows:

"All persons other than natives conforming themselves to the laws of the Transvaal State will have full liberty with their families to enter, travel, or reside in any part of the Transvaal State. They will be entitled to hire or possess houses, manufacturers' warehouses, shops, and premises. They may carry on their commerce and will not be subject in respect to their persons or property, or in respect of their commerce or industry, to any taxes, whether general or local, other than those which are or may be imposed upon Transvaal citizens."

This is the sum and substance of the "invitation" business, and not one of the conditions thereof has been violated by the Transvaal Government. Mr. Shearman's contention depends mainly upon the allegation of inhospitality and a repetition of the oft-exploded charge of unjust and discriminative taxation. This latter is too untenable to engage the attention of so astute a lawyer as Mr. Shearman, and the fact that he lays such stress upon it exposes the weakness of his entire indictment of the Boers.

For the benefit of those who are daily being misled by this allegation of unjust taxation, let me say that there is no tax levied in the Transvaal which does not apply to the Boer citizen equally with the resident foreigner. No direct taxes are levied there, but all the revenue is derived from franchise taxes, and a general tax of 2½ per cent. on the output of the gold mines. There is no ground tax, and no income tax; and although the Uitlander may pay a large proportion of the total tax, he does it indirectly, and the burden falls upon business enterprises which are enormously profitable. It is stated by one who knows that the price of dynamite is lower at Johannesburg than it is in Kimberley or in Rhodesia, and the charges of the Netherland Railway Company, which pays nearly one-quarter of the income of the State, are lower by 50 per cent. than the charges of the English Bulawayo Railroad in Rhodesia.

The tax of 2½ per cent. on the gold output is a striking example of moderation when compared with the corresponding British tax of 10 per cent. on the gold output of the Klondike.

In October, 1898, Mr. Shearman appeared before the Sub-Committee of Ways and Means in Washington and made a strong plea for the taxation of all corporations having exclusive privileges of any kind whatever, and enumerated mines as belonging to such class. He said: "Assuming that monopolies are necessary and even beneficial, yet there is no form of property which it is so clearly not only the right but the duty of the Government to tax. These are in fact the only kinds of property which ought to be taxed."

As I have said, all the revenue of the Transvaal Government is derived from this source of taxation, and it is difficult therefore to appreciate the force of Mr. Shearman's paradoxical contention. There was a time when Mr. Shearman was suspected of a strong leaning toward the tax theories of the late Henry George, and if there was anything which that tax reformer most vigorously protested against, it was any right of private ownership of coal or gold mines, which he claimed belonged exclusively to the Government, i. e., the people.

Has Mr. Shearman so far modified his views as to regard with disfavor the extremely moderate tax levied on the gold mines of South Africa? Has he so far forgotten the fundamental principles of the "single tax" as to seriously maintain that the gold dug from the bowels of the earth is "wealth produced" by the miner?

Away with all this rot, and put the Anglo-South African controversy on the only basis where it can rest with any show of consistency, viz., a struggle for supremacy—old as the history of man. Lord Selborne, speaking in the British Parliament before the commencement of hostilities, swept away all the flimsy pretexts concerning the franchise and taxation, and in a few words stated the real cause of controversy when he said:

"The leaders of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State had had an ideal before their minds, quite honorable in itself, and one which they were entitled to cherish if they chose, yet which had this unfortunate and deadly blot in its conception that it was absolutely incompatible with the ideal of the British people.

"It was simply a conflict of the two ideals which were simply incompatible. This he believed was the real history of this crisis. It was not a war about the letter 's,' or any small distinction between five and seven years' franchise. It was a war brought about because two people who ought to be kindred, and ought to be friends, had unfortunately for themselves aspired to two different ideals."

In other words, England is seeking under the plea of superior civilization to force her commercial and political supremacy upon the whole of South Africa. This is the whole question in a nutshell.

EDWARD ELSWORTH.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 23, 1899.

IN CIVILIZATION'S INTEREST.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

While not for any love I bear England, but because I believe, with you, that the best interests of civilization would be subserved by her triumph, I sincerely trust she may be victorious in her present conflict. And yet, as the Bible states, men should "in the day of adversity consider." It seems to me there are some things, in the most remote past, that, in her present condition, it would be well for England to most carefully "consider."

Let her call to mind the long series of cruel, heart-breaking editorials against us in The London Times during our days of storm and stress in our civil war—articles which Mr. Motley, in a letter to Senator Sumner, characterized as "the continued vicious, unfair editorials now appearing in The Times." Let her call to mind, also, the almost equally heart-breaking letters of "Historicus," and "consider" if Sir William Harcourt and his fellow-countrymen would be likely to enjoy such letters against England in these present days.

Furthermore, supposing there was in Europe to-day a nation as overpowering as England was to us in those days of agony, let her "consider" how Englishmen would like it if that nation let loose a sufficient number of Alabamas to sweep England's mercantile marine from the ocean to the same extent precisely that the Alabama swept on us.

I well remember the fleet of Russian war vessels which lay in the Hudson River, off the docks of West street, whose commander, as has since transpired, had sealed instructions to report for orders to President Lincoln in the event of the United States being attacked by England! I remember, also, the cruel, ill-bred, but thoroughly English, performance of the present Duke of Devonshire—then Lord Hartington—in wearing Confederate colors in his buttonhole at a party given by the late Mr. August Belmont in 1862.

All of which illustrates the quality of the sympathy we received from England in our days of trial—days when the kindly sympathy of England meant far more to us than by any possibility ours could now mean to her. In his farewell remarks the other day Lord Roberts, alluding with gratitude to the manifestation of American sympathy, said: "There is nothing like adversity to test the value of our friends." I agree with his lordship perfectly.

CHARLES D. NOTT.

Morris Heights, Dec. 26, 1899.

Neutral Nations with the Boers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In answer to your editorial, "Size and Sympathy" of to-day, and many other of your manifestations during the last weeks, I want to say that the explanation of the public opinion in the European countries, and even here in the United States, is to be found in quite another direction than you and M. Zola in his presumed words claim. The reason why such a large and overwhelming majority of all the neutral nations is on the side of the Boers is a strong and healthy feeling of right and righteousness, and I would like to ask you, Do you really mean that the progress of the world, the security of liberal institutions, the cause of civilization, would be promoted by subduing and humiliating right and justice, the highest, if not the only, purpose of all human culture?

EUGENE E. MIRTHS.

New York, Dec. 26, 1899.

SCHLEY FOR PRESIDENT.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It will be a difficult task for the Democratic Party to prevent the re-election of a Republican war President by nominating a civilian. They should place in nomination the real hero of the battle of Santiago de Cuba, Admiral Winfield Scott Schley, who is not only a warrior, but a student of the science of government, well skilled in civil law.

McKinley and his party have robbed him of one of the greatest naval victories in the world's history, because they fear that he might be the Democratic candidate for the Presidency. If the voters of these United States have an opportunity to right this wrong, I believe they will do it with a vengeance.

In August, 1898, to allay the agitation and pacify the people, President McKinley raised him to the rank of Rear Admiral, and now he has sent him to South America. But he cannot send him far enough away from the United States to keep him out of the White House at Washington if the people desire to place him there by their votes at this coming November election.

President McKinley has the support of the trusts, combines, and bosses, who control the machinery of the Republican Party. Admirals Dewey and Schley have the affection and hearts of the people.

Rear Admiral W. T. Sampson claims the victory at Santiago because he was superior in rank to Schley, and because he planned the battle one or two weeks in advance, but the facts are that all the planning he did, with the aid of Lieut. Hobson, was to sink a ship in the channel of the harbor, so as to keep Admiral Cervera from coming out, which was a complete failure.

This was a battle at sea. The Spanish Admiral made the attack, and all the planning on the American side was like a game of chess or checkers. It had to be done during the progress of the battle, for what course the enemy would take to escape was not known. If the battle had been lost, or if any of Admiral Cervera's ships had escaped, Schley would have had to take all the blame.

July 3, at about 8:45 A. M., Sampson signaled from his flagship to Schley, "Disregard movement from the Commander in Chief" and steamed eastward to Siboney, thus placing Schley in command of the fleet. Sampson was about twelve miles away with his flagship New York when the battle commenced. Admiral Schley, in the absence of Sampson, was the highest officer in rank, and if he was not in command, who was?

The venerable, honest Republican historian M. Halstead sums up the whole matter in a few words when he says, "Sampson was not in the combat."

Schley was ordered to Santiago by the Navy Department, and under his command, May 29, the Spanish fleet was discovered and completely blockaded. So it may be possible that all planning that could be done in advance was done by Schley. As the Spaniards emerged from the harbor, they steered westward, and Schley's movements were the crucial and deciding feature of the combat. Admiral Pasquale Cervera testified that it was his intention to ram Admiral Schley's flagship, the Brooklyn, with the Maria Teresa, and that he was only prevented from executing that intention by the loop movements. It looks like dirty politics to accuse Schley of trying to get away from the enemy, when his flagship was leading in the chase. Admiral Sampson reports that only one man was killed and one wounded in the battle, and both men were on Admiral Schley's flagship, the Brooklyn.

Secretary Long, Gen. Alger, and President McKinley are superior in rank to Sampson and Schley, and they are just as much entitled to claim the victory as Sampson. Cervera knows, and it should be known by all, that his fleet was smashed by the American squadron under command of Admiral Schley, who said: "There is glory enough for all."

It ended the war with Spain, for a week later Santiago surrendered, and within a month the peace protocol was signed. Winfield Scott Schley was born in Frederick County, Md., Oct. 9, 1839. He entered the Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., Sept. 20, 1856. He was graduated in 1860. Was married Sept. 10, 1863, to Anne Rebecca Franklin. They have two sons and one daughter. He was instructor at the Naval Academy from 1866 to 1869. He returned to the Naval Academy as head of the Department of Modern Languages in 1872. He was promoted by Presidents Lincoln, Johnson, Grant, Arthur, Cleveland, and has received the thanks of Congress.

HENRY S. GRIGGS.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 23, 1899.

The End of the Century.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As the greater includes the less, it is superfluous to quote a Cardinal after the Pope has spoken in regard to the ending of the century, but it may possibly interest those readers whose views are affected by the numbers of supporters of a theory rather than by their individual weight to know that the November number of The American Ecclesiastical Review opened with an article by his Eminence Cardinal Ferrata, beginning thus: "Fourteen months hence the nineteenth century will have come to an end." At the close of the article the matter of the date is included in this remark, referring to the year of jubilee: "It is with universal, extraordinary, and solemn prayer to Christ, our Redeemer, that the Catholic world, by the initiative of illustrious and zealous prelate, and the blessing and encouragement of the Holy Father, will close this century and solemnize the commencement of the next."

L. V.

Boston, Dec. 26, 1899.

NUGGETS.

Extreme Cases.

Some people are so fond of pets that they are always getting into one.—Jamestown Journal.

Where the Trouble Begins.

Weeks—I understand your baby has been very sick. Is the worst over?

Meeks—I'm afraid not. His health is all right, but we haven't named him yet.—Chicago News.

His Own Publisher.

"My first book of poems will be out next week."

"I suppose you'll be out considerable yourself at the same time."—Philadelphia North American.

Why She Held On to It.

Mrs. Wilful—My husband told me if I didn't like this brooch, you'd exchange it for me.

Jeweler—Certainly, madame. I'll be only too glad, as four different ladies of your set wanted it.—Jeweler's Weekly.

Only a Flurry.

Mrs. Stubb—John, isn't it strange? Here it was clear in Chicago yesterday and snowing in New York.

Mr. Stubb—Does the paper say that, Maria?

Mrs. Stubb—Well, John, it says there was a slight flurry in Wall Street. That's New York, isn't it?—Chicago News.

THE MINSTREL.

E. B. Smith in Minneapolis Journal.

Long years ago, from town to town,
And o'er the lonely moors beyond,
The Minstrel wandered, free from care,
A happy, roving vagabond.

No home had he he called his own,
No place wherein were wife and child;
And yet all doors were open thrown
And friendly faces greeting smiled.

A wanderer was he, who came Into the little worlds of those
Who never strayed beyond the hills
That round their humble dwellings rose.

He brought them tales of other lands,
And other peoples, far away;
Of grimy cities where a pall
Of smoke shut out the light of day.

Of lands that lie beyond the sea,
Whose people speak a foreign tongue;
Of nations that were old and gray
While yet their little world was young.

Strange tales for old and young alike
He told in rippling, lilting verse;
Beloved by peasant and by peer,
What need had he of scrip or purse?

To him were opened palace gates,
Where dwelt the noblest of the land;
And dainty ladies welcome gave,
And took in theirs his sun-browned hand.

For them he tuned a tender lay
Of sunny skies and fairer climes;
Of Abelard and Heloise,
And other loves, like theirs, sublime.

And when his song was done, he read
In tear-dimmed eye and tear-stained cheek
The power of

COUNCIL ON PHILIPPINES

Pro-Filipino Resolution Adopted and Then Practically Killed.

BRICE'S APPEAL SUCCESSFUL

Asked Whether Lawton's Slayers Should Be Upheld by Representatives of New York.

The members of the Council yesterday adopted a resolution denouncing the war in the Philippines. Subsequently, after a speech by Councilman Stewart M. Brice, who served as a volunteer officer in the Cuban campaign, the vote was reconsidered, and the resolution was placed on file, in effect, killing it. After this action had been taken more than half of the members in the Chamber crowded about Mr. Brice and congratulated him for having thus disposed of the resolution.

Councilman Goodwin, soon after the session began, called up the Aldermanic resolution expressing sympathy with the Boers, which was laid over at the last meeting. While this matter was pending Councilman Cassidy said that he wished to offer a similar resolution relating to the war in the Philippines. He then handed to the Clerk the following:

"Whereas, The National Government of the United States precipitated hostilities with the Kingdom of Spain on the occasion of the late Spanish-American war, subject to the expressed declaration publicly recognized by the United States that it was animated to commence the said war in the sacred name of freedom and not for any ulterior purpose of territorial aggrandizement; and

"Whereas, The National Government of the United States, as a result of the said Spanish-American war, obtained the title without the possession of the Philippine Islands; and

"Whereas, A state of war exists between the Republic of the United States and the Republic of the Philippines; and

"Whereas, American Republican Government has been interpreted by President Washington and President Monroe to the effect that it is the duty of American Commonwealth to avoid foreign entanglements, to prohibit European Governments from any invasion of territory in the Western Hemisphere, and to maintain the sacred pre-eminence of Republican institutions; and

"Whereas, The Federal Government of the United States, in violation of its expressed guarantee that it would wage the late Spanish-American war in the sacred cause of liberty and for no ulterior motive of territorial aggrandizement, has at the present moment engaged in a tyrannical war against the people of the Philippine Islands, attempting to suppress their inalienable rights as freemen and to trample upon the liberties and immunities of a race which deserves to be free because it has dared to die; now, therefore

"Be it resolved, That the Municipal Assembly of the City of New York hereby declares its profound sympathy with the Filipinos in their gallant struggle for independence, and protests with all earnestness, in the name of humanity itself, against the continuation of a war in the Philippines, which was commenced for partisan purposes, and has since been conducted in violation of the teachings and spirit of American democracy."

When the resolution had been read, Councilman Engel moved that it be laid on the table. Vice Chairman Oakley, who presided in the absence of President Guggenheimer, recognized Mr. Cassidy, who declared: "We all know that the war carried on against the Filipinos is the same kind of war that England is waging against the Boers. I am sincere when I say that I believe the Philippine war is ill-advised and unjustifiable, and we ought to express our condemnation of it."

By agreement with Mr. Goodwin, the sponsor of the Boer resolution, Mr. Cassidy withdrew his Filipino measure, and the Vice Chairman put the question on the adoption of the former. A number of "Yeas" were heard, and then Vice Chairman Oakley declared the resolution adopted unanimously, despite the fact that Councilman Leich was clamorous to be recorded in the negative. Similar tactics were observed in the case of Mr. Cassidy's Filipino resolution, and Mr. Leich denounced the Chair for preventing him from appearing on record as against its adoption.

While these proceedings were going on, Mr. Brice was absent. On his return he was told of what had happened. Gaining the attention of the Chair, Mr. Brice said:

"I regret that at this time, and especially on this day, [yesterday was Mr. Brice's birthday anniversary,] I am compelled to differ with my fellow-members, who are all my friends. Some time ago a resolution was adopted by this body expressing sympathy with the rebels and insurgents in the Philippine Islands. Unfortunately I was not present when this resolution was offered, so that I could not protest against its adoption.

"I could never come back to this room again if I didn't say something now. I am going to move a reconsideration of this vote. I had a brother in the Philippines, and I myself did all I could during the campaign in Cuba. Only last week a man was brought back to Manila dead—one of the bravest, most fearless, and courageous of our officers. Only last week we passed resolutions of sympathy for his family, and now we have passed resolutions praising those who killed him."

At this point Mr Brice's eyes filled with tears, his voice was broken by emotion, and he was compelled for a moment to pause to recover. Then he added:

"I move a reconsideration of the vote by which the resolution was adopted, and I trust I will never have to refer to the subject again."

Mr Brice's motion was unanimously adopted, and then, on motion of Mr. Hyland, the resolution was placed on file.

TRAIL OF PRISONERS IS LOST.

It Is Feared Insurgents Have Sent Them to the Mountains—Filipinos Terrorize Friendly Natives.

MANILA, Dec. 29.—Col. Luther R. Hare of the Thirty-third Infantry, who has been following a party of American prisoners, lost track for three days, about Dec. 20, of such signs and evidences of their passage as they customarily left behind them. It is thought the prisoners were separated and conveyed to remote parts of the mountains, thus increasing the difficulties of Gen. Young's troops to effect a rescue.

The insurgents who evacuated the coast towns between Dagupan and Vigan, fleeing to the mountains before the advancing Americans, are returning in small bands to the towns the American do not occupy, terrorizing the natives and Chinamen who showed friendship for the Americans. The natives and Chinamen are seeking the protection of the American garrisons.

Col. Wessels's cavalry, while scouting in the vicinity of Trinidad, found evidence of Filipino soldiers being in that vicinity, but it was impossible to bring about an engagement.

The recent increase in the garrison of Nueva Ecija, against a threatened rebel attack on Christmas Day averted trouble.

Gen. Wheeler, who was recently in Manila requesting an appointment south in the line of the expected campaign, is now at Panique.

THE FIGHT NEAR MONTALBAN.

Gen. Otis Reports Prisoners, Arms, and Ammunition Were Captured.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The Adjutant General received a cable message from Gen. Otis this morning, telling of the capture of a mountain stronghold beyond Montalban, northeast of San Mateo, formerly supposed to be impregnable, and the capture of many prisoners and a large quantity of arms and ammunition The dispatch is as follows:

"Manila, Dec. 29, 1899.

"Adjutant General, War Department:

"Col Lockett, with regiment, two battalions Forty-sixth, Col. Schuyler; one Forty-fifth, Col. Dorst, and Company Twenty-seventh Infantry, two guns, Capt. Van Dusen, attacked enemy 600 strong on mountain stronghold beyond Montalban, northeast of San Mateo. Large number killed and wounded; twenty-four taken prisoners. Lockett captured 1 cannon, 40 rifles, 20,000 rounds of ammunition, 500 pounds powder, arsenal fortifications, all food supplies, and considerable other property. This captured point is situated on mountain trail and was formerly supposed to be impregnable. Our casualties, Lieut. Enslow, Eleventh Cavalry, and five enlisted men wounded, mostly slight. Private Matson, Forty-fifth Infantry, drowned."

TRAIN KILLS AN OFFICER.

Dies Over Lieut. Edward Taylor Near Bautista.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Gen. Otis, at Manila, cabled the War Department to-day that First Lieut. Edward Taylor, Twelfth Infantry, was run over by a train crossing the Agno River near Bautista, on the 26th inst., and died in a few hours.

Lieut. Taylor was born in Illinois, and was appointed to the army from Idaho in June, 1898. He was graduated at the Military Academy, and assigned to the Twelfth Infantry, with which he served in South Dakota and Nebraska up to the time of the outbreak of the Spanish war, when he accompanied the expedition against Santiago, Cuba. At the close of the war he rejoined his regiment and served in Kansas and Missouri until February, 1899, when he accompanied his regiment to the Philippines.

The Logan with Troops at Singapore.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The Adjutant General received a dispatch to-day saying that the transport Logan, bound for Manila, carrying the Forty-first Volunteer Infantry, arrived at Singapore to-day, with all well on board.

CHEERING FOR AGUINALDO.

The Government's Defender Interrupted at the People's Institute—Prof. Grosvenor on the War.

Seeds of anti-imperialism sown broadcast in the People's Institute by Gamaliel Bradford and the Anti-Imperialistic League a week ago would seem to have taken root, reached maturity, and borne fruit if the reception accorded Prof. E. A. Grosvenor of Amherst College, who spoke before the institute at the Cooper Union last evening in defense of the present policy of the Administration, be a criterion. The name of President McKinley evoked no demonstration, but whenever Aguinaldo, or the Filipino cause was mentioned there was great applause, in the midst of which only the sharpest ears could detect a few hisses.

Nearly every seat in the great auditorium was occupied. Charles Sprague Smith, Managing Director of the institute, before introducing Prof. Grosvenor, took occasion to deny in every detail a report published yesterday to the effect that Attorney General F. S. Monnett of Ohio, a strong opponent of the Standard Oil Company, had been prevented from delivering a lecture on "Trusts" in the same place the night before through the influence of that corporation and allied interests.

The reprt said tht the Standard Oil Company, or some of its leading members, had contributed in cash or promises about $500,000 to the People's Institute and that threats had been made that this great donation would be recalled if Mr. Monnett should be permitted to speak under its auspices.

Mr. Smith said that no person prominently identified with the Standard Oil Company had ever given or promised one cent to the institute, and that Mr. Monnett's engagement had simply been transferred for reasons of convenience to the week of Feb. 18, when a conference on the subject of trusts will be held.

Prof. Grosvenor recited the facts relating to the bloodshed, woe, and troubles which have attended prior acquisitions of territory by the United States, but said that all had been ultimately successful, and that while the Constitution does not provide for expansion, the policy cannot be said to be unconstitutional, but rather extra-constitutional.

Every such accession, he said, had been strenuously opposed by some of the most eminent persons in American public and private life, and Presidents who had conducted affairs connected with them had been widely branded as robbers, usurpers, and despots, precisely the same arguments being used as are now heard in the case of the Philippines.

"But after every struggle between the expansionists and the anti-expansionists," Prof. Grosvenor said, "the 'ants' could not even be sure that they had retarded the decree of destiny for even a minute." He said that those opposed to expansion have not the great sustaining power that Lincoln and other great statesmen have possessed—faith in the common people—and all their arguments are founded on distrust. He continued:

"The most cruel thing of all, and a statement that should blast the tongue that utters it, is that there is danger in a standing army—that those boys of ours, flesh of our flesh, bone of our bone, when they come back from their campaigns will be so debauched that they will take away our liberties."

Prof. Grosvenor answered other objections of the anti-imperialists and said that Congress would frame laws that would protect American labor from Asiatic competition, and then said: "They say that the united inhabitants of the Philippines are fighting for liberty and that they would rather die than submit to American aggression and—"

He proceeded no further, for his voice was drowned in a wild tumult of cheers. President Smith rushed to his side and held up his hand, but it was several minutes before Prof. Grosvenor could utter another word. Then he said: "If the Filipinos are fighting for liberty, God bless them." There was some more cheering, and then he said: "We hold to the policy that government depends upon the consent of the governed. There!" he exclaimed, "isn't that enough anti-Imperialism for you, and can't I go on with the rest that I have to say?"

This silenced the audience for a time, and the professor finished by reading portions of the Philippine Commission's report, Gen. Lawton's last authentic interview, and a private letter from John J. Toffey of Jersey City, a First Lieutenant, describing the enthusiasm of pacified natives in the Fourth of July celebration at Manila. But the questions put to him after he concluded showed a trend against expansion.

The discussion of the subject by the institute will conclude next Friday evening with a debate between Prof. R. A. Seligman in defense of the Administration and Edward M. Shepard of Brooklyn on the opposite side.

THE CARDENAS CONTRACT VETO.

Gen. Wood Doubted the Wisdom of Ratification at Present.

HAVANA, Dec. 29.—With reference to the proposal of the Municipality of Cardenas to award certain contracts—a proposal vetoed by Gen. Wood—the latter says it can be taken as a general principle that, with the elections so near, it would not be wise to ratify any contract extending over fifty years. It is quite in order, he considers, to appoint necessary officials, to employ and pay men for sanitary work, and to carry on similar undertakings of a pressing nature; but it is quite another matter to make a long-time contract.

Gen. Wood feels that everything of this kind should be left to those chosen by the people. His ruling does not affect the Dady contract, as asserted by some of the local papers. Gen. Wood says he knows very little of that matter, and has much more important business requiring attention.

Cuban Official Condones Bribery.

HAVANA, Dec. 29.—Señor Lanuza, Secretary of Justice in Gen. Brooke's Cabinet, recently told a Cuban lawyer who had complained regarding the acceptance by a Cuban Judge of $1,000 as a bribe that it was unpatriotic for a Cuban to complain of a small thing like that while the country was in the hands of the foreigner. "These little things," he is reported to have said, "can be attended to after the work of reconstruction is finished."

For More Inspectors General.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Inspector General Breckinridge has prepared the text of a bill for the proposed increase of the Inspector General's department. The bill provides that the number of Inspectors General shall be increased from nineteen to twenty-five officers, to rank as follows: One as Brigadier General, eight as Colonels, eight as Lieutenant Colonels, and eight as Majors.

The Scipio and the Rocket Sold.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The Secretary of the Navy has arranged for the sale of the collier Scipio to Ludwig Rubelli of Philadelphia, at $41,550, and for the sale of the naval tug Rocket to James Tregarther & Son of New York, at $1,123. The purchasers in each case made the highest bid received for these vessels, which were recently condemned for naval service.

Gen. Davis Sails for Home To-day.

SAN JUAN DE PUERTO RICO, Dec. 29.—Governor General Davis and Lieut. Battle, his Aide de Camp, sail for the United States Saturday on the steamer Ponce, bound for Washington. Orders arrived here on Thursday for the General to report at Washington for consultation with the Secretary of War.

The gratifying outlook for 1900.—See the Annual Financial Supplement of THE NEW YORK TIMES of Monday, Jan. 1. Special articles and reports from bankers, merchants, and men of affairs and from official sources here and abroad. Also, tables and charts showing fluctuations in prices of securities and staples. This supplement of 32 pages will be given with every copy of THE NEW YORK TIMES of Monday, Jan. 1. Price for both, one cent.—Adv.

FRANCE PLANS DEFENSE

Government Will Ask for a Largely Increased Fleet.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—The Government will submit to the Chamber of Deputies at the beginning of January a bill providing for the defense of the French coasts and colonies and to increase the strength of the fleet. This does not involve an increase in the expenditure. The cost of the defense of the coasts and colonies is estimated at 120,000,000f., spread over two and a half years. This sum will be provided for by 50,000,000f. now annually set aside to pay off certain bonds, which sum becomes free this year by final repayment of the bonds.

The expense of the increase of the fleet will be met by utilising 55,000,000f., out of the 105,000,000f. annually devoted to the construction of new vessels. At the end of two years the whole 105,000,000f. can be devoted to the new naval programme.

The total outlay, which is estimated at 400,000,000f., will provide, it is understood, for the construction of twelve first-class ironclads, several torpedo boat destroyers, and a large number of torpedo boats.

Already the press denounces the scheme as "inadequate." La Patrie says:

"It is tantamount to a rejection of the proposal of M. Lockroy, former Minister of Marine, to expend 500,000,000f. for the immediate reconstruction of the French Navy, because the present scheme only asks that 400,000,000f. be expended within the next six years, while the building of the proposed ironclads will take almost as long."

MR. WHITE AGAIN IN BERLIN.

The Ambassador, with Mrs. White, Returns from a Vacation in Italy—Complains of Impositions.

BERLIN, Dec. 29.—United States Ambassador White, accompanied by Mrs. White, returned to-day, by way of Munich, from a two months' vacation passed at Alassio, in Italy. Both are greatly improved in health.

Mr. White says that the sanitary conditions of Italian cities show a very marked improvement upon those of his former experiences, and that the hotels are now much better managed than they used to be. The great drawback to travel in Italy, as he has found it, is the lack of a proper managerial system on the Italian railroads. Apparently permission has been granted to various persons to annoy the traveling public by overcharges and exactions. Mr. and Mrs. White witnessed, and indeed experienced, not a little of this petty tyranny. In several cases the Ambassador intends to lodge complaints, hoping to save other Americans from similar impositions.

Mrs. White lost twenty-five pounds in mountain climbing, and says she now feels as slender as when she was a young girl. They met American and English friends in Alassio, like Mrs. Eugene Schuyler and her sister, Prof. Fiske, Prof. Campbell, and Mrs. Rochester. Christmas was celebrated there by a Christmas tree and an entertainment given to English and Americans in town. The weather throughout their visit was delightful.

Mrs. White is looking forward to New Year's Eve, particularly to the midnight Court reception. She will wear a gray brocade train, lined with straw-colored satin. The dress, of the same material and cut décolleté, will be trimmed with Venetian lace and embroidered with insertion. Her ornaments will be diamonds and pearls.

NEW YEAR'S DAY IN PARIS.

Americans Will Observe It in the American Fashion.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—The American colony in Paris will observe New Year's Day in American fashion. United States Ambassador Porter and Mrs. Porter will receive on Monday, and any American in Paris, with or without invitation, will be heartily welcomed. United States Consul General Gowdy and Mrs. Gowdy will receive on Tuesday, in order not to conflict with Gen. Porter's reception. J. Allison Bowen, Deputy Consul General, will assist Mr. and Mrs. Gowdy.

BEG VICTORIA FOR A PARDON.

Frenchwomen Ask Clemency for an Infanticide.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—La Fronde's petition to Queen Victoria for the pardon of the French teacher, Louise Masset, recently condemned to death in London for infanticide, whose execution has been fixed for Jan. 9 next, continues to attract signatures. Other papers now express a hope that this appeal, made by a journal written and produced solely by women's labor, may be successful. It is pointed out that La Fronde is one of the few French papers which defended Great Britain's course in South Africa. It was also one of the first to denounce the outrageous caricatures of Queen Victoria that recently appeared in certain French illustrated papers.

The appeal, which every woman teacher in France has been asked to sign, and which has already been signed by many notable women of society and letters, is eloquently couched, and says in part:

"The undersigned, teachers and French women, beg the great Queen who has always been a perfect mother, to have pity upon an unworthy mother. Too much blood is flowing at the present moment. Do not let that of a woman swell the accursed torrent."

Dinner to an American in Paris.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—Yesterday the Society of American Painters in Paris gave a dinner to John B. Cauldwell, Director of Fine Arts in the American section of the Paris Exposition. Among those present were Prof. Benjamin D. Woodward, Assistant Commissioner General; Augustus St. Gaudens, the sculptor; William Dannat, the painter; Mr. Eddy, and Mr. Powell.

Americans to Attend a Launching.

BERLIN, Dec. 29.—Ambassador White, Secretary of the United States Embassy Jackson, and Lieut. Commander Beehler, United States Naval Attaché here, have accepted invitations to attend the launching on Jan. 3, of the new Hamburg-American steamer Deutschland at the Vulcan Works, Stettin. Emperor William will be present, and Count von Bülow will name the vessel.

China Makes Concessions to France.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—Great satisfaction is felt in Government circles at the successful conclusion of the negotiations with China in the Kwang-Chan-Wan affair. France has obtained everything she demanded, including a favorable settlement of other outstanding questions. China will pay a money indemnity and grant a number of industrial concessions.

Cost of Indian Famine Relief.

CALCUTTA, Dec. 29.—Almost 3,000,000 persons are receiving famine relief. The Government is spending nearly two lakhs of rupees daily. It is estimated that the cost of the relief to the end of March will be three crores of rupees. Owing to the rapid increase in the number of people seeking relief, the Viceroy, Lord Curzon, invites a closer scrutiny of the claims of applicants.

Venezuelan Rebels in Flight.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Dec. 29.—The Hernandez revolution can be said to be ended. Hernandez is fleeing with 200 men to the Colombian boundary. The Government troops and the Minister of War, Gen. Pulido, are back at Caracas.

New Trial for Condemned Prince.

BERLIN, Dec. 29.—Prince Arenberg, recently court-martialed in German Southwest Africa for killing a subordinate without provocation and fiendishly torturing his victim while dying, and who was ordered here for sentence, will, it is said, have a new trial.

The Prairie Leaves for Home Tuesday.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—The Prairie has completed the work of unloading the first shipment of the United States Government exhibit for the Paris Exposition, and will sail for the United States next Tuesday.

M. Cambon to Return Next Month.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—It is announced that M. Cambon, French Ambassador to the United States, will leave for Washington early next month.

Composer Milloecker Critically Ill.

VIENNA, Dec. 29.—Milloecker, the composer, is suffering from a paralytic stroke. His condition is critical.

"FAUST" AT THE OPERA.

Mme. Calvé Gives a Beautiful Performance of the Heroine of Gounod's Masterpiece.

The promised reappearance of Mme. Calvé as Marguerite in Gounod's "Faust" took place last night. When the eminent French soprano was first announced for this part she was taken ill, and Miss Adams was heard in her place. It was this change which caused so much complaint that Mr. Grau had to decide that hereafter money would be refunded in case changes were made in the allotment of the principal parts. The audience which assembled to hear Mme. Calvé last night was not so largely in excess of the subscription list as one might have been led to suspect from the public clamor. But it was a large assemblage, and it demonstrated in an unmistakable manner its delight in the admirable interpretation of Marguerite by Mme. Calvé.

When this lady first emerged before the public gaze as Marguerite there was considerable difference of opinion as to the artistic value of her impersonation, and most of the difference was in this paper. What was praised by some as unconventionality was here condemned as extravagance, for to be unconventional is not in and of itself meritorious. In her dramatic work Mme. Calvé's departures from the comfortable traditions of Gounod's opera carried conviction, and though they were not always discreetly fitted into her general scheme, they aroused discussion, and sometimes stimulated the imagination.

It was with her singing of the music that most fault was found. She distorted the phrasing, introduced unjustifiable readings—as when she sang in a hysterical staccato laugh the slurred run at the beginning of the jewel song—and many pantings and forcings of her voice generally disturbed the melodic polish of Gounod's music. Last night to the astonishment of those whose memories of the performance were clear, the old faults had gone, and it was as a singer pure and simple that Mme. Calvé added another to her already valuable list of operatic triumphs. This is not saying that her former interesting embodiment and development of the character of Marguerite has been thrown aside. Mme. Calvé is too much an actress for that; but she now conveys her reading of the part to the audience, not only without violation of the composer's intentions, but through a radiantly beautiful adherence to them. Her voice last night had a perfectly delicious quality and a velvety smoothness. She sang the notes faithfully and phrased every measure with an exquisite art. The lovely touches of vocal coloring which she gave to her music and the eloquent dramatic nuances were nearly all new, and were admirable improvements upon her former reading. No one can sing the jewel song, for example, more beautifully than she sang it last night, and throughout the garden scene her lyric work was that of a mistress of vocal art.

In later scenes, of course, she introduced the requisite note of tragedy, but she never forgot the demands of good singing, and in this her Marguerite may be called a new one. Mme. Calvé, it must be confessed, is erratic in her work, but she shows a general tendency toward heights of potent reposefulness altogether worthy of praise. A gifted woman, indeed, she at times seems to be moving toward the highest level of her art. Genius she has, and culture she is acquiring. Her career is a source of constant interest.

Associated with her in last night's performance were M. Alvarez as Faust, M. Edouard de Reszke as Mephistopheles, Signor Scotti as Valentine, and Mme. Mantelli as Siebel. Of the first named it is only necessary to say that his interpretation of Faust did not in any respect differ from that already made known here. His best work was heard in "Salut demeure" and in the last act, while he sang flat in the same places as before. Signor Scotti was a very good Valentine. His fresh, sonorous voice is pleasant to hear. M. Edouard de Reszke was the same excellent Mephistopheles as he has been at all times.

The stage settings of the opera were the same as heretofore, except that the church scene was played in the street, a proceeding for which there is no artistic excuse. The management of the lights in the garden scene was again very bad. The orchestra played well and Signor Mancinelli conducted in his customary manner.

SOCIETY AT THE OPERA.

Mrs. George Gould Makes Her First Appearance This Season.

Mrs. George Gould made her first appearance this season at the opera last evening. She had with her Miss Greta Pomoroy. Mrs. Gould was in blue silk covered with strands of pearls. Miss Pomoroy wore black.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, in a white satin gown embroidered in pearls and a large diamond ornament in her hair, was with Mrs. Astor, who was in white brocade and diamonds.

Mrs. Oelrichs, in her favorite blue, had with her Mrs. George De Forest, who wore a gown of black iridescent jet and white and green tulle shoulder straps. It was in style a copy of the famous gown worn by Mme. Recamier.

Among others in the house were Mr. and Mrs. George L. Rives, Mrs. Duncan Elliott, Mrs. George Crocker, Miss Rutherford, Mrs. Alexander Van Nest, Miss Van Nest, Mr. Joseph M. Lum, Mrs. Alite Rockefeller, Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Leggett, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Huger Pratt, Mr. Gouverneur Kortright, Mr. Frederick Baldwin, and Mr. Murray Young.

Roland Reed Resting Comfortably.

It was announced at St. Luke's Hospital early this morning that there was no change in the condition of Roland Reed, the actor, and that he was resting comfortably.

FESTIVITIES AT LAKEWOOD.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Dec. 29.—Old eighteen ninety-nine will be ushered out in great style to-morrow evening with the grand New Year's Eve ball to be given at the Lakewood Hotel, for which 1,000 invitations have been issued. The members of George J. Gould's country club have invited their friends to the clubhouse for a New Year's Eve dance, and the Laurel House will also entertain its guests the same night with a dance. The capacity of the Lakewood Hotel is reached to-night, there being fully 700 people registered, and cots are now the order.

Many of these newcomers and the cottage set were entertained in the theatre of the hotel to-night with a performance by the Columbia College sophomores, class of 1902, of Shirley's comedy, "The Gay Mr. Van." The theatre was crowded with an appreciative audience, and the entertainment was highly satisfactory to all. Some of the patronesses of the event were Mrs. Seth Low, Mrs. Alfred De Cordova, Mrs. Joseph Drexel, Mrs. C. Vanderbilt Cross, Mrs. M. C. Wentworth, Mrs. J. Hooker Hamersley, Mrs. Philip J. Sands Mrs. Anson R. Flower, Mrs. Stuyvesant Leroy, Jr., Mrs. Isaac V. Brokaw, Mrs. A. F. Schermerhorn, Mrs. M. Livingston, Mrs. Daniel Lamont, Mrs. George B. De Forest, and Mrs. Theodore Sutro.

CALLED ON THE WRONG WIDOW.

William Kenyon, fifty-four years old, who says he is a real estate dealer at 107 West Ninety-fifth Street, and Edward B. Foote, sixty-two years old, who says he is a retired merchant, living in the Grand Union Hotel, were locked up in the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Police Station last night. Kenyon is charged with being a suspicious character and Foote with intoxication.

The two men rang the bell at the home of Mrs. Ida Walters, a widow living at 302 West One Hundred and Twenty-second Street, and demanded to see Mrs. Walters. When she went to the door Kenyon declared she was not the person he wished to see, but again repeated her name.

Mrs. Walters's sweetheart, who is engaged to be married to her soon, Policeman George Fletcher of the West Thirtieth Street Police Station, happened to be making a call and overheard the strange talk of the two men at the door. He decided to place both under arrest, after questioning them and getting conflicting statements from both.

Mrs. Walters's home was invaded by burglars a short time ago, and her name appeared in the newspapers because of the bravery she then displayed. It is thought by the police that the burglary and the strange visit of the two men arrested last night are more than a mere coincidence.

Abraham Bernard Reappointed.

Abraham Bernard, who is so regular "a first-nighter" at the theatres that managers and players both regard him as a "Mascot," was reappointed yesterday by Justice Daniel F. Martin as Clerk of the Sixth Municipal District Court for six years. It is understood that his appointment was requested by Fire Commissioner John J. Scannell and was indorsed by Richard Croker. Mr. Bernard has been clerk in the "Sixth [illegible] for more than twenty-five years.

WHAT IS DOING IN SOCIETY.

The clubs and the up-town fashionable resorts began yesterday to put on a deserted appearance, due to the departure of the advance guard of society for the country, where, as for several years past, it will spend the New Year holidays. A walk on the avenue revealed few familiar faces and forms, and so dull were the restaurants at the dinner and supper hour that, except for the biting cold outside to remind one that it was midwinter, it might easily have been imagined that it was, instead, the Summer solstice.

***

The majority of the seekers after country pleasures and scenes who left town yesterday went to Tuxedo, Long Island, and to the Upper Hudson. Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills have a large house party over the New Year at Staatsburg, and all the cottages which have this Winter been kept open at Tuxedo are filled with guests. Mr. and Mrs. Anson Phelps Stokes on Thursday took a large party of young people to Lenox, where Shadowbrook has been opened for a week. This party, for the most part, was made up of what is coming to be known as the "Junior Cotillion" and "Cinderella" sets in New York society, so called because the young men and women who compose them are members of the two dances of those names. The hospitality at Shadowbrook will be dispensed on a lavish scale, and the guests of the Stokeses will enjoy all outdoor sports of which the weather conditions will permit. Some of the country houses along the Sound have also been opened for the New Year holidays, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Berkeley Parsons (Miss Walker) will give a large dance on New Year's night at their house at Rye for Miss Evelyn Parsons, who is a niece of Mr. Parsons and a débutante of this year. Everywhere at the country clubs and the country houses which are open or to be opened there will be New Year's Eve parties and informal dances, with, of course, the customary bowl of egg nog, in whose contents the parting year and the new one will be toasted.

***

Yesterday was the anniversary of the announcement of the engagement of Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Miss Virginia Fair, which, as will be remembered, was formally announced at a dinner at the Astoria given to the young couple by Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr., at which were present Mr. and Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs and other relatives and friends. It is somewhat amusing to also recall the fact that the announcement of the engagement was coupled with the further one that the wedding of the couple would not take place until young Mr. Vanderbilt had completed his college course in June, 1901. At last accounts Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., who have been married nearly nine months, were touring in an automobile in the South of France.

***

The wedding of Mr. Eugene Lentilhon and Miss Florence Bergh-Brown will be celebrated in the Church of the Heavenly Rest on Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 27. The announcement was published yesterday of the wedding of Mr. Joseph Lea Fearing, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fearing, of 690 Park Avenue, and Miss Iola Lamar Munroe, the daughter of Mr. Nathan Munroe of Macon, Ga. Miss Munroe is a relative of the famous Lamar family of Georgia. Mr. Fearing is a graduate of the class of '96 at Columbia. The engagement is announced by Mr. George H. Benjamin of his daughter, Miss Mary Benjamin, and Mr. Henry H. Rogers, Jr.

***

This Saturday brings fewer social events than any of its seven predecessors. The Saturday Cotillion will be danced at Delmonico's this evening; Mrs. Everett M. Culver and Miss Clark, daughters of Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, will give a reception at their apartment, 175 West Fifty-eighth Street, Mrs. De Berkeley Parsons of 294 Madison Avenue will give a dinner at her residence, and Dr. Octavius White and Mrs. White (Miss Chanler) will give a small and early dance at their residence for their grandchildren, the Misses White, daughters of Dr. John Blake White.

***

There are only a few well-known people booked to sail on the Campania to-day for Liverpool. Among these are Lord Monk Bretton, Miss Kate Forsythe, the actress; Mr. E. F. Shepard of Paris, Mr. Herbert F. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Bailey, Major E. G. H. Atherley, and Mr. Harold S Vanderbilt. On the Graf Waldersee to Plymouth are booked Mrs. W. H. Catlin, Dr. Arthur T. Thompson, Mrs. H. S. Dale, and the Misses Dale, and Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Gray.

***

The Germanic, which arrived yesterday from Liverpool, brought, among other passengers, Frederick A. Brooks, Col. Foster and Miss Edith Foster, Prof. Patrick Geddes and Mrs. Geddes, Mrs. Jackson, Miss Leonora Jackson and Ernest Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. S. McAlpin, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Moore, Mr. J. Howard Temple, and Mrs. Margaret L. Warren. As announced yesterday in this column, the Werra, which sails to-day for Mediterranean ports, will take, among other passengers, Mrs. C. L. Cadwalader and children of Philadelphia, Mrs. Alfred Minot and Miss Frances Minot of Boston, and the Rev. Dr. J. Tuttle-Smith and Mrs. J. Tuttle-Smith of this city.

***

Mrs. David H. Greer and the Misses Greer, the wife and daughters of the Rev. David H. Greer of St. Bartholomew's, will spend the New Year's holidays at East Hampton, L. I., where they have with them a large party of young people.

***

A reception will be given this afternoon by Mrs. Thomas Andrews of 48 East Sixty-seventh Street, to introduce her granddaughter, Miss Florence Deen, daughter of Mr. William Morris Deen of Short Hills, N. J. Mrs. Reginald Arnold, and Miss Lita Berry, Miss Constance Berry, Mrs. Francis Palmer, and Miss di Zerega will assist Mrs. Andrews and Miss Deen in receiving. Mrs. Daniel J. O'Connor of 30 West Sixtieth Street will give a reception on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 6, at her residence, to introduce her daughter, Miss O'Connor. Mrs. O'Connor is the organizer and chief patroness of the dancing class known as Mrs. O'Connor's, and which held its second meeting at Delmonico's last night.

***

The Westchester Hounds will meet to-day at Port Chester, on Tuesday at Hartsdale, and on Saturday next at White Plains. The Meadow Brook Hounds promise, should the weather be favorable, a meet this afternoon at the Meadow Brook Club. Mr. Charles Pfizer announces that the Essex County Hounds will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Highbridge, N. J.

***

The children's and young people's entertainments still keep up, and the school girls and school and college boys are beginning to show the effects of their week of gayety. Mrs. Chester G. Griswold of No. 23 West Forty-eighth Street will give a dinner and theatre party this evening for her sons, who are students at Princeton.

***

Mrs. Albert Barnes Boardman of No. 40 West Fifty-third Street will give at her residence, on Jan. 3, a luncheon for her daughter, Miss Cecil Boardman, and other débutantes of the season. The guests will be the Misses Evelyn Parsons, Hilda Tiffany, Jean Brown, Mary Crimmins, Mildred C. Dix, Helen Dominick, Katherine McClure, Emily Grugan, Dorothy Edwards, Lena Fanshawe, Elsie Ladd, and Emily Trowbridge, all débutantes of this season, Miss Lottie Miller, who came out last year, and Miss Caterina Fachiri, who will not make her début until next year.

***

The second meeting of the Friday evening dances popularly known as Mrs. Benjamin S. Church's class was held in the large ballroom at Sherry's last evening. The patronesses of this class are Mmes. Henry R. Beekman, John M. Bowers, Benjamin S. Church, Edward Curtis, Frederic J. de Peyster, Frederic Goodridge, John Clarkson Jay, Stuyvesant Fish Morris, Arthur J. Peabody, Walden Pell, (Miss Hyatt,) and George Schieffelin. There was a cotillion led by Mr. Alexander Hadden. The members and guests were received by Mrs. Benjamin S. Church, Mrs. George Schieffelin, Mrs. John M. Bowers, and Mrs. Edward Curtis. Among the dancers were Miss Julia Pierson, Miss Church, Miss Edith Jay, the Misses de Peyster, Miss Julia Delafield, Miss Josephine Roe, the Misses Dominick, Miss May Beeckman, Miss Helen Peabody, Miss Louise Gallatin, Miss Bowers, Miss Cecil Boardman, Miss Sturgis, Miss Georgette Kidd, and Messrs. W. H. Fearing, Harry Batchelder, John Jay, Alfred Pell, Montgomery Strong, James Pierson, Arthur de Peyster, Lawrence Atterbury, Frederick Barthlomew, Nathan Hard, Wolcott Robbins, Philip Birkhead, John Van S. Oddie, Augustus F. Ireland, and Arthur [illegible].

Mrs. Louis Faugeres Bishop, (Miss Gruner,) who was married last month to Dr. Bishop, has issued cards for "at homes" on Thursdays in January at her residence, 54 West Fifty-fifth Street.

HUNT BALL ON STATEN ISLAND.

The annual subscription ball of the Richmond County Country Club was held last evening in the clubhouse, at Garrisons, S. I. The affair was attended by over 300 people, prominent on the island. Many guests came from New York. The lower part of the spacious clubhouse was given up to dancing, and the rooms were tastefully decorated with ferns, palms, ivy leaves, and potted plants. The room was lighted with myriads of colored electric bulbs. Before the ball the residents in the vicinity of the clubhouse entertained parties at dinner. Among them were Stacy C. Richmond, George Cromwell, James McBride, Daniel S. Haze, Walter C. Kelo, Charles A. McMasters, Walter L. Clark, Ernst Flagg, Henry M. Dunn, and J. Harper Bonnell. The ball was formally opened at 10 o'clock, and supper was served in the dining room at midnight. Music was furnished by a New York orchestra.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Harper Bonnell and the Misses Bonnell, Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Sloofy, Mr. and Mrs. De Frees Britten, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Day, Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Eggena, Mr. and Mrs. David H. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hanling, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Knowlton, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Nixon, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Outerbridge, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Outerbridge, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander D. Shaw,

FATHER MALONE IS DEAD

Aged Rector of Sts. Peter and Paul Passed Away Peacefully.

BROTHER'S FAMILY AT BEDSIDE

Father Bennett the Only One of the Parish Priests Present, It Is Said —Father Malone's Will.

Father Sylvester Malone, the aged pastor of the Church of Sts. Peter and Paul, died peacefully at 7:15 o'clock yesterday morning in the rectory of the church, 69 South Third Street, Brooklyn. There were present at his bedside his sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward Malone, and her three children, Sylvester, Marcella, and Maud; all of whom had been living in the parish house since Father Malone became seriously ill a few weeks ago. When it became evident on Thursday afternoon that the venerable priest's end was near, Father Bennett, the youngest assistant priest in the parish, in whom Father Malone had taken a great interest, was sent for, and administered extreme unction. At 3 o'clock yesterday morning Father Malone became unconscious, and remained in this condition until the end.

On account of the discord in the house between the relatives of Father Malone on one side and the rectory servants and the priests on the other, neither Father O'Brien nor Father Burke, who were at odds with the relatives, were summoned to the bedside. It was not until nearly two hours after the old priest had passed away, it is said, that the priests and servants in the house were apprised of his death. When it became generally known to the public in the Eastern District of Brooklyn that Father Malone was dead sorrow was expressed on every side. The flag on the parochial school attached to the church and the flag on the church were at once placed at half mast. The flag on St. Vincent de Paul's Academy, in North Sixth Street, and the flags on all the other parochial schools in the borough were also lowered.

One of the most affected in the parish house when the news of Father Malone's death was made known was Miss Winnie Brennan, the old housekeeper. Miss Brennan had been in Father Malone's employ for twenty-five years. She said that she had not been permitted to see Father Malone since Christmas Day. She made this statement:

"Father Malone died an unhappy death. None of his friends were allowed to be at his bedside. Not even the priests were with him to administer spiritual consolation when his end was near."

The body of the dead priest is resting in the front parlor on the second floor of the house. The American flag, which Father Malone loved so devotedly, is draped over the mantelpiece near the casket, while in his hands is clasped a set of prayer pearls which he used from youth.

Vicar General McNamara, representing Bishop McDonnell, reached the parish house at 1 o'clock. He said that the body will be taken to the church on Monday afternoon, where it will lie in state until the funeral services, which will take place on Tuesday. Requiem mass will be celebrated on Tuesday morning. The interment will probably be in Calvary Cemetery. Vicar General McNamara stated that on account of Sunday and Monday being days of obligation the body could not be taken to the church before that time.

The news of the death of Father Malone has been cabled to Rome, and all day yesterday telegrams of condolence were received by the parish priest at the rectory. When the death of Father Malone was made known to ex-Judge George L. Fox, who drew up Father Malone's will, he consented to make known the contents. The will was drawn up Nov. 6 last, the witnesses being Father Martin Carroll of St. Vincent de Paul's Church, Mgr. James Duffy of St. Agnes's Church, and Mr. Fox. It bequeaths to the Rev. J. Sullivan of St. John's College, $500; to Sylvester Malone, a nephew of Father Malone, $2,500, with all his pictures and paintings in the parochial residence except the painting of Father Malone, which is given to Sts. Peter and Paul's Church for the McCaddin Memorial Hall; Mary Malone, the widow of his brother, Patrick, residing in Ireland, $100; Winnie Brennan, his housekeeper, $1,000; the Sisters of the Bon Secor Order, $200; Bishop McDonnell is bequeathed $1,000, in trust for Joseph L. O'Keefe, a nephew of Miss Brennan, a theological student; his Latin and theological books are left in trust to Bishop McDonnell for St. John's College; his English works go to his own church for the McCaddin Memorial; all his chalices, ciboriums, vestments, church ornaments, household furniture, and plate go to the church.

The residue of the estate is left to St. Catharine's Hospital, in Williamsburg, and to St. John's Hospital, in Long Island City. The executors are Richard R. Browne and Richard K. Maguire, Trustees of Sts. Peter and Paul's Church.

Father Malone had no real estate, and his estate, Mr. Fox said, amounts to between $6,000 and $7,000. A ten-thousand-dollar life insurance policy is made payable to the family of the late Dr. Edward Malone, whose members are those who were present at Father Malone's bedside when he died.

FATHER MALONE'S CAREER.

His Influence Grew Rapidly After He Became a Priest in Brooklyn.

The Rev. Father Sylvester Malone was born in the town of Trim, County Meath, on May 8, 1821, and was educated at the classical academy of two Protestant brothers named Carroll, one of whom was a Fellow of Trinity College, Dublin. This institution was attended by both Catholics and Protestants, who fraternized pleasantly, and many of them formed friendships that lasted during their lives.

In 1838 the Rev. Father Andrew Byrne, rector of St. James's Church, New York, who during the civil war became a stanch supporter of the Union cause, went to Ireland to seek candidates in connection with American missions, and among the young men he selected was young Sylvester Malone. The young man's heart was wrapped up in the cause he had undertaken, and on reaching Liverpool he wrote back to his mother at home: "I preserve as good courage as I had on leaving Kingston, and I will, I hope, until I arrive at that goal for which my heart so ardently glows." The party of young devotees with Father Byrne landed in Philadelphia on May 12, 1839, and on the following day they proceeded to New York. Here young Malone, at the advice of Bishop Hughes, entered St. Joseph's Seminary, that had been recently opened at La Fargeville, Jefferson County, N. Y. The following year the seminary was moved to Fordham, where it was definitely established, and here Father Malone completed his four years' course of studies.

After graduating, Father Malone, on Aug. 15, 1844, was ordained a priest of the Diocese of New York. The ceremony took place in St. Patrick's Cathedral, and the Right Rev. Ccadjutor Bishop, Dr. McCloskey, afterward Cardinal, officiated. Some time later Bishop Hughes appointed Father Malone in charge of the little church and congregation in Williamsburg, L. I. The few Catholics who lived here prior to 1840 used to cross the East River on Morrell's old ferry from the foot of Grand Street to Corlears Hook to attend mass at St. Mary's Church, then in Sheriff Street, New York. A small church, St. Peter and Paul, was built at North Eighth and First Streets, Brooklyn, to seat five hundred people, and was dedicated by the Right Rev. John Du Bois, second Bishop of New York. Father Malone became its first pastor, and it was called St. Mary's. Its parish limits extended to Hallet's Cove, Astoria, on the north; Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, on the south; the East River on the west, and the hamlet of Middle Village on the east.

His pastoral work here was carried on under great difficulties, many of his parishioners living at long distances from each other, and most of the pastoral visits had to be made on foot in all kinds of weather. On one Christmas Day he had to walk a long distance in a snowstorm to the bed of a dying Catholic, and after walking back he had to take his place in the confessional until midnight, and the next morning he had to sing two masses—at 6 o'clock and at 10:30 o'clock—preach to both congregations, and, besides, say low mass at 9 o'clock.

SMALLPOX AND CHOLERA.

Father Malone's courage and devotion to duty were singularly vindicated in June, 1878, when he contracted smallpox by visiting a parishioner stricken with the disease. He resumed his duties while scarcely convalescent, and, the incidence of the disease being severe, he was kept busy visiting the sick and burying the dead. Then came the cholera epidemic of 1849, and Father Malone was again in the midst of the plague, visiting the sick and burying the dead. He was also indefatigable in his efforts to relieve the poor, and he was instrumental in founding the Sisters of Charity Hospital, in Raymond Street, Brooklyn, and the Sisters of Charity Orphan Asylum, in Flushing Avenue, Brooklyn.

In 1850 Father Malone was appointed pastor of Sts. Peter and Paul's Church, in Willoughby Street, Brooklyn, and he remained there until his death. Here he built the present church, which was dedicated by Archbishop Hughes in 1852. Father Malone was also instrumental in founding the Sisters of Mercy Convent, in Willoughby Street, Brooklyn, and the Christian Brothers' Academy, in Lafayette Avenue, Brooklyn.

In 1853 Father Malone was appointed Vicar General of Brooklyn by Bishop Loughlin, and he held this office until 1858, when he was appointed Vicar General of the Diocese of New York by Archbishop Hughes. He held this office until 1870, when he resigned it to devote himself entirely to his parish work.

In 1854 Father Malone founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Willoughby Street, Brooklyn, and in 1855 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Second Street, Williamsburg. In 1856 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Fulton Street, Brooklyn, and in 1857 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Grand Street, Williamsburg. In 1858 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, and in 1859 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Graham Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1860 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1861 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Hamilton Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1862 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1863 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1864 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1865 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Eleventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1866 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Thirteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1867 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Fifteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1868 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Seventeenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1869 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Nineteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1870 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Twenty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1871 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Twenty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1872 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Twenty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1873 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Twenty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1874 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Twenty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1875 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Thirty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1876 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Thirty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1877 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Thirty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1878 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Thirty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1879 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Thirty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1880 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Forty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1881 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Forty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1882 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Forty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1883 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Forty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1884 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Forty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1885 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Fifty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1886 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Fifty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1887 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Fifty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1888 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Fifty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1889 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Fifty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1890 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Sixty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1891 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Sixty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1892 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Sixty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1893 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Sixty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1894 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Sixty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1895 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Seventy-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1896 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Seventy-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1897 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Seventy-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1898 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Seventy-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1899 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Seventy-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1900 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Eighty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1901 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Eighty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1902 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Eighty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1903 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Eighty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1904 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Eighty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1905 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Ninety-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1906 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Ninety-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1907 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Ninety-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1908 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Ninety-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1909 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Ninety-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1910 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and First Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1911 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1912 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1913 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1914 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1915 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Eleventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1916 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Thirteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1917 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Fifteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1918 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Seventeenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1919 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Nineteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1920 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Twenty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1921 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Twenty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1922 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1923 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Twenty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1924 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1925 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Thirty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1926 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Thirty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1927 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1928 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1929 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Thirty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1930 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Forty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1931 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Forty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1932 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Forty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1933 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Forty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1934 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Forty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1935 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Fifty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1936 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Fifty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1937 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1938 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Fifty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1939 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Fifty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1940 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Sixty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1941 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Sixty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1942 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Sixty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1943 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Sixty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1944 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Sixty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1945 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Seventy-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1946 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Seventy-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1947 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Seventy-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1948 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Seventy-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1949 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Seventy-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1950 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Eighty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1951 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Eighty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1952 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Eighty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1953 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Eighty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1954 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Eighty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1955 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Ninety-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1956 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Ninety-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1957 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Ninety-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1958 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Ninety-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1959 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in One Hundred and Ninety-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1960 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and First Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1961 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1962 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1963 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1964 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1965 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Eleventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1966 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Thirteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1967 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Fifteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1968 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Seventeenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1969 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Nineteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1970 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Twenty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1971 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Twenty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1972 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Twenty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1973 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Twenty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1974 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Twenty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1975 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Thirty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1976 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Thirty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1977 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Thirty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1978 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Thirty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1979 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Thirty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1980 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Forty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1981 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Forty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1982 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Forty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1983 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Forty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1984 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Forty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1985 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Fifty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1986 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Fifty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1987 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Fifty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1988 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Fifty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1989 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Fifty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1990 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Sixty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1991 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Sixty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1992 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Sixty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1993 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Sixty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1994 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Sixty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1995 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Seventy-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1996 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Seventy-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1997 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Seventy-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1998 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Seventy-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 1999 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Seventy-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2000 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Eighty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2001 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Eighty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2002 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Eighty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2003 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Eighty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2004 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Eighty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2005 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Ninety-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2006 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Ninety-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2007 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Ninety-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2008 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Ninety-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2009 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Two Hundred and Ninety-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2010 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and First Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2011 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2012 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2013 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2014 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2015 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Eleventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2016 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Thirteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2017 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Fifteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2018 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Seventeenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2019 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Nineteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2020 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Twenty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2021 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Twenty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2022 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Twenty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2023 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Twenty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2024 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Twenty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2025 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Thirty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2026 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Thirty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2027 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Thirty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2028 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Thirty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2029 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Thirty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2030 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Forty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2031 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Forty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2032 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Forty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2033 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Forty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2034 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Forty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2035 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Fifty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2036 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Fifty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2037 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Fifty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2038 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Fifty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2039 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Fifty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2040 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Sixty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2041 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Sixty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2042 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Sixty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2043 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Sixty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2044 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Sixty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2045 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Seventy-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2046 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Seventy-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2047 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Seventy-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2048 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Seventy-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2049 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Seventy-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2050 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Eighty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2051 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Eighty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2052 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Eighty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2053 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Eighty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2054 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Eighty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2055 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Ninety-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2056 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Ninety-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2057 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Ninety-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2058 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Ninety-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2059 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Three Hundred and Ninety-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2060 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and First Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2061 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2062 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2063 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2064 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2065 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Eleventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2066 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Thirteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2067 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Fifteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2068 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Seventeenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2069 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Nineteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2070 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Twenty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2071 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Twenty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2072 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Twenty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2073 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Twenty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2074 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Twenty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2075 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Thirty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2076 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Thirty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2077 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Thirty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2078 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Thirty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2079 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Thirty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2080 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Forty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2081 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Forty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2082 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Forty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2083 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Forty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2084 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Forty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2085 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Fifty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2086 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Fifty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2087 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Fifty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2088 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Fifty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2089 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Fifty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2090 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Sixty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2091 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Sixty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2092 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Sixty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2093 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Sixty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2094 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Sixty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2095 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Seventy-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2096 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Seventy-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2097 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Seventy-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2098 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Seventy-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2099 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Seventy-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2100 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Eighty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2101 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Eighty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2102 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Eighty-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2103 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Eighty-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2104 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Eighty-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2105 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Ninety-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2106 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Ninety-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2107 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Ninety-fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2108 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Ninety-seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2109 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Four Hundred and Ninety-ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2110 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and First Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2111 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and Third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2112 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2113 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and Seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2114 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and Ninth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2115 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and Eleventh Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2116 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and Thirteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2117 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and Fifteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2118 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and Seventeenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2119 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and Nineteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2120 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and Twenty-first Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2121 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and Twenty-third Avenue, Brooklyn. In 2122 he founded the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in Five Hundred and Twenty-

HARVARD LEADS AT CHESS

Her Experts Now a Point Ahead of Columbia.

PRICE GETS ADJOURNED GAME

Decision Made a Tie Between Columbia and Harvard, and Then the Crimson Won Out—Sewall's Waterloo.

Yesterday's play in the fifth round of the annual intercollegiate chess tournament between Columbia, Harvard, Yale, and Princeton brought about an important change in the standing of the two rival colleges, and, instead of Harvard being a point behind in the race, as was the case Thursday night, the Crimson forged and took a similar lead that was held by Columbia on the day previous. This was made possible by the action of the referees, E. Delmar and H. Rollins, in the matter of the adjourned game from the third round between Rice of Harvard and Hunt of Princeton. This game was awarded to Rice, who had a clear pawn to the good, besides a better position. The decision at once created a tie between Columbia and Harvard.

Terry and Rice, the two men from Cambridge, made rather short work of the two Presbyterians opposed to them, and made sure of not losing any ground. Talk of Columbia easily handled Morgan of Yale, but Sewall, on the other hand, met with his Waterloo at the hands of Cook, the intercollegiate veteran from New Haven. The latter, who as thus far not suffered a single defeat during the entire five rounds, played a star game, against which the ingenuity of his youthful opponent could not prevail. Sewall thus tallied his first defeat, and enabled Perry, the Crimson's champion, to assume the lead for the individual honors. Yale is still a very good third in the competition, with Princeton bringing up the rear of the procession. The score:

FIRST TABLE—QUEEN'S PAWN OPENING.

MORGAN, Yale. White.	FALK, Columbia. Black.	MORGAN, Yale. White.	FALK, Columbia. Black.
1. P—Q4	P—Q4	27. Kt—B3	KR—K
2. P—K3	Kt—KB3	28. P—B4	P—Kt3
3. B—Q3	Kt—B3	29. P—QKt4	BxKtP
4. Kt—KB4	QKt—Kt5	30. Kt—R4	R—Kt3
5. P—QB3	KtxB	31. RxP	RxRch
6. QxKt	P—K3	32. RxR	R—K8
7. Kt—K2	B—Q3	33. RxR	BxR
8. Kt—Q2	Castles	34. Kt—B3	B—B6
9. Kt—KB3	Kt—R5	35. K—Kt	K—Kt2
10. Castles	P—KB3	36. K—B2	K—K3
11. Q—Q	Q—K	37. K—K3	P—QR4
12. K—R	Q—R4	38. P—Kt4	P—R4
13. B—Q2	P—K4	39. K—Q3	B—Kt5
14. B—K	B—KKt5	40. P—Kt5	BxP
15. P—Kt3	KtxB	41. PxP	KxP
16. KtxKt	Q—R3	42. K—K4	B—Kt7
17. Q—B3	PxKtBP	43. Q—B4	BxKt
18. QxPch	K—R	44. KxB	K—B4
19. Kt—B5	Q—R4	45. P—R4	P—R5
20. P—K4	P—KKt3	46. K—Kt2	K—K5
21. Kt(B5)R4	QxQ	47. P—B5	PxP
22. PxQ	P—KKt4	48. PxP	BxP
23. P—KR3	B—Q2	49. K—R3	B—KB7
24. B—Kt2	PxKt	50. K—Kt2	KxP
25. QR—KB	QR—K	51. Resigns
26. KtxP	R—K6

SECOND TABLE—QUEEN'S GAMBIT DECLINED.

PERRY, Harvard. White.	HUNT, Princeton. Black.	PERRY, Harvard. White.	HUNT, Princeton. Black.
1. P—Q4	P—Q4	14. BxB	Kt—K2
2. P—QB4	P—K3	15. BxKtch	KtxB
3. Kt—QB3	Kt—KB3	16. QxKtch	K—B2
4. B—B4	P—QB4	17. Kt—K5ch	K—B3
5. P—K3	Kt—B3	18. B—R4ch	P—Kt4
6. Kt—B3	QKt—Q2	19. BxPch	KxKt
7. Kt—QKt5	K—Kt2	20. BxQ	KR1B
8. PxQP	KPxP	21. Castles	P—KR4
9. PxP	BxP	22. Q—B7ch	K—B3
10. P—QR3	K—K	23. KR—Q	R—KKt
11. B—Kt3	P—B4	24. R—Q7	QR—KB
12. B—QB4	B—R3	25. P—QKt4	Resigns.
13. Q—R4	BxKt

THIRD TABLE—DUTCH DEFENSE.

COOK. Yale. White.	SEWALL. Columbia. Black.	COOK. Yale. White.	SEWALL. Columbia. Black.
1. P—Q4	P—KB4	28. R(Kt)—Kt2	R—Q2
2. P—K3	P—K3	29. R—R3	BxKt
3. B—Q3	Kt—KB3	30. PxB	B—K5
4. Kt—K2	P—Q4	31. B—B7	Q—B
5. P—QB4	P—B3	32. Q—K	RxB
6. Castles	B—Q3	33. PxR	QxP
7. P—B4	Castles	34. R—R5	R—KB
8. Kt—Q2	Kt—K5	35. R—K5	B—B4
9. P—B5	B—k2	36. P—Kt3	Q—Q2
10. P—QKt4	Kt—Q2	37. Q—Kt4	h—B2
11. P—Kt5	Kt(Q2)Kb3	38. Q—Kt7	R—Q
12. PxP	PxP	39. Q—R8	B—QB
13. Q—R4	Q—K	40. R—Kt7	R—B2
14. Kt—KB3	B—Kt2	41. RxR	QxR
15. R—Kt	Q—B	42. R—R5	K—K
16. R—Kt3	R—K	43. QxRP	QxQ
17. B—R3	B—B	44. RxQ	K—Q
18. KR—Kt	R—K2	45. P—QR4	K—B
19. R—Kt2	R—KB2	46. P—R5	B—QB
20. B—R5	R—K2	47. RxP	K—Kt
21. Kt—K5	Kt—Kt5	48. K—B2	P—R4
22. KtxKt	PxKt	49. K—K	K—R
23. RxKt	PxB	50. K—Q2	B—B8
24. Kt—Kt3	B—R3	51. K—B3	B—K7
25. KtxP	B—Kt4	52. K—Kt4	B—Q6
26. Kt—K4	B—Q6	53. K—B5	B—Kt4
27. Kt—Q6	B—Q6	54. K—Kt6	Resigns

FOURTH TABLE.—GIUOCO PIANO.

RICE. Harvard. White.	HENLEY. Black. Princeton.	White.	Black. HENLEY. Princeton.
1. P—K4	P—K4	19. QxQ	BxQ
2. Kt—KB3	Kt—QB3	20. 3xR	Kt—QB3
3. B—B4	B—B4	21. QR—Q	Kt—KB
4. P—B3	Kt—B3	22. R—Q6	R—QB
5. P—Q4	PxP	23. R—KR3	P—KR3
6. Castles	P—Q4	24. KR—Q	R—Q
7. KPxP	KtxP	25. Kt—R4	Kt—K4
8. PxP	B—Q3	26. Kt—Kt8ch	QKtxKt
9. R—Kch	K KtK2	27. BxKt	KtxB
10. P—Q5	Kt—Kt	28. RxB	R—K Kt
11. B—QB3	Castles	29. R—Q8	Kt—KB
12. B—K Kt5	P—KR3	30. R—R8	R—Kt4
13. B—KB4	K—R	31. R(Q)—Q8	K—Kt2
14. BxB	QxB	32. RxP	P—KR4
15. Kt—Q Kt5	Q—Q2	33. RxPch	K—Kt3
16. P—Q6	PxP	34. P—QR4	K—B4
17. KtxP	Kt—Kt3	35. R—KB7	Resigns.
18. Kt—B7ch	RxKt

50 M. 2 H. 15 M.

The record up to date:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Columbia	3½		Yale	1½	3½
Harvard	3½		Princeton	1½	3½

The individual scores are:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Falk	3	2	Cook	3½	1½
Sewall	1½	4	Morgan	1	4
Perry	4	1	Henley	4
Rice	3½	1½	Hunt	½	4½

The pairing for the sixth and final round, to be played to-day, is as follows:

Hunt (Princeton) vs. Falk, (Columbia.)
Perry (Harvard) vs. Morgan, (Yale.) Rice (Harvard) vs. Cook, (Yale,) and Henley (Princeton) vs. Sewall, (Columbia.)

TRIANGULAR CHESS PLAY.

Cornell, by Winning Two Games, Pulls Up with Pennsylvania.

Another round was contested in the triangular chess tournament between Brown, Cornell, and the University of Pennsylvania at the Manhattan Chess Club yesterday, when Cornell, by winning both games, succeeded in pulling up with Pennsylvania on total scores up to date. The following is the summary of the three games played:

Lester, Brown, lost to Griffith, Pennsylvania, in a queen's pawn opening after 42 moves.

Davis, Brown, lost to Karpinski, Cornell, in a French defense after 30 moves.

Francis, Pennsylvania, lost to Riedel, Cornell, in a Giuoco Piano after 54 moves.

The first-named player had the white pieces in every instance.

After play ceased for the day it was decided to form an organization of the three colleges under the title of "the Triangular College Chess League," and to hold the second annual tournament in this city next year. The Rice Trophy will be placed in the custody of a Board of Trustees, consisting of one member of each of the different Faculties.

The record up to date:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Cornell	4½	1½	University of Pennsylvania	4½	1½
Brown	0	6

The individual scores are:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Davis, B	0	3	Riedel, C	2	1
Lester, B	0	3	Francis, P	1½	1½
Karpinski, C	2½	½	Griffith, P	3	0

The pairing for the fourth and final round to be played to-day reads as follows: Francis (P) vs. Lester (B;) Griffith (P) vs. Karpinski (C;) Riedel (C) vs. Davis (B.)

N. Y. A. C. Defeats McGill.

The hockey team of the New York Athletic Club defeated the McGill University team of Montreal, Canada, last night at the St. Nicholas Skating Rink after a closely contested game. At the close of the two twenty-minute halves both teams had scored three goals, and Referee Erskine

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS.

THE WESTERN MARYLAND SALE.

New York Syndicate Declines to Compete Against "Straw" Bidders.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29.—To the great surprise of Mayor Hayes and others who have been trying to force the immediate sale of the Western Maryland Railroad, the New York syndicate representing the Vanderbilt interests, which wants the road for the tidewater outlet of a new trunk line from the West and the soft coal fields, to-day declined to appear at a public auction as a bidder for the road. The syndicate informed the city officials that it has named its price for the road, $4,485,000 for the ninety miles of tracks constituting the main line, and does not want to be put in competition with "straw" bidders.

After the main line of the road is sold, the several branches extending through the Cumberland Valley and to Cherry Run, on the Baltimore and Ohio, will have to be sold separately. The syndicate further states that as it is intended to spend $5,000,000 in double-tracking and straightening the main line over the mountains, it cannot increase its offer.

President Hood of the company has come out ahead in his controversy with the new Mayor as to the increasing value and earning capacity of the property. The expert's report shows that basing the capitalization on the net earnings for 1899 at 4 per cent. indicates the present value of the system to be $14,131,918.25. This was a revelation to the Mayor, who has been trying to sell the road for $4,485,000, and he instantly determined to recede from his position and to counsel delay.

REPORTS IN A RAILWAY CASE.

Referee Decides on Claims Against the Lebanon Springs Road.

Special to The New York Times.

TROY, Dec. 29.—Jarvis P. O'Brien, as referee in the matter of claims against the Lebanon Springs Railroad Company, has completed his report and will submit it to the court. If approved, it will wind up the long-standing litigations over the bankrupt railroad corporation.

Mr. O'Brien was first appointed to consider claims for wages of employes. The employes set up that they had precedence over all other claimants. It was contended that parties who furnished material had as good a claim, and the referee found for labor and material claims. Then E. Winslow Paige appeared with a twelve-thousand dollar claim for services as counsel to the receiver of the road, and a contest arose.

ANOTHER PACIFIC ROAD.

Reported Plan for a New Line from Salt Lake to Los Angeles.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Another railroad to the Pacific Coast is a strong probability. Several Eastern capitalists and promoters have been in this city for two or three days, and it is said that they are considering plans for the construction of such a line. Among them is Warner Miller, and he has admitted that his business in Chicago at this time is in connection with traffic matters and a new Western railroad.

It is said that a line from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles, Cal., is in mind, and that the building of it has been decided upon practically. The plan is to construct almost direct to the California city, traversing the most fertile portion of Western Utah and the southernmost part of Nevada. It is said that among the capitalists interested are men prominently connected with Western and Southern railways.

REVIEW OF CLASSIFICATION.

Trunk Line Executive Committee Will Consider Merchants' Protest.

The Executive Committee of the Trunk Line Association has been called to meet next Thursday in order to review the work done by the Freight Classification Committee. This action is taken because of the complaints which have been raised by merchants and shippers against the new classification.

Commissioner Farmer and the General Passenger Agents of the association will probably attend the conference in Boston on Jan. 4 between representatives of the Eastern lines and the lines west of Chicago to consider rate cutting to Pacific Coast points.

GREAT NORTHERN'S NEW PLAN.

Ten Per Cent. Issue of Stock at Par for Employes' Benefit.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 29.—Under a plan recommended to the stockholders of the Great Northern Railway by President James J. Hill and the management, the capital stock of the road will be increased 10 per cent. in February and the employes of the road given an opportunity to invest in the issue at par. The plan is one which has been under consideration for some time, and its details have just been disclosed.

Great Northern stock is now worth about $175 a share. By paying cash the employes will be enabled to secure stock worth almost double what they will pay for it, as the increase will hardly affect the present market value. Conditions imposed are that only employes who receive a salary of $3,000 or less per year will be eligible to purchase on the terms mentioned, and no individual holding can exceed $5,000.

Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City.

A meeting of the bondholders of the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City Railroad was held yesterday at the Continental Trust Company, and it was voted unanimously to accept the plan of reorganization presented. There were represented, either in person or by proxy, more than $5,000,000 out of $8,500,000 bonds deposited with the Continental Trust Company. A proviso, however, was inserted in the plan by the committee advancing the minimum price at which bonds could be sold in case of unexpected delay after Jan. 1. After that date the minimum price will be 130, plus interest at 4 per cent. to the date of possible sale.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Editor of an Auburn German Paper Expires in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Dec. 29.—Ludwig C. Nenning, editor and proprietor of The Deutcher Zeitung of Auburn, N. Y., was found dead in a room in Curtin's Hotel, on Seneca Street, in this city, this afternoon. Nenning arrived at the hotel last night, saying that he would probably remain for several days. He did not register, and no one saw him retire. A chambermaid discovered his body stretched across the bed at 3 o'clock. A doctor who was sent for said that Nenning had been dead for some hours.

The police were notified and took charge of the case. They do not care to express any opinion as to the cause of death. Nenning's identity was established from letters and billheads found in his pockets.

DID ALLEN HAVE TWO WIVES?

One, a Petitioner for Letters, Cannot Prove Her Marriage.

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—A climax of a sensational nature was reached in to-day's hearing on the petition of Mrs. Harriet E. Allen of Portland Me., to be appointed administratrix of the estate of Superintendent Elbridge G. Allen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, before Judge McKim, in the Suffolk County Probate Court. It was in effect the introduction of testimony to show that there is no record of the marriage of the petitioner with Mr. Allen, as was claimed at the Park Street Church, in this city. The church records were apparently supported by the State record of marriages.

The petition is opposed by Mrs. Flora E. Allen, who claims a widow's title as the dead man's second wife, alleging that Mrs. Allen No. 1 was never married. The petitioner claimed marriage in 1872. Mrs. Allen No. 2 was married in New York last January.

The taking of evidence was closed this afternoon.

Suffers from Religious Fervor.

Miss Madeline Kemp, forty-three years old, of 450 Manhattan Avenue, was brought in a coach by her sister, Miss Josephine Kemp, to Bellevue Hospital last night to be treated for insanity. The sister said Miss Madeline is suffering from extreme religious excitement.

Complete quotations for 1800—for stocks and bonds of every kind—with elaborate

IN THE BOWLING ALLEYS

Games Played and the Results in Various Tournaments.

The Central Club gave a splendid exhibition of tenpins in the Harlem League last night. The team won two games rolling scores of 978 and 899. There were some good individual scores turned out. Holt of the Centrals, in the second game, made a score of 244 on eight strikes and two spares, and Holt of the Standards, in the third game, got seven strikes and three spares for a total of 241. Seher of the Centrals and Holt of the Standards each made an average of 219½ for two games. The Standards won one game and the Harlem Wheelmen lost two. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Standard—Koehler, 168; Allison, 180; Holt, 196; Tobin, 201; Wyman, 132. Total, 899.
Harlem Wheelmen—Dumahaut, 149; Lee, 172; Thompson, 148; Du Barry, 158; Duff, 189. Total, 806.

SECOND GAME.

Central—Holl, 244; Behlmer, 190; Kuehn, 159; Ward, 180; Scher, 214. Total, 978.
Harlem Wheelmen—Dumahaut, 161; Lee, 133; Thompson, 198; Du Barry, 169; Duff, 185. Total, 846.

THIRD GAME.

Central—Holl, 151; Behlmer, 144; Kuehn, 197; Ward, 182; Scher, 225. Total, 899.
Standard—Koehler, 151; Allison, 177; Holt, 241; Tobin, 124; Wyman, 158. Total, 851.

The Corinthians scored two easy victories in the Columbia League last night, defeating the Enterprise team in the first game and the Belvideres in the third game. The Belvideres managed to win the second game from the Enterprise bowlers, after a close contest. Schaeffer of the Corinthians made the best average of the night. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Corinthian—Walter, 147; Baker, 209; Mulford, 163; Niles, 141; Schaeffer, 189. Total, 849.
Enterprise—Koeper, 177; Schlumbohm, 133; Vanderson, 133; Hunke, 151; Muller, 169. Total, 737.

SECOND GAME.

Belvedere—Hunken, 162; Newkirk, 188; Wagner, 159; Reihbein, 162; Heiles, 171. Total, 839.
Enterprise—Koeper, 160; Schlumbohm, 172; Kolb, 135; Hunke, 189; Muller, 143. Total, 801.

THIRD GAME.

Corinthian—Walter, 217; Baker, 169; Mulford, 163; Niles, 160; Schaeffer, 214. Total, 918.
Belvidere—Hunken, 152; Newkirk, 175; Wagner, 119; Reihbein, 174; Heiles, 215. Total, 835.

Good scores were made in the American National tournament last night, and all the games were closely contested. The Orchards, Golden Rods, and Doolittles each won and lost a game. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Golden Rod—Eckstein, 199; Meier, 180; Eck, 173; Sherwood, 143, Starr, 187. Total, 882.
Orchard—Bullwinkel, 145; Buchols, 196; Schroeder, 171; Rusch, 139; Wilckens, 207. Total, 860.

SECOND GAME.

Orchard—Bullwinkel, 164; Buchols, 205; Schroeder, 202, Steffens, 158; Wilckens, 161. Total, 894.
Doolittle—Duke, 169; Apmann, 191; Gray, 158; Wright, 178; Coffman, 157. Total, 853.

THIRD GAME.

Doolittle—Duke, 178; Apmann, 141; Gray, 215; Wright, 200; Coffman, 150. Total, 884.
Golden Rod—Eckstein, 158; Meier, 156; Eck, 189; Sherwood, 161; Starr, 180. Total, 844.

The Glendales had out a good team in the Arlington National tournament last night, and scored two easy victories, beating the Straggler and Linwood teams. The game between the Linwood and Straggler teams proved the best of the night. It was interesting throughout, the Linwood winning out with only 14 pins to spare. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Glendale—Laine, 169; Schreyer, 145; Stutterheim, 172; Schwager, 141; Fuchs, 154. Total, 801.
Straggler—Greif, 154; Browne, 180; Le Touzel, 158; Gaynor, 120; Hosinger, 169. Total, 781.

SECOND GAME.

Linwood—Kennedy, 160; Delehanty, 157; Brennan, 186; Daley, 143; Hardiman, 122. Total, 763.
Straggler—Greif, 140; Browne, 157; Le Touzel, 153; Gaynor, 140; Hosinger, 159. Total, 749.

THIRD GAME.

Glendale—Laine, 127; Schreyer, 128; Stutterheim, 174; Schwager, 136; Fuchs, 168. Total, 733.
Linwood—Kennedy, 153; Delehanty, 135; Brennan, 119; Daley, 163; Hardiman, 192. Total, 692.

The tournament of the Twenty-third Regiment was continued on the armory alleys last night. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Company F—W. W. Whitlock, 167; Zeidler, 110; T. N. Whitlock, 171; Wiley, 175; Lambert, 129. Total, 752.
Company D—Hoffmann, 97; Varrellmann, 99; Brown, 98. Total, 294.

SECOND GAME.

Company F—W. W. Whitlock, 173; Zeidler, 93; T. N. Whitlock, 138; Wiley, 140; Lambert, 116. Total, 710.
Company G—Bugg, 86; Lindsey, 87; Neilson, 118; Goudey, 81. Total, 312.

THIRD GAME.

Company C—Bugg, 61; Lindsey, 116; Neilson, 136; Goudey, 75. Total, 381.
Company D—C. Allen, 90; Hoffmann, 85; Varrellmann, 118; Bugg, 85. Total, 378.

The Thirteenth Regiment Athletic Association resumed bowling last night in its annual championship tournament. The Field Music, Company G and Company H were the winners in the night's play. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Field Music Team—Mansfield, 93; Ekstrand, 51; Walsh, 98; Black, 125; Palmer, 154. Total, 520.
Hospital Corps Team—Forfeited.

SECOND GAME.

Company G—Townsend, 142; Bogert, 120; Frank, 147; Easson, 105; Purdy, 158. Total, 714.
Hospital Corps Team—Forfeited.

THIRD GAME.

Field Music Team—Mansfield, 98; Drant, 133; Walsh, 123; Black, 85; Palmer, 146. Total, 585.
Company G—Townsend, 122; Bogert, 206; Frank, 120; Easson, 171; Purdy, 144. Total, 772.

FOURTH GAME.

Company H—Wilson, 95; Barnett, 122; Clarke, 153; Purdy, 136; Qualmann, 121. Total, 627.
Company C—Ford, 112; De Nieuwerkerk, 96; Murphy, 114; Davis, 122; Johnston, 153. Total, 597.

FIFTH GAME.

Company C—Ford, 144; De Nieuwerkerk, 103; Murphy, 125; Davis, 115; Johnston, 126. Total, 613.
Company I—Forfeited.

SIXTH GAME.

Company H—Wilson, 140; Barnett, 164; Clarke, 121; Purdy, 122; Qualmann, 159. Total, 706.
Company I—Forfeited.

The America Club of Newark defeated the Imperial and Lotus teams in the National League, at Starr's Tournament Hall last night. Scores

FIRST GAME.

America—Diesenbach, 149; Gedney, 181; Cooke, 158; Buehler, 190; Freudenthal, 147. Total, 825.
Imperial—Cordes, 169; Moore, 155; Rothemell, 165; Lenz, 155; Loughead, 180. Total, 824.

SECOND GAME.

Imperial—Cordes, 168; Moore, 154; Rothemell, 157; Lenz, 151; Loughead, 206. Total, 836.
Lotus—W. Gerdes, 168; Heath, 135; Warmuth, 159; Rehm, 168; Boermermann, 176. Total, 806.

THIRD GAME.

America—Diesenbach, 145; Gedney, 183; Cooke, 146; Buehler, 126; Freudenthal, 172. Total, 774.
Lotus—W. Gerdes, 145; Heath, 132; Warmuth, 159; Rehm, 145; Boermermann, 147. Total, 728.

The Long Island, Iolanthe, and Philadelphos Councils met in the Brooklyn Royal Arcanum Tournament at Trainor's alleys last night. The Philadelphos Council won two of the games played. Following are the results:

FIRST GAME.

Long Island Council—Rhoades, 146; Thorn, 188; Henlinger, 194; Brooks, 137; Hill, 181. Total, 756.
Iolanthe Council—Benner, 150; Law, 132; Niemeier, 141; Smith, 128; Kay, 166. Total, 717.

SECOND GAME.

Philadelphos Council—Martin, 200; Medicus, 160; Bandeker, 168; Biershenk, 156; Jenkins, 180. Total, 864.
Iolanthe Council—Benner, 112; Law, 133; Niemeier, 91; Smith, 151; Kay, 154. Total, 642.

THIRD GAME.

Philadelphos Council—Martin, 194; Medicus, 215; Bandeker, 167; Biershenk, 174; Jenkins, 188. Total, 938.
Long Island Council—Rhoades, 126; Thorn, 157; Henlinger, 131; Brooks, 149; Hill, 169. Total, 731.

The Empire City Council team rolled good scores in the Royal Arcanum League last night and won two games. Its most important victory was over the first team of the New York Council. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Empire City—Knubel, 144; Draper, 147; Naugle, 212; Braisted, 160; Mitchell, 178. Total, 843.
New York No. 1—Lawrence, 150; Crum, 140; Grunninger, 166; Kitchelt, 132; McLean, 176. Total, 764.

SECOND GAME.

New York No. 1—Lawrence, 189; Crum, 140; Grunninger, 173; Kitchelt, 149; McLean, 165. Total, 783.
Colonial—Davis, 151; Brucker, 107; Reichhard, 180; Wanderer, 158; Haus, 142. Total, 738.

THIRD GAME.

Games Played at the Elephant Club.

Four games were played at the Elephant Club last night. The games resulted as follows:

FIRST GAME.

Fern Council—Thorn, 136; Naylor, 121; Hunt, 118; Swan, 136; Waldman, 154. Total, 665.
De Long Council—Rosner, 176; Coolridge, 159; James, 120; Tuttle, 156; Healey, 145. Total, 756.

SECOND GAME.

Fern Council—Thorn, 143; Naylor, 136; Hunt, 128; Swan, 151; Waldman, 151. Total, 769.
Fraternity Council—Cottrel, 128; Brill, 108; Bruce, 119; Nafis, 151; Gibson, 154. Total, 660.

THIRD GAME.

De Long Council—Rosner, 149; Coolridge, 168; James, 110; Tuttle, 138; Healey, 133. Total, 696.
Fraternity Council—Cottrel, 95; Brill, 123; Bruce, 141; Nafis, 176; Gibson, 112. Total, 640.

Tournament Games To-night.

Bank Clerks' League—Three games at Reid's alleys.
Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island—Tamaqua, Brunswick, and Orient.

Oakland Racing Results.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—Oakland results:

FIRST RACE.—Seven-eighths of a mile; selling. Merry Boy, 109 pounds, (Jenkins,) 8 to 5, won; Donator, 104, (Ross,) 8 to 1, second; Good Hope, 109, (T. Burns,) 4 to 1, third. Time—1:27½. Billy McCloskey, Glen Ann, Terrene, Ringmaster, Ed Lanigan, Jack McCabe, and Leiter also ran.

SECOND RACE.—Five-eighths of a mile; handicap; all ages. Aluminum, 90 pounds, (Phelan,) 7 to 1, won; Revanna, 108, (T. Burns,) 4 to 1, second; Magdalenas, 106, (Jenkins,) 3 to 1, third. Time—1:00. Amaza, Sister Alice, Strongoli, Lady Heloise, Will Fay, Clarano, and Mission also ran.

THIRD RACE.—Eleven-sixteenths of a mile; two-year-olds; purse. Flower of Gold, 115 pounds, (Spencer,) even, won; Bee Bee, 115, (Thorpe,) 2 to 1, second; F. W. Brode, 118, (Jenkins,) 3½ to 1, third. Time—1:07¼. Louis B. McWhirter, The Echo, and Sinuoso also ran.

FOURTH RACE.—Mile and an sixteenth; selling. Horton, 107 pounds, (E. Jones,) 2 to 1, won; Tirade, 107, (Conley,) 12 to 1, second; Faversham, 102, (T. Walsh,) 6 to 5, third. Time—1:46½. Obsidian, White Fern, Glen Gaber, Jennie Reid, and Ledeas also ran.

FIFTH RACE.—Mile; selling. Wyoming, 107 pounds, (Spencer,) 6 to 5, won; Red Pirate, 100, (Vittatoe,) 7 to 1, second; Recreation, 107, (Thorpe,) 4 to 1, third. Time—1:40¾. Meadowthorpe, Ping, Senator Dubois, Doctor Marks, Jsol, and El Estro also ran.

SIXTH RACE.—Futurity course; selling. St. Cuthbert, 109 pounds, (E. Jones,) 3 to 5, won; True Blue, 105, (T. Burns,) 2 to 1, second; Del Paso II., 112, (Spencer,) 80 to 1, third. Time—1:10¼. Mainstay, Bessie Lee, Tammany, and Grey Hurst also ran.

Congressman Bailey Buys a Mare.

Special to The New York Times.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 29.—Congressman J. W. Bailey of Texas, who has a trotting horse breeding establishment in this county, has purchased of James E. Clay of Paris the eleven-year-old brood mare Rene B., by Cyclone, dam Loraine, by Strathmore, price private. She is the dam of Dentine, 2:13½, and Bessie Sevens, 2:13¾, and a costly mare.

Broad Defeats Hamilton.

Two thousand shivering spectators saw "Kid" Broad of Cleveland, Ohio, who recently defeated "Dave" Sullivan, win his fight from "Jack" Hamilton of Troy last night at the Broadway Athletic Club. The men met at 125 pounds. Broad forced the fighting from the start. Hamilton stood a great deal of punishment.

Fire in Retail District of Savannah.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 29.—Shortly before midnight the furniture store of Lindsey & Morgan and the dry goods store of Daniel Hogan, on Broughton and Barnard Streets, in the heart of the retail district, were destroyed by fire. Each business was a leader of its line in the city. The fire started from unknown causes in the first-named place, which was separated from the Odd Fellows' Temple by only a narrow alley. At one time it seemed as if two or more principal business blocks would go. The losses will foot up approximately $150,000, with insurance of about 60 per cent.

Murderer Killed Resisting Arrest.

BRONSON, Fla., Dec. 29.—W. B. Williams, the condemned murderer who escaped from jail last June, was captured near his home in this vicinity early this morning. Williams resisted desperately. He shot Deputy Sheriff Walker in the side, and John Dean, another Deputy, was shot in the hand. Dean finally shot Williams in the abdomen, inflicting a mortal wound. Sheriff Sutton left at once for the scene and brought Williams's body here to-night. It is not thought Walker's wound will prove fatal.

NEW POINT IN INSURANCE.

Doctor Refuses to Certify Death of Christian Science Victim.

WEBSTER CITY, Iowa, Dec. 29.—A new point in insurance is involved in the case of the death of George W. Goodrich. He carried a $2,000 policy in the Ancient Order of United Workmen. Three days before his death his physician was dismissed and Christian Science treatment substituted. The order refuses to settle unless a physician's proof of death is submitted or the body is disinterred and a post mortem held. The physician refuses to certify.

NOTES OF INSURANCE INTERESTS.

The Potomac Fire Insurance Company of Washington, D. C., will apply for admission to Illinois.

The insurance loss sustained on the property of the Pacific Novelty Company at 577 Broadway, which was nearly destroyed by fire Dec. 7, was finally adjusted yesterday for $57,000 by Lyons, Stadholz & Co. The total insurance was $58,750.

The National Assurance Company of Ireland has reinsured the business of the Grand Rapids Fire Insurance Company of Michigan in the following States: Colorado, Iowa, Massachusetts, Nebraska, and Pennsylvania. The latter will retire from these States.

Negotiations were pending at the close of business yesterday for the reinsurance of the business of one local company and two out-of-town companies. These deals, if consummated at all, will probably be closed to-day in order to benefit the annual statements of the companies affected.

The Brokerage Committee of the New York Fire Insurance Exchange at its meeting yesterday took up for discussion the matter of renewing the outstanding brokerage certificates. William B. Ogden will be the new Chairman, succeeding H. J. Ferris, who retires from the committee Jan. 1.

The question has been raised as to whether the rule of the New York Fire Insurance Exchange, permitting the issuance of any form of a floater policy at a rate of 2½ per cent. will cover a floater without a co-insurance or average clause attached, several forms of which have been recently offered.

Local fire underwriters were much disturbed yesterday by the action of Attorney General Nash of Mississippi in beginning suits against the companies which belong to the Southeastern Tariff Association, the governing compact in the South. Nearly all of the fire insurance companies doing business in the State are members of that association. An adverse decision in these suits would mean the revocation of the licenses of the companies to do business in that State and the denial to the large insuring interests, particularly cotton owners, of means to obtain adequate insurance for the protection of their business credit.

THE COMMERCIAL WORLD

CASH PRICES FOR STAPLES.

Wheat, No. 2 red	75½
Corn, No. 2 mixed	40¾
Oats, No. 2 mixed	29
Flour, Minnesota patents	$3.95
Cotton, middling	7 11-16
Coffee, No. 7 Rio	7
Sugar, granulated	5.18
Molasses, O. K., prime	36
Beef, family	12.75
Beef, hams	22.75
Tallow, prime	5
Pork, mess	10.25
Hogs, dressed, 160 lb	5¾
Lard, prime	5.95
Iron, Northern, No. 1 foundry	23.00
Butter, Western creamery	28

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Flour, No. 2 red, 67½@68¾c; No. 2 corn, 30¾@31c; No. 2 yellow corn, 31@31½c; No. 2 oats, 22½@22¾c; No. 2 white, 24½@25¼c; No. 3 white, 24¼@24¾c; No. 2 rye, 52¾c; No. 2 barley, 35@43c; No. 1 flaxseed, and No. 1 Northwestern, $1.49½; prime timothy seed, $2.35; mess pork, per bbl, $8.85@$10.20; lard, per 100 lb, $5.30@$5.67½; short-rib sides, (loose,) $5.25@$5.45; dry-salted shoulders, (boxed,) 5¾@5½c; short clear sides, (boxed,) $5.50@$5.60; whisky, distillers' finished goods, per gallon, basis high wines, $1.23¾; sugars, cutloaf, unchanged; clover, contract grade, $8@$10.

COTTON.—The cotton market showed considerable irregularity to-day. Contrary to expectations at the opening, the market was steady, at a decline of 5 points, to an advance of 5 points. By noon sales had reached 9,250 bags, and for the entire session the total was 17,500 bags. The market was finally firm at net unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points.

Contract prices ranged as follows:

	Opening.	High.	Low.	Close.
January	5.95	6.00	5.95	6.00@6.05
February	6.05	6.05	6.05	6.05@6.15
March	6.15	6.20	6.15	6.15@6.20
April	...	...	...	6.20@6.25
May	6.25	6.25	6.25	6.25@6.30
June	...	...	...	6.30@5.35
July	...	...	...	6.35@6.40
August	6.40	6.40	6.35	6.40@6.45
September	6.45	6.50	6.45	6.45@6.55
October	...	...	...	6.50@6.55
November	6.55	6.55	6.55	6.55@6.60

FOREIGN MARKETS.—Santos coffee market quiet; good average Santos, 8800; receipts, 13,000 bags; stock, 643,000 bags. Hamburg coffee market opened unchanged; at 2:30 P. M. net unchanged sales, 4,000 bags. Havre coffee market opened steady ¼f higher; at 12 M. unchanged; at 3 P. M. barely steady, unchanged to ¼f lower; at 3:30 P. M. unchanged. Rio coffee market firm;

FINANCIAL DIRECTORY.

Chemical National Bank
270 Broadway.

National Bank of Commerce
CAP. AND SUR. $5,000,000 31 Nassau St.

Hanover National Bank
Capital $1,000,000. Surplus and profits $2,500,000.
9 and 11 Nassau St.

The Nassau Bank
Corner Beekman and Nassau Streets.

Central National Bank
320 Broadway.

Continental Trust Company
CAPITAL & SURPLUS, $1,500,000.
ST. PAUL B'LD'G. 222 B'way.

Washington Trust Company
Stewart Building, 280 Broadway.

Real Estate Trust Co.,
30 NASSAU STREET.
Capital, Surplus, and Undivided Profits $900,000.
Receives Deposits, Allowing Interest.
Acts as Trustee. Transfer Agent, Registrar, &c.

PHILADELPHIA.
Fourth Street National Bank
Capital, $1,500,000. Surplus, $1,500,000.

BANKERS' CARDS.

The Domestic Exchange National Bank
OF NEW YORK.
CAPITAL $300,000.
DIRECTORS:
Robert D. Kent, Ethan Allen Doty,
William P. Aldrich, Horace W. Fish,
Samuel S. Bradley, William Kent,
Thomas H. Cullen, Edward S. Peck,
C. D. Spencer.
ROBERT D. KENT, President.
CHARLES H. SPENCER, Cashier.
Specialty { COLLECTION OF OUT-OF-TOWN CHECKS.
TEMPORARY OFFICES 11-13 MAIDEN LANE.
TELEPHONE, 2885 BROAD.

Spencer Trask & Co.
BANKERS
27 & 29 Pine Street, New York.
Transact a general banking business; act as Fiscal Agents for corporations, and negotiate security issues of railroads and other companies. Execute commission orders and deal in
INVESTMENT SECURITIES.
Members New York Stock Exchange.
Branch Office: 65 State St., Albany.

DOUGLAS & JONES
Members New York Stock Exchange.
ESTABLISHED 1880.
24 Broad St., New York City.
STOCKS AND BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD ON COMMISSION AT THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE AND CARRIED ON MARGIN.
Daily Market Letter on Application.
CORRESPONDENCE INVITED.

Hurlbutt, Hatch & Co.,
BANKERS.
MEMBERS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE,
71 Broadway, N. Y. City.
STOCKS and BONDS bought and sold for cash or on margin.
Interest allowed on deposits subject to check.
Telephone No. 1239 Cortlandt.

New York Telephone, 4914 Cortlandt. Brooklyn Telephone, 391 Brooklyn.
Geo. H. PRENTISS & Co.
DEALERS IN
LOCAL SECURITIES.
37 William St., New York. 298 Montague St., Brooklyn.
MEMBERS OF N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE.

TUNSTALL & CO.,
MEMBERS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE
52 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Stocks and Bonds bought and sold for cash or carried on margin.
Market Letter on Application.
Telephones No. 1492 and No. 830 Broad.

P. J. Goodhart & Co.,
Dealers in
Bank & Trust Co. Stocks.
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
28 WALL STREET.

LEHMAN BROS.
NOS. 16-22 WILLIAM ST., NEW YORK.
Deal in investment securities, and execute orders on New York Stock Exchange.
Members of the Stock, Cotton, Coffee, and Produce Exchanges, New York.

FINANCIAL.

NOTICE TO HOLDERS
OF
CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF N. Y.
Certificates for Stock of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company.

The Voting Trust under which the Central Trust Company of New York have issued Certificates of deposit on behalf of the Voting Trustees for stock of the BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT COMPANY terminates on January 1st, 1900.

After that date, on surrender of the certificates of deposit, endorsed in blank, regular Certificates of Stock of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company will be issued therefor.

Revenue stamps will be required when stock is desired in a different name from those in which the certificates of deposit stand.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK

CHICAGO AND NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY COMPANY SINKING FUND BONDS OF 1879.

Notice is hereby given that enough of the above-entitled bonds, both FIVE and SIX PER CENT., will be drawn by lot on January 31st, 1900, at the rate of 105 and accrued interest, to absorb the sum of $144,525.75 deposited in the Sinking Fund with the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, Trustee, and interest will cease to accrue upon the bonds so drawn on and after January 31st, 1900, upon publication of the numbers designating the drawn bonds, pursuant to the terms of the mortgage securing the same.
CHICAGO & NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY CO.
By S. O. HOWE, TREASURER.
December 30th, 1899.

BROWN BROTHERS & CO.,
NO. 59 WALL ST.,
ISSUE COMMERCIAL AND TRAVELERS' CREDITS, AVAILABLE IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

FINANCIAL.

Bleecker Street & Fulton Ferry Railroad Company
SEVEN PER CENT.
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.

The above mentioned Seven hundred thousand Dollars Bonds will mature on January 1, 1900.

The Bleecker Street and Fulton Ferry Railroad Company proposes to extend these bonds at the rate of four per cent. per annum until January 1, 1950, the present security and lien to remain in full force, the principal and interest of the extended bonds to be payable in gold.

Arrangements have been made with The State Trust Company to purchase the bonds at maturity at par, and to extend the same on their account, The State Trust Company reserving the right to terminate without notice the privilege to be extended to the bondholders.

Bondholders who wish to avail themselves of the privilege may notify The State Trust Company at once of their intention so to do, and may present their bonds at the office of The State Trust Company, No. 100 Broadway, New York, on and after January 2, 1900, to have the contract of extension and new coupon sheets attached. CHARLES E. WARREN, Secretary.

Referring to the above notice, we shall be prepared to purchase the above named bonds on and after January 2 at par.

Bondholders preferring to extend their bonds will have the privilege to do so, if they notify us of their intention on or before Jan. 5.

THE STATE TRUST COMPANY,
100 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Bankers' Trust Co.
OF NEW YORK,
10 Wall Street.
CAPITAL - - - - $1,500,000
SURPLUS - - - - $1,500,000
Transacts a general Trust and Banking business and allows interest on daily balances subject to check on sight.

OFFICERS:
George W. Ely, President.
Francis H. Leggett, Louis V. Bright, } Vice-Presidents.
Alfred H. Swayne, Secretary.
John H. Allen, Ass't Secty.

DIRECTORS:
Louis V. Bright, Wm. H. Hollister,
D. Crawford Clark, Percival Knauth,
George Coppell, Francis H. Leggett,
Bayard Dominick, Almeric H. Paget,
John F. Dryden, William G. Park,
Benjamin N. Duke, Gilbert M. Plympton,
George W. Ely, William Schall, jr.,
Albert E. Goodhart, John W. Simpson,
Edwin Gould, Francis S. Smithers,
Edmund T. Halsey, Ransom H. Thomas.
J. Walter Wood, jr.

CITY TRUST CO
OF NEW YORK.
36 WALL STREET.
CAPITAL.....$1,000,000
(Entirely invested in City of New York Bonds.)
SURPLUS.....$1,000,000
Allows Interest on Daily Balances.
Subject to check, payable at sight or through the New York Clearing-house and on Certificates of Deposit.
Acts as Fiscal and Transfer Agent; Registrar of Stocks and Bonds; Trustee for Corporation Mortgages; Guardian; Executor; Administrator; Trustee; Committee; Receiver; Assignee, etc.
Loans Money on Bonds and Mortgage.
TRAVELLERS' LETTERS OF CREDIT.
Transacts a General Banking Business
OFFICERS:
JAS. ROSS CURRAN, President.
JOHN D. CRIMMINS, Vice-President.
GEORGE R. SHELDON, 2d Vice-Pres't.
ARTHUR TERRY, Secretary.
WALTER W. LEE, Asst. Secretary.
DIRECTORS:
John D. Crimmins, Henry O. Havemeyer,
Wm. R. Grace, Elverton R. Chapman,
Wm. H. Gelshenen, Peter Doelger,
Frank H. Platt, Chas. W. Morse.
James Roosevelt, Charles V. Fornes,
Eugene Kelly, Wm. Halls, jr.,
George R. Sheldon, Bernard M. Shanley,
Ed. N. Gibbs, Frank R. Lawrence,
Edwin Warfield, James D. Layng,
Edward Eyre, Homer B. Parsons,
Jas. Ross Curran.

Provident Savings Life Assurance Society,
OF NEW YORK.
ORGANIZED 1875.
346 and 348 Broadway.
EDWARD W. SCOTT, President.
Issues All Desirable Forms of Policies.
Assurance in force.... $100,000,000
Paid Policyholders.... $16,500,000
Assets to Liabilities 132½ per cent.

TO THE HOLDERS OF THE Preferred and Common Stock
of the
Distilling Company of America

The call heretofore issued by the undersigned committee for the deposit of Stock is hereby suspended, and the Stock deposited will be returned to depositors without charge, on the surrender to The Mercantile Trust Company, No. 120 Broadway, New York City, of the Trust Receipts issued therefor.

The Committee is about to enter upon a full investigation of the affairs of the Company, at the request of the latter, whose Directors have offered every facility for a thorough examination. Upon conclusion of its investigation a report will be issued to the shareholders.

Dated New York, December 29th, 1899.
WILLIAM L. BULL,
WILLIAM F. HARRITY,
RUDOLPH KEPPLER,
ALVIN W. KRECH,
RICHARD SUTRO,
Committee.
GUY RICHARDS, Sec'y, 120 Broadway, N. Y.

TO THE HOLDERS OF Interim Certificates
FOR FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
OF THE
Consolidated Water Company OF UTICA.

The above-described interim certificates may be exchanged for bonds on and after January 3d, 1900, upon presentation at our office, No. 30 Broad Street.
CONTINENTAL TRUST COMPANY OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
WILLARD V. KING, Secretary.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.
"All the News That's Fit to Print."

FINANCIAL.

LOUIS MESIER, Auctioneer.
REGULAR AUCTION SALE OF
STOCKS AND BONDS
BY ADRIAN H. MULLER & SON,
WEDNESDAY, JAN. 3D, 1900,
At 12½ o'clock, at the N. Y. Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway.
BY ORDER OF ASSIGNEES.
1,501 shs. Il Progresso Italo Americano Newspaper Co.
FOR ACCOUNT OF WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.
5 shs. Leather Manufacturers' Natl. Bank.
25 shs. City Trust Co.
20 shs. Mercantile Natl. Bank.
50 shs. Hamilton Trust Co.
30 shs. Trust Co. of America.
$36,000 Farmville & Powhatan R. R. 1st Mtge. 6 p. c. Bds.
70 shs. Corn Exchange Bank.
150 shs. Citizens' National Bank.
50 shs. Manufacturers' Trust Co.
40 shs. Phenix National Bank.
25 shs. Trust Co. of America.
91 shs. Yellow Pine Co. Prefd.
10 shs. Bond & Mtge. Guarantee Co.
25 shs. Gallatin Natl. Bank.
25 shs. Colonial Trust Co.
25 shs. Trust Co. of America.
209 shs. New England Phonograph Co.
10 shs. Trust Co. of America.
$150 N. Y. Athletic Club 2d Mtge. 5 p. c. Bds., 1910.
50 shs. Coney Island & Brooklyn R. R. Co.
16 shs. Natl. Bank of Republic.
214 shs. St. Lawrence Power Co. of N. Y. Pfd., (Hypd.)
513 shs. St. Lawrence Power Co. of N. Y., common, (Hypd.)

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKholders of the Astoria Light, Heat and Power Company for the election of Directors to serve during the ensuing year, and for such other business as may come before the stockholders, will be held at No. 32 Liberty Street, on Monday, January 8th, 1900. Polls open from 12 M. to 1 P. M. Transfer books will close on Saturday, December 23d, 1899, at 12 M. and reopen on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900.
FRANCIS R. FORAKER, Secretary.

The Western National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
9th December, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the stockholders of this Bank for the election of Directors and such other business as may come before it will be held at the Banking House, No. 15 Nassau Street, on TUESDAY, January 9th, 1900. The Polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M.
H. A. SMITH, Cashier.

The Greenwich Bank of the City of New York.
New York, Dec. 27, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank and Inspectors of the next election will be held at the banking house, No. 402 Hudson St., on Monday, January 8, 1900. The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M. The transfer books will be closed until after the election.
WILLIAM A. HAWES, Cashier.

Lincoln National Bank,
32-42 EAST 42D ST.
New York, December 23d, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the shareholders of this bank, for the election of Directors for the ensuing year, will be held at the banking house, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
W. T. CORNELL, Cashier.

The Bank of New York,
National Banking Association.
New York, Dec. 8th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 48 Wall Street, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900.
The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
CHAS. OLNEY, Cashier.

The Chemical National Bank of New York.
December 9, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this Bank for the ensuing year will be held at the banking house, No. 270 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, on TUESDAY, the 9th day of January, 1900, between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock P. M.
FRANCIS HALPIN, Cashier.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE MAPLE Grove Cemetery Association, for the election of two Trustees and the transaction of any other business, will be held at the office of the Association, No. 1,238 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, at 2 o'clock P. M., Monday, January 8th, 1900.
WM. S. COGSWELL, President.
Dated December 27th, 1899.

The Hanover National Bank of the City of New York,
NEW YORK, December 8th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the banking house, 9 and 11 Nassau Street, on TUESDAY, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 o'clock M. and 2 o'clock P. M.
WILLIAM HALLS, Jr., Cashier.

The Merchants' National Bank of the City of New York,
December 7th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking room, No. 42 Wall Street, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
JOSEPH W. HARRIMAN, Cashier.

Nineteenth Ward Bank,
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of this Bank, for the election of Officers and Directors, and Inspectors of Election, will be held at the banking house on Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock A. M.
L. H. HOLLOWAY, Cashier.

The Mechanics' National Bank of the City of New York,
New York, Dec. 9th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 33 Wall Street, on TUESDAY, Jan. 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
G. W. GARTH, Cashier.

Garfield National Bank.
New York, December 28, 1899.
The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of this Bank, for the election of Directors and such other business as may come before said meeting, will be held at the Banking House, 23d Street and Sixth Av., on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of eleven A. M. and 12 M.
R. W. POOR, Cashier.

The Second National Bank of the City of New York,
New York, Dec. 6, 1899.
The annual election of Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 190 5th Av., on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900. The polls will be opened from 10 to 11 A. M.
J. S. CASE, Cashier.

The Bowery Bank of New York.
New York, December 28, 1899.
The annual meeting of the shareholders of this Bank, for the election of DIRECTORS for the ensuing year will be held at the Banking House, Number 62 Bowery, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of three (3) and four (4) P. M.
CHARLES ESSIG, Cashier.

The Importers' and Traders' National Bank of New York,
New York, December 22d, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at its banking rooms, corner of Broadway and Murray Street, Tuesday, January 9th, 1900. The poll will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M.
EDWARD TOWNSEND, Cashier.

The Tradesmens National Bank of the City of New York.
New York, December 7th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
D. H. BATES, President.

THE NATIONAL BUTCHERS AND DROVERS' BANK,
New York, December 7th, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking room, No. 124 Bowery, on TUESDAY, Jan. 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
WM. H. CHASE, Cashier.

Mount Morris Bank.
The annual election for Directors of this Bank for the ensuing year will be held at the Banking House, No. 85 East 125th Street, on Thursday, January 4th, 1900, between the hours of three and four o'clock P. M.
FRED'K W. LIVERMORE, Cashier.

Fourteenth Street Bank,
3 East 14th Street.
New York, Dec. 26, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house on Tuesday, January 9, 1900, between the hours of 9:30 and 10:30 A. M. IRVING C. GAYLORD, Cashier.

Pacific Bank,
New York, Dec. 26, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, 470 Broadway, on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900. The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
S. C. MERWIN, Cashier.

Barrett Chemical Co.
The Annual Stockholders Meeting for the election of Directors will be held at the office of the company, 344 Bowery, New York City, Thursday, January 4th, 1899, at 12 M.
CHAS. H. HIGBEE, Secretary.

THE NATIONAL BANK OF THE REPUBLIC.
New York, December 7th, 1899.
The Annual Election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the Banking House on Tuesday, January 9th, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
C. H. STOUT, Cashier.

MECHANICS & TRADERS' BANK,
New York, Dec. 30, 1899.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, 486 Broadway, on Tuesday, Jan. 9, 1900, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 o'clock P. M.
A. M. DEDERER, Cashier.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE MEMBERS of the Good Samaritan Dispensary will be held at the New York Academy of Medicine, 17 West 43d Street, New York City, on January 8th, 1900, at 3:30 P. M. WM. W. LADD, Jr., Secretary.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

EMPIRE CITY FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY
59 Wall St., New York, Dec. 7, 1899.
At the annual election for Directors of this company, held on the 4th inst., the following-named gentlemen were elected for the ensuing year:
John M. Burke, Henry W. Curtis,
Charles H. Kerner, Charles H. Leland,
Henry C. Mortimer, Walter R. Wood,
John W. Condit, David J. Burtis,
Lindley Murray, Jr., Francis M. Scott,
Charles H. Lowerre, J. Eugene Robert,
George M. Miller.
For Inspectors of Election for the year 1900, Areunah M. Burtis, Wm. M. Farrington,
Thomas B. Peck.
At a meeting of the Board of Directors held this day, Mr. LINDLEY MURRAY, Jr., was unanimously re-elected President.
DAVID J. BURTIS, Secretary.

TO STOCKHOLDERS
CHATTANOOGA, ROME & SOUTHERN RAILROAD COMPANY.
A meeting of the stockholders of the Chattanooga, Rome & Southern Railroad Company will be held at the Company's office, at Rome, Ga., at 12 o'clock noon Tuesday, January 16th, 1900, to elect a Board of Directors and transact such other business as may be necessary.
W. E. HUFF, Secretary.
Rome, Ga., December 30, 1899.

New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
To the Stockholders of Wm. A. Miles & Co.:
Take notice that the regular Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of this Company, and the regular annual election of its Directors, will be held at the office of the Company, No. 57 Chrystie St., on Monday, the 8th day of January, 1900, at three o'clock in the afternoon of that day, and that the transfer books will be closed for the purpose of said election at the close of business on the 30th day of December, 1899, and opened on the morning of Jan. 9, 1900.
JAMES W. TAYLOR, President.

DIVIDENDS.

OFFICE OF
THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY
NO. 23 BROAD ST., (Mills Building.)
Coupons due January 1st, 1900, from the following bonds will be paid on and after January 2d at this office:
California and Oregon 1st mortgage ext.
Oregon and California 1st mortgage.
Northern Railway Company 1st mortgage.
Stockton and Copperopolis 1st mortgage.
Southern Pacific of Arizona 1st mortgage.
Southern Pacific of New Mexico 1st mortgage.
Southern Pacific Co. Steamship mortgage.
Texas and New Orleans consols.
Louisiana Western 1st mortgage.
Morgan's Louis. and Tex. R. R. and S. S. Co. 1st mort.
Southern Pacific Coast 1st mortgage.
California Pacific 1st mortgage.
California Pacific 2d mortgage.
California Pacific 3d mortgage.
Market Street Cable Ry. Co. 1st mortgage.
Coupons due January 1st, 1900, from the following bonds will be paid on and after January 2d by the Central Trust Company:
San Antonio and Aransas Pass 1st mortgage.
Houston and Texas Central 1st mortgage.
Austin and Northwestern 1st mortgage.
N. T. SMITH, Treasurer.

KNICKERBOCKER TRUST CO
234 Fifth Ave.,
Branch Office, 66 Broadway.
New York, December 12, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT. from net earnings on the capital stock of the Company, payable Jan'y 1st, 1900, to stockholders of record of Dec. 20, 1899. Transfer books will close December 20, 1899, at 3 P. M., and reopen Jan'y 2, 1900.
ALFRED B. MACLAY, Secretary.

Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Co.
December 20, 1899.
A quarterly dividend of ONE AND ONE-QUARTER (1¼) PER CENT. will be paid on the preferred stock of this Company on January 20, 1900, to stockholders of record at the close of business December 30, 1899, at the office of Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co., New York.
The transfer books will close at 12 M. December 20, 1899, and be reopened at 10 o'clock A. M. January 26, 1900. C. F. COX, Treasurer.

New York Central & Hudson River R. R. Co.
Office of the Treasurer,
New York, December 20, 1899.
The Board of Directors of this company, at a meeting held this day, declared a dividend of one and one-quarter per cent. on its capital stock, payable at this office on the 15th day of January next to stockholders of record at the close of business on Saturday the 30th inst.
E. V. W. ROSSITER, Treasurer.

Michigan Central Railroad Company.
GRAND CENTRAL STATION,
New York, Dec. 21st, 1899.
The Board of Directors of this Company have this day declared a dividend of TWO PER CENT. upon its capital stock, payable at this office on Monday, the 29th day of January next to stockholders of record at 12 M. on Saturday, the 30th day of December.
The transfer books will not be closed.
CHARLES F. COX, Treasurer.

The Peoples Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
December 21st, 1899.
NINETY-SEVENTH CONSECUTIVE SEMI-ANNUAL DIVIDEND.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of Five Per Cent., free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900. The transfer books will be closed from the 26th inst. until that date.
WILLIAM MILNE, Cashier.

Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Ry. Co.,
New York, Dec. 27, 1899.
Coupons due Jan. 1, 1900, on above bonds will be paid at the office of Thomas & Post, 71 Broadway.
EDWIN M. POST, Secretary.

Ninth National Bank,
New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
A dividend of Two Per Cent. upon the capital stock of this bank, free of tax, has been declared, payable on and after January 2d, 1900. The transfer books will be closed from Dec. 23d, 1899, to January 2d, 1900. H. H. NAZRO, Cashier.

Tennessee Coal, Iron and R. R. Co.,
No. 80 Broadway, New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
The coupons due Jan. 1st on the bonds of the Alabama Steel and Shipbuilding Company will be paid at maturity at the Hanover National Bank.
J. BOWRON, Treas.,
Tenn. Coal, Iron & R. R. Co.

The National Citizens' Bank,
401 Broadway.
New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
A dividend of Three and One-half Per Cent. has been declared, payable to the shareholders on and after Jan. 2, 1900.
D. C. TIEBOUT, Cashier.

East River National Bank.
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
A dividend of Four (4) Per Cent. has been declared, payable on and after Tuesday, January 2, 1900. Z. E. NEWELL, Cashier.

52 WALL STREET, NEW YORK,
Dec. 1, 1899.
The Transfer Books of the National City Bank of New York will be closed this day, at 3 P. M., and reopened on January 4, 1900, at 10 A. M.
G. S. WHITSON, Cashier.

Office of WELLS, FARGO & CO.,
63 Broadway,
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
THE REGULAR SEMI-ANNUAL DIVIDEND of THREE PER CENT. has been declared by the Directors of the company, payable Jany. 15, 1900, at our office, as above.
The transfer books will close Dec. 30, 1899, and reopen Jany. 16, 1900.
H. B. PARSONS, Assistant Secretary.

United Traction and Electric Company,
Jersey City, N. J., December 14, 1899.
A dividend of ONE PER CENT. on the Capital Stock of this Company will be paid to the registered holders on the 1st day of January, 1900. Transfer books will be closed on the 20th inst., and will reopen 2d proximo.
C. S. SWEETLAND, Treasurer.

Hamilton Bank
OF NEW YORK CITY.
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
DIVIDEND.—The Directors of this Bank have this day declared the usual semi-annual dividend of THREE PER CENT., free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will remain closed until that date.
J. C. JAY, Cashier.

The National Shoe and Leather Bank of the City of New York.
New York, December 20, 1899.
EIGHTY-NINTH (89TH) DIVIDEND.
The Directors have declared a quarterly dividend of One Per Cent., payable, free of tax, January 2, 1900, until which date the transfer book will be closed. JOHN I. COLE, Cashier.

Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Ry. Co.,
New York, Dec. 27, 1899.
Coupons due Jan. 1, 1900, on above bonds will be paid at the office of Thomas & Post, 71 Broadway.
EDWIN M. POST, Secretary.

Ninth National Bank,
New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
A dividend of Two Per Cent. upon the capital stock of this bank, free of tax, has been declared, payable on and after January 2d, 1900. The transfer books will be closed from Dec. 23d, 1899, to January 2d, 1900. H. H. NAZRO, Cashier.

Tennessee Coal, Iron and R. R. Co.,
No. 80 Broadway, New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
The coupons due Jan. 1st on the bonds of the Alabama Steel and Shipbuilding Company will be paid at maturity at the Hanover National Bank.
J. BOWRON, Treas.,
Tenn. Coal, Iron & R. R. Co.

The National Citizens' Bank,
401 Broadway.
New York, Dec. 22, 1899.
A dividend of Three and One-half Per Cent. has been declared, payable to the shareholders on and after Jan. 2, 1900.
D. C. TIEBOUT, Cashier.

East River National Bank.
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
A dividend of Four (4) Per Cent. has been declared, payable on and after Tuesday, January 2, 1900. Z. E. NEWELL, Cashier.

52 WALL STREET, NEW YORK,
Dec. 1, 1899.
The Transfer Books of the National City Bank of New York will be closed this day, at 3 P. M., and reopened on January 4, 1900, at 10 A. M.
G. S. WHITSON, Cashier.

DIVIDENDS.

CITY OF SYRACUSE.
Syracuse & Chenango Valley R. R. Bonds.
Syracuse Northern Railroad Bonds.
The bonds and coupons of the City of Syracuse, N. Y., known as
"Syracuse & Chenango Valley Railroad Bonds".....$500,000.00
"Syracuse Northern Railroad Bonds".....$500,000.00
due January 1st, 1900, will be paid on and after that date, at the office of the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, 59 Cedar Street, New York. E. F. ALLEN, City Treasurer.

The MERCHANTS' NATIONAL BANK
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
191st Consecutive Semi-Annual Dividend
December 21st, 1899.
THE DIRECTORS of this bank have this day declared a Dividend of Three and one-half per cent., (3½%) free of tax, payable January 2, 1900.
The transfer books will be closed on and after December 22, 1899, and reopened January 3, 1900.
JOSEPH W. HARRIMAN, Cashier.

UNITED STATES OF MEXICO
6% Consolidated External Gold Loan of 1899.
23 Wall Street.
New York, December 28, 1899.
Three months' interest, due January 1, 1900, on bonds of the above issue will be paid on and after January 2, 1900. Holders of our temporary certificates representing said bonds may collect such interest upon presentation of the certificates at our office, in order that payment may be stamped thereon. J. P. MORGAN & CO.

THE LAKE SHORE AND MICHIGAN SOUTHERN RAILWAY CO.
Treasurer's Office, Grand Central Depot.
New York, December 20th, 1899.
The Board of Directors of this Company have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT. on its Capital Stock, payable at this office on Monday, the 29th day of January next, to the stockholders of record at 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, the 30th instant.
There will be no closing of the transfer books for the purposes of this dividend.
E. D. WORCESTER, Treasurer.

The Fourth National Bank of the City of New York.
New York, Dec. 21st, 1899.
The Board of Directors has this day declared a semi-annual dividend of THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT., free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, proximo.
The transfer books will close at 3 P. M., this date, reopening January 2d, 1900.
CHARLES H. PATTERSON, Cashier.

The Oriental Bank.
New York, Dec. 20, 1899.
NINETY-THIRD CONSECUTIVE SEMI-ANNUAL DIVIDEND.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a dividend of Five (5) Per Cent., payable on and after January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will be closed from December 20, 1899, until January 2, 1900.
NELSON G. AYRES, Cashier.

The Bowery Bank of New York,
New York, Dec. 20th, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared, out of the earnings of the last six months, a regular semi-annual dividend of SIX (6) PER CENT., and also an extra dividend of FIVE (5) PER CENT., payable on and after Jan. 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will be closed from Dec. 20th, 1899, until Jan. 2d, 1900.
CHARLES ESSIG, Cashier.

National Bank of Commerce in New York. Dividend.
New York, December 22d, 1899.
A semi-annual dividend of FOUR (4) PER CENT. has been declared upon the capital stock of this Bank, payable on and after Tuesday, 2d January, proximo. Transfer books will be closed Friday, December 22d, 1899, at close of business and reopened Wednesday, January 3d, 1900, at 10 o'clock A. M. W. C. DUVALL, Cashier.

Columbia Bank,
Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street.
New York, December 20th, 1899.
The Directors of this Bank have declared a semi-annual dividend of Four (4) Per Cent., free of tax, payable on and after January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will remain closed from December 20th, 1899, to January 2d, 1900.
W. S. GRIFFITH, Cashier.

Office of the United Gas Improvement Company,
N. W. Corner Broad and Arch Streets,
Philadelphia, Pa., December 15, 1899.
The Directors have this day declared a quarterly dividend of TWO PER CENT. (1) per share,) payable January 15, 1900, to stockholders of record at the close of business December 30, 1899. Checks will be mailed.
EDWARD C. LEE, Treasurer.

Office of Philadelphia Company,
Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 27th, 1899.
COMMON STOCK DIVIDEND—The Board of Directors of this Company have this day declared a quarterly dividend of the Common Stock of One and One-fourth (1¼) Per Cent., payable on January 20th, 1900, to stockholders of record at the close of business January 10th, 1900. Checks will be mailed. C. J. BRAUN, Jr., Treasurer.

The Hanover National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
New York, December 22d, 1899.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a dividend of Five Per Cent., free of tax, payable on and after Jan. 2, 1900. The transfer books will remain closed until that date.
WILLIAM HALLS, Jr., Cashier.

The Importers' and Traders' National Bank of New York.
New York, December 22d, 1899.
A Dividend of Ten Per Cent. out of the earnings of the last six months has to-day been declared by this bank, payable on the second day of January next. The transfer books will remain closed till that date. EDWARD TOWNSEND, Cashier.

The Chatham National Bank.
QUARTERLY DIVIDEND.
The Board of Directors have this day declared a quarterly dividend of FOUR PER CENT. out of the earnings of the past three months, payable on or after January 2, 1900, until which date transfer books will be closed.
H. P. DOREMUS, Cashier.
New York, December 22, 1899.

Wisconsin Central Railway Co.
Coupon No. 1, due January 1st, 1900, from the First General Mortgage 4% Bonds of this Company will be paid after that date at the offices of Maitland, Coppell & Co., No. 24 Exchange Place, New York City. Coupons may now be left for examination, for which checks will be mailed. GEORGE COPPELL, Chairman.
New York, December 22d, 1899.

The Bank of America.
New York, December 22, 1899.
The Board of Directors have to-day declared a semi-annual dividend of SEVEN (7) PER CENT., free of tax, payable January 2, 1900, to stockholders of record of this date.
The transfer books will remain closed until January 4, 1900. W. M. BENNET, Cashier.

The National Butchers and Drovers' Bank.
New York, December 20th, 1899.
The Directors of this Bank have this day declared a semi-annual Dividend of three (3) per cent. payable on and after January 2d, 1900.
The transfer books will remain closed until that date. WM. H. CHASE, Cashier.

The Procter & Gamble Company.
Cincinnati, Ohio, Dec. 19th, 1899.
The Directors of this Company have this day declared the regular quarterly dividend of TWO PER CENT. on the Preferred Stock of the Company, payable on and after Jan. 15th, 1900. The transfer books will be closed from Jan. 1st to Jan. 15th, inclusive. D. B. GAMBLE, Sec'y.

The Mechanics' National Bank of the City of New York,
Dec. 20th, 1899.
DIVIDEND.
A dividend of FOUR PER CENT. has to-day been declared by this bank, payable Jan. 2d, 1900. Transfer books will remain closed until that date. G. W. GARTH, Cashier.

